Whiteflat Residents Recall The Days of Rationing

by Earlyne Jameson

World War II rationing was generally accepted as the civilian contribution to our men in combat. Spending those ration stamps wisely required planning and creativity. It was a time when coupons were more valuable than money. Red was for meat and blue for canned goods and vegetables.

You saved meat ration stamps for weeks and weeks to have steak on the menu. Then it was back to salmon, tuna and everything that wasn't on meat rationing.

The sugar shortage was the most remembered about rationing. Those that did a lot of baking seemed to be always short of sugar. You learned to eat fresh fruit and did not use sugar on your cereal or in coffee and tea.

When you drove into a service station, you didn't say, "Fill it up." It was nothing unusual to purchase just three gallons of gas. The attendant never forgot to collect your ration stamp when you paid for the gasoline. Your trips out of town were limited to family sickness or death. There was no cruising around the city block in a car and the youth took care of their bicycle tires.

Speaking of tires, at the county rationing board in World War II, a farmer who lived 15 miles out in the country threw a worthless tire tube on the desk and asked, "How do I get home? I have only three tires that will hold air and my monthly allotment is used up!" It was not an easy decision to be made by the county employee. However, the farmer was given a coupon for a tube and a prayer was uttered that no one else would come in with the same problem before the month was gone!

Shoes were also rationed. One woman recalled she spent a shoe stamp for a pair of white 'baby doll' pumps. She was forced to keep her other shoes for a long time as a result of that extravagance.

When butter was rationed you were given a clear plastic bag with shortening that had an orange button in the middle of it. You were supposed to pinch the button, then knead the plastic bag until the orange coloring was mixed in to make it look like butter. Sometimes you made a game of it, but sometimes the bag would break and you were left with a mess.

A 1943 book called Coupon Cookery contained poems and recipes on how to 'cook for victory'. One of the poems reads: "It may not be convenient, but we don't admit defeat, for in spite of war and rationing, Americans must eat. It may take a deal of cunning and a bit of laughter, too, to keep the mealtime pleasant when the coupons are too few!"

I feel assured that those attending the Whiteflat Homecoming at the Senior Citizens building in Matador, Saturday, April 4 will have a pleasant meal, sunshine smiles and happy memories to share at this annual celebration.

Others from left to right are: Euphema, Clyda, Uncle Bob Davis, Leonard and Letha. An older son, Henry, is not in the picture. The family moved to Whiteflat from Hill county in the early 1900's. The home was occupied by the Hines family until the death of J.H. Hines, about 1914. It remained standing in the community until the 1930's.

Annual Whiteflat Reunion Set For Saturday

by Nora Belle Dunning

As we come to this another Whiteflat Reunion, we come with grateful hearts to know there's still a few people left that enjoy meeting together and talk ourselves "blue in the face", just enjoying seeing old friends again. A basket lunch is always enjoyed by all. We have lost 30 some odd since last year. I especially am looking forward to seeing each of you.

We know we have several ill that will be unable to attend, we'll miss you. We hope you're well by that time. If any of you have pictures we can put in the Motley County Tribune for next year, please get them to us. I've used the ones around here so much, everyone is getting tired of them. I don't know what we would do without Barbara and Carla to help us so much.

We have some traveling from California, Arizona, and many more places, coming to be with us. If you haven't been before, the Senior Citizens Building is north of the courthouse, the blue building. See you there!

The following is a poem by Mrs. Bessie Hamilton McWilliams, which she had written for her family and friends when she wanted them to remember when she left the world to go be with the Lord.

When I leave this earthly shore, and roam around this place no more,
Please don't weep, don't mourn, don't cry, don't sob.
I may have found a better job.
Don't go and buy a big bouquet,
For which you might find it hard to pay,
Don't mope around, and feel so blue,
I may have found a better job than you.

Don't tell the folks I was a Saint or anything you know I ain't.
If you have any jam to spread around,
Please pass it around before I'm dead.
If you have Roses, bless your soul,
Just pin one in my button hole,
while I'm alive and here today,
don't wait until I have gone away.

So when I die, please, don't cry, as you walk by Just think maybe I've gone to a more joyful land.
So place a single White Rose in my hand.

NOTE: Mrs. McWilliams was a former Whiteflat School teacher and a very active person in all activities of the community. Very much loved by all.

MCYO Summer Baseball Sign-up

April's here! Everyone should start thinking about the MCYO Summer Baseball program. The two week sign-up will begin April 6-21. No one will be allowed to sign up after April 21. The only exception will be someone whose family moves into Motley County as residents before the first half of the season is completed. The sign-up sheets will be handed out at school. When completed, they should be returned to the student's homeroom teacher. T-ball is for students in grades K-3. Softball is for students in grades 4-8, as long as the student was not 15 before September 1 of the current school year (91-92). If there is enough interest by the students in grades 9-11, there will have a softball division for grades 8-11. If you have an eligible relative who will be staying with you in June, and he/she wants to play, please contact Ellen Smith, 347-2333, to get a sign-up form. There will be a general meeting of the MCYO in the next few weeks. Watch for an announcement. Also watch for an announcement about Clean-Up Day! Remember parents, this is an all-volunteer organization and everyone's participation is needed. Let's have a great season!

Amy's Anecdotes

by Amy Woolsey

Five more days and I'll be 18. People go into shock when they hear I'm getting married at such a young age. I've been told many times that I'm too young. I disagree, though. I'm not only young, but I am one lucky person. I have found my life's mate at an early age. That gives me more years to share with him. I still have my dreams of college, of travel, of fortune, and fame. I can still fulfill these dreams. Only I'll have Brandt by my side — sharing, supporting, and best of all, loving. These experiences will be even more rewarding because I'll be sharing them with him. We'll grow together. I've had people tell me I better get out while I'm ahead, but I don't want to. I know that married life's not going to be a bed of roses. There's going to be disagreements. I know all of that. I've got parents who argue now and then. I don't want a marriage that's perfect — it would make me sick! Yes, I may be young, but I'm not as foolish as some people think. At least I'll be happy, and that's all that matters to me!

Matador Garden Club Hears Program On Treaty Oak

Mrs. R.C. Giesecke was hostess to the Matador Garden Club, March 16, at her home on south Main street.

The club met for its regular meeting. Club President, Mrs. W.N. Pipkin was program leader for the day.

The Texas Treaty Oak was the subject for a most interesting program on the present state and condition for this famous and beloved landmark.

Mrs. Edgar Lee brought a paper titled, "The History and Present State of Treaty Oak" by Mrs. Douglas Meador.

The Treaty Oak located in Austin is believed to be over 500 years old. Indians regarded this tree as having power.

Long before white settlers came to Texas, the Tejus, Apache, and Comanche Indians held this stately oak in reverence.

Love potions were brewed from its leaves. If a tea made from its leaves was drunk by a warrior under a full moon, he would return safely from war.

The Treaty Oak tree is the sole survivor of a grove of oaks, known as the Council Oaks, under which Stephen F. Austin signed the first boundary agreement with the Indians.

In 1927 the short-trunked tree with noble crown and wide spreading branches was nominated to the American Forestry Association's Hall of Fame for trees in Washington, C.D., where it was pronounced the most perfect specimen of a North American tree.

In 1937, the tree's owner wanted to cut it down, but citizen interest caused the city to buy the land as a park. The Port Arthur Campfire Girls were one of the first contributors to set up a fund to save the tree.

The Treaty Oak is in a small Austin City Park on the east side of Baylor Ave., between Fifth and Sixth Streets. A marker is erected in front of the tree. The tree has a spread of a hundred and ten feet, was an early day site for picnics, meetings, and other gatherings.

Recently a requited lover poisoned the Treaty Oak to avenge his feelings of rejection.

At present there is one-third of the tree remaining. After frantic work by tree surgeons and experts on tree culture, this much has been saved. The prognosis is uncertain. The remaining part may live and may not. The part lost has been saved to make souvenirs, much in demand.

Texasans love their heritage and are saddened over the loss of a part of the past.

At present the young man is serving a prison term of eleven years.

The club was pleased to learn of four awards the club received at the District Convention in Lubbock earlier this month.

Mrs. Pipkin and Mrs. Lee attended the convention and received the awards.

Mrs. Giesecke served the following members refreshments of angel food cake, strawberry-banana sauce, coffee and spiced tea: Mrs. Alvin Stearns, Mrs. Edgar Lee, Mrs. Billy Wason, Mrs. W.N. Pipkin, Mrs. Ted Elliott, and Mrs. Robert Darsey, reporting for Mrs. Douglas Meador.

living. Most people feel like they are failures when they divorce. That is natural but probably not very accurate. While there are not completely innocent parties, just because the relationship has failed, doesn't mean the people involved are failures.

A person going through divorce usually experiences some emotions that are different than normal. There may be a "see-saw" (up & down) effect. A person may be OK one minute and falling apart the next. There may be certain times, days, or occasions that are harder than others. For some it is mornings or another person may have trouble in the evenings, while shopping, Sundays, business decisions, household duties, eating alone, etc. Actually, anything that was shared with the "X" may be extra tough. A sense of panic may occur, which is natural, because the person feels as if the whole world is caving in. It is hard to think straight.

This is the first of several articles about divorce. I hope they help in some way.

MARCH IS NUTRITION MONTH HOW NUTRITIOUS ARE TV DINNERS FOR TOTS?...

With the advent of the microwave oven and the increasing number of women working outside the home, it was just a matter of time before it happened -- TV dinners for tots. Using packaging with pizzaz and cartoon "spokesmen", these products are attracting a lot of attention these days from all age groups.

A recent study of the American Frozen Food Institute indicates that 62 percent of children under 13 years of age prepare one or more meals each week by themselves. Furthermore, 38 percent of mothers surveyed said they allow their children between 5 and 8 years of age to use a microwave oven; this figure jumps to 48 percent from the 9 to 12-year old group.

It's never too early to start kids on a lifelong plan of good eating. In general, to allow for growth, calories shouldn't be restricted. If obesity is a concern, the emphasis should be on increasing physical activity, not limiting food intake. While fat should not be restricted for youngsters below the age of two, the National Cholesterol Education Program recommends a limit of 30 percent to 35 percent of total calories from fat for children, to help prevent heart disease later in life. Though there are no specific recommendations for sodium, many Americans, including children, consume more than they need. Since high intakes may increase blood pressure in children with a family history, it makes sense for kids to go easy on the salt shaker.

With these guidelines in mind, a comparison of 21 entrees and dinners (Environmental Nutrition Newsletter, October, 1990) made especially for kids, showed that most of the children's products provided between 510 and 750 milligrams of sodium per serving. Not surprisingly, for some of the fat content was also very high, especially those that contain items like fried chicken and fish nuggets. The dinners surveyed ranged from 7 percent to 47 percent of calories from fat.

Can kids consume TV dinners and still have a nutritious diet? Here are some suggestions for minimizing the damage of convenience-type dinners while maximizing their nutritional value:

— Avoid dinner items that are deep fried. Their fat content generally exceeds 30 percent of total calories.

— Keep in mind the basics of good nutrition. Look for a well-balanced dinner that provides a green, yellow, or orange vegetable and fruit for dessert. Also, offer kids raw, cut-up vegetables with a low-fat or fat-free ranch dip for extra vitamins and fiber.

— Make sure beverages are nutritious. Avoid sodas and sweetened drinks or juices. Instead, offer unsweetened juices or milk (low-fat milk for kids over 2 years of age).

— Don't rely on TV dinners too often. Just because they're prepared at home, doesn't make them nutritious. Some kids' meals are no more nutritious than most fast-food meals. Furthermore, some nutritionists suggest that finicky eating habits might be prevented if children don't expect special treatment at meal time and become accustomed to eating what everyone else in the family eats.

Kid's TV dinners can be lifesavers for an occasional meal. Just be sure to choose carefully.

SAFETY NOTE: Though microwave ovens seem to be less of a safety hazard for kids than conventional ovens, remember that microwaveable containers and their contents can reach extremely high temperatures. Always assist youngsters in handling containers, and test the temperature of the food to make sure it has no super hot spots that could seriously burn eager, young mouths. If they'll be cooking on their own, tape a safety reminder on the oven door.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension service are for people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Some days the only good things on TV are the lamp and the clock.

Kites fly best in wide, open spaces

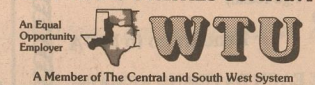

So remember...

Keep your kite far away from power lines and avoid busy streets and highways.

Always fly your kite on dry, clear days, never when stormy skies threaten rain.

Call WTU if by chance, your kite does get snagged in a powerline. Never pull on the string to retrieve it.

PCA's 58th Annual Stockholders Meeting

"JUST FRIENDS" TO ENTERTAIN — Cindy Nix and Donna Fowler truly are "Just Friends", and that friendship has led them across the Southwest as they have entertained a large variety of audiences for the past ten years. They have entertained at events such as banquets, conventions, political gatherings, reunions, or any time folks get together for a good time. Their versatile style of music includes current hits, golden oldies, country and western favorites, patriotic selections or whatever the occasion demands. Donna Fowler is an Air Personality and Sales Manager at KSNV Radio in Snyder, and Cindy Nix, a noted singer in her right, serves as secretary for the Scurry County Department of Health.

Rolling Plains Production Credit Association's 58th Annual Stockholders meeting will be held Thursday evening, April 2, in Childress and Friday evening, April 3, in Stamford. Registration and the meal will begin at 6:00 p.m. at both sessions. A short business session will be held. Entertainment will be provided by vocal duo "Just Friends".

Drawings will be held from member's registration cards until a total of $250 in cash is awarded.

The City Auditorium will be the site of the Childress session, and the High School Cafeteria located East of the school will be the Stamford meeting location.

In the brief business portion of the meeting, three directors representing the Munday, Childress and Stamford Branch Offices will be elected. Nominees for these positions are: Garon B. Tidwell of Munday and Ed G. Murphy of Weinert for the Munday area; Dan Henard, Jr. of Wellington and Paul W. Bryant of Tell for the Childress area; and Keith Corzine of Sagerton and Spencer Ford of Hamlin for the Stamford area.

Rolling Plains PCA is one of 17 member-owned Production Credit Association in the Tenth District which includes three PCAs in New Mexico. Collectively they serve approximately 13,000 of the region's agricultural producers. At 1991 year's end the Tenth District had some $3.6 billion outstanding in loans. Rolling Plains PCA is part of the nationwide Farm Credit System providing over $51 billion in loans to America's farmers, ranchers and ag-related businesses.

During 1991 Rolling Plains Production Credit Association loaned more than 96 million to approximately 730 member-borrowers in Taylor, Runnels, Briscoe, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dickens, Donley, Foard, Hall, Hardeman, Haskell, Jones, Kent, King, Motley, Shackelford and Stonewall counties.

A busy day of work by the Texas State Support Committee in Austin Wednesday, March 25 resulted in preliminary approval of research projects for funding through the State Support Program of Cotton Incorporated. According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) projects tentatively approved at the meeting would be funded in 1993 from nearly $700,000 dollars estimated to come back to Texas through Cotton Incorporated (CI).

Eighty-one projects were evaluated and ranked according to statewide and regional importance.

Funds for the State Support Program make up five percent of CI's total yearly budget and are allocated to each state based on its level of production. The committee selected projects based on the CI estimate of Texas funds available for 1993.

The Texas State Support Committee was able to tentatively approve renewed funding for several projects on statewide and regional levels, as well as select several new projects for funding in 1993.

The High Plains was allocated approximately $160,000 to fund regional projects. Several projects that have potential applications on the High Plains were also approved on the State level.

"High Plains producers can feel good about the way their funds are being spent through this program," explains Larry Nelson, current PCG President. "State support moneys are being directly channeled into research projects designed to help eliminate some of the biggest obstacles facing producers today. Some of the problems being tackled by researchers include improved control of cotton seedling diseases, developing new methods to control aphids and other pests, and the development of new cotton types that will out perform current varieties."

High Plains projects approved for funding range from screening plants for the ability to be genetically engineered, improving the profitability of High Plains cotton production, and the development of new management strategies for the short season environment we experience on the High Plains.

Representatives from certified producer organizations across the High Plains met on March 19th to rank the proposals specific to the High Plains in preparation for the Austin meeting.

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes

LOW INCOME FAMILIES CAN BENEFIT FROM TAX REFUND PROGRAM

Social Security pays survivors benefits to approximately 245,000 widowed mothers and fathers with at least one child under the age of 16. For a widowed parent with two children in this age group, the average monthly benefit last year was just over $1,200 or about $14,500 for the year. But for a number of families receiving survivors benefits, the amounts were considerably less.

When their earned income also is low, these families may benefit from a special tax provision - the Earned Income Credit (EIC). The credit is based on earned income and is available to low-income families who have at least one child living at home. While all tax credits are applied directly against any tax owed, the EIC is the only one under federal tax law that is "refundable." That means if income levels are so low that no taxes are owed, taxpayers could still qualify for a refund of up to $2,020.

Most working families with earnings between $6,000 and $13,000 qualify for a credit of at least $1,000 per family. The maximum basic credit is $1,235 for a family with two or more children. A new supplement provides up to $357 more for a child born in 1991, and up to a maximum of $428 to help buy health insurance that covers a qualifying child or children.

The credit decreases as income rises above $11,249. It is eliminated when income exceeds $21,250.

For more information about the Earned Income Credit provisions, call the toll-free IRS number: 1-800-829-1040.

IT WAS A DIRTY JOB, but.....

Just returned from attending the world's largest sportsman show called the World Fishing Fair at the Bass Pro Shop in Springfield, Missouri. What a show! What a business! This was my first trip to visit the "mecca" of the fishing world and to say I was impressed is an understatement.

The people of BASS PRO from John L. Morris, president and founder, down to the army of clerks and cashiers share one common trait: they were friendly and genuinely interested in making sure I had a good time. The fact that my old fishing buddy Dean Logan and I spent major money on fishing equipment was nice, but these people made us glad to shop at their store. Other retail businesses could learn some valuable lessons from Bass Pro.

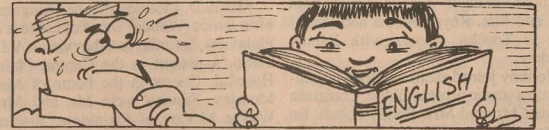

BASS PRO was founded by Johnny Morris in 1971 in the corner of his father's liquor store. Johnny was a college kid and wanted to make a little spending money. He quickly built a world class business. Bass Pro is now the world's largest catalog seller of fishing equipment, the world's largest manufacturer of boats, and now the site of the world's best sportsman show. To order a free fishing catalog, simply call 1-800-BASS-PRO.

BASS PRO Shop displays attractions like three aquariums full of huge bass, catfish, striped and walleye that are hand-fed minnows by brave scuba-divers. Over 300,000 square feet loaded with every fishing lure in the modern world, every hunting item known to man, and the clothing necessary to enjoy that fishing and hunting. Did I mention the three-story waterfall or the collection of old fishing lures and rods? Finally, everything is priced below retail, and manufacturers delight in offering special deals.

Really, it would be worth taking a family vacation to Branson, Missouri, so you could sneak off to the Bass Pro shop!

The Fishing Fair, held every four years, included 150 of the world's leading tackle manufacturers and seventy seminars by over 40 fishing pros! Special tents were erected so the thousands of anglers could see their fishing heroes. It is difficult to capture the scale of this angler's extravaganza, but rest assured that Dean and I plan on returning in 1996. We just might meet you at the waterfall and walk over to a seminar by old Jimmy, Bill, or Hank. Okay?

Next BAYLOR LAKE Big Bass Tournament is 7:00 a.m., Saturday, April 11. Entry fee is $50.00 until Monday, April 6th, when it increases to $60.00. Based on 100 entries, the winner makes $2,500 and each hourly winner takes home $100.00. For details call 806-353-3654.

Roaring Springs Community Volunteers Hold Cake Auction

The crowd was small, but the rewards were big at the Cake Auction held Saturday night, March 28, by the Roaring Springs Community Volunteers. Judge Boyce Hart kept the cakes and pies selling at a fast pace, urged on by Bill Hand and J.N. Fletcher.

Pauline Hand must be a good cake maker, but no one else will get a chance to know as Bill and Kim kept bidding against each other until Bill finally got the Hummingbird Cake she made.

Pearl Patton was really enjoying bidding for all those bidders that did not show up. I think J.N. and Teddy were helping her keep the bidding up.

We wish to thank Boyce for being our auctioneer. He did a fine job.

Work has been progressing on the Mt. Zion Cemetery. The gate is up and those who volunteered this past week were Bill and Lee Peacock, Charles and Ossie Brown, Venita and Ted Sedgwick, Margie Payne, Jerry and Pat Green, J.N. Fletcher, Pauline Hand and J.W. Johnson.

Green Thumb Employee Receives Training

Douglas Thompson

DO GREEN THUMB ENROLLEES RECEIVE TRAINING?

Green Thumb enrollees receive job-related training designed to assist them in performing their community service work assignments and in finding employment off the program. Generally, this means training to develop new skills, upgrade existing skills, encourage safe work practices and healthy work environments and develop effective job search skills.

Through a special program called "Experience Works!", some enrollees also have the opportunity to receive special on-the-job and classroom training aimed at preparing them for employment in the private sector. This special program proves the value of training mature and dependable workers and demonstrates that experience does work to the advantage of employers.

As an example of the training and experience of Green Thumb workers is Douglas Thompson who is an employee of Motley County, City of Roaring Springs.

Douglas is a 64 year old man who was born in Provo, Utah in 1928. He has lived in a number of states and has done a variety of different job skills, such as plumbers helper, landscaping, cook and mechanical. Three years ago he became an employee of Green Thumb in Matador.

Just 4 months ago he came to the City of Roaring Springs, with a definite aim in mind. That of taking training in a specific field. He is working under the supervision of Billy Green, the Superintendent of Water and Sewer Systems in Roaring Springs. He is learning all the facets of maintaining water supply and sewer systems. When his training is completed he will be eligible to take a test which will enable him to get his own license in water and sewer maintenance to become an independent worker in our labor force.

Green Thumb Inc. will have assisted Doug to become an important part of our society in his later years, which is the aim and reason for Green Thumb, Inc. in Texas and all over the United States.

God Is Aware

The Bible tells us in Genesis 16:7-14 of a woman named Hagar. She is fleeing from Sarai, Abram's wife. Being reassured by an Angel from the Lord, Hagar states a profound truth: "Thou God seest me." Surely she could have hidden from Abram and Sarai, but she could not hide from God. Our great God sees mankind from a vantage point none other can attain. Our God sees all of our deeds and He also searches our hearts. The Psalmist writes in the 139 Psalm verses 1 and 4: "O Lord, thou hast searched me, and known me....There is not a word in my tongue, but, lo, O Lord, thou knowest it altogether."

We today, as did Hagar of old, need to realize that we are not hid from God. He knows all our goings and comings, and is aware of our every act. The bible says in Proverbs 15:3, "The eyes of the Lord are in every place, beholding the evil and the good."

Therefore, since our God always sees us, so we must look to God. No, it is not disconcerting to know God is always aware of us and our doings. There is a comfort found in that knowledge by those who look to God. The Psalmist stated: "I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved." (Psalm 16:8). The child of God will maintain a consciousness of God's abiding presence. "For his eyes are upon the ways of man, and he seeth all things." (Proverbs 34:21). My question is this: Are we conscious through the days of our lives that God is so very near? Jesus promised us in Matthew 28:20, ".....And surely I will be with you always..."
