Correct Constipation Before—Not After!

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of emergency relief. Why let yourself suffer those dull, listless days because of constipation, why bring on the need for emergency medicines, when there may be a far better way? That way is to KEEP regular by getting at the cause of the trouble. If it's common constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, a pleasant, nutritious, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran—goes straight to the cause by supplying the "bulk" you need. Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day—with milk or cream, or baked into muffins—drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Record Throng Is Expected For Final Session Of Cooking School

Presentation Of Prizes Is Scheduled

The Herald's free cooking school went into its second session at the city auditorium Tuesday afternoon, with even larger crowds appearing to hear Mrs. Arreva D. French in another lecture on food planning and kitchen economy.

The school builds toward its big climax Wednesday, when, at the concluding session, a number of grand prizes, including a Magic Chef gas range, will be given away.

Registered attendance at the opening session of the school Monday was 613. So pleased with Mrs. French's instruction were the housewives of Big Spring and the surrounding area that they were back Tuesday with their friends and neighbors, and today's crowd appeared to be even larger. Attendance at the final day is expected to set another record, and a capacity crowd at the auditorium is anticipated.

Mrs. French's lively, entertaining and instructive talk of Monday brought a highly favorable response. This was indicated by the great throng of women who packed the stage of the auditorium after the lecture, going up to confer with the kitchen economist on individual problems of kitchen work, and to get first hand information on various items of food preparation and hints for making household tasks a bit easier.

Favorable Comment
They remained for an hour or so after the conclusion of the formal program.

Comment at the end of the program was, practically without exception, very complimentary. Mrs. French herself said she felt the first session of the school had been an outstanding success. "It was a very large and very attentive crowd," she said. "I think the merchants of Big Spring and the national merchandisers are to be complimented on the fine way they have cooperated with The Herald in providing such excellent arrangements for the school."

Mrs. French described in detail the various recipes she prepared on the stage, demonstrating dishes that were near-perfection. Handy recipes, including some she did not prepare at the school, appeared in today's paper, and a final list will appear Wednesday. It is recommended that women clip these recipes for future use.

All women attending were reminded again to register each time they go to the auditorium.

Mrs. French appeared on an attractively arranged stage. Products she recommends and uses, and the latest in kitchen equipment, including gas ranges, electric refrigerators, model kitchen units, etc., provided an attractive background for the culinary demonstrations.

Wednesday's program, as did those of the first two days, starts at 2 o'clock. Women are urged to be prompt.

Double-Murder, Suicide Verdict In Three Deaths

RENO, Nev., Oct. 24 (AP) — A middle-aged New York City matron, her estranged husband, and her woman traveling companion were shot to death in what Coroner Francis J. Cunningham said today apparently was a case of a double slaying and a suicide.

Mrs. Lillian Hawthorne Webster, the matron, had expected to sue for divorce in Reno tomorrow.

The other shooting victims were Nils Albin Almgreen Webster, the husband; and Mrs. Webster's companion, tentatively identified as Louise Schmeitz.

Mrs. Webster's Reno attorney, Albert D. Ayers, said he understood Webster had come to Reno in an effort to effect a reconciliation.

The shooting occurred on a highway near Pyramid Lake yesterday. Sheriff's deputies said Webster and the two women had gone for a ride in an automobile driven by H. H. Forrester of Reno.

Webster asked the driver to stop the car and leave the three together for a short time, and when Forrester had walked a hundred yards from the car, Deputy Sheriff Ben Parks said, pistol shots caused him to turn back. The two women were dead, and Webster was fatally shot.

Coroner Cunningham, who expressed the belief Webster might have shot the women and then himself, set an inquest for tomorrow.

Attorney Ayers said the Websters were married in Manassas, Va., last January 27, but that he knew little of their background.

AN ANALYSIS OF THE WAR DEVELOPMENTS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Anglo-French allies have made it abundantly clear that their land strategy from now on in Europe's fantastic war is to sit tight and pay out plenty of rope to Herr Hitler in the belief he will hang himself.

Being convinced that the only sort of conflict the "naaf leader" originally was equipped for was a blitzkrieg (lightning war), the allies have reached the conclusion that he already has lost the opportunity of waging such a war and is beginning to feel the lack of sinews for a protracted session.

The allied policy of watchful waiting on the western front, however, doesn't mean that the war has died at birth.

The Anglo-French naval blockade represents the fiercest offensive they are capable of waging against Germany at this time.

It isn't spectacular like a land-operation. But it's there just the same—a noose which is calculated to strangle the reich unless Hitler can break it.

The fuhrer is devoting his chief energies to torpedoing his way through this hunger-ring, and at the same time is trying to sink enough British merchant shipping to squeeze England.

As regards the western front, military experts on both sides agree that the German west-wall and the French Maginot Line are so nearly impregnable that an attempt to smash either will pile up casualties that would have staggered even Napoleon, proficulate as he was with human lives.

The whole allied strategy at this moment is directed at constant tightening of the blockade, coupled with an intensive propaganda drive to try to create a revolt among the German people against Hitler.

While the allies are holding the western front and applying the screws in the blockade, they are getting ahead with the very necessary business of bringing their air-fleets and other military preparedness up to scratch with those of Germany, which had a long start in the race.

Time is working for them and against Herr Hitler.

'Refrigeration' Treatment For Cancer Is Tested

PRYOR, Okla., Oct. 24 (AP)—A 49-year-old mother of four children entered her second day of "refrigeration" today as science sought to kill by cold an intestinal cancer threatening her life. Dr. V. D. Herrington, operator of a hospital, said: "She knows that she hasn't long to live and is willing to do anything that might save her life. Her husband feels the same way. A coil of cooling brine encircles her abdomen. In the new weapon against cancer, the patient's body temperature is lowered during the first four-day "refrigeration period" from a normal 98.6 to 90 degrees. The patient remains conscious, "During the refrigeration period she is being fed only fruit juices," Dr. Herrington said. "During the hibernation period she will not be fed at all."

NO GALS IN THE TEXAS U. BAND

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—Members of the all-male University of Texas band have turned thumbs down again on girl drum majors. Several days ago the men voted overwhelmingly against the proposed addition of girls. The executive council of the band overrode this decision. Then the bandmen put it to a vote again last night and overrode the council, three of whose members said they would resign. The organization's all-male tradition is 46 years old. A noon was to include reports of district deputies and twilight initiation.

Of 'Kingfish'

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Governor Earl K. Long is streamlining the kind of militaristic aggressiveness with which his late brother, Huey, kept Louisiana in an uproar for years. The governor moved in typical "Kingfish" fashion yesterday, using skillfulness to remove from office Attorney General David Ellison and James O'Connor, Ellison's assistant. Long announced he ordered the removal because he had discovered they were holding office "illegally." In another swift move last night, a company of national guardsmen assembled in their barracks in Baton Rouge. The governor said he had not called them, but a score or more remained in the barracks overnight. State police swarmed around the capitol. Martial law and troops were familiar sights in Baton Rouge and other parts of the state when Huey was setting up his dictatorship. The gubernatorial campaign is now in full swing with six candidates, including Earl, in the race for the democratic nomination in the January 16 primary. Nomination is tantamount to election. Long's removal of Attorney General Ellison yesterday temporarily halted an open hearing of charges that District Attorney Charles A. Byrne of New Orleans hindered the work of a grand jury. Ham And Eggs Taxes

Through release of a statement made at a White House press conference on Aug. 26, 1938, all doubt has been removed as to the position of President Roosevelt on California's Thirty-Dollars-Every-Thursday plan. In this statement, published in The Christian Science Monitor October 12, Mr. Roosevelt went to the heart of the so-called ham-and-eggs proposal. He said plainly that the plan involves a transaction tax, since approximately $1,000,000,000 a year are required to pay $30 every Thursday to an estimated 600,000 citizens over 50 years of age would have to come from the two-cent stamps applied once a week to the warrants.

Of course, there might be transactions within a week on which no tax would be paid but the president is definitely right in saying that a transaction tax is involved. For one one would pay the weekly tax on the warrants except to get business. And, if anyone took a $1 warrant and held it a week he would in effect offer a two per cent discount or pay a two per cent tax on his transaction.

Advocates of the plan say the tax would come out of new or extra business. But what assurance is there that such transactions would be extra or new business? Could a grocer say, I will accept warrants from new customers or for sales above the usual amount I sell to old customers, but I will not accept them for debts and for the usual run of business? Would not the warrants—if accepted—simply collect a tax on much business now conducted on currency or credit which would cease to function?

The belief that there would be new business out of which the $1,000,000,000 could be obtained for warrant stamps is an assumption. And when it is understood that $1,000,000,000 is one-quarter of California's annual income it may be seen that Thirty-Dollars-Every-Thursday may mean for the people of the state, not only a transaction tax, but as President Roosevelt said: "A 25 per cent income tax on everybody."—Christian Science Monitor.

George Tucker

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—John Golden's office is in the St. James theatre building, 44th Street, west of Broadway, just a stride or two beyond St. Regis restaurant. If you find him in it he will probably be sitting behind a big, heavy desk which is littered with an accumulation of doodads from the theatre. He likes to talk, especially when he has a new show. "Let's see," says he, "there's a war going on, and I have 'Skylark' with Gertrude Lawrence and Donn Cooke... During the other war I had 'Lightnin' with Frank Bacon, and it still has the third longest run on Broadway... Now if only 'Skylark'..."

That's it—if only 'Skylark'... As this is being written the play is still some 48 hours short of its premiere, but Gertrude Lawrence is the star, and Samuel Raphaelson wrote it... Here are some remarks about these two put out by the greatly satisfied Mr. Golden:

"If you put Gertrude Lawrence in the telephone directory you would see a good show. 'If we can keep Raphaelson out of Hollywood he will develop into one of the greatest playwrights on Broadway.'"

Note: Raphaelson is the author of "Accent On Youth," which, for intelligent comedy, was one of the nicest surprises New York has had in seven years. He writes the sort of dialog actors pine for.

The walls of the Golden office reflect the assorted friendships of a man who has known many interesting people over a long period of time. Raphaelson's little daughter, by the way, is represented by a watercolor. I believe she is eight or nine years of age, and this watercolor represents some trees and rocks against an angry sea... What did Mr. Golden do with it? He framed it and exhibits it proudly on his office wall.

Well, to go along that wall and call names would be to list Twentieth Century Broadway. Charles Chaplin, General Drum, William Gillette, Frank Bacon, it goes on like that indefinitely... But what makes it even more interesting is that with each picture Golden can tell you an inside story which has, to my knowledge, never been printed before.

Producers are very strange people; they have to be. If they wish to be grumpy before breakfast, or throw paperweights out of seventh floor windows, I think this should be permitted. They have to gamble all the time—they have to size up the national mood, so to speak, and hazard a great deal of money on that guess. If they pick the wrong play, that is a very sad thing for the producer and his investors.

Some producers more than others have, apparently, the knack of picking "right" with a great deal of consistency. And Golden has been one of these. With Gertrude Lawrence, he feels supremely confident. Miss Lawrence is greatly appreciated on this side of the Atlantic. She was with Mr. Golden last year in "Susan and God." Before that she was with Noel Coward, in "Tonight at 8:30"... but that isn't news. She has been with Coward since they were kids. And now she comes to Broadway again in a new comedy.

Good luck, Gertrude; good luck, John. California will fool around with this ham-and-egg business until nobody has either ham or eggs—Herald Independent.

As an evidence of good faith, Hitler's five associates sought to accompany him to the front—Wilmington Post-Gazette.

The Creeping Man

Chapter 13
A JANITOR TALKS
 "That's damn funny," Michael conceded, when he had reached the final bend of the pipe. "They must have skidded all along here, and gone down into the jacket." He went over to the tool box, took out a flashlight and opened the jacket of the furnace, to peer about inside, at considerable discomfort. But finally he emerged.

"They're not here, Tuck. Absolutely not a sign."
 "That it must be the wrong pipe, Michael, and they're in some other one. Because I most certainly dropped them into a pipe, and they're not in the furnace so they must still be in a pipe."
 "It's the right pipe," Michael said, but he looked again to make sure.

"Michael, it's nearly two o'clock," Tuck said suddenly.
 "I know. I have to go. But it's damn queer, honey, if you really did drop it into the pipe. Was there anything fuzzy on it that a rough edge might catch?"
 "Of course not. Fuzzy, indeed, Michael! It was my carved corals that my grandmother left me."

"Well, then," Michael said as he dashed up the stairs, "it's another mystery. The Mystery of the Missing Necklace. I'll solve it for you when I come home."
 "Don't be so cocky, Michael Forrester," Tuck called after him. "Maybe it isn't the first missing necklace around here. Maybe all necklaces are doomed to disappear in this house for some strange reason. Maybe the house is haunted, Michael."
 "What are you talking about?" he stopped and surveyed her with a frown.

"Diamonds," she said darkly.
 "It was something after five o'clock that afternoon when Michael stopped his roaster in front of the imposing facade of the Medical Building. He was out of the car with a leap, a bound, up the steps and through the big door in another second. The object of his interest at that particular moment was a stout gentleman in a white coat, and Michael found him rubbing vigorously at the glass doors of a cabinet in the upper hall.

He looked up quickly at Michael's approach. His red face beamed, and his eyes shone as he took in the identity of his visitor. "Well, if it ain't Mr. Forrester himself!" he said warmly. "It's been many a day since you was around here, sir."
 Michael shook hands. "I've been very busy indeed."
 "Indeed, and have you now?" The stout gentleman frowned. "Let me see, wasn't you law, Mr. Forrester? You wasn't one of these here medicals, was you?"
 "Right the first time, Bill."
 "I thought so, I ought to remember, but it's been a good many years. Five or so, hasn't it? The time does fly, it does that."
 "How's the family, Bill? Young Jim, and Katie?"
 Mr. Jamieson smiled more expansively. "Now fancy you remembering their names! They're fine. Fine it is, Mr. Forrester, and that's true. I'm proud of them both. Katie's got a good job with the housekeeper at the residence, and she's doing her work real good. And Jim's the junior accountant down at South and Robertson's. He gets real good pay, and he's gettin' along splendid. I always tell him as how he's got you to thank for that job."

 "Me? Me to thank? You're having a pipe dream, Bill. Your furniture polish must have gone to your head."
 Family History
 Jamieson put his hand up mechanically to his bald head, took it down and looked at it, as he answered, "No, I mean it. Don't you remember that bicycle you give Jim when you first come to University, and he was just a strip of a kid hangin' around my heels all the time? Well, he went right out and got him a job with that there bike, a job as messenger boy with Smith and Robertson's. And he worked his way up slow and gradual, and now he's got this swell job with them. If you'd never given him that there bike, it'd never have come to his mind to get himself a messenger's job."
 Michael grinned. "I suppose if I'd given him a monkey he'd have gone into the organ grinding business, Bill."
 "No," Bill said seriously, "I don't really believe as how he would. He always had his heart set..." he looked up and caught Michael's grin. "Oh, go on with you, Mr. Forrester. You always was one to catch people. He put his head one side. "Didn't I hear you was married, Mr. Forrester?"
 "You probably did, Bill. I am."
 "Well, that ought to make you settle down," Bill pondered. He grinned. "Any time you think you might like that there bike back, Mr. Forrester," he said soberly, "you just let me know. It's in real good shape, except for a tire my Jim would be glad to fix it."
 "I really couldn't use it," Michael said. "Tell Jim to give it to some kid if he doesn't want it. It's a kid's bike."
 "That's that's what I was thinkin' of," Jamieson said.
 Michael took out his cigarette case. "I think you'd better have a cigarette, Bill. Calm you down."
 Bill accepted the proffered smoke. "Any time you want to start passing out the cigars I'll be around right handy," he grinned again.

He lit his own cigarette and put the case back.
 They smoked for a moment in silence. Jamieson turned suddenly to Michael. "Was there something you was wanting, Mr. Forrester? Something I can do for you?"
 "No thanks, Bill. Just dropped in on my way home to say hello. We're living out on the campus now, you know."
 "Oh, are you? No, I didn't know. One of them houses on the House-shoe?"
 "That's it," Michael looked at Bill's necktie. "The Murchison house."
 Jamieson frowned. "I knew he was gone away. Good riddance, says I. It'd be a good thing for the University if he'd never come back, but of course there is no such luck."
 "You don't like him, Bill?"
 Jamieson considered, eyeing the cabinet beside him full of grocer's some rules and strange models. "He's not so bad if you just meet him around the halls. Not so bad at all. Kind of short, always has his nose up in the air, but there's a good many worse around here. And it's when he gets inside the lab that he turns into a regular devil." He shook his head. "We had an awful fracas around here last summer," he concluded.

 "I heard something about it," Michael murmured. He inspected the glowing end of his cigarette critically. "Something about vivisection, wasn't it? Somebody started a fuss?"
 "And good reason they had too," Jamieson took out a tremendous white handkerchief and mopped his face. "The shrieks and yells comin' out from the lab was something fierce, Mr. Forrester. And mostly always it was in the dead of night, and people was scared to go past the Building. I come up here myself once just to listen, and it was awful, the row goin' on inside."
 "What was going on, Bill?" Jamieson shook his head. "Nobody ever saw the inside, Mr. Forrester. The door was locked and there was something hung over the keyhole. I make no bones about it—I tried to see inside. I never heard the like of it since I come here twenty years ago. It was fierce."
 "But they put a stop to it, you say. Who did that? What did they put a stop to? How did they go about it?"
 "Well, I guess it was the Council it was took up with, or the President maybe. He didn't know nothing about it, of course. He doesn't spend his nights snooping and spying around the Medical building. People complained of the row, and a delegation finally come to Murchison. I was right here in the hall when they came. They knocked on the door—it was pretty early one morning—and Murchison opened it, all dressed in his long white coat with rubber gloves on his hands."

Ordinarily, a representative names men only to jobs within his district. If he is a republican, he names nobody just now. In Ohio, where there are republican representatives, Senator Donahay becomes the "arbiter" in non-democratic districts. Senator Taft is a republican so he gets none of the gray.

Readers of the Congressional Record will recall that patronage in West Virginia was not amicably distributed between Senators Holt and Neely. Holt claimed Neely got all the pudding and he filled the Record with scathing indictments.
 The fright of it is members of congress can't dodge the trouble. Jobhunters make them choose—and then revile them for choosing the other man.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—Dancing Vera Zorina came out in meeting and biffed the notion that dancing boys are sissies, said the lads are better he-men than most wrestlers and pugilists because the dancers have to train constantly, the athletic pugs only periodically.
 She didn't, but could have, cited ex-chorus boys Jimmy Cagney and Pat O'Brien, one-time female impersonator Wallace Beery.

Bulletin: There's a beard on the Warner lot, and Paul Muni is NOT behind it. Edward G. Robinson wears it for "Dr. Ehrlich," the film biography of the scientist who found a cure for that unmentionable disease: syphilis.
 Spencer Tracy has as many historical roles behind him now as Muni, who did "Pasteur," "Zola" and "Juarez," but Muni is still two up on Tracy in the beard department, three up in the make-up department. Tracy's Father Flanagan, Henry M. Stanley, and Major Robert Rogers (in "Northwest Passage") all look like Tracy but act, because Tracy is that way about acting.

There has been a lot of kidding about movie actors who plunge into historical or biographical roles too bilthely, but it's just kidding and nothing else. Richard Dix was a Sam Houston fan, and read everything he could find on the man, before he was even asked to play "Man of Conquest." Norma Shearer was grinning on Marie Antoinette and her times for two years before the picture began. Muni studies and bones on his characters so intensively that he practically ceases to be Muni in private life. Anna Neagle did quite a stint of personal research on Edith Cavell, and collected documents and letters, to give her portrait the inner life it has. And Tracy, who could never be charged with affectation, virtually memorized "Northwest Passage" and steeped himself in biographical material on Rogers. Bette Davis works out her characterizations the same way—witness her recent triumph as Queen Elizabeth.

All of which is one explanation for the comparative tameness of Hollywood night life now. In the days of wilder and better parties, a star could report on the set fully confident that a paternal director would give his every gesture.

It may mean a return to slap-stick shorts and it may not, but after the pie-and-chase consequences in "Hollywood Cavalcade" RKO announced it was taking on Harry Langdon for a two-reeler. Town was surprised when it laughed at those slapstick sequences in the movie about movies, but why—since the whole country laughed a couple of seasons back when the big stars were being sillies like that in features of the zany cycle.

There is bound to be speculation as to the characters "intended" in the leads of "Hollywood Cavalcade," but the guessing might as well stop now. Don Ameche as the director is all the directors of the era—a touch of Senett (slapstick, bathing beauties, Keystone Kops), and a touch of Griffith (the spectacle-maker), plus nuances suggesting a score of others. And the romantic story could have happened, but never did precisely.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—The business of distributing congressional patronage has been forced upon our attention. The conclusion is we would rather occupy a cottage between the Magnin and Elgin lines than have to distribute postmasterhips.

The nearest thing to a patronage heaven we have discovered has been worked out in Arizona. Even there lacks its hidden in the golden streets.

It is for good reason that Senator Norris of Nebraska says that for every friend gained by giving him a job, a hundred disappointed applicants become active enemies. We need only go to Arizona for a sample.

Senators Ashurst and Hayden thought at one time it would be nice if they retained for themselves the job of naming the foremen on the federal project on the upper Gila river. There were 300 such jobs. Surely, they thought, that would be enough to go around. But the news got out that they were distributing his patronage. Promptly they were confronted with 1,300 applications.

Correspondence piled high and delegations called at the senatorial offices. In desperation the senators framed a message for the project superintendent.

"Name them yourself" was the gist of it. The superintendent did. The senators did not escape unscathed, however, because hundreds of potential foremen felt the senators had done badly by them in surrendering them to the mercies of a hard-as-nails engineer.

NO OTHER TROUBLE
 Other than that, patronage flows smoothly in Arizona. The representative there is only one in Arizona and his name is Murchison—names all the postmasters. As patronage goes that is fairly nice because in the range county of Arizona the postmaster sees all the neighbors at least once a week when they gallop in for the mail.

The big jobs, such as internal revenue collector, district attorney and United States marshal, go to the senators. Senator Hayden remembers only one serious departure from that happy arrangement.

While Hayden was representative in the pre-Murdoch days, Senator Ashurst said he would like to name the postmaster at Flagstaff and Hayden said "Sure, go ahead." Promptly three candidates sprouted like dragon's teeth from the arid soil. All were important friends of Senator Ashurst. After weeks of desperation, Ashurst came to Hayden's office in his usual philosophic mood and appealed for deliverance from his friends. Both have enjoyed telling the story since.

The two Arizona senators go even farther. When they name the district attorney, for instance, he must pick his own subordinates. Naturally he selects friends of his friends.

DIVIDE THE SPOILS
 Senators Thomas and Lee of Oklahoma have worked out their patronage with reasonable success. Patronage can help in election years. The two Oklahomans cooperate. Thomas got to name most of the better jobs when he was up for election in 1938. Lee gets the lion's share now. He will be up for re-election in 1940.

Ordinarily, a representative names men only to jobs within his district. If he is a republican, he names nobody just now. In Ohio, where there are republican representatives, Senator Donahay becomes the "arbiter" in non-democratic districts. Senator Taft is a republican so he gets none of the gray.

Readers of the Congressional Record will recall that patronage in West Virginia was not amicably distributed between Senators Holt and Neely. Holt claimed Neely got all the pudding and he filled the Record with scathing indictments.

The fright of it is members of congress can't dodge the trouble. Jobhunters make them choose—and then revile them for choosing the other man.

IMMORTAL MUSIC IN YOUR OWN HOME

Whenever You Want to Hear It!

HERE ARE THE TEN SYMPHONIC MASTERPIECES YOU WILL RECEIVE

Franz Schubert's Symphony No. 8 in B Minor (Unfinished).

Few symphonies can match the appeal of this exquisite masterpiece.

Ludwig van Beethoven's Symphony No. 5 in C Minor

Probably more than any other music in existence, Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony" appeals forthrightly, powerfully to human nature.

Claude Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun," "Clouds" and "Festivals"

"Afternoon of a Faun" disregards every canon of conventional composition. "Clouds" and "Festivals" stir the listener to delightful reverie.

Franz Josef Haydn's Symphony No. 99 in E Flat Major

Haydn's "Symphony No. 99" thrilled its listeners a century ago, and thrills them even more today.

Mozart's Symphony No. 40 in G Minor

Mozart's "Symphony in G Minor" is considered by many the greatest and most beautiful symphony ever written.

Richard Wagner's Prelude to Die Meistersinger, Prelude to Parsifal

In "Prelude to Die Meistersinger," beauty and intensity thrill the listener. "Prelude to Parsifal" embodies "some of the most sublime music ever penned by mortal hand."

Johann Sebastian Bach's Brandenburg Concertos Nos. 2 and 3

Today these concertos by the greatest musician of his time are among the finest of this form of musical composition.

Tschaiakowsky's Symphony No. 4 in F Minor

Of all the thrills the concert lover can experience, few can surpass the glorious moments of this masterpiece.

Johannes Brahms' Symphony No. 2 in D Major

Depth, orderliness and perfect timing between form and feeling are beautifully developed in Brahms' "Second Symphony."

Cesar Franck's Symphony in D Minor

Idealism, exaltation and feeling for the mystic are reflected. The listener is held spellbound—engraced.

RULES AND CONDITIONS GOVERNING THIS OFFER

(Please Read Carefully)

To obtain the 10 symphonies and symphonic masterpieces and the electric Record Player to be distributed in this Music Appreciation Plan, proceed as follows:

First, fill in and mail the Reservation Form printed in the lower right corner of this page. The purpose of this form is not to obligate you in any way but to enable us to estimate the quantity of records and Record Players to have on hand to meet the demand.

Each day during this music appreciation offer, we will publish a reminder coupon setting forth the date on which each symphony will be ready. You can get your first symphony (Franz Schubert's No. 8 in B minor) on or after November 4th. Subsequent symphonies will be released one every two weeks thereafter. Watch for reminder coupon which will be published daily. It is not necessary for you to clip the coupons in order to get your records or Record Players.

You obtain each symphony, which consists of three or four double-faced 12-inch records, for a payment of $1.49. This payment is not for each record but for all THREE or FOUR records. Symphonies which consist of FIVE double-faced 12-inch records require a payment of $1.58 for the entire symphony of all FIVE records. The Cesar Franck Symphony in D Minor, on account of its great length, is divided into two units, each unit consisting of three double-faced 12-inch records, and the cost of each unit is $1.49, the same as for any other three-record group.

A quantity of de luxe records, known as Philharmonic Transcriptions, enclosed in beautiful record albums which have been designed individually for each particular symphony, are available at a slightly higher price.

After you have obtained all 10 of the symphonies, you can secure the Electric Record Player for a payment of $3. If you want to get your Record Player earlier, you can do so—you can get it with your first group of records, your second, third, or any other group, by merely making a deposit of $5. After you have obtained all of the 10 symphonies, $2 will be returned to you. Thus, whether you get your Record Player before or after you have obtained all of the symphonies, the cost to you is only $3.

For those who want a more elaborate Record Player, a Symphonic De Luxe Model, enclosed in a walnut case, is available at a higher price.

First, mail the Reservation Form to assist us in our distribution problems. Please check whether or not you want the Record Player reserved. We will acknowledge your reservation by mail. Filling in and mailing the reservation entails no obligation whatever on your part.

THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

Only once in the past 17 years have football teams of Midland and Big Spring high schools met on the football field. That was in 1921 when the Bulldogs got ambitious and climbed into Class A competition along with Sweetwater, McCombe, San Angelo, Colorado (City) and Big Spring.

George Barry, Midland mentor, had some fine material on hand that semester, a sterling back in L. Burris and plenty of secondary help in Middiff, Parrott and Hallman but Obie Bristow, at the helm of the local club, had a one man gang by the name of Tack Dennis and some fine lieutenants in Howard Schwarzenbach, Bill Flowers and Oscar Heblson on his side who cooperated in giving the Bulldogs such a licking that the repercussions shattered their morale and school officials in time decided to desert Class A circles entirely.

Dennis counted four touchdowns and Heblson and Dave Hopper one each as the Dogs were routed, 39-0.

Now eight years later the school has again ventured into higher circles.

We wonder if the Bulldogs' previous luck against the local crew and the fact that they are playing in a craftier league will have any psychological effect on them. (Remember, they were rated on even terms with Sweetwater but succumbed, 36-13).

No less than 64 players registered for the Forsan Invitational golf tournament last week—a new record. Previous high was 60.

Clinton Sterling, ex-Forsan high school griddler, is a former team mate of Jack Crain, the Texas university flash, when both were attending Nocona high school.

The 30-0 defeat absorbed by Brady Nix's six-man football team of Forsan high school at Westbrook 10 days ago was the first in 15 years for the Buffaloes who copped 10 straight games last fall and four in a row this semester before going down in defeat, also the first time that a Buff outfit failed to score.

Nix labels Junior Ogleby, Westbrook signal chanter, the best running back in District 12 circles.

Chock Jones, a former Big Spring high school griddler who is now playing football for Livingston, N. M., high, took advantage of a short vacation granted by the school to visit here this week. He reported he had been inserted into the first string lineup as halfback and was doing the team's punting.

Elmer Boatler tells us that Alton Bostick, who completed his grid eligibility for Big Spring high school last fall, is working himself into Dana Bible's picture at Texas university.

Lufkin Points Toward State Playoff Again

East Texans Boast One Of Strongest 11's In State

LUFKIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—Along about December 1 each year Texas schoolboy gridiron followers find the Lufkin Panthers squaring off for the state championship battle.

But it's been a tale of woe down here in the piney woods. With a great team in 1937 the Panthers met the Longview Lobos in the first round. Longview became the state champion. Last season it was Tyler, which went to the state quarter-finals and was unbeaten but lost on penetrations in a tie.

But this year, they aver, it's liable to be another story, and as far as the district campaign is concerned, they are doing little worrying.

The articles give no other team the slightest hope of stopping what may prove to be Lufkin's mightiest eleven. The Panthers, sweeping toward their fourth straight district title, are following the churning legs of Willie Smelley, the sector's leading scorer and one of the hardest-running ball jugglers ever seen in these parts. He's a triple-threat.

Lufkin, they say, is stronger than last season and they expect the weight and experience—they have fifteen lettermen—to carry the Panthers further than ever before in the state race.

The only blotch on the Lufkin record this season is a 20-13 reversal at the hands of Austin of Houston. It was the first game of the season and one of those con- tions in which the Panthers looked like winners in everything but the score.

The only tangible news was that Captain Ed Singletary and Bill Haner, a couple of first line guards, would be off the injury list and ready for Texas.

Meanwhile, four other conference camps were plagued with injuries, the most lament coming from Texas Christian university. So critical was the situation here that Connie Sparks, star fullback, was shifted to end to fill up a gap. A half dozen others were out with hurts.

Baylor feared its center, Robert Nelson, would be out of the game with Texas A. and M. Saturday and a wrenched knee may put Fullback Ray Cole of Arkansas on the sidelines when the Razorbacks play Villanova at Philadelphia.

Southern Methodist had Preston Johnston out of practice but the Mustangs rest this week and the star sophomore back is likely to be ready for the opening conference game against Texas Nov. 4.

Texas had no new injuries to report and the Texas Aggies were in tip-top shape.

SEABISCUIT IN TRAINING AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24 (AP)—Charles S. Howard's great thoroughbred Seabiscuit was stabled at Tanforan racetrack today to start training for a comeback which might make him the greatest money-winner of all time.

The six-year-old stake star, the champion of American turf last year with his brilliant triumph over War Admiral, likely will be entered in one of the Tanforan handicaps next month, and if he rounds into shape might be pointed for the 1940 Santa Anita handicap.

The son of Hardack has earned $340,880 in his years of racing. The all time money-winning record is held by Sun Beau, which brought in $376,744.

TEXAS SCOOTER PUTS PHFT-T BACK IN S'WEST GRID GAME

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS

AUSTIN, Oct. 24 (AP)—In these parts, jackrabbits once were considered pests.

That was before Jackrabbit Crain put the phft-t back in football in this pass-n-d Southwest conference.

It was four Saturdays ago that the 165-pound University of Texas sophomore galloped out on the football prairies. He is a tow-headed kid from Nocona, Tex., who sells cowboy boots to make his way through school.

They handed him the ball in his first game against Florida and phft-t—a touchdown. The 5 foot 7 inch youngster streaked 42 yards. He stopped on the way back and kicked goal.

Bovine Backs Take Drills In Kicking

Will Seek To Keep Ball Away From Midland Safety

The Big Spring high school grid-ders devoted a large portion of their Monday evening drill toward coffin corner kicking as they leveled down in their work for the weekend Midland game here.

Realizing full well that the Bulldogs are equipped with one of the greatest open field runners in high school football in Jay Francis, 165-pound senior, Coach Murphy had all his secondary practicing in booting the pig hide out of bounds.

The lion's share of the punting duties will, of course, fall to Lefty Bethell who has been especially effective to date in kicking the ball out of reach of the opposition's safety man but the mentor had Johnny Miller, Bobby Martin and D. R. Gartman also trying out their kicking toes, preparing to employ them as substitutes in case Bethell does not go 60 minutes.

The workout was terminated with a routine play drill.

OKLAHOMA SOONERS ROLL THROUGH KANSAS

Big Bob Seymour, senior Sooner fullback, is shown plunging through the Kansas line for eight yards as the Oklahomans made their 77-yard drive to a first period touchdown at Norman which started the ball rolling towards their 27-7 victory. At Seymour's left, Center Duggan effectively blocks out Maszare, Jayhawk guard. Chitwood (65), Kansas end, and Hall (58) back, are all set to halt the play.

Yearlings In Long Workout With S'horns

Coach Howard Schwarzenbach had his junior high school gridders ranging away at the Shorthorns in a rough scrimmage Monday afternoon in Ironing out the rough spots for their invasion of Lubbock this weekend.

The Yearlings took an extended drill both on defense and offense and the mentor indicated that more work in body contact was slated for this week.

The Yearling secondary showed need of polish. Swatzy placed added emphasis on blocking.

THOMPSON SPEAKER AT LABOR MEETING

GALVESTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—An address by Ernest O. Thompson, state railroad commissioner and candidate for governor in the last election, on the subject of "Natural Resources of Texas" drew the interest of the State Federation of Labor today.

The convention is expected to go on record as favoring a tax on natural resources to finance the social security program. Thompson recently advocated such a tax.

Speakers at the opening session yesterday included State Senator W. E. Stone of Galveston and State Representative Theodore R. Robinson of Galveston. Critical references to Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and attacks on a sales tax drew applause.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—"Hammerin' Henry" Armstrong, a local boy who made good in the big time, puts his welterweight boxing crown up tonight for clever Jimmy Garrison of Kansas City to shoot at.

Athletes Beat It When War Drums Beat

European Meets Run Smoothly Until Hostilities Open

LINCOLN, Oct. 24 (AP)—When war drums began to beat, European athletes begin to beat a path home. Ed Weir, Nebraska university track coach, can tell you what happens to sports events when war comes.

Weir took a team of American athletes to Europe for a series of meets there. Things went smoothly until the opening of the student games in Monte Carlo, September 1.

The war opened on the same day as the meet, which had attracted athletes from all over Europe. The first day was pretty confused but some of the events were run as scheduled. Little competition could be staged on the second day—most of the teams had left after urgent orders to get home while the getting was good.

On the fourth day the Americans had it all to themselves—there was nobody left to compete with. So, the Americans came home too.

Luckman Not For Sale, Says Chi Club Owner

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (AP)—To say that Sid Luckman, former Columbia backfield ace, has made good in pro football is the rankest sort of understatement.

Luckman, one of the highest paid freshman stars in the National League, isn't among the leaders in the statistical charts. But his employer, George Halas of the Chicago Bears, has turned down a $15,000 offer for him from Brooklyn.

"Luckman is not for sale or trade at any price," Halas said. "Take a tip from me and watch him go from now on."

10 Years Ago, The Market Crashed; It Was Called A 'Healthy Reaction'

By FREDERICK GARDNER
 NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Remember this day ten years ago? It may not mean much in a hundred years, but Oct. 24, 1929, was that grim Black Thursday at the end of the Wall street rainbow when—

A deluge of selling wrecked the stock market of dreams.

Countless hopeful Americans playing the Wall street wheel for the first time saw visions of a yacht and a modest 40-room villa vanish in the thin air of collapsed paper values.

The sun set on post-war prosperity and the era of apple-selling and job-hunting began.

Remember—

Most people said it was just a "healthy reaction." Prosperity had come to stay.

Business and the market had been going up for five years. A lot of comfortable citizens had acquired two cars and were headed for the third.

You gave the broker $1,000 margin—and promptly saw it balloon into $10,000, on paper. You borrowed on the paper profits and pyramided the winnings. The banker said: "Sure" when you came around for a loan. The sky seemed the limit, except—

The Federal Reserve upped the cost of borrowing money. Business was getting groggy from the dizzy ride. A few wise men took the hint and began selling.

The historic slide started, slow at first, gathered headway in October.

When the gong rang on the stock exchange the morning of black Thursday, the rout was on.

The financial writers, who had been translating rosy profits dreams of the margined-army into market stories, buckled down to typewriters to spread the bad news. The ticker tape at the opening foretold the day ahead—blocks of 50,000 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey, 80,000 Commonwealth and Southern, 80,000 General Motors.

Soon the ticker was so far behind the market, it was almost useless—save as a record of what happened hours before.

When we found time to peep through the paper, there were hints Black Thursday had started something. The rumblings sounded around the world.

That was the day, it seemed, the depression started. Remember?

TRIED TO TEACH BABY TO SMOKE AND DRINK BEER

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Lucille Hernandez told the judge her husband, Ernest, put cigars in the mouth of their 18-month-old child, Margaret, and tried to get her to sip beer.

"He said the baby had to learn to smoke sometime and that she was too thin and beer would make her fat," she complained.

She won a divorce—and custody of the child.

MARRIAGE ANNULLED AFTER 22 YEARS

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 24 (AP)—A 22-year-old marriage was annulled today by Advisory Master John A. Matthews after the husband charged that his wife failed to keep her promise to him to raise a family.

"I annul this marriage on the ground of fraud," Matthews ruled in the case of Leo and Rose Egbert of Newark. "The evidence here is that this woman before her marriage made up her mind she would not have children although she told Egbert otherwise. Her conduct strikes at the very essence of marriage."

TENNESSEE VOLTS ACCLAIMED FINEST GRID 11 IN NATION

By BILL WHITE
 NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Little Mercer college of Macon Ga., has one consolation, at least—it's going to be beaten next Saturday, barring grid-dom's greatest upset, by the best team in the nation, the Volunteers of Tennessee.

By a margin as wide as from here to Mars, the Vols stand acclaimed today as the finest college football crew in the land. In the second weekly Associated Press national ranking poll, the talented southern juggernaut received 93 first place votes out of a possible 131 to roll up a total of 1,203 points.

Seldom, if ever, has one team so dominated the picture. And not only did the nation's press box experts pile their plaudits on the team, but no less a personage than Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland told metropolitan football writers yesterday he considered the team "one of the most perfect I have ever seen." He added he didn't think any team in the country could score on Major Bob Neyland's crew, let alone beat them!

If there is any team that could beat the Vols, in the opinion of one writer, it would be Notre Dame. The Ramblin' Irish got 13 votes for first place and a total of 923 points to second place in the weekly rankings.

Standings of the teams (points figured on a basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1; first place votes in parentheses):

First Ten:
 Team—
 Tennessee (93) 1,203
 Notre Dame (13) 823

 Oklahoma (4) 469
 Cornell (1) 393
 Southern California (0) 344
 Tulane (1) 244
 Nebraska (0) 164

Second ten: Duquesne 140, North Carolina 132 1-2 Duke 120, Oregon State 95, Mississippi 90, Pennsylvania 66, Southern Methodist 55, Pittsburgh 45, New York U. 25 and Alabama 20.

Also ran: San Jose 17, U. C. L. A. 15, Kentucky 14, Louisiana State 12, Purdue 11, Oregon 11, Yale 8, Minnesota 5, Dartmouth 5, California 4, Carnegie Tech 3, Holy Cross 2, Utah 2, St. Mary's, Texas Christian, Catholic U., Santa Clara and Gonzaga 1 each.

DEFECTIVE VALVE ON RADIATOR CAUSE OF BABES' DEATHS

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Oct. 24 (AP)—A tiny nine-day-old boy, sole survivor of a nursery tragedy, cried healthily in his hospital basket today as police blamed a defective radiator valve for the steam asphyxiation of his five infant companions.

Four of the infants never regained consciousness and the fifth, six-day old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hatarick of Perth Amboy, died in the General Hospital several hours after being revived.

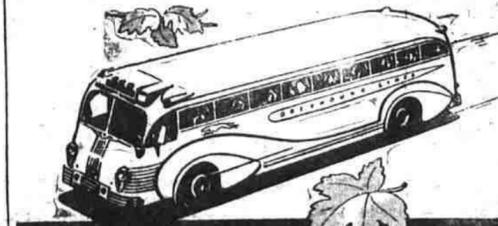

Only the child of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ahary of Carteret survives. He was reported in "good" condition and in no danger.

LOUISIANA'S CRUDE OUTPUT REDUCED

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Conservation Commissioner Ernest S. Clements today released the November oil allowable for the state, setting production at a total of 268,994 barrels daily, a decrease of 490 barrels from last month.

South Louisiana production was decreased 337 barrels to a total of 191,822 and North Louisiana production was increased 1,377 to a total of 67,159.

Testimony Heard On Auto Financing

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 24 (AP)—A Wisconsin state senator told a federal jury here a General Motors Acceptance Corporation official fought a proposed bill which would have prohibited automobile manufacturers from forcing dealers to use finance companies of the manufacturers' choice.

GMAC, General Motors corporation, two other GM subsidiaries and 17 officials are being tried on charges they plotted to coerce dealers to finance sales with corporation-picked firms.

G. Earl Ingraham of Eau Claire, Wis., testified yesterday he was on a Wisconsin senate committee which considered the bill in 1935.

He said George F. Benkhart, GMAC vice president, told the committee a provision striking at factory control of leader's financing was unconstitutional and would cause General Motors "embarrassment."

H. G. Jones of Clinton, Okla., testified GMAC and Chevrolet representatives arranged an auction sale of more than 100 repossessed cars in his Chevrolet agency and sent "confederates" into the crowd to bid up the price.

Jones lost his dealership in 1932, he said, after a controversy over his financing sales himself.

T. K. Morrow of Peoria, Ill., former Chevrolet dealer said that a Chevrolet road man told him in 1935 he must "get in line with GMAC," but he used GMAC only partially. He testified two other dealers were put into his territory and two months afterward he went out of business.

The population of Africa is estimated at 139,000,000.

The Creeping Man

—by Frances Shelley Wees

"Was he in the middle of one of his experiments?" Michael asked, as Bill paused with a grimace of distaste.

"No. At least not in the middle of one of the fierce ones where he tortured poor innocent dumb beasts. Not so dumb at that, if you could hear them yowling." Jameson paused, then went on, "Of course, he was always in the middle of some experiment. Fair daff, he was, about experiments. I don't know what about, although I know he made new medicines sometimes. He gave me a bottle of stuff years ago that cured that pain in my shoulder like nothin' do nothin' with it before that."

Bill stroked his shoulder tenderly. "You couldn't get me to take nothin' he makes now, though," he said grimly.

"I suppose he was pretty sore at the delegation?" Jameson came back to the subject. "Yes, you could see that. They told him what was the matter, that it was gettin' too thick, besides bein' against all the laws of human decency and so on, and he just stood there gettin' whiter and whiter and never said a word. And then he asked them what proof they had that he was torturing dumb animals, or torturing anything."

"And then?" "Well, of course they told him about the notes in the middle of the night, and that they'd been to the pound and found out about the standing order he had there for big healthy dogs and cats to be delivered to him in the evening, and he was caught. But he didn't give in to the end. He made them show him the order, all signed with his own hand, and then he kind of slumped. But all he said was 'Very well, gentlemen, you win.' And he went in and shut the door. You could see he was just boiling mad but what could he do?"

Midland Will Dedicate Port On Nov. 18th

MIDLAND, Oct. 24—Dedication of the new Midland municipal airport has been set for Saturday, November 18, with ceremonies, to which thousands of citizens of the Southwest are expected, to be held between 2 and 4 o'clock that afternoon.

Congressman R. E. Thomason of the 16th district has accepted an invitation to deliver the principal address on the dedication program provided that congress be adjourned by that time. The complete program will be announced shortly.

Since the Midland airport is one of the army's principal contact points, having radio and ground crew personnel stationed here with 24 hour service, numerous army pilots, off duty for the weekend, are expected to be here from several fields for the dedication. Also representatives of commercial airlines and of principal airplane companies are expected to be here, as well as prominent pilots. Several planes will be piloted here by Texas national guard officers.

No stunting or hazardous feats will be performed on the program, but the spectators are assured that some of the nation's best airplanes will be on hand.

A banquet will be given the visiting pilots and army officers that evening, and a dance will be given later in the large hangar at the airport. The Midland high school band and possibly other musical organizations will play during the dedication program.

The dedication will mark the completion of asphalt runways, two of which are 4,500 feet in length; of new radio sending and receiving equipment installed by the United States army, and of other projects inaugurated after purchase of Sloan field by the city of Midland. The purchase and expansion followed the issuance of $125,000 in bonds by the city.

The Effects Of Alcohol Cannot Be Repealed

ALCOHOL'S PROMISES

"Alcohol gives strength." If so why do athletes obtain while training for a contest which requires all their strength to win?

"Alcohol gives endurance." If so, why do employers always require absolute abstinence from those who are engaged in long and difficult tasks?

"Alcohol gives heat." If so, why do travelers in the arctic regions abstain from it?

"Alcohol steadies the nerves." If so, why do marksmen, surgeons and men whose living depends upon a keen eye and a steady hand let alcohol severely alone?

"Alcohol lengthens life." If so, why do many insurance companies charge a lower premium to total abstainers?

"Alcohol brightens life." If so, why are the darkest and dirtiest places always those where drink shops are the most numerous? And why are the darkest and dirtiest brutal assaults, and the most terrible murders always mixed up with drinking?

THE FACT IS: Alcohol is a mocker—promising one thing and giving another, and whoever is deceived by it is not wise. (Submitted by and published at the request of the local WCTU).

Asks Release

Remand the City of Flint rode at harbor in Murmansk, Russia. The City of Flint was in the hands of a German prize crew of 17 and flying the Nazi flag, when it put in at Tromso, Norway, last Friday night.

It stopped there to land 28 British sailors it had rescued a week before from the Stonegate, a torpedoed British freighter.

Authorities at Tromso, who said the American crew was still aboard when the City of Flint left there Saturday evening, expressed belief the Americans would be sent home from Murmansk.

Meanwhile, maritime commission officials said that "several" American merchant ships now are being detained for search by the British.

"This has been going on ever since the start of the war and it is perfectly legal," a spokesman said.

Commission officials said unofficial reports indicated that two of the American vessels now being detained by the British are the Black Falcon and the Black Condor, operated by Black Diamond Lines.

The American government has not recognized the contraband lists of any of the nations now at war and has taken the position that American flag ships may carry anything except arms, ammunition and implements of war, forbidden by the present neutrality act.

British and German contraband lists are so extensive that they include almost anything which might help the other in war.

The City of Flint's capture first became known in the United States when the maritime commission announced last night the vessel had been taken by a German prize crew into Kola bay, Russia, where Murmansk is situated.

The City of Flint was carrying about 5,000 tons of general cargo, destined for Liverpool and Glasgow. It was assumed in Washington that the Germans regarded the cargo as contraband.

International law provides for examination and detention of a neutral ship believed to be carrying contraband. If 51 per cent or more of the City of Flint's cargo would be held by a German prize court to be contraband, the ship could be condemned and would become German property.

The fact that the City of Flint was taken to a neutral port rather than to Germany complicated the situation, in belief of legal experts. They said that only exceptional circumstances—bad weather, need of repairs or lack of supplies—warranted such action.

The neutral country ordinarily tells the prize crew to move the ship along after the repairs are made or supplies taken. Otherwise the vessel and her prize crew are interned, but the original crew must be released and permitted to return home.

surety companies for Massachusetts, asking $3,000,000 damages. He alleged his reputation had been injured and claimed he had been subjected to persecution.

Massachusetts' highest courts, ruling Davis, who came to Texas from the bay state, was a legal resident in the middle 1920's decided the financier owed income taxes for 1926 at which time he sold to the Magnolia Petroleum company for $12,000,000 an oil field he had discovered and developed. The field is located between Lockhart and Luling.

Since Davis owned insufficient property in the eastern state, the commonwealth filed suit in Texas, obtained a garnishment tying up his properties, and made bond with several surety companies for $1,500,000. The garnishment writ was issued against the United North and South development company of Luling, of which Davis is a stockholder.

Davis' attorneys then filed cross-action against the surety companies alleging the garnishment writ had been illegally issued, contending the oil men was being persecuted, and claiming his reputation had been damaged to the extent of $3,000,000.

German Attacks On Western Front Said Repulsed

PARIS, Oct. 24 (AP)—French military commentators reported today three German assaults on a German village held by French outposts in the Warndt forest had been repulsed.

Patrol attacks on the village, which was not identified, coincided with increasing German pressure on the French lines last night, they said.

It was emphasized that the action was localized, being one of a series of raids in which Nazi troops were aiming at recovery of the few remaining portions of German soil held by the French.

JURY DECIDES FOR EVICTION OF SONS FROM DAD'S FARM

FORT WORTH, Oct. 24 (AP)—A county court jury today returned a verdict against two of the three sons of T. W. Mumford, 82, in seeking to oust from the Mumford farm, but decided that the third son should remain on the farm, near here.

The verdict satisfied neither side in the controversy. The two sons ordered to leave the farm on which they were reared, probably will ask for a new trial.

The father, who wants to rid himself of all three of his sons, will ask the court to order the removal of the third son, for whom the jury returned a verdict of not guilty of forcible detainer.

The father is trying to evict the sons because they were "trying to run the place," and he is seeking the "peace and quiet," due an old man for the rest of his life, he said.

He already has harvested 22 bales off 32 acres and showed a heavy top crop just on the verge of opening. McKinney estimates that there are yet eight or 10 bales to be picked. The patch was planted April 19.

In addition, McKinney has 77 acres to maize which promises to return a ton to the acre. Off a patch of less than 20 acres he put 7,000 bundles, or approximately 105 tons of heiras in a trench silo and put another 5,000 bundles in shocks.

Politics

which has demanded all of Mr. Roosevelt's energies. It also has given impetus to a third term movement which already was becoming evident.

And, many say, it has increased the prospects for a democratic victory in 1940. Certainly, if polls are any indication, it has reversed the early summer trend away from the democrat.

The men with the best judgment say that if Mr. Roosevelt is nominated for a third term, Vice President Garner should be drafted also. They say that he gives a balanced view of the administration which should be retained.

A wide group of democrats through the middle west have a strong respect for his seasoned judgment.

Garner's personal desires would lead him back to Uvalde after his 34 years of service in Washington. But he is deeply patriotic and strongly partisan. These two emotions might dominate his personal desires.

Vandenberg has his followers in virtually every middle western state. This is true even of Ohio, which has two potential candidates of its own.

Dewey is silent about the vice presidency for obvious reasons. No candidate for a presidential nomination would care to compromise his chances of getting it by saying in advance that he would be willing to accept the second spot on the ticket.

But the republicans would have a chance to make a bid for the big electoral vote of New York by putting him on the ticket. Few presidents have ever been elected without that state's vote. And few men have turned down the vice presidential nomination.

SCOUT DRIVE GETS FAVORABLE RESPONSE

With reports available from only two teams of workers, there was no accurate check available on progress of the Boy Scout fund drive Tuesday.

However, the response to those who have reported was most favorable and Carl Strom, district finance chairman, and Jack Penrose, scout field executive, were cheered over the outlook.

They renewed their appeal to workers to finish their contacts before Thursday evening when a "victory dinner" will be held at the Set-utes.

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—Selected stocks enjoyed brief intermittent recovery rides in today's market, but frequently reverted to the crawling indifference that has characterized many recent sessions.

The list loafed until around midday when buyers stepped in and gave some of the aircraft, building materials, rubbers, steels and specialties a lift of fractions to 2 or more points.

The rally didn't last long for most issues. Prices hardened at the last, although minor losses were well distributed.

The turnover was around 1,100,000 shares.
