

Arguments Started In Dickens County Trial

Arguments of defense and prosecution lawyers started here this afternoon in the trial of Riley Harkey, 54, of Dickens county charged with murder in the shooting of Jim Baker more than a year ago. The case was moved here because of a hung jury in a previous trial in Dickens county. Harkey took the stand Wednesday afternoon in District

Judge Alton B. Chapman's court and pleaded that he acted in self defense. He testified that Baker was attacking him with a hammer as he, Harkey, sat in a pick-up, and that he, Harkey, got a pistol from the glove compartment and shot Baker one time. Interest has been high in the case, with Motley county's small District court room filled to standing capacity since starting of selecting jurors Monday. The case is moving more rapidly than expected and observers believed it might be turned to the jury by late tonight or early tomorrow. Snowfall Wednesday hampered progress of the case to some extent. State witness Dr. J. F. Hughes of Spur, wrecked his car enroute to the hearing and was delayed. District Judge Chapman and the 110th judicial district's official shorthand reporter, Mrs. Lucille Allred, both of Floydada, narrowly averted injury when Judge Chapman's car went out of control on the snow-covered pavement and turned around three times enroute here.

subduing flames at point of origination in the engine room. Damages were held to an estimated $4,000, altho the gin was 'afire all over' before the alarm was sounded. Mr. Thompson rewarded the fire department with $100 the day following the fire. —Photo by Douglas Meador

C. D. Bird Shoots Wild Cat Raiding His Chicken Yard

C. D. Bird heard a commotion in his chicken yard one night last week and investigated. Trapped inside the net wire fencing was one of the largest wild cats he had ever seen, glaring out of the darkness. He called to his wife to bring the shot gun.

Mr. Bird has a large, well-furred wild cat pelt for a rug, except that the hide has a large hole in the center of the animal's back. The load of turkey shot did not improve the rug but it did eliminate the chicken-thief which had destroyed three roosters. The large bob-cat hide (dry) measured almost four feet from the tip of his nose to the end of his tail.

Snow Follows Summer Weather In Panhandle

Summer weather hurried out of the Panhandle late Monday when a mass of icy air driven by north wind caused the mercury to plummet out of the high 70's to near the freezing point by Tuesday morning.

The sudden encore of winter continued with chilling winds despite clear skies throughout Tuesday. Surprise to this area was a snow storm of short duration early Wednesday. Beginning about daylight the fall continued to increase until after ten o'clock. Altho the snow melted rapidly on the warm earth, it is estimated that between four and five inches fell here.

Clearing skies late Wednesday were followed by slightly below freezing temperatures during the night and cold, foggy weather early today.

Farmers and ranchers declared the snow, altho lighter in other sections of the county than in Matador, would be of much benefit to wheat.

Weather forecasts predicted possibility of more snow today with warmer weather promised for tomorrow.

JURY-OF-VIEW TO DECIDE VALUE OF FLOMOT ROAD LAND

Landowners and the Commissioners Court failed to reach an agreement on the value of additional property for the nine-mile Flomot farm to market road right-of-way and appraisal will now go to a jury-of-view, appointed by County Judge Wm. R. Cammack.

The three-man appraisal board includes T. E. Long, Sterling Price and Ben Keltz. Their decision will be final.

Letting of the contract for construction of the road which will start at Highway 18 and extend west for nine miles thru Flomot to the west county line, has been delayed until an agreement of value can be reached between the landowners and the court.

The State Highway Commission will let the contract for construction of the road (to be known as F-97) when the appraisal report of the jury-of-view is made, Judge Cammack declared.

BANK WILL BE CLOSED FOR HOLIDAY SATURDAY

First State bank will be closed Saturday, February 22, in observance of Washington's birthday, with other banking institutions throughout the nation.

Customers are requested to transact business in advance in order to avert possible inconvenience.

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Music is possessed with a soul which must depart when it is spent, to return to a sanctuary in paradise and wait for re-birth. It lingers for an instant at the bluffs of oblivion, before plunging into forgetfulness, leaving heritages of memories.

He was a plain man, lonely with his own thoughts. Tall, tanned and strong with the strength of personal decisions, he had grown a rough bark of arrested interest which shielded his emotions. Time seemed to have avoided him for pliable material until the gum-chewing waitress smiled more than was necessary when he spilled a cup of coffee. The pinched-out candles in his eyes were re-lit and his appearance was that of a discouraged flower blooming against its will. One night he waited in his car outside the little cafe while time deliberately held back the closing hour. When the last light had perished and other employees had locked the door, he stared at the darkened building and the reflection of street glares in the grease-stained window. He drove away with his thoughts and could find no peace. In the passing weeks his hurt healed without a trace, except the residue of perpetual tenderness in his eyes. Even pain can be a relief from the dry morass of monotony.

Looking in the little windows of other peoples' lives they seem cluttered with as much triviality as my own, but it is regarded with less importance.

Many closed doors are unlocked and untried except when the winds of chance press against their panels; or a dreamer blunders to the portal.

When a destiny is cut from the fabric of love, a thing of delicate beauty assumes enduring strength.

Smoke followed the train desperately like the pursuit of a forsaken lover. I placed my ear to the rail and listened to the fading sound, then sat on the cross ties and removed a sharp cinder from between my toes. The sky had drunk up the smoke like a thirsty blotter when I looked up. Swinging the strap and one book over my shoulder, I resumed my way home from school and meditated on the brevity of pleasant things. Trains seemed like such splendid things, shuttling from the boredom of childhood to the glorious stations of maturity.

HIGHWAY ENGINEER TO INSPECT ROUTE OF PROPOSED ROAD

Additional improved farm-to-market highways for Motley county became the object of efforts by county officials last week when County Judge Wm. R. Cammack and Commissioner J. N. Fletcher of Roaring Springs appeared before the State Highway Commission, February 14, to plead for an extension of the Matador-Childress road, via Northfield and the proposed Roaring Springs - Daughtery route.

Roaring Springs - Daughtery road would start at Roaring Springs and connect with farm-to-market road in Floyd county at Daughtery.

J. B. Nabors, State Highway Commission District Engineer, will be here within the next few days to inspect the proposed Roaring Springs route and county officials feel that the road has a good chance of state designation.

B. F. Simpson, prominent Northfield rancher and Motley county pioneer also appeared before the State Highway commission last week and pleaded for improvement of the road to Northfield.

Elevator Firm Trades For Warehouse

A deal has recently been consummated whereby the Red Ball Feed and Grain elevator firm of Roaring Springs acquired the Quannah Cotton Oil Co. warehouse No. 3 at Roaring Springs. The 40 x 80 building, built in 1925, will be used for the firm's expanding feed business, it was announced this week by E. E. Moss, partner with his son, James Moss.

The name of the elevator has been changed from the H & M elevator to the Red Ball Feed & Seed.

The transaction was not an outright sale but merely an exchange. The Red Ball Feed & Seed is receiving material for the construction of a new sheet-iron 20 x 60 building on the Quannah Cotton Oil Company property adjacent to the Roaring Springs gin. The elevator firm will construct the new building for the oil company in exchange for the warehouse, which is located on the Q. A. & P. railway tracks. Mr. Moss said it was hoped that construction could be completed by April 1.

The Red Ball Feed and Seed has recently acquired the Purina Feeds agency and will use the warehouse in connection with feed storage.

 February 14th, and love is in the air . . . sweethearts walking hand in hand, the sun shining, birds singing . . . and all that there. Even great-grandmother had her valentine. A courtly polished gentleman . . . but not too polished to take great-grandmother aside and whisper:
 "Roses are red,
 Violets are blue,
 Sugar is sweet,
 And so are you!"
 Grandmother, too, had her valentine . . . grandfather bought himself a new buggy and took her for a ride down by the old mill-stream 'neath the shade of the old apple tree. After coughing a couple of times, he managed to say,
 "Roses are red,
 Violets are blue,
 Sugar is sweet,
 And so are you. And er-ah, I surely do like you a lot!"
 When Pa was courtin' Ma, the wheel came off the Ford, and Pa tried to make up for it by serenading her on his violin. Ma liked it . . . and he sent her a dozen roses with a little card attached. If I remember right, the words ran something like this,
 "Roses are red,
 Violets are blue,
 Sugar is sweet,
 And so are you!"
 And now, every lil' gal's "hubba, hubba" man will be coming over the fence and in the back door to tell his "Bobby Sox" (who most likely will be rigged in jeans and a plaid shirt) that she's the slickest chick in town. For these certain hep-cats will be a big box of chocolates wrapped in red paper, and written on top in little blue letters will be,
 "Roses are red,
 Violets are blue,
 Sugar is sweet,
 And so are you!"

The ones in charge of the election will know, of course—but they couldn't tell. Why? Because you would know as much as they did, then!

Building Problems

HOME BUILDING today brings up many problems . . . Here are some interesting facts that may help answer your questions:

AMERICA HAS A TREMENDOUS SUPPLY OF TIMBER

There are ample timber resources in this country—more than enough to rebuild every home and farm building in America,—and more is growing. Timber is a crop. The nation has a permanent supply of lumber.

LUMBER SOON WILL BE AVAILABLE IN INCREASING SUPPLY

It is a terrific task to fill the extraordinary demands for new homes and replenish the war-depleted stocks of lumber. But for many months the mills have been shipping trainloads of lumber for home building, and production is increasing. We will get our share, and will fill your needs as rapidly as possible.

LUMBER IS THE MODERN BUILDING MATERIAL

Wood has stood the test of time, and has proved its worth as the enduring, flexible building material, adaptable to all architectural styles.

LUMBER IS A SMALL PART OF THE COST OF YOUR HOME

No matter what your budget, you can afford the charm and beauty of wood. The lumber bill for a modern 6-room all-wood home usually represents less than 1/5th its total cost.

The Bittersweetness of the Toddler

With the one-year oldster stumbling under your feet and tugging at your apron strings, for a better understanding of him, for a moment reflect on this busy, noisy claim for recognition. You'll note these are his actions. In his scamperings about the house he always scuttles back for reassurance. This is necessary—for these joints and the satisfaction that security is ever present gradually breeds independence in the little tyke. Of course, patience is demanded. He blows and flutters ashes from ash trays setting silvery dust over tables, face and rug; artistically bent he inscribes etchings on doors, walls and furniture. To break the monotony of domestic drum he renders a symphony with a clatter of pots and pans. In his independent feeding moods he dunks his fingers, hands and all, in his milk, for extra measure he rubs his spinach over his face and polka dots his bib for fair. Your nerves are taut, you're ready with a tirade of scoldings, when amid these childish capers cunningly comes his angelic smile and irresistible expression. Immediately all your steel-like resolutions for order melt away like snow. Instead, you smother him with kisses and let him continue his merry play. Now you fully realize this is his way of learning.

In a quick review of the past twelve months you are aware that he has done the biggest growing job in his life: tripling his birth weight, adding about nine inches to his stature, acquiring four to eight teeth, learning to eat, creep, walk and talk. At one month he gained two pounds; at six months, one pound a month; and at one year only a gain of eight ounces each month. As at all times, in infancy Nature enforces its laws of compensation to achieve its results. As he grows rapidly, his appetite matched his growth. With a decrease in weight at one year the toddler's appetite begins to lag. Now he'll turn up his button nose at his once favored vegetable and dangle over his milk. Usually these are temporary dislikes to evoke a solicitous family reaction to his powerful newly acquired "No!"; and partly because he can afford to be selective in his diet since his body does not require as high a food intake as formerly. This is no cause for great concern because his milk may be served in custards, puddings, mild cheeses and milk-cooked cereal. In refusing some vegetables he can still obtain the necessary vitamins and minerals from other foods. You can rely on the commercially prepared coarser foods, known as junior foods, for a large variety from which to choose. There are Chopped Vegetables, Creamed Tomato and Rice, and nourishing Pineapple Rice and Prune Puddings. To keep the toddler in robust health, help him resist diseases and provide him with the elements for proper growth and development, he must maintain a balanced diet of protein, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals, and water.

Babies are great imitators, so mimicry is excellent to teach good habits. After baby is fed, place him with the family group to learn good eating habits. Then he'll be content to munch on a cracker. Even drop during his play period to observe his new and various capabilities. Talk, sing and play music for his speech and expression development. He'll mimic your facial gestures of amusement upon his minor spills and falls—so eliminate negative reactions at such times. More and more he'll attempt to walk alone as grown-ups do. Be sure he is wearing sturdy, flat-soled, heelless shoes which are properly fitted for growing feet.

Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Fulfer of Portales, New Mexico, visited here over the week end with his mother, Mrs. Velma Fulfer and other relatives.

Blanco Canyon Skeleton Is Declared Indian Girl Dead 100 Years Or More

FLOYDADA.—If Floyd County officers are going to solve the mystery of a human skeleton uncovered by two boys in Blanco Canyon on Jan. 19, they are going to have to go a long time back in the history of the county.

Sheriff Leland Hart recently received an official report from the Department of Public Safety criminal laboratory in Austin in which technicians reported the bones were at least 100 years old and not more than 300 years of age.

The report stated the bones, including a human skull and an assortment of body framework, were the remains of an Indian girl about 15 years old.

Thus quietly ended a big ado started on Jan. 19 when two Petersburg boys, on a hunting trip in Blanco Canyon, came upon the skeleton in a small cave on the western canyon rim.

They reported their find to officers, who launched an investigation into missing persons files.

Officers went to the scene and dug up other bones.

One officer explained, "there was still an awful odor and that ground was wet and greasy around where those bones were."

Shortly after the skeleton, first believed to be the remains of two persons, was found, two amateur archeologists expressed opinions that the bones were those of Indians.

Texas Rangers were called into the investigation and the bones were sent to the criminal laboratory in Austin for examination.

With the examination, a prospective murder case blew sky high.

Anyway, it might be interesting to know the circumstances surrounding the death of the 15-year-old Indian girl.

Matador N. F. L. A., upon his return Monday from Houston, where he attended the annual Stockholders' meeting as this association's representative.

"Local farmer and rancher-owned National Farm Loan Associations are the foundations of the Land Bank system and the meeting in Houston was featured by discussion on the operations of these organizations which are set up for providing safe, long-term credit at low cost, to suit the needs of the landowner," Mr. Woodruff said.

SOONER OR LATER A SHOWDOWN MUST COME AS TO WHETHER THE MANAGERS OF BIG BUSINESS AND BIG MONOPOLY ARE TO RUN THE COMMUNITY OR THE COMMUNITY IS TO RUN THEM.

Shall Texas have FAIR Trade or Continue with UNFAIR Trade?

This question must be answered by the 50th Legislature now in session

45 STATES NOW PROTECT THEIR SMALL INDEPENDENT RETAIL MERCHANTS WITH FAIR TRADE LAWS TO ASSURE OPEN COMPETITION. BASIS OF FREE ENTERPRISE.

Loss-leader selling is the chief weapon of the greedy monopolists who seek to destroy all competition. Below-cost sales, in the long run, benefit nobody. They bamboozle the consumer into a feeling of false economy in which pressure selling on high-margin articles makes up profits lost on "bait" sales.

FAIR TRADE LAWS fix no prices . . . create no government agencies . . . require no taxpayers' money . . . require nobody to do anything. Fair Trade Laws are permissive only. They permit consumers to enjoy the benefits of the National Miller-Tydings Act. Fair Trade Laws will prevent Texas from becoming the dumping ground of selfish trade racketeers who can not operate under Fair Trade Laws.

THE RIGHT OF FREE ENTERPRISE IN TEXAS IS THREATENED UNLESS THE NEIGHBORHOOD GROCER, DRUGGIST, HARDWARE DEALER, AND ALL OTHER INDEPENDENT MERCHANTS ARE LEGALLY PROTECTED AGAINST UNFAIR MERCHANDISING PRACTICES.

Write your senator and representative in Austin. Tell them you want a Fair Trade Law passed this year . . . that you want to see all Texas merchants have equal opportunity rather than be driven out of business by the brutal super-marketeters who are fighting so hard against a Fair Trade Law. Naturally they would oppose it, or any other law, which would strengthen the intents and purposes of the anti-trust laws, both state and national. Your legislators do not know what the people back home want unless the people express themselves. Texans, if you believe in fair play, in free enterprise, in equal opportunity for your friends and neighbors and your own sons and daughters, then write TODAY!

Who will control the government of Texas, the greedy super-marketeters or the People of Texas who favor Free Enterprise?

UNIVERSITY SAYS "LIFE" IS RAW

AUSTIN, Feb. 15. — Angry officials of Texas University protested via telegraph to Life magazine today against a story in the current issue which alleged that 66.8 per cent of the school's 17,300 students cheated during examinations.

Dolley claimed the story was based on "a random sample of 175 students out of a total student body of 17,300."

Decision On Road Awaited

NORTHFIELD, Feb. 18. This Northeast Matley County town, which last summer spearheaded the move to complete the Childress to Matador Highway, is eagerly awaiting a decision of the State Highway Commission on the project.

B. F. Simpson, Northfield spokesman, told the commission at a Valentine Day hearing, that farmers of his community had been trying for 30 years to get a farm-to-market road built. He added that "50 years of pioneering is enough."

Northfield, he said, is 35 miles from Childress, Memphis, Matador or Paducah.

The proposed highway, asphalt-topped from Childress to Tell, a distance of 10 miles, is Northfield's nearest pavement. Extended to Matador, this road would be 55 miles long.

Fifty years ago wagon trains regularly traveled through Northfield from Childress to Matador, delivering needed food, medicine and equipment to isolated communities along the route. For most of the way, it's still a dirt road. And traveling it, as Simpson complained, is still a pioneer job.

Soil Conservation Tested By Duster

"The big blow" that swept across West Texas January 29 had its points—it was a good test of the Texas farmer's soil conservation work.

Bailey County Agricultural Agent J. K. Adams reports that the duster, called by old timers "the strongest puff of wind that has hit Bailey County in many moons", would have caused ten times as much soil damage if it had come along before the days when farmers knew how to protect their land from wind erosion.

Most Bailey County farmers were ready for it, Adams says. They left stubble in the fields after the grain sorghum harvest and let late weeds stay on the ground to help anchor down the top soil. The farmers are realizing the value of protective cover as a protective measure to prevent speeding up the loss, they are not in a hurry to get their land back up.

One thing for which I am thankful is the absence of contests which offer $10,000 for completing a sentence.

Some men that I've noticed attack success in the same manner a small dog chases a passing car.

About half of the trouble in this old world never happens and most of the remaining half would not happen if we didn't look for it.

I believe I've discovered why some people are so thoroughly mean. They are impressed by the old Chinese proverb: "The good die young."

It's lots of trouble being a woman and sometimes I meet women who seem to have convinced themselves that it is not worth the effort.

FARIS BEY EL-KHOURI

Faris Bey El-Khoury, former Prime Minister of Syria, served as chairman of the Administrative and Budgetary Committee of the United Nations General Assembly.

The amount to be contributed by each U. N. member is worked out in a scale of contributions, a list of percentages indicating how much of the total funds each nation will contribute to U. N. during a year.

Hiya, all you guys and gals! D'ya know who Turkey Webb was with Sunday??

Billy Taylor and James White were seen together Friday nite.

Mary and Hal, Shorty and Clyde took off for Paducah Sunday night—more fun!

Love, Miss El Matador

The scale of contributions is based generally on each nation's capacity to pay. Comparative estimates of national incomes were used as a fair guide in working out the scale.

Original planning for U. N. finances this year was in the hands of a 10-nation Committee on Contributions.

For 1947, the largest contributor is the United States, whose quota is 39.89 percent.

Contributions from Latin American nations range from .04 percent.

Contributions from near Eastern nations range from .06 percent for Lebanon to .91 percent for Turkey.

MAN IS SUMMONED AS HIS OWN JUROR
 Ft. Worth.—For 18 years Grady Howard Lisby paid his poll tax but never received a jury summons of any kind.
 But he got a summons recently. His name was one of 400 drawn to make up a special venire for the trial which started Monday of a man accused of the sidewalk slaying Aug. 7 of Lora Belle Thompson.
 You guessed it. The defendant is Grady Howard Lisby.

Wayland College Starts Fund Drive For New $250,000 Girls Dormitory Building

Declaring the present crowded conditions in Wayland college, Plainview, inadequate, officials of the Baptist school have launched a drive for $250,000 to construct a new and modern dormitory for girl students. The college now has the largest enrollment in its history. W. E. Hines of Plainview is the campaign chairman.

Dr. John W. Cobb, dean of the college, said the new dormitory would provide many memorial opportunities for those wishing to make their gifts in memory of a loved one, either living or deceased, and that appropriate bronze plaques and tablets would be provided with the names of the loved ones and the donors, placed in suitable locations.

He pointed out that memorial gifts will perpetuate both the name of the donor and the individual to be memorialized, and such a constructive gift will also serve a continuing educational purpose.

Plans for the new girls dormitory specify a building U-shaped in construction, two stories high, with two wings, each 102 feet long. The building will be finished with white brick facing to harmonize with the boys' dormitory.

The new building will provide a conveniently located, modern, fire-proof Girls Dormitory with the best facilities, equipment and furnishings available.

The building will be constructed in units of five rooms; namely, a students' study room will be occupied by two students. Economy and efficient administration is obtained by the elimination of wasteful and noisy hallways. This will permit more effective study concentration in the large study room in each unit.

Tribune, Matador, Motley County, Texas, Thursday, February 21, 1946

The modern facilities, furnishings and administration will afford each student a unique, distinctive cultural atmosphere which will attract an increasing number of students from near and distant points, and students from families of average income and those in the higher income brackets.

In addition to every convenience and comfort, the unit construction will promote closely knit student group and intimate friendship throughout the campus.

 Dr. G. W. McDonald, president of Wayland College, said the following plan. The college is determined to provide the necessary educational facilities to meet the urgent need of the Baptists in the Panhandle region. This is our high priority.

Where Cissy Spent Her Honeymoon

Most of the young newlyweds in our town spend their honeymoon at Roundstone Lake or Jackson Falls; why the Martins even went as far as New York City.

But when Cissy Cupper married the young Carter boy, they allowed as how they were going to spend their honeymoon right here.

"There's no place better than our town," Cissy says. "And I'd like to start married life at home, with things Bud and I are used to."

Makes sense, come to think of it. Folks naturally left them alone.

and except for occasional visits to the Garden Tavern for a glass of beer, they stayed at home, getting used to married bliss.

My missus prefers traveling—and that's her right. But from where I sit, there's no place better for a honeymoon—or second honeymoon—than right at home—with your own possessions, good home cooking, and a friendly glass of beer or two—with the best companion in the world.
