TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Light had harnessed the tired and was loading a cargo weary hours to freight them the high road to the front of dawn. The sad-eyed little dress looked at her watch, her pace and removed a faded compact from her lips. She touched her lips lightly and brushed a long wave of hair from her eyes. At that instant a heavy truck started rolling on paving, crushing small pebbles beneath its ponderous wheels. The driver turned his head and caught a glimpse of a girl silhouetted against a window. His whistle was all unmistakable and as automatic as a heartbeat. The girl did not look his way, but some weariness left her face as she entered the cafe to begin another shift. The truck motor coughed, spluttered, and catching, began to thunder power. The lights bobbed like two red eyes in the face of darkness.

Visitors Expected For Easter

Heavy highway traffic is anticipated over the week-end as an exodus of visitors arrive in Matador simultaneously with the departure of local residents to other towns to spend Easter with relatives and friends. College students are arriving home today, since most schools close at mid-week for the remainder of the week. An Easter Cantata presented at the Methodist church last Sunday night, was well attended and enjoyed, and an Easter message will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. Marvin Brotherton, at morning services Sunday, with choral music accentuating the service. Christening rites for children will also be conducted. The evening service will be held at 8 o'clock, preceded by Youth Fellowship at 7:15, and followed by a youth recreation hour, Rev. Brotherton said. The Resurrection will also be the theme of special Easter message at the Baptist church Sunday morning, according to the pastor, Rev. Clifford Potts, with special music by the choir in keeping with the theme.

Public Seeking Street Markers

Matador residential public is interested in the Lions Club plan for a complete system of street markers for the city. Several home and business property owners have asked to pay in advance for their numbers. More inquiries are received daily with regard to the finance plan. The plan is simple and has been used with complete success in hundreds of towns from the Mississippi river to California. The one and only cost is $2.50 for each home or place of business. The price includes house numbers to attach. The cast aluminum street names will be erected on angle-iron posts (cost of erection will be paid by the city). The finance method is fair with each home and business property owner paying an equal amount. No report of opposition to the plan has been received.

SNAPPY PROGRAM FOR LADIES NIGHT

A "snappy" program has been arranged for Lions Ladies' Night at the Matador Methodist church, Tuesday evening, according to secretary J. R. Whitworth. Meeting in the First State bank lobby, late Monday, officials planned the program, which will include (in church auditorium) music by Mrs. G. E. Hamilton, Mrs. John Hamilton and Miss Roberta Jameson, singing led by secretary Whitworth with Lions Sweetheart Miss Rachel Patton at the piano and invocation by Lion Rev. Clifford Potts. In the basement a meal prepared by the Methodist ladies will be awaiting guests. Boss Lion E. P. Reeves will be master of ceremonies. Following a musical interval, new members will be initiated into the club (this should not require much time unless they have more endurance than expected). The initiation will be followed by a talk by Lion Mayor Byron Schotts of Paducah. Principal address will be made by Rev. Leon M. Hill, pastor of the Amarillo San Jacinto Baptist church, who will be introduced by Rev. Potts. The program will start promptly at 7:30 p. m. Regular Lions meeting scheduled for Tuesday will be suspended in lieu of the Ladies' Night program.

Showmanship Prize Is New Feature Of Annual Exhibition

FINAL PLANS were drafted last night at a meeting held in County Agent Rufus Emmons' office for the annual Motley County Junior Livestock Show to be held here Saturday. A total of 35 calf projects, nine pig projects and one lamb project will enter the competition for prizes. Weight of the 35 calves to enter the show totals more than 27,000 pounds according to a recent survey made by Emmons. Calves were groomed this week by Tatt Garnett, Bill Moss and Mr. Emmons. Mr. Garnett donated his time in clipping the calves for the contestants and refused any payment for his services. The show will be held on the vacant property immediately east of the city hall. Contestants are requested to have their animals here by 12 o'clock noon, Saturday. Contestants will be notified in advance as to the class in which their calves will be placed. Secret "showmanship" judges will study the showmanship exhibited by each contestant throughout the exhibition and will award three prizes, $5, $3 and $2 at the end of the show. This is a new feature of the annual fat stock show here. Judges to officiate at the show will be Jack Idol of the League ranch, Benjamin D. Burns, manager of the Pitchfork ranch, Dickens and John Stevens, manager of the Matador ranch, Matador. Local sale of the calves at public auction will be conducted by Kenneth Bozeman of Lubbock. Preliminary survey shows that at least two-thirds of the 35 head will be purchased by Roaring Springs and Matador business and professional men, and county patrons of the cattle industry. It is believed that additional sales will result from the auction to make it possible for the entire exhibit to be purchased locally. Estimates are that total proceeds from the calf sale may be between $8,000 and $9,000. Local market will also be provided for the pig projects if sufficient buyers are available. Boys showing pigs include Cecil Carmen of Matador, J. W. Campbell, Roger Kingery, Roy Redding, Leslie Kingery and Jerry Green, all of Roaring Springs, Beryl Monk, Jimmie Purcell and Mike Bush of Flomot. Rex Johnson of Flomot will show lambs. Health Week Is Observed By Negroes

Matador Negro colony joined other cities of the nation by observing National Negro Health Week, April 3-10, originated by the colored leader Booker T. Washington. An extensive cleanup drive was conducted in the colored area according to public school principal W. S. Mitchell. Both Mitchell and Mrs. J. L. Norris, teachers in the colored school, emphasized the importance of cleanliness and the need for sanitation to control and prevent disease. General theme for the campaign was "What Can We Do To Improve the Health of Our Home, School and Community." The Negro school campus is being planted in trees, flowers and grass. The P. T. A. has provided 100 feet of water hose for keeping the campus watered. Many Negro home lawns are also being improved. The colored section of Matador has named Mesdames Jessie Lee, Eugenie Mitchell, Mable Barrett, Lorine Price and Ada Lowe, as a permanent health committee to cooperate with city health officers and city officials in improving the health conditions. Urgently needed in the colored section is a sanitary toilet for each home. Improvement of homes to relieve the crowded conditions under which many families live, and three street lights to preserve better order at night.

High Winds Lash Area

Cooler weather is forecast for today following strong, hot winds that brought sand and dust yesterday to Western Texas. Some observers declared yesterday's westerly wind carried more sand than the area had experienced within a year. Temperatures ranged in the neighborhood of 80 degrees according to radio reports last night. Velocity of the wind was not reported but the sky was filled with sand, and dust that reduced visibility. No damage was reported although it was believed that young row crops which might be up in sandy soil would be destroyed. No reports were available from the western border and Plains area but estimates were that more sand and dust prevailed in the higher altitude country, which does not have the under-Cap Rock protection of Motley county.

The new frigidaire cabinet replaces a conventional type ice cream dispensing case. The double thickness plastic lids on the new case provide an insulating cover equal to the old type insulated metal lids. Manager R. M. Stanley said this week that he had also installed new fountain cream cabinets and extra storage for a total capacity of 105 gallons of ice cream. Borden's famous ice cream in all the delicious flavors will be available at the store when the customer's thoughts turn to the nation's most popular frozen confection. At the request of many citizens, County Agent J. R. Emmons, is offering a plan to vaccinate all dogs in the county for rabies. Mr. Emmons said a licensed veterinary can be procured and that the charge will be $1.50 per dog, including vaccine providing as many as 50 dogs are vaccinated. If less than 50 dogs are vaccinated, the price will be higher. Dog-owners interested in the vaccination plan are requested to contact Mr. Emmons. If the program is approved by the majority of the people it will be necessary to bring dogs to a central place for the vaccination. Kampus Klatter

Hello, everybody! How's all the gang?

Have you been a wonderin', too, why Wanda was so excited just before lunch last Monday? I'll bet she doesn't get "Leary" when she sees him, do you?

Well, by the looks of Nevada Cook's head (without hair), there's been another member to join the "we like short, short, hair" club. Dean and Jerry must be the charter members.

There has been a little argument over who was with whom last Sunday afternoon, so I'll just let you in on a secret. Somebody was with an awful lot of gals and guys, but who it is, I can't say!

I think most of the fellas who went to the track meet will agree that the best race wasn't on the track field! We hear from reliable sources that Coach did straight on the way home!

Marcia was with a mighty good-lookin' guy last Saturday. We hear he hails from Wichita Falls.

Looks like Letress and Daisy are still keeping R. S. at the top of their dating list. doesn't it? Lucky guys.

I'll be seein' ya, kids!

Miss El Matador.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

There'll Always Be a "Gawker"

"Harry the Hermit," as he's called, came into town last week and, as usual, caused quite a stir. He looks like a cross between Santa Claus and Daniel Boone.

We had a friendly glass of beer together and I asked him, "Don't you ever get annoyed at the way some people laugh and stare at you go by?" "Shucks no," Harry says. "Only while they're laughin' at me, I'm feelin' a mite sorry for them. Imagine—folks so ungrateful they can't see I'm really just the same as they are underneath."

From where I sit, Harry's a lot more "civilized" than the people who make fun of him. He's contented, lives the way he believes is right without harming anyone—and what's more, he's tolerant of others whose tastes in living are different from his.

Maybe we all don't look the same, or act the same, or eat or drink the same, but in a free country, why should we?

Joe Marsh

Pioneer Flomot Couple Celebrate Anniversary

ATURE provided near tragic to a family of New Mexico homesteaders in a late October, 1906, six years before territory was admitted to the union as a state. A. S. (Alexander Shakespeare) Morris, his wife and six children, the oldest by nine, had arrived three weeks previously by rail, and were located on their 160-acre homestead in Roosevelt county, five miles west of Portales. The country was filled with homesteaders, a family on each 160-acre tract.

Mr. Morris was in the process of digging a half-dug-out. He had hired the lumber hauled for the above-ground part of his home and had providentially secured a ton of coal and a supply of groceries. The temporary home was a tent pitched on the New Mexico prairie. The blizzard struck with a warning. Snow, driven by strong winds, fell for two days and nights. On the level prairie the snow was over 18 inches deep when the storm finally abated. The suffering homesteaders had no thermometers but it was estimated the temperature dropped to below zero. Many neighbors sustained frozen hands and feet; none were known to have perished.

Five years later the Morris family (now there were eight children) left New Mexico and moved to Floyd county and in 1916 they moved to the Flomot community in Motley county to pick cotton. They have lived there continuously since that time.

Sunday, a group of 200 friends and relatives met at the John Morris home to pay tribute to the pioneer couple, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Morris, who were married in Montague county Texas, April 8, 1898. Mr. Morris, who was born in Huntersville, North Carolina, May 23, 1859, will be 90 next month, and has been totally blind for more than two years. Mr. and Mrs. Morris live in Flomot but the wedding anniversary was held at the son's home because it provided more room needed for the large number of relatives and friends overflowing the house and partially filling the yard.

Vast quantities of appetizing food were served during most of the afternoon as additional arrivals brought gifts and good wishes to the couple that had been their friends and neighbors for a third of a century.

Most imposing gift was a great bouquet of flowers purchased by the entire community and bearing a card with names of the donors.

Ten of the eleven Morris children attended the reunion. No death has occurred in the family. The children are: Bob Morris of Plainview, Bud Morris of Oakland, California, A. B. Morris of Kress, Boyd Morris of Dallas, Bill Morris of Roaring Springs, John Morris of Flomot, and the five daughters, Mrs. Dick Washington of Portales, N. M.; Mrs. Dillie Garrett of Plainview, Mrs. Harlie Gunn, Mrs. Austin Tan-

Sponsored by the Hogg Foundation of Austin, Mrs. Street is filling speaking engagements over the state, and was brought here by the Matador Parent-Teacher Association in cooperation with El Progresso Club and Lions Club.

Mrs. Street spoke to high school students in 2 o'clock assembly Friday, stressing the importance of the right preparation for life and marriage. At 8 o'clock in the basement of the Baptist church she conducted an open discussion on family problems.

At this gathering, she was introduced by Attorney John A. Hamilton, to approximately 50 parents and others who engage in working with youth. Her observations were interspersed with humorous experiences which she has encountered in her personal affairs and her contacts with others. All who heard Mrs. Street declared they profited greatly by attending, and regret was expressed that more parents did not avail themselves of the opportunity to share this privilege.

Former Northfield Resident, Lewis Sams Dies Recently

Word was received here recently of the death of former Northfield resident, Lewis R. Sams, who died February 26, in Tennessee and was buried March 1, at Tipton, Oklahoma.

Mr. Sams who would have been 99 years old, March 16, died February 26, at 3 o'clock at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Homer Neblett, in Tennessee. He had been in impaired health for three and half years. He had made his home with his daughter the past four years.

A native of Beaufort, South Carolina, he was a son of the late, Dr. Lewis R. Sams and Mrs. Sarah Graham. His wife, Mrs. Mary Helen Hogue of Houston, Texas, to whom he was married January 10, 1884, died November 10, 1932. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Neblett and Mrs. M. J. Laird of Tipton, four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Morris, before her marriage, was Miss Lillie Grimes. Bob Morris remembers distinct incidents of the family's return from New Mexico. Somewhere on the Yellowhouse ranch on the Plains the returning homesteader family met two cowboys leading a pack horse. Six or seven of the children were walking ahead of the wagon pulled by two burros. The wagon sheet was rolled back. Bob Morris heard one of the cowboys say to his companion, "Look at 'em walking and there must be 20 in that wagon."

At the old Yellowhouse ranch headquarters they stopped to pick cotton. Bob Morris remembers the great 110-foot windmill tower. He also remembers the ranch manager's wife who asked his father to take a child's shoe last to the linecamp family 15 miles east. "It's right on your way," she declared. His father delivered the last with as much care as if it had been precious metal.

The family camped by a windmill that later became the site of the city of Littlefield. Mr. Morris said the eastern Plains of New Mexico were heavily covered with mesquite, in 1906 and that many families might have perished if the mesquite wood had not been available.

Matador seniors, April 22, at the Legion Hut

Following the business meeting, refreshments of cake and lemonade were served to Mesdames James Moss, Bill Moss, D. E. Pitts, Jr., Bennie Keltz, Kenneth Lyle, Elden L. Reedy, one guest, Mrs. H. H. Schweitzer and the hostess, Mrs. Bridge.

The Toreador club will meet April 22, at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Elden L. Reedy, rather than in the home of Mrs. James Meador, as previously announced.

Pied Pinions
BY MRS. J. M.

Barbara, our black and white Persian presented us with triplets last Wednesday. She seems to be taking Motherhood more seriously with this family than she did with her first two.

We were caught red-handed the other day when we tried to smuggle some packages into the house without being detected. It wasn't that we were afraid of the consequences, but only that we had a guilty conscience for being extravagant.

The most sparkling smile we've noticed, belongs to Clara (Mrs. Albert) Marshall of the bank force.

A most stunning figure at church Sunday morning was Mrs. Joe Bloodworth, in an attractive hat trimmed with white puffs harmonizing in color with her green polka-dot jacketed ensemble.

Mrs. Horace Jameson, the former Earlyne Laughlin, in addition to being a very sweet, attractive bride, is one of those fortunate brides who will move into a brand-new home built just for the happy newlyweds. We would say that her smile is the twinkling variety.

Remember back when "kodaking" was the favorite past-time of the young folks in any community? Incidentally, it irks Mr. M. greatly when we use that term in referring to his activities with his Speed Graphic.

Pending the time in the not too distant future when we will have to don bifocals, we are equipped with an extra pair of specs for "close-up" work, such as threading-the-needle. Now we have two pairs of glasses to try to keep up with, and usually we have on our close-ups when we need the far-visions, and visa versa.

Not that we have been looking for excuses, but this latest cold wave certainly discourages yard work.

A week or so ago when we had a good hard blustering wind Bert Ezzeil had the misfortune of having a brand-new hat ruined when the wind whipped it off his head and sent it tumbling through the mud.

Among occupations which fascinate us are telephone operating and piano tuning. Our powers of comprehension are so limited that we just can't see how, especially the switchboard. We wouldn't dare criticize an operator for getting the wrong number or for getting her wires crossed, inasmuch as we are convinced we could never do better ourselves.

The blind piano tuner who used to service our piano always intrigued us. We always wondered how he ever got the keys switched when he was putting them back in place.

When the Tribune was delivered at the post office last Wednesday afternoon, a full 24 hours ahead of schedule, Pete Knight observed that it could be done every week if we'd try—or had a convention to attend. Our irregularities sort of upset Pete's schedule, since he has Saturdays off, and a lot of the time the Tribune is carried to the office too late Thursday to be put up and when it is done on Friday, the next day is Pete's day off. So, if we are on time or a little early, he is prone to take his day off too soon.

Anyway, we got the paper out in time to dash over to Lubbock to witness our errand cousin, Joe Berry Meador, who had a major part in the Tech Varsity Show, since this is his last year at Tech and we didn't get to see him in his previous performances. The show was good and we loved the Charleston number executed by a chorus of "flappers," since they represented our own era of youth.

On a last-minute notice, the Marvin Pattons accompanied us, and others who attended were the Elbert Reeves, the Furman Vinsons and the Albert Rattans.

We got everything wound up and left the office in the capable hands of Katherine (Mrs. James Ed) Russell, and took off Thursday afternoon so that we'd reach Amarillo in time for Mr. M. to attend a banquet for past presidents of the Panhandle Press Association. The convention began Friday morning and adjourned Saturday afternoon.

The Tribune was again in the limelight at the convention, and this time the publicity was furnished by our linotype operator and shop foreman, Earl McBride who was interviewed by a News Globe reporter.

Accompanying the Editor and Mrs. M. were Miss Ewanda Martin and Miss Nell Webb, and joining them at the convention for an evening of entertainment were Charles Ray, Cox and Mann, Charlie, who came over from Canyon, where they are attending West Texas State.

As usual, we enjoyed the musical features of the entertainment, and this year it was especially enjoyable to listen to Birnie Howell, organist, who played for the banquet and dance which followed, and for the Luncheon Saturday.

The Amarillo High school A Capella Choir also stirred our souls with their excellent performance. On their program was the "bones" song which they sang at Lions International last year in New York, to the accompaniment of Fred Waring and his orchestra.

Visiting with our Amarillo friends, the Joe Harlans, and others, was also a pleasure, as well as renewing acquaintances with editors and their wives from other places. Had a brief visit with the Carl Englands, Morton editors. Naturally we feel a kinship for Morton, since Mr. M. was out there several years back.

star of bad character, and the thing that worries her most is that she is that sort of person. She even wanted to change some of the "bad" lines so that she wouldn't have to speak them, but the director said no, since it is all acting anyway.

Chareen studied speech in Matador High school under Mrs. J. R. Whitworth, and her Tech instructors were high in their praise of her background in that subject. She is now employed by Southwestern Crop and Stock publication in Lubbock.

RECENT BRIDE COMPLIMENTED WITH SHOWER

A bridal shower was given in the home of Mrs. C. E. Harris of Whiteflat, Wednesday March 30 complimenting the recent bride, Mrs. James Allen, former Bertie Jean Holt. Co-hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames T. G. Tison, Guy Kimbell and Pearl Wilkinson.

The house was decorated throughout with daffodils and other spring flowers.

Mrs. W. L. Holt presided at the bride's book and Mrs. Kimbell assisted with the serving of refreshments of cookies and cocoa to the guests.

Those calling and sending gifts included: Mesdames E. P. Humphries, M. D. Morris, D. I. W. Birnie, I. L. Slover, A. J. Townsend, W. R. Holt, R. R. Holt, F. Z. Martin, Howard Gwinn, W. L. McWilliams, S. M. Bean, Tom Ross, Frank Edwards, A. E. Westmoreland, Ted Steen, Bess Patton, T. W. Ross, L. A. Carlisle, Carl Cooper, Alfred Cooper, J. R. Emmons, Minnie Allen, Varner McWilliams, W. M. Clifton, Roy Mitchell, E. B. Chambliss, D. P. Rattan, Bill Slover, Marvin Dixon, Joe Stephens, H. B. Stephens, Cordie Stephens, Mutt Berryman, F. M. Casey and Ben Keltz. Mrs. John Lawrence accompanied by her mother, Mrs. A. D. Beauchamp, drove to Quanah Thursday, where they were joined by their sister and daughter, Mrs. J. H. McNabb, and continued on to Dallas for a several days visit with Mrs. Lawrence's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Koon.

"I Capture The Castle"

(by Dottie Smith)
Here is the gayest of modern novels. The lively, romantic adventures of Cassandra Mortmain and her unpredictable family are irresistible. It is so funny you can't let the book down until finished. It is a good tonic in anxious days.

"Shannon's Way"

(by A. J. Cronin)
This book by the author of "The Keys of the Kingdom" and "The Green Years", is the story of a doctor in his twenties who put his keen interest in medical research ahead of everything else in life. In this novel Dr. Cronin shows his abilities as a great story teller and his sympathetic understanding of human frailties and emotions. Read this book. It will be a heart-stirring and richly rewarding experience.

Mary Wakefield

(by Mazo de la Roche)
"The best", "The gayest", "The most extraordinary" novel of our day. At Jaina, in the warm beauty of a Canadian summer, a turbulent love story was enacted in 1893. When you meet the vigorous Whiteoaks in this novel you will enjoy the thoroughly human clan, their their maneuvers that were necessary and their emotions, both tender and violent, that were released before life in Jaina could resume its fertile course.

THIS IS AMERICA

This is freedom—many religions, many races, living in harmony together. For freedom is more than a way of life. It is a state of spirit—and our richest asset.

Under freedom of religion, Americans attend more churches than any other nation. Under freedom of speech, we have more newspapers, more radio stations than any other country in the world. Under freedom of opportunity, our children attend more schools, have more chances to succeed in life.

We are only 7% of the world's people, living on 6% of the world's land. Yet, we who live in America have the highest standard of living the world has ever known.

Under freedom of enterprise—you may call it Democracy, or Capitalism—we make just about one-third of the world's goods, mostly for our own use. We drive three-fourths of the world's autos, use about half the world's electricity. Our homes are unrivaled for comfort and labor-saving devices. We eat more meat, buy more clothes, see more shows, own more insurance. We even save more money.

Yes, freedom pays—in the coin of tolerance and understanding, and in the coin of progress and prosperity.

1948 CROP REPORT NATION'S BEST

Final harvest reports from Washington stamped the 1948 crop as perhaps the most remarkable in the nation's history. The Agriculture Department's final report of the year showed that the season broke many production records. Also it gave the country bountiful supplies of many of the products it needed most.

The aggregate volume of all crops was the largest ever harvested. It exceeded the 1947 record crop by 8.7 per cent. It topped the 1923-32 base average production by 37 per cent.

Perhaps even more important, it gave the nation a record supply of grain. Big supplies were needed not only to help feed the hungry aboard but to refill empty feed grain bins in this country to re-open the way for expanding production of meats, dairy products and poultry.

The wheat crop in Texas, however, for 1948 was 56,290,000 bushels. That was less than half the state's record for 1947 of 124,270,000 bushels. Drouth stunted the 1948 Texas crop. The final figure compared with a forecast on July 9 of 57,020,000 bushels.
