By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Fate has lighted candles at the altar of the red-headed man's destiny and all the pages of his life are filled and rest in the library of a lonely burial ground. His sensitive soul must have found peace in that sector of eternity which provides shelter for dreamers who suffer too easily; who dream too long; but his musical laughter still haunts the fat, wrinkling man who was once slender and fair. Perhaps the small ring gave her his hidden away with forgotten things and keeps secret, a piece of tarnishing metal clutching a fragment of a diamond. She will never know why his love died in a tragic dance one night, like the flame of a candle pinched by a feelingless hand; so much is hidden in the caves of a lover's sense. An unguarded word, spoken from her ripe, warm lips, crushed the temple of his mind and left her true nature tipped of pretense. He fled with the debris of his dreams.

We frequently forget that the present ripens rapidly and that seeds are planted in the fields tomorrow. Its worth is never hidden; its evil is never hidden; the harvest must be true to whatever seeds are hidden beneath the soil.

White clouds blanketed the break of dawn and the night wind sighed like a weary child. Below the sodden, rock-murdered cliff, the river murmured with the fever of flood waters. A great cottonwood tree in mid-channel, tumbled in the agony of destruction, its green leaves dripping, muddy and trembling. Above the sound of restless waters was the mewing of a kitten, mild life clinging to the wet side of a swift-moving plank. Ridden with the desperation of fear, the kitten negotiated the rapids and sunk sharp claws into the bark of the tree when it checked the plank's progress. The filled cries became less frequent and the river began to ebb. Good fortune is often the fruit of being afraid to turn back.

When honesty is inspired by the bloom must perish of it.

Motley county beef has brought the highest prices on sales dates for the past eight years in Ft. Worth, Kansas City and Lubbock markets.

Lions Cheer "Foxy" Trio

When Lion Ben Keltz is elected program sponsor he doesn't need to go far in search of talent and he knows talent when he hears and sees it. Had Lion Ben Keltz lived in different environments he might have been a stage producer instead of a successful farmer.

After enjoying special music by Mrs. John Hamilton, Mrs. G. E. Hamilton and Miss Roberta Jameson, while they ate the special luncheon prepared by Methodist ladies, Matador Lions expected an average program Tuesday. They were delightfully surprised when Lion Keltz introduced the "Foxy Trio" as a "traveling colored troop". He concluded the introduction by declaring that two of the trio were his daughters, Mrs. Grace Campbell and Mrs. Margaret Edwards, with Mrs. Mary Groves. The Lions applauded with hearty cheers at the conclusion of each number.

Received with equal enthusiasm were two additional "colored" personalities, Mrs. Randall Whitworth and diminutive Frances McMahan, in reading numbers.

Two new members were also approved by the directors and introduced to the club Tuesday. They were Colquet Warren and Richard Alexander.

Porcupines Leave Pointed Evidence

Two hunting dogs belonging to Cleve Brooks who lives on the Fred Bourland farm in the Whiteflat community, have learned something by painful experience. The pair of canines will keep their distance from porcupines in the future.

The dogs left home about sundown Saturday evening and are believed to have ranged in the Matador pasture along Pease river. When they returned Sunday morning their heads and noses were covered with porcupine quills.

It required the combined efforts of Mr. Tooke and neighbors about two hours to remove the sharp, painful quills. Some were sunk as deep as one and a half inches in the dogs' flesh.

It is the first reported evidence of porcupine in this area in several years. In fact there has been some argument to the effect that the porcupine does not range this far north. Mr. Tooke's dogs' noses differently.

MYSTERY FIRE DAMAGES HOME

Fire of unknown origin damaged the Bob Jameson home to the extent of an estimated $200 Thursday afternoon (May 8th), before it was brought under control by the Matador Volunteer Fire Department.

The "mystery fire" started in the lower part of a window facing on the west side of the house, and was discovered blazing by Clay Jameson, 9, Mr. and Mrs. Jameson's son who was playing with other children in the vicinity. He notified neighbors who turned in the alarm. Mr. and Mrs. Jameson were away from the house at the time.

The west window, which is located over a sink in the kitchen, contains no wiring, nor could Fire Chief Roy Smith find anything to which the cause of the blaze might be traced. The fire spread upward and had reached the attic by the time the fire department arrived. The window facing was quickly removed and the blaze extinguished in a short time. The loss was covered by insurance.

YOUTH INJURED IN FALL
 Bill Fish, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Fish of the White-Star community is in Tra-week hospital, an indirect casualty of the heavy rain late Tuesday.

Mr. Fish, with his two sons, Bill and Andy, 5, went to Pease river banks west of their home early Wednesday to witness the changes made by flood waters. The father and his younger son had turned around and started away, while the older boy lingered. At that instant a large section of the rain-soaked bluff crumbled away, carrying the boy with it. Falling 20 feet, the boy's right arm was broken by the impact. Because of washed-out and muddy roads, three hours were required to get the injured boy to the hospital. His arm was broken in two places near the elbow.

ed heavy rainfall which caused water to overflow the highway. White Star community also experienced precipitation believed to have been in the neighborhood of five inches.

Both stockmen and farmers were cheerful over the improved outlook following close on the heels of unseasonable heat that prevailed over the week end. Temperatures rose to 100 degrees here Sunday and some sections of southwest Texas reported 104 degrees.

The rain was of inestimable value to the wheat. Radio reports late yesterday said cold weather was damaging crops in the north part of the nation.

Altho residents of the Panhandle are at a loss to know whether to turn on gas stoves or air-conditioners, crop prospect has been aided over much of the ranching and agriculture area.

Northfield Postmaster Resigns After Serving 26 Years In Remote Community

NORTHFIELD is a lonely community. An area of endless vistas, colored with the white sand of the winding river, blood red bluffs and evergreen cedars. To reach Northfield, located in the northeast corner of Motley county, it is necessary to drive approximately 30 miles, much of the way through the vast Matador ranch pasture.

About 50 families receive their mail from the Northfield post office which was organized by a pioneer, W. A. Cook, in 1890, whose former home was Northfield, Minn.

About ten years later F. M. Bain became postmaster but he held the office only two or three months. W. H. Denny, another pioneer, and his family assumed the postmastership and moved the office to their dugout where they handled the mail for 19 years. Following her husband's death, Mrs. Denny continued to serve and later turned the duties over to her daughter, Mrs. Lillie Knipe.

On September 1, 1920, J. A. Tipton became postmaster. Last week (May 1), he was relieved of his duties after serving 26 years and 8 months. Charles M. Lane assumed the duties of the office May 1. Mr. Tipton was eligible for retirement after 20 years of service.

Northfield's first post office was located 4 miles south of its present site. At that time the mail was carried from Childress to Floydada on a two-wheel cart by way of Northfield and Whiteflat. As the country settled, the mail increased until it became necessary to use a large hack. The line was then shortened, running from Childress to Matador, and was later reduced to Serve Northfield from Childress, the route which is still followed today.

Mr. Tipton, who has sold his store which he operated in connection with the post office, was born in Tennessee, April 15, 1875. He has not announced any future plans but says he has a lot of visiting to do.

E. Handy of the American Radio Relay League, national association of radio amateurs.

Mr. Neighbors' assignment, which carries the title of Emergency Coordinator, is to band together members of the amateur radio service in his community to perfect arrangements

Mr. Neighbors, as ARRL Emergency Coordinator, will call local meetings of amateurs, establish common operating procedures, and arrange regular drill periods when the hams' personal stations may be mobilized under simulated emergency conditions. His duties also include liaison planning with the local chass and other relief agencies, as suggested in the working understanding in the ARRL Emergency Corps has with the national headquarters of the American Red Cross and other agencies. Following Mrs. Gillham's talk, games were conducted by Mrs. Bill McCaghen, and refreshments of cookies and punch were served.

DALLAS — Lynn Ross, Jr., three-year-old son of Ft. Worth's chief probation officer, went exploring on the fifth floor of the county hall of records Tuesday while his parents visited in an office there.

He entered an empty room and climbed up to a window ledge.

Horrified women employees of a manufacturing company across Elm street discovered him leaning precariously out the window.

They shouted and signaled with mirrors. Assistant District Attorney Joe McCasland, in a sixth floor office, rushed down and pulled the boy back from danger.

Too Much Uplift In Brassiere Bank

The brassiere, an ordinarily reliable bank vault for women, blew out of a sixth floor window with $600 pinned in one of the cups.

A New York City woman guest at one of Amarillo's leading hotels, was learning about Panhandle wind.

A stiff breeze tore the screen from the window and the guest awoke in time to see her clothes float out into space.

The New Yorker found her dress and a slip a half-block away from the hotel.

And she found the brassiere. It was still worth $600.

CANCER KILLS IN EVERY OTHER HOME
... the average in the U.S.A.

The condemned ate a hearty meal

THIS may be your nextdoor neighbor's table—or yours. Sooner or later, cancer may come to your house or his. Every day, cancer sits at somebody's table. For cancer strikes—on the average—one out of every two American homes... one out of eight Americans is condemned to die of cancer unless we do something about it.

How can you help fight this disease? One way is to see your doctor the minute any member of your family develops one of cancer's danger signals. Another way—a way in which you not only help guard those you love but bring new hope to thousands—is to join the fight to conquer cancer.

The April drive of the American Cancer Society is now on. Help this vast army of workers drive cancer from our midst. Give so they can pay for more research. Give so they can buy more equipment to ease suffering, restore hope. Give so they can find a cure for cancer—a cure that some day may save a life in your own home.

And give generously, won't you? Let's stop fearing cancer—let's conquer cancer!

- *Cancer's Danger Signals
1. Any sore that does not heal... particularly about the tongue, mouth, or lips.
 2. A painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, lip, or tongue.
 3. Bloody discharge from the nipple or irregular bleeding from any of the other natural body openings.
 4. Progressive change in the color or size of a wart or mole.
 5. Persistent indigestion.
 6. Persistent hoarseness, unexplained cough, or difficulty in swallowing.
 7. Any radical change in normal bowel habits.

LIFE-AND-DEATH FACTS ABOUT CANCER

One-eighth of our entire population—17,000,000 Americans—are today doomed to die of cancer. This is a shocking, but absolutely true fact. But there is hope... even today, one out of three may be cured of cancer, and in at least one type, 92% is curable—when caught in time. And to help science finally conquer cancer, the American Cancer Society has made more than 100 grants for research projects. Right now, the same scientific group responsible for the atomic bomb is directing the research to conquer cancer. Every dollar you give speeds the search.

Guard those you love—GIVE to conquer cancer

Green Bugs are Reported On Wheat Fields Of Panhandle

Tribune, Matador, Motley County, Texas, Thursday, May 8, 1947

By Fred Schofield
Literally billions of green bugs or grain aphids are reported feasting on the Panhandle's wheat crop.
Wheat farmers around Amarillo have reported that the bugs are at work reducing this year's crop, but they don't know to what extent.

Favorable weather conditions for wheat this year are unfortunately ideal conditions for the insect, and the resultant injury is largely dependent on weather conditions and can be little influenced by man.
The worst outbreaks have always occurred in seasons of mild winter followed by cool, late springs, exactly the conditions which have prevailed in the past winter and present spring season.
The green bug or grain aphid, because of the general distribution and great profligacy, causes a loss of one to possibly three per cent of the wheat crop of the entire world, according to entomologists.
In some years the damage has amounted to 25 per cent of the wheat crop in the southwestern wheat growing states of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, and Colorado.
Wheat or other small grain fields, such as oats and barley, infested by the green bug usually show small deadened areas appearing in the field during the late winter or early spring.

An examination of such areas will show the plants swarming with numbers of tiny green aphids or plant lice which are sucking the sap. During period of spring weather, favorable to the aphids, these deadened spots may spread rapidly and the entire field killed out.
The green bug feeds on all small grain and many of the wild and cultivated grasses. It also has been found on rice, corn, sorghum and several other cultivated plants.
European Origin
The insect is of European origin and was first recorded in the United States in 1882 in Virginia. It has now spread so it is generally distributed over practically all of the United States, the range extending on the north into Canada. The greatest damage has been done in the largest grain-growing states west of the Mississippi.
In the southern states this insect passes the winter in the active nymphal and adult stages, feeding on the stems of plants and giving birth to living young during the warmer periods of weather.

In the more northern states, the winter is passed in the form of black shiny eggs, deposited on the leaves of plants on which the insect feeds. These eggs hatch during the winter or the early spring, producing numbers of pale green, wingless female insects, about 1/16 inch long when full-grown, and having a dark green stripe down the back.
In from seven to 18 days after hatching, these females begin giving birth to their living young, which may become either winged or wingless. The winged individuals differ slightly in appearance from those hatching winter eggs, being slightly larger and with filmy wings having an expanse of 1-inch.
The head is brownish yellow and there are blackish lobes on the back of the thorax. In about 15 days these females, in turn, begin giving birth to living young, and the insects continue thus, generation following generation.
Each female begins reproducing when from seven to 18 days old and continues to reproduce for about 20 to 30 days, giving birth during this time to an average of from 30 to 50 young. It will be seen from these figures that the rate of reproduction is enormous and almost beyond comprehension. If unattacked by natural enemies, in the course of a single season the mass of aphids which could be produced would be so great as to destroy all vegetation upon which they could feed.

On the approach of cold weather, the female aphids give rise to winged males and females. These mate, and the mated females produce eggs, in which stage the insect passes the winter in the colder parts of the country. A single female may at times both lay eggs and give birth to living young. There are from five to 14 generations each season, all except the last being composed entirely of females.
The abundance of this green bug and the resultant injury largely depend on weather conditions and there is little that the wheat farmer can do about it. Worst outbreaks occur in seasons with weather identical to the past winter and spring.
The reason for this is that the green bug will start reproducing at temperatures a little above 40 degrees F. and can reproduce at a fairly rapid rate at temperatures from between 55 and 65 degrees F.
Wasp Is Enemy
But this cloud also has a silver lining. The green bug is preyed upon by a number of insect enemies, for which the wheat farmer can be thankful. But the most effective is a little wasp who stings the aphids and deposits eggs in their bodies.
These eggs hatch into little maggots which eat out the body substance of the aphids. These wasps and the green bugs will meet their demise. Early wheat has a better chance to withstand the green bug than the later wheat which is young.

So, if the green bugs are taking your wheat, about the only thing you can do is pray for warm sunny weather which will put the wasps to work on their natural enemy, the grain aphid.

GOOD RECORDS ARE MEANT TO BE BEATEN

★ The infantile death rate in the United States is very low. From 1934 to 1936 we ranked seventh in the world, led only by New Zealand, Holland, Australia, Norway, Switzerland, and Sweden.

Yet 70,000 infants die annually in the first month of life, and 53,000 more from the second to the twelfth month. How many of these precious infants might have lived had their mothers had adequate prenatal care under the direction of a competent physician?

It is now up to the mothers to take advantage of the knowledge and skill of the physician during the trying months of pregnancy. We are ready to supply the needed dietary supplements and other medication ordered by your physician.

CITIES OF TEXAS ARE URGED TO STAGE CLEAN-UPS

A good old fashioned spring house cleaning in every city and community in Texas would do a great deal toward furthering good health in this state, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who said in Austin, recently, "From a practical standpoint the old adage that 'Cleanliness is next to Godliness' is still well worth emphasizing."

A general clean-up program of state-wide proportions with the objective of bettering health conditions for our citizenship should include the surface cleaning of streets and alleys, proper drainage or fill-in of low areas, cleaning all parks and playgrounds and the clearing of weeds and rubbish off of vacant lots.

"The destruction of mosquito breeding places and rat harborage, the proper disposal of garbage and trash and the general cleaning up of all premises will be," said Dr. Cox, "of inestimable value in helping to keep down summer health hazards such as dysentery, typhoid, and poliomyelitis. Good community housekeeping and ordinary sanitary measures require the prompt removal of all waste matter in and around yards and homes in order to abate the danger of such diseases, and insure good health protection throughout the State."

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that many dangerous diseases are filth-borne, and the only possible way to control them is to eliminate the insanitary conditions responsible for their spread.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gunn of Sherman, Texas, were weekend visitors in the home of Mrs. C. P. Wayburn.

Tell you the correct time for four days or vacuum-clean six large room-size rugs or bring you an evening's radio entertainment, or run your sewing-machine for eight hours, or wash three heaping tubfuls of clothes for you!

Grandma's gay little bank may be a collector's item today, but electricity puts on a bigger and better show as it takes more and more work out of your housework.

Accidents and deaths on the nation's streets and highways are on the increase, the National Conservation Bureau warns, and the months of March and April are no exception. In March of 1946 traffic deaths jumped 39 percent over the same month in 1945. Last year 2,670 drivers, passengers and pedestrians lost their lives during the windy month. There were 1,920 deaths in March 1945. Slick pavements accounted for even greater increase in death in the rainy months. The April traffic death toll in 1946 was 2,650 compared to 1,800 for that month of 1945 — an increase of 47 per cent.

WE'RE DEAD FLY HEADQUARTERS

Let us solve all of your fly problems. We have researched Purina sprays for every type of fly control. Make one stop here and get everything you need.

FOR COMPLETE OVERALL FLY CONTROL

Experience shows that the most effective fly control program includes spraying cattle and the interiors of all farm buildings housing animals. Purina Fly Spray for Farm Buildings and Stock Cattle does the complete job. It contains DDT — plus a new ingredient, V-15 (Chlorinated hydrocarbons) to make it even more effective. V-15 kills flies quicker than longer-lasting DDT... And sticks to barn walls and animals' hides, holding DDT longer.

For DAIRY COWS at Milking Time

(Where Complete Program is not used)

When your cows are bothered at milking, spray them with Purina Dairy Spray. This efficient fly-killer contains no DDT. But it knocks flies down quickly and its killing effect lasts for many hours.

For INSECT CONTROL in the Home

(Kills Flies, Mosquitoes, Roaches, Ants, etc.)

Purina Fly Spray for the Home contains 5% micron-sized DDT — finely pulverized DDT — to cover more surface more thoroughly. Spray it into rooms for quick kill. Spray walls and ceilings, paint on screens, window sills — for effective protection.

houses, trees and telephone power lines.
Rain and hail falling in torrents and driven by the force of near-hurricane winds, buffeted the city and surrounding area for two hours, starting about 8:45 o'clock, and early today clouds continued to drip precipitation over the area.

Slaton In Darkness

Rheumatism and Arthritis

Doctors differ as to the merits of NUE-OVO. Many users say it has brought them relief. If you suffer from Rheumatism or Arthritis why not write for literature on NUE-OVO from Research Laboratories, Inc., 408 N. W. 9th, Portland, Oregon. Pd. Adv.

fell up to midnight, 1.33 inches of the total by 9:30 p. m., the U. S. Weather Bureau reported. Telephone circuits to most points in the area and all telegraph lines were out of operation for several hours. Lights blinked on and off and Slaton was still in total darkness after midnight.

Slaton telephone operators were using flashlights at the switchboard.

Wind damage was reported to the sheriff's department by Huff of three miles east of Lubbock, who said the roof was blown from a small house which he owns, and other small buildings were "pushed around". Damage also was reported to trees, and Huff said an REA power line was down across the road near his place.

Henry, of the same neighborhood, about three miles from Lubbock on the Idalou highway, told police branches of large trees were twisted off and telephone and power lines were down.

The Lubbock Fire department answered six calls relative to hot wires and other electrical difficulties, five of which were within a half hour.

Windows Are Broken

A plate glass window at Brock-Hess company, 1417 Texas avenue was blown out, and J. H. Brock estimated damage at $100.

J. C. Rigney reported damage to three plate glass windows at Rigney Auto Parts store, 1400 Texas avenue, of $450.

The high wind blew a door open in the residence of Billy Jernigan in the Clayton-Carter addition on Plainview highway. Jernigan closed the door, and as he did so, a glass was blown out of it, cutting gashes behind his ear and across his arm.

KGZV, police short wave station, went off the air about 9 p. m., due to line difficulties and had not been able to resume broadcasts early today.

Levelland Hit

High winds with little rain were reported at Levelland, blowing the roof from a furniture store there and damaging trees. Most local telephone circuits were out of order.

The Santa Fe dispatcher's office at Slaton reported no rain and little wind. Gusts of wind here leveled off at a velocity of 45 to 50 miles per hour.

The dispatcher's office said the storm struck heaviest to the north and west, with little wind or rain to the southward. Heavy hail was reported at Muleshoe, which could not be reached by telephone because of line difficulties.

The dispatcher's communications with Texaco and Clovis, N. M., were cut off, and reports were received of heavy storm damage in that area. However, the Amarillo News-Globe reported no injuries, saying several houses were deroofed in Clovis and that rail cars were blown over at Clarinet, 15 miles east of Texico.

Temperatures Drop

Heaviest rain reported to the News-Globe was at Tucumcari, N. M., where 1.08 inches fell. Considerable rain also was reported at Hereford.

The U. S. Weather Bureau station at Municipal airport reported a drop in temperature from 80 degrees at 7:30 p. m. to 56 degrees soon after 8 p. m. Maximum recorded for the day was 98 at 3 p. m.

The weather station reported 1.33 inches rain up to 9:30 p. m., and rain was still falling in the area early today. Little rain was reported elsewhere in the immediately surrounding territory.

Small planes on the ground at the Lubbock Municipal airport were said to be damaged by hail, and weather bureau officials said hail stones of about three quarters of an inch in diameter may have done damage to crops.

Cooler Weather Forecast

Forecast was for partly cloudy weather today, with scattered showers this morning. A relief from the four day stretch of temperatures in the nineties was seen, with the maximum expected to be only slightly above 80 degrees.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Where's the Argument?

You should have heard Ed Carey and Spike Miller debating the merits of Guernseys versus Holsteins. Ed's our frechief, and Spike handles hardware—but to hear them argue you'd have thought that they'd been dairying for life.

Finally they put it up to Sam Carter, who breeds dairy cows! Sam hems and haws . . . and concludes there's a lot to be said for Holsteins, and about as much for Guernseys . . . take your pick!

Actually, Ed and Spike were like people arguing about—say, beer versus buttermilk. Folks who've never tasted beer will sometimes get mighty vehement about their choice of beverages. And folks who've never tasted buttermilk will be equally pig-headed.

From where I sit, it's in things we know nothing about that we get bigoted and stubborn. But when it comes to things we know a lot about, we're able to see both sides . . . be tolerant and reasonable . . . and above all, understanding

Lions To Sponsor Clean Up

With constantly increasing dangers of polio, Matador Lions Club will sponsor a city clean-up day, May 27, it was announced at the regular meeting Tuesday.

A committee in charge of the clean-up drive has not been named but the pattern of work is expected to follow past years in which the club has sponsored an annual cleanup. Blocks will be designated to "Captains" who will supervise the work of ordinary "privates."

Citizens will be asked to cut weeds, collect trash and rubbish and place it in boxes, barrels, sacks or other containers in alleys adjacent to their property, for removal.

Further details of the drive will appear in a subsequent issue.
