President Joins In Tribute To War Dead At Arlington Cemetery

PERSHING AND ROPER ARE DAY'S SPEAKERS

American Soldiers' Graves In Belgium, France Are Decorated

WASHINGTON, May 30. (AP)—On a sunlit slope in Arlington cemetery, where 43,000 war veterans lie, President Roosevelt listened gravely today to Memorial day warnings against dictatorship and aggressive war.

The president paid silent tribute with the throng as General John J. Pershing, war-time commander of American forces in France, and Secretary Roper spoke.

"A free government can be attained and maintained only by constant vigilance," Pershing counseled.

"Not enough has been accomplished toward preventing the use of force and aggression."

Ceremonies in the capital included a parade of the veterans of the Civil, Spanish-American and World wars along Pennsylvania and Constitution avenues, with government leaders and diplomats in the reviewing stand.

In Belgium, among other nations where United States soldiers are buried, the day was observed after the American traditions and the graves were decorated.

Message From Leopold A message to the president today from Leopold, king of the Belgians, said:

"Faithful to a tradition which is dear to all, Belgium decorates today the graves of the American soldiers who fell on her soil during the great war."

"I associate myself with all my heart in this sacred duty. I renew on this occasion to the American nation the attestation of the profound respect of my people."

Just one year ago, one of the worst floods in the West's history took more than 100 lives in Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas.

The dead in today's flood were Don Gates, 27, of Denver, drowned near Stratton, Colo., and Mrs. John Dyatt, caught in flood waters near Goodland, Kas. An unidentified youth was missing at Carlton, Colo.

The high waters poured down the Arkansas and overflowed the Republican river 100 miles to the north. The Republican was one of those whose waters a year ago caused $13,000,000 damage.

The flood waters swept over portions of the Southwest's dust bowl tonight, leaving two persons dead, a third missing and several towns inundated.

The Arkansas river was rising and it was feared high water may flood Lamar, Powers county seat.

The river, out of its banks, was within ten feet of the Lamar irrigation canal near Lamar. Water officials said if it broke through the canal bank Lamar might be flooded.

Holly, east of here, was partially flooded and Carlton, small hamlet, was threatened with high water.

MISS CORDILL PLACES FOURTH, HAS CHANCE IN FRONTIER FOLLIES

Eddie Dow Cordill, named "Miss Big Spring" in a beauty contest here Wednesday, was ranked fourth among 88 contestants for the title of Texas Sweetheart No. 1 in state-wide competition Saturday.

First place was given to Miss Faye Cotton, Borger.

Selection as one of the top four entrants gathered from all sections of the state automatically entitles her to a place in the Billy Rose musical extravaganza, the "Frontier Follies," this summer if she wishes to take it.

Her sponsors, Cunningham and Phillips, were advised Saturday that she had been given an offer to serve as a model for a Fort Worth firm during the Centennial celebration at that city. She had reached no decision on either of the offers late Saturday.

STRANGE BACK FROM FT. WORTH PARLEY

W. T. Strange, Jr., manager of the chamber of commerce and chairman of a committee chosen to arrange the district No. 6 exhibit for the West Texas chamber of commerce display at Fort Worth, returned Saturday from a conference in that city with D. A. Badesse, manager of the WTCC.

Two other district chairmen were in conference with Badesse and Victor Lakay, advertising man chosen to coordinate the exhibits.

MAN WANTED IN TRANSACTION LINKED IN RITUAL SLAYING

DETROIT, May 30. (AP)—Arthur F. Lupp, Sr., Michigan recruiting officer for the Black Legion, was sought today for questioning on the assertion of Dayton Deane, confessed "trigger man" of the terrorist organization, that he purchased from Lupp the revolver allegedly used in the "ritual execution" of Charles A. Poole.

Lupp and his wife, Grace, who has admitted she was a "colonel" in the women's auxiliary of the Black Legion, left their summer cottage near Algonac yesterday, investigators said, and have not appeared at their home here.

"They didn't say where they were going," Mrs. Lupp's father, Fred Reeves, told detectives at Algonac. I don't think they were going to Detroit, though."

Dean's statement regarding the gun was made to John A. Ricca, assistant Wayne county prosecutor, who said Lupp would be liable to a jail term and a fine if it were shown the transaction was not reported.

Also sought for questioning was Isaac White, one-legged former Detroit policeman. Ricca said a Black Legion leader known as "Colonel Peg-Leg" has been mentioned in at least three phases of the inquiry.

They departed from San Antonio at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

GOP Leaders Starting Trek To Cleveland

Speculation Rife On Part Hoover Will Play In Party Conclave

EX-PRESIDENT WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Week Has Been Busy One, With Several Campaign Speeches

WASHINGTON, May 30. (AP)—Amid speculation in the capital on the part of former President Hoover will play at the republican national convention, an advance guard of campaign managers packed up today to be off for Cleveland and the preliminary skirmishes.

With the opening of the conclave only nine days off, Mr. Hoover announced at Palo Alto, Calif., yesterday that he would accept the republican national committee's invitation to attend the convention. He said he would be present at the second day's session, June 10.

Immediate reaction to the announcement came from various republican sources expressing pleasure.

Some Pleased Edward A. Hayes, of Chicago, chairman of the Frank Knox for President committee, said "we are pleased that Mr. Hoover and other distinguished leaders of the party who are not serving as delegates have been invited."

John D. M. Hamilton, national organizer for a group backing Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas for the presidential nomination, said he would be "pleased to join in recommending that an address by our former president be included in the convention program."

Hamilton will place Landon's name in nomination for the presidency.

Carl Bachmann, manager of the group supporting Senator Borah of Idaho, told reporters there was "nothing to say" about the matter.

Much Activity The past week saw much pre-convention activity. Senator Borah, in what was described as his last important address prior to the convention, gave rise to further speculation as to his future course.

The senator inveighed against the "old guard" republicans and said the party was "fighting for its life." He gave no indication of what he would do, however, should the convention results not be to his liking.

Colonel Knox, in a Chicago speech, said "we are in the midst of a fundamental crisis that will determine the preservation or loss of American institutions" and asserted the republicans would need the support of 3,000,000 "patriotic democrats" to "defeat the subversive Washington faction."

New dealer leaders were not active on the stump during the past week but their drive is slated to intensify soon.

9 NEGROES HURT AS BUILDINGS COLLAPSE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 30. (AP)—Nine negroes were injured today when two North Main street buildings and the wall of a third collapsed.

A corps of police and firemen searched the debris to see if others had been buried in the pile of brick, mortar and timbers that remained. Officials believed, however, all of the 19 negroes working on one of the buildings had been accounted for, and that no one was killed.

TRIAL AT STANTON WILL START MONDAY

STANTON, May 30. (Sp.)—Jack Nichols, resident of the Knott community of Howard county, will go on trial here Monday in the 70th district court on a charge of horse theft.

Nichols was indicted for the offense here a week ago. He was acquitted of a similar charge last year in the district court at Howard county.

Complaint Charging Child Abduction Sworn Out Against Ann Harding By Ex-Husband; Actress On Ship At Sea

QUEBEC, May 30. (AP)—Harry Bannister, former husband of the film star, Ann Harding, left by airplane for New York this afternoon after swearing out a warrant charging Miss Harding with the abduction of their seven-year-old daughter, Jana.

Airport officials announced shortly after 3 p. m. that Bannister had departed with his lawyer, Stanley Harte. They said Bannister planned to fly directly to New York.

He failed to intercept Miss Harding here, arriving after the actress' lawyer had announced her departure for London with her daughter.

Bannister, accompanied by three lawyers, visited the courthouse twice this morning.

Miss Harding, meanwhile, apparently had a long lead over her former husband in her race to England where she has a film contract.

CAR REGISTRATIONS SOAR TO HIGH MARK; BUILDING AND POSTAL FIGURES ARE HIGHER

Paced by the amazing jump in new passenger car sales, reports from public agencies at the end of May soared higher to prove this has been the best business year since before the depression.

Registrations of new cars at the office of the tax collector amounted to 115, a gain of 41 over April and 56 above May a year ago. Total for the year is 421, far above the year's total of 369 in 1935 and compares with 429 for the first five months of 1935.

Proportional gains the remainder of the year will push the total past the record of 1,267 for 1929.

Building permits continued far ahead of last year's totals and the $18,000 for May brought the amount for the first five months to $50,589.95, slightly more than for the entire 1934 total and only $18,000 under the final figures for 1935. May permits compared with $11,854.50 for April and $8,215.00 for May a year ago.

Postal receipts kept the record for gains perfect showing $4,906.70 for the month, slightly up over the $4,850.84 for the preceding month. The figure was, moreover, 12 per cent over the $4,371.58 for May of 1935. Receipts for the five months period are $1,767.79 over the corresponding year of 1935. The record for the period is second only to the peak of 1929, it was the best May on record for the office.

Fight Looms On Tax Bill

WASHINGTON, May 30. (AP)—Clashing reactions to the tax bill approved by the senate finance committee today raised prospects of a vehement floor struggle which might prolong the congressional session indefinitely.

Administration men hinted substitutes would be offered, indicating they contemplated opening on the floor the whole tangled topic of steep, graduated taxes on undivided profits of corporations.

Turning down administration suggestions for such taxes, the committee produced a bill which represents a drastic rewriting of the Roosevelt program and the measure which passed the house weeks ago.

High spots of the senate committee bill were: a 15-1-2 to 18 per cent tax on total corporation net income; a flat 7 per cent levy on corporation earnings which are not distributed to stockholders; repeal of the present exemption of dividends from the 4 per cent normal income tax; an increase of 1 per cent in the individual income surtaxes on all surtax brackets between $6,000 and $50,000; a $440 boost in the surtax on all surtax income beyond $50,000.

Langley Wins Home Contest

W. A. Langley won first place in the Centennial farm home contest for Howard county and will compete in the district for a cash prize and the right to go to the state contest.

Scoring a total of 8,450 points out of a possible 10,000, Langley was only 50 points ahead of the score by R. N. Adams.

His place in the Fairview community was on almost even terms with the Adams farm, in the Soash community, in every respect except that of livestock. It was this which gave him his margin of victory.

S. A. Debban, Midland county agent who judged the farms entered in the contest, said that Langley's livestock program was better balanced since he carried a diversion of dairy and beef cattle, work stock, pigs, and chickens. Most of the Adams livestock were work animals.

The contest was based on the layout of grounds, preservation and care of soil, balanced livestock program, food supply, other resources, and buildings and equipment. All farms competing had to be situated on a state highway since they will be pointed out to centennial visitors as ideal farm homes of the section.

Langley will stand to win a first prize award of $75 if he takes district honors, $50 if he is second, or $25 if he finishes as high as fifth. Winner of the district will be entered in the state contest where top prize is $250 and least prize, which any entrant has clinched, is $25.

Is Arrested On Complaint Of Neighbors

With Wife, Had Ousted Woman Who Had Leased Living Quarters

WASHINGTON, May 30. (AP)—Rep. Marion A. Zioncheck of Washington state renewed his frequent contact with the police tonight when he capped a tumultuous 24-hour round by ending up in a local police station, charged with disorderly conduct.

The capricious congressman was arrested shortly after 9 o'clock tonight after neighbors living near his apartment, for the possession of which he staged an all-night skirmish last night reported bottles had crashed through the window to the accompaniment of resounding whoops shortly before the police arrived.

Zioncheck was held for $25 collateral—a sum which he was not immediately able to produce. Four visits by the police much liquid entertainment, a walk-out by his bride and an all-night battle for possession of his apartment marked the 24-hour immediately preceding Zioncheck's arrest.

Receives Broken Hip Mrs. Benjamin Scott Young, who claimed her hip was broken in a midnight scuffle in the apartment she had sub-let to Zioncheck, called her lawyer to her hospital bedside today to discuss possible action.

She was forcibly ejected from the apartment by the Zionchecks. "Don't take me to the hospital," she sobbed as she was carried away from the apartment building. "It is more important for me to go to the police station and swear out a warrant for these awful people."

She told police Zioncheck had "ruined my home, called me vile names, and stood on me."

Refused To Leave The apartment where the difficult occurrence was subsided to (CONTINUED ON PAGE 4)

Map Plans On Meat Plant

Tentative plans for development of a small meat processing plant here were formed Friday afternoon in a joint meeting between the livestock and agricultural committees of the chamber of commerce.

Under terms of the arrangement, the property of Samuel Greer, Glascock county rancher, east of town will be leased and a marketing program carried out on a modest scale.

Suggestions for formation of a stock company were voted down in favor of a membership proposition. A committee was named to secure 100 memberships at $25 each. When this is done, the members will be convoked to name the board of directors so that the project can be promptly put into operation.

Membership will be open to any person interested in the proposition, although special effort will be made to secure the support of merchants, stockmen and farmers. The committee members believed that if merchants and producers alike were financially interested the project would have a better chance for success.

The Greer property was constructed two years ago at a cost in excess of $10,000. It includes a large feeding pen, a feed barn, a slaughtering and storage unit, and a carpenter's house. It fronts on the Texas and Pacific tracks.

GROUP CALLED TO OUTLINE PLANS FOR JULY CELEBRATION

Public relations committee of the chamber of commerce will convene Monday at 3 p. m. in the chamber offices to perfect plans for a July 4 celebration for Big Spring.

Preliminary outline for the affair was developed last week and was designed not only to hold local people, but to attract hundreds into the city on independence day.

Billed as the "carnival of fun and frolic," the day's program will feature swimming, diving, bridge, golf, softball, baseball, and other contests. Dances and special picture shows will also be arranged.

Only North Road Closed

State highways through Howard county are now paved and open to traffic in all directions except the north where first surfacing was started last week.

Saturday evening approximately one mile had been topped from Fairview community, eight miles north, toward Big Spring. Highway engineers estimated that the work would be completed to the city by the end of the week.

Rapid progress, despite intermittent rains, was being made on the base placing project on the extreme north end connecting with the paved section of the highway in Dawson county.

During the week surfacing of the special maintenance project on No. 1 east was completed and the road opened to traffic. This gives Big Spring a shorter and smoother all-weather connection with the segment in Mitchell county and eliminates the grade crossing 17 miles east.

Previously a 2 1-2 mile section of the road west, giving access to the overpass which banishes the hazardous six-mile crossing, was completed and opened to traffic.

Less than a week ago the last strip of road on highway No. 9 south was topped and traffic routed over the much shortened straighter route to the oilfields and to the four-mile paved section in Glascock county. Except for an unpaved six-mile portion, Big Spring is tied to San Angelo with an all-weather road.

Contracts for grading and ditching this strip will be called Tuesday by the state highway commission, according to a statement by the commission in its last meeting.

POPE PIUS WILL BE 79 YEARS OLD TODAY

Many cardinals living in Rome and Vatican City called upon the pontiff to present their felicitations.

Hotels are crowded with a throng of pilgrims come from Europe, the Americas, Asia and Africa to attend his holiness' birthday mass tomorrow morning in St. Peter's and to be received in special audience by him tomorrow afternoon. The holy father is expected to make a speech tomorrow. At the conclusion of the mass he will impart an apostolic blessing.

Ronald Colman, Claudette Colbert Star At The Ritz In Story Of Foreign Legion

'Under Two Flags' Is Feature For Sunday And Monday

The Sahara desert becomes a region of revolt and France's Foreign Legion fights and loves with gallantry again in "Under Two Flags," a sweeping drama spectacle which brings Ronald Colman, Claudette Colbert, Victor McLaglen and Rosalind Russell to the screen at the Ritz Sunday and Monday.

Telling the story of a man who is brought back from self-imposed doom by the love of a woman, the new picture affords Colman and Miss Colbert opportunity to add new honors to their bright screen careers.

Miss Colbert appears as a hoydenish child of the desert, a lovely flirt who toys with the affections of Victor McLaglen, Legionnaire major, until she meets Colman, a member of the ranks. Then she impulsively loses her heart to him. The drama gains in power with the appearance of Rosalind Russell, an English beauty; and before he is sent out to the desert to help stem the Arab revolt, Colman declares his love for her.

Hounded in by hostile forces, McLaglen valiantly attempts to destroy Colman, whom he believes stands between him and Miss Colbert. Colman is sent out to a post of danger, but saves his force by a daring ruse; and a magnificent

Marx Comedy Is Featured At The Queen

'A Night At The Opera' To Open Three-Day Run Here Today

One of the top pictures among Hollywood's recent comedy productions is the hilarious "A Night at the Opera," with the Marx Brothers, Groucho, Chico and Harpo, cast in three of the most uproarious characterizations brought to the screen in months. The picture plays at the Queen for three days beginning Sunday.

The picture represents a departure for the celebrated comedians inasmuch as it does not depend entirely on madcap antics and insane gags—although there are plenty of these—but tells a straight story enlivened by musical interludes and a romance between Kitty Carlisle, heroine of several Bing Crosby musicals, and Allan Jones.

The principal locales of "A Night at the Opera" are Italy, an ocean liner and a New York opera house. Groucho, Chico and Harpo, constituting themselves self-appointed managers, take over the destinies of a pair of songbirds, Miss Carlisle and Jones. Picking on Walter King, whose jealousy almost wrecks the romance between the singers, they make hash of the performance in the opera, appearing one minute on the stage, next in the orchestra pit and then among the audience. They create a panic which becomes real when fire breaks out, but taking the stage for merry mad moments they quiet the audience's fear with their riotous gags, puns and farcical antics.

AUSTIN, May 30—Building permits in Texas during April declined substantially from the preceding month, but were sharply above those of the corresponding month last year, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research. Reports from 33 representative Texas cities indicate a decline of 20 per cent from March in the value of permits granted in April, but an increase of 80 per cent over April last year.

Cities showing increases over the two comparable periods are: Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Laredo, McAllen, Sherman, Sweetwater, and Wichita Falls.

Arab forces.

The battle makes a thundering climax for the picture. Sweeping scenes of the desert, with a cast of thousands, make spectacular episodes in the story. The film was adapted from the popular story of the French Foreign Legion by Ouida. With Colman as one of the stars, it is reminiscent of the great picture, "Beau Geste," one of the early pictures that brought him fame.

In the supporting cast are Gregory Ratoff, Nigel Bruce, C. Henry Gordon and Herbert Mundin. The film was directed by Frank Lloyd.

THE MARXES

These mad antics of comedy, the Brothers Marx—Groucho, Chico and Harpo—bring their farcical antics to the Queen theater's screen Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, in "A Night at the Opera."

wyn-Mayer's new mystery romance dealing with the slaying of a tenor before an audience of 20,000 at the Hollywood Bowl, comes to the Lyric theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

As the tenor, Leo Carillo makes his first appearance as a singer since his musical comedy days on the stage. He sings the famous aria to Asuena in Verdi's "Il Trovatore," the initial scene also including the "Gypsy Dance" and the "Aveil Chorus."

The new picture co-features Chester Morris as a detective, solving the murder mystery, and Madge

PRODUCER OPENS A NEW POOL IN NORTHWESTERN ECTOR CO.

Humble No. 2 Tubbs In Crane Tested As Largest Well Initially From Deep Lime

SAN ANGELO, May 30.—The definite establishment of Wm. H. Dunning, Jr., No. 1 H. E. Cummins as a producer, opening a new pool in northwestern Ector county, the testing of Humble No. 2 Tubbs as the largest well initially from the deep Permian lime in the Sand Hills district in western Crane county and a showing of oil in Magnus Oil Co. No. 1 Judkins & Spencer in eastern Schleicher county in what was believed to be the Ellenberger, lower Ordovician, were among West Texas developments this week.

The new Winkler county pool or 1-2-mile north extension to the Hendrick field opened by R. H.

Henderson and others Nos. 1-A and 2-B Walton, offsets was endangered when Wahlensmaster and Atlantic No. 20 Walton blew out after losing rotary returns at 2,629 feet and cratered slightly, gas also issuing from fissures. Late in the week the gaser had been killed a second time with baroid and heavy mud.

Lime Percentage Increases
Solid lime had not been reached by Landreth No. 1 Kirk, southern Gaines county wildcat and one of the most closely watched in the Permian Basin, in drilling to 4,363 feet, 1,094 feet below sea level, but the percentage of lime increased below 4,300. The first lime stringer was logged at 4,021 feet. No. 1 Kirk is in the southwest corner of section 22-A21-psl, about midway between Walsh-Adams No. 1 Avertit, a 12-million cubic foot gaser northwest of Seminole, and the Means pool in north central Andrews county.

Locations staked this week again outnumbered completions, 29 to 27. Ten of the locations were made in Ward county, six in Winkler, three in Pecos, two each in Crane, Jones and Upton counties and one each in Andrews, Ector, Fisher and Loving counties.

Dunning No. 1 Cummins in northwestern Ector county made a 118-barrel head in 30 minutes when opened after being shut in for five days at 4,296 feet to erect storage. It deepened to 4,270 and flowed 123 barrels during the last 18 hours of its 20 1-2-hour gauge that totaled 288 barrels. Drilling continued to 4,282 feet with a further increase in pay in the last five feet of drilling and production during 24 hours, ending at 6:30 Friday morning was 498 barrels. Early in the afternoon the well was shut in, storage having been filled. The depth was corrected by sand lime measurement from 4,282 to 4,282 feet.

No. 1 Cummins is 2,200 feet from the south line and 440 feet from the east line of section 23-45-In-T&P. It is about three miles west of Landreth No. 1 Scharbauer, a small discovery well in the southwest quarter of section 20-44-In-T&P, and 4 1-2 miles northwest of Dunning No. 1 Scharbauer, in the southwest quarter of section 23-44-In-T&P, 1 1-2-mile northwest extension to the Goldsmith pool. The new well is approximately 1 1-2 miles southeast of C. J. (Red) Davidson and Atlantic No. 1 H. E. Cummins, a discovery producer in the northwest corner of section 10-45-In-T&P. Whether it is on the same structure with the Davidson-Atlantic well or will connect up with Landreth No. 1 Scharbauer to the east or the Goldsmith pool to the southeast is furnishing much speculation.

Staking Locations
Surveyors were in the area late in the week staking a large number of locations for tentative drilling. Dunning has checkered acreage—about his discovery. Other holders of nearby leases include Empire, Atlantic, Shell, Continental and C. J. Davidson, Texas-Pacific Land Trust has considerable unleased acreage in the vicinity.

Humble No. 2 Tubbs in western Crane county, 1,950 feet from the north and west lines of section 11-227-psl, flowed 1,025 barrels of pipe line oil on a 24-hour production gauge, bottomed at 4,375 feet, after being treated with 3,000 gallons of acid. It is a quarter mile southeast of Humble No. 1 Tubbs, which was completed at 4,375 feet for 861 barrels daily.

Sinclair-Prairie and others No. 1 Tubbs, unit test two miles farther northwest and in the southeast corner of section 3-227-psl, was removed from the list of wildcats in the area that might seek Ordovician production by cementing 5 1-2-inch casing at 4,196 feet. In drilling to 4,469 feet it cored Permian lime with sufficient saturation and porosity to indicate production. Moore Bros. No. 1 T. C. Budgey roads skidded Ordovician test in the center of the southwest quarter of section 43-32-psl, about 5 1-2 miles south and slightly east of Humble No. 2 Tubbs, had drilled past 5,540 feet in lime.

Test Shut Down
Magnus No. 1 Judkins & Spencer in Schleicher county first attracted attention by showing oil and gas from 5,690 to 5,710 feet. Salt water appeared, however, when the rotary fluid had been swabbed down 2,500 feet, having been encountered, it was believed, between 5,710-90 feet. A further showing of oil was reported between 5,905 and 5,920 feet, where a drill stem test was scheduled with a packer set about one joint off bottom to exclude the salt water. Muddy roads delayed the trucking in of fuel oil and caused a shutdown.

Samples indicated a probable Ellenberger top around 5,900 feet, 3-601 feet below sea level. Only one Schleicher county test ever has been credited definitely with reaching the Ordovician, Humble No. 1 Honig, about nine miles northwest of the Magnus. The latter is 14 1-2 miles east of Eldorado, in the center of the southeast quarter of section 4, certificate 127, W. W. Russell original grantee. It is on acreage acquired from Pure Oil Co. The contract provides drilling 6-300 feet, or 200 feet in the Ellenberger, unless production or sulphur water is struck in the Ellenberger shallower.

EMPLOYMENT AND PAYROLL TOTALS IN STATE SHOW GAINS

AUSTIN, May 30.—Moderate gains in employment and pay rolls in Texas were registered during May in comparison with April and with May last year, the University of Texas bureau of business research reports.

Reports to the bureau from nearly 1,500 representative Texas establishments covering the week ended May 16 give a total of 63,420 employees, an increase of 1.6 per cent over the preceding month and 5.5 per cent over May last year.

Wildcat Test Located In Jones County

Two Other Locations Made In Fields Of That Territory

ABILENE, May 30.—Announcement by E. F. Robbins of Big Spring that he would drill a wildcat well three miles northeast of Anson in Jones county, spreading set for on or before June 4, was chief interest in developments this week.

The Robbins well will be drilled on a block of 2,000 acres adjoining the city of Anson on the northeast, and tentative location is on the Dr. W. J. McCreight land in section 14, Orphan Asylum land. Contract has not been completed for the test.

Total pay rolls for the week were $1,496,000, an increase of 3.1 per cent over the corresponding week in April and 9.7 per cent over the like period last year.

Cities in which the increase in the number of employees over last year was greater than the average for the state as a whole were: Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Denton, El Paso, Fort Worth, Lubbock, Fort Arthur, Waco, and Wichita Falls.

Industry groups showing better than average gains were: Building materials, clothing and textiles, furniture manufacturing, petroleum refining, printing and publishing, and public utilities.

Two other locations were made early in the week in Jones fields, one by Sandy Ridge Oil corporation and one by Ungren & Frazier in the Hawley field.

Other Tests
The Sandy Ridge No. 5 Percy Jones, offsetting on the east the Knight & Ewing No. 2 J. D. Farrow which completed for 150 barrels daily, was moving rig on location late this week. It is 199 feet from the west and 690 feet from the north line of section 5, block 15, T&P survey.

In the Hawley field the Ungren & Frazier No. 8-C Dorsey was staked as the southernmost well in the field and scheduled for spudding this week-end with cable tools on a 2,400-foot drill. It is 1,400 feet from the north and 300 feet from the east line of section 6, S. W. King subdivision of Manuel Bueno survey No. 197.

The Thomas D. Humphrey No. 12 Dorsey, a twin well to the same operator's No. 5 Dorsey which produces from the Cook sand, topped lower Hope at 2,202 feet and shut down this week for cementing. On rotary tools, no estimate has been made on its possible production. It is in the northwest corner of section 17, Manuel Bueno survey No. 196.

Jamison, Pollard and Forester No. 1 Mrs. C. B. Triplett, about one mile northwest of the field, was abandoned this week at a total depth of 2,500 feet after striking a hole full of sulphur water from 2,494 to 2,500 feet.

The test recently resumed operations after a shutdown of more than two months. Its original total depth was 2,170 feet with a hole full of oil and water from the Hope sand. Location is in the southeast corner of the north 100-acre Triplett tract in section 199, James Gocher survey. It is the third wildcat failure northwest of

Interest Of Area Centers On Pike Test

Drilling Past 2,900 In Lime; More Locations On Eason Land

Failure of two outpost tests in the Howard-Glascock area focused interest on the D. C. Reed, C. T. Schmid, et al No. 1 Walter Pike wildcat a mile and a half northwest of Big Spring, last week.

Plugging of the Bruce Frazier, et al No. 1 Patteson in the northeast quarter of section 183, block 29, W&N survey, defined production limits of the Continental shallow sand levels on the south. The test, one and a half miles south of the Continental shallow production, failed to long sand at either the 1,200, 1,300 or the 1,400 levels.

Likewise failure of the M. B. Stanton No. 1 Edwards in section 11, block 34, T-2-S, T&P survey to pick up sand pay between 900 and 1,000 feet cooled prospects for shallow production in the Edwards pool where oil is now pumped from below 2,200 feet. There appeared a possibility that another shallow test would be drilled on the east side of the section where a deeper test encountered shows in sand just past 900 feet.

Formations High
Saturday the Reed No. 1 Pike, located 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 24, block 33, the Hawley field in the past two months.

T-1-N, T&P survey, was drilling past 2,900 feet in lime and was reported running 180 feet high. Steady progress was being made after underreaming a 1-4 casing from 2,550 feet to shut off water. Base of the salt was logged at 2,535 feet with brown lime from 2,900 to 2,920 feet.

Most active spot in this area is around the Continental No. 8 Eason outpost in section 7, block 32, T-2-S, T&P survey. The company is reported to have filed locations for its No. 9, 10 and 11 Eason wells while Dave Duncan is to move in for the No. 10 Overton, an offset to the west during this week. The No. 5, quarter of a mile south of production, showed 1073 barrels on a two-hour production test at 2447 feet in lime.

Work on the Eastland Oil company No. 1 Edwards in the East Howard pool was held up during the week at 2,983 feet where salt or sulphur water showed. Heavy rains made drilling impractical.

Floyd Dodson, San Angelo geologist and independent operator, was here the forepart of the week to make arrangements for drilling a second test, approximately a mile northeast of the Fleetborn Oil company No. 1 Dodson which craters much interest when it missed the salt and picked up three shows. The test will be located in section 3, block 33, T-2-S, T&P survey. John I. Moore, San Angelo, was here also to prepare for an offset to the World Oil company No. 3 McDowell in the western tip of the west extension of the Howard-Glascock field. He said his Borden county wildcat might be started in 30 days.

Recon for re-icing fruit cars here was established in 1932 when 214 cars were serviced in one day or sulphur water showed. Heavy with 4,000 cakes of ice.

Is Arrested

Zioncheck last winter. Mrs. Young, a magazine writer, recently returned from a South American trip to reclaim it after, she said, she had complaints from the apartment house.

In an effort to obtain possession, Mrs. Young went to the rooms yesterday and refused to leave.

"The police wouldn't arrest him because he was a congressman," she said as she was placed in the ambulance on a stretcher. "The time has come when we've got to see whether this country is going to be run by bolshevism or Americanism."

Mrs. Young summoned both the ambulance and police this morning. It was the fourth time officers had been called to the apartment since yesterday morning.

Mrs. Zioncheck became enraged over the presence of Mrs. Young, who recently complained vehemently that her antique furniture had been damaged.

Brots for His Wife
"Get out of here," screamed Mrs. Zioncheck as she rushed from her bedroom to a living room couch on which Mrs. Young had stationed herself, determined to remain in the apartment as long as the congressman and his bride.

Amid the wailing of the two women, the Washington state congressman emerged from the bedroom and shouted encouragement to his wife.

After a three-minute scuffle, Mrs. Zioncheck, with her husband's help, dragged Mrs. Young into the hallway, pitching her shoes out behind her.

A crowd gathered and excitement ran high. So high in fact that an unknown bystander lost his head, drew a penknife and stabbed a newspaperman in the arm. The newspaperman was only slightly injured.

Arriving a few minutes later, police were told by Mrs. Zioncheck that she became angry over Mrs. Young's insistence on remaining in the apartment. As the police tried to straighten out the tangle, Mrs. Young went back into the apartment and sobbingly took up her post on the couch.

Finally the police left, saying the controversy was a "civil matter." The score of neighbors who had gathered in the hallway of the fashionable apartment house began to disperse, but about this time action broke out anew.

This time it was Zioncheck who rushed from the bedroom to pick up Mrs. Young and dump her out of the apartment.

As she lay screaming in the hallway, Mrs. Zioncheck called police. A near repetition of the first scene followed, with Mrs. Young doggedly returning to the apartment couch and calling for her doctor.

Fleeting with the Zionchecks and Mrs. Young to go to bed, the police again insisted it was a civil case and they had no jurisdiction.

of found gratitude and friendship of the Belgian people."

President Roosevelt replied: "I thank your majesty for your Decoration day message and the friendly sentiments you thereby convey which I cordially reciprocate. The heartfelt thoughtfulness with which your majesty and the Belgian people continue to keep in remembrance the American dead interred on Belgian soil touches the hearts of the American people and is gratefully appreciated by me."

PARIS, May 30. (UP)—America's 31,250 World war dead who lie in European graves were honored today by memorial services at which veterans of many nations pleaded for world peace.

Bugles sounded "taps" over the six pieces of American territory in France where thousands of white crosses mark the burial places of soldiers and sailors of all ranks.

SINO-JAP TENSION HEIGHTENED BY NEW ACTS OF VIOLENCE

TIENTSIN, May 30. (UP)—Two acts of violence further embittered Sino-Japanese relations today.

The first was the destruction of a bridge at Chuanliangchen, between Tangu and Tientain, and the second was an alleged attempt to wreck a Japanese troop train. Chinese authorities said they feared the Japanese might construe the sabotage as an answer to Japan's action in sending more troops to North China garrisons.

work and it is encouraging to see it done. However, Big Spring is in dire need of new construction. Until it gets this new construction the town is going to be laboring under a handicap. People must have places, good places, to live.

Thanks to Ed Merrill and his associates, the cemetery looks more like a cemetery today. Sixty odd persons paid for substitute laborers Thursday and almost as many took off from their daily tasks and picked up a hoe, a shovel or rake and turned in a day's work. The job will hold for awhile but it cannot be regarded as a permanent solution to the cemetery problem. There will have to be more land provided—perhaps some means of permanent maintenance devised. It's going to be a big problem.

While rains brought plenty of benefit to the county and city as a whole, it will be interesting to see what they did to the road and bridge fund. When the county treasurer's report is approved about June 8 figures may reveal that it costs a pretty penny when it rains because many patrons drag the road by their place immediately after every rain, no matter how promising the prospects for another.

Bids for the new post office building here were opened Friday in Washington. A firm in San Angelo was low with a bid of little more than $94,000, something like $3,000 under the nearest bidder. No contract was let, however, pending further study by the treasury department. So Big Spring can't breathe easy yet.

This city was well represented at the first state convention of the Broadway of America association Thursday in Colorado, and not without reason. Highway No. 1 is one of the most important assets the city possesses. The phenomenal growth of traffic in the past few years has proven conclusively that anything which tends to attract more tourist travel over the route brings additional business to the cities along the route.

Practice of combining entertainment and education by tours seems to be gaining favor in these parts. Knott, Highway, Forsan schools and the Spanish students of this city have finished or will take trips this summer to reward students and at the same time let them see what they cannot fully obtain from books. And since this is the centennial year, there is no reason why the trips should not be extremely profitable. Maybe education, like a lot of other things, is getting on wheels.

VETERANS FREED
DALLAS, May 30. (UP)—Police Judge King Williamson ordered released from the city jail today three World war veterans.

"It is Memorial Day," Williamson said.

Bible Schools To Start Monday At Two Local Churches

Daily vacation Bible schools will be started at two local churches Monday. A two-weeks course will be conducted at the First Methodist church, to which children of all denominations have been invited.

Sessions will be held daily from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m. Following opening devotional there will be a study period, then a recreation period, and handicraft work. Mrs. W. L. Meier is general superintendent, and some 25 persons will teach the work.

A similar vacation school at the First Baptist church will extend through June 12. Classes in four departments will be conducted, with the work open to children between the ages of four and 16 years. A faculty of approximately 40 will teach the work under supervision of Ira Powell, general director.

INJUNCTION ISSUED AGAINST DRIVERS IN DALLAS TAXI STRIKE

DALLAS, May 30. (UP)—Judge Claude McCallum issued an injunction here today restraining striking taxicab drivers from "any form of violence, and prohibiting any gatherings designed to deter passengers from using cabs."

Names of 62 strikers were included in the order. Company spokesmen said they would add other names as rapidly as they were able until all of the approximately 600 men on strike were included.

Application for the injunction was made as companies prepared to place a small number of cabs in operation for the first time since the strike was called early this week. They said drivers had been imported from other cities.

Leaders of the striking men said they would not allow cabs to operate until differences were settled.

The drivers seek an increase in their percentage of fares.

SOVIET RELAXES ITS RULES AGAINST JOBS FOR CZARIST GROUP

MOSCOW, May 30. (UP)—The all-union Soviet control committee today abolished employment discrimination against classes privileged under the czarist regime.

The order removes bars to employment for former members of the Russian nobility and merchants and was described as a sign of the growth of "Soviet democracy."

It also puts a halt to discriminations against persons with criminal records.

The decision gives the former privileged classes equal rights with the proletariat under the communist administration. It is generally regarded as a major step in the Soviet program of building a classless society as a foundation for future communism.

ANNIVERSARY OF BATTLE OF JUTLAND OBSERVED BY NAZIS

KIEF, Germany, May 30. (UP)—The imperial war flag, legally nonexistent, flew over the revived Nazi navy today as high German officials, led by Adolf Hitler, celebrated the 20th anniversary of the battle of Jutland.

The Nazi chancellor, instead of speaking himself, listened to three addresses lauding his work in recreating the German navy. He received, on behalf of the state, a tall cement monument in memory of 24,836 sailors and officers lost in the World War.

Admiral Erich Raeder, chief of the admiralty, described the Jutland engagement as "history's greatest naval battle" in his speech before the shaft at Laboe.

Der Fuehrer personally ordered the imperial flag raised on his own ship.

M'Craw Asks Re-Election

Accomplishments Of His Department Reviewed In Statement

AUSTIN, May 30.—Restoration of confidence is a big objective in this Centennial year, William M'Craw declared Saturday in announcing for re-election as attorney general of Texas.

He said that Texas must take the lead in accomplishments for economic improvements.

In his formal statement, he cited that overproduction of oil in the East Texas field was now ceased although it was enormous a year or so ago, and further that elimination of this hot oil menace not only saved the Texas oil industry but is bringing in eight million dollars a year in the production tax.

McCraw also declared that his department originated court action resulting in the permanent injunction against illegal bookies, "which mulcted the public out of sixty million dollars a year."

His statement also cites many other activities of his department during his incumbency. Among them, according to his statement: "The land desk has recovered a half million dollars in bonus and rentals on school lands, and in addition thousands of acres of valuable mineral bearing tracts."

"The insurance division has protected Texas policyholders against illegitimate insurance enterprises. The department has effectively assisted in enforcing the motor carrier law, enacted to insure safety of the highways. In all such cases, the state has been upheld by the courts."

"The department was instrumental in originating court action resulting in permanent injunction against operation of illegal betting with race track bookies, which mulcted the public out of $60,000,000 yearly."

"Three important cases have been won before the supreme court of the United States. These gave the state clear title to property worth millions of dollars."

"The department also won more than 20 cases before the Texas supreme court, including that involving the validity of the cigarette tax law, oil conservation statutes, truck and bus statutes, highway control and other tax laws producing immediate revenues."

"There was one case in the court of criminal appeals. It involved the new famous 'lost law' articles omitted from the revised civil code and the loss of which would have disturbed the economic and penal conditions of the state. The department was upheld—the lost laws were found valid."

JERUSALEM RIOTERS SET PROPERTY AFIRE

JERUSALEM, May 30. (Palestine Agency)—One Arab was killed early today and three other persons wounded as rioters turned to arson in the latest racial disturbances.

Fires were reported in a dozen communities where stores were burned, property damaged, and crops destroyed.

A police patrol near Mt. Scopus attempted to halt an Arab who refused and opened fire. The Arab was seriously wounded.

Another Arab was killed at Heredia during an invasion of Jewish vineyards. A Jewish watchman was wounded in the exchange of shots.

Four Jewish shops in Jaffa were destroyed by fire and five men were bombed as they attempted to extinguish the flames.

DATE FOR TRIAL OF TEXAS POWER CASE MAY BE SET MONDAY

WASHINGTON, May 30. (UP)—Government officials said today a decision would be reached probably Monday on the date to start trial of the constitutionality of allocations for the Brazos river and Colorado river irrigation and flood control projects in Texas.

Jerome Frank, chief of the Public Works administration legal staff, said he and other attorneys planned a conference Monday with John P. Bullington, representing Texas power companies which brought the suits in the District of Columbia supreme court.

"I can't say now whether he will go ahead with the trial next week or whether it will be delayed further," Frank said. "If they are unreasonable, we will go to trial right away."

He declined to elaborate on that statement.

Store Regulation Measures Passed

WASHINGTON, May 30. (UP)—Both houses of congress were in recess today in favor of federal regulation of chain store methods of distribution and merchandising.

The house passed the Patman anti-chain store price discrimination bill yesterday, sending it to the senate where a similar measure, sponsored by Sen. Joseph T. Robinson, D. Ark., already had been passed.

Differences in the two measures will be ironed out in conference. The bill forbids price discounts to quantity purchasers and eliminates secret rebates and brokerage fees.

HUNTER WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN ON JUNE 2

AUSTIN, May 30. (UP)—Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls, candidate for governor will open his campaign in Austin, June 2, it was announced here today.

The unusual opening of a campaign in the state capitol was explained by Hunter in this message to his headquarters here: "I understand it's the only day I can catch the governor in Austin and I want to ask him to sit on the platform and hear me rip the cover off the book and look at his record."

Col. Thompson Cites Record

Open Campaign For Re-election In Address At Alvord

ALVORD, May 30.—Candidates for public office who promise to "upset the established order, to wreck and tear down what has been built up over the years," threaten the security of all Texans, Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas railroad commission asserted this afternoon as he opened his campaign for re-election.

Addressing a home-coming crowd in the town where he was born, Colonel Thompson urged a continuation of the constructive, conservative policies in governmental regulation of industry built up over the past four years.

"It is time," he said, "for experience in the regulation of the state's key industries; not for experiment on the part of those whose only qualification is a desire to hold public office."

Reviewing the commission's accomplishments during recent years, Colonel Thompson particularly noted these achievements:

1. In the field of gas utility regulation, city "gate rates" have been ordered reduced on the two largest Texas systems, Lone Star and United. Fixing city gate rates, which he described as a tedious process usually entailing long litigation, is necessary before rates within a city may be reduced. In the Lone Star case alone, he estimated future savings, when the case is disposed of by the courts, would be $1,000,000 every year. In numerous Texas towns, all named by the commissioner, rates to the ultimate consumer already have been reduced.
2. In regulation of railroads, the commission's record has been such that not only have rates been lowered with savings of millions to the shippers, Thompson said, but the commission has won the praise of both railroad workers and executives. He quoted the words of E. J. Fitzgerald, conductor on the Frisco lines, made at a public meeting recently in Fort Worth: "The railway employees feel we can

Relief Still The Big Issue In Campaign

Noisy Party Wrangles On Topic Precede National Conventions

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of AP Bureau, Washington)

There is at least a hint of prophecy in the fact that the relief issue plays so prominent a part in the final noisy prelude to the national political conventions.

The new tax bill may be disturbing in some industrial quarters. The farm issue may dominate the campaigns in certain states. Various groups of citizens have shown special concern about the constitution. But when all is said and done, the universal issue is relief.

On the side of the democrats, no other issue has produced such outspoken disagreements in the party ranks in congress. No other has resulted in such open public dispute among officials of the administration.

Among the republicans, too, there are differences of view which it may be difficult to overcome completely. Some of the most influential, however, are talking of launching the republican campaign on the keynote of a radically-revised relief program, fitting all other issues take secondary place for the moment.

Relief is something every voter knows about. That is the kind of issue which inevitably pushes itself to the top.

Miners Forget Guffey Act

Recently a visitor to a coal mining section brought back word to Washington that the miners and their families were not talking about the Guffey act, nor about wages and hours or homestead projects, but about relief.

What about all of these charges of politics in the relief set-up, they asked, and would some other method of handling the problem be better?

If anyone doubts that relief has become a burning local question everywhere, he will find the proof in the columns of the daily newspapers of virtually every state in the union.

The care with which the republican national committee recently prepared its case relating to conditions in Missouri, and the thoughtful manner in which this case was handled by the administration, testify to the importance accorded by both sides to this far-sweeping problem.

Agree Poor Must Eat

It is not that there is an dispute about the necessity for taking care of the needy. Even the ranking republican leadership in congress supported the new relief appropriation. But they did so after protesting that the job could much better be done some other way.

The core of the controversy is, specifically, Harry L. Hopkins' administration of the vast relief funds entrusted to him.

The under-surface conflict between the Hopkins and the Ickes schools of thought has been much more severe than the general public realizes.

Secretary Ickes has not hesitated to carry to the highest quarters his insistence that a substantial portion of relief funds be put aside

HIGHWAY BIDS WILL BE TAKEN JUNE 10-11

AUSTIN, May 30. (UP)—Road, grade crossing and bridge projects with a total estimated cost of $2,000,000 will be bid upon before the state highway commission here on June 10 and 11 following approval of the projects by the district engineer, bureau of public roads, Fort Worth.

A grade crossing elimination program in Fort Worth has four projects among those listed. They are for the Texas & Pacific railway crossing on Dagget avenue; three railroads at Rio Grande avenue; International & Great Northern underpass on Vickery boulevard and Rock Island overpass for highway two approximately 14 miles northwest of Fort Worth.

In Parker county three miles of grading and drainage structures will be let for highway one southeast of Palo Pinto.

On June 2, on South Main street, Fort Worth, and on the Haslet road south of Fort Worth will be bid upon and underpasses at railroad crossings on Polk avenue and Yale street, Houston.

The high school band, in its third year as such, has 45 members. More than 100 students took band music last year.

for permanent public works. Those who agree with him are numerous enough in congress so that compromise was unavoidable, but in the main Mr. Hopkins still dominates.

The exact form of the republican campaign attack remains undetermined. Many politicians doubt whether the national convention can do more than charge waste and political manipulation, and hint at some new form of relief administration.

It will be for the republican nominee to advance a tangible outline of what this proposed new approach should be. That may be, in fact, as matters stand, his first task in the campaign. Whatever he suggests is sure to provoke nationwide dispute.

And once the battle is on, can anyone think of any other issue which is likely to shoulder the, one aside, so far as the ordinary voter is concerned?

consistently go along with representatives of the railroads in saying to the citizenship of Texas that we have a commission that is doing the best job of any commission we have had. The railroad employees are going to be behind Colonel Thompson."

3. Specific freight rate reductions enumerated by Commissioner Thompson included: the "emergency drought rates," a reduction of 50 per cent which enable cattlemen to ship herds to greener pastures and save them from destruction, still in effect in some sections of the state; the carload shipment plan on cotton, which, as of a 600-pound bale from one instance, allowed shipment from Alvord for $1.55 as against the former cost of $4.00; a reduction of the "common point rate" in grains ranging from 7-1-2 to 8 cents per 100 pounds, the common point rate being deducted from the price paid by shippers. This last named rate alone, Thompson said, had saved shippers in excess of two millions a year.

Motor Truck Laws

4. Through formation of an enforcement unit to enforce motor truck regulatory laws, the number of traffic fatalities last year in which regulated carriers were involved was "not more than a half dozen," Thompson said. Personnel of this unit, he said, had been of assistance to the highway patrol and peace officers by reporting violations by motor carriers who are not under the commission's regulation.

5. In the field of regulating the production of natural gas, Thompson pointed out that despite the fact the Texas law is now being tested in the courts, aboveground waste of gas in the Texas Panhandle, which once attracted national attention, has been entirely stopped.

6. Two achievements were emphasized by Thompson in regard to oil proration: first, the market demand for Texas oil has been increased, over the past few years, from 750,000 barrels a day to more than 1,100,000 barrels a day, or in money, about $400,000 daily; and second, scientific research has established a rate of flow for the great East Texas field which, experts agree, should keep it flowing for eight or more years, as contrasted to the general belief prevalent about two and a half years ago that it would be a matter of only months before the field went on the pump.

STARTING causes 3/4 of your engine's wear

The result of today's "stop-and-go" driving ... but now a new oil that CHECKS THE WEAR

You step on the starter 10 times a day ... 3,500 times a year (business cars are started 15,000 times). Instantly over 100 metal parts rub together!

These oils must not break down under the heat of steady running.

And so, at a cost of over $3,000,000, Shell has developed a new oil—especially made for today's "stop-and-go" driving.

The new Golden Shell Motor Oil is FAST-FLOWING and yet tough ... so that it lubricates quickly in starting, yet under high motor heat Golden Shell holds its body and resists breaking down into sludge and carbon.

Automotive engineers ... leading oil technicians ... and professors in large American universities, assert that the process behind the new Golden Shell Oil is the most important advance in oil refining in the last 25 years.

Start using the new Golden Shell Oil today. Now ready at over 30,000 neighborly Shell stations from coast to coast.

If your engine is cold—and the oil is too thick (like molasses)—it cannot flow quickly enough to reach all these delicate moving parts.

As a result, your engine often runs comparatively "dry" for a few seconds. This starting period, say automotive engineers, causes approximately 75% of engine wear.

Is it any wonder that motors lose their quiet, new-car "purr" ... that hundreds of thousands of cars each year need new piston rings? Re-bored cylinders? New bearings? And other repairs that can cost from $10 to $100?

This is, why leading motor car manufacturers urge the use of faster-flowing lubricating oils. "But," they warn, safe cold now costs no more than ordinary refrigeration

And there's a lot of difference between safe cold—as provided by Kelvinator—and ordinary automatic refrigeration.

In Kelvinator you know it's safe, because in Kelvinator you have Visible Cold at all times. No guessing about cabinet temperature—you can see it on Kelvinator's unique Built-In Thermometer. No chance for unexpected refrigeration failures.

In Kelvinator you know it's economical. Because Kelvinator gives you a certified statement, in writing, of low operating cost. That's Visible Economy. And it's important economy, too—current costs actually one-half to two-thirds less than in many refrigerators now in use.

In Kelvinator you know you're protected—with Visible Protection. The manufacturer backs each Kelvinator with a Five-Year Protection Plan.

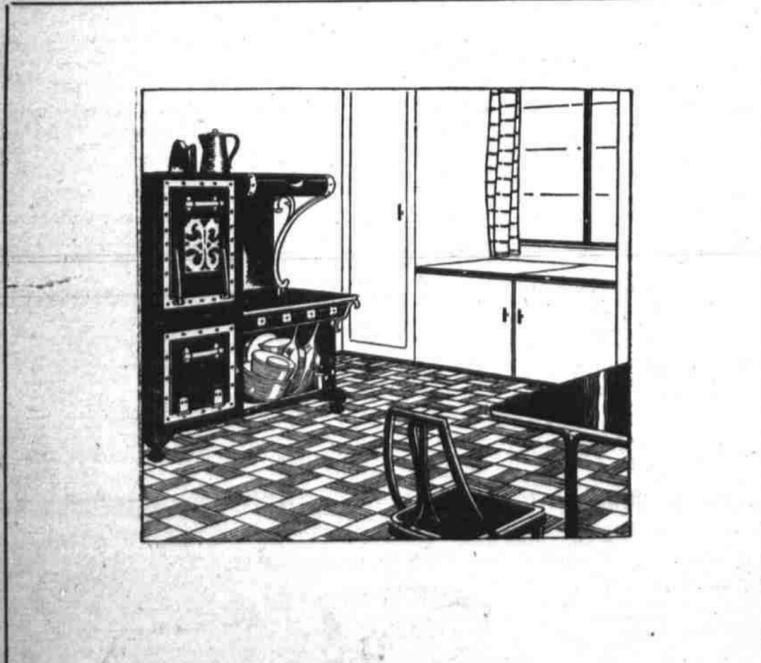

Other outstanding values you can see for yourself in Kelvinator ... rubber grids in all ice trays in standard models ... automatic defrosting switch ... interior light ... and entirely new beauty for your kitchen or pantry, new beauty which one of America's smartest designers helped to create.

The new Kelvinator is worth a special trip to see. We believe you'll be interested at once, that you'll surely want to own one. And—at a cost of as little as 15c a day—why not? You are invited to inspect Kelvinator today.

Visible Cold

The controls of the 1936 Kelvinator keep food compartment temperatures ideal, regardless how hot it is in the kitchen. And you can see what the temperature is, because of a Built-In Thermometer which tells you that food is being kept safely, dependably cold.

Around And About

The Sports Circuit

By Tom Beasley

THE COSDEN Oilers will be idle today. Manager Spike Henninger expected to have Miles here, but was unable to reach an agreement with the manager of the Miles team.

INSTEAD of staging a regular softball tournament here on the 4th of July, Henninger has advanced the idea of having the two top teams in the local Muni league play two strong teams from out-of-town.

SPIKE EXPECTS to stage a baseball game here on the Fourth with San Angelo's entry in the Concho baseball league.

A LARGE number of cheering Big Springsers were in the stands at Midland Downs Saturday afternoon to see the Merchant's $1,000 Handicap—won by Proposing.

OSONA, SAYS Bill Collins, proxy of the Permian Basin baseball league, is drawing the best crowds of any team in the circuit.

THE BIG Spring Athletic club expects to stage a big wrestling show here on the 4th—three big matches and a "rassle royal".

The bulk of Texas Christian university stellar football athletes will spend this summer working in the East Texas oil fields and playing baseball, a poll indicated today.

Tracy Kellow and Scott McCall, both rugged linemen, will continue this summer to operate the filling station which they have found so helpful in paying their ways through school.

Harold McClure, substitute on last year's team, also will work for an oil company here this summer. Vic Montgomery will spend the summer on his father's ranch, way out in West Texas.

Walter Harrison, left guard, also has a job with the Centennial here.

And last, but not least, Darrell Lester, towering unanimous choice for all-American center, will spend his summer here working out in preparation for assuming his position as assistant coach at a Fort Worth high school this fall.

LOU MEYER WINS INDIANAPOLIS SPEED CLASSIC

THIRD WIN FOR MEYER; AVERAGES OVER 109 MPH FOR FIVE HUNDRED MILES

Earns Over $35,000 By Taking First Place In Memorial Day Race; Ted Horn Of California In Second

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 30.—Accomplishing what no other man in history has been able to do before, Lou Meyer of Huntington, Cal., roared to his third glorious victory in the 500-mile automobile race over the Indianapolis speedway track here today in record-breaking time before a record crowd.

Meyer drove his four-cylinder special the full 500-miles without relief and made but two brief stops. He covered the distance in 4:35.2 hours to average 109.969 miles per hour, breaking the previous record of 106.240 miles per hour made by Kelly Pettilo last year.

Meyer registered other wins in 1928 and 1933. Another Californian, 27-year-old Ted Horn of Los Angeles, finished second nearly three miles behind Meyer, with Maurie Rose of Dayton, O., seven and one-half miles back.

George "Doc" McKenzie of Edgington, Pa., was fourth. Pettilo drove the last 125 miles as relief, pushing the car over the finish line.

Chet Miller of Detroit and Ray Pixley of Fullerton, Cal., were sixth. Fifteen of the 32 cars finished, and only five ran out of gasoline.

As a result of his victory, Meyer earned approximately $35,000. First place paid him about $26,000 while the rest came in lap prizes and checks from manufacturers.

He snatched the lead at 225 miles when Babe Stapp of Los Angeles and Wilbur Shaw of Indianapolis, the leaders at that time, ran into trouble.

The car driven by Stapp, carry-along at terrific speed, broke a rear axle, forcing him out of the race. Shaw had to stop at the pit to replenish his fuel supply and Meyer bounded into the lead.

Jake Atz Takes Over Galveston Club Today

GALVESTON, May 30. (UP)—Jake Atz, former "wizard" manager of the Fort Worth Cats and other Texas league clubs for 18 years, will return to baseball tomorrow when he takes over the direction of the Galveston Buccaneers.

Atz was appointed manager of the Buc last night by Roy J. Koehler, acting president of the Galveston ball club, to relieve Jack Mealey who was forced to resign yesterday.

Koehler demanded Mealey's resignation at Beaumont where the team was playing, as result of an altercation with fans at Houston last Wednesday night in which the Galveston manager was charged with swinging his catcher's mask at Louis Douglas, a fan.

Mealey and Sigmund Jakucki, Buc pitcher who was the center of the disturbance and who was charged with using profane language and going into the stands to attack Douglas, were suspended indefinitely Thursday by Alvin Gardner, Texas league president.

Atz directed the Fort Worth club from 1915 to 1929, winning six consecutive Texas league pennants during the 1920-25 period and setting a record of victories. He is credited with elevating the circuit to Class-A status. In the first Dixie series, his team defeated L.A. the Rock of the Southern Association.

He spent the 1930 season as Dallas manager, directing the Shreveport team in 1931 and left the Texas league to manage the New Orleans Pelicans in 1932. He umpired a few Texas league games in 1933 and in 1934 became head of the Tulsa Oilers who were nosed out of the pennant chase by Dallas in the last week of the season.

Jimmie McLeod, Buc shortstop, was appointed acting manager by Koehler yesterday for the Beaumont series which ends today. The Galveston team lost two games yesterday, 5-1, 6-5.

Mealey was with Galveston for four seasons, succeeding Manager Billy Webb at the start of last season when he hoisted the club to third place in the final standings, ultimately losing a chance at the pennant in the Shanessey playoff to Oklahoma City.

Golfers To Arrive Early For Practice Rounds

Proposing Is Race Winner At Midland

Barney Keen Nosed Out; 3,000 See Merchant's Day Handicap

By HANK HART MIDLAND, May 30.—Before a Memorial Day crowd of more than 3,000, Proposing, under the expert handling of J. Adams, came from behind in a great stretch run to nose out Barney Keen by half a length after the H. R. Merrell horse had built up a lead of more than five lengths at the final turn.

The time for the mile was 1:40.2, comparatively good for the slow track. Proposing, owned by B. P. Woodson, and carrying 114 pounds, paid $5, $4.70 and $3.40, while the backers of Barney Keen were awarded $6.70 and $5.20.

Roll Home, who finished third in the eight horse field, paid $3.20 to show. Proposing broke slow, trailing Betty Wee by several lengths, who broke into the lead. Betty Wee continued as the leader as the horses passed the cheering crowd in the grandstand, but Barney Keen began to step as they entered the back stretch. He took the lead on the far side of the field and widened the gap as the horses entered the far turn.

The Merrill horse increased his advantage to better than five lengths as they turned "homeward" but under the whip. Proposing, breaking on the outside, opened up with an amazing stretch drive and overtook Barney Keen yards from the wire.

Every horse in the field made it a race except Carl E. who was trailing the others by some 10 lengths as they crossed the finish line. Marvinata, running in the fifth race at 4 1/2 furlongs, paid the biggest winning price of the day when he came through to pay his backers $24.60. He beat out Prince Pad, one of the favorites, and Van Girl.

Browns Take Two Straight

St. Louis Team Comes To Life To Defeat World Champs

DETROIT, May 30.—The St. Louis Browns won their first double-header of the year here today by turning back the fading Detroit Tigers in both ends of a twin bill, gaining the first victory, 5-3, and the nightcap, 5-0, with Earl Caldwell putting the world's champions down with four scattered blows.

Gehring and Simmons hit home runs for Detroit in the opener while Jim Bottomley got one in the third frame of the first game. The Browns waited until the fourth inning of the nightcap to open up, but got to Eldon Auker for two runs in that inning to break the tie.

They shelled Schoolboy Rowe from the hill in the fifth inning of the first game. First game: St. Louis 101 120 000—5 10 0
Detroit 010 001 000—3 8 0

Second game: St. Louis 000 220 001—5 11 0
Detroit 000 000 000—0 4 0
Batteries: Caldwell and Hemsley; Auker and Cochrane.

New York Giants Drop Both Ends Of Twin Bill

BROOKLYN, May 30.—Despite home runs by Sam Leslie and Hank Lieber, the New York Giants dropped both ends of a double-header to the troublesome Brooklyn Dodgers here Saturday, losing the first, 6-9, and the second, 0-3, with the caged Ed Brandt pitching the shut ball.

The Giants took a 2-0 lead when Lieber let fly with his homer in the first frame, but the Brooklynites came back in the second to score five times and chase the heretofore successful Harry Gumbert from the hill. Freddy Fitzsimmons, his successor, failed in his attempt to stop the heavy bats of Casey Stengel.

Dick Coffman gave up only nine hits in pitching for New York in the nightcap, but Brooklyn scored once in the third and twice in the eighth to ice the victory. First game: New York 202 001 010—6 8 3
Brooklyn 050 200 028—9 13 2

EARLY BIRDS AT PRACTICE ON FAST BALTUSROL GREENS

By SCOTTY RESTON (Associated Press Sports Writer) SHORT HILLS, N. J., May 30. (AP)—As the idle business of picking a winner in the National Open golf championship here, June 4-8, blunders along, the tricky Baltusrol greens get faster and faster and the best putters in the business jump higher into favor.

Under the Baltusrol mountain, the championship upper course should furnish little trouble from tee to green. The course is not inordinarily long—it will measure 6,866 yards from the back tees—and it has plenty of breadth. There are plenty of trees, but most of them are on the right, and should not trouble the pros, who are inclined to hook to the left when they go off.

But the greens roll and dip like a bumpy street, and if they are shaved down the boys will be tapping and praying. Take Your Pick A 50-1 shot, Sam Parks, Jr., of Pittsburgh, won last year at Oakmont because he adapted a flowing putting stroke to the glass-fast greens, and while officials of the Baltusrol course insist they will not let themselves in for the criticism which was fired at Oakmont because of the speed of their greens, it is reasonably certain that the Baltusrol greens will be fast enough to cause a lot of trouble.

So, pick out your best putters among the top-notchers and string along with them. There's Morton Smith, Parks, Gene Sarazen, John Revolta, Henry Picard, Paul Runyan, and Macdonald Smith, all great putters and barring the possibility that this analysis is wrong, and that some young upstart may bang them in from all over the greens, you may win.

One of the favorites will be young Byron Nelson, Ridgewood, N. J., professional who won the recent Metropolitan Open championship from a fine field, and while the records indicate that winning the "Met" is a certain way to assure yourself of finishing about 51st in the National, critics like Nelson's swing and his courage, and he is one of the few players who really know the ups and downs of Baltusrol.

On the theory that success during the tournament depends a great deal on an intimate knowledge of the course, many players have been camping on the New Jersey course ever since the middle of May. But the back tees have been fenced up and will not be used until the first round is played.

The rough near the fairway will not be too long but it will get longer as it goes back and those who insist on wandering far will have to wedge their way back to the clear.

Incidentally, it should not be assumed that this Baltusrol course is the same as the historic old course whereon the 1903 and 1915 Nationals were played, nor the 1926 National amateur, either. The site is the same, but this course is entirely different and is only several years old.

Game Goes Extra Inning; Oilers Idle Today

Playing without the services of several star performers, the Cosden Oilers were yesterday afternoon 3-2, in an exciting game that went an extra inning.

Scheduled to go only seven innings, the teams were tied 2-2 at the end of the regular playing period and Bill Brown scored the winning run for the Bulldogs in the eighth frame on a hit by Earl Rose.

Jack Smith scored Cosden's two runs in the first and third, but the count was knotted at 2-2 in the fourth frame when Cramer and Rose tallied for the visitors.

Jack Gorman, rough-coach mat veteran from the Concho territory, will make his appearance in the Big Spring arena Tuesday for the second time this year.

Gorman wrestled on the semi-final here about three weeks ago, but draws the main assignment this week in a two-out-of-three fall bout with Ernie Arthur. The match will have a two-hour time limit.

Arthur hails from Canada, and made his first trek into this part of the country last year when he managed to win the majority of his bouts. Ernie delights in pouncing and choke holds but always does his best to hide the dirty tactics.

That Man Again Gorman is just about as mean as any wrestler on the circuit and he applies his illegal holds without any attempt to cover up. Gorman has never won a match here.

Tex "Sailor" Watkins, who has appeared in both semi-final and main event matches here, will meet Ray Meyers in the semi-final. Meyers lost one match here but claimed he suffered a shoulder injury early in the bout that slowed him up. He asked for another chance.

Cleveland Turns Back White Sox In 2 Games

CLEVELAND, May 30.—Lloyd Brown and George Blahodier turned back the Chicago White Sox in a pair of games here Saturday for the Cleveland Indians. Brown winning the opener, 4-3, in a nine-hit performance, and Blahodier coasting to an easy 11-3 decision on a six-hit exhibition.

Averill and Trosky came through with home runs in the second. The circuit smash by Hal made his tenth of the season. First game: Chicago 000 012 000—3 9 1

Chemists Score Well-Earned 3-2 Victory Friday Night

HORACE WALLIN'S home run, coming in the seventh inning with one away and the bases empty, gave the Cosden Chemists a well-earned 3-2 victory over the Frost Drugists Friday night.

The Frosters, strengthened at several positions, put up a stubborn fight before accepting defeat, and succeeded in outthumping Ernie Richardson's men, 6-5.

Roscoe Van Zandt, however, scattered the enemy blows over the route, never allowing more than one an inning and the hefty Labmen seemed to improve as the game progressed. He gave hits in each of the first innings and allowed the Soda Skeets to score their runs in the second and fourth stanzas.

His only mistakes were in permitting Scotty Scott to hit safely in the sixth and George Neal to get aboard in the ninth.

The Chemists took the lead in the second when Phillips and Groseclose went across, saw the Frosters deadlock the count with runs in the second and fourth and then gained a safe lead when Wallin came through with his circuit smash.

Bucket Hare, with a double in the second and single in the fourth, led the batting parade. The Frost short-stop had a hand in all the Frost scoring, putting Tony Garcia across in the second with his two-base blow and going over himself on Neal's bouncer.

NORTON AND REASOR IN FINALS OF WESTEX GOLF TOURNEY

MEDALIST TACKS UP NEW MARK

By OMBE BRISTOW (Special Correspondent)
MINERAL WELLS, May 30.—I have seen many golf matches, but the most sensational match I've ever witnessed was played here this afternoon between Morris Norton of Wichita Falls and Jim Walkup of Fort Worth.

Norton won the finals of the 11th annual tournament of the West Texas Golf Association by defeating Walkup, 2 and 1, on the 17th. He meets Reasor, former Oklahoma champion, in a scheduled 36-hole match tomorrow.

Both men played superb golf, but Norton was unbeatable. He was six under par when he won on the 17th, and Walkup was four under. They played the 18th in an attempt to better the course record and Norton set a new mark with a 67. Walkup tied the old course record with a 68.

That match was a thriller from the first tee. Norton had seven birdies on the last nine holes.

Reasor, registered from Electra, won his semi-final match from Douglas Jones of Big Spring, 5 and 4. Jones can really handle his irons, and played hang-up golf all the way.

Bristow (above) got up a big mad at being defeated in his first match, and went through to the consolation finals. I play Boyd of Brownwood tomorrow.

Directors elected were Shirley Robbins of Big Spring, Joe Dick Slaughter of Lubbock, Stayton Bonner of Wichita Falls, and Ned Robertson of Brownwood. Allen Guinn of Mineral Wells was elected president and Penrose Metcalf of San Angelo vice-president.

Big Spring Out
The writer has been from Catarina county to Pistol Hill and never has he witnessed such a sensational match in West Texas and West Texas may never see its equal on grass greens again as that witnessed today.

Six Teams In Muny Golf League To Play Third Round Matches Today

Norris Norton of Wichita Falls, blasting a 67 and breaking the course record, gave a heart-rending defeat to Jimmy Walkup, Fort Worth, who tied the course record with a 68.

How would you like to bring three birdies out of the last three holes and have them met with three birdies by your opponent?

That was what happened and that 67 and 68 will long be remembered by every member of the West Texas golf family.

Big Spring Golf
The Big Spring delegation is out with the exception of The Herald's correspondent who shot under trees, over trees, and out of the creek to show the boys how to play the game the hard way into the championship consolation flight finals. It was rumored the correspondent brought in a cottontail after emerging from the rough on one of the holes.

Douglas Jones, Big Spring, kicked over the dope bucket when he took Tommy Cochran, former state champion, out this morning. Jones was defeated in the afternoon round.

Tom Coffey, Big Spring, was defeated after a tough battle in the fourth consolation.

Need Camera
Amos Melton of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram staff is still obstinate about his camera and claims that films cost money. I have offered him a year's subscription to The Herald and believe he will take it for the use of the camera.

I'll need it to snap some of my recoveries from the rough, not to speak of the championship finals. It should be a wonderful final tomorrow.

Practice Shoot At Pistol Range Today
Members of the Rifle and Pistol club will engage in 22 rifle and pistol shooting events this morning on the practice range near the city water works.

Visitors are invited to compete with the members between 8 and 10 a. m.

OMAHA WINS 2ND ENGLISH RACE

LONDON, May 30 (UP)—William Woodward's Omaha, America's champion three-year-old last year, today won his second straight race in England when he captured the two miles Queens Plate at Kempton park.

Racing through a downpour of rain, Omaha just managed to beat Lord Derby's Bob Steigh by a neck. Mrs. C. Rich's Silverhit was six lengths back in third place.

Omaha, here primarily for the Ascot Gold Cup, June 15, was the 10 to 11 choice in the field of five. Bob Steigh, also eligible for the Gold Cup, was held at 6 to 5 and Silverhit at 33 to 1.

The Woodward colt, a son of Gallant Fox, scored his other victory May 9, when he captured the one and one-half miles of the Victor Wild stakes. Today's race was the farthest Omaha has ever run.

Batting Lead Moved Around

Sputters During Week Shatter Rule That Averages Should Be Dropping
NEW YORK, May 30 (UP)—Two American league batting sputters which shattered the rule that batting averages drop steadily as the major season advances, brought a considerable change in the line-up of hitting leaders during the past week.

The records showed Bill Terry, New York Giants manager, still heading the National league although he was called into action only twice as a pinch hitter and failed to connect both times during the week. In the junior circuit, however, a pair of rookies, 19-year-old Cleveland and 19-year-old Buddy Lewis of Washington, hit at a 500 clip through the week and displaced another youngster, Joe DiMaggio, of the Yankees at the top.

Sullivan made nine hits in 18 trips to the plate to hold his average from 400 and second place to .422 and the lead. Lewis registered a 25 point gain on 14 hits in 28 times up to drop into the second notch at .384. DiMaggio, meanwhile, hit only 12 times in 39 attempts and his average fell 35 points to .375.

While Terry and his nearest rival, Joe Medwick of the Cardinals, were both losing ground in the batting race, Johnny Moore of the Phillies picked up 24 points with 15 hits in 32 trips at bat and took second place with a .368 average.

The first 10 in each major league follows, games through Friday:

Houston, May 30.—Houston and San Antonio split even in a twin bill played here today, the Buffs winning the first one, 7-2, and the Missions the second, 3-2.

Jim Copeland pitched one-hit ball in the second game but lost on two errors.

First game:
Houston 000 040 030—7 11 2
San Antonio 100 001 000—2 9 2
Batteries: Stevenson and Martin; Hillin and Padden.

Second game:
Houston 000 000 200—2 11 3
San Antonio 010 010 001—3 1 2
Batteries: Copeland and Martin; Walkup and Padden.

IN ODESSA
George White, district supervisor for the Texas old age assistance commission, was in Odessa Saturday checking with his investigator, Carter Thompson, on applications from Ector and Andrews counties.

Thomson Wins British Title

Defeats James Ferrier, Australian Champion, Two Up
ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 30 (UP)—Hector Thomson, 22-year-old Scottish amateur champion, won the British amateur golf championship, two up.

Even at the end of the first 18 holes, Thomson played the first nine holes of the afternoon in 35 strokes, despite a driving rain, and was two up at the 27th. He held this advantage to the 35th hole, where he had it cut to one, but he rallied on the last hole to finish the match.

YATES USES OLD CLUB ONCE USED BY JONES

By BILL BORING
ATLANTA, May 30. (UP)—Charley Yates, successor to Bobby Jones as Atlanta's chief contribution to competitive golf, campaigned right into the Walker cup company with "Just a regular old set of clubs." And included among his golfing tools is a weapon he wouldn't part with for anything—a battle-scarred, No. 7 iron, a gift from the great Jones, Yates' idol and fellow member of famed East Lake.

A young business man trying to get ahead, Yates often does his own caddyng, and that's one reason why he doesn't carry any "once-a-month" sticks—the kind that aren't called upon very often.

"But I reckon as that I have a club for every shot I know," allows Heping Charley. "Of No. 7" is the only club in Yates' bag that has a special name. It may become as famous as Jones' own putting "Calamity Jane," the original of which was dug up recently and put back into service by the "grand-siam king" of 1930.

Experts say Yates' specialty in the short iron game, pitching to the green from 110 to 150 yards, and that's where "Of No. 7" comes in handy.

The 7-iron was his mainstay as he swept through a field listing virtually all the amateur standouts except Lawson Little to win the western amateur crown at Colorado Springs last summer, and in 1934 when he took the national collegiate crown to Georgia Tech.

Municipal Golf Tournery In July

The first Muny invitation golf tournament, postponed from May, has been definitely set for July 2-5. The tournament will be a part of the sports carnival planned for the 4th of July. Charles Akey, Muny pro, said Saturday the course would be put in top shape for the tourney.

WINBORN TO PIEDMONT

DALLAS, May 30. (UP)—Luke Winborn, University of Texas shortstop, has signed a contract with the Boston Red Sox and will report to the Rocky Mount, N. C. Sox farm in the Piedmont league, relatives said today.

Winborn became the fourth member of the Texas team to join the professional ranks after a great season in which the Longhorns copped the Southwest conference flag.

Two other teammates, Aubrey Graham, second baseman, and Dick Midkiff, pitcher, signed Boston contracts. Melvin (Primo) Preibisch, outfielder, signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Norman Branch, another pitcher, turned down a New York Yankee contract to recuperate from an illness during summer months.

COACH DIES

PALO ALTO, Calif., May 30 (UP)—Murray Cuddeback, former Stanford university football star whose play in the early 20's made headlines throughout the nation, died here today after a long illness.

He was assistant football coach at Stanford and chief football scout.

Donald Budge Beats Crawford

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—America's only hope in Davis Cup play, parched-topped Donald Budge of Oakland, Cal., came through with a five set triumph Saturday over the veteran Jack Crawford to give the United States an even break in the American zone finals against Australia.

Rallying courageously after dropping a two-set advantage, the 21-year-old Pacific Coast star aroused himself to the cheers of a 6,500 capacity gallery at the Germantown Cricket club, and out-stayed crafty, masterful Crawford, winning 6-2, 6-4, 4-6, 1-6, 13-11.

Budge's conquest of the man, experts figured he would beat in a breeze because of his youth and stamina, nullified the victory of Adrian Quist over Wilmer Allison of Texas.

Allison, the American champion, fell by the scores of 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-1, in a match that saw Allison far below his summer form of 1935.

Fl. Worth Cats Shoved Deeper In Loop Cellar

TULSA, May 30.—Jim Kimball and George Milstead shoved the Fort Worth Cats deeper in the Texas league cellar by turning in two shutout verdicts, Kimball winning the first for Tulsa by 5-0, and Milstead the second by 15-0.

Danny Shoffner and Hal Whitte attempted to stop the Oilers.

First game:
Fort Worth 000 000 000—0 8 0
Tulsa 100 102 000—5 8 2
Batteries: Shoffner and Susco; Kimball and Jackson.

Second game:
Fort Worth 000 000 0—0 3 4
Tulsa 011 003—13 15 1
Batteries: Whitte, Ginn and Susco; Milstead and Jackson.

Southpaw Bids For Top Place As A Shotputter

LINCOLN, Neb., May 30 (UP)—If the United States Olympic committee is looking for a likely southpaw to round out its shotputting staff at Berlin this summer, perhaps Sam Francis of the University of Nebraska is the man.

Winner of the shotput at the Texas, Kansas, and Drake relays, Francis is regarded as one of the best weight men in America and probably "tops" among the left-handers.

His best marks in competition during the relay season was at Austin, Texas, where he set a new meet record of 51 feet, 9 inches. He has been reaching more than 50 feet consistently.

Francis plays fullback on the Cornhusker team and in 1935 was recognized as one of the best punters in the middle west.

Rival Football Coaches Also Foes On Fairways

RALEIGH, N. C., May 30 (UP)—Football coaches in the Carolinas are rivals on the fairway as well as the gridiron.

Hank Anderson, at North Carolina State college, matched strokes with Wallace Wade, of Duke, in the Carolinas' golf tourney at Winston-Salem.

Anderson's score was low enough to win a first flight berth, but Wade ran into trouble in bunkers and rough, falling short. His game is considered much better than average, however.

At Columbia, S. C., Don McCallister, University of South Carolina grid mentor, is a linkman of no ordinary ability.

Cooking School To Be Held Here Tuesday By Kelvin Home Economist

Demonstrations in modern cooking and with successful recipes of varied types will be given at a cooking school here Tuesday afternoon by Miss Ellen Strehorn, home economist associated with the Kelvin corporation. The school will be held in the basement of the First Methodist church, from 2:30 to 4:30, and all women of the city are urged to attend. Admission is free, and awards will be distributed.

Miss Strehorn comes here direct from the famed Kelvin Kitchen in Detroit, an experimental cooking laboratory where modern and delicious recipes are tested, compiled and made available to American housewives. Miss Strehorn was trained in the Kelvin Kitchen, and at the demonstration here will present new ideas in present-day cookery as perfected in the Detroit institution.

The demonstration is sponsored by the Maytag Big Spring company, local dealers for Kelvinator refrigerators.

O. L. Williams, local oil man and trucker, worked as a roustabout on the first commercial oil producer in the county.

SURVEY SHOWS HIGHWAYS PAY PUBLIC IN END

WASHINGTON, (UP) — Highways pay their way by reducing operating costs of vehicles using them, and on heavily traveled roads return substantial profits to the public, the bureau of public roads reported after a study of the mileage of vehicle travel in three states in comparison with highway expenditures.

Annual payments for highways, the bureau found, amount to slightly more than one per cent a mile of travel on all highways in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

In Minnesota 1.1 cents a mile. Analysis of highway costs and travel on the state systems, which include federal-aid roads, of Wisconsin and Michigan shows that payments amount to .22 cent and .86 cent a mile of travel respectively. The figures for county roads are 1.23 cents in Wisconsin and 1.65 cents in Michigan.

The lower costs for main highways agree with the well-established rule that large volumes of traffic make possible the construction and maintenance of high-type surfaces at a low cost per mile of travel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Barron and daughter, Eva Nell, have gone to Los Angeles and San Francisco for a three-weeks vacation trip. They expect to return by way of Salt Lake City and Denver.

Centennial Tickets Offered Here Are Usable By Any One; Good All Season

The combination ticket books for the Texas Centennial central exposition at Dallas, being sold in advance of the Centennial locally by the Parent-Teacher council, are transferable and may be used by any one on any day of the exposition. The individual tickets may be detached as a whole from the books themselves and used individually by any one.

This information was contained in a letter received by Mrs. H. W. Smith, president of the council, from Raymond Harrington of Dallas, associate director of the department of admissions at the Centennial.

Harrington wrote that the words "void if detached" on the admission coupons simply means that the coupons themselves are not good for admission when detached. The ticket as a whole, he wrote, is good even though out of the book.

The Centennial books have a value of $4, but are being sold in advance for $2.50. The PTA council retains a share of the proceeds. The sale will be concluded on June 5, as the exposition opens on the following day.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. C. A. Bulot, director of the sales campaign, said Saturday that the tickets had been in good demand here. Endorsement of the campaign was given in a statement by W. T. Strange, Jr., manager of the chamber of commerce, who said:

"When purchasing these tickets in Big Spring you are not only helping Texas to stage a Centennial, but you are helping your own home town and one of our most worthy institutions.

"I hope if you are planning on attending the Centennial that you will purchase your tickets here under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers association instead of waiting until you arrive in Dallas. We urge you to buy your tickets prior to June 6, as these tickets will go off sale on the opening day of the Centennial.

UNIVERSITY UNIT OF CENTENNIAL TO BE OPENED MONDAY

AUSTIN, May 30.—A formal program, to which Gov. James V. Allred and many other state and federal officials who have contributed to the progress of the Texas memorial museum and the University Centennial exposition have been invited, will mark the opening of the latter Monday at noon.

Governor Allred has been asked to head a group of distinguished citizens attending a dinner tendered by Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the university. Afterward the group will be taken to the tower of the nearly-finished university library building, and the cartellion bells hung at its top will play for the first time. Carrier pigeons carrying messages of greeting to exposition officials at Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio will be released. A spectacular flag ceremony and musical program on the tower will be presented.

Then the party will go to the west reading room of the library, in which the civic history exhibits emphasizing the pioneer farm, ranch and domestic life of Texas are displayed.

A broadcast covering the entire south, presented through the facilities of the Texas Quality Network and given under the personal supervision of Merle Tucker, director of the radio division of the Texas Centennial celebrations, will be a feature of the day's program.

WPA Wage Scale Nearer Nation's Prevailing Rate

WASHINGTON, May 30. (UP)—The new deal's WPA wage scale edged near the country's prevailing rate of pay today as work-relief officials prepared for the 1936-1937 federal employment program.

Needy working on government projects earned eight-tenths of a cent more during the first half of April than the 49-cent-an-hour they averaged in the same period during March.

Congress provided in the new appropriation that the administration pay the local prevailing rate instead of the $19-to-$24 a month "security wage" of the current $4,000,000,000 program.

WPA statistics revealed work-relief employes had been given pay increases during the past year that put them almost on the basis as workers employed in private industry.

Comparing the first half of April with the same period in March, WPA figures showed Alabama wages increased four cents an hour. Pay declined almost five cents in Pennsylvania and Iowa and around three cents in Utah, Minnesota and North Dakota.

The average for April the country over was 43.8 cents for all types of work; $5.8 for highways, roads and streets; $2.4 for public buildings; $0.4 for parks and recreation; 42.6 for flood control and conservation; 44.8 for sewers and utilities; 46.3 for airports and transportation; 58.7 for white collar; 37. for sanitation and health.

OVER 6,000 GROCERS WILL ATTEND NAT'L MEETING AT DALLAS

DALLAS, May 30.—Between 6,000 and 8,000 retail food distributors will gather in Dallas June 21, drawn by the thirty-ninth annual convention of the National Association of Retail Grocers and the Texas Centennial celebrations.

Advance registrations already have passed 3,000 and many states have yet to send theirs in. In blocks, Roger Q. Flournoy, secretary of the Texas Retail Grocers association, announced. Reports from the state organizations over the country indicate that every state in the union will be represented at the meetings of the convention beginning June 21 and continuing through June 23.

Month Of May Ends With Nuptial Rites Being Read For Two Brides

Miss Jennie Dorine Rogers Wed To Leo Turner Of Stanton; Miss Pitts To U. S. Army Lieutenant

With June weddings in the offing, the month of May ended with its belated quota, two local brides selecting the last week-end of the month for their wedding dates. Both were wed with something more than the usual rites read by the minister in his parsonage.

Gossip Along Main Drag

By ONA R. PARSONS
Summer vacations are in the air at present, everybody saying what he or she will do. Most popular destination is Dallas and the Centennial exposition. . . .

Already visitors who do not have relatives or intimate friends in Dallas are wondering where they will stay, reports being out that hotels are crowded and prices, top. Somebody has announced a solution of the problem thus: spend nights riding home on the air-cooled T. and P. trains—ride west until about 1 o'clock, then get off and ride east to Dallas the rest of the night. It will be cheaper, railroad rates reduced as they are, than hotel bills. . . .

Mrs. C. W. Cunningham is among those who plan a trip to Dallas; so are Mrs. Hayes Stripling, Joe Ogden and H. W. Smith. Mrs. M. K. House is going to Virginia and New York City with Abilene relatives; Mrs. Albert M. Fisher is looking forward to a trip to Chicago to see her mother, who is slowly recovering from a winter illness. . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens say they do not like to plan their summer trips down to the last period before embarking. They pick out a general direction and let the spirit move them on. . . .

Many of the women's clubs have already disbanded, but the percentage of bridge clubs that have done so is small. As long as cool weather continues, bridge will be the most popular indoor sport for local matrons. . . .

As Others See Us
A group of bridge players was recently entertained in a fashion their hostess had not anticipated when the young daughter of the house and her eight-year-old friend composed a bit of verse describing the conversation of their mothers' friends during their bridge games. It seemed to relate to almost everything but bridge. . . .

The "pome" was headed "Silly Talk of Ladies." It follows, spelling and all (the combination of them and their hostess had not anticipated for these young composers, so they compromised on the word, their):
Their talking about bridge!
Their talking about rain!
Their talking about pictures!
Their talking about being tired out.
Their fussing about hands!
Their talking about flowers!
Their talking about being cold!
Their talking about where they are going!
Their talking about rents this summer!
Their talking about pretty hands!
Their talking about other ladies!
Their talking about their own hands!
Those silly ladies.

THE STORY OF A NOVEL

By Thomas Wolfe
(Charles Scribner's Sons)

Last year Thomas Wolfe, whose recently published novel "Of Time and the River," created such a furor among critics, wrote a series of three articles for the Saturday Review of Literature. The articles created as much of a furor in their own field as the novel, because they dealt with an author's travail. . . .

"The Story of a Novel" is the gist of those articles. We recommend it heartily to everybody who has any desire to write a book, or thinks he has a book in his system. Getting it out isn't as easy a job as the uninitiated think, so one learns. Probably the reason critics encouraged Thomas Wolfe to put his articles into book form is to save trouble for a lot of people who think writing a book is merely a matter of covering sheets of paper with words. . . .

Wolfe tells of the unhappy reception of his first novel, "Look Homeward, Angel," in his home town and how everybody thought that every unkind thing in the book was directed at him of her personally. . . .

The rest of the pages are devoted to an account of the emotional spree he went on for several years before producing "Of Time and the River." The book took about five years to write and amounted to words enough for ten books when he was done, leaving him the job of cutting it down in itself. This in itself took a year. O.R.P.

RIDING FOR TEXAS
As Told to Tyler Mason by Capt. Bill McDonald
(By Reynal & Hitchcock)

As the Northwest Mounted Police have made the reputation of always getting their man so have the Texas Rangers built for themselves the reputation of being the most daring and courageous men ever to be organized into a law-enforcing body. The Rangers have figured in many tales of the making of Texas but they have not been credited with exploits as daring as they have really performed. . . .

Captain Bill McDonald, ranger captain, lived the life of a western story book character. His exploits seemed to have been taken from the tales of our modern lurid fiction, but they were more daring than that of any of the characters of these tales. He would enter a place where danger lurked in its worst form, knowing that his chances of ever leaving were scant. He had been wounded so much and carried so many bullets in his body that wit said he would sink if he ever went in swimming. . . .

A prominent lawmaker once said that McDonald would charge Hell with a bucket of water. This is probably nearly true. He once arrested a detachment of negro soldiers and held them against the orders of their commanding officer. When McDonald became a ranger he declared that Texas should not be a health resort for criminals. An example of this point is best shown when a noted killer was advised to leave the country to evade the sheriff, he retorted, "Hell, where will I go, I'm in Texas now." Texas was the hideout place for criminals from probably every state. . . .

The men whom Captain Bill was sent to capture were the most desperate and determined killers of the west. Among them were the quickest and straightest shots in Texas. These men of the border are the same men that gained for Texas the reputation of being such a wild country. They would shoot on a liltle or no provocation and their aim was deadly. Only the fastest on the draw and the best shots could survive in a gun battle. . . .

Bill McDonald survived by the help of fate and his idea that a man could stand against a man who was right and kept a coming. For something to satisfy one's craving for fast action and high adventure, this book is a lumpy good read. J.R.

Two Vincent Women Beautify Yards And Prepare Gardens

If you would turn a bare yard into a landscaped thing of beauty, a utilitarian item such as a chicken-proof fence is the first requirement, declared Miss Delphia Whitaker, first year yard demonstrator of Vincent Home Demonstration club. . . .

She finds it a pleasure to landscape a yard after having a fence built that protects the plants from all farm animals. Her first yard work consisted of deeply spading and fertilizing beds around the foundation of the house and getting them in condition for fall planting of shrubs. These beds are used this summer for annual flowers. . . .

Honeysuckle and Virginia creepers have been planted to shade east and west windows, trellises were built for their support. Shrubs and more trees will be added in the fall. . . .

Appleton Home
Shade trees, vines and a grassy lawn make an attractive setting for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Appleton of the Vincent community but the beds of flowers in the garden adjoining the yard make the place one of outstanding beauty. . . .

Roses, zinnias, four o'clocks, dahlias, marigolds, gladioli and petunias vie with each other for attention and make colorful display from early spring to late fall. . . .

Appleton has one of the best gardens in the county also. Tomatoes plants and beans are large in size and already blooming. Vegetables now ready are peas, head lettuce and onions. Other plants are ready to be transferred from hot bed and cold frames into the garden. A splendid water supply permits thorough irrigation in dry seasons. . . .

COUGHLIN WON'T SUPPORT EITHER LONDON OR F. D. R.
ROYAL OAK, Mich., May 30. (UP)—Father Charles E. Coughlin will not support Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas if he becomes the republican presidential nominee, nor can he support the present policies of the Roosevelt administration, the famed radio priest announced. . . .

"As I have often said over the radio, I will concentrate my efforts on congress," Coughlin told the United Press. Those congressional candidates endorsed by the National Union for Social Justice will receive his support in November, he said. . . .

Coughlin explained yesterday that he would support a republican presidential candidate "in whom I could repose complete confidence," but implied that this did not mean unqualified support for the entire party. . . .

THE PUBLIC AND THE SUPREME COURT

One of the unhappy effects of the supreme court's decisions invalidating new deal measures is the change that is wrought in the average citizen's state of mind toward the tribunal and toward the constitution which its decisions interpret.

Practically all the decisions have been by a divided court. That of itself necessarily lessens the public's reverence for the court. When one pauses to recall that of the four justices who have most consistently decided against administration measures three are Republicans, former corporation attorneys, appointed by Republican presidents, the tendency to accept the judgments as the final word in legal scholarship is lessened still further. It is realized that the attitudes of these have been affected to some extent by their backgrounds, by their earlier experiences at the bar, and by their political views. That realization takes something away from the force of their decisions. Perhaps it should not, but it does. It takes something away, also, from the individual's respect for the constitution which these decisions construe.

In the two most recent cases decided by the court, the statutes involved were clearly in the interest of the general public. In the Guffey coal act case, it is recognized that this law would have operated for the benefit of the men employed in the mines and of the users of coal and of a number of the coal companies themselves. Seven coal-producing states joined the federal government in urging the court to uphold it. Invalidation of the municipal bankruptcy law helps no one. The bankrupt cities themselves are worse off, their creditors are worse off; no one is really benefited by the knocking out of the law. In each case there was a sharp division of opinion in the court itself. In spite of the fact that the Guffey case prompted the New York Sun to say that "any student of constitutional law" could have told in advance that the law was unconstitutional, and prompted the New York Herald-Tribune to say that "no lawyer of learning could conceive how it could be brought within the constitution," three members of the court did hold that it was constitutional.

The dissenting justices in each instance have presented their views cogently and forcefully. Those views, however, emphatically they may be overridden by the majority, cannot be lightly dismissed. They may have no weight at law, but they weigh heavily in the minds of the citizenship. It is difficult to believe that the final word has been said, on any of the questions raised in these cases.—(Wichita Times).

★ Man About Manhattan ★

NEW YORK—She was his Moonlight Madonna, his Everything, his Song of Songs. . . As he lingered beneath her window and listened to the music it seemed that all the romance of the ages was tied up in that one moment. Each twilight he crept to this post so that he might savor the sweetness of her voice, fancying her as some wraith-like wonder of femininity, some celestial moon-flower.

"I have never seen her, Signor," he admitted, snapping his flannel rags expertly across the broad toes of my No. 10-D brogans, "but each evening I steal to my vantage point beneath her window, and she is wonderful. . . She is like one exquisite creature I knew long ago on Veretti's Hill, in Venice, where the fire-flies climb the languid dusk and toss their reflection into the waters of the canals. Her I shall always adore. It is not fate that one must live, one must love!"

"You said it there, brother, but when are you going to do something about it? You can't go on being true to a shadow!"

"Ah, but that shall never be, Signor. Were I to see her and find her less lovely than I have imagined, my heart would be broken. There would be no illusion. I should know that she is not so fair as my little sunbeam of Veretti's Hill, in Venice, where the fireflies. . ."

"I know," I said, "where the fireflies climb the languid dusk, but what about that sweet thing on Veretti's Hill?"

"She was exquisite, Signor, she was divine. This I know for I have heard her sing in the twilight."

"I don't think you'd make a very good reporter, pal, you don't go into enough detail, or instance, was she ivory skinned with great doe-eyes or just plain brunette?"

"Alas, Signor, I can not tell you that. I adored her but I dared not look upon her lest she prove less desirable than I imagined. But she was ravishing—I have heard her sing in the twilight."

My rhapsodizing acquaintance of the shoeshine box pocketed his fee and prepared to depart.

"I'm afraid you have fumbled away some good opportunities, my friend," I muttered.

"Good night, Signor," he called.

"Don't you think you ought to ring that doorbell and see what this one looks like? Maybe she's platinum, like Harlow."

The Swain of Veretti's Hill ambled steadfastly towards Columbus Circle.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Various stories explaining why Herbert Lehman decided to step down as governor of New York have been going the rounds.

One story is that he figured resentment against Jews in high office was going to become more intense, and he wanted to help divert censure from his race.

Another story is that upon his brother's death, he wanted to return to his banking firm, especially in view of the prospect of heavy corporation refinancing after elections this fall.

Both stories probably are wide of the mark. Real explanation is not at all mysterious.

It is chiefly that Lehman is tired, never did want to run for governor in the first place, was never happy in the job, doesn't like to fight, and recently has been worn down by his recalcitrant legislature.

Lehman never was a politician, doesn't want to be one.

Jimmy W. Roosevelt James West Roosevelt, son of Oliver W. Roosevelt, vice president of the Drydock Savings Institution of New York, is a Harvard freshman.

The other night, in a Boston night club, a stranger who had heard his name gawped at him, remarked that he had a "million dollar name."

"Yes," James W. cracked back at the yokel, "the name Roosevelt has cost us millions."

Frequently James W. gets mail intended for the White House branch of the family. He has let it be known that he re-directs it scrupulously without opening it, despite the temptation and the opportunity.

Awful Presence During the supreme court session, which closes this week, six lawyers suffering from either stage fright or collapse have required first aid treatment from court aides.

Thomas E. Waggaman, about to celebrate his twenty-fifth anniversary of crying "Oyez-oyez-oyez" as the justices take their seats, is the chief recalcitrator of the legalists. He always carries in his pocket two or three small ampules (glass pencil bulbs) of amonia.

The lawyers get nervous and scared," says Waggaman, "and pass out like a light at the most unexpected moments. Two went over when arguing before the justices—Mr. Reed, the solicitor general, and a man named Campbell. The rest were young lawyers, sent down to cover the proceedings, who got scared their bosses would give them hell for not watching things closely enough."

Such is the terror inspired by the nine black-robed, grim-faced justices. The lawyers, according to Waggaman, faint at their seats, at the counsel table, in the corridors—anywhere.

Solicitor General Reed had been up late for many nights working on his AAA case, had taken no vacation and was not eating properly. He was hit suddenly by indigestion.

"It took two bulbs of amonia to bring Reed around," says Waggaman. "He was plenty weak."

The court has now fitted out an emergency room, 50 feet from the court room, for the treatment of nervous lawyers.

Rail Coordination The agreement between railroad executives and unions to compensate labor for losses through railroad consolidation has kicked up a row. You will hear more about it in the future.

It is the question of who will supervise these consolidations. In all quarters—labor, real executives, and new deal—the agreement is hailed as the greatest achievement since the roads were turned back to private operation after the war. But there is one prospect the carriers don't like.

That is having Joseph Eastman, brilliant, forthright member of the interstate commerce commission, continue as rail coordinator.

He has been acting as such ever since 1933, when the office was created by congress on the recommendation of Roosevelt.

Eastman has now submitted a series of comprehensive reports for the re-grouping of the country's entire rail structure. His plan, however, was dictated by the desire to improve transportation rather than to increase the dividends of certain carriers. So in various quarters, including high Wall Street banking circles, his labors are not appreciated.

The executives now propose that the interstate commerce commission, of which Eastman is only a minority member, direct the coming consolidations. Eastman's office as special coordinator, expires June 17, and the execs are going to do their best to keep it expired.

Under cover battling on this is getting fast and fervid. In fact, the rail execs at first wanted to insert a clause in their agreement with the brotherhoods that if Eastman's office were continued, the agreement would be void. But the brotherhoods would not bite.

Both the president and Chairman Burton Wheeler, of the senate interstate commerce committee favor an extension of Eastman's office. But the railway executives are lobbying to oppose it.

And some of Eastman's colleague commissioners on the I. C. C., exhibiting true fraternal spirit, are secretly joining in the lobby.

Good News The failure of Rep. George Huddleston to win re-nomination in the recent Alabama primary is considered a significant indication of public sentiment toward the utilities.

This is the first time in his 22 years of congressional service that Huddleston failed to carry his district on the first ballot. This time he got approximately one-third of the vote, is practically certain to be licked in the run-off. Huddleston, a bitter anti-new deal democrat, was leader of the pro-power forces that fiercely opposed the president's holding company bill last year. His re-election was, and is, strongly favored by utility interests.

On the other hand the utilities are just as hotly after the scalps of three of Huddleston's colleagues: Sam Rayburn of Texas, D. J. Driscoll of Pennsylvania, and E. C. Eichler of Iowa.

Reason: Rayburn is chairman of the interstate commerce committee which reported out the holding company measure, and was floor leader in the protracted fight that put it through the house. Eichler was author of a report on the measure that scathingly denounced the power industry. Driscoll put the senate lobby committee on the trail of the failed telegrams.

"I Object" Rep. Maury Maverick's nine-year-old daughter Terrell is a member of a "little congress" in her school. The children held a "session" the other day and made speeches on various subjects.

Terrell, however, remained silent. Finally, after one of the little "congressmen" had made a speech criticizing the new deal, the teacher said to her:

"Terrell, you are a good demagogue."

Films Of Soaked Dust Bowl To Be Shown By WTCC

PORT WORTH, May 20. (AP)—A plan to take motion pictures of the soaked "dust bowl" in the Texas Panhandle was disclosed today by D. A. Bandson of Stamford, manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce.

He sent telegrams to Dalhart, Amarillo, Borger, Panhandle, Memphis and Canadian chambers of commerce urging them to have motion pictures made of the water-covered areas. These films would be shown in the W.T.C.C. building at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial.

Bandson condemned the suggestion made by F. L. Vaughan, Oklahoma conservation commission chairman, that certain sections of the five-state western "dust bowl" be evacuated.

"I agree with Representative Marvin Jones of Amarillo," Bandson said, "that the idea is utterly ridiculous."

Suit Is Filed Against TVA

19 Power Companies Band Together In New Court Attack

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 20. (UP)—Nineteen power companies launched a new legal attack on the Tennessee Valley Authority in federal court here, charging that the TVA act and operations under it are unconstitutional.

A similar action was filed in the state chancery court at Knoxville, Tenn., against the TVA and its directors. TVA's main offices are located in Knoxville.

In a previous case which was carried to the U. S. supreme court, the operation of Wilson dam on the Tennessee river and contracts regarding transmission lines to that dam, now part of the TVA set-up, were held valid. The power companies in their new action contend this decision did not cover TVA as a whole.

A summary of the bill of complaint, as prepared by the companies, said the new suit contended that the TVA act and operations thereunder were unconstitutional because:

- "1. They are not authorized by any power delegated to the federal government by the constitution or any of its amendments;
- "2. They attempt to extend federal power over matters of interstate commerce and local police power, in contravention of the Ninth and Tenth amendments;
- "3. The act fails to indicate any adequate legislative standard to guide the administrative officers, but, on the contrary, attempt unlawfully to delegate legislative power to the president of the United States and such administrative officers;
- "4. The act fails to provide for any hearing for persons whose rights will be injured and whose property will be taken by the TVA;
- "5. The act and the operations thereunder seek to fix the rates of the utility companies by means of federally subsidized competition, without a hearing, and without the opportunity for judicial review as to the reasonableness or unreasonableness of the rates and thereby deny the utility companies due process of law in violation of the Fifth amendment."

Nine years ago the local Jewish congregation was organized as the Temple Israel. Max Jacobs now serves as president.

Chapter 10
DARK OUTLOOK
The girl was following Mary up the stairs.

"Good night," Dirk said. She turned beneath the old Venetian lamp burning in its niche in the wall.

"Good night. You'll tell Timothy?"

He promised again. Watched her pass up the stairs, met her in the shadows at the top. Went out to tell Timothy.

The bed was smoothly turned for the night, and a nightgown faded on the pillow.

"Now's, Ma'am," explained Mary. "Nora, the housemaid, and Jane's slippers. They'll be too big. I'm thinking, with a glance at the little feet. But the smallest among us. And I brought you one of Mister Dirk's robes. . . . Here's your bath and dressing-table, Ma'am. And that door there leads to Mister Rupert's room. I hope you sleep well. Here's the bell. Per-

Through a clearing she could see the Hudson.

The girl looked about her in the lower-room. Darkly paneled walls, showing in the soft light. An immense bed, boxwood as to mattress and pillows, having a crimson spread, a canopy and draped crimson curtains. There was the same crimson silk at the windows, and shading the night-lamp, and there was a huge secretary desk, a chest-of-drawers, a wardrobe painted in a rich design of fruit, a long mirror in a gilded frame.

hops you'll ring when you want breakfast."

"Yes," said the girl. "I'll ring." She stood waiting for Mary to go.

"Good night, Ma'am."

"Good night. Thank you!"

The door closed, and the girl went to it, and turned the key. There was only a bolt on the door that led to Rupert's room. It was a huge bolt, and tight, but the girl's strong brown young hands shot it into place. She crossed the room then, and pushing the draperies aside, opened the casement-window.

Of course she may have done this, and Rupert's provision had been that she marry him first. It may even have been (though she had not said so) that his own smothering of Torrobin's nose had necessitated her flight.

Dirk listened at Hope's door as he went down the hall. There was no sound there, nor at Rupert's. At breakfast he asked Timothy if Mrs. Joris had rung.

"Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Joris, sir." He ate his grapefruit slowly, managed eggs and bacon, toast and marmalade, his eyes on the stair. He did not expect Rupert, but he felt that Hope might come. She did not appear, and he took the beautiful Sunday papers and went into the library.

"Mister Rupert has rung, sir," Timothy was passing the door. Dirk called him into the library. "Don't say anything about last night," he said.

"But if he asks, sir?"

"He won't."

Timothy came down presently.

"Mister Rupert's very poorly, sir. Ice. That's all he's interested in." He started away, turned back.

"Mrs. Joris, sir, Nora knocked on her door, and went in. She's not there."

"Not there?" Dirk echoed, rising. "Are you sure?"

"Nora has tidied the room, sir, and the bathroom. There was no sign of her."

"She may be in the grounds," Dirk said.

Dirk went out into the grounds, found Bernard, the husky second gardener. Bernard was enlightening. He had unlocked the gates at six o'clock that morning. A lady had wished to go out. A lady, bare-headed, with a long green cape around her shoulders.

"She seemed in a hurry, sir."

Dirk asked in what direction she had gone. Bernard pointed a stubby finger toward the south. That way one might find a surface car bound for the ferry or the Manhattan subway.

"She went back to the circus," Dirk thought. "She was as irresponsible as Rupert last night, and this morning when she woke to what had happened."

In any case, she must not go back to Torrobin. If she could not stay in Lovrie Wood Kirk was determined to find some other place for her.

He got into his roadster and drove through the morning sunshine. Presently he was in Jersey, bound in the direction of the tents.

But the tents were gone. Everything was gone.

Appeal On State Gas Waste Law Goes To US Court
AUSTIN, May 30. (UP)—Asst. Atty. General Dick Hott and Madison Hill have gone to Washington to file an appeal from a three-judge federal court decision against the proration features of the Texas anti-gas waste law.
The adverse decision was in suits filed by Texoma and Consolidated Gas companies. The cases were argued at Houston and decision filed here.
Anti-waste features have been decided in favor of the state in other suits over the act but when Chief C. S. Smith, its author, said he would not favor the restriction placed on gas production unless there were also proration features to assure stable taking of the gas supply.
Oil proration has been upheld by federal courts.
Without proration, gas land owners say they have to utilize the gas in wasteful methods or lose its value altogether by having it withdrawn from under their land by wells connected by interstate pipe lines.
The Texas attorneys expected to file the appeal before the summer adjournment of the supreme court and hoped for a ruling in the fall.

Iowa Watches Senate Drive By Brookhart

Political Fighter Opposes Dickinson And Four Others In Race

DES MOINES, May 30. (UP) — Sen. Lester J. Dickinson of Iowa faces a stiff battle for the republican nomination to succeed himself, political observers of the state agree.

Dickinson to win must get 20 per cent of the G. O. P. primary vote which will be rolled up June 1. Candidates of unusual political strength are opposing him. The silver-haired Iowan has primary opposition from former Sen. Smith W. Brookhart, always a storm center of Iowa politics; Guy P. Linville, former United States district attorney for northern Iowa; Mayor Edwin F. Manning of Ottumwa, outspoken official; George Chaney, Des Moines, and Norman Baker, owner of a "cancer cure" hospital.

Dickinson's frequent barbed uncompromising attacks on the new deal may have endangered his political career in his native state, while his status as a potential presidential candidate is unquestioned.

Hit by AAA Decision
Strangely enough, the new deal's loss of the supreme court's fight on validity of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration seems to have gained it new friends. Farmers in southwestern Iowa, the region affected most adversely by drought and economic conditions during the low point of the agricultural depression, apparently have gained new sympathy for President Roosevelt's objectives since the Triple-A was outlawed.

One factor in the situation is the growing sentiment for Brookhart. In 1932, Brookhart ran as a progressive against Henry Field, Shenandoah seed magnate, and Louis Murphy, who won the senatorial post. Brookhart's vote was negligible. Now left-wing factions in the republican party have mobilized in his support.

In the event the contest is thrown into the state republican convention, Linville may have an excellent chance of winning from Dickinson, it is believed. Brookhart does not have old guard support.

Taxes State Issue
For governor, republicans have two major candidates. Sen. George A. Wilson, long the G. O. P. whip in the upper chamber of the state assembly, and John Grimes, Osceola editor.

Wilson and Grimes are basing their campaigns on demands that relief be returned to local authorities for administration. The issue of homestead tax exemption is playing a part. Grimes came out flat-footedly for exemption of homes up to a $2,500 assessment valuation.

Wilson has indicated that he, too, will support exemption. His legislative record shows that he voted for exemption last year.

At present Iowa's principal tax revenue comes from property, income (individual and corporate) levies, and a two per cent retail sales tax. Income and sales tax revenue is used to make refunds on property taxes.
