TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

A friend whose veracity I have never heard questioned, tells of an amazing incident of his childhood. As a boy he frequently rode two boys near his own place on a neighboring ranch. He says the boys, now prominent citizens, never wore shoes until they had attained manhood and that he has many times witnessed their skating barefoot on the green river near their early home. He said the soles of their feet were like leather and that they ran through grass-burr patches without ever slowing their pace. I once swam in an earth tank after breaking the ice, but I have never cared to guess the experience. Myself, brother and a companion were all crying when we reached the shelter of a red bluff. My son was an attractive shade of blue.

One thing can be said for the Republicans, they keep on trying, altho they repeatedly fail in receiving anyone as effectively as themselves.

Some people love themselves so deeply they are never aware of the lack of interest shown by others.

Brown splinters of caked dust bounced from between cracks and danced on the flooring as carpenters hammered on the old hills. Remaining silent and out of the way, the old man listened as his daughter instructed the workmen on arranging the new gleaming white metal cabinet, the water heater, the refrigerator and the new gas cook stove.

The slender, well-groomed woman passed her father, smiling, kissing him lightly and hurriedly on the cheek. His faded eyes watched the men remove more of the flooring. He remembered the planks when they were new; when the house smelled of new pine. He remembered the autumn twilight when he entered the kitchen and felt its warmth from mesquite burning in the wood cook stove, the steaming tea-kettle and the soft yellow glow of the lamp on white oil-cloth that covered a crude table.

She was standing near that same window the workmen were removing, with all the bloom and loveliness of a young bride. Her small feet had worn the flooring thin; her prayers were in the walls. She seemed very close in that moment the mat flooded his eyes, as he turned and walked away.

Few words this side of eternity hold more paths than the resolutions of a drunkard.

Love is a fierce fire consuming much fuel, yet creating a provocative vitality that exceeds its expense of operation. The highways of achievement are cluttered with dreams left to decay because the energy with which they are propelled is diluted with apathy.

Mr. Galloup has another four years in which to sell the Republicans another victory with his amazing witchcraft.

IN APPRECIATION

It is impossible to convey with words my deep feeling of appreciation to the people of Matador and vicinity for their many acts of kindness, the gifts and words of courage tendered since my injuries sustained in two automobile accidents.

It is good to live amid such considerate, friendly and generous people. I am grateful for every gift, including the money gifts presented me by Matador business firms, since my misfortune. I appreciate every kindness and consideration.

SALE OF AIRPORT APPROVED BY ACC DIST. ENGINEER

Recent sale of the county airport land to R. E. Campbell, received the approval of J. D. Church, Civil Aeronautics Administration district engineer of Big Spring, according to a recent letter received by County Judge Wm. R. Cammack. Excerpts from the letter dated November 1, are as follows:

"I can appreciate your position in this matter and feel that you have taken a course of action which was logical under the circumstances."

"Since the site which the county acquired for an airport has received little or no use as such, there is no local demand for such a facility at present, and, as you say, other suitable sites are available, no harm has been done by selling this site in order to provide funds for improvements that were much more urgently needed than the airport. Under circumstances which now exist the government will pay 25% of the land acquisition cost at such time as you acquire another site for an airport at Matador."

"We believe that within the next few years there will be a real demand and need for a small airport in the county seat. When this occurs, the Civil Aeronautics Administration will be glad to work with you in again setting up a federal aid project for the establishment of the desired facility."

Jury Has Verdict After Five Hours

Two sailors in the U. S. Navy, Thomas Dale Jones, 22 s/lc of New Hebron, Mississippi and Kirby Lane Mitchell, 19, s/lc of West Point, Mississippi, were free men yesterday after a District court jury had found them "not guilty" of "robbery by assault and theft" charges, filed against them by C. A. Cox, 28, of Mophile, Alabama, member of the merchant marine.

The alleged assault occurred near the north boundary of Motley county on the afternoon of June 16th. Jones was tried first and the jury received his case at 3:30 Tuesday afternoon. After five hours of deliberation the jury returned a "not guilty" verdict.

Mitchell pleaded guilty early yesterday and received a five-year suspended sentence in District Judge Alton B. Chapman's court.

Details of the trip west from Dallas by the trio of seafaring young men were obscured by admitted frequent portions of "forgetful water." Cox had picked up the two hitch-hiking sailors headed for the west coast.

They had been friends for two or three days. Cox was enroute to Aiken, Texas to visit his brother. Near Dallas the night before the three men had slept in the same tourist car. As they advanced farther west places and events became less definite. One of the sailors took the wheel of Cox's automobile in Matador and headed north on the Turkey road. Somewhere on this road a fight transpired. West of the road Cox regained consciousness and went to the home of W. W. Prudy, where he reported that he had been assaulted and his automobile taken.

A. L. Morris of Quitaque, a garage-owner, picked up the two sailors about one mile east of Quitaque and brought the stalled automobile which they had been driving into town (a piston in the car had been knocked out). He refused offers to buy the automobile, but provided transportation to the sailors to a point on the highway west of Quitaque.

Jones and Mitchell reported at Mare Island, California Naval Base on June 22 and were immediately faced with court-martial for being 13 days over leave. They received 30 days in the brig for the offense and 35 days for the Texas robbery charge which had been lodged against them (they appeared before a Federal Judge and were allowed restricted liberty of the base after 35 days in the Navy prison).

They were brought back to Matador from California by Sheriff John Stotts, who was accompanied by Buck Waybourn on October 10 and have been in jail here since that time.

Baptist Planning Ten Millions For Foreign Missions

HOUSTON, Nov. 9.—A Southern Baptist convention official today said plans are being made for spending $10,000,000 a year for a foreign missions program. Dr. M. T. Rankin, Richmond, Va., executive secretary of the convention's foreign mission board, said it is contemplated to send out 1,750 foreign missionaries as compared with 699 at present.

The current annual missions budget for the Southern Baptists is $4,735,000.

To Observe Centennial
Dr. Rankin spoke before the Woman's Missionary union at day program preliminary to tonight's opening of the 68th Baptist General Convention of Texas, the concluding session of a two-day program.

The three-day meeting is a delayed centennial celebration of the founding of the Baptist convention in Texas.

The convention was organized at Anderson, Grimes county in 1845, but the centennial observance was postponed until this year.

Dr. Rankin said the projected missions program would cost only eight cents out of every dollar spent by local churches throughout the southern convention.

Explaining that he recently returned from a trip overseas, the church official said:

"If you want to really feel rich leave the shores of the United States. Go east, west, north or south and come in contact with the people of other lands.

"You'll be so conscious of your abundance that you'll be uncomfortable."

Officers Are Elected
Thomas J. Pitts, Odessa oil company attorney, today was re-elected president of the Texas Baptist brotherhood.

Others reelected included Clifton W. Brannon, Longview, first vice-president, and Howard F. Saunders, Waco, recording secretary.

A. R. Gatlin, Houston, president of the Union Association brotherhood, was added to the advisory committee, succeeding F. Ivy Boggs, Dallas.

Grover C. Cole, Fort Worth, was named chairman of the brotherhood advisory committee.

General sessions of the convention will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m., 2 and 7 p. m.

Dr. Forrest C. Feczor of Waco will deliver the convention sermon at the morning session. Reports will be made by L. N. Tapscott, Dallas, executive secretary of the State Baptist brotherhood and Dr. T. L. Holcomb, secretary of the Southern Baptist convention Sunday school board, and Dr. S. G. Hopkins, secretary of the state Sunday school board.

Dr. W. R. White, president of Baylor university, Waco, is to speak on "looking forward a hundred years", at the night session.

FOUR INJURED IN SPUR COLLISION

SPUR, Nov. 9.—Four persons, including two small children, received emergency treatment early this afternoon in Nichols General hospital here for injuries suffered at Girard, on the Kent county line 15 miles southeast of here when a pickup truck and a truck were in collision about 11:40 o'clock this morning.

Most seriously injured was Mrs. C. Wade Wright of Girard, driver of the pickup, who suffered a broken arm, fractured pelvis, and bruises and contusions. After receiving treatment at the hospital here, she was sent to Abilene to a bone specialist there.

Mrs. Wright's daughter, Mrs. Billy Wade Coffman, and two small grandchildren, Lola Grace Coffman, 5, and Michael Wade Coffman, 3, passengers in the pickup were less seriously injured, the little girl having a cut leg and Mrs. Coffman a wrenched back. Both remained in the hospital here for observation and treatment. The three-year-old boy was released from the hospital this afternoon.

At Girard, Sheriff J. W. Watley of Kent county said the pickup driven by Mrs. Wright was entering the Girard-Spur highway from a side road when it collided with a truck driven by an employe of Farmers Gin company in Spur. The truck driver, alone, was not injured.

The four were brought to Spur by Chandler Funeral home ambulance of Spur.

Texas, New Mexico Vie Over Water 'That Isn't There'

AUSTIN—Texas and New Mexico are at odds over water that doesn't exist, according to an engineers' report.

The report was presented in Austin to a Pecos River Compact commission board which is attempting to reach a basis of agreement between the two states on division of the Pecos river water.

R. J. Tipton of Denver, chairman of the compact's engineer advisers committee who presented the report, agreed with Texas Governor Beauford H. Jester that time is growing short for an agreement.

"Unless one is reached soon," Tipton said, "there will be two dead patients—the Carlsbad project in New Mexico and the irrigation projects below Red Bluff reservoir in Texas."

Red Bluff is northwest of Pecos.

The meeting of the panel was devoted entirely to Tipton's presentation of the engineers' findings since the board deadlocked last spring without an agreement over the water and referred the matter to engineers for study.

Texas is asking that New Mexico be held to 293,000 acre feet of Pecos water per year and the flow at the Texas line be 293,500 acre feet which would allow a "safe yield" at Red Bluff reservoir of 198,700 acre feet, Tipton recalled.

On the other hand, he said, New Mexico proposes that "present conditions" be considered and that the interests of beneficial users of the water be protected.

Tipton said there is not enough water in the Pecos to give Texas the amount it wants. He said the present average flow at the state line is 250,000 acre feet and that amount is being decreased by salt cedar growth in the river above McMillan Lake in New Mexico and the pumping ground water between Roswell and Artesia, New Mexico.

Tipton pointed out that the engineers committee has made a new study of the 1915-1934 conditions on the Pecos to arrive at its conclusions.

STOCK VALUES LOSE ANOTHER TWO BILLIONS

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Almost two billion dollars in values were wiped out Tuesday when heavy selling hit the stock market.

The tickers lagged three minutes in the last hour. Sales totaled 2,260,000 shares against 1,130,000 Monday.

The break carried the leaders down as much as 6 points in such pivots as Santa Fe and brought to six billion dollars the total loss in market value since President Truman's election.

The market has lost all gains made in the first half of the year and now has a net loss for the year of more than one billion dollars.

"Old Ironsides" was the nickname of the 44 gun frigate, Constitution.

Fort Worth Video Station Showing Live News Events

Viewers in the Fort Worth Dallas area are witnessing a moving pageant of social history with newsreels on the Star-Telegram's WBAP-TV. A battery of television news crews, operating with plenty of leeway for human interest, intersperses straight news with colorful slices of life.

A picture of gameness went out on the video screen when WBAP-TV showed a physically handicapped man in Fort Worth who makes knick knacks with his one good hand. Scenes taken in the man's home showed his workbench and samples of his work, including improvements built into his wheelchair.

In Dallas, a blind painter demonstrated his ability to station cameramen and, subsequently, the video audience. Violent action scenes have included a bus-train collision and a study of bystander reaction to violent death in a Dallas park.

A more cheerful study of people was homecoming scenes, worked into an Arlington Heights football telecast. Likewise the distribution of ballots on election day, showing democracy at work. An interesting and informative study of chin-chilla raising, with shots from one of two "ranches" in the area, appeared last week.

Timely and significant events, of course, remain the backbone of video news. Separate crews in Dallas and Fort Worth, arm-

Danger Of Rabies Not Confined To Summer Months

The "dog-days" of the mid-summer months originally derived their name from the prevalence of rabies spread from rabid dogs at that season of the year, but actually rabies occurs at all times of the year. During the past year the State Health Laboratory found 847 animal brains positive for rabies. Four deaths occurred in humans.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, states, "Few persons need to be warned that rabies is a fatal disease yet proper precautions against its spread are often neglected. Stray dogs should be humanely destroyed or impounded, and all household pets should be vaccinated. Annual vaccination efficiently practiced will stamp out rabies in Texas."

The State Health Officer stressed this fact as important: A dog suspected of being rabid should not be killed at once, but should be kept confined for ten days, since this is the infective period before death of the animal. If the dog does not develop rabies within ten days, the individual bitten is safe as far as that particular bite is concerned. Further observation of the animal should be at the discretion of the veterinarian since many other conditions resemble rabies. The head of the suspected animal should be packed in ice and sent to the State Health Department for examination. Freezing the brain, or killing the dog prematurely or in such manner as to injure the brain may make correct laboratory findings impossible. Mere handling of a rabid animal is not sufficient reason for treatment, as scratches by the animal's paws ordinarily do not constitute exposure. It should be understood that rabies is transmitted only through exposure to saliva which gains entrance into the body wound, ordinarily through a bite.

 LARGEST CIRCULATION IN TEXAS

Pied Pinios BY MRS. J. M.

Watching a youngster recently as he endeavored to play the little game of "This is the church-house; this is the steeple; open the door, and here's the people", we were amused at his efforts to manipulate his chubby hands to reveal the fingers which represented the "people". That is, we were amused until, failing in his efforts, he asked, "But where's the people?" Quite frequently as we view the empty pews in certain sections of our church, we are moved to ask the same question.

It's interesting to know that you aren't in a class by yourself when you forget to refer to the lists you've made to remind you of things you need to remember. Our list is usually in our purse, and, like Blondie's, about the only benefit we derive from it is that it is a reminder, (several days later) of things we neglected to buy, or tasks we failed to perform.

Recently when we were introduced by our own personal, given name, instead of Mr. M's, we felt a pleasant little sensation of being an individual in our own rights. We couldn't help but experience a sudden feeling of importance.

We see by an article that C-Day is coming up, which means "Cat Day", when some 50,000 cats will be flown to Europe to combat the rats, and we wish there were some way we could donate about a dozen or so that swarm about our back door.

Having read something once to the effect that pets acquire a resemblance to their masters, we suggested the possibility in our family, and were sharply reprimanded because Mr. M pointed out that would be a reflection on his cats, inasmuch as we are considered off the beam by certain acquaintances.

Matadors Downed By Longhorns 39-0

Another defeat was chalked for the never-die Matadors Friday night at Lockney. Although the boys were outclassed and out-weighted by the Longhorns, they never lost that football spirit to stick-with-it and never quit fighting until the whistle blew. In fact play was going to be a touchdown but time and perhaps fate, ran out on them.

The Matadors have spent this week getting ready to meet Abernathy there on Friday, November 19 at 8 p. m. This will be their next to last game of the season and a victory is their aim. Sometimes all a team needs is a spark and they will start a flame! You never can tell about those Matadors!

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

To Dunk or Not To Dunk?

Dunking doughnuts is Sober Hopkins' favorite morning pastime... and for a long time Ma Hopkins has been trying to break him of the habit. Feels it sets a bad example for the children.

So one morning she puts a heavy frosting of chocolate on the doughnuts... figuring that will stop him. Sober thinks it over for a while and then: Dunk! Taste? Smile! And Sober compliments the missus on the lovely mocha flavor!

I guess there'll always be two schools of thought: to dunk or not to dunk. But from where I sit, it's a matter of personal choice and taste—like some folks prefer beer to cider, ale to beer. And the less we criticize those differences of taste, the better.

In fact, Ma Hopkins got so curious about the flavor of chocolate-covered doughnuts dunked in coffee, that she tried it herself. Now—she's guessed it—she's a daily dunker, too!

Let's Weigh the Evidence

Your scales can be a valuable ally to your judging eye. For years livestock breeders have kept weight and performance records, as well as pedigrees. Now many commercial producers are taking a tip from them. Recording birth weights and weaning weights of calves, pigs and lambs. Using their records to help cull, to select their likeliest breeding stock.

There is lots of evidence of the value of your scales in helping your eye. Here are just a few examples:

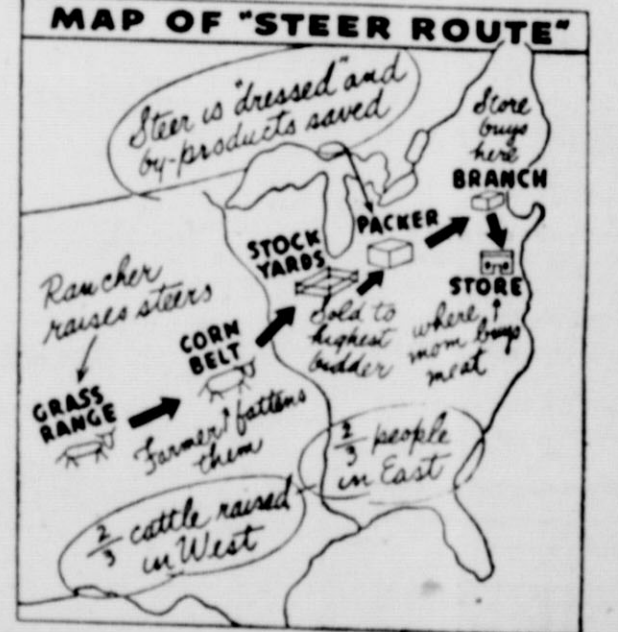

- 1) At Purdue University they weighed 7,554 pigs from 784 litters. Here's what they found: Pigs that weighed THREE pounds at birth averaged 28 pounds at weaning. But pigs that weighed TWO pounds at birth weighed only 21 pounds at weaning. Of the heavy pigs, 77% were heavier at weaning, against only 49% of the light pigs. And right up to market weight, the heavier pigs had a higher rate of gain.

- 2) The U. S. D. A. has kept a 14-year record on beef calves. Birth weights vary from 40 to 109 pounds. Their finding: heavier-than-average calves reach a 500-pound weaning weight and 900-pound marketing weight faster than lighter-than-average calves. You know what that means! Less feed. More and quicker profit.
- 3) Sheep Experiment Station men at Dubois, Idaho, find they can use the scales to select breeding stock for greater production in the future. Their ewe lambs, which are heavier than average at weaning time, prove to be the best producers in total lamb weight and fleece weights.

- 4) At the University of Wyoming they divided dairy heifers into light and heavy weight groups. The "heavies" weighed 24 pounds more at birth. But at six months they averaged 43 pounds more per animal.

You need a good "judging eye" to tell you whether an animal has good conformation, is true to type, etc. But the evidence of recorded weights does point strongly to a general rule which can help your eye: Keep or buy animals heaviest at birth or weaning!

Soda Bill Sez: It pays to say good of folks. A fellow will nigh "bust" himself trying to be as good as he thinks you think he is.

From grass range to gas range, in our big nation most of the livestock is raised far from where it is eaten—an average of more than 1,000 miles. Swift & Company helps bridge this gap and balance the supply in one area with the demand in another. Efficient processing and distribution keep the meat Swift sends a profit of a fraction of a cent a pound. This has the demand for the available supply in the nation-wide markets which governs the price of meat and thus the price of livestock. For the price we pay for animals must be based on what the meat and by-products will bring.

Conserving Grass Is Profitable

by B. W. Allred
Soil Conservation Service
Fort Worth, Texas

The safest way to maintain a thriving livestock industry is to keep the ranges well stocked with vigorous, productive grasses—and covered with a protective shield of left-over grass. In animal production, sound grazing management is as important as breeding.

Grassland vigor and durability depend upon correct cropping. Lenient use and alternate rests help the plants to reproduce from seed, tillers, rootstocks and surface runners. When grasses flourish, greater animal gains are made.

Observations of bluestem show that when about half the top growth is grazed (on the average), livestock gains may be 25% higher than when 75% is eaten. One bluestem meadow mowed repeatedly 4 to 6 inches high yielded nearly 30% more hay than a similar area cut 2 inches high.

When left-over grass breaks the force of beating rain, moisture penetrates six or seven times deeper than when the ground is bare. Springs are sustained in even flow on leafy grasslands. Litter shades and cools the ground, cuts down evaporation. It finally decays and unites with the soil to form porous mould in which teeming millions of beneficial organisms process soil nutrients that plants must have.

That portion of grass consumed each year provides profit. The portion left maintains plant vigor, protects soil and insures continued production.

Martha Logan's Recipe for INDIVIDUAL PORK ROASTS

4 1-inch-thick shoulder pork chops 1/4 teaspoon chopped onion
1 teaspoon prepared mustard 1/4 teaspoon sage
2 cups bread crumbs 1 teaspoon salt

Spread chops with mustard. Make a dressing of bread, onion and seasonings with just enough water to moisten. Brown chops in a heavy skillet. When well browned, top chops with dressing pressed firm. Bake covered in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 20 minutes. Uncover and bake 15 to 20 minutes until dressing is crisp and brown. (Yield: 4 servings.)

The Red Wagon

No doubt you've seen the food trucks, so gaily painted red, that travel round the country, helping keep our people fed? The story of these trucks is a story you should know—it started in New England, some ninety years ago. There a boy, Gustavus Swift, who later won renown, bought a heifer, butchered it, then sold it round the town. Stave made a little profit—two dollars, it is said. It wasn't much to start on, but it helped him get ahead. His wagon—yes, you've guessed it—from which he sold his meat, was a vivid red in color, to be noticed on the street. Stave moved on to Boston where his trade began to grow, then headed for Chicago, where he started Swift & Co. Now the Swift trucks deliver meat and butter by the ton, and they're counted by the thousands instead of only one. To this day Swift trucks are red, that all the world may know this trademark of the business Swift started years ago—and on each load delivered, Swift earns a service fee—a fraction of a cent a pound, saved by efficiency.

Mexican Officials Say Cattle May Be Imported To U. S.

MONTERREY, Mexico, Nov. 9.—Nuevo Leon state government authorities today predicted that the U. S. government will permit importation of cattle from that northern state "within a month."

The Mexican officials based their prediction on the argument that the dread foot and mouth disease, which caused the U. S. to close its borders to import of Mexican cattle almost two years ago, has not made its appearance in Nuevo Leon.

Observers in Mexico City pointed out, however, that the United States is committed by international agreement to refuse to import cattle from any nation where foot and mouth disease is known to exist. Actually foot and mouth disease is confined to a large area in central Mexico, the northern boundary of which is about 390 miles south of Monterrey.

Jap Plot To Attack Soviets Revealed In Allied Study

TOKYO, Nov. 9.—The Allied military tribunal held today that Japan had plans for attacking Russia even while signing a neutrality pact with the Soviet Union in 1941.

In its delivery of the 300,000-word judgment on "Pearl Harbor premier" Hideki Tojo and his 24 co-defendants, the international court found that Japan was "not sincere" in signing the treaty.

The eleven-nation tribunal also held that Japan by her aggressive tactics provoked the large-scale fighting between Russian and Japanese forces in the Lake Khasan and Nomonhan area in 1938 and 1939.

The judges agreed with the opinion of former U. S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull that Axis anti-comintern pact was not signed in self-defense against Communism but was "actually a preparatory move for the subsequent forceful expansion by the bandit nations."

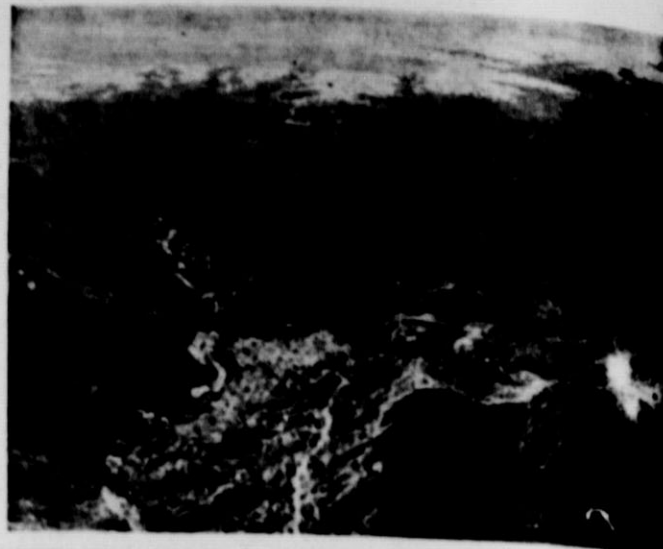

In regard to Japan's war with China, the tribunal turned down defense pleas that Japan had "good intentions." It was charged that the Japanese cabinet was planning the economic and political exploitation of Manchuria and pretended that the area was an independent state under the name of Manchukuo. The judges stated:

"The astounding thing is that this pretense is still maintained before us and is supported by a hundred pages of evidence and argument."

The tribunal began the reading of its judgement last Thursday and has gone through approximately half of the lengthy document.

ARMISTICE DAY

The least we can do is lay flowers at their graves, and go to Church with reverent thoughts of them, and come home and bring them to verbal life for a moment while we sit around a comfortable living room. That's the least we can do for the men and boys whose memories this Armistice Day honors. But they deserve more than the least we can do—they through their sacrifice earned the most we can do—and that means keeping this country free . . . keeping the world free from war . . . keeping all the people of all the world free to live at peace!

WANTED: MEN AND MONEY!
By GEORGE S. BENSON
President of Harding College
Secaucus, Arkansas

Looking Ahead

THERE ARE two chief ingredients in the American recipe for prosperity and economic well-being. The first is men, honest-to-goodness men. These must be men who are not afraid of work, who will not be stopped from getting a job done. They are men who believe in honest work, who give value for value received. They have pride and satisfaction in doing a good job well. Indeed, our American workmen (there are today few Americans who do not work) have no equal anywhere.

Then there is money. Money is the most popular exchange for work. We "make" money. There is stored-up work. Another name for this stored-up work is capital. We Americans have found that if we take money and men, then let them both work together for full production, the result is a prosperous and progressive community. In the main, the recipe needs good workmen and plenty of capital.

THE FORMULA has worked wonders for us. Our nation has benefitted by having so many good and honest people. By using the tools that capital has bought, we produce the things that all of us need. Will this formula continue to work us wonders and bring us the kind of prosperity that is the envy of the world? Can we keep these good living standards that seem so commonplace to us? Yes, if we can depend on the ingredients of our recipe: men and money! In a nation of free people, men and money can continue to do the job. We have the men. Employment is good. Yet, there is danger that we may lose the other half of the team that has made America great. Money (capital) to buy the tools of production is getting hard to find. Since 1930, America's stock of tools has gradually slipped back to where it was in 1920. This is the first period in our history that we didn't gain in the tools of production. Our tools are of less total value, and they also provide fewer horses (horsepower) to workmen.

Now, if we had no men of vision and promise, we certainly could not expect the money to do its part. But we do have men. America has intelligent young men, willing to build their dreams into realities.

Boost WHAT NEED have they with money? You see "bare-brained" ideas, like Alexander Graham Bell's telephone, require money for development. New products, new manufacturing processes, new inventions, new businesses—all must have capital. In a free economy that permits competition, capital works hand in hand with men to give the nation the jobs and the goods that it needs and wants. Men and money!

In losing the money, there is also danger of losing the men. Inventiveness and ambitions may be killed when rewards are not available. If we do not have capital to invest, to explore new developments and new businesses, with hope of larger profits ahead, then what happens to your men? They don't invent, and they don't develop anything! No new jobs, no new products, no progress. No getting ahead. It's national suicide.

Why is there so little money today for investment and risk? Our tax system puts heavy burdens on incentive. Taxes take away the money. Twenty-five cents out of every national income dollar in America now goes into taxes. Half the total income of Americans making $5,000 or more annually is turned over to tax collectors. With strict economy in government, this would not be necessary. We must give risk-money a real chance to team with men. Only that way may we keep America prosperous and jobs plentiful.

Officers In Doubt Phantom Killer Victim Of Suicide

TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 9—Authorities of this Texas-Arkansas city said here tonight they believed H. B. (Doodie) Tension was "ill and despondent" when he left a suicide note implicating himself as the "phantom killer."

In a joint statement issued by Sheriffs W. E. Davis of Miller county, Ark., and Bill Presley of Bowie county, Texas, the two officers said Tension "had never been a suspect" in a slaying here.

The youth, an 18-year-old University of Arkansas freshman, was found dead in Fayetteville last Friday.

At Austin, Texas, Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said fingerprints that might have been those of the "phantom" do not match those of the suicide victim.

However, Garrison said, this does not completely eliminate Tension as a suspect.

The Texarkana officers declined to say whether they had closed the investigation.

Mrs. Frank Montgomery accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Jack Lacy and daughter Barbara Ann and Nita Jean Lane of Turkey made a business trip to Lubbock Tuesday.

PRICE DANIEL, Attorney-General of Texas will be principal speaker at American Legion District Convention to be held at Dalhart, November 13-14. The 38-year-old Attorney General was Speaker of the House of Representatives in 1943. When the 48th session of the House ended in 1943, Daniel waived his legislative exemption from military service—entered the Army as a private. He served one year as an enlisted man, then graduated from the Judge Advocate General's Officer Candidate School as 2nd Lieutenant, and was discharged from the service as a Captain in May, 1946. He served in the Pacific Theater of Operations with the Marine Corps. He was commended by the Army and Marine Corps as a foremost authority on legal rights of servicemen. Daniel is co-owner of three Texas newspapers, and has served as President of the Gulf Coast Press Association. J. R. McArthur of the Paris (Texas) Echo said of Daniel: "He has behind him an experience seldom rated by much older men. His integrity is unquestioned."
