TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

When the beauty of choir music lifts life's burdens from my heart and the wholesome joy of association silences my avenging fears, I feel a strange apprehension. It is as if forever lost souls are pressing their eager faces against the church window panes.

Again the contagion of seed catalogs has started its colorful plague. Bright fantasies of stary-eyed dreamers who have never known which end of a hoe creates blisters, these pictures drive their unfortunate victims from their restful couches of lassitude. The disease whips their hopes with the fragrance of rain-scented wind and fans their fever with the breath of warm sunshine. Little brown squares of freshly-turned soil break out on the unsuspecting earth; the opium dream of another spring.

So many of life's mysteries refuse to surrender to any solution despite my puny efforts at looking at them from both sides and from underneath. I will always wonder if the thief's coin becomes blessed when it touches the church collection plate.

That which we treasure most is always in most danger of loss. That which we would gladly lose is with us always, or returns unexpectedly when we have found a little shade of peace.

If we could wash our hearts and hang them out to dry in the wind and sun our souls would surely rejoice in the resulting sweetness although a few faint stains of hate might still remain.

When jealousy is mixed with the solution of happiness, its nature is changed and its purpose destroyed.

Every day is a different room in the house of a lifetime. We have selected its colors, size and furnishings; its pain or joy, through a great deal of deliberate choice.

Often I am impelled to perform tasks which are distasteful to the extent of being obnoxious, but I am comforted with the knowledge that discipline is more essential to a life than complete freedom.

It is easier to ride our ambitions over the plains of effort if the saddle is cushioned with the soft fabric of a little achievement.

Fortunately our troubles look heavier than their actual weight else someone might grab them and depart, leaving their own.

Perhaps the modern swain is justified in his jokes about the necessity of the coin-operated in his wife's kitchen, but on the other side of the ledger, he doesn't start work at four in the morning and continue until after dark.

The Swisher county sheriff's office said both vehicles overturned and burst into flames. The driver of the supply truck was taken to the Tulia hospital.

Cage Games Near Finals

A showdown is nearing in the outstanding District 4A basketball season. Teams from the district meet here Friday night to decide the two teams who will defend the group honors in the district and regional meeting scheduled the first week end in March.

In event of this match, and should the Matadors win, then Matador and Spur would play a three-games series the following week to decide the season champion. ## Land Owners Must Decide On Closed Hunting In County

If the State Legislature passes a bill closing the dove and quail season for three years in Motley county, as suggested by 41 to 1 vote during a meeting of the Motley County Game Management Association last August, land-owners must voice their desires in letters to the Legislators.

Attitude of Senator Sterling J. Parrish, 30th District, Lubbock, is expressed in a letter to County Agent J. Rufus Emmons: "In reply to your letter of January 17th, I will say that if the people of Motley county want the season closed, I will be glad to pass it in the Senate. However, the Commissioner's court of Garza county passed a resolution asking that this be done in their county two years ago and we did it for them. The day had some 20 telegrams from people of Garza county, asking that the season not be closed. One telegram had 34 names and another 14 names. Several had six and eight names. Now they are asking us to repeal the law."

"You look at this very closely, then if you think the people want the season closed for Motley county, let me know..."

Mr. Emmons wrote the lawmakers at the request of the Game Management executive committee, composed of Gus Bird, president, Elbert Reeves, secretary, A. L. Stearns, John Stevens, U. L. Willie, Bill Meyer and Mervin Green. To close the season will require an act of the legislature.

New Bill In Hopper Mr. Emmons said a new bill is in "the hopper" at Austin which, if passed, would put all game laws and regulations in the hands of the state Game, Fish & Oyster Commission.

All land-owners are asked to make their wishes known immediately, Mr. Emmons said.

Farmers Recover From Grain Buyer

A Sherman grain buyer was well on his way to "gypping" several Motley county farmers out of more than 12,000 pounds of maize last week through a clever short weight plan when he was apprehended at Paducah and returned here to pay for estimated losses.

The grain buyer's system was simply to drive on a gin scales of a morning before daylight, tell the nightwatchman not to get up, and weigh his truck himself, writing the equipment down in the neighborhood of 1,600 pounds overweight. When the grain was loaded, he would drive back over the scales and take the regular scale weights for his load, deducting the 1,600 false overweight from the weight of his purchase. Current price of maize was $2.00 per 100 pounds.

Jim Sturdivant had made a sale to the buyer and was suspicious of the weight written on the scale receipt. He asked the buyer to reweigh his truck and he refused. Sturdivant sought Sheriff John Stotts and in the meantime, the buyer escaped. He was apprehended at Paducah and returned here where the truck was weighed and found 1,620 pounds "overweight." The buyer paid $32.40 to Sturdivant. Other farmers who had made sales to the buyer were also refunded to a total of 12,960 pounds. Others reporting losses were Tom Edwards, H. Blevins, A. B. Simpson, Ben Davidson, and Levi Wilkinson.

Over half the farm land in the nation is in farms of over 500 acres.

Over 150 Attend Banquet Tuesday

Something new in Legion meetings was started at Flomot Tuesday evening. Principal speaker Jimmy Moore, 18th District Commander of the American Legion from Amarillo, said "This is the first time I have ever known of the Legion taking its meeting to the members but it is a good plan."

Stressing the importance of veterans belonging to the Legion, he said that after the end of World War I, only two bills were introduced in congress to favor exservicemen. Following the end of World War II a total of 118 bills were presented to Congress to benefit the veterans. He said the Legion has its own paid lobbyists and a representative at the United Nations council. He said there was unlimited service possibilities through strong membership in the organizations.

Urges New Building Commander Moore urged the Fleming Post Legion to start work as soon as possible on the memorial building for which funds have been raised. He said that as soon as the building is constructed it will start serving the community and the Legion.

Estimates on attendance were in the neighborhood of 150. Matador was well represented, comprising approximately half of the visitors.

Veterans of Flomot community, their wives and families proved exceptional hosts. The "cats" included delicious sandwiches, cake, salads, ice cream and coffee. Other speakers included "G. F. (Cowboy) Sanders of Childress, 18th Dist. vice-commander and C. E. Todd, manager of the sub-regional Veterans Administration office, Amarillo.

The meeting opened with a prayer by H. F. Pipkin of Matador which was followed by an address of welcome by Joe Spears of Flomot. Fleming-Post Commander O. V. Johnson replied to the address of welcome and paid tribute to the veterans and others of the Flomot community for their fine spirit of hospitality.

showed that the probable cost of the system in 1928 was $27,865 and that the present value based on original costs (costs of labor and materials in 1928) less depreciation, was $19,960. The Tribune had erroneously stated that the sewer company made the price of $39,000 after the survey and estimate of the engineers had been made. The price was made in advance and the city council hired the engineers to determine the value of the property in event the people desired to purchase the system, with view of lowering sewer rates, extending the lines and at the same time paying for the system.

Representatives of the sewer company told the council, after the estimate had been made, that the city officials were wasting his time if they expected to buy the system for less than $39,000. They told him they did not want to waste his time and wished him good day. The council had prepared to offer $25,000 although the estimate of the engineers was $32,000.

Mr. Hasie, with his associate, George Green, declared at the meeting with the council Monday evening, that his firm had been receiving considerable adverse publicity because of the work at Matador and that he had made the trip here to rectify any dissatisfaction which might exist.

He admitted that he had failed to explain to the council that he had made the original plans and specifications for the Southwestern Sewer Company, 18 years ago, altho testimony of the fact was contained in a booklet of reference which the council examined. He said his firm was forced to close because of the depression in 1932 and that he returned all copies of plans and other materials to his clients before closing his office and starting to work for the state. He said he had been an engineer in West Texas and Oklahoma for 30 years. After serving six years in government engineering work he again opened a business, with his partner, after release from the service.

Mr. Hasie told the council that the costs of construction was showing a decline and that his firm was prepared to furnish the city of Matador with another evaluation on the sewer system now without cost. "We will make one or half a dozen more estimates and it will not cost one additional cent," he declared.

He also said his engineers had run lines on elevation and that he would supply the city with proper street drainage plans at a nominal cost.

REVIVAL PLANS DISCUSSED AT TEACHERS MEET

Revival plans and the Sunday School's obligation toward success of the "Simultaneous Revival" which will begin at the Baptist church Sunday, to continue through the 23rd, were principal topics discussed at regular monthly meeting of officers and teachers Wednesday night.

An enlargement campaign, with average attendance of 200 in Sunday School by the end of the revival is the goal which the workers are trying to reach. Also in preparation for the meeting, church workers, headed by the pastor, Rev. Clifford Potts, have been taking a religious census of the town during the past two months and enrolling new prospects for both Sunday School and church membership.

As advance advertisement of the revival, stickers were placed on all automobiles about the church building Sunday, calling attention to the dates, February 9-23. Over 200 Baptist churches in this district will be holding revival services simultaneously. The pastor will do the preaching for the local meeting, with Rev. Glenn Wilson of Abilene, leading the singing.

The Officers and Teachers meeting followed a covered dish supper in the church basement, and at its close, the group was called into regular monthly conference.

Approximately thirty Sunday School workers and members were present.

Reliable Ginners

Mr. Farmer and Ranchman:
We have reduced price on meal and cake and hulls to where it will be profitable for you to feed your stock cattle and dairy cattle.

A small amount of cake and meal with your bundles and grass will make you more milk and better calves.

There will be a limited amount of good cotton seed this spring so it would be wise for you to be sure and buy early so you will not be disappointed later.

Seems now that cotton acreage will pay off next year.

At an early date we will have some new books on feeding practices.

Will thank you to come by and talk over feeding problems.

Yours truly,

KEITH-LATIMER NUPTIALS READ SUNDAY AFTERNOON AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Miss Ruth Evelyn Keith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Keith, became the bride of Mr. Loyd Latimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Latimer, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. The double-ring ceremony was read by the pastor, Rev. Clifford Potts. Two seven-branched candelabra and white stock decorated each side of the altar, with a background of woodwardia fern trees. A basket of white gladioli and stock was placed in the baptistry window. The couple stood before a kneeling bench, beneath a decorated arch, marked off by white satin rope. Aisle markers were tapers in wrought-iron candle holders, tied with white satin bows.

Mrs. Loyd Latimer

As the ushers, Don Paul Keith and Jimmie Joe Latimer, brothers of the bride and groom, lighted the candles, Miss Neva Taylor of Rankin, Texas, pianist played "Because". For processional she played Wagner's Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's wedding march for recessional. During the ceremony, she played "Clair de Lune".

Makes Wedding Gown

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin wedding gown, which she made herself. The dress was fashioned with a basque bodice, and double ruffles outlined the high neck yoke and hip line. Long plain sleeves and a moderate train completed the dress. Her finger-tip veil was of white net fastened to a garland of orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible topped with an Albina orchid and white Roman hyacinth, tied with satin streamers. For something old, she carried white wedding gloves belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. A. M. Bourland.

Mrs. Jack Albright of Odessa, Texas, was matron of honor. She wore a blue dotted swiss dress and carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations, candytuff and sweetpeas. Mr. Orval Latimer of Amarillo attended his brother as best man.

The bride's mother wore a black faille dress with blue and black accessories. She wore a corsage of wedgewood iris. The groom's mother wore a black crepe dress with black accessories. Her corsage was tailsman roses and yellow acaia.

Family Reception

A reception for members of the immediate families was held at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Taylor served a three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, from a table laid with a white silk cloth sent from Shanghai, China by the bride's brother. Tall pink candles, in crystal holders, were placed at each end of the table. Mrs. Albright poured fruit punch, assisted by Mrs. Fred Bourland, an aunt of the bride.

For a wedding trip to Austin, the bride chose a grey suit, with a pink blouse and other accessories.

series of black, and wore a white orchid corsage. Couple Reared Here The couple will continue to make their home here. They were both reared here and are well-known and have a wide circle of friends in this and adjoining communities.

The bride is the granddaughter of pioneer residents of this section, on both paternal and maternal sides of the family. Her paternal grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Keith, were Motley county's first bride and groom, married in 1891. Graduating from Matador High School in 1943, she enrolled at Texas Technological College where she majored in vocational home economics, completing her work last month, for a B. S. degree. She has accepted a position in the Matador high school as home economics teacher, and will assume her duties the first of March.

Mr. Latimer graduated from Matador High School in 1940, and served in the Army from September, 1942 to February, 1946. He is now in business with his father, operating the Phillips 66 service station. Attending the wedding from out-of-town were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bourland of Lubbock, her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Bolton of Quitaque, and two cousins, Thomas Bourland of W. T. S. C. Canyon, and Keith Patton, of Texas Tech, Lubbock. Relatives of the bridegroom present were an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Latimer, and Mrs. Hubert Latimer all of Paducah, Mrs. Jimmie Joe Latimer of Lubbock, and Mrs. Orval Latimer and daughter of Amarillo.

That Ring Around the Bathtub

Job Crowell blew his top the other day. Seems that for weeks he's been trying to get his youngsters to scrub out the bathtub after using it. And this night he sees two rings around it—one where young Benny left off, and another about Finky's level.

He raves and rants—and takes it out on the missus for her lack of discipline. And later that evening he sees her quietly polishing the hardwood table that's right by his chair. She's removing the rings he's left there with his evening glass of beer!

From now on, Job's careful to put his glass down on the table cover—like the missus does. And I hear he's a little more forgiving about rings around the bathtub. Just keeps on patiently reminding. From where I sit, there are little annoyances in every family—conflicting habits and opinions in every community. A little patience—a little more "forgive and let live" is the only antidote.

Fixing Up the Farm

by BURTON WILLIAMS

Head-Hole Hog Waterer

WALLOWES are eliminated when head-hole hog waterers are used. A drinking unit of this kind can be made with comparatively little effort of the used lumber found about the farm. The one pictured below is made in the shape of a rectangular box and contains five compartments, four of which have openings just large enough for the jaws.

Each long side has two openings. The fifth compartment is completely boxed in and houses the float valve that regulates the water level.

The waterer shown has been mounted on a skid platform to facilitate hauling from one site to another and as a further precaution against wallows. A barrel could hold the water supply if piped water is unavailable. Excess water runs through the cracks between the boards so there are no wet places inviting the pigs to lie down.

The drug has been tested on rats and guinea pigs, and the scientists make no boastful claims for it as yet.

"We plan an intensive program to test this drug and within six or eight months we expect to know how safe and effective it will be," Dr. Burdon said.

The scientists explained they will first experiment with enunycin on fungus infections on humans. Dr. Burdon said he suggested they reverse the procedure in the development of enunycin.

They recognized that penicillin was formed from fungi and is used against bacteria. The two Baylor scientists started working backward to discover a bacteria which would combat fungi.

Mumps On Increase Throughout Texas

During the past few weeks there has been a general increase in the incidence of mumps throuout the State. There have been 1750 cases reported since January 1, compared with only 896 cases during the same period last year, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Though mumps is one of the common childhood diseases, serious complications may develop, so children should be protected as much as possible from this disease. The usual control procedures such as avoidance of crowds, exclusion from school of all cases or suspected cases and quarantine should be followed. The family physician should always be consulted when a case occurs.

The most easily recognizable characteristic symptom of mumps is a painful swelling of the salivary glands. Sometimes there is an involvement of other portions of the body causing disturbance in the digestive, nervous, circulatory, and genitourinary systems. The disease is usually accompanied by a temperature rise which more often than not is mild.

The patient suffering with this disease should be isolated from other members of the family upon the suspicion mumps exists, and the physician should be promptly called. The meantime, complete bed is indicated. The orders should be followed strictly. Violating his instructions can lead to serious injury, may permanently affect individual's health."

CONGRESS IS INVESTIGATING EVERYTHING FROM A TO Z INCLUDING CONGRESS ITSELF

By Frederick C. Othman

WASHINGTON.—Congress is investigating everything from A (for accidents, air) to Z (for zinc, shortage of). It is wearing a double-billed Hawkshaw cap, making its galbush cap, peering through its magnifying glass and in general acting like Sherlock Holmes.

It's even investigating itself. Not in memory of the oldest member there been so many congressional investigations in progress, or scheduled almost immediately to begin. How red is the little red school house? What's happened to all the freight cars? Why don't those Russians catch their own fish? How's the whale situation? These questions and a hundred more are in the process of being answered. So many hearings are in progress that the major domos are running out of hearing rooms. Subpoenas are being written, detectives are poking into odd places, and federal big-wigs are beginning to dread the tinkle of the door-bell; it nearly always means a baliff with a congressional summons.

Twenty top officials of the interior department the other day raced from one interrogation to another on Capitol Hill; one told me the department might as well have locked its doors for the day.

Several members of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee are going to Panama on Easter to investigate the Panama Canal. Others are planning on investigating fish in Alaska. The state department's being investigated. So are the cafeterias that feed 221,000 federal clerks. Sen. Owen Brewster of Me. is looking for bonfires of government records. Somebody is investigating Henry Morgenthau's 900-volume dairy.

Six different subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee are investigating ways to fire federal workers; the Senate is about to take up the same subject.

"And the War Assets Administration must be investigated thoroughly," announced Rep. George H. Bender of Ohio. "These people are sitting on their war assets and doing nothing."

The lawmakers are investigating the 292 ships still leased to Great Britain, scanning the U. S. Manual to see what's left out of this publication on purpose, probing plans to build experimental submarines, scanning the radio business, sifting the Atomic Energy Commission, and getting ready to see whether any Communists are making movies in Hollywood.

Labor's being investigated on both sides of the Capitol. So are sugar and rents and how come the OPA still has 13,000 workers?

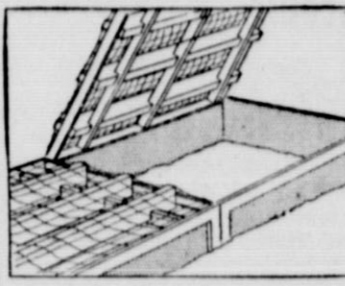

About to be investigated is the question of whether a resident of the District of Columbia holds his liquor better standing up or sitting down. I am not fooling. Also to be inquired into is the ethics of killing the starlings (which are birds) infesting Pennsylvania Avenue's Grecian Porticoes.

A war-time Central American Highway, investigated last year,

Poultry Labor Saver

DO YOU sometimes feel your poultry flock takes up more time and labor than the returns justify? Perhaps some minor changes in equipment will simplify the job. Many flock owners, for instance, are turning to dropping pits as one way to reduce work. They need be cleaned only two or three times a year if phosphate fertilizer is scattered frequently, especially during rainy weather, to help keep them dry.

Besides saving time and labor, the pits keep hens cleaner. They help control disease and promote the production of clean eggs.

Pits can be constructed easily by nailing asbestos cement board to the inside of a simple wooden framing. The board, being of mineral composition, will not deteriorate and it can be cleaned as often as necessary by scraping or hosing. The roosts above the pit may be built of two-by-fours on 14-inch centers. The roost sections are covered with 1 x 2-inch mesh wire (poultry wire is not strong enough) and hinged so they can be raised when the pits are cleaned.

is to be investigated again. So, too, apparently, is the Pearl Harbor debacle. The Maritime Commission is about to get the investigational works.

Investigation into failure of the private bank of the House of Representatives continues. So does inquiry into deals (some said to be peculiar) with Congress' private stationary store.

Detectives stay away from my door: I'm too busy to talk to you. I'm investigating the investigators.

Featuring an International theme, with entertainers in costume, the ninth annual Mother-Daughter banquet, held Friday evening in the First Baptist Church basement was declared by all who attended as the most enjoyable ever given.

The banquet hall and tables were decorated in Valentine colors, and the menu consisted of baked ham, orange-raisin sauce, new potatoes, glazed carrots, pineapple and cabbage salad, rolls, butter, strawberry shortcake, coffee and cocoa.

Digressing from usual form, the program committee planned an evening of entertainment entirely different from any heretofore presented.

Attired in Spanish costume, Mrs. U. L. Willie, listed on the program as "Senora Maria Lucile Gonzales y Willie," was toastmistress for the occasion. Invocation was given by Mrs. W. N. Pipkin, and Mrs. Marvin Vaughn extended greetings to the daughters. Response was by Betty Ruth Smalley.

A musical trio listed as Bridget, Rose and Peggy O'Neal proved to be Mesdames G. E. Hamilton, Frank Pohl and John Hamilton, dressed in Irish costumes, who played several entertaining selections on the Xylorimba and piano.

Guest magicians, listed as Grand Duke and Duchess Jamurinski Daltonaski and Count and Countess Mon Martini, mystified and entertained the guests with magic tricks. These were none other than Mr. and Mrs. James W. Dalton and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Martin, all of Paducah. Mr. Martin, photographer at Paducah, also took pictures of the banquet, after assisting Mr. Dalton.

Negro Spirituals, sung by "Mandy and Dianah Brown," concluded the enjoyable program. The singers were Mrs. Harold Campbell and Mrs. Jake Edwards, assisted by Mrs. Dick Groves, all dressed as colored characters.

Benediction in song was the Doxology, sung by the assembly.

Officials of the Parents-Teachers Association, sponsors of the banquet, expressed appreciation to all who assisted in any way, in making the affair a success.

CONSTIPATION RISKY IN BAD COLDS

Retained undigested food becomes putrefactive, causes toxins, which overload the liver and other vital organs of the body, lessening your resistance to colds and other winter ills and interfering with their treatment. Why take this chance when you can take Calotabs? Calotabs thoroughly yet pleasantly act on every foot of your intestines, sweeping out toxin-laden putrefactive foods and virus-laden mucus, enabling you to more effectively avoid or fight a cold. Nothing acts like good old Calotabs. Use as directed, 10c and 25c at all druggists.

Mrs. Brodie hits the roof!

No, no, this isn't a new Atom Bomb! It's merely Mrs. Brodie, after a quiet family conference with Mr. Brodie. Mr. B. made a few sharp remarks about their family budget.

Naturally, Mrs. Brodie hit the roof! And, like the cost of living, her temper kept right on going up and UP!

On the other hand, the cost of electricity, like Mr. Brodie's popularity at home, is going down and DOWN!

The Brodies (and you, too, if yours is an average family) get plenty of electricity for every budget dollar—more than twice as much as 20 years ago!

This domestic bargain took plenty of practical planning and technical skill on the part of your friends and neighbors in this company, under sound business management.

of their son, Lieut. Paul Eubank. A small American flag was arranged in the basement window in his honor.

Program in the auditorium with Scout Billy Ray Neighbors as master of ceremonies included the presentation of the Eagle Scout badge to Don Wason by G. M. Unger, district South Plains Scout executive, song led by Rev. Clifford Potts and invocation by Rev. Oscar Bruce.

After the banquet and address by Boss Lion Howard Tra-week, Bob Clark, secretary of the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce and amateur magician, staged a slight-of-hand show which was of equal entertainment to both boys and dads.

Doctor Is Speaker
 Lion Dr. J. S. Stanley introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Frank B. Malone of Lubbock and president of the South Plains Scout Council.

Dr. Malone paid tribute to the success of the annual Father-Son banquet under the sponsorship of the Matador Lions Club. He said . . . This is an inspiring audience . . . it is wonderful to see so many fathers and sons together and these annual meetings are a means of keeping alive the splendid father and son relationship of which this community may be proud. "A boy," Dr. Malone declared, "is the man of the future and his dad is only a grown-up boy."

Dr. Malone stressed the importance of the youth's life as a pattern for the youth, declaring . . . a father should shape his life properly because a boy is patterning his future after him." Speaking from the deep sincerity of his convictions, Dr. Malone said, "the home is fundamental in the American way of life and the home is losing its influence. We can see wreckage in evidence everywhere. Perhaps we can blame this condition on the war but it must be remedied to preserve the proper environment for our boys and girls."

He stressed the importance of discipline in the homes and said that questions which boys ask must be answered honestly. He paid tribute to father-son partnerships in business and said boys must do better jobs than was accomplished by their fathers, otherwise the father had failed. He said, "it is your duty as fathers to help your boy do a better job than you have done . . . give your boy vocational guidance . . . train him in legitimate business . . . remember legitimate business never degrades . . . remember that the boy's courage must be refreshed from time to time by encouragement . . . teach him the art of graceful living . . . teach him to respect the rights of others and to be tolerant . . . don't fail the lad who calls you Dad."

Scouts . . .

The Scouts found that J. Douglas Smyth was no bargain. The legal paper made them his slave for the day and they performed many tasks at his bidding. However, the special privileged-citizen caused the most trouble (and expense) when he deliberately picked up a rock, (which he asked a colored Scout to select) and broke out a window. By terms of the agreement the Scouts were liable for his actions and paid for the shattered glass. He completed the day of freedom from laws by having two colored Scouts stage a boxing match in the street.

The Scouts also sold a number of "freedom from arrest" passes for $2.50 each. Police whistles were busy all day despite the bitter cold weather and at six p. m. the Scouts had a total of more than $130 to add to the Scout general fund, according to Scoutmaster Tom Hamilton. Several "trials" were conducted during the busy day and in all instances, offenders were fined.

DRIVER LOSES CLASH WITH SWITCH ENGINE
DECATUR, Ill.—H. N. Tucker, 33, a truck driver, didn't yield the right of way to a Wabash railroad switch engine without a struggle.

Police said witnesses told them Tucker drove the truck against the locomotive at a crossing.

It didn't give an inch, and he backed up and rammed it again. A third time he backed up and drove against the big engine, police said.

Police broke up the fight at that point, awarded the decision to the locomotive, and charged Tucker with intoxication. He was fined $29.40.

The truck was damaged badly and Tucker suffered a scalp wound, but the locomotive wasn't hurt much.
