Death Claims Pioneer Ranch Manager

Colorful Saga Ends As J. M. Jackson Succumbs

Another pioneer West Texas cowboy has drifted to the lush ranges of eternity. J. M. (John) Jackson, 84, manager of The Matador Land & Cattle Company ranch here for 16 years, died at an early hour Wednesday morning in Hot Springs, New Mexico.

VIP Coming Here

Archie McMillan of Wayland, Miss., will speak at the Matador Lions club here, Tuesday.

Death of the cattle-country patriarch resulted from injuries sustained November 21 when an automobile in which he was riding, overturned and plunged into an irrigation ditch near Hatch N. M., about 40 miles from Hot Springs. He was rushed to a Hot Springs hospital where medical examination revealed that he suffered ten broken ribs, shock and bruises.

Mrs. Jackson, accompanied by two daughters, Mrs. Pat Sheridan and Miss Annie Mae Jackson, went to his bedside Thursday and was with him when he passed away. Another daughter, Mrs. Mary Rodgers, who lives at Hot Springs, was also at his bedside. Two other daughters and two sons also survive. They are, Miss Marjorie Jackson of Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Lois Hunter of Freeport, Gordon Jackson of San Francisco, Calif., and John of Raymondville, Texas.

County and District Clerk Pat Sheridan accompanied a McDonald funeral car to Hot Springs yesterday immediately after message of Mr. Jackson's death was received, and is expected to return with the body and the family this afternoon. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

One of the most dramatic and colorful pioneers Motley county has ever known, is gone. He came here in the spring of 1888, before the county was organized and was employed as a cowboy by the ranch. He worked one year, 1890, for the Spur ranch in Dickens county and then returned to the Matadors, working as a regular cowhand. In 1892 he was promoted to trail boss, trailing herds to Pampa and White Deer to pasture. Three years later he was promoted to range boss.

When he was promoted to superintendent in 1908 the Matadors owned 535,000 acres of range which was stocked with approximately 25,000 head of cattle and 200 to 300 head of horses. He resigned in 1924.

John Morgan Jackson was born in Crawfish Springs, Walker County, Georgia, March 15, 1866. He migrated with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Jackson, to Texas in 1875 and settled in Ellis county. In 1884 he came west to Knox county and worked as a cowboy on the George Atkinson XO ranch. In 1886 he was employed as a cowboy by the Carter Cattle company.

Reckless Drivers Are Worry To Guatemalans

BEYOND MEXICO is a small republic about one-fifth the size of Texas where automobile drivers do not floorboard the accelerator and keep it there. Several factors slow the pace. With less than 200 miles of pavement in the entire country, the driver would soon face road difficulties that would hold down his urge to speed. An ox cart loaded with pottery, wood or corn is a great impediment to speed and in

Big Truck Burns On Paducah Road

A large westbound Miller and Miller Motor Freight Lines truck, burned on U. S. Highway 70, at 2:30 a. m. Wednesday morning, about 15 miles east of Matador.

The driver of the truck appealed to the Matador Volunteer Fire Department and the fire truck was dispatched to the scene of the burning vehicle. The big van-type truck was burning savagely when the fire equipment arrived and it was impossible to subdue the blaze because of the small (200 gallons) water storage carried by the fire truck.

The truck had originated in Dallas, Ft. Worth and Wichita Falls with freight consigned to points along the scheduled run to Lubbock. The driver declared he believed a back-fire from the motor caused fumes from one of the large gas tanks to ignite.

The truck was loaded with general merchandise, including children's toys, tractor tires, cream cans and shot-gun shells (the shells continued to explode as the fire progressed).

No estimate of the loss was available late yesterday. Some of the shipment was believed consigned for Matador delivery.

Santa Claus is a regular reader of the Tribune and it is a mighty good way for little boys and girls to tell him what they want. The Tribune will publish as many letters as possible.

Posies For Ladies Delayed In Arrival

Orchids are delicate flowers and their beauty fades in a short time unless kept at exacting temperature. Glenn Woodruff, manager of the Matador Auto Company (local Ford agency) is chagrined, embarrassed and plain "burned-up" about the shipment of orchids he should have received Thanksgiving day. They arrived Tuesday afternoon in tragic condition, via express to Roaring Springs.

The posies were ordered from California (they were grown in Hawaii) to give ladies visiting the Matador Auto Company showroom Friday during the display of the new 1951 Ford.

The flowers were flown from California to Lubbock and scheduled to be shipped here by Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma buses. In some manner the orchids were shipped by railway express from Lubbock and required about five days to make the 85-mile journey (they could have been flown from Hawaii in half the time).

Mr. Woodruff and his company offer their regrets. The firm was gratified with the enthusiastic reception given the new Ford by the large number of people visiting the showroom during the first day.

Family Relations Program Is Given At P-T. A. Meeting

Matador Parent-Teacher Association heard a program on family relations when it met in regular session in the High School auditorium, Wednesday afternoon, November 8.

Mrs. John Hamilton presided in the absence of both the president, Mrs. Harold Campbell and vice-president, Mrs. C. M. Barton, Jr., who were attending the state P-T. A. convention in Mineral Wells at that time.

Mrs. Hamilton opened the program by leading the Parent-Teacher prayer. Music on the program was furnished by the third grade pupils, who sang two songs under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. White.

Mrs. Algie Groves was leader of the program, "Must Families Fused?" which was divided into three family relationships: The husband and wife relationship, discussed by Mrs. Groves; the parents and children relationship, discussed by Mrs. Robert Darsey; and the financial side discussed by Mrs. Horner T. Jinkins.

Mrs. Groves stated that selfishness has no part in the happy home, and the training that children receive in their home will be the foundation for the type of home life they will have in their adult life. A marriage partner, she pointed out, should be selected much in the same way as one would select a business partner; one whose ideals and ambitions coincide with the making of a good father or mother, and a happy home life.

Mrs. Darsey, in discussing the parents and children relationship, said, "We must gain the confidence of our teen-agers, if we are to help them... we must show them that we as parents respect them as individuals, if we want to be respected."

Mrs. Jinkins, who discussed the financial aspect of family relations, pointed out that some people spend all they make, letting tomorrow take care of itself while others save for the future, and still others live on the installment plan. "But the best plan," Mrs. Jinkins stated, "is to strike a happy medium". It is well, she pointed out, to decide in the early part of marriage, which marriage partner will assume the responsibility of handling the finances, in order to avoid later misunderstandings. The fourth grade had the most mothers and friends present for the meeting.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

I Have A "Close Squeak"!

Spent last Saturday morning wandering all over the house. Wherever I went—upstairs or down—I kept hearing a "squeak." Couldn't find out where it was coming from until noon-time when the missus came home from her weekly shopping.

"Listen," I says to her, "hear that squeak?" I started walking real quiet-like across the kitchen and there it went again! "Joe Marsh," she laughs, "that is nothing but your suspender clips rubbing back and forth when you walk!" And darned if it wasn't!

From where I sit, I'd been letting a little thing become a serious problem. Like some little difference of opinion or taste will start off a great big argument. I may prefer a temperate glass of beer with my dinner—while the missus likes tea—but we figure that no two people have exactly the same likes and dislikes. So, why get all "het up" about it?

The moral is, check your suspenders—and check your temper when it comes to little things.

Soil Conservation Head Offers Timely Suggestions For 1951 Cotton Acreages

FT. WORTH, Nov. 23—Louis P. Merrill, regional head of the Soil Conservation Service, has some timely suggestions for farmers who are considering expansion of their cotton acreage in 1951. Merrill fears that some farmers, with the lifting of government cotton restrictions, may undo much of the good conservation work they have accomplished unless they choose their cotton land wisely and take steps to protect it.

Here are Merrill's recommendations for the farmer planning to increase his cotton acreage:

1. Put cotton only on land that is suited to cotton. Cotton land should be productive enough for a profitable yield and not easily eroded.

2. Think it over before plowing up good stands of grass. Farmers often net more from grass than from cotton, especially when they make full use of opportunities for grazing and seed harvesting.

In most areas, information on land suited to cotton is available Merrill said. Landowners can make use of the help that soil conservation districts can give them in deciding what land can produce cotton profitably and without damage. In the Plains areas of Texas and Oklahoma, nearly 5,000,000 acres of land now being cultivated are too shallow or unstable for cotton, a crop offering almost no resistance to the forces of erosion.

It is seldom wise to follow cotton with another crop of cotton, Merrill pointed out. However, when it is done, a cover of rye and vetch or Austrian winter peas and rye planted at least every three or four years which are properly inoculated and phosphated will help to control erosion, increase productivity and improve soil organic matter and tilth.

Farmers have been getting more grass-conscious in recent years, the regional director said. More than 250,000 acres have been put in native grasses alone in Oklahoma and Texas during the last two years and still additional acreage in introduced grasses. On nearly all of this land grass for livestock is the safest and the most profitable use, and to plow up such plantings with the questionable prospect of a high cotton yield would be poor business, Merrill added.

Several plantings fit in well with rotations that include cotton, Merrill said. Some of these crops are blue panic, weeping and sand lovegrass, King Ranch bluestem and alfalfa. Merrill also urges that farmers keep in mind the other practices that are useful in conservation farming. Planting cotton in alternate strips with tall-growing crops such as grain sorghums is essential in helping to control wind erosion in sandy lands. Stubble mulching, contour cultivation and terracing help conserve moisture and prevent erosion.

Soil Conservation districts can help farmers needing assistance in making decisions on what lands to plant cotton on and how to use these lands to best advantage, Merrill said.

 Skilled labor goes at $1.10 per day. The firm employs an administrator at $75 per month and the contact man receives $125 per month. Property is high in Guatemala. The Texas men paid $2,000 per acre for the land on which their plant is located. Guatemala is a land of many contrasts, as compared with the United States.

Pork and beans canned in this country sell for 90¢ per can. Canned soup is going at 40¢ per can because Guatemala does not can food and a duty is imposed on foreign products. Still good food is plentiful and cheap in Guatemala. Fine cuts of beef from modern markets sell for 40-50¢ per pound. Tropical fruits and vegetables are cheap.

Yet gasoline is selling at 43¢ per gallon in Guatemala City (22¢ of the cost is tax), since the small republic does not produce any petroleum products.

Guatemala has two principal money crops. They are coffee and bananas. Enroute back to Texas the Dobkins family stopped in the 7,500-foot elevation mountain city of Quezaltenango where they drank heavenly coffee. The hotel manager admitted that it was the finest quality grown in Guatemala (grade of coffee is decided by the elevation at which it is grown). The higher the altitude, the better the quality and price. The coffee was grown and processed in the very mountains where the Dobkins family had stopped. The coffee was selling at $1 per pound in stores.

On the second day of the trip Mr. Dobkins drove over a rock in the road and knocked a hole in oil pan of the car. He coasted down a long grade and arrived at a place where men were working on bridge construction. They stuffed the hole in the pan with asphalt and tar, which made it possible for the former Texans to reach Tapochula, Mexico where they were delayed three days while the car was being repaired.

At that point they loaded the automobile on a flat car (because of inaccessible roads) and were transported 244 kilometers by rail (152 miles). They removed the car from the train at Tonola and drove to Oaxaco, where they spent the night in a modern hotel. They reached Mexico City the following evening. Their next stop was Tamusunchale, Mexico and then Linares. From that point they drove to Kennedy, Texas, visiting Mrs. Dobkins' sister, Mrs. E. H. Perry. On to Killeen, Texas they visited Mr. and Mrs. John W. Crouch, formerly of Roaring Springs.

Mrs. Dobkins is a sister to Guy and Melton Thacker of Roaring Springs and Freeman Thacker of Matador. Mr. and Mrs. Dobkins and their daughters, Glenda, 13, and Cliva, 5, will remain in Texas until after the holidays when they plan to return to Guatemala by automobile.

J. M. JACKSON

 pany located in what is now King and Cottle counties. He was 22 when he began working for the Matadors.
 He was married March 29, 1896, to Miss Annie Whitaker and to this union ten children were born, 7 of whom survive. The eldest son, Albert, succumbed to influenza while with the AEF in France during World War I. Another son, Morris (Bebe) lost his life in World War II. A daughter, Edith, also preceded him in death.

Led Active Life
 Mr. Jackson was active to the hour of his injury last week, altho his health had been declining for several years. He conducted extensive business and financial dealings and possessed holdings in Hot Springs, New Mexico and Matador besides farm and ranch property over a wide area. Last year Mr. Jackson purchased the property used by Motley county as a courthouse on the corner of Main and Dundee and improved the property at a large expense. He also purchased the former Crews property immediately east of the former courthouse building. For a number of years he owned property in and around Uvalde, and with his family, made that section of the state his home. They returned to Matador about 12 years ago.

 Mr. Jackson possessed unusual business acumen and unflinching courage to execute his judgment. He had intensive civic pride and was much concerned with the publicity stunt to change the name of Hot Springs, New Mexico, to "Truth or Consequences, New Mexico" and fought the idea bitterly.

He was a Shriner, and a member of the Baptist Church.

SEVERAL ATTEND PICKARD RITES

Several local residents attended funeral services at Paducah, Sunday for Mrs. Herbert Pickard, who died Friday night at Dallas. Mrs. Pickard had lived in Cottle county all her life, and was the former Leona Clary.

Those attending the services were Sheriff and Mrs. John Stotts and U. L. Willie.

VISITORS IN GROVES HOME

Out-of-town visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Algine Groves during last week included her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Nichols of Roaring Springs; a brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nichols of Pampa; and three nephews, Rob. Curtis and David Renfro of Plainview, who were Thanksgiving guests Thursday; the Harold Renfro family of Plainview, on Friday; and Mr. and Mrs. John Green and daughter, Sharon of Dickens and Mrs. A. B. Nichols, who visited here Tuesday while Mr. Green transacted business. Mrs. Groves sister, Mrs. Harold Renfro, has been a patient in Stanley Clinic during the week, with a strep throat condition.

CARD OF THANKS

Your splendid expressions of sympathy, through your genius for friendship, have helped to bring a peace and understanding in our loss of a brother and uncle. Our sincerest wish for you is, that in your dark hour of need, there may be those who will be as tender, kind, and faithful to you, as you have been to us.
 Bryan and Glen McDonald.

CARD OF THANKS

To our friends: We wish to express our sincere appreciation and gratitude for the words of comfort, and acts of kindness and sympathy which were so much consolation to us in the passing of our husband and father. May God's richest blessings rest on each of you, is our prayer.

 Mrs. J. L. Hagin and children.

We Regret . . .

The Orchids Did Not Arrive

We are greatly embarrassed that our shipment of orchids did not arrive as advertised last week for the first showing of the new 1951 Ford.

There is a great deal of distance between Hawaii and Matador and despite the speed of modern planes the element of chance involves delivery. We had a confirming telegram from California that our shipment would arrive in Lubbock by air and complete the long journey by bus. Our orchids were lost.

We regret you were disappointed because we wanted you, our friends and customers, to have these flowers.

OUR SINCERE THANKS

For your interest in the new 1951 Ford. We appreciate your words of praise for this great, new automobile. Your approval was matched with the approval of thousands throughout the nation. "You can pay more but you can't buy better" than the 1951 Ford.
