Commissioners Say No To Designated Smoking Area

Motley County Commissioners Court met for regular session, Monday, August 10.

After the invocation, by John M. Russell, the minutes and bills were accepted. Judge Boyce Hart reported the roofing of the Courthouse final bill was approximately $2,500 as opposed to $15,000. The court used a crew of nine men from the Dickens County Detention Center and the county road crews for each precinct.

Elaine Hart of the Sheriff and Tax Collector office reported they had collected approximately $10,000 in July, bringing the percent of collected taxes to 96 1/2%.

Reports were read from the J.P.'s, Precinct 1, place 1 collecting $6,200 and place 2, $122.50. Other reports read were from Motley County Library, Treasurer, County Extension Agent.

Judge Hart had a request for the court to discuss a designated smoking area upstairs near the District Courtroom. It was the Court consensus to leave the whole courthouse tobacco free.

Hart read a letter asking for the renewal to General Services purchasing program for $125,000. Court discussed this was not used in past years, so elected to drop this membership.

Charlie Johnson and Vann Francis representing the Appraisal District wanted to discuss the court voting to charge the Appraisal District rent on their office space, Johnson explained they would have to raise their budget to collect from the county entities and the county will still be paying for this expense. No action was taken at this time.

Court discussed hiring a new County Agent. They elected to tell Paul Gross of the Agricultural Extension Service of Amarillo to go ahead and receive applications for Motley County.

Seth Halbert of M.H.M.R. and C.L. Abernathy and Mrs. L.B. (Lucretia) Campbell, members of the Board of MHMR, gave the report of MHMR. Their request of $960 is the same as last year. They have seen 13 clients from Motley County with a $23,000 value of service for this $960.00.

Lucretia invited the Court to attend their open house day for Judges and Commissioners planned in the near future.

The Court heard six Insurance Agents to present their insurance programs, L.T. Cooper, Lubbock, AFLAC; John Langford, Amarillo, Langford Insurance Co.; Bob Woodward, Amarillo, Continental Life Insurance; Terry Williams, Lubbock, Life Investors Insurance Co.; and Billy Colston, Dougherty, Life Styles Marketing of Lubbock.

After lengthy discussion the Court elected to stay with the same insurance as last year.

Hanging Quilts While Dancing To Music

by Marisue Potts

The Motley County Museum was a bee-hive of activity on Monday. Energetic members of the Motley County Arts & Crafts Club transformed a former hospital patient room into a treasure trove of handcrafts of yesteryear.

The club has adopted a room in the museum building as their project. Hanging quilts, sweeping out the floor, hanging pictures, and tugging furniture around were Joyce Archer, Lorene Lancaster, Bonnie Edmondson, and Winifred Lee. Much appreciation is due this group for taking an active interest in preserving our heritage through the museum.

Providing music while they worked was a collection of phonographs and radios from the Curtis and Ethel Martin family, courtesy of Joy and Leo Archer. Ranging from a 1913 Edison cylinder and 1922 Brunswick Radiola to a 1960's Catalina, the grouping spanned the years of 78 lp records to transistor radios. Winifred Lee added a Zenith Record Player.

Among the many other items cataloged and accessioned this week were household items from Clarence and Gussie Jenkins: a pair of sad irons, a shoe last, a cotton sack scale, a clock, a Daisey churn, and churn dasher.

A telephone from the White Star store, a broad adze, and two black Stetson hats came from the Furman Vinson family. A 1939 telephone book was added by Richard and Dorothy Turner.

A Schweitzer saddle belonging to Walter A. Walton was donated by Hazel Donovan.

A German helmet and ammunition belt was received from Luther Green's World War II collection.

A most interesting item from the Rev. A.E. Butterfield's family was a large cardboard photo album of the missionary's days among reservation Comanche, Kiowa, and Apache Indians. A booklet written by the preacher provides many clues about the collections that prevailed at the time. Grace Zabielski brought in these items as well as family history photos and information.

"Matador Rodeo 1940" was the handtooled message on a Schweitzer saddle won and donated by Dude Barton. A saddle rack made from lumber from the W.B. Barton home and a saddle blanket is branded with the Cross 6, the family brand. From Mollie Burleson and family comes a chuckbox made by Jack Green for the Burleson family roundups.

For the school room set up comes a school desk from Anna B. Cloyd. A map, grade books, drum and bugle, and directory of schools were donated by the Motley County school.

The collection is slowly but surely growing, day by day.

Longtime Coach Bob Moore Remembered For Versatility

NOTE: This article was taken from The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. It was written by Don Williams.

Friends and colleagues on Monday remembered longtime West Texas high school coach Bob Moore not only as a 700-game winner in basketball, but as a versatile contributor in many areas.

Moore, 62, died Sunday in Mineral Wells after a lengthy battle with cancer.

"Bob coached for a long time and touched a lot of people's lives," said Greg Sherwood, executive director of athletics for the Lubbock Independent School District. "He had many good basketball teams. He was a very strong English teacher, too...I don't think he originally planned on coaching."

Moore compiled a 766-387 record in a career that included stops at White Deer, Phillips, Snyder, Dalhart, Fabens, Plainview, San Angelo Centra, Mineral Wells, and most recently, Motley County. He had a 585-334 record in boys games.

"We've lost a good comrade in the coaching business," Dimmitt athletic director and boys basketball coach Ken Cleveland said. "I respected his coaching ability. It always was a battle when we played. Bob knew the coaching business — the basketball part of it and football, too. He was a good fellow."

Moore piled up the majority of his victories at White Deer, Phillips and Snyder. At White Deer from 1954 to 1961, he directed the girls basketball teams to a 159-37 record. He did double duty as the boys coach in his last three seasons at White Deer and went 50-11.

Moore's boys squads at Phillips were 219-98 from 1961 to 1971 and he guided the boys teams at Snyder to a 105-50 mark from 1971 to 1976.

"He was one of the most knowledgeable coaches I've ever known about the game of basketball," said current Plainview assistant coach Ed Moore, who worked with Bob Moore, also complimented his versatility.

"He was very intelligent, an outstanding English teacher," Ed Moore said. "In fact, he was one of the smarter coaches I've ever been around."

Moore briefly directed varsity football at Dalhart during his tenure there from 1976-1978.

Barbara's Bylines

So many people have asked me if when I was in New York did we go to New York City. Not! When New Yorkers refer to upstate, it is upstate, and at least 200 miles from the City. It's like the difference in saying your from Texas and someone is thinking of Houston and not the country part of Texas.

I can remember when friends from Germany thought coming to Texas would be like going back to the wild wild west, when it was Cowboys and Indians. They really thought the old west movies were real life.

My energetic Aunt Frances left August 7 for Russia. She is with a group called 'Citizen Ambassador Program' a women, men and media delegation to Russia, Ukraine and Czechoslovakia. When she returns she will write her articles for her newspaper so I hope we will have room to run them so we can all enjoy her trip, too.

Well Monday morning at 7:15 a.m., we heard a sound we haven't heard in a year - the sounds of boys working out for football. That really means school and fall are close at hand.

Thank God for the rain and cool weather.

Rep. Sarpalius' Mobile Office To Be In Matador

The Mobile office allows the Congressman to bring his services directly to the citizens of the 13th Congressional District. A representative from the Congressman's office will be available to assist with questions, comments or federal problems that you might have.

"I have always believed that to be an effective public servant you have to go to the people and hear their concerns and ideas," Sarpalius said. "I was elected not just to represent my district, but to serve. That's why I have this mobile office."

The mobile office will be traveling to towns in the district on a monthly basis. For more information, contact Community Representative, Dusty Hansard at (806) 371-8844.

1892 - 1992 Matador Methodists To Celebrate 100 Years

With the arrival of Fall, 1992, Matador Methodist Church will observe 100 years of existence. A celebration in conjunction with the annual Harvest Festival is planned for October 11 at 10:30 a.m.

A cookbook copied from one issued by the Women's Society of the church in the early 1920's will be the basis for one compiled by the church women, adding many of their own favorites.

A Church Directory has already gone to the printers, something we are all anxiously awaiting.

For those who have a copy of the Methodist Church history written by Virginia Hoyle, a supplement is being compiled to bring the church history up to date. Added to the foyer of the church are three photographs, one of each church building. Stop and recall your memories in each one. Also, a large collection of pictures will be on hand on October 11 for each one to recall days gone by and friends they may have forgotten.

Ministers who will be invited to return for that day are W.B. Swim, L.W. Tucker, Wilbur Gaede, Douglas Gossett, Phil McClendon, Kenny Kirk, Mark Gibbens-Rickman, Eddie Marcum, Royce Scott, Gene Louder, also Mrs. Walter V. O'Kelly.

Please remind family and friends to set aside October 11, 1992 to come enjoy our BIG celebration!

Avenues of Temptation

Part I

In First John 2:15-17, the aged Apostle John lists for us the three avenues through which all temptations come. We ask of the reader to open their Bibles and study these verses as we look for a better understanding of temptation.

THE LUST OF THE FLESH is the carnal, impure desires and cravings of the bestial nature. It seeks gratification in improper sexual behavior, in an unrestrained appetite for food and drink, and seeks to satisfy the carnal man primarily. This ignores the needs of the spiritual make-up of man. The desires of the flesh are not impure or sinful if controlled by the spiritual aspect of man. These desires must be fulfilled in the right way and in the right relationships. The key to this temptation is self-control. Even the great apostle Paul had to deal with this as seen in I Corinthians 9:27. Here he states, "But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway."

THE LUST OF THE EYES includes the disproportionate yearning for fineries. Be it homes, clothing, furniture, jewelry, real estate, cars, pick-ups or any other material paraphernalia. It is the covetous longing for the tinsel and glitter of material things, while failing to realize the true value of eternal things. The inner eye of the spiritual minded person must see the true riches of God's inheritance reserved for all who love Him. This is John's teaching at the beginning of our reading: "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world."

HOME CANNING DOES IT PAY OFF?

People home can foods for many reasons. Those often cited include to save money, to have healthier food, to know what's in the food, to can for special diets and for personal satisfaction. For those who also enjoy gardening or producing their own, it often becomes a way to relax and gives a sense of pride to enjoy or share with others the bounty of their efforts.

But does home canning really save money. A study done at Pennsylvania State University found that home canners could save half the cost of buying commercially canned foods only if they produced their own garden vegetables and fruits and discounted the value of their labor. If produce is bought at farmer's markets, roadside stands or pick-your-own operations, the home-canned items would cost about the same as similar canned items in the supermarket, particularly those on sale. And of course, the initial costs of purchasing necessary equipment must be considered by the "new" home canner. Basically, however, of the three major methods of preservation, canning is the least expensive followed by drying, then freezing.

Is home canned food more nutritious than commercially canned food? The answer may depend on how the produce is handled between harvest and canning. In many cases, vegetables begin to lose vitamins immediately after harvest. As many as half of the vitamins may be lost within a few days unless produce is cooled or preserved. Even refrigerated produce loses many vitamins within a week or two.

To maintain maximum interest content, a good practice is to rush vegetables from "vine to jar", work only with quantities you can handle quickly and refrigerate what you can't preserve and use or can it as soon as possible. In commercial canning, produce is quickly canned to address this problem. The advantages of home canning may be lessened when poor quality foods are used. Canning does not improve the quality of foods. Also prolonged storage can decrease quality, flavor, texture, color and nutrients. For best quality retention, store in a cool, dark, dry place and use within a year.

The heating process during canning does destroy some of vitamins A, C, thiamin and riboflavin. Once canned, additional losses of these are from 5 percent to 20 percent a year.

Is home canning worth it? It depends. But it may be well to remember that produce in supermarkets, because of length of time from harvest to distribution to markets and increased handling, may not be as nutritious as home or commercially canned foods.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are for people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

BEING UNFAITHFUL IS IT WORTH IT!

Every spouse has been tempted, at some time, to be unfaithful to their partner. Being tempted could range from seriously considering it to just being aware of the opportunity to be unfaithful. At whatever point in that range a person may find themselves, it is best to make up your mind about being unfaithful before temptation hits.

Battles are won or lost, in many ways, before they are ever fought. Many people toy with the idea of being unfaithful all along. They fantasize or daydream about the romance or adventure of it. If asked about the probability of unfaithfulness, they would give a sound reply of "no", even though the thoughts are there. If a person continually gives way to thoughts before the actual temptation, the more likely they are to yield. Decide before you are tempted about what you will do when you are faced with temptation.

Those who are unfaithful to their partners have some thinking errors much like a child sex offender. They think they will not get caught. They will not have to suffer any consequences. It is often called "Blinders Syndrome." Like a horse with blinders, they cannot see everything around the act of being unfaithful.

The consequences of being unfaithful are tremendous. There is the guilty conscience. Some may try to justify it by believing that "others do it", "it didn't really hurt anyone", or "just once and no more, that's okay."

It would be hard for a person who has been unfaithful to expect any better from their spouse. I wonder what it would feel like if the tables were turned?

What if you are discovered? The pain and turmoil is deep. It may very well destroy your marriage. The children are confused and lose respect and trust; all this because a person could not be faithful! It doesn't sound like a very wise decision to me.

Survey Finds Texans Among Worst Alcohol Abusers

Although the proportion of Texans indulging in risky health habits is about the same as the national average, they are among the worst offenders when it comes to alcohol abuse, according to the Texas Department of Health (TDH).

During 1990, some 6 percent of adult (18 or older) Texans consumed as many as 60 or more alcoholic drinks each month. That compares with an average 3.2 percent of the adult populations of 44 states during the same period.

These and other facts appear in a TDH report on Texas' participation in the 1990 U.S. Centers for Disease Control Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS). For the Texas portion of the survey, TDH conducted telephone interviews with 1,497 adults, selected to reflect the state's sex, race and age distribution.

Roger Diamond, senior health educator in the TDH Public Health Promotion Division, explained that the report is the fourth of its kind since 1987. "We use information from the BRFSS to determine which unhealthy behaviors contribute to premature loss of health and life statewide. By so doing, we can design health promotion programs to help change those behaviors," Diamond said.

The survey also revealed that 19 percent of Texans, as compared with an average of 15 percent nationally, reported "binge drinking", consuming five or more drinks per occasion, at least once in the previous month.

Similarly, 5 percent of Texans reported having driven under the influence of "too much to drink" at least once in the previous month. Other states' percentages for such behavior ranged from .7 percent to 5.9 percent, with a national average of 2.8 percent. "It is noteworthy that during the survey period, the state recorded a 7 percent increase in alcohol-related traffic fatalities over the previous year (1989)," Diamond said.

Among other BRFSS results were that 23 percent of surveyed Texans are smokers, matching the U.S. average.

Some 22 percent of surveyed Texans were overweight, compared to 22.6 nationally.

Texans were slightly more active than the general U.S. population. However, more than half of survey respondents in both groups (53 percent of Texans and 58 percent nationally) lived sedentary lifestyles. Only 38 percent of the Texas respondents exercised regularly, men citing walking, yardwork and running as their most frequent exercise, while women favored walking, yardwork and aerobics. Fewer Texans (7 percent) than U.S. citizens in general (13.8 percent) "never" or "seldom" used their automobile seat belts in 1990. At the same time, 85 of Texans claimed "always" or "nearly always" to use their seat belts.

Regarding AIDS and HIV which causes it, some 76 percent of Texas parents, compared to 75 percent of U.S. parents, said they would allow their child to attend class with an HIV-infected student.

Also, 91 percent of surveyed Texans had heard of AIDS, but their understanding of the disease varied. Only 64 percent know that HIV-infected people can look and feel healthy, and 81 percent know that condoms can reduce infection risk. Some 65 percent know that mosquitoes pose no threat of spreading HIV, and only 59 percent know that giving blood poses no risk.

Of parents of Texas children not yet in high school, 88 percent favor starting AIDS education in elementary school.

Nurse Practitioner Practices Medicine Between Two Fields

NOTE: This article is from the Andrews County (Texas) News. Roy Tippin is a former Matador resident and the former Nurse Practitioner at Motley County Clinic.

Not a doctor, not a nurse-but Roy Tippin falls somewhere in between the two medical professions in his career as a nurse practitioner.

Tippin and his family moved to Andrews in 1986 so that he could take a job assisting Dr. Brian Gordon and to work part-time at the Andrews Health Department.

The family moved here from Matador, where Tippin was the only health care provider in the county of more than 900 people.

His wife, Patsy, is a secretary at First Baptist Church. They have three children: Russell, a Senior at Andrews High School; Holly, an 8th grader at Andrews Middle School; and Rebecca, a 7th grader at AMS.

Tippin was a registered nurse for many years until 1980 when he received a rural health care grant which enabled him to return to school at the University of Texas at Arlington to obtain his nurse practitioner certification.

The distinction between a nurse and a nurse practitioner is vast. The practitioner is a registered nurse who has advanced training in a health care specialty area, such as family health care. They work both alone and in conjunction with a medical doctor providing the information people need to make informed decisions about their health care and lifestyle choices.

Nurse practitioners practice under the rules and regulations of the Nurse Practice Act of the state in which they work. All are certified in their specialty area and are recognized as expert nurses.

They are found in all 50 states and a large number of research studies over the past 20 years have documented that they provide high quality care, cost-effective care and care that results in a high level of patient satisfaction.

Nurse practitioners often serve as the regular health care provider for children and adults during illness and usually follow the same procedure for the care of a patient as a medical doctor.

They have the ability and knowledge to obtain medical histories, perform physical exams, diagnose and treat common health problems such as infections and minor injuries, diagnose, treat and monitor chronic diseases such as diabetes and high blood pressure and order and interpret diagnostic studies such as lab work and x-rays.

Tippin's duties include a wide range of activities. He feels that no two days are ever alike. He sees about 30 patients a day, about 9,000 last year, with complaints ranging from sore throats to sore toes and everything in between.

He manages every aspect of a patient's care, such as hypertension, diabetes, minor fractures, lacerations, removal of skin lesions and more acute and chronic health care problems.

In addition, Tippin is knowledgeable in obtaining gynecological pap smears and pediatric and geriatric care, including the care of patients in nursing homes.

In the emergency room Tippin cares for his patients when they are injured or suddenly ill after routine office hours and has privileges to care for his patients while they are hospitalized.

All of this is done under the supervision of a medical doctor. He was in practice with Dr. Biran Gordon for number of years and now has an office at 1801 N.E. Mustang with Dr. Michael Neal.

According to Tippin, his business, along with all doctors in Andrews, is booming. Because of the economy more and more people are learning to cope without elective surgeries and other non-emergency treatment but when someone is sick or injured the skills of a trained professional will always be needed.

Tippin says, "I feel that by doing my work well I can help my community and my fellow man."

When asked if he was interested in becoming a doctor he replied, "I'm too old and I have a family to support. Besides, I am well rewarded in my present capacity."

Where can a man buy a cap for his KNEE,
Or a key to a lock of his HAIR?
Is the crown of your HEAD where jewels are found?
Who travels the bridge of your NOSE?
If you want to shingle the roof of your MOUTH,
would you use the nails on your TOES?
Can you sit in the shade of the palms of your HANDS,
Or beat on the drum of your EAR?
Can the calf in your LEG eat the corn off your TOES?
Then why not grow corn on the EAR?
Can the crook in your ELBOW be sent to jail?
If so, just what did he do.
How can you sharpen your SHOULDER BLADES?
I'll be darn if I know, do you?

HEALTH NEWS

THE BENEFITS OF EXERCISE

For a healthy mind and body, why not consider incorporating some type of physical activity into your weekly routine? Walking, running, swimming, cycling and dancing are all excellent forms of exercise that can be easily adapted into even the busiest schedule.

According to Cyndi Rohrer, director of Methodist Hospital's LifeStyle Centre, exercising at your target heart rate for just 20 to 30 minutes, three times a week substantially reduces the risk of a heart attack. "Regular exercise helps increase the level of HDL, or 'good' cholesterol in the body, which in turn lowers the risk of heart disease," said Rohrer.

And preventing heart disease is just one of the advantages of exercise. If you're having trouble starting an exercise program, consider the following additional benefits of regular physical activity. Exercise helps:

- * Increase energy levels and decrease your appetite;
 - * Reduce weight and inches by burning fat stores and improving muscle tone;
 - * Slow down the aging process and prevent osteoporosis;
 - * Improve cardiopulmonary condition;
 - * Improve your mood - endorphins released during physical activity actually help relieve stress and put you in a good mood; and
 - * Guard against insomnia.
- If exercising seems dull, try some of the following to help occupy your mind during your workout:
- * Make vacation plans;
 - * Make a "to do" or shopping list;
 - * Daydream;
 - * Analyze a recent hassle and think of a way to cope better next time; or
 - * Think of a way to eliminate one of the stressors in your life.
- One note: before starting any exercise program, consult your physician.

MEDICARE CAN HELP PAY FOR MAMMOGRAMS

Breast Cancer is among the top health concerns of American women. In fact, more than 40,000 will die of breast cancer this year. Fortunately, more and more women have learned that early detection through mammography could allow effective intervention and treatment of the disease.

However, many women may not know that part of the costs of mammography screening may be paid for by Medicare. Since January 1991, Medicare Part B has paid for up to 80 percent of the lowest of these three amounts -- (1) the physician's charge; (2) the amount allowed under the Medicare physician's schedule; or (3) the established fee limit. (The 1992 fee limit is $56.76, of which Medicare would pay a maximum of 80 percent, or $45.41.)

Who is eligible? Women must be age 65 or older, or receiving Social Security disability benefits to be eligible.

Medicare will help pay for diagnostic mammograms for women who have any signs of a problem - such as a lump or mass in the breast - any time they're ordered by the attending physician and are considered necessary.

If a woman is 65 or older, Medicare helps pay for a mammogram every other year. For women aged 35-39 who are disabled, Medicare will help pay the cost of a baseline mammogram. For women who are disabled and aged 40-49, payment is for one screening every other year.

Women aged 50-64 who are disabled are covered for a yearly mammography screening. And so are women aged 40-49 who have been diagnosed as high risk for breast cancer.

For more information about this coverage, consult the Medicare carrier responsible for processing Part B claims. In our State that is 1-800-442-2620.

Information on cancer detection and prevention is available from the Cancer Information Service's toll-free number, 1-800-4-CANCER.

The inventor of the telegraph was asked, "Did you ever come to a place not knowing what to do next?"

"When I couldn't see my way clearly," said Morse, "I prayed to God for understanding."

He added, "I had made a valuable application of electricity, not because I was superior to others, but because God, who meant it for mankind, must reveal it to someone, and was pleased to reveal it to me."

No wonder his first telegraphic message was "What Hath God Wrought!"

Are you living so close to God that He can reveal things to you that will benefit and bless others?

FMHA Emergency Loan Program to be held in Floydada

WASHINGTON -- Panhandle and South Plains area farmers will have a chance to voice their opinions on the Farmers Home Administration's (FmHA) Emergency Loan Program on August 24 in Floydada before a congressional public hearing arranged by Congressman Bill Sarpalius, (D-Amarillo).

The House Subcommittee on Conservation, Credit, and Rural Development will hold this public hearing on Monday, August 24, at 2:00 p.m. in the District Courtroom of the Floyd County Courthouse and is open to the public.

"The purpose of this hearing is to listen to the farmers and producers of the 13th District," Sarpalius said. "It is a chance for farmers to discuss their experiences with the Emergency Loan Program and to help Congress understand the difficulties farmers are facing."

"Apparently, the federal emergency loan program is not reaching the producers that need assistance getting through weather-related disasters," Sarpalius continued.

"So, I convinced Chairman Glenn English, (D-Oklahoma), to bring Washington to Floydada and learn first-hand the problems confronting our farmers," Sarpalius said.

Representative English is the chairman of the Conservation, Credit, and Rural Development Subcommittee which oversees all FmHA programs, including the emergency loan program. In addition the committee oversees the Farm Credit System, conservation programs, and rural development.

This field hearing will focus on the effectiveness of the Emergency Loan Program. Sarpalius added that the committee is also interested in hearing producers opinions on crop insurance and direct disaster assistance.

"I'm bringing the committee to Floydada so it can hear the ideas and suggestions of the producers most directly impacted," Sarpalius continued, "and hopefully this will result in a legislative remedy."

"This is the American farmer's chance to be heard and make a real impact on the policies that effect the way he does business," Sarpalius said.

Representative Sarpalius invites those who wish to testify to contact his Washington office by August 19 at 202-225-3706. Written testimony of any length may also be submitted by August 21 to the Amarillo office at 817 S. Polk, Amarillo, Texas 79101 or brought directly to the hearing.

Economic Injury Disaster Loans Available From SBA

Walter Fronstin, district director of the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) in Lubbock announced today that SBA is accepting applications for Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDL) from eligible small business concerns and small agricultural cooperatives located in several West Texas counties which are serviced by the Lubbock office.

Businesses located in the following counties have until February 22, 1993 to file an EIDL application:

Armstrong, Briscoe, Collingsworth,

Floyd, Gray, Hall, Motley, Swisher, Wheeler.

Businesses seeking loan information and loan applications may call, toll-free, 1-800-366-6303 or TDD 817-267-4688 for the hearing impaired.

Fronstin said applicants must have sustained substantial economic injury because of their dependence upon farmers and ranchers who suffered agricultural damages. The agricultural damages were caused by a freeze and excessive rain which occurred between September 1 and December 31, 1991.

To qualify for the EIDL loans, applicants must be unable to secure financing from other sources and must be considered small by SBA size standards.

This loan program is intended to assist agriculture-dependent businesses and small agriculture cooperatives who sustained a substantial decrease in sales (or other forms of economic injury) directly due to losses incurred by farmers and ranchers to whom the business usually sells.

"Farmers and ranchers are not eligible for these SBA loans," Fronstin said. "Nor are small businesses claiming to have been physically injured by the specified weather conditions."

The interest rate for loans processed under this designation is 4 percent. The loans are limited to the financial needs of the applicant based on the actual economic injury and may be made for up to $500,000. A loan may extend to 30 years, depending on repayment ability.

Understanding the rules regarding cotton contracts and "beneficial interest" was the goal of a meeting in Lubbock Wednesday, August 5. Approximately 120 cotton producers, ginners and merchants met with USDA personnel and National Cotton Council staff members to learn about the new regulations.

According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers the meeting provided some much needed insight into the way things will have to be done in 1992 and beyond.

Mike McCann, deputy director of the cotton price support division of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), stressed that the new rules will be implemented in 1992 and that producers need to understand them since eligibility for the Commodity Credit Corp. (CCC) Loan program and the receipt of any applicable Loan Deficiency Payment depends on the producer retaining "beneficial interest" in the cotton.

Beneficial interest is determined to remain with the producer if the producer retains control of the cotton, risk of loss, and title to the cotton. McCann pointed out that there are numerous ways a producer can lose beneficial interest because of the way a contract is worded.

To help alleviate as many of these problems as possible ASCS officials have agreed to review industry contracts in 1992 to make sure beneficial interest stays with the producer. McCann added that over 100 contracts have already been reviewed and will be used as a guide for State and County ASCS offices making determinations on contracts.

Bill Gillon, NCC head counsel, noted that producers who have already signed contracts for their 1992 cotton will be allowed to consult with other parties to the contract and have it revised to eliminate potentially troublesome language prior to ginning. Any changes to contracts made after the cotton is ginned, he explains, will not be recognized by ASCS.

McCann and Gillon stressed heavily the fact that in practically every case an advance payment to a producer constitutes a loss of beneficial interest.

Gillon recommends that producers and merchants look for the following items in contracts:

— Is the producer's ability to place cotton in CCC Loan or request an LDP restricted by a specific clause in the contract?

— Does the contract specify when title to the cotton passes to the buyer?

— When is that time?

— Does the contract provide for an advance payment? If so, is the contract an option to purchase contract?

— If the cotton is damaged or destroyed, who is the ultimate beneficiary of any insurance coverage (be it insurance covering the producer, a gin, or a warehouse)?

One new procedure for 1992 is that producers can now present a gin-tag list from the gin to request LDP's for cotton. Producers will also be able to apply for LDP's on cotton the day it is sold as long as the producer met the requirements for eligibility prior to the sale. Producers will be ineligible for the payment if they wait until the next day to make the LDP request.

The message sent to producers and merchants who attended the Lubbock meeting is that contracting parties need to be aware of contract provisions that will affect loan and LDP eligibility and evaluate the transaction based on that knowledge. Producers are encouraged to have local ASCS offices review any proposed sales contract prior to its execution if they have questions about how it will affect program eligibility.

THREE GOOD REASONS TO GO THROUGH CD WITHDRAWAL

1. RATES 2. RATES 3. RATES

How do you feel about locking in an interest rate when rates are at a 26 year low? In fact, when you consider inflation and taxes, the real return on your CD can be negative. With Delta tax-deferred annuities, if the rate Delta earns on your money goes up, the rate you earn goes up. Guaranteed.
