TWO DRIVERS DRAW FINES IN 3-CAR HIGHWAY CRASH

A "California-type" highway accident about one-half mile east of Matador Tuesday resulted in three cars (all going the same direction) being damaged and two drivers being assessed fines for traffic violation.

The "chain-reaction" crash resulted as follows, according to Sheriff John Stotts: T. E. Lennon of Dodson, Texas, driving a '47 Kaiser, was following a slow moving vehicle and was unable to pass because of heavy traffic in the opposite lane. Jack Joy Bond of Goodlett, Texas, driving a 1948 Buick, crashed into the rear-end of Lennon's car. Within a few seconds Servilla Julius Henderson of Quanah, driving a 1949 Ford, crashed into the rear of Bond's car, after skidding his wheels approximately 200 feet in an effort to stop.

All three cars were going east on U. S. Highway 70. No one was injured. However, damage was estimated at $200 to the Ford, $300 to the Buick and about $50 to the Kaiser.

Two of the drivers, Bond and Henderson paid minimum fines for failing to pass to the left.

Non-Dimmer Fined
A Lubbock driver was fined here over the weekend for failing to dim his headlights. Sheriff Stotts met the driver and dimmed his own lights as signal for the approaching car. The lights did not dim. Sheriff Stotts tried again, and again the approaching car failed to dim. After the third try Sheriff Stotts arrested the driver who said "he must have been asleep." It is now a violation of Texas driving laws not to dim headlights upon approaching another car.

Tribute To Heroes Offered By General

General Helps In Tire Change Job; Likes Steaks Here

General Hugh Hoffman's big army plane landed on Hale county airport 10 minutes ahead of schedule Sunday afternoon, but Plainview had an honor color guard awaiting him, although some of the men were forced to hurry into position before the General Hoffman inspected the guard and complimented the officers before meeting the Matador escort.

He was met by Fleming Post Legion Commander Albert Rattan, Marvin Patton and Mayor Douglas Meador. The general was accompanied by his aid, Colonel John Day, who also spent a number of years in the Pacific with General Douglas McArthur. Colonel Day was no stranger to the plains country having spent much of his life near Roswell, New Mexico. Driving out of Plainview, Commander Rattan's car bringing the group to Matador, was escorted to the city limits by a Plainview police car.

Between Plainview and Lockney Rattan's car developed a sudden flat tire. The general was one of the first to help change the tire.

Upon arrival in Matador General Hoffman's first request was to visit Stanley Clinic to see Commander Albert Rattan served as master of ceremonies. Benediction was by Rev. Marvin Brotherton.

Following is complete text of General Hoffman's address as delivered in the First Baptist church of Matador, Sunday evening, May 29:

"Behold a humble man. My comrade in battle has introduced me in a manner far beyond my merit. I came here because he was my comrade. We saw much together. We went through thick and thin together. Thick jungles, thin soup.

"In time of war, the United States of America always has been and always will be defended by the American people; and that has been especially true in the past war. Scarcely a home in this nation, but what was touched by the shadow of this past war. Your imagination does not have to extend very far to realize that few, if any, homes will remain untouched by war if there is another war.

"Today you good people attend here to honor those men and women who gave their lives in past wars, hoping that there would be no other war, and until the enlightenment of the world in a sense of charity, dignity and brotherhood permeates the dark minds of some men, we can not hope to walk in security that there will not be another war.

"We say that those men and women gave their lives for their country. That is true. Sometimes I think of the fine men that I knew, and I can't help but think that there is another aspect that we give their lives for our country. We are the fortunate survivors. They and their families endured the sacrifice. Most of our World War 2 dead, I am happy to tell you, now rest in American soil. Over 90% I do not think it will be much longer—probably before the close of the year—that we will have them all home again.

"I believe today it is fitting to think of that oft-repeated phrase 'May they not have died in vain'.

"There is a great deal more to preventing war than in building an immense military establishment. Good citizenship will prevent war; wisdom; a realistic way of looking at the world today in the light of conditions that we know to exist.

"I am sure that you good people will look to me to say something on this occasion, with reference to our national defense in the darkness of the world today. I would not like to dwell on it long, but I would like to give you a thought: Unless we are so strong that our apparent weakness will not tempt an aggressor to strike at us—to seize our enviable wealth and bountiful life (See TRIBUTE TO back page).

Gold Star Mothers Receive Corsages From Gen. Hoffman

"War is a hideous, bitter, vile thing", Brig. General Hugh Hoffman told a capacity crowd at the First Baptist church Sunday evening, gathered to pay Memorial Day tribute to the county's war-dead.

The battle-front general who returned to Ft. Sam Houston in February from six years in the Pacific, made a classic address. There was emotion in his voice as he looked into the faces of Gold Star Mothers and spoke his superbly-worded epigrams.

General Hoffman, who made the special trip to Matador for the Memorial services, was introduced by American Legion Commander Albert Rattan. Commander Rattan was commissioned on the battlefield by General Hoffman during the war.

Following the address, corsages were pinned on ten Gold Star Mothers after each had received a special recognition from the distinguished general. Mrs. J. M. Jackson, a Gold Star Mother from both World Wars, had previously met the general when he was a special escort to a group of Gold Star mothers visiting European battlefields following World War I.

Invocation was by Rev. Clifford Potts. Scripture reading was by Rev. John Jameson. Commander Albert Rattan served as master of ceremonies. Benediction was by Rev. Marvin Brotherton.

He was met by Fleming Post Legion Commander Albert Rattan, Marvin Patton and Mayor Douglas Meador. The general was accompanied by his aid, Colonel John Day, who also spent a number of years in the Pacific with General Douglas McArthur. Colonel Day was no stranger to the plains country having spent much of his life near Roswell, New Mexico. Driving out of Plainview, Commander Rattan's car bringing the group to Matador, was escorted to the city limits by a Plainview police car.

Between Plainview and Lockney Rattan's car developed a sudden flat tire. The general was one of the first to help change the tire.

Upon arrival in Matador General Hoffman's first request was to visit Stanley Clinic to see Commander Albert Rattan served as master of ceremonies. Benediction was by Rev. Marvin Brotherton.

Following is complete text of General Hoffman's address as delivered in the First Baptist church of Matador, Sunday evening, May 29:

"Behold a humble man. My comrade in battle has introduced me in a manner far beyond my merit. I came here because he was my comrade. We saw much together. We went through thick and thin together. Thick jungles, thin soup.

"In time of war, the United States of America always has been and always will be defended by the American people; and that has been especially true in the past war. Scarcely a home in this nation, but what was touched by the shadow of this past war. Your imagination does not have to extend very far to realize that few, if any, homes will remain untouched by war if there is another war.

"Today you good people attend here to honor those men and women who gave their lives in past wars, hoping that there would be no other war, and until the enlightenment of the world in a sense of charity, dignity and brotherhood permeates the dark minds of some men, we can not hope to walk in security that there will not be another war.

"We say that those men and women gave their lives for their country. That is true. Sometimes I think of the fine men that I knew, and I can't help but think that there is another aspect that we give their lives for our country. We are the fortunate survivors. They and their families endured the sacrifice. Most of our World War 2 dead, I am happy to tell you, now rest in American soil. Over 90% I do not think it will be much longer—probably before the close of the year—that we will have them all home again.

"I believe today it is fitting to think of that oft-repeated phrase 'May they not have died in vain'.

"There is a great deal more to preventing war than in building an immense military establishment. Good citizenship will prevent war; wisdom; a realistic way of looking at the world today in the light of conditions that we know to exist.

"I am sure that you good people will look to me to say something on this occasion, with reference to our national defense in the darkness of the world today. I would not like to dwell on it long, but I would like to give you a thought: Unless we are so strong that our apparent weakness will not tempt an aggressor to strike at us—to seize our enviable wealth and bountiful life (See TRIBUTE TO back page).

Gold Star Mothers Receive Corsages From Gen. Hoffman

"War is a hideous, bitter, vile thing", Brig. General Hugh Hoffman told a capacity crowd at the First Baptist church Sunday evening, gathered to pay Memorial Day tribute to the county's war-dead.

The battle-front general who returned to Ft. Sam Houston in February from six years in the Pacific, made a classic address. There was emotion in his voice as he looked into the faces of Gold Star Mothers and spoke his superbly-worded epigrams.

General Hoffman, who made the special trip to Matador for the Memorial services, was introduced by American Legion Commander Albert Rattan. Commander Rattan was commissioned on the battlefield by General Hoffman during the war.

Following the address, corsages were pinned on ten Gold Star Mothers after each had received a special recognition from the distinguished general. Mrs. J. M. Jackson, a Gold Star Mother from both World Wars, had previously met the general when he was a special escort to a group of Gold Star mothers visiting European battlefields following World War I.

Invocation was by Rev. Clifford Potts. Scripture reading was by Rev. John Jameson. Commander Albert Rattan served as master of ceremonies. Benediction was by Rev. Marvin Brotherton.

General Helps In Tire Change Job; Likes Steaks Here

General Hugh Hoffman's big army plane landed on Hale county airport 10 minutes ahead of schedule Sunday afternoon, but Plainview had an honor color guard awaiting him, although some of the men were forced to hurry into position before the General Hoffman inspected the guard and complimented the officers before meeting the Matador escort.

He was met by Fleming Post Legion Commander Albert Rattan, Marvin Patton and Mayor Douglas Meador. The general was accompanied by his aid, Colonel John Day, who also spent a number of years in the Pacific with General Douglas McArthur. The Wind Bloweth Where It Listeth HUMANS MIGHTY HELPLESS WHEN ELEMENTS TAKE OVER, TWO FORT WORTH WOMEN LEARN ON TRIP HERE

FLOYDADA, May 26—Mrs. Edna Coverdale Hart and Mrs. Ebel Weathers of Fort Worth can testify that a tornado will scare you enough that you realize just how helpless a human being can be when the elements take charge.

The Fort Worth women were on the highway enroute from Matador to Floydada Tuesday afternoon, May 17, of last week when the tornado hit east Floyd county and whipped on out across to the northeast, miraculously with no fatalities.

Reared in Coffeyville, Kansas, Mrs. Hart recognized the angry clouds in the west as having potential danger. After turning back once, however, the two women travelers decided to head on into Floydada for the night.

It was on the backbone of terrain climbing toward the caprock on Highway 70 that they realized what they had driven into. "We talked earnestly to ourselves and the Lord," said Mrs. Hart, and Mrs. Weathers agreed that it looked like "that was it". She reminded herself she recalls how she had always dreaded the thought of dying away from home. It was only for a few minutes they fought the storm that picked their car almost or quite off the ground at times, and at other times seemed to crush it toward the earth or whip it to one side or the other of the road.

Mrs. Hart is a daughter of the late George A. Coverdale, who at one time operated in the cattle business on a large scale here with N. A. Armstrong as a partner. Three farms which Mr. Coverdale left at the time of his demise are still the property of four surviving children. The farms are managed by R. A. Coverdale, who lives in California.

Mrs. Hart was out on a seeing trip. Both she and Mrs. Weathers are "oil men" and thought incidentally they would see about the possibility of blocking some lease land in the territory. But principally it was to see the farms here they came.

The four of us children still own the farms together. Reuben attends to them. Children are supposed to quarrel over an estate but we haven't yet", said Mrs. Hart.

When the couple were safely in Floydada, after the peril had passed, and they checked in at the hotel it was such a relief to pent-up nerves—they had a good cry. "Just like a woman," said the vivacious Mrs. Hart—Floyd County Hesperian. Note: Two ladies in above article enroute to Floydada, visited Matador briefly, May 17. They declared they had passed through here many times and had always been impressed with Matador. They expressed interest in the Matador ranch and said Matador appealed to them as a modern, clean, and interesting little town. Visiting the Tribune office for a few minutes the two ladies also said they would like to become acquainted with people here. They paid high tribute to Waybourn's cafe as modern and convenient for travelers.

Mr. and Mrs. Damon Thomas and son, Damon Ray of Lubbock spent the weekend here visiting with his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Howe Hines.

Mrs. James Folmar and daughter, Sally, returned to their home in Houston Tuesday night after visiting here for the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Seigler.

Mrs. Jay Browning and family Bobby Jay, Royella, Larry, Mac and Beth, returned to their home Wednesday in Lovington, N. M., after visiting for several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McWilliams and other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Witt Springer of Amarillo attended graduation exercises here Friday evening for their niece, Miss Sarah Springer, returning home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vaughn and sons, Larry and Gregory of Lubbock attended graduation exercises here Friday evening for their niece, Miss Marcia Gilbert and visited over the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Meek of Amarillo visited here Thursday and Friday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Rattan.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. McLarty of Seymour visited here Thursday with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Rushing.

School Lunchroom Shows Profit With U.S.D.A. Donation

After serving a total of 32,027 meals at a total cost of $8945.26, with an additional 1120 free meals to children unable to pay for their lunches, the Matador school lunchroom cleared $91.26 for the 1948-49 school year, according to figures compiled by Superintendent Bert Ezzell.

Commodities donated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture through the State Department of Education, were largely responsible for the profits shown, Mr. Ezzell said.

An average of 188 meals per day were served to school children at an average cost of 28 cents per meal to the school. The meals cost the children only 30 cents per meal. The remaining eight cents per meal was paid by the U. S. D. A. Commodities donated by the department, and on which the lunchroom paid only the freight, included potatoes, honey, peanut butter, orange juice, cheese, prunes, raisins, tomatoes and tomato paste.

Those connected with the lunchroom program feel that it is one of the most valuable projects conducted by the public schools today, and that feeding the children a hot balanced lunch at the mid-day meal is an essential factor in the present day educational system.

Wheat Price Drops as Harvest Booms

ATLANTA, May 29—Some farmers refused to sell wheat yesterday as 1949 harvest activity increased and the market price dropped over the nation.

Some farmers wouldn't sell wheat today as low as $1.58 a bushel.

The market opened here today at $1.63 a bushel and closed at $1.58.

The K & K Company said it didn't have the space to receive all offerings. It said it would prorate its storage space to only 10 per cent of the grain offered by any farmer. That is the least on which a government loan can be made. The rest of the offerings the farmer must sell in the market or store as best he can—maybe in the open.

At nearby Wichita Falls, where the cash price today also was $1.58, the Wichita Daily Times reported selling at a near standstill.

There was still some storage space available but it was being doled out to regular elevator customers.

Wichita County Agent Mack Carpenter said the serious storage situation would force a lot of farmers to sell.

The Times said that because of muddy fields most combines made a couple of sweeps and stopped work.

A large number operated in the Electra area today and by Tuesday the harvest is expected to be in full swing. The Wilson Grain Co., expected to move out three carloads tonight for the Fort Worth terminal market.

Two carloads of new crop wheat arrived at Fort Worth today to be marketed for $2 a bushel.

A rail embargo is effective June 1 in the winter wheat belt on grain consigned for storage. Grain destined for market sale will not be affected.

H. E. Wilson said most farmers he dealt with today took what his company could offer rather than risk trying to get storage.

The market opened here today at $1.63 a bushel and closed at $1.58.

Fire, Wind, Storm Scare Plague Canadian Firemen

CANADIAN, May 29 (Special)—Three fire alarms, a violent windstorm, and a near riot combined forces in Canadian Thursday night to keep life from becoming too dull.

The three alarms, which came in rapid succession, kept members of the Canadian Volunteer Fire Department on the jump as a gusty wind tore into trash fires that had been carelessly left smoldering.

The alarms came so close together that firemen went from one fire to the next without returning to the station house.

The first fire alarm was indirectly responsible for the panic and near-riot, which swept through the crowd at the Palace Theatre, emptying the building in record time. The alarm sounded a few seconds after the first heavy blasts of wind had struck the town.

Mistaking the fire alarm for a tornado warning, an excited (and unidentified) woman rushed into the theatre, calling loudly for her daughter and screaming that the sirens were going and a tornado was on the way. No one was injured in the ensuing panic.

The first fire was at the Stuckey Construction Co. headquarters, where workmen had been burning empty paper cement bags and had left a pile of them smoldering. The burning paper was blown directly toward the Fraser Grain elevators on an adjoining lot.

Before this fire was under control, the alarm sounded again and firemen dashed to the residence of Mrs. W. D. Fisher, where a trash fire on an adjoining vacant lot was endangering the Fisher house.

The third alarm, close on the heels of the second, sent firemen scurrying to the new Hemphill County Memorial Hospital, now under construction, where a pile of construction rubble had been left burning.

A heavy shower began falling about the time firemen had this one under control, and, according to Fire Chief Carl Zybach, "was quite welcome, as it probably took care of other trash fires left smoldering after a calm day and an approaching clean-up campaign had lulled people into a false sense of security."

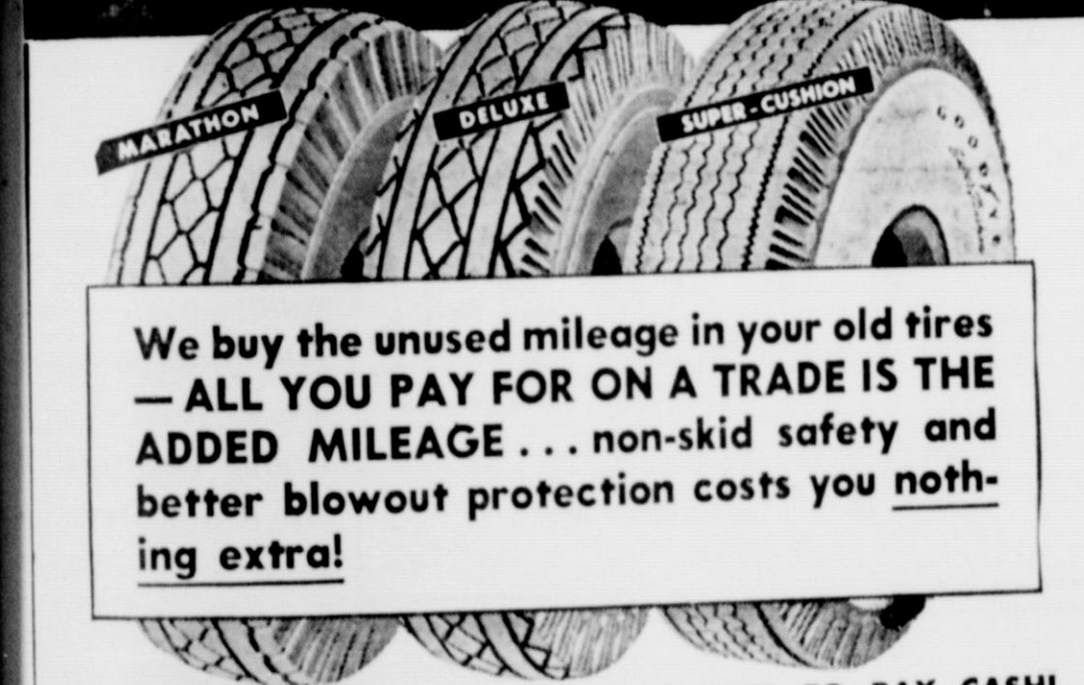

Ironically, Chief Zybach was making a talk before the Presbyterian Men's Club when the first alarm sounded. Title of Chief Zybach's talk was "Cooperating with your fire department and your trash collection man."—Amarillo News.

Miss Velda Mae Rattan Becomes Bride Of Kenneth Meek In Church Ceremony

In an informal wedding Sunday afternoon, May 22, at the Line Avenue Baptist church in Amarillo, Miss Velda Mae Rattan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Rattan of Matador, became the bride of Floy Kenneth Meek son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Meek of Jacksboro.

Rev. J. W. Sisemore, pastor, read the double ring ceremony beneath an arch flanked with white gladioli, palms and candelabra.

Proceeding the ceremony, Mrs. Buster Posey played "Always" by Berlin and accompanied Miss Dorothy Rattan, sister of the bride, who sang "Because" by D'Hardelot and "I Love You Truly" by Bond. "Claire de Lune" by Debussy formed the musical background as vows were exchanged, and the traditional wedding marches were used.

Mrs. J. C. Collier attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a gray tailored suit with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Kenneth Swayze was best man. Raymond Rattan and Julian Swayze were ushers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a powder blue suit with white accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with a corsage of white gardenias and pink rosebuds with white satin streamers. For something old, she carried a white imported lace handkerchief, belonging to Mrs. Truett Rattan.

Mrs. Rattan, mother of the bride, wore aqua blue printed silk with white accessories. Mrs. Meek, mother of the bridegroom, wore navy blue with white accessories. Both had corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception honoring the bridal party was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rattan, 814 Prospect, aunt and uncle of the bride. The serving table was laid with an Irish linen cloth and centered with the wedding cake. Mrs. Iam Hanes and Mrs. Truett Whitehead served and Miss Hazel Swayze presided at the guest register. Mrs. Buster Posey played the musical background.

After a wedding trip to Carlsbad, New Mexico, the couple will be at home at 604 Prospect.

Mrs. Meek was graduated from Matador High school in 1945. Since that time she has been employed by Willis Cleaners in Amarillo. Mr. Meek was graduated from Amarillo High school and attended Amarillo College. He is employed by Joe McClenny, building contractor.

Mrs. Raymond Rattan registered the guests at the wedding. The bride's book was a gift from the bride's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rattan.

Attend Wedding
Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Rattan and daughter, Miss Dorothy Rattan, was accompanied by Amarillo to attend the wedding by their son and brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Truett Rattan and daughter, Kateva of Levelland.

MRS. MEEK IS COMPLIMENTED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. Kenneth Meek of Amarillo, former Velda Mae Rattan, was complimented Friday afternoon between 3 and 6 o'clock with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. F. B. Henderson. Assisting with hostess duties were Mesdames R. E. Campbell Sr., Elbert Reeves and W. W. Carpenter.

Mrs. Henderson greeted the guests and Miss Dorothy Rattan, sister of the bride, registered the guests in the white bride's book.

The living room was decorated with a bouquet of red, poppies on the mantel and a large bouquet of red and pink roses in white vases on either end of the divan.

Dainty cookies and punch, served from a crystal punch bowl, by Mrs. Reeves and Mrs. Carpenter from the refreshment table, laid with a hand crocheted lace cloth. An arrangement of white and pink carnations and larkspur served as the centerpiece for the refreshment table.

Approximately 40 guests registered during the afternoon with many gifts being sent by friends unable to attend.

MOVED TO PLAINVIEW
Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Gaines and son, Stanley, left Thursday for Plainview to make their future home, where he will be engaged in farming. Mr. Gaines has just recently been discharged from the Army.

WHEN A KITCHEN IS PRACTICAL and PRETTY

... OF COURSE—IT'S Electric!

There was a time when you had to choose between a pretty kitchen and a practical one, but not nowadays. An All-Electric Kitchen is both practical and pretty. It is practical because you base your plans on an Electric Range, Electric Refrigerator, Electric Dishwasher, and plenty of electric outlets for the convenient use of electric mixers, waffle irons, toasters and many, many other electrical appliances. Around these appliances you build "Electric Time-Saving Centers." This equipment does so much of your work for you automatically that you'll have more time for leisure. And it's pretty, because there's practically no limit to what you can do decoration-wise with an All-Electric Kitchen. If you plan to build or remodel, our Home Service Department will be glad to help with your kitchen plans. When a kitchen is both practical and pretty...

OF COURSE—IT'S Electric!

A MODERN KITCHEN INCLUDES

Refrigeration Center, built around your electric refrigerator which provides ample food storage and large freezing capacity. Adjacent work surfaces provide space for food preparation.

Dishwashing Center, featuring electric sink with automatic dishwasher and garbage disposal unit. The Electric Dishwasher handles not only dishes and silver, but pots and pans as well—washes them shining clean, and dries them without wiping.

Cooking Center, with electric range as central unit. The Electric Range provides safety, better wash—due to controlled heat—coolness, easier cleaning, durable, reliable simplicity, and beauty plus economy of operation.

ADEQUATE WIRING: This simply means: 1. Large enough electric wires. 2. Enough circuits. 3. Plenty of outlets and switches.

"We Have It, Will Get It or It Is Not Made"

TRIBUTE TO . . .

 we have in this country, we will have to be strong, obviously, to make any other nation think twice before striking us.
 "In order that we may have a prosperous, dignified, comfortable life in our homes, in our country; in order that individual enterprise may receive its just reward, our country cannot support a national defense force capable at any time of conquering the force of any other nation. It would be a burden that would not be tolerable by the free American people. So in brief, we have a national defense plan, and a wise one, which encompasses every family in the country. We have a very small nucleus of professional military men—soldiers, airmen, sailors—that at no time during peace has reached anything like the proportions to which we have had to expand in time of war. We must have a trained nucleus in order to accommodate the immense expansion that you saw take place in the early 1940's. We have a National Guard that is developed and supervised by the state. We have the reserve which is a part-time training group, which is capable in officers especially, of expanding to the immense wartime strength that we had in the recent war, of 10 to 11 million men and women. That would not cost as much as keeping 10 million people in uniform day in and day out, year in and year out, so as to be able to defend ourselves, but if we can in the organization and training, support and sustaining of this system, demonstrate that we are capable of confronting any foe who commits acts of aggression against us, we have that assurance. We have had that before; we are striving to keep it maintained now. So of course that would reach as it did in the last war which we have won but the fruits of which I fear we have not yet realized; it will reach every home.

 "War is not an attractive interlude in any man's or any woman's life. War is a hideous, bitter, vile thing which leaves its scars on the souls of men who endure it. Sometimes those who are lost in war may be more fortunate than some who survive it. I am thinking now of our Veteran's hospitals. Men who paid a price there is only a scant margin from death.
 "We as Americans enjoy privileges that are probably unrivaled any place else in the world. We inherited those privileges because those who have gone before us established, built and expanded and perfected the democracy in which we live. We do not have to build it. It is built; it is ours. It is given to us by those who have gone before, but we do have to sustain it—to defend it under arms is but one aspect of that obligation of citizenship. There are many obligations of citizenship besides that and I believe that those are universally discharged we may have that sense of security which nearly all of our countrymen desire so sincerely now and which we have discovered can not be purchased by Uncle Sam's check book; you can not write a check for it. We have found that out. It cost Americans to sustain American democracy. The privileges of being an American aren't earned by you or me solely by the distinguished achievement of being born American. We receive those privileges as a gift. If we are to remain solvent in our ledger of citizenship, we will carry and strive to discharge those obligations the rest of our lives whatever they may be. Our democracy is like a great forest. The great forests of America which have dwindled and been depleted by inroads of great timber industries. We cannot take from the forest without replanting; we cannot take our privileges of citizenship without replanting in our own citizenship, our attitude, our conscience, our beliefs, even our efforts and labor and even our lives.

 "Some people have given their life for their country. There is an American tradition of long standing, that a man owes his life to his country to keep it for his country for his family and his neighbors and for his children. We prize freedom as an American tradition more than life. Those who gave their life, gave their life not only because they prized freedom but because all Americans prize freedom more than life. If freedom is more precious than life, can profit, comfort convenience, luxury be more precious than freedom? That I think, is the obligation of citizenship and it is a thought to bear in our hearts as we think of the ones whom we honor today.

Truman Groves and Bobby York left Sunday to spend the summer at Sunray, Texas, where they will be employed.
