Rotary Hoe Cuts Cost Cotton Production

and hoeing ground speed of the tractor must be right and the hoe must be properly adjusted. A common mistake often made by the tractor operator is driving the tractor too slow. For best results, he says the tractor should be operated in third gear at speeds up to five or six miles per hour and even faster under favorable conditions and with an experienced operator.

As for the picker wheel adjustments, he says the wheels should be set so they will break the surface crust to a depth of one-half to three-fourths of an inch. This not only breaks up the surface crust but also tears up the soil so that seedling weeds and grass are exposed to the action of the sun and wind before they have a chance to come through the ground or before their root systems become established.

He reports that many farmers reduce the ground speed of the tractor because they are afraid of covering up the small cotton plants or damaging them as a result of the thoroughly torn up soil surface. Tests made by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the results of demonstrations conducted by farmers, he says, have proven that such damage will not occur if the rotary hoe is properly adjusted. The cotton seed was planted well below the regulated depth at which the picker wheels should be run and thus very little or no damage will occur.

Special Oils Latest Control

Cross-Cultivating or using a mechanical cotton chopper are two other mechanical practices which have been successfully used in some sections of the state for cutting the hoeing and chopping bill. About the latest thing for early grass and weed control in cotton is the use of special oils. These oils are more commonly known as post-emergence non-fertilized oil and dinitro. Elliott reports that research is continuing on this project but sufficient information is available to indicate that the use of post-emergence oil and pre-emergence dinitro sprays are practical weed and grass control measures in some sections of the state.

Elliott suggests that cotton producers contact the local county agent for the latest information on labor saving practices that may be used in producing cotton.

Cap And Gown Are Products Of Days Of Renaissance

Graduation time is the time of the traditional "cap and gown" and it is almost awe-inspiring to watch the procession of cap and gown-clad figures in a formal graduation ceremony.

The academic gowns now in use take their origin from the clerical robes of the ecclesiastics of the 13th and 14th centuries.

The cape, or long gown, was originally civilian dress. By the 16th century all capes worn were scarlet. The hood, too, originally had no scholastic significance but at later dates these hoods were variously lined in different fabrics and colors to denote the variety of academic ranks.

Academic dress in the universities abroad are much more elaborate and varied than in this country and have undergone little change since the 17th century.

Here in the United States, the academic cap and gown is uniform—with certain universities retaining an individual code for their hoods.

Three types of gowns and three types of hoods are provided for bachelors, masters and doctors, respectively. The square cap remains the same, except that the doctor's may have a gold tassel.

BACHELORS' GOWN: black worsted material, and distinguished by its pointed sleeves hanging to the knee.

'Baccalaureate' Really Means "Bachelor"

During this leap year period, the word "bachelor" takes on its own definition and interesting historical background.

In the days when knighthood was in flower, the word was used to designate those belonging to the lowest stages of knighthood. These were knights who could not afford to take the field under their own banner—or were too young to support the responsibilities and dignity of full knighthood.

In the academic field of that era and after, the term bachelor was applied to those who held the preliminary degree of a university, enabling them to proceed to that of master, or teacher.

In this sense the term "baccalaureus" or bachelor first appeared at the University of Paris in the 13th century, under the system of degrees set up by Pope Gregory.

MASTERS GOWN: black silk, closed sleeves with square ends, the arm coming through a slit.

DOCTORS' GOWN: silk—like judicial robes, the gown has full, round, open sleeves with velvet facing and three bands of velvet on each sleeve.

Hoods are lined with the school's colors, and trimmed with velvet in the color of the department of the learning in which the degree is obtained.

Colors of the more common departments of learning are as follows:

WHITE: arts and letters; SCARLET: divinity and theology; PURPLE: law; BLUE: philosophy; GREEN: medicine; LILAC: dentistry; PINK: music; GOLDEN YELLOW: science; and ORANGE: engineering.

Anyone lost a pink outing-covered quilt and pink sheet lately? Two such articles were left in Algie Groves' truck when he was distributing boy scouts to their various homes following Scout Camporee which was held April 25-26.

An appropriate note, calling attention to their "Between The Book Ends" theme for the year, was the song, "Reverie" (tune, Home On The Range) sung by El Progreso Study Club members and their guests at the closing luncheon last Thursday. Words to the song were:

- "O give me a book and a cool shady nook,
With a moment to quietly read,
As the story unfolds, no enchantment withholds
Relaxation and rest which I need.
- In summer or fall, in winter or spring
A book is a very good friend,
In night time or day, if I'm home or away
Pleasure given me, there is no end.

(Chorus)
Books—new ones and old
Which help to enlighten my way
With the ONE BOOK of old
Worth its weight in pure gold
To guide and inspire me each day.

The luncheon meeting was a very delightful affair with many interesting surprises. Mrs. Glenn Woodruff, the former Marian Wingerd of Brownfield, is contributing many talents to the club. As radio announcer, she presented a professional air as she extolled the virtues of the sponsors "who made this program possible" FUBBLE GUBBLE DOUBLE BUBBLE GUM—the gum that spits, FORD MOTOR CO., DETROIT.

MICHIGAN (if you aren't in Detroit, your local Ford dealer will be glad to take your money) CROWDER POWDER CROWDER CO. (it teaches you how to eat chowder louder) ... and TIDIE-DIDIES (they really are a chance).

Josephine (Mrs. John) Hamilton displayed originality in composing the words which she sang in a burlesque on music, and Lucy (Mrs. J. L.) Woodruff assisted her sister, Miss Amy Glenn in working out the song-descriptions of the charter members, which they set to the music of "Do You Remember".

Shedding their husbands' names, Mesdames Fred Simpson, Albert Daffern and D. E. Pitts, Sr., became again the Misses Mae, Dora and Ollie Ann Wason for their stage debut, and the Estes girls stopped the show with their special arrangement of "Shrimp Boats" ... Winifred and Viv (Mrs. Robert Darsey and Mrs. W. F. Jacobs) as city folks and Opal and Lucretia (Mrs. Bill Pipkin and Mrs. R. E. Campbell, Jr.) as big fat mammy and her man.

The decorating committee, Mrs. L. C. Harp, Mrs. Leonora Luckett and Mrs. A. C. Traweck Jr., did a beautiful job decorating, and Mrs. G. E. (Maggie) Hamilton made the cute little rotary fans for favors. We used to get similar ones out of crack-jacks; hadn't seen any like this in a long time. We were Maggie's guest at the luncheon, and appreciated the honor, no end.

Tilsons Attend Polo Tourney At Vernon

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Tilson and son, Warren, Sunday drove to Vernon, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. (Buster) Wharton, Jr., at their Zacaweista ranch on the Waggoner estate, to attend the seventh annual spring polo tournament, and evening barbecue.

Dr. Raworth Williams of Dallas, an uncle of Mr. Tilson, and his team were entered in the championship match against the Zacaweista team, which won the match in a close score of 6-5. Dr. Williams is said to be the only left-handed polo player in the United States.

Special guests of the Whartons were Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Patton of Fort Worth, who with Dr. Williams, were brought to the ranch in the Whartons' private plane. Mr. Patton, a son of Mrs. Bess Patton of Matador, is manager of the Cadillac automobile agency in Fort Worth.

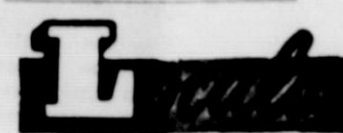

Warren Earl Tilson accompanied Dr. Williams to Dallas, and is his guest at the Dallas Athletic Club, this week.

Operators Attend Beauticians Clinic

Miss Annie Mae Jackson and Mrs. Ivy Cooper of the Modern Beauty Shop attended the fourth annual clinic of Unit 26, Texas Beauticians Association, staged at Hotel Lubbock during the week-end. Newest hair styles were demonstrated by Grace Doran of Los Angeles.

The recently popular poodle cut has been left behind, Miss Doran said in one of her lectures. "The current styles are short to semi-tailored, worn up or down and personalized."

Miss Doran, who returned recently from Honolulu, Hawaii, where she was guest artist for the Honolulu Hairdressers Association reports that the "shorty swirl" will be a popular summer style. A wave is started in the heavy side of the hair, continuing in a short swirl and ending in a fluff at the other side.

Mrs. Sally Jackson of Afton spent the week-end here with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Seliger.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spray and son, Joel Dean, made a business trip to Lubbock Tuesday.

Sheppard Air Force Base, Wick-

Groves of Matador, who return-

Groves drove down Friday and remained to accompany her husband home.

The survey was designed to bring reservists' records up-to-date, since many have not been contacted since demobilization
after the last war. Lt. C. F.
Vickers, director of the survey
team, emphasized that the interviews have no relation whatsoever with recall to active duty, but rather will achieve a basic aim of determining such pertinent facts as to the number of dependents claimed by each reservist, his correct address, current physical condition, occupation and correct Air Force clas-

Roaring Springs
Man Is McMurry
College Graduate

Claude Morrison, McMurry College, Abilene, senior from Roaring Springs was among the 27 graduates to receive degrees from McMurry on May 20. Morrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C.
King of Roaring Springs, received his B.S. degree with a major in biology. While a student, he was a member of the Press Club
and KIVA, men's social club.

Morrison was also photographer for the school paper, "The War Whoop", and received recognition for his work in a recent issue, in an article written by Wayne Daniel, as follows:
"Claude Morrison, school
photographer, sort of stays in the background most of the time. While his job is to make sure that other people get their picture in the paper, he seldom sees his there."
"Claude spends more time on picture-taking than the average student spends on his part-time job. And what thanks does he get? Very little, but there are plenty of complaints."
"Morrison says most of his trouble comes from people who expect him to come prepared to make a picture, make it in a couple of three seconds, and leave. "Good pictures," he declares, "take good planning."
"Maybe you'd like to know how I got into this mess?" he ventures. "Well, when I came to McMurry, there wasn't a n school photographer, and I had to talk 'em into the idea." The first problem was equipment.
What is now the darkroom was at that time being used as a biology storeroom. He started with a space no bigger than a fair-sized telephone booth, but he gradually moved the biology department out," he relates. The summer fund furnished the enlarger. Prof. Bynum donated a rotary dryer and Claude uses his own camera.

"He began by shooting pictures for the publicity office,
the Totem, the War Whoop, and for public relations brochures.
Then, before long, he was taking pictures for everything—band, speech, education... now

he's making movies, too."
"The athletic department purchased motion picture equipment, and Claude shot movies of all the football games this year.
They plan to do the same in years to come. This summer comes the climax of Claude's career as McMurry photographer, when the drama department's production of Euripides'
"Medea" will be filmed in sound and color.

"Being the man behind a movie camera has led to some of Claude's most hair-raising experiences. At the Mississippi
Southern football game last fall, for instance, he was obliged to climb a rickety old ladder to take pictures of the game—and hang there with nothing but
air. At the New Mexico A&M game, they had another nice,
high perch picked out for him,
but he refused. "I shot the pictures from the top of the grandstand like any sensible person."

"Claude is graduating this year, leaving to next year's photographer his innumerable trials and tribulations and his ability, if someone opens the darkroom door while he's developing pictures, to be very gentle when he says, "Get the heck outta here!"
Mrs. Morrison is the former Gladys Marie Springer of Matador. They have two children,
Mike and Ann.

MEN MAY WEAR OUT BUT GOOD NEWSPAPERS CONTINUE SERVICE

(Editor's Note: The following column was written specifically for the 50th anniversary issue of the Newton, Iowa Daily News which agreed it was too good to keep to itself and released it for general use.)

By HAL BOYLE
(Associated Press Columnist)

Fifty years is a long time in the life of a man.

In half a century a man can fall victim to fallen arches, dyspepsia, cynicism or delusions of grandeur. Over that period he begins to feel himself coming apart at the seams. So do many governments, because governments—like men—are susceptible to interior ailments.

But after 50 years a good newspaper is just beginning to hit its stride.

A newspaper, like the community it reflects is the sum of those who make it—and something more. It has a vitality of its own. There is no reason why good newspapers and good towns should fail to grow together endlessly, even though those who make them just grow old themselves and die.

The one thing a newspaper must have to endure is freedom. America has had a free press ever since its founding. That is the only reason why today it has the greatest press in the world.

It has been free for so long that most people in this country take their newspapers for granted. It would come as a dramatic shock to them if some day they awoke to find their newspaper could print only items that had been approved by a government censor.

Yet this is a daily fact to millions of people living in dictator-ridden countries. They are told exactly what the dictator wants them to know—and nothing more.

What is it like to live in such a country? It is always to live in doubt about what is happening. What really is going on, not only in your own country but in the rest of the world. Truth and propaganda become intertwined. Rumor and gossip ride the land. The final result is that no sensible man can afford to believe anything he reads or hears. All he can ultimately be sure of is how the dictator spells his name.

In such countries newspapers that try to remain free are ruthlessly suppressed. A bought partisan press then voices, parrot-fashion, any nonsense those in power decree it shall print. This daily barrage of misinformation may stir the older generation to rebellious disbelief, but it twists to its own sinister purpose younger minds growing up, minds that never had a chance to sift truth from falsity because they never were exposed to truth.

A free world press is the only real hope to world understanding; a bought press is the greatest barrier.

It is this liberty to tell the truth that makes American newspapersmen by and large, so fiercely proud of their craft. The mayor, the governor, or the President can't tell them: "You print this—you don't print that." They write the news as it happens.

Often the best reporters are those who refuse to go to the big cities. They would rather make their careers on newspapers in the community of their choice. One of the greatest, William Allen White, won world fame in Emporia, Kan. It proved a better springboard for him than New York, Washington, or Chicago did for scores of his contemporaries.

The size of a city has never been an index to the quality of its newspapers—or its newspapermen. Some of the best have always been located in small or medium-sized communities.

A man likes to feel that what he has invested his life in was worthwhile—and will go on. Although the average reporter doesn't spend much time talking about it, that is one of the privileges of newspaper work—it has continuity of life. You may wear out, but the newspaper will go on, serving its community.

PATTON SPRINGS HAS CLOSING EXERCISES FOR EIGHTH AND HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

With Commencement exercises held Friday, May 23, for High School graduates, Patton Springs school system brought to a close, its 1951-52 term.

Baccalaureate services for the class were held Sunday, May 18, and commencement exercises for the eighth grade, were held on Wednesday, the 21st.

Rev. Tommy Allen, pastor of First Baptist Church of Spur, delivered the Baccalaureate sermon. Processional and recessional was by the school band, and Invocation by School Supt. J. L. Huey. A corset duet was given by Mrs. Ralph Marshall and Geneva Gage, who played, "Lead On, O King Eternal". Other music on the program included hymns, "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us" and "Near to the Heart of God" by the choir; and a duet, "The Lord Is My Shepherd", by Mrs. Oscar Stokes and Mrs. Peyton Legg. Benediction was pronounced by B. D. Clifton.

Mr. Dan McRea, superintendent of schools at Paint Creek, and a former superintendent of the Patton Springs schools, delivered the principal address in commencement exercises. Two other former school superintendents were on the stage, being Messrs Peyton Legg and M. L. Kelly, both of Afton, as well as the present superintendent, J. L. Huey.

The school band played the processional and recessional. The program was as follows: Invocation, Peyton Legg; Salutatory, Sylvia Hinson Rogers, (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vurl Hinson); "Graduation Day", Sylvia Hinson Rogers, Rita Waller and Nelda Partridge; Presentation of Senior Scepter, Tommy Hicks, class president; Introduction of Speaker, Supt. Huey; Address, Mr. Dan McRea; Presentation of graduates, Ralph Marshall, Principal, Awarding of diplomas and scholarships.

All surveys today show that American newspapers are of higher quality, are read more widely, than ever before. They probably will continue to be, so long as they remain free to be the voice of the people.

Modern Medicine Is Extending Span Of Life For Millions

In the past, medicine and public health have concerned themselves largely with the health and disease problems of youth and middle age said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. We have neglected our aged population and have waited upon the devastations of time before extending aid to the old.

Our population each year includes an increasing number and percentage of older people.

In 1950 in the United States, it is estimated that there were 11,000,000 persons over sixty-five years of age, as compared to 3,000,000 in 1900. In absolute numbers, aged persons among us have almost quadrupled in the last fifty years, whereas the proportion of elderly persons to the remainder of the population has merely doubled.

Dr. Cox stated that preventive medicine, private medical care, and social service have assisted in extending the life span. As encouraging as this fact may be, there is an accompanying tribulation: the aged are subject to the chronic diseases which, because of destroyed tissue structure, are especially weakened. Heart disease, cancer, diabetes, and other long-term illnesses require the physician's most skillful attack and are notably fatal.

To insure health and peace of mind to our old people, preventive and curative medicine and social service can contribute. These techniques should include the early diagnosis through periodic examination that begin in early life and continue for one's remaining years. By such means many chronic diseases, with all their agony and sure fatality, can either be prevented or the substitution of different living regimens, be rendered possible.
