

New Cleanup Program Opens

BEGINNING immediately another plan to organize and finance an efficient cleanup system in Matador will be placed in operation. During a brief, special meeting of the city council Tuesday night an order was passed to purchase a new International truck from Matador Implement Company and a used and hydraulic dump equipment from H. S. Ward. The total expense of the equipment will be about $2,160. The purchase will be made outright from the general and water funds of the city. In event the plan should prove unsuccessful, the equipment will be sold.

Leading the movement to purchase the truck and dump bed was Councilman E. B. Jinks. He secured the lowest offers from local dealers, including prices on a used truck. Order for the new truck was made yesterday by Jinks and Mayor Douglas Meador. Delivery is promised within a few days.

Altho no contract had been completed last night, it is agreed with members of the council and the mayor, that John Lee of Matador will be employed at a regular salary to operate the truck. A work plan from a map of the city will be used to designate the route of the new city service so that every resident of Matador will receive equal hauling. Exception may be in some areas where the city has not yet opened alleys.

For the business section the service will be daily with charges made in fairness to the type of business. In the residential section it is expected that the service will be twice-a-month at a charge of 75¢ per month. The payment must be voluntary. The service will be operated for 30 days before collection will be attempted.

Mayor Meador and the council were in complete agreement with regards to giving the plan a trial. Regarding the truck plan, Meador declared, "At first I did not believe it possible to clean up the city of Matador and keep it clean by man-power alone, but I have changed my mind to this extent; it can be done with a good truck and one or two men working long hours and diligently. I not only accept the truck plan, I will work to bring about its success just as much as the small tractor plan which I advocated at the start. I don't care what means may be employed so long as Matador can escape from the deplorable unsanitary condition that now exists. I ask every citizen of the community to cooperate in making the plan a success, so that we may all share the pride of our town's cleanliness. One case of polio alone would bring shame that we as a modern, progressive community can not afford to risk.

"I have already contacted officials of the Matador Lions Club and asked that another general cleanup day designated as soon as possible."

If a contract is made with Mr. Lee, it may be possible that cleaning up of the business section can be started before the arrival of the new truck. Mr. Lee possesses a truck which may be used to relieve the emergency.

City Makes Deal To Widen Bridge

A tentative deal was made by the Matador city council Tuesday night whereby the Phillips Paving Company will widen to the extent of ten feet, the bridge across Ballard creek at the north edge of the business section.

Clauses in the council order provide that the bridge will be widened if enough funds remain from the street improvement bond issue. The price bid on widening the bridge, adding an extra "barrel" for more outlet of water, also an additional foot bridge, was $5,600. Total width of the bridge, not including the foot bridge, will be 24 feet. The city has also provided that it retain a specified sum in the account to take care of any emergency expense before the paving contract is completed.

Demo Handicap May Bring Large Vote

Restless tromping echoing in the voter's ears is caused by candidates anxious to get on the track Saturday in the first Democratic primary. The period of card-passing and name-calling is rapidly drawing to a close with the voter showing more apathy than usual.

In Motley county the political handicap, has, with the exception of four contested commissioner places, no cause to raise the pulse of the average voter.

Two state offices (Senator and Representative) will probably develop interest when the boxes begin to come in, as will the returns from the U. S. Senator and Governor races. The voter will probably strike at random in many of the other state offices.

To help readers become familiar with the ballot, the Tribune is this week publishing a sample ballot which is exactly as the official ballot with the exception that all four precincts are published showing the names of all commissioner candidates. On official ballot each precinct has special printing containing only names of commissioners candidates as apply to the precinct.

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

There is a quality of dismay that might possess shadows of doubt when we consider a character so good as to be absolved of all imperfect actions to which human nature has professed weaknesses. The standard of perfection is less than perfect.

Coy prairie flowers play games with the squiring winds in which they pretend to evade each embrace, yet they return prim and effecting innocence to the next approaching suitor.

It doesn't hurt much to be mistaken in our opinions. The absciss which has to be dug out with the horn spoon of truth, is the admission.

Granite is like a strong man. Once it is designed into shape it remains changeless through many seasons.

A friend who has ridden a horse into northers many years before men began worrying about heaters and defrosters, tells an unusual story that can best be appreciated by those familiar with wagons and teams. He said his father once had an Indian boy employed and ordered him to haul a load of sand. The youth drove a new wagon with sideboards into the bed of a stream and filled it with sand, then attempted to drive out. In some manner he moved the wagon a few inches but the strain was too much. All four wooden axles snapped at the iron thimble, leaving four wheels free and the wagon box resting flat on the bed of the stream.

Dawn was seining white and red stars from a crystal sky. Little crimson ships of clouds were anchored in the harbor of light awaiting until their holds could be filled with enough beauty to make the journey profitable. Wrapped in his bed of grass grown tall by the railroad trestle, the hobo slept unmindful of day's nearness. The soles of his feet had worn through his shoes and his clothing was tattered and shabby, as if it had always been old. His flabby hat was near the handkerchief bundle of his possessions. The sun was on the rails above his head before he rose and yawned, then fell again to his earth couch. When the heart is at peace with the world so little is needed for contentment.

Water Users Architect Ordered To Sop Up Big Sale Record

A country boy is on his way to town. C. W. Giesecke, immediate past president of the Matador Lions Club, left Lubbock Tuesday morning aboard a chartered bus, bound for New York City where he will be the club's City delegate to Lions International convention which opens Sunday.

Fellow members expect to receive wire communications upon his arrival that he has made a sharp deal for Empire State building or the Brooklyn bridge.

He may also look in on the political situation and return with some advanced opinions on what the Republicans think of the Dixiecrats.

Visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Markham over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Birchfield and baby son, Miss Delora Markham and Duane Markham all of Levelland.

COME TO CHURCH SUNDAY

County Fair Has Nod From Lions

First county fair in 20 years will be held here in October. Top subject on the Matador Lions Club directors breakfast meeting held in the Methodist church basement Monday morning, was the proposal to hold a county-wide fair here in the fall (probably October). Bert Ezzell was appointed general chairman of the fair committee after all directors had voted unanimously for the club to sponsor the event.

Mrs. Bob Martin, special guest of the directors, representing the Motley county home demonstration clubs, assured the Lions that the county-wide organization would offer full cooperation.

Details of the fair will be discussed at a later meeting. A suggestion was made that first, second and third place ribbons be awarded instead of cash prizes.

The fair will be held in the newly-acquired school buildings, north of the school campus. The buildings will contain approximately 10,000 square feet of floor space.

Breakfast was prepared and served by Lions members at the church basement kitchen.

City Hit By Flash Flood

A flash flood, wind, rain, electrical storm struck Matador about 11:30 last night and caused the fire alarm to sound at the height of the furry. A short in wiring probably from lightning caused the alarm to sound.

Rain, driven by strong winds fell for several minutes to an estimated inch of precipitation, which will be of great benefit to growing crops. No damage was reported at one a. m. altho observers of clouds west of Matador, believe that the storm may left damage near the rim of the Plains. No hail fell here. Despite the heavy lightning, light and power service was interrupted for a few minutes in but one instance.

City Hit By Flash Flood

Telephone service and mail delivery service in Matador are going to do some explaining to some not-too-friendly Lions. Directors breakfast Monday morning brought angry protests at the inadequate services and committees have been appointed to make complete investigations and return with more than "promises."

Members of the Roaring Springs Lions have asked to be represented in protest of the telephone service. Telephone service in Matador has been a problem to the Lions over a period of years.

Mail service into Matador is declared "beyond further endurance" since delivery is frequently so delayed that many patrons of the local postoffice are going to lunch before it arrives. In some instances the mail does not arrive until the following day.

Matador receives modern mail service one day each week (Sunday) when a rapid transit line (motor) delivers all mail before 8 a. m. Newspapers are carried daily by this firm.

City Hit By Flash Flood

Home, business or farm premises may be sprayed with a scientific mixture containing DDT through a service offered by A. B. Booth of Floydada, it was announced yesterday. The charge is declared very reasonable.

Many reports of excellent results since the "mass spraying" of the city late in June, have been received by the Tribune, despite the wind and following rain that caused some residents to believe it ineffective.

Arrangements for spraying may be made by calling County Attorney Howard Traweck.

City Hit By Flash Flood

Gerald Fulkerson was released Tuesday morning from the Lubbock General hospital where he had been confined since July 7th with sinus infection. He has returned to Matador to recuperate at the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Meador, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Nolan Fulkerson, and sister, Nola Lee, of Monahans.

Heart Disease Is Still Top Killer

Heart disease continued in the top spot as the number one killer of Texans, according to figures released by the Texas State Department of Health.

Mortality rate figures show an increase of 255 deaths from the April 1946 figure of 1,099, as compared to the April, 1948 total of 1,354. This represents an increase of more than 18.5% for the comparative period.

"So-called functional heart disease is usually traceable to nervousness, infections from other parts of the body such as teeth and tonsils, a disturbed function of the thyroid gland, and to influenza," Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, said. "And the excessive use of tobacco, coffee, tea, or other heavy stimulant is often a contributing cause."

Malfunction of the heart is a correctable condition, the health officer said, insofar as the sources of infection may be located and eliminated, as in the case of bad teeth or tonsils. Incurable organic heart ailments exist only too frequently.

Strict adherence to competent medical advice will eliminate much worry about either functional or organic heart conditions, Dr. Cox said. He added that such adherence would unquestionably reduce deaths from heart disease materially.

TENS OF THOUSANDS PAY PERSONAL HOMAGE TO GENERAL OF ARMIES PERSHING

President Truman and scores of plain Americans paid personal homage to General John J. Pershing in the Arlington National Cemetery Monday and again Monday afternoon as the great soldier's funeral service was held last Thursday.

The citation accompanying the award told, in brief, of the sincere regard in which "Black Jack" was held. It was said of Pershing that he would have excelled as a commander in the atomic age, as he did in the era of trench warfare. His mind was flexible. His tactics embodied all the dash and verve of the old-time cavalry charge. Neither hidebound nor "brass-bound," he kept pace with the times.

day and studied by lantern light at night.

were of Missouri troops clattering away to the Civil War, and as a lad he showed a distinct bent for military history.

Not until he was 21, however, did the martial influence make itself felt in Pershing's life.

Promoted to full general in October 1917, Pershing endeared himself to the American people by sternly resisting the efforts of Allied generals to scatter the soldiers of the United States as reinforcements.

Pershing held staunchly and grimly to his determination that American soldiers must fight under the Stars and Stripes, not under foreign flags.

The wisdom of his stand became crystal clear when American troops at St. Mihiel and in the Meuse-Argonne won decisive victories leading to the collapse of the imperial German army.

Many of the officers who, under Pershing's command, served with distinction in those campaigns, later were to lead American troops to victory in another world war. Among them was General MacArthur, who early in his career was singled out by Black Jack as a potentially great commander.

to the proportions of a figure of shining legend.

True, he had many callers—among them President Truman, who had served as an AEF officer under Pershing in France, and who, as a fellow Missourian spoke the same homespun language.

But he was a lonely man. The old Indian fighter, the hero of San Juan Hill, the warrior of the Philippine jungles, the whiplash foe of Mexican border bandits, the conqueror of the kaiser's armies... the lonely widower mourning the wife and babies who died in flames.

Black Jack Pershing was all of those things.

And he was more—he was a bright, untarnished hero to the nation he served so well.

Pershing's return from France was marked by a tumult of acclaim. No American hero up to that time ever had been so idolized.

Congress conferred upon him the rank of general of the Armies of the United States, an honor which previously had been bestowed only upon George Washington.

The victorious Allies showered upon Pershing their highest honors—but his tunic was bare of these symbols of achievement. Essentially a modest man, a plain American, Pershing, superb soldier though he was, shunned display of military panoply.

The general retired from public life soon after World War I, save for his service as head of the Battle Monuments Commission, which office took him, on several occasions, to the fields of France he had learned to love.

As advancing years made it necessary for Pershing to remain more and more alone with his memories, with the souvenirs of triumph and the haunting shadow of personal tragedy, his stature grew, in Washington,

FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE

121st DISTRICT

A. J. ROGERS

In discussing his candidacy A. J. ROGERS said:

"In these strenuous days, when the peace of the world is threatened and Communists and fellow travelers are attempting by cunning and misleading propoganda to infiltrate into our state and national governments, we urgently need at the helm of our branches of government the calm and steady hands of the most capable and courageous.

"Those who serve in our Legislature must be strong—must be capable of resisting even the most powerful of pressure groups or lobbies who sponsor measures against the public interest.

"We have gone through our second great world war to preserve the freedom and liberties of people, and we must not loose our own individual liberties by lack of public interest. We must at all times be on guard against the encroachment of the rights of the people by monopolies or dictatorship in any form.

"Believing in these principles, I will appreciate the support of all good citizens in giving me an opportunity to serve." Give a young Man A Chance!

A. J. Rogers was reared on a farm near Childress, and spent several years in 4-H and FFA work, serving as district president last year in high school; and also received high recognition for scholastic and athletic activities. After graduation from high school, he enrolled in Texas A. & M. College; and, after studying one year, volunteered for service with the Air Forces, receiving his wings and commission following 14 months training. The house was decorated throughout with bouquets of rose buds. The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and forming the center piece on a reflector was an arrangement of red and yellow rose buds.

Mrs. Russell poured the punch from a crystal punch bowl and heart shaped cakes were served to the guests that called.

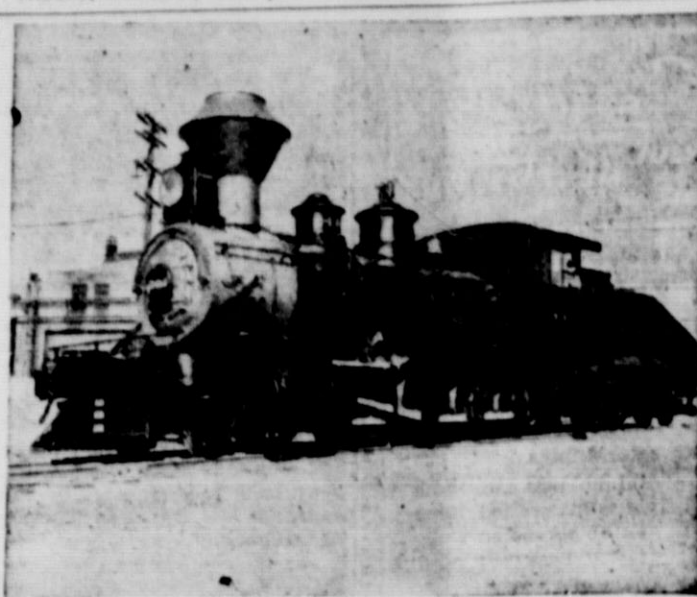

Mrs. Campbell registered the guests in the white bride's book. Those calling during the evening were: Mesdames Bill Waybourn, Vance Gilbreath, Henry Pope, Ward Rattan, Wade Berryman, Pete Williams, Welton Bailey, Phil Green, Warren Clements, Ben Meador, Bennie Cox, Randall Whitworth, Fred Bourland, Elbert Reeves, Forrest Campbell, R. E. Campbell, Jr., and W. N. Pipkin. Misses Rachel Patton, Elwanda Martin, Shirley Pope, Joyce Reynolds and Dorothy Williams. A host of gifts were sent by many friends who were unable to attend.

U. S. Steel Admits Inability To Curb Inflation Trends

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 16—

B. F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel Corporation, in announcing the granting to steel workers of a wage increase, averaging approximately 13 cents an hour, or about 9 per cent, effective July 16, 1948, today made the following statement:

"Last April United Steel denied a wage increase to its steel workers and simultaneously reduced prices on many steel products which have a bearing upon the cost of living. These price reductions were made not because our steel prices were high or out of line in relation to costs but rather in a sincere endeavor to aid in retarding further increases in the cost of living. United States Steel hoped this combined action on its part would prove to be a constructive step toward bringing to a halt the constant and dangerous spiral of higher wages and higher prices throughout the country and would result in greater national economic stability.

"Events of the past two months have demonstrated that the efforts of United States Steel in this direction have not been successful. Since April, industry after industry has granted substantial wage increases. During this period the prices of many products, other than steel, have continued to advance materially as a consequence of higher wages and higher production costs in general. Various other members of the steel industry did not follow this action of United States Steel and did not reduce their prices for similar steel products.

"In announcing its action last April, United States Steel stated that if its endeavor toward economic stabilization should fail and if costs should continue to advance, then in fairness to em-employees and to stockholders it would have to consider at some later date the adequacy of both its wages and steel prices under then-existing conditions.

"In keeping with this announced policy and mindful of the recent wage increases granted in other basic industries, United States Steel voluntarily reopened wage discussions with the United Steelworkers of America CIO earlier this month. Desiring to treat employees fairly, the steel-producing subsidiaries of United States Steel have granted to their steel workers a wage increase of approximately 9 per cent, or an average increase of about 13 cents per hour, effective July 16, 1948. These wage increases will range from 9 cents to 25 cents per hour for different classes of employees. The present labor contracts between these subsidiaries and the union will be extended one year from April 30, 1949, to April 30, 1950, with the right of reopening in July, 1949 for the purpose of negotiating wage rate changes and insurance benefits.

Appropriate reservations in compliance with law will be made with respect to maintenance of membership in the extended contracts.

"These subsidiaries also propose to make appropriate adjustments as of July 16, 1948 in the salaries of other employees. "United States Steel is greatly concerned over the ever-increasing cost of producing steel. It tried last April to aid in halting these continuing increases in costs, but failed to accomplish its aim. Coal costs, which play an important part in the cost of producing steel, have recently substantially. Railroad freight rates have gone up four times since January 1, 1947. More than four tons of raw materials must be assembled to produce a single ton of steel, so transportation costs are of real importance in steel making. These four freight rate increases have added many millions of dollars to the freight charges on the 80 million tons of raw materials required annually by United States Steel. The continuing rise in the cost of purchases and services, which are for approximately 40 per cent in 1947, is a major item for the steel industry. Scrap furnishes an important part of the high level of steel production.

Clarence L. Darter FOR State Representative 121st District

The Texas Legislature handles millions of our tax dollars. It directly affects our lives and our future welfare. It is big business; it is humanities guide to a better way of life — if properly administered. It is not an institution of higher learning, but an institution of administration of our State Government, requiring mature judgement, and business experience. We owe it to ourselves to select a man best able to serve us — not necessarily one who would be most benefited.

We, a group of citizens interested in better state government, believe that Clarence L. Darter should be elected to serve as our next State Representative for the following reasons:

1. He is of mature years and mature judgement.
2. He lives on a farm which he operates, and also operates a small business in Childress.
3. He will be on the job in Childress and available for consultation when legislature is not in session.
4. He has accepted the responsibilities of life, rearing five children.
5. He has earned a living — met a payroll and therefore has a sense of values based on experience.
6. He has had experience in government procedure and has made many valuable contacts in Austin by virtue of having served on the Commissioners Court of Childress county since 1944.

We fervently and respectfully urge that every qualified voter go to the polls, Saturday, July 24th and vote for the best interests of this district.
