TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Necessity boils her garments away in the thick kettles of rains and rinses them at the springs of hope. They are the clouds drying between the sun and sun; tossed by the hands of the wind. Today's achievement was yesterday's need.

A flying friend was recently planning to acquaint himself with the difficulties of starting his own business during cold weather. His intense sympathy and in complete sincerity, he asked the other, "Can't you push it and get started?"

Recent of the sage country was all in the young cattleman's thing when he arrived for first visit in Kansas City. Rough boots were polished with his new suit was slowly forming to the shape of his old shreds. A new, expensive hat left red marks across forehead. There was quality in his single piece of luggage. It was light. He kept it out the hands of porters lest they suspect its contents; two pairs of socks. The remainder of his wardrobe, in addition to what he wore, was rolled in a flour sack inside his bedroll, now far away on the plains of Texas.

Love responds better to reins in spurs. When harnessed to a chariot of companionship it travels far over inclining roads without weariness.

Cold rain was blowing across an open deck of Canal Street in New Orleans. Blonde hair, exceedingly fair, the girl sat huddled in her raincoat watching the little whitecaps which the wind stirred on the Mississippi. Inside the red section of the boat a juke box was playing and a few couples were dancing during the lull between shores. The never looked up from the worn varnished bench, but toy with a loose wedding ring on finger. Mollifying vibrations from the ferry whistle and a sea of melody from the juke riding the odors of popcorn, and stale beer, drifted across the open deck. The lone girl, holding the ring, turned shyly to look at the river.

A radio announcer has said love is the star to which fastens his attention and marriage is the open man into which he falls.

A boy my impressions were frequently too sharp for peace of a tranquil spirit. Somewhere in the musty file of forgotten hours I have found the memory of a festive day at the rancher's home. There red wine bubbling in the thin glasses but I did not drink it. Instead I saw the blood young calves flowing from their throats. There was light and splendor, fine leather and rich silk curtains. The luxurious rug was the color of a thousand slaughtered steers, the pipe-organ music was pleading of helpless calves branded. The polished, oiled walls were the wide eyes of steers with bullets in their brains. The linen table was woven from the terror pain of cold, hungry cattle driven with long-tongued pulling the thin hair from their backs. A massive clock on the stairway was purchased by the survivors of rainless winters; the stench of black mud, drying waterholes bellowing herds. A leather man was the hoofs and shed bones of a cow, slung across the fence from her being dragged by coyotes open space on the prairie. Sing hair and flesh of living animals was in the smoke of the cowboy's cigar.

Graham To Head 1948 Boy's Club

Curtis Graham was unanimously named to helm the 1948 Matador Boy's Club at a breakfast-meeting held Monday morning at Rosa's cafe by former members of the organization. Other officials named for the 1948 season included Rev. Clifford Potts as 1st vice-president, Bert Ezzell as 2nd vice-president and Ward Rattan as 3rd vice-president. Kenneth Jeffers was named secretary-treasurer. Earl Laughlin, Henry Pipkin, Douglas Meador and Dr. J. S. Stanley were named directors.

Coach "Red" Ammonett was appointed summer director of the boys club during the 60 days of summer activity.

Membership fees for sponsors will be $5. There is no charge whatever for boys attending the summer play and boys may attend from any community in the county.

Success of Matador Boy's Club last year is a tribute to the public spirit of civic leaders who championed the plan. Many boys who would have otherwise sought amusement in the streets, found congenial instruction and by leadership in the well-organized program of the club. The boys contributed the finest testimony of the club's success.

Heavy Sleet Is Cause Of Many Falls

Heavy sleet that covered much of West Texas Thursday and Friday, resulted in many falls which brought pain to victims and sent half a dozen to hospitals.

Among the most seriously injured was R. L. (Bugs) Brandon, who is in a cast in Traweck Hospital, with a fractured left hip. He fell enroute to town, near West Texas Gin, and being unable to rise, lay there for several minutes before some colored people came along and rendered aid.

Mrs. George Blackshear of Flomot, also received treatment at Traweck Hospital for a broken arm, and a Flomot school girl was treated for a broken ankle.

Homer T. Jenkins is wearing a cast, after falling and breaking his collar bone. He was treated at Stanley Clinic.

County 6th In State On Drive Quota

"Your chapter report regarding quota fund goal was 6th in your state to reach headquarters. Wish you hearty congratulations and hope every adult in your county will be reached before the drive is over. Signed, Harold Fowler."

Mr. Keltz, who organized and directed a county-wide drive to be completed in two hours, said earlier in the week that because of severe weather conditions, several communities had not completed their work and that he did not have a complete report.

He said that altho the quota had been reached in two hours and that amounts reported indicated that it would be doubled he hoped everyone not solicited, would make an effort to bring their contribution to J. Barkley, who is critically ill. After conveying him to Gainesville for examination, they accompanied him to Dallas for an operation.

Cattle Losses May Result From Storm

WINTER was riding with zero spurs in Western Texas last night. Fog, drizzle and freezing rain earlier in the week spread a bitter carpet for the most severe blizzard of the winter. Snow swirled over ice-covered streets in Matador early yesterday while traffic on U. S. Highway 70 slowed to an almost standstill point.

At 2 a. m. this morning the mercury (unofficial) had dropped to zero with no mercy indicated in the increasing wind. The storm broke with less than usual warning from weather stations. Some forecasters yesterday declared that relief might be expected sometime today. Clear skies at 11 p. m. last night gave some promise that the weight of the blizzard had passed and that sunshine might be expected today.

Schools Close Here

Matador schools were dismissed yesterday for the remainder of the week because of hazardous travel and to conserve fuel supplies. Many classes yesterday reflected severity of the weather. Traffic on Highway 70 yesterday was snarled here with many large trucks and private automobiles parked to await more favorable conditions.

Some cattlemen last night declared that losses might be expected in herds where shelter and feed are not provided. Ice and snow cover range grass to a dangerous extent. One ranchman declared that cattle are in a weakened condition at this time of the year and more susceptible to cold weather than earlier in the winter.

Several minor automobile accidents have resulted from the storm but no injuries, or serious accidents had been reported at Sheriff John Stotts office late yesterday.

Radio stations on the Plains yesterday at noon were appealing to listeners to conserve all the gas possible and reports of schools closing were being broadcast.

Matador Chapter Observing FFA Week

Starting Monday, Feb. 23, was annual FFA week, and the Matador chapter is reviewing some of the first things they learned about the F.F.A. such as purposes, motto, creed, etc. The primary aim of the Future Farmers of America is the development of a agricultural leadership, cooperation and friendship.

Another thing which members of the F.F.A. remember about their organization on F.F.A. week is their colors. Perhaps no more appropriate colors than a live "up-and-coming" youth organization could have been selected than National Blue and Corn Gold. Rich and cheerful, these colors should appear in connection with all meetings, and in the equipment and paraphernalia used. The flow corn color on a background of medium blue has been found to be an ideal color combination.

Also paramount in the minds of F.F.A. is the motto. The motto of the F.F.A. has been chosen for clarity and logic. It puts forth what is being done by the F.F.A. It is: Learning to do, doing to learn, earning to live, living to serve.

During the past week the FFA Matador chapter, has also been busy with the pruning of trees as well as winding up on sheep day. On Wednesday, Feb. 18, they were guests on the J. E. Mason farm where they casted and docked twenty-five lambs.

After a few weeks caterpillars on into butterflies. The average life of a butterfly is about four or five weeks. Diamonds and coal are both carbon.

CHICK CHATS

Start your chicks right and your chances of experiencing a profitable poultry-raising season will be greatly enhanced.

Everything should be in readiness when the chicks arrive. The brooder house should be cleaned, scoured and thoroughly dried out beforehand. Equipment should be clean and sanitary. The brooder stove should be in operation and the brooder house warm and cozy.

When chicks are first placed in the brooder house, it is advisable to have litter covered with newspapers or burlap. This will prevent the birds from eating bits of litter.

Use A Hover Guard.

For the first few days, confine the chicks to an area near the brooder stove by erecting a hover guard which keeps them near the source of heat. The guard may be hardware cloth, chicken wire, or some other suitable material. It should be about two feet from the edge of the hover at first and then may be moved back gradually each day until the end of the first week when it may be removed completely.

For the first few days, place feed on box lids or new egg case flats. This enables the baby chicks to locate the feed easier and to fall into a satisfactory feeding routine quicker. In a few days the regular chick-size feeders can be used. Have at least one inch of feeding space per chick for the first three weeks and double it thereafter. Figure at least two one-gallon waterers for each 100 chicks.

Brooder Stove Temperature

Strive to keep the birds warm and comfortable. The temperature at the edge of the hover should be 90-92 degrees for the first week. Then it may be lowered gradually until the end of the sixth week at which time artificial heat may be dispensed with unless weather is severe.

Watch your brood closely for signs of discomfort. If chicks are warm, well fed and content, they will "talk" in a low-toned

FARM NEWS

The 1948 Agricultural Conservation Program is underway. County and community agricultural committeemen are now assisting farmers to take full advantage of the program. It's time for farmers to line up the conservation practices to be carried out during 1948, says Delmont Hays, Chairman of the Motley County agricultural conservation committee.

The launching of the 1948 AC Program is of significant importance to the folks who live in town as well as the farmers of Motley county, says Mr. Hays. In the first place the production from the farms in Motley County furnishes a substantial part of the wealth of the county. The sale of farm products accounts for much of the money to pay for gasoline, machinery, groceries, furniture, clothes, etc. This means more business for the merchants and dealers in the county.

Of even more importance, the chairman points out, is the fact that all people depend on the soil for most of their food and clothing.

For these reasons everyone has a direct interest in the 1948 Agricultural Conservation Program, since the primary purpose of this program is to conserve and protect the soil.

Under the 1948 AC Program, farmers of Motley county will be cooperating with the folks who don't live on the farm in a program to help assure continued abundant production of food. "This program", the chairman explains, "will help keep the grocery shelves filled. It will help fill the ships with food for the hungry people overseas. It will help to make possible the abundant production we need at this time and assure continued abundance for the future."

"cheep". When they are noisier than normal and their "cheeping" becomes rapid and high, look for something wrong. A shrill, noisy brood may be either hungry, thirsty or cold.

Lack Of Certain Essential Foods Cause Of Pellagra

Pellagra, although not a communicable disease, is one of greater concern to public health officials in Texas and other southern states. The disease is caused by the lack of certain essential foods, and as it comes on slowly, it may not be recognized until the victim begins to have the more serious symptoms such as sore mouth, stomach trouble, and reddening and scaling of the skin.

"When these symptoms appear, the disease has been present for some time," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. "The longer an individual has pellagra the harder it is to cure. It is advisable, therefore, to watch for the early symptoms such as nervousness, indigestion, and burning of the hands and feet, and if these symptoms appear, treatment should be instituted at once. In its advanced stages pellagra may become so severe as to not only cause physical suffering but seriously affect the mind."

Pellagra is not contagious and it can be prevented entirely by including the right kinds of foods in the daily diet. These essential foods are milk, fresh meat, whole wheat products, brewer's yeast, and salmon, as well as tomatoes and other fresh fruits and vegetables. Including these foods in the daily diet will prevent pellagra, and as in the case of any disease, it is much better to prevent it than to cure it.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 10—Worst blizzard in years hammered Oklahoma with ever increasing intensity tonight. Motorists were driven from the highways and temperatures plummeted far below freezing in most sections. "All divisions report conditions are growing much worse," was the word from state highway department when darkness came.

At least on death was attributed to the storm. John Dillon Strong, 28, was killed when he lost control of his car in a blinding snow near Ringwood.

14-INCH SPEEDBOAT
Budget Dad, $3.00 for motor—Son, 49c for materials

Dear Dad:
A featherweight hull can be produced from these same plans by substituting 1/32-inch sheet balsa for the 1/16th stock specified. Also, if 1/32nd stock is used the hull must be stiffened at chine and deck sheer with pieces of 1/16-inch-square balsa.

Start construction by making up full-size patterns of the various hull members (see Figures 1 and 2). Trace off these patterns onto balsa wood and cut out just beyond outlines. Trim each piece to exact shape with fine sandpaper. Soften the two side pieces and the deck and forward bottom pieces by boiling them for about ten minutes. Bend to approximate shape and allow to dry before attempting to assemble the pieces. When dry, pin the parts together, first pinning the deck onto the top edge of the side pieces. Set all pieces in plenty of waterproof glue except at the hatch section, which must be removable in order to change batteries.

When the glue has set fast, remove all pins and put in the shaft and shaft hanger by pressing through the bottom and cementing the joint. Make sure the shaft is lined up fore and aft before cementing.

Put in the motor block and the Eveready battery clips, cut to shape and bent from old tin can stock. Connect motor and propeller shafts with a short length of plastic or rubber tubing. Make the propeller as shown in Figures 3 and 4 and mount the propeller to the shaft with cement.

Connect Eveready battery, switch and motor terminals and oil the shaft in its tubular housing liberally. Motor can be either bolted down with small screws or held in place with rubber binders. The latter method is preferable.

Put in the stabilizing fin or fixed rudder exactly 3/4 inches from the stem, switch on the juice and watch her go.

Bottom pieces forward of the step may be flat, V-shaped or inverted V-shaped to suit. The featherweight hull with three Eveready Pen-Light batteries will give more speed, of course.

Sincerely yours,
Doug Relfe

Ben's Bride Gets Chickenhearted

Ben Ryder was mighty proud of his young bride when she offered to care for his new flock of baby chicks. "Just like a mother with her brood," he boasts.

Then came market time for fryers—and the crisis! Sue simply wouldn't let Ben near her chickens with an axe. She'd raised them as babes... she'd named them... they were her very own!

Ben poured himself a glass of beer, to think things over sensibly. He hated to lose the price on fryers... but he figured Sue had put up with his peculiarities, he guessed he could put up with her fondness for the chickens.

So now Ben has the nicest brood of laying hens in town, and from where I sit, one of the most successful marriages, too. All because he "lived-and-let-live"—literally. And whenever he wants fried chicken, he takes his bride over to Andy's Garden Tavern for a crisp wing and a glass of beer.

Fixing Up the Farm by BURTON WILLIAMS

Cart Eases Work

THERE'S an old saying that the easiest way to do a thing also is usually the best and most efficient way. That certainly holds true of many a laborious and time-consuming farm chore. Despite our modern mechanization, there still are various little jobs around a farm that can be made easier by taking a leaf out of the book of that worthy ancient who first struck upon the idea of the wheel.

A home-made cart like that pictured below, for example, can save you much time and effort in moving sows from one location to another, or for carrying milk cans, small machines, tools, bags of feed and so on.

The cart is simply and inexpensively constructed. It consists of a plain wooden crate equipped with a handle or trace and mounted on two rubber-tired wheels from an old automobile. The crate, made of 2 x 4's, may have a gate at one end.

Getting a sow into such a vehicle should not be difficult. If she balks at entering, put some grain in the front of the car and entice her in. If she persists in her refusal, put a basket over her head and back her in.

Coach and Mrs. Truett Rattan and baby daughter of Levelland spent the week-end here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Rattan.

EL MATADOR

KNOW YOUR TEACHERS

She's doing for the FHA and Home Ec. classes what Bill Moss has done for the FFA and Agriculture boys. She's very popular around the campus and a good portion of the students just call her Ruth. The subject is, of course, Mrs. Loyd Latimer.

Ruth Evelyn Keith as she was known in "them days" graduated from Matador High School in the spring of 1943 and was Salutatorian that year, as well as editor of La Arena, the high school annual. We are informed that at the time of graduation from high school, she was practically as big a giant as her Freshman brother, Bodie Kieth. Being a girl who put education ahead of everything else, she entered Texas Tech in the fall of '43 and thereafter kept her nose in the books until she received her B. S. degree in Home Ec. which was her major. She was a member of the Freshman honor society, the Future Teachers of America, and the Home Ec. club as well as other organizations.

She finished college in January, 1947, and then got interested in boys, catching her husband, Loyd Latimer, by February of the same year. Then, as a consequence of this marriage, she was forced to start teaching and did so the very next month, which was March 1947.

These, we shall venture to say were three of the most important months in the history of Ruth's life. She is now 22 years old, as of a birthday Sunday, March 7, and this native of Matador is doing a great job of teaching at Matador.

PAULINE WHEELER AND ALGIE DURBIN ARE MARRIED IN HOME CEREMONY IN ABILENE

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wheeler, 1120 North Fifth, of Abilene are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Pauline, to Algie Durbin, also of Abilene.

The ceremony was performed by L. Arnold Watson, Church of Christ minister, in the home of the bride's parents, Saturday, February 28.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a dress of white net styled with shirred bodice and short sleeves. Her headpiece was of white net and satin, and she wore a corsage of gardenias.

Attendants for the couple were Miss Lavern Wright and Bernarr Pitchard, students of Abilene Christian College.

A reception followed the wedding ceremony. A three tiered cake, topped with a small bride and bridegroom, was served.

The bride is a graduate of Merkle High School.

Mr. Durbin will be well remembered here having attended both grammar and high school here in Matador. He was a graduate of the 1944 graduating class and was an outstanding football player for the Matador Matadors.

Fixing Up the Farm by BURTON WILLIAMS

Cart Eases Work
THERE'S an old saying that the easiest way to do a thing also is usually the best and most efficient way. That certainly holds true of many a laborious and time-consuming farm chore. Despite our modern mechanization, there still are various little jobs around a farm that can be made easier by taking a leaf out of the book of that worthy ancient who first struck upon the idea of the wheel.

you much time and effort in moving sows from one location to another; or for carrying milk cans, small machines, tools, bags of feed and so on.

The cart is simply and inexpensively constructed. It consists of a plain wooden crate equipped with a handle or trace and mounted on two rubber-tired wheels from an old automobile. The crate, made of 2 x 4's, may have a gate at one end.

Getting a sow into such a vehicle should not be difficult. If she balks at entering, put some grain in the front of the car and entice her in. If she persists in her refusal, put a basket over her head and back her in.

Coach and Mrs. Truett Rattan and baby daughter of Levelland spent the week-end here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Rattan.

EL MATADOR KNOW YOUR TEACHERS

She's doing for the FHA and Home Ec. classes what Bill Moss has done for the FFA and Agriculture boys. She's very popular around the campus and a good portion of the students just call her Ruth. The subject is, of course, Mrs. Loyd Latimer.

Ruth Evelyn Keith as she was known in "them days" graduated from Matador High School in the spring of 1943 and was Salutatorian that year, as well as editor of La Arena, the high school annual. We are informed that at the time of graduation from high school, she was practically as big a giant as her Freshman brother, Bodie Kieth.

Being a girl who put education ahead of everything else, she entered Texas Tech in the fall of '43 and thereafter kept her nose in the books until she received her B. S. degree in Home Ec. which was her major. She was a member of the Freshman honor society, the Future Teachers of America, and the Home Ec. club as well as other organizations.

She finished college in January, 1947, and then got interested in boys, catching her husband, Loyd Latimer, by February of the same year. Then, as a consequence of this marriage, she was forced to start teaching and did so the very next month, which was March 1947.

These, we shall venture to say were three of the most important months in the history of Ruth's life. She is now 22 years old, as of a birthday Sunday, March 7, and this native of Matador is doing a great job of teaching at Matador.

Senior Play Now Under Rehearsal

Organized practice of the senior play "One in a Million" started Wednesday night, March 3, and it has been progressing nicely since, according to class sponsor and play director, Vance Gilbreath.

High School principal, Gilbreath said he believed the play would be very entertaining and one everyone will enjoy. "One in a Million" is to be presented March 19 unless it is necessary to postpone it due to weather conditions.

Cast of the characters is as follows: Archie (young senseless would-be play writer) James White; Sam (hero of the play has a knack for jams) Don Bradley; Hubert (Archie's comical personal valet) William C. Graham; Uncle Temple (Archie's comical uncle who furnishes Archie with cash) Norman Spray; Goldie (country girl who puts Uncle Temple on the spot) Dorothy Stanfield; Mrs. Jenkins (Goldie's mother who has a terrible temper) Barbara Ketchersid; Wilma Maitland (agrees to masquerade as Sam's wife) Gwendolyn Wilkinson; Aunt Limira (Miss Fixit, who straightens everything out) Ruby Bostick.

superintendent of schools might have had, he was overcome by a laughing fit. Finally he managed to tell the coach that Spray was an A student, editor of El Matador, and had been one of the football captains during the football season.

Of course the coach was surprised, but he shouldn't feel so badly. One can't tell by looking at Mr. Editor?

President, Melva North; Vice-president, Tresa McDonough; Secretary-treas, Joan Florence; Reporter and Historian, Clara Jameson; Song leader, Letress Simpson; Pianist, Doris Doss.

At the present, class work constitutes the making of infants clothing, the material used for this project being purchased with the profits from the sales of candy and coke during the noon hour each day. The infant clothing will be on display during the annual Spring Style show, and sold immediately afterwards.

As a feature in home project work this summer, the FFA plans to take proceeds from the layettes to make improvements in the Home Ec. department.

Following the completion of the study of layettes, the girls will make clothing for themselves. Plans are now being made to attend the area FFA meet in Plainview March 20.

Ag Classes Learn To Prune Trees

The MHS vocational agriculture classes have been studying pruning methods on various types of trees and shrubs during the past week and Bill Moss, instructor, has to say pertaining to the subject:

"Do you want long stemmed roses this summer? Now is the time to place your order by properly pruning your roses. Late blooming roses should be pruned back to 4 buds and approximately 30% of the tops should be removed from those early blooming roses to insure a larger number of high quality blooms.

"Now is also the time to prune evergreens into the desired shapes. Just remember, do not cut the central leader until the shrub or tree reaches the desired height."

STUDENT CONTRIBUTIONS

So the editor wants student contributions? Well, maybe this will slow him down!

Throughout the basketball season, editor Spray did not come out for the sport, but as reporter, made practically all the trips and also played with the boys B team.

On the night Matador and Floydada tangled here, Editor Spray was right out there with the "B" team—so, shall we say, that he might get a first hand report. Anyway, his extra hustled, and extra movements of the arms caught the Floydada coach attention.

"Say", the coach said to Mr. Ezzell during the game, pointing at Spray. "That number 12. He's not exactly bright is he?"

"Good" Grass Isn't Good Enough!

The output of our grasslands can be doubled!"

Top experts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture will tell you that. So will many a far-sighted rancher and farmer out of his actual experience. So will students and teachers of land management everywhere. . . In that bright possibility of range and pasture improvement lies one principal hope for more food for a hungry world. Not only more food, but better food. For proper grassland management will improve the fertility of the land, and the nutritive value of the foods coming off it. It will save the land, too, protecting the precious layer of topsoil from blowing away or washing off to sea. And it will increase the amount and value of hay for cash-crop or winter feeding.

The way is wide open for you to improve your grass. Strong and willing allies stand ready to help you. For advice and active help in planning your own grass-management program, there's your County Agent. . . For technical, practical help in putting your program into operation, call on the Soil Conservation Service technician who lives in your district. . . And for information on newest experimental developments, call on your State Agricultural College or experiment station.

The program of good management for your grassland which you work out together will probably consist of some—or perhaps all—of the following practices. If you're in the range country: (1) Livestock numbers balanced to the amount of grass you can produce. (2) A rotation schedule of seasonal grazing. (3) Water located conveniently. (4) Elimination of excessive brush. (5) Wider distribution of salt to prevent overgrazing near salt sources. (6) Re-seeding of over-used or abandoned range. (7) Introduction of improved native grasses and adapted new grasses. (8) Irrigation. (9) Protection against wind and water erosion. If yours is farm pasture land: (1) Liming. (2) Fertilization. (3) Seeding with pasture mixtures which stretch the grazing season at both ends. (4) Weed control by mowing or chemicals. (5) Rotation grazing. (6) Avoidance of over-grazing. (7) Irrigation.

We of Swift & Company have the same deep, basic interest that you have in range and pasture improvement. More and better grass is to our interest as it is to yours—and to the nation's. That's why we urge you to act, if you have not already done so, to increase the productiveness of your grasslands.

Profit Comes from SAVING!

The story at the head of this page is about farmers and ranchers making the most of their grasslands. By good planning, managing well, and operating efficiently, they can grow more grass, produce more food for the world, and make more money.

While writing that story, I was struck by a similarity in the Swift business. For it is careful planning and efficient operation that keep us in business, too. Like you with your grassland, we've got to make the most of what we have. We've got to practice efficiency. We, also, must cut costs, operate with economy. Not only the important economy of finding uses and markets for every possible by-product, but economy and efficiency all along the line.

Maybe you saw Swift's recent financial report for 1947. It showed that we earned $22,334,977 after provision of $12,000,000 for high cost additions to fixed assets. This earning represented one cent out of our average dollar of sales. That one cent was earned in large part by the savings we made. The operating figures of our business prove that statement. They show where the savings came from. New methods of doing things which save time and cost. Modern equipment replacing old, worn equipment. Better ways discovered by Swift research to produce, use and handle Swift products. A small saving here . . . another there . . . little economies pyramiding into big economies. Until, added together, the savings which we made last year in the actual day-by-day operation of the Swift business amounted to a considerable part of our earnings.

Careful planning, good management and efficient operation are "musts" in our business as in yours. "Little things" can often add up to the difference between a profit and a loss.

"Pitted" Pastures Produce More Grass

As reported by A. L. Nelson, Robert Lang and Oscar Barnes of Wyoming Archer Field Experiment Station

"Pitting" pastures has stepped up grazing capacity of range land by as much as one-third, according to the Archer Field Station in southwestern Wyoming. "Pitting" is a simple mechanical treatment. It can be done with a one-way Wheatland plow with alternate eccentric disks. These eccentric disks leave a waffle-like surface with pits about 16 inches apart. The pits trap water, help produce more grass.

The eccentric disks are 2 inches larger than the others, with the gang bolt hole 2 inches off center. In mounting the eccentrics, you start from the rear and replace every other disk with an eccentric. Mount the first eccentric with the long side up, the second with the long side to the rear, the third with the long side down, and the fourth with the long side to the front. Continue in the same rotation until all disks are mounted.

Best time to pit is early spring, before much plant growth has started. The cost runs from 50 cents to a dollar an acre.

"Weigh 'em to Swift!"

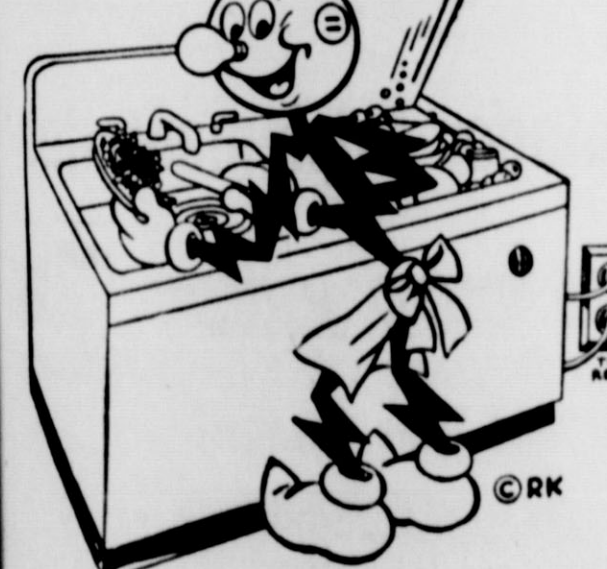

The pen gate opens and cattle crowd into the alley, headed for the scales. A cry rings out, "Weigh 'em to Swift!"

Another lot of livestock has been sold to Swift & Company. That deal is a miniature of the business relationship between livestock producers and meat packers.

When this lot of steers was "finished," the producer sent them to the stockyards, consigned to a commission firm. In the "yards" livestock buyers came to look and make their competitive bids. Competition is always keen because 26,000 meat packers and other commercial slaughterers in the United States are active in livestock buying. Each buyer knows that unless he bids "the going price" for the animals he wants, some competitor will get them. Also, he knows that if he bids too high his company will take a loss.

Thus competition and the law of supply and demand set the prices all along the line. This load of steers went to Swift & Company because the Swift buyer offered more than other buyers. And the price he paid was based on his estimate of what the meat, hides, glands and other by-products would be worth to Swift & Company.

"Just leave the house cleaning to me"

GRANDMA will tell you that housecleaning was one chore she hated—and Grandpa dreaded. But that was before Reddy Kilowatt, your electric servant, was available to take so much work out of housework.

Now, with the low-cost, dependable electric servant, Reddy Kilowatt, ready to lend a hand—or a dozen hands—housecleaning has been stripped of much of its drudgery. Housecleaning—and housekeeping, as well.

For about a dime a day, the housewife has a dozen helpers at her elbow. Today, electric servants wash, cook, sew and clean—they preserve her food, light her home and entertain her guests.

Never before has electric service done so much to make life easier and more comfortable. Yet the West Texas Utilities Company is furnishing to residential consumers electric service at rates 17 per cent less than ten years ago. What other item in the budget does so much for so little?

Matadors Lose Last Home Game To Floyd

Coach Red Amonett's Matador Matadors lost their last home basketball game of the conference season by a convincing 38-21 defeat at the hands of the Floydada Whirlwinds, Friday night, February 13.

The Matadors were trailing by a 20-6 score at the half and 27-11 at the close of the third period. Then R. L. Giesecke, sophomore center, "got hot" and through his own superior ball handling, as well as the passing and screening of his companions built the Matadors' score up to 21. Giesecke scored 6 of the 10 points it took to do this.

Giesecke was high for Matador with 11 points while Bob Finley was Floydada's high with 16. Unless it was Giesecke, Finley was undoubtedly the outstanding player on the court as he seemed to make each shot count and was particularly brilliant on defense.

In an experiment an adult moth lived 77 days without eating.

Wayland Tops Past Enrollment Records

Latest totals released from the Wayland College registrar list 515 students attending the Plainview college. This is compared to 510 who enrolled last September, the largest number ever to attend Wayland college up to that time.

Seventy students entered Wayland at mid-term for the first time. Seven of these were from outside the continental limits of the United States. Three students enrolled from Shanghai, China.

The largest single group is from Plainview, with about one fourth of the total enrollment made up of non-resident students living in the city.

Besides representatives from China, Brazil, Mexico and Hawaii, 42 students were listed from outside the state of Texas.

New State Highway Map Now Available

AUSTIN, Feb. 26.—The Spring Edition of the Texas Highway Department's official travel map is being released for public distribution, State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer has announced.

The new four color map incorporates all changes in the state road system through December occasioned by the Department's vast postwar road building program.

There is a generous display of color pictures representing a cross section of the State's industrial and recreational assets.

A message from Governor Beauford H. Jester is printed on the cover. Addressing "motorists everywhere", the Governor invites all to "see and travel in Texas, revel in its sunshine, its modern cities, and scenic beauty".

Except for revisions in the road system and the new pictures, the edition is similar to others issued since the war which have been acclaimed among the best of the state road maps published throughout the nation.

Standard highway warning and directional signs are reproduced on the map to familiarize drivers with road markers.

Size of the Lone Star State is again graphically told by a table of comparative distances. The 868 miles from El Paso to Orange is greater than the 815 miles from El Paso to Los Angeles. It is also further than the 760 miles from Laredo to Mexico City.

Included also is a small scale map of the United States showing all state capitals and major federal highways.

The Texas map is published under the direction of R. M. Stene, who performed all the cartography, and attended to the technical details of production. At 78, Mr. Stene's boundless energy and versatile talent uphold his contention that "life begins at 70".

A registered professional engineer, he came with the Highway Department in 1927. He had previously built dams in Arizona and worked for railroads in Texas.

Copies of the new Spring Edition are available to the traveling public at the Highway Department's main office in Austin its twenty-five district offices

Project To Remove Hazards On Highway

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—The State Highway Commission Friday ordered a $2,725 project to remove a hazard on U. S. 70 which has been responsible for several traffic accidents during bad weather.

The work will consist of building a gravel road on the outside of a heavily banked curve on U. S. 70 above the Caprock, one mile East of the Motley-Floyd County line.

Superelevation of the curve has made it dangerous during wet and icy weather, especially for trucks with high loads, it was explained. The gravel road ordered will provide a convenient by-pass for traffic when weather conditions make the curve hazardous.

throughout the State, and at its nine information bureaus operated at ports of entry into Texas.

Fixing Up the Farm

by BURTON WILLIAMS

Corrugated Asbestos Sheets
ONE of the modern developments in the growing use of corrugated asbestos cement sheets as siding and roofing for dairy barns, grain storages, hog houses and the like. Employed for many years as exterior and interior building material for various types of industrial structures, the sheets have many advantages which make them adaptable to farm use. One is the fact that they may be applied to widely spaced framing members. This is possible because the tough mineral composition of the sheets, together with the corrugations, gives them a high degree of strength. A dairy barn like that illustrated below, constructed with corrugated asbestos cement sheets, is exceptionally economical in the long run. The sheets require no painting or other preservative treatment, and they last indefinitely with little or no maintenance. The natural light grey color and the mellow shadows cast by the corrugations present an unusually pleasing appearance. Corrugated asbestos cement sheets also provide the farmer with several important "bonus" features. Made of two indestructible minerals, asbestos fibers and portland cement, the sheets are weather-proof and fireproof, as well as being immune to decay, rust, rats and termites.

Charles of Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Bird of Dickens were here over the week-end at the bedside of their mother, Mrs. C. D. Bird who has been a patient in the Traweck Hospital for the past several weeks. Mrs. Bird's other children, Gus, Glenn, and Carl Bird and their families and her husband were also at her bedside.
