TRAIL DUST Services, Football Contest To Mark Thanksgiving Day

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

It was a strange hour, gravid with the pent up passion of fate. Slinking behind the sail of a wandering cloud-ship, the moon was suddenly left naked and shameless; coyotes howled from the agony in their souls and the world seemed helpless against some unknown doom. Devious shadows scurried along the distant rim of horizon, or became suddenly arrested as if to conceal their movement. A quick gust of wind rolled a coal from the ashes of the campfire, and left it glowing like a red eye in the darkness. There was a whining in the tops of the mesquites; a wind with tears in its voice, and sleeping cowboys pulled the rough tarpaulins up over their heads. The moon was swept away like a lamp in a gale as the chilling wind hunted little pockets of warmth to destroy. Fine sleet rattled on the taut chuck-wagon fly tent and swirled in the ashes that swirled between the pot-rack posts. Massive flakes of snow flooded the eerie haze and caught in the grass. The storm snapped its whips of fury, but the tenseness was gone from the night. A blizzard was swinging in its basin of Texas skies.

Amid the tarnished memories of childhood one still gleams with simple beauty strong enough to defy the abrasive element of time. Warmth of a kitchen stove flooded the large room as light of the frosty dawn appeared in the east window. A cast-iron tea kettle on the stove breathed sweet steam about my mother's plump arms as she turned griddle cakes in the skillet. My father patiently pulled black ribboned stockings over my small, flabby legs and my mother stooped to kiss me. I do not remember life before that morning.

When the heart is sterile in its kiln of pain and the tear-fires last blaze has cooled, when the dust of crumbled dreams lies like frost on hope's frozen petals, there flies a phantom of peace. It is the repose of a dead tree in the forest that fears neither lightning nor ax. It is the serenity of an empty shell on the shore of an empty sea.

Under soft blankets of powdered years the unwanted fasciae of the past finds sanctuary in the darkness of attitudes. The spirits of long-ago lovers must speak from their dusty picture frames, and light the old painted oil lamp. Perhaps they open the dented, oval-top trunk and read dusty, long-forgotten love letters, or rock the unpainted cradle so long emptied of any weight save that of weaving spiders. There is no sound when unseen fingers touch the strings of a long-haired harp, or lift a folded taffeta dress from its boxed seclusion. The waxed thread of love runs through a needle in the ancient sewing machine making children's clothes. Below this eternity for things unwanted, a world is being spent for things to store in attics of the future. Yet the earth smiles in patient knowledge that all things created and the hands and hearts that fashion them must return to the parent flesh of soil.

Coals from the altar fires of a youth's loneliness blazed on the endless mesa of ecstasy in that hour when a girl first kissed my hesitant lips. My paint pony was a Pegasus riding paths of the clouds and my stirrups brushed silver dust from the stars. Listening to the music of orchestras playing in my heart, I rode across the night to the grim and beautiful portals of dawn. Reality tore my dream away. A milk cow was bawling and a hoe was hanging on the fence at the end of weedy rows, awaiting my returning. Perhaps that beauty is a joy forever was not spoken of love.

Services, Football Contest To Mark Thanksgiving Day

Special church services, a football game, and the closing of most of Matador's business establishments will herald in Thanksgiving Day Thursday for Matador.

A public union Thanksgiving service will be held at 10:30 a. m. at the First Baptist Church with congregations of that church and the Methodist Church providing the program.

Rev. Oscar Bruce, newly appointed Methodist minister for Matador will make the main address and Rev. Clifford Potts, the new Baptist preacher, will preside.

At 2:30 p. m., the Matador High School football team will go to Paducah for the Thanksgiving classic.

Stores To Be Closed

All grocery stores, dry goods stores, cleaning establishments, barber shops, lumber yards and city and county offices were slated to lock up for the day.

Only two restaurants, Vaughn's and Bob's Cook Shack indicated that they would remain open. Vaughn's will close sometime after the noon meal, and Bob's will remain open all day.

Other firms which indicated they would be closed for the day are West Texas Utilities, City Bakery, First State Bank, the ACA office and the Post Office.

The longest holiday observance of Matador's institutions will be that of the school system which will last from Thursday through Sunday.

Flomot Ruled Out Of Football League

Flomot and Silverton have been declared ineligible to compete in championship play of the 1-B football District, according to a news story in the Briscoe County News.

The grounds for ruling out Flomot were not stated in the story. Silverton was ruled out because of a technicality regarding the eligibility of one of their players, the article stated.

This will leave Estelline and Happy to vie for the championship of the league, the paper said.

Other teams making up the 1-B League are Claude, Vega, Groom, Turkey, Quitaque and Kress.

Auxiliary Will Sponsor Essay Contest On Peace

"America's Contribution for a Permanent Peace," is the subject on which high school students throughout the United States will write essays in the American Legion Auxiliary 1947 national contest.

Each state winner will receive a set of World Book Encyclopedia. A cash award of $100 will go to the national winner.

Harkey Trial Moved To Motley County

DICKENS, Nov. 26. After examining 60 prospective jurors in the second trial of R. S. Harkey, charged with murder in connection with the shooting of J. F. Baker last January, and finding only one who was acceptable to both prosecution and defense, the case was moved to Motley county, court officials announced today.

District Attorney Richard F. Stovall of Floydada said a date had not been set for the trial, to be held at Matador, still in the 110th district court, before Judge Alton B. Chapman.

Most of the panel examined pleaded having formed an opinion in the case, it was said.

Matador Not Exactly In Line, Survey Shows

Nobody's house is going to be torn down, and you can still travel on that misplaced road without going under water.

About the only excitement caused by the unmathematical lay out of the roads has been the recent grading of the roads. Several property owners have had small trees plowed under and another lost the bottom step of his sidewalk.

According to Hamilton, the Q. A. & P. instigated the movement to have the surveying done because they are considering selling several lots in the Negro settlement which they own.

Posts are being set in charcoal foundations to mark the blocks, a step designed to enable future property owners to find plots more easily. Hamilton said.

From a mathematical standpoint, some of Matador's streets and residents are cockeyed, according to a survey made last week by Walter Newell, licensed surveyor from Floydada.

Newell's figures say that the east-west road which connects with north Main Street just north of the bridge should, according to mathematics, run under the bridge.

Also, the Scout Hut is in the center of an unopened road, as is a Negro residence and a Negro chicken yard.

But from a practical standpoint it's nothing to worry about, according to John Hamilton, legal representative for the Q. A. & P. Railroad—the company which shared expenses with several Matador businesses and citizens to bring Newell here for the survey.

Farmers Told Not To Sell Sorghums

An appeal for farmers not to place their grain sorghums on the market Tuesday was issued by the Marvin Allen, ACA administrative officer.

Allen said that the present market price of the sorghums had dropped to $1.70 per hundred pounds—just four cents over what the ACA will loan on the product, whether it be farm stored grain or not.

This summer's price on grain sorghums was $4 per hundred pounds, according to Allen, and the price will more than likely go up before next year.

To secure ACA approval on farm stored grain sorghums the crop must be in storage 30 days before the ACA inspection of the storage bin, Allen said, and the moisture content must be less than 13 per cent.

Maladors To Meet Paucuh Thursday

Matador High School's football squad will attempt to slay the Paducah Dragons at Paducah, at 2:30 p. m. today (Thursday) in their last game of the season.

Coach Brady Thomas' Maladors are currently in the 500 column, having won three and lost three conference games.

Coach R. N. (Stormy) Davis' Dragons stand somewhat better in the league with a 666 victory average, by virtue of having won four out of six of their games.

In the weight department the Maladors have a slight advantage. The average Dragon shoots the scales up to 151, and the average Matador hits the 156 mark.

The Paducah backfield averages 154 pounds and the Malador backs are 15 pounds heavier. The Paducah line tips the beams at an average of 147—just two pounds under the Matador line average.

This season's statistics, which will probably have little to do with Thursday's game, reveal in the Paducah's record 112 points to their opponents 93. Matador has scored 123 points and their opponents have chalked up 102 pointers.

Both Matador and Paducah were beaten by Floydada by a 40-0 score.

Two Fatally Burned In Freak Accidents

Fire claimed two lives Monday in two separate accidents.

O. R. Faust, 60, of Amarilla, was fatally burned when an automobile travelling at high speed left the highway and crashed into his house. Mrs. Faust was admitted to the hospital for treatment of a broken leg, and two men, one an ex-convict, were booked in jail for questioning in connection with the accident.

Early Monday morning, W. L. (Bob) Anderson, a truck driver for the Transport Company of Texas (Amarillo) was fatally burned when his truck left the highway and crashed into a concrete embankment seven miles northeast of Snyder on the Lubbock-Snyder highway.

Anderson's accident was described by residents of Snyder as the worst ever seen in that territory. The theory was advanced that Anderson may have gone to sleep while driving the truck.

Winter Plays Tag Over Area

A wintery blast blew down from the Rockies Monday and brought Matador sleet, a feeble snow flurry and temperatures of 30 degrees.

But by Tuesday the temperature had gone up to the 60's and the bright sun turned the day into summer.

Snow covered most of the Panhandle and there was a drop in temperature from the Red River to the Rio Grande. Generally, what Panhandle and South Plains area not covered by snow was drenched by cold drizzles.

A heavy snow at Pampa was the first of the year there.

Tipton received a $225 bond and $6.77 in cash. He was in the Marine Corps for 42 months and was stationed in the South Pacific for 27 months. Tipton, a tank corps veteran, was in the battles of Tarawa, Saipan and Tinian.

The only other enlisted man's leave pay reported for Motley County was by a Navy veteran. Tipton's leave pay came two months after he had applied for it.

The program will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will include the principal speech by ex-Army Chaplain, Clifford Potts, the new Baptist preacher at Matador, and a special initiation for new members of the post, Vinson said.

Marvin Allen, VFW member and Motley County ACA administrative officer, will be the toastmaster during the program.

Vinson said that the membership drive began Armistice Day and that the enrollment of the post had been boosted to 110 enlistments. No tabulations of the number of members enrolled during the drive have been made, he declared.

Those to attend the steak supper will be VFW members and a guest of each member, according to Vinson. Approximately 100 persons are expected to attend.

Members of the banquet committee are Vance Gilbreath, Brady Thomas and David Campbell.

Dec. 7th Set For ACA Vote

Saturday, December 7, has been named as the date for farmers to elect their local committeemen and a delegate to the county convention under the ACA Farm Program, according to Marvin Allen, ACA administrative officer.

For the first time in 10 years of such voting, farmers may vote by mail, Allen said.

Five polls will be open to Motley farmers. One will be at the Thacker Supply Company at Roaring Springs; another at Smith's Grocery at Whiteflat; and others at the Tipton Grocery at Northfield, the Flomot School building, and the ACA office in Matador.

W. L. McWilliams, chairman of the Motley County Agricultural Conservation Association, declared that the new committeemen will be faced with special reconversion program, and for that reason he urged all farmers of the county to take a special interest in the voting.

For more detailed information on the election see Allen's AAA column printed elsewhere in this Tribune issue.

Jackie Bloodworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Bloodworth, left Matador recently to work in the Yellow Cab service station at Lubbock.

Texas Lions Preparing To "Brand" California

Texas Lions are riding herd on the membership of California and it will be "roundup time in the summer" (July 28-29-30-31) when thousands of Lone Star delegates converge on the Golden Gate convention city to claim the leadership in Lionism. Texans will go prepared for "range work". Each delegate will be required to wear a gold shirt, purple tie, boots, khaki pants and a western hat with 3 1/2 or 4-inch brim.

Plans of the International convention were discussed here Monday night when delegates of three counties, Floyd, Motley and Cottle met at Bob's Cook Shack. Representatives to the zone meeting were present from Floydada, Paducah, Roaring Springs and Matador clubs with Deputy District Governor Ed Johnson of Floydada serving as chairman in the absence of zone chairman, Byron Schots of Paducah. Other Floydada Lions included Earl Crow and G. E. Mayo. Roaring Springs was represented by Boss Lion S. J. Mitchell. Matador representatives included Lions Henry Pipkin and Secretary Randall Whitworth. Paducah's representatives were Bill Bigham and Afton Willingham.

The four clubs comprise zone 11, region 3 of District 2-T. Following the enjoyable steak supper, chairman Johnson immediately started the business of the meeting with announcements of three important conventions in 1947, starting with the district convention in El Paso, May 4, 5, and 6. In June the state convention will be held in Beaumont (8-9-10) followed by the International meet at San Francisco in July. He said a district cabinet meeting was held in Lubbock Sunday and that the next cabinet meeting will be held in Amarillo some time in February. District 2-T has 21 zones, 85 clubs and a membership of 5,600. A goal has been set to attain 6,000 members by July.

Plans are underway to divide District 2-T, which reaches from Dalhart to El Paso, and will probably be completed during the state convention in June. Members feel that the distance is too great for the district to be adequately served by one district governor. Frank Jordan of Brownfield is present governor of the District.

Next meeting of the zone will be held in Paducah. A definite date in February will be announced later.

The new regulation lists more than 100 military occupational specialties in which partially disabled men can be enlisted. They may re-enter with the rank they held at discharge, provided enlistment is completed prior to February 1. They are to have the same base pay and allowances as men on full duty status, based on rank, the announcement said, but on re-enlistment cannot continue to draw pensions or other compensations now being paid for their disability. —Lubbock Avalanche

Dr. Rainey Gets
New College Job

Dr. Homer Price Rainey, 50, former president of the University of Texas and Bucknell University, will become president-elect of Stephens College January 1, and will succeed Dr. James M. Wood as active head of the institution next June it was announced by Hugh Stephens of Jefferson City, president of the college's curators.

Dr. Rainey, a native of Texas and a graduate of Austin, Texas College and the University of Chicago, is a Baptist. Dr. Rainey was ousted as president of the University of Texas in November 1944, after holding that position for five years, in a bitter fight over academic freedom, and sought unsuccessfully to win election as governor of Texas last summer.

Dr. Rainey's ouster followed charges by the institution's curators that he refused to conform to their regulations and policies and made statements "reflecting on the motives and good faith of the board."

Dr. Rainey had charged the regents imposed "restrictive measures" upon academic freedom and encroached upon his administrative duties. Three members of the nine-member board resigned after the ouster.

Dr. Wood, who will continue actively associated with the college, is 71. He has served as president of the college since 1912, coming to the institution when it had an enrollment of only 35, and guiding it to an enrollment well above 2,000. It is internationally recognized for its leadership in an educational program for women.

Germans To Face Massacre Charge

Allied headquarters at Caserta, Italy, announced recently that a man arrested last week by Italian police was Nazi Col. Eugene Dollman, accused by the Italian press as one of the trigger men in the Ardeatine cave massacre, for which two German generals will go on trial soon.

The generals—Col. Gen. Eberhard von Mackensen, former deputy commander of German troops in Italy; Lt. Gen. Kurt Maelzer, who commanded the open city of Rome—will face a British military court in this city.

They are charged with responsibility for the slaughter of 335 Italians in reprisal for the deaths of 32 Nazi SS (Elite Guard) troops, who were ambushed with bombs as they marched along a downtown street. Two Italians already have been executed and another lynched in connection with the atrocity, which Romans have made their symbol of Nazi-Fascist oppression.

Dollman, former German SS commander in Rome, had been the subject of bitter controversy in the Italian press for the last week. Several newspapers, pointing out that Dollman reportedly helped the Allies negotiate the surrender of Germans in Northern Italy, said the German colonel was whisked away from Italian police by Allied authorities immediately after his arrest.

Allied officials said that they knew nothing of Dollman's whereabouts. —Avalanche.

Farm Leader Wants
"Free Land" Back

Restoration of "free soil" was asked by J. Walter Hammond of Tye, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, in the opening address of the organization's thirteenth annual convention Wednesday at San Antonio. Hammond declared:

"There was a time when supply and demand determined prices. In that era the true value of soil was reflected in the price or exchange value of products. Those who tilled the soil represented the wealth of this nation. But since then, by legislation and regulation, the soil has been devalued. Trade barriers and monopolies have grown up.

"These forces, unhampered, have forced the farmers to sell their products on a free market, while at the same time buying farm machinery, drugs, automobiles, dairy equipment and many other articles on a market protected by tariff and honey-combed with monopoly. Thus the once proud agriculturist, has been reduced to the lowest per capita income group in America."

He stated another major problem is the farmer's health. He praised the Hill-Burton bill passed by the last Congress as it promises, he said, to be "helpful in providing general health facilities." But, he asserted, that an act of the Texas legislature will be necessary before Texans can take advantage of the bill.

Hammond criticized the State Highway department, charging that much of the $30,000,000 federal money set aside for building of farm-to-market roads, is being wasted on the main highway systems. —Lubbock Avalanche.

OIL-PLATES Your Engine!

ACTUALLY a soap bubble is an extremely sheer net of molecules (held together by a strange attractive force) enclosing a sphere of air. And by pioneering in fields of molecular forces, Conoco scientists bring out new and better oils.

For instance, by molecular attraction, a special ingredient in Conoco Nth motor oil is bonded to working surfaces of your engine. Unlike the soap bubble which vanishes when pricked, Conoco oil's ingredient holds on—is OIL-PLATED to cylinder walls and other parts.

OIL-PLATING stays up where it belongs . . . doesn't all drain down to the crankcase, even overnight . . . gives you these benefits:

added protection when your engine starts up
added protection from corrosive action added protection from wear that leads to fouling sludge and carbon

FARM NEWS

MARVIN ALLEN
Matador County ACA
Administrative Officer

ber 7th. For the past ten years farmers have been called to go to the polls and vote in the AAA Committeemen to elect them in the formula for their farm program. This year will give all eligible voters the same reminder that they have come to exercise their democratic right to vote for the person of their choice. The first time farmers will have an opportunity to vote for their committeemen by mail. Ballots will be sent to eligible voters. On this ballot will appear the name of the candidate for each position who was selected by a voting committee of farmers from the community and also for the farmers to write the name of any farmer he wishes to represent him as a committee member if he does not want to vote for any. Each farmer will vote for regular members of the community and two alternates.

At the same time, voters will be asked to elect a delegate to represent the county community at the county convention. At that county convention the delegates from all communities within the county will elect three farmers to serve as the county Conservation Committee for 1947. Voters may mail the ballots to the ACA office or bring them in and place them in the box or they may take them to the polling place in person on December 7th. The date set for the election is December 7th.

Farmers Reminded Of Cotton-Loan Protection

Cotton farmers are reminded that they need not market their crop at just any price. The Government programs are available which afford both price and orderly marketing protection.

Producers who take out Government loans on their cotton crops—at 92½% of parity—not only can promote the orderly marketing of the crop, they also keep title to ownership of the cotton, and may dispose of it later, as they wish.

Actually, U. S. Cotton is in a statistically favorable position. On August 1, of this year, the national carry-over was 71 million bales, compared with 11 million in 1945, and record 13 million bales in 1939. Large stocks of cotton previously held by the Commodity Credit Corporation have been sold.

By August 1 of next year, the carry-over is expected to be less than 4 million bales, the smallest in 17 years. All of which means price protection and a strong probable demand for cotton.

in every community in Motley County. The wife of every eligible voter who does not receive a ballot by mail may secure one by calling at the ACA office or may go to the polls on December 7th and vote.

Due to the fact that wives of eligible voters can vote and the fact that all can vote by mail this year should necessarily increase participation in the election, so that the men who are elected truly represent the choice of the farmers in the community. Farmers elected as committeemen will be called on during the next year to perform many responsible duties. They will make important decisions about soil conservation, about crop adjustments, about Government price support, crop insurance and other Federal Farm Programs. We urge that every eligible voter cast his ballot in this election Saturday, December 7, and give his support to the man he wants to represent him as his committeeman for 1947.

A Lesson In Conservation

We were sitting on Bill Webster's porch the other night, chatting over a glass of beer—when the talk turned to forest preservation, soil erosion, and other things that affect a farming community.

Judge Cunningham speaks up: "It's all right to worry about conserving our natural resources," he says, "but there's a far bigger problem when it comes to conservation—and that's preserving our democratic way of life, our sense of personal freedom, our respect for one another's rights."

Whenever you see or hear of an encroachment on our rights—whether it's the right to free speech, or the right to vote as we see fit, or the right to enjoy a friendly glass of beer in licensed, law-abiding places... watch out!

THE CATHARTIC HABIT

★ Too many people are influenced by stories concerning "intestinal cleanliness" or "stimulating the flow of bile." Many cases of simple constipation do not require a laxative at all, but only a minor change in diet and habit.

The habitual use of cathartics is dangerous. Such misuse is often followed by chronic ill health. Strong laxatives are particularly dangerous when taken to relieve abdominal distress. The source of the pain should always be accurately determined by your physician. The safe procedure is to consult him. If a laxative is needed, he will prescribe a safe preparation with proper instructions for dosage. Then bring your prescription to us for expert compounding.

Scientists Seek Fund To Educate Public On A-Bomb

bers, and more destructive." Speaking for the emergency committee of atomic scientists, Einstein said in a radio appeal recently that no military defense against the bomb could be expected. "The only solution is international control of the bomb and the elimination of war," he asserted.

Einstein stated that the money would be used to "spread clear ideas about the situation so that able statesmen will not be hampered by antiquated opinions and prejudices." He said that as scientists and "intellectual workers," the committee would not intervene directly in politics to gain their purpose.

Dr. Arnold C. Urey of the University of Chicago, vice-president of the committee, said the $1,000,000 would be distributed to organizations of scientists already engaged in spreading knowledge about the bomb, such as the Federation of American Scientists and the National Committee on Atomic Information.

This Is News; Man Bites Dog's Owner

A barking dog caused Floyd Hollenbeck to get the end of his little finger chewed off—but the dog didn't do the gnawing. Hollenbeck told police his dog was barking at two men from behind a fence when one of the men threw a rock and hit the animal. Hollenbeck said he remonstrated and in a scuffle which followed one of the men bit off the end of the little finger on his left hand.

Police went in search of the biter. —Dallas Morning News.

OPA Says Sugar Is Due For Price Boost

The OPA Tuesday ordered an increase in refiners' raw sugar prices and said the action would mean an increase of about a half cent a pound to customers.

The boost, the agency said, will add about $50,000,000 a year to the consumer food bill. The increases are effective Wednesday for refiners, but OPA said the boost to consumers would not go into effect until retailers receive their first shipments at the revised prices. —Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

Bilbo's "War Deals" To Be Investigated

Senator Bilbo of Mississippi, already under scrutiny by one Senate committee for his utterances and tactics in last summer's Mississippi primary, faced a new investigation Wednesday by another group.

The inquiry, authorized late Monday by the Senate War Investigating Committee, will be concerned solely with Bilbo's relations with a group of war contractors who built a number of Southern air fields for the Army.

The other investigation which will be conducted by the special Senate Campaign Investigating Committee in Mississippi beginning December 2, will go into sworn charges that Bilbo tried to prevent Negroes from voting.

The war probe committee has had investigators in Mississippi since June looking into reports which—committee counsel Francis D. Flanagan said—alleged that Bilbo received $25,000 from contractors, and that the money was spent trying to elect Wall Doxey to the Senate in 1942. Doxey now is Senate sergeant-at-arms.

Statutes prohibit war contractors from contributing to political campaigns.

Flanagan said the investigators also looked into another reported $8,750 contribution to Bilbo, and into the construction of his "Dream House No. 2" near Poplarville, Mississippi. The builder of the home was reported also to have been an air field contractor.

Bilbo has declared he has "done no wrong." Committee Chairman Kilgore of West Virginia emphasized to reporters that the newly ordered investigation will center entirely on the subject of any relations between Bilbo and war contractors, and will not attempt to pass on his eligibility for a seat in the Senate.

However, any pertinent matter turned up will be passed to the privileges and elections committee, or its successor under the congressional reorganization law. The Republican Senate steering committee already has taken steps toward exclusion of Bilbo from the Senate when the new session convenes January 3. —Ft. Worth Star-Telegram.

WEIRD TALE OF HITLER'S LAST DAYS REVEALED

A German woman flier's weird story of the "comic tragedy" last days in Adolph Hitler's air raid shelter in Berlin was published this week by Justice Jackson's war crimes prosecution staff.

The flier, Hanna Reitsch, internationally known test pilot, told American questioners that Hitler's personality underwent "complete disintegration" in the final days before the Russians overran the shelter beneath the Reich's Chancellery.

Her 10,000-word account was included in the latest of an official series of volumes, along with Hitler's private and political wills and other documents which were not placed in the Nuernberg trial record. In it she said:

1. Almost to the last Hitler clung to the hope of rescue, waved papers in nervous twitching hands, or moved buttons to represent his non-existing armies on a sweat stained map.

2. Both he and Goebbels were incensed at the "treachery" of Goering and Himmler, whom Hitler in his political will ordered expelled from the Nazi party.

3. Goebbels strode and orated about his small quarters, while Martin Bormann, Hitler's designated heir, kept busy "recording the momentous events in the bunker for posterity."

4. Even Braun remained true to her role as the show piece of the fuhrer's entourage. The rumor of the last minute marriage ceremony Fraulein Reitsch considered "highly unlikely."

The possibility that Hitler might have escaped alive was "completely absurd," because he would not have had the strength to leave even had a path to freedom been cleared through the ring of besiegers. —Amarillo Times.
