Big Spring

By Curtis K. Bishop

Somewhere in the west, nestled in the city of Big Spring, midway on the slope of the western mountains a lonely sentinel outlined against the sky, a silent watchman guarding the fairest spot in Christendom.

Sentinel, the Indians made their home, but the relentless march of civilization shoved them over the desert. By the flowing waters of Big Spring, where buffalo grass grew, his cattle fattened, settled the western pioneer. The twentieth century found him, too, disappearing over the Western horizon, and in his place appearing the stolid citizen of today.

Big Spring can indeed be termed the land where all dreams come true. Here is where the Broadway of America meets the Glacier to Gulf motoway. Here, tourists pause to investigate our possibilities and wonder at our progress.

Big Spring is in the center of the largest oil field in the world, and though she has drunk deep of its benefits, she has yet to sip of its evils.

Big Spring is the ideal farming land of the world. The sloping wheat fields of the northwest, the maize farms of the west, here combine with the level acres of the South's cotton plantations. For every drop of rain that patters on our western soil, a sigh or a laugh of exultation can be heard on Wall Street. The magnets of London and Liverpool each day lean with interest the reports from our west.

ANOTHER FARM RELIEF IDEA

It may surprise some "city folks" to hear that many who go into the country for a day's outing don't mind if they help themselves to some of the produce of the farmer's field while the farmer isn't looking.

But it is true, and farmers everywhere within easy automobile distance of big cities would like to get hold of the plunderers.

The County Farm Bureau Federation of Suffolk County, New York is going after the city dweller who steals from the farmer's fields an opportunity to explain the social theory under which he conducts his pillage. The Federation is spreading a net for such marauders and they will receive swift, sure justice if caught at their depredations. The example of Suffolk County might well be followed by other counties.

Suppose a farmer should drive into New York City or Chicago and grab from the shop counters such articles as won fancy. What chance would he have against "city law." There is a law that holds good in the country, too, and the organized farm bodies ought to see that it is enforced. A fund for capture and prosecution would have beneficial results.

"TOO THICK TO SEE A JOKE"

The average man takes pride in being rated as an intelligent fellow, but if this intelligence is challenged, some trouble is likely to follow. The greatest insult to him who follows the funny papers as a daily study, is to charge him with being too dense to get the kick in a joke. This is unforgivable barbarism which leads to fight. But charge the same bunch of conceit with being too heavy to understand the psychology of self-behavior and he takes it as a compliment. He will admit that to work the brain seriously would crack his conscience.

This same self-rated good fellow would work for a week to find a laugh or do a crossword puzzle, but he would not look twice to find a job. Wit with humor is the spice of life; however, it becomes the sole food to a soul-less man, the windy glutton becomes a nuisance to himself and to others; all of which leads to the type of empty acrobats in words, too common in our day.

We have need for a system of mental hygiene quite as much as that of physical hygiene. Indeed to men in jail it is the most important duty of each day to each individual. It must be self-taught with persistent healthful practice in the generation of useful ideas. In this the comedy that lends to the recreation of a spirit giving laugh, is the pepper of mental food, but only a fool seeks the long drawn grin that lines the face with the imprint of brainstorms.

Before the fruits of life can be picked, there must be the glory of the blossoms; before the blossoms there must be a healthy vigorous plant; before the plant there must be a fertilized healthy seed. Before the seed is planted, there must be a desire to reproduce a useful unit of life. Before the desire there must be an understanding that leads to a desire. Before understanding there must be a system of observations with reasonable deductions. Before observations there must be a perception of what constitutes useful observations and study. This is mental hygiene—it is the master key of success.—The New Era.

THE SENSITIVE SHUDDER

The St. Louis Star, a newspaper which delights in its reputation as a line-hewer of elan and aplomb, directs this polished bit of sarcasm at the Republican effort to "keep the Nation out of the clutches of Tammany."

"As part of the movement to reform the city and State of New York and keep the Nation out of the clutches of Tammany, it is pleasant to note that Illinois Republicans, at an organization meeting at Carbondale Monday, raised their voices in the grand chorus. Among those present at this meeting was L. L. Emmerson, candidate for Governor, member of Len Small's administration, and distributor of the Lowden fund in 1920. Doubtless the one or two others on the Republican state ticket, now under indictment, or acquitted along with Small in that famous trial, were there, too, although their names were not mentioned in the dispatches. All of these pious souls have discovered that Tammany is trying as never before to get control of the Nation, and they are shuddering over it. Big Bill Thompson, if he had not been elsewhere recuperating from the shock of the court decision holding himself and his gang indebted to the City of Chicago for upwards of $2,000,000 of misapplied public funds, would have expressed the thought in the same way. Len Small, scratching for something like a million that he was found to owe the State, could not have shown more horror over the Tammany threat, himself. Illinois Republican bosses fearful for the Government if Al Smith gets in? Just wait till McCrary and Jackson of Indiana perform their shudder."—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Some of the business people are now complaining that we are getting too many firms in our city. That's always the case when a city starts to grow—but usually the law of supply and demand will handle this over supply of business houses.

We have at last discovered the reason why the saturation point in the manufacture of automobiles will never be reached in America. The American motor bug just naturally wear 'em out or wreck them faster than they can be constructed.

A bunch of citizens "kicked in" and secured a bonus to land the Crawford Hotel for Big Spring another bunch did this over again to insure the erection of a six-story office building. Why can't some of the other folks join in and put over the airport proposition?

INADEQUACY OF HIGHWAYS

Paralysis of motor traffic in many sections of the United States within the next few years unless the Nation's highway construction is revised and accelerated is a menace seen by highway and traffic authorities.

Surveys undertaken over large areas by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads and by private organizations indicate clearly that within the next half dozen years hundreds of millions of dollars must be added annually to the $1,000,000,000 a year now being spent on highway construction and maintenance.

It is not that the country is not building roads rapidly enough, but that the roads being built are not wide enough to meet expected future needs, and, in some instances, even present needs.

Of the 145,000 miles of roadway in the United States, 63,618 miles are paved with concrete, brick, macadam, asphalt or some other hard surface, but of this paved mileage the major portion, is already outgrown by traffic. Where there is need for an 18-foot road there exists but a 14-foot highway, and where traffic conditions demand a roadway wide enough for four streams of traffic there is room for only two or three.

America's "good roads" program is relatively young; so young, in fact, that up to this time the public cry has been for mileage and more mileage, without a thought for durability or width. The fact that the public is now awakening to the inadequate width of the average improved highway is evidence that the first craving for mileage is well on the way toward safety.

There remains some areas where mileage must remain a big factor for some years. Texas is one of these areas. Here we are but well started toward the goal of hard-surfaced highway systems, penetrating every portion of the State, and connecting every important point. But, along with this "first stage," Texas is also developing a demand for wider and more durable highways.

The day when the public accepted road construction which was obsolete or worn out before the bonds which paid for it were retired is past. The wise community now builds for the future.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

GERMANS BOOSTING HOOVER

The Progressive Magazine, published in Chicago in the interest of the German people—the Kaiser idolizing type—is now carrying on a propaganda campaign to cause the German vote to swing to Hoover. After a conference with Hoover the president and editor of this magazine come out strong for Lord Hoover.

George W. Augerstein, president of the magazine is honest to say the least. He says "Governor Smith's wetness has never impressed us seriously. Governor Smith is running on a dry platform saturated with Wilsonism. What the Democratic party and what Governor Smith expects of us is to endorse the whole category of outrages committed against the people of our blood under Wilson in the name of patriotism, to return to power the party that tried to make outcasts of Americans of German descent at home, that invaded our domiciles, denied us bail when wrongfully arrested, persecuted us in the courts and in the streets—the party whose defied leader went back on his fourteen points helped to formulate the Treaty of Versailles and fostered the National Security League and the Creel Bureau and became responsible for the army of 200,000 volunteer spies, called into being, by his Attorney General Gregory. Every vote for Smith is a vote for Wilson.

In brief Governor Smith is completely in the hands of Wilson's followers, all of whom believe the World War was a war for civilization and Democracy that the Germans are the bogues of an otherwise well regulated universe.

WILLING TO TRADE BIBLE

Drs. Stratton and Frank Norris are using their pulpits as political rostrums. Instead of the Bible, they are using the Republican platform from which to preach. In fact, these holy lambs don't need any Bible, because the Bible is the embodiment of truth and righteousness, and these two things are the antithesis of what their political scheme requires. All these two birds are asking, is the success of the Republican party, and they are willing to trade their Bible, their pulpits, churches, congregations and all for a Republican victory. We don't know what they are getting for their work, but let us hope they will get the job of public smellers if their plans materialize.—Sterling City News-Record.

Guess these two eminent and publicity seeking divines are getting more money out of pointing the voters to the Republican party than they would out of pointing them to the Lamb of God, but then we can't see how they can ease their conscience when they think of Tea Pot Dome—the most gigantic steal ever perpetrated on an unsuspecting public—and we have failed to see where their hightone Christian and strong prohibition candidate Mr. Hoover has ever condemned this action of his party—yet these men tell us to support this man in preference to one who has the moral, courage and honesty to tell you where he stands. A man who has been in public life most all his life and up to date this great religious and strong prohibition party who these political preachers are telling us to support have never brought a dishonest act against Stratton and Norris may or may not be getting anything out of it but they are getting plenty of publicity and that is as dear to their souls as if they were getting good money for trying to elect the Republican candidate.

But to us the fitable thing is a lot of these little fellows trying to imitate them, when if they put in the same amount of time and energy on a sermon they do on telling the people how to vote, they would at least preach a little better sermon and have bigger and better congregations to hear them.

PRACTICAL CRIME PREVENTION

Major crimes of violence have decreased materially in New York City since 1925, according to a report by the Baumes Crime Commission. Where there were 398 cases of murder and manslaughter in 1925, the number dropped to 289 in 1926, and in 1927 went down still further, to 278.

Of the Baumes Law provisions the most important is that which provides life imprisonment for the criminals on fourth felony conviction. In New York it has proven a restraining influence, and a thoroughly justified measure. Logic would tend to show that a law breaker who attempts four major ravages is a habitual criminal who must be permanently removed from society.

A modern movement in crime suppression and prevention has been toward gathering crime statistics that afford a ready and accurate survey of the crime situation. This work cannot be overestimated and Senator Knight, chairman of the subcommission, says of it: "The commission believes that complete and accurate statistics of crimes committed is absolutely necessary to determine the cause of crime and to permit the enactment of the best legislation to prevent and push the commission of crime."

New York has demonstrated the success that comes from scientifically and practically fighting the menace of the criminal. Quick justice and sure punishment are certain deterrents.

W. R. COLE SECURES GOOD WELL OF WATER

W. R. Cole has secured a wonderful well of water, on his place south of Big Spring. This new well is in the new subdivision, that Mr. Cole plans to open up in the near future into a beautiful addition. Lots in same will be placed on the market in a short time.

The well is one of the very best that has ever been brought in in the Cole and Strayhorn addition, according to Mr. Cole, who says that he has had enough wells drilled to know what he is talking about. The water is the best that can be had, and is there in abundance. Frank Knaus, driller, states that Mr. Cole has secured an unusually fine well of water which he believes will be good for 20 to 25 gallons of water per minute. Water was secured at 125 feet and drilled on to 135 feet.

R. E. Slaughter located this well for Mr. Cole and evidently Mr. Slaughter knows his signs, for he has found the spot for one of the finest wells ever drilled in that part of town. Mr. Slaughter used a "water witch" twig to make the location, and this is one time that his signs held true.

Cole and Strayhorn addition has always been noted for its fine supply of water and the bringing in of this new well and such a good one is further evidence that there is plenty of water in that part of town, and can be secured at a shallow depth of 125 feet.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cole and children of Fort Worth arrived Saturday for a visit in this city with relatives and friends.

Four men were arrested Friday night charged with the illegal possession of beer. They were dismissed upon the payment of fines.

Martin County Gains Forty-five Sections From Howard Co.

Several months ago the commissioners of Martin and Howard counties employed a surveyor to establish the line between the two counties at the same time entering into an agreement that the line so established should become permanent after approval by the state authorities.

The line has been completed and last week was approved by Land Commissioner Robertson at Austin and is now the official boundary line between the two counties.

The new survey gives to Martin county about forty-five sections of land heretofore thought to belong to Howard county and an additional population of about 250 people.

Taxes has already been assessed for this year, and those assessed in Howard county before the line was established will pay in Howard as before, and the money belonging to this county will then be transferred.

It is estimated that the new survey with its 45 sections of land will give to Martin county alone an additional tax value on lands to the amount of $115,000 and on personal property about $50,000 bringing to the county at present more than $1,100 per year.

As a result of the new survey scores of families heretofore residing in Howard are now citizens of Martin county. Stanton Reporter.

Faculty of Public Schools for Year

Plans For City Schools to Open on September 17; Teachers Will Arrive Early For 3 Day Institute

Many Have Degrees

Outlook Bright For a Most Successful Year. Big Increase in Enrollment Will Be Noted

The faculty for the Big Spring Public Schools has been chosen and one of the finest teaching corps ever assembled in a school system will work in Big Spring this coming year. According to W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, everything is in fine shape for a good year and he is proud of the strong corps of teachers that has been secured. All of the teachers in the High School hold degrees, and many of the grade teachers are degree students. The standards of the schools are raised when graduate teachers are employed and Big Spring is sure to be in the front ranks with this splendid group of teachers.

Everything is shaping up nicely for the opening of school on Monday September 17. It is believed that work on the High school building will be completed by this date, so that matriculation can be started on schedule time.

The teachers will arrive in Big Spring early for a two-day institute to be held on Friday and Saturday September 14 and 15. A fine program is being arranged for this two day session a copy of same to be printed within the next few days.

The Big Spring City Schools will have a teaching staff of forty-four teachers this session. The assignment to places is always made subject to change. It will be observed that we have a strong faculty this year:

Sale Of Stamps Shows 80 Per Cent Increase

The Big Spring Post Office is going to a business in 1928 sufficient to entitle it to be rated as an office of the first-class if it maintains the record so far for 1928.

During the month of August, which is the dullest of the year in most towns and cities, the stamp sales of the local office totalled $3845.93. This compares with $2,295.51 for August 1927, or a gain of 80 per cent.

Stamp sales for the first eight months of the year approximate $27,000. To be entitled to be designated on office of the first class Big Spring needs to reach total sales of $13,000 for the remaining four months, and its a cinch this amount will be surpassed.

In times past two clerks during the peak hour and one clerk regularly could easily handle the General Delivery window—while three and four clerks are now needed to handle this department, and usually two lines of people are trying to reach the General Delivery window.

MORE THAN 500 AUTOS HERE

While the records of the County Tax Collector show 3778 cars registered here during the past eight months, it is quite evident that the number of cars in operation in Howard County will exceed 5,000.

This point was raised by E. B. Fox who put the theory to a test here Saturday. He suggested that a count of the out-of-State and out-of-county licenses be noted; and as an experiment the first six cars parked on one of our business streets was examined and five of the six had license numbers from other States. Just try this experiment if you doubt we have many strange cars.

A visitor from California here this week and after sizing up the situation, said he wished he had $100,000 to invest in Big Spring right now as he could readily see that big things are in store for this city.

Style and Beauty in Your Home

Furniture can no longer be merely useful and "Ornamental." It must be comfortable and really beautiful . . . beautiful within itself and in relation to everything else in the home. In this modern time, furniture must be modern, correct—in STYLE, BEAUTY and COMFORT.

Furniture ten or twelve years out of date puts a home entirely out of gear with the present day. Look around at your home this evening and think how much more attractive this room could be made with a correct odd piece or two—or another room may need an entire suite to bring out its best appearance.

THE VERDICT OF NUMBERS

Most people know what they want. They may not get it at first.

Experience is often a bitter teacher.

But in the end they get the best—in tires, as in other things.

Among the baffling claims of rival manufacturers and the alluring inducements of price cutting, special-discounts, and "deals," the judgment of numbers stands out undeniable.

W. T. C. U. Head Is Sent Answer By Sheppard

TEXARKANA, Texas, Sept. 2.—Senator Morris Sheppard has sent the following reply to Mrs. Claude De Van Watts, president of the Texas W. T. U., who found fault with him for supporting Gov. Al Smith for the presidency:

"My Dear Mrs. Watts: I am in receipt of your letter of Aug. 30. You state that Governor Smith's action in signing the bill which the New York Legislature had passed for the repeal of a State prohibition enforcement act left the State since that time practically without prohibition enforcement. Permit me respectfully to suggest that you are laboring under a misapprehension. The Federal prohibition enforcement law known as the Volstead act remained in operation throughout the State of New York after the State enforcement measures were repealed and continues in operation in that and every other State today.

"Governor Smith announced at the time he signed the act repealing the State enforcement law that on every State peace officer would continue to rest—I now use the exact words—the sacred responsibility of sustaining the Volstead act with as much force and as much vigor as they would enforce any State law or local ordinance, and that he would expect—again I employ his own language—the discharge of that duty in the fullest measure by every peace officer in the State."

Not Nullification
"This shows that Governor Smith's attitude was not one of nullification.

"I see nothing in his action in connection with the repeal of the State enforcement act on which to base your contention that he would be consistent in interpreting his oath as President as permitting him to use his office to secure either the repeal or the practical nullification of national prohibition. He would have the right, without violating the Democratic platform, to advocate repeal or modification through legislative and constitutional enactment, and has told us frankly that he favors modification of both the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead act, pointing out exactly in what respects he would modify. This advocacy, however, would be in no way inconsistent with, and would have no relation to, his oath to enforce these measures as long as they remained in the statutes, and oath which I believe he will live up to, as he assures us, to the last degree. Nullification means refusal to enforce an existing law.

"You quote Oswald Garrison Villard's assertion in an article on the Nation of Nov. 30, 1927, to the effect that he was really informed that Governor Smith drinks every day. Mr. Villard does not give his authority. Before I pass upon the question you raise in this connection I must have better proof than the hearsay evidence submitted by Mr. Villard.

Stands by Democracy
"My stand is that without modifying our vigilance or our views as to prohibition we must immediately restore the Democratic party to control in order that it may apply Democratic principles to such other questions as the condition of agriculture, integrity and efficiency of government, equal opportunity for all, justice in taxation, age questions of trusts, monopolies and other forms of lawless wealth. To say that the Democratic party is to be excluded from power because its nominee for President, although thoroughly sound on these other questions and in active sympathy with true Democratic solutions fair to all concerned, has personal views opposed to prohibition, views he can never carry out, is in my judgment, to imperil the welfare and freedom of America.

"You say that you regret my present stand. You can not regret my stand for Democracy more than I regret your stand for the Republican party whose continued rule hopelessly saturated with corruption, in my judgment will destroy the integrity of free government, undermine prohibition and every other safeguard of our civilization."

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Fisher and sons returned Saturday night from an extended visit to points east. Mr. Fisher has been in the northern and eastern markets, on an extensive buying tour, where he selected new fall and winter merchandise for his big department store. Mrs. Fisher and sons have been visiting relatives and friends in Chicago, Ill.

When the improved highway program is up for consideration, a thorough understanding as to the route should be arrived at. We do not desire a condition similar to the one in Mitchell county, because this feature was not agreed upon before the bond issue was voted.

The committee on Parks is expected to have something interesting to report on their investigations at the next regular meeting of the Luncheon Club.

Every cook instantly understands why Controlled Roasting gives

★ HILLS BROS Coffee the utmost in flavor

★ For the same reason you broil a steak a few moments on each side, Hills Bros. use a continuous process of roasting coffee a few pounds at a time.

The new Buick is the new Style

More than handsome... more than luxurious... a wonderful new type of motor car beauty... a thrilling turning point in body design

It will be imitated, of course! The new, the fine and the beautiful always inspire emulation. But so great is the cost of building the magnificent new Fisher bodies for the Silver Anniversary Buick that imitation will be possible only to much poorer cars, and even these will find difficulty in following where Buick leads!

$1,200,000 has been expended in manufacturing bodies alone for the new Buick bodies; and the gracefully curving side panels which form one of their distinguishing characteristics represent the most expensive steel paneling work employed on any automobile in the world!

But it is not in the matchless grace and beauty of exterior design alone that the Silver Anniversary Buick excels other cars. The velvet moiré upholstery in the closed models—the hardware and fittings—the many appointments of luxury and convenience—are all of the richest quality; and the bracing of the bodies, which imparts strength and durability and freedom from squeaks and rattles, is the most efficient and effective known to motor car practice.

In dazzling beauty—as in fleet, powerful performance—the world holds no equal for the Silver Anniversary Buick with Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher.

It is more than handsome, more than luxurious—it unicks a thrilling turning point in body design. And the motoring public, buying in such tremendous volume as to force the great Buick factories to work day and night to supply the demand, is elevating it to the prominence of a vogue!

YOU must cook the steak evenly to make it taste right. Coffee must be roasted evenly—every berry—to bring out the perfect flavor. And that's just what Controlled Roasting does for Hills Bros. Coffee!

Hills Bros. originated and patented Controlled Roasting, but the glorious flavor it creates is yours. You'll taste it every time you make a cup. No wonder Hills Bros. Coffee is the pride of the West.

Hills Bros. pack their delicious coffee in vacuum. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab on the can.

Fresh from the original vacuum pack. Easily opened with the key.
