Crop Is Nearing Peak Of Harvest

Over 50 Cars Loaded At Roaring Springs

RAINS late Sunday brought slight delay to the harvest of Motley county's largest wheat crop as hundreds of harvesting machines thronged the highways leading into this cattle country turned into a wheat bonanza.

Long lines of loaded wheat trucks were waiting turn at the Roaring Springs Red Ball elevator yesterday with more than 50 freight cars already loaded out of a county that shipped a total of only 24 cars last year. Wheat is currently bringing $1.85 per bushel. Ample box cars are available at present.

County agent J. R. Emmons said the county yield is from 17 to 45 bushels per acre. L. C. Harp has harvested 600 acres with an average of 20 bushels, he declared. One small field belonging to Mr. Harp produced a yield of 45 bushels per acre. Price Beauchamp of Matador and Tom Edwards of Whiteflat have harvested yields of 35 bushels per acre.

Adequate combines and trucks are in the county at the present time to harvest the wheat as it ripens. Any farmer needing harvesting and hauling facilities may obtain them through Mr. Emmons.

Two Ages Of Wheat

Some fields are producing two ages of wheat, Mr. Emmons declared. The second growth is due to late sucker head development. In these fields the older wheat is shattering while the younger heads are still too green for harvesting. Some wheat was refused at the Roaring Springs elevator early Monday because of the excess moisture content following Sunday night rains. However, the wheat was accepted by Tuesday.

Mr. Emmons says he believes that most of the crop will be harvested within the next ten days if present favorable weather conditions continue.

Rainfall registered here late Sunday was 65 inch, however, reports indicate the fall was heavier in Matador than elsewhere in the county. No damage from hail was reported, although hail damaged some areas on the plains near Plainview.

Harvesting machines are running day and night in Cottle and Childress counties and it is estimated that most of the crop will be out of the fields by the end of the week.

Final Rites Today For Mrs. C. A. Rhine

Funeral services will be held at the Matador Methodist church at 10:30 this morning for Mrs. Charles A. Rhine, 40, of Alton, Illinois, who was drowned in a lake in that area, Saturday, June 14. She was born in Matador and before marriage was Bessie Lee Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Black. Her father was a pioneer sheriff of Motley county.

Details of the tragedy were not available at press time late yesterday. The body was shipped from St. Louis, Tuesday, June 17 and met at Quahab by the McDonald Funeral Home funeral car at 3:45 yesterday. Mrs. Rhine left Motley county with her parents in 1919. She attended school at Roaring Springs for a number of years. Services will be conducted by Rev. Oscar Bruce, and interment will be made in Matador East Mound cemetery beside her father who died in 1933.

Survivors include her husband Charles A. Rhine of Alton, Ill., and a daughter by a former marriage, Miss Patsy Lynn Pickard; her mother, Mrs. H. R. Black of Moran, Texas, three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Kathryn Hause of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Flora Prejean of San Francisco, Calif., Mrs. Tresa Cunningham of Miami, Fla., R. C. Black of Carrizo Springs, Texas and Ralph Black of Goldsmith, Texas.

Wears Service Award

Mrs. Allie Cox, local manager of the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company branch, is wearing a small attractive brooch, designation of five years faithful service for the company. She received the merit award recently at a banquet held by the utility firm in Lubbock.

Design in gold in the center of the pin, symbolizes the flight of sound. The small gold star designates five years service.

JUKE BOX'S LOUD MUSIC SAVED LIFE

LEESBURG, Va., Robert Quick, Arlington, Va., credited the noise from a juke box Saturday with saving him from death in the Capital Airlines plane crash.

Quick is a mechanic with the airline. He was in Pittsburgh Friday and booked for a flight to Washington on the ill-fated plane.

He told reporters he was getting a cup of coffee in the airport restaurant and the juke box was playing so loud he failed to hear the plane announced as ready for departure. He missed it.

Miss Dude Barton was the first cowgirl ever to win first places in both cowgirl events the same year at Midland Rodeo.

DUDE BARTON IS BIG WINNER IN COWGIRL EVENTS

Miss Dude Barton, representing the Cross-6 Ranch, Flomot, Texas, captured the honors in the cowgirl sponsor events at Midland Rodeo, winning first place and a $150 saddle in the regular Cowgirl Sponsor Contest, and then winning the $600 Hobbs trailer as the first prize in the cowgirls' cutting-horse contest.

The saddle was donated by the Blackstone Hotel of Fort Worth and the trailer by the Hobbs Trailer Company of Fort Worth.

Prize winners in the regular sponsor contest, the nation's most colorful cowgirl event, in which 34 cowgirls participated, were announced Sunday afternoon. Hollis Tyson, contest chairman, awarded the prizes. The cowgirls had performed before the judges, Foy Proctor and Tom Nance, at the Thursday, Friday and Saturday night shows.

Twelve-year-old Charlie Bird, son of Mr. and Mrs. Free Bird of Matador was judged "champion" of the Junior calf riding contest in the rodeo.

He was presented with a fancy belt buckle by adult contestants.

TWO CARS COLLIDE AT INTERSECTION

Two people, Mr. and Mrs. Black, about 65, of Wichita Falls, were treated at the Tra-week hospital for minor injuries following the collision of their automobile with a car driven by Joe Gibson of Roaring Springs, at the intersection of Highways 18 and 70 in front of Bob's Oil Well about 4 p. m. Monday afternoon. Neither Gibson nor Ed Smith who accompanied him were injured.

Mr. Black received a laceration above his eye which required one stitch. Mrs. Black received a minor knee injury.

The accident was investigated by Highway Patrolman Wayne Waters of Lubbock who happened to be in Matador at the time it was reported. Mr. and Mrs. Black were enroute home.

The two automobiles, a '36 Ford and '37 Chevrolet were damaged an estimated $150 each according to Sheriff John Stotts.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Martin of Slaton, Texas, visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Jameson over the week end.

YANKEE SCOUTS SEE DIAMOND MATERIAL IN "DUCK" NORTON

Fame and a sizeable hunk of fortune may be awaiting a Motley county youth, Donald Ray (Duck) Norton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Norton of Whiteflat. Last week the New York Yankee ball club announced their annual try-out camp at Memphis, Texas, where young aspirants might try out before veteran scouts.

The news article reached the Tribune too late for publication but Earl Laughlin, local baseball enthusiast was given the information and prevailed on three boys, Travis Clifton, Billy Ray Slover and Norton to attend. The Yankee scouts were interested in Norton and have promised to visit Whiteflat later with possible offers. Norton is about 18.

Burleigh Grimes was in charge of the camp where approximately 200 youths from the area strutted their abilities. There was no charge to the aspirants. The camp was conducted Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

J. A. Caswell Rites Held At Bullard

J. A. Caswell, 76, father of Mrs. J. R. Whitworth of Matador and well known through many visits here, died in a Palestine hospital Friday afternoon after an extended illness. Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Saturday at the Bullard Methodist church with Rev. Clyde Shoemaker officiating. Interment was in the Bullard cemetery.

Mr. Caswell was born in Smith county, Texas, September 2, 1870. He was married to Miss Ellen Kay, December 9, 1895. He was associated in business in Tyler for 15 years and moved to Bullard in 1905 where he was engaged in the mercantile business for 38 years. He was a steward in the Bullard Methodist church, superintendent of the Sunday school there for 34 years and active in Red Cross work and other civic affairs. He joined the Methodist church at the age of 12.

He is survived by two sons, Carroll Caswell of San Bonita and Julian Caswell of Bullard, and one daughter, Mrs. J. R. Whitworth of Matador. Mr. and Mrs. Whitworth returned to Matador early Monday after attending the funeral services.

Bank Mailing Machine Makes Its Own Stamps

Altho it does not have a money-making machine, the First State Bank here has a stamp-making machine. There is a slight catch, however, to ownership of the device. The postmaster keeps the key and money for postage must be paid in advance before it can be used.

The machine does not make stamps in reality. It makes postage and stamps it on envelopes, showing the postage has been paid (in advance, even by a bank). It prints and seals envelopes in one operation and is being used only on bank statement envelopes at present. However, Vice-President and Cashier Elmer Stearns said the machine would be used on all bank mailing as soon as the institution's present supply of stamped envelopes is consumed.

Postage up to $999.99 may be paid in advance (which shows on a meter) and may be used as needed. The machine has two meters. One shows the amount remaining on deposit and the second shows the amount used since the last deposit was paid. It is known as the Pitney-Bowes postage mailing machine and is being used by large institutions throughout the country. The meter device is leased for use with the machine and is not sold outright. The machine has been in use about two months.

It will print the amount of postage required on envelopes or may be printed on tape which is in turn pasted on envelopes or packages. The machine may be set for any amount of postage required on any particular envelope or tape for package.

Lloyd Fulkerson and sons Hubert and Bruce of Odessa are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Fulkerson.

FLOYDADA LIONS DEFEAT LOCAL ALL-STARS, 10-9

Invading Matador's lighted diamond Friday night, Floydada Lions defeated the local all-star nine by one point in the first out-of-town match this season. The victorious visitors, taking the bat in the first stanza, made five runs before they were brought under control.

SCHOOL TO ADD VOCATIONAL AG

Vocational agriculture will be added to the curriculum of Matador high school next season, according to an announcement this week by the board of trustees. The board has elected L. N. Moss of Whiteface as head of the new department. He will receive his Masters degree in vocational agriculture at Texas Tech soon and will report for duty in July.

The added course will round out the curriculum of the school for both boys and girls, since girls are already offered three years vocational home economics. To add the course in agriculture it will be necessary to drop the subject of junior business according to Superintendent Bert Ezzell. Biology may possibly be alternated with third year agriculture he declared.

The board pointed out that only about 20% of high school graduates attend college and that most of the present school curriculum is offered to prepare for college entrance requirements. Since about 80% of the students will not attend college, they should receive as practical courses as possible from farm and ranch homes, it was decided the agricultural course would be especially valuable to a greater number.

Monday Night Game Will Be Postponed

Softball game scheduled between Matador Lions vs. V. F. W. for Monday night, June 23, will be postponed until Tuesday night because of the father-son hike scheduled for Monday night.

Since many members of the four teams have sons who are members of the Scout troop, it was decided to postpone the ball game until the following night.

Worthy Grand Matron Cancels June Visits

Deput Grand Matron, Mrs. Margaret Phillips of District two, section five, Order of the Eastern Star, announced recently that all June visits of the Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Hattie Lucille Dowell are cancelled.

Alice will be remembered by a number of the older cowhands here as a one time employee at the Matador Ranch as well as other ranches in the county.

Active Lions Year Is Reviewed At Meeting

New Officials Are Placed In Office

Closing the fiscal year with the regular meeting held in the Methodist church basement, Tuesday, the Matador Lions Club reviewed a year of worthwhile activities.

Serving as initiation officer, Rev. J. R. Smallwood, pastor of the Paducah First Baptist church, commended the club on its many projects, completed last year, its spirit, and future prospects. Declaring the Lions Club as the community's only civic organization, is called upon to function in many ways, Lion Smallwood outlined a few of the activities which included sponsorship of school athletic programs, procuring three pairs of glasses for needy children, preparing and distributing Christmas packages for needy families, sponsoring the 4-H Club show this season, sponsoring the Matador Boy Scout troop, sponsoring the successful Father-Son banquet, sponsoring the spring clean-up drive, sponsoring the Matador Air Port and the club's latest sponsorship, the Matador Boy's Club.

President Outstanding Lion

Beginning with the Tail Twister and advancing to the Boss Lion (President) Lion Smallwood installed the new officers according to regulation Lions International rules. In addition to being installed as the club's new president, Lion C. W. Giesecke was also presented with the highly coveted plaque designating him as the most outstanding Lion from the point of service during the past year. Several of the new officials were not present at the meeting due to pressing harvest interests. Lion Smallwood predicted an even greater year of service for the club within the next 12 months.

Special tribute was paid to Lion Henry Pipkin for acting as chef and providing one meal per month for the club. Tribute was also tendered the Methodist Ladies Missionary Society for serving one meal per month to the club membership.

New President Giesecke, who presented the elaborate "past-president" pin to retiring president Howard Traweck, asked for cooperation of the membership in striving to keep up the high standards the club has established.

Visitors included Rev. Smallwood and his son of Paducah; Julius J. Johnson of San Angelo; Mrs. Allie Cox and J. A. Scofield, District agent of the A & M Extension service. Perfect attendance buttons were presented to eleven members who had earned them in the past 12 months.

SOFTBALL POPULAR WITH BOY'S CLUB

Softball is becoming popular with the 35 members of the Matador Boy's Club according to Coach Brady Thomas, in charge of the athletic activities which also include football, volleyball, tennis, croquet, basketball, washers, archery and other games. Instructions are given each morning between 9 and 11, with the group meeting at 2 p. m. daily for swimming instructions in Roaring Springs pool. Lessons are also given in sportsmanship, citizenship and other essential factors of manhood.

Observers who have witnessed the boys playing softball declare they are equal to the brand being played by adults on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. In a game Monday morning, the rarity of softball occurred when three members of the Boys Club collaborated to execute a perfect triple play.

Coach Thomas urges all boys interested in any of the sports meet with other members as often as possible. It is not necessary to attend daily, or remain through the full day.

Citing the shorter working day of the future, Coach Thomas urges boys to learn sports as an enjoyable way to consume leisure time, declaring there is no better way to spend play hours than in participating in sports or in witnessing them.

Norman Spray Gets Place On Staff Of Boys' State Paper

Honor was brought to his home city and his sponsors by Norman Spray, who was chosen sports editor of Lone Star Boys' State, official daily, by his fellow members of Boys' State, American Legion sponsored citizen program held in Austin the week of June 8 to 15.

A total of 318 honor high school young men from all over Texas were guests of The American Legion at the 10th annual Boys' State held this year at the State Home for the Deaf in Austin. For an entire week the attendants at Boys' State learn the rudiments of municipal and state government by the practical method of electing their own officials and being governed by them.

The boys were divided into two political parties, the Longhorns and the Pioneers. They nominated slates for all state offices and campaigning was furious for two days. Then they went to the ballot box and elected their own officials. Similarly county and city officials were elected. The dormitories were divided into six municipalities named for deceased past Department Commanders of the American Legion.

The boys were addressed by Bertram E. Giesecke, Department Commander of the American Legion and Price Daniel, Attorney General of Texas and active in American Legion affairs. Successful candidates for state offices were sworn in by Chief Justice James P. Alexander of the Texas Supreme Court.

COME TO CHURCH SUNDAY

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Time was like a raw-hide rope being wrapped around the hub of a wheel, dragging the heavy sled of life through rearing muck of pain and across the little grassy islands of happiness. The long strand of years had accumulated a bulky spool, causing the drag to move more rapidly as it narrowed the remaining distance. Allowing his heels to scrape the dusty sea that had once contained his dreams, the man became weary. He had traveled far and no interest remained in the scenery or the pace. Crumbling temples of his ideals patterned a bitter vista ahead and left no beauty in his memory of the past. He was smiling when friends found him one morning, lifeless on his couch, as if he might have glimpsed paradise and hurried on a little ahead.

Poverty usually leaves a stain on life which the suds of comfort are unable to remove. I relish cornbread but hesitate to eat it in public places because of the secret fear that I may reveal the unrecorded years I ate it without the privilege of choice.

Unless failure looks diligently it is often unable to find a man whose heart is hidden in his work.

We are frequently more interested in hiding our mistakes than in profiting by them.

Perhaps the devil would rejoice if all prayers were answered since evil would be granted a powerful instrument which could be hidden under the cloak of righteousness.

Great gleaming trains now hurry past scattering white crosses in the railroad right-of-way and luxury-pampered passengers relax in air-conditioned comfort, heedless of the pioneer's sacrifices beneath the burning desert sun. Thundering trains have broken the sacred silence of their sleep and millions have passed on schedule beside their gloryless graves, yet the destiny of a nation has been served in their passing. Earth is the common denominator of all mankind and rest is no sweeter beneath a towering monument in a green-turfed cemetery than the rocky soil of a lonely desert bier. Perhaps the tears which fell on hot desert sands were from springs of deeper love than those which often fall on the soft grass of watered burial grounds.

It is probable that some of my more provincial contemporaries will be interested in knowing it is still possible to purchase new cast iron hitching posts in a certain Los Angelesemporium. The purpose of my visit to this particular section of the city of angels is of private concern.

Turning slowly, like the wheel of a restless, anchored ship in a sea of moonlight, the windmill squires the night breeze. Coyotes still cry in the jungle of darkness that whispers close to the weather-beaten old shed where his saddle hangs. It is a dried and twisted thing, like a tube from which the artist long ago squeezed his paint; a saddle swinging by its rusty uncovered horn with dangling rusty stirrups. Lines of sunlight and the light from many moons have left no trace in the thick dust sifting through warped boards. His long-silent stirrups hang near the roof on a bent nail in the weather-stained two-by-four. Outside there is a whispering in the mesquites; the far-off sound of hoofs and the old saddle suspended on a short rope, sways slightly, as if touched by a soul.

Flattery is a kind of bubble-bath which produces satisfaction without accomplishing any lasting results; a perfume which gives pleasure to the wearer and merely smells to the world.

Mrs. G. E. Hamilton played a series of organ music including "At Dawning", "Clair de Lune", "To Each His Own", and the traditional wedding marches. She accompanied Mrs. George Gabriel of Spur as she sang "Because", and "To Each His Own."

The bride, due to her father's illness, was given in marriage by her brother, Doyle Mitchell. She chose a period gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a deep sheer yoke of silk lace and long fitted sleeves which tapered to points over the hands. A draped bertha of the satin, outlined in lace, accented the closely molded, basque bodice. Three appliqued satin bows caught in the scalloped hemline, which fell over godets of silk lace, and into a graceful train. Her fingertip veil of imported bridal illusion was caught with French orange blossoms at each side of her heart shaped illusion bonnet. She carried a colonial bouquet of tiny white orchids and sweet-peas.

For something old she wore a cameo lavalere which her father presented to her mother before their marriage. For something borrowed she had a lace handkerchief belonging to Miss Bessie L. Medien, a former teacher.

Miss Helen Acker of Jacksonville was maid of honor. She wore a blue net dress of colonial styling. Her hat was a roll of net with a shoulder length veil caught on either side by a cluster of daisies. Bridesmaids were Misses Mayfair Jones, San Angelo, sister of the bridegroom; Jo Della Trotter of Henderson, and Miss Marion Gerrells of Carlsbad, N. Mexico, a cousin of the bride. They wore identical dresses of rose, green and peach net, and carried arm bouquets of astors tinted to match their dresses.

Flower girls were Ronda Harmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Harmon, and Sharon Kay King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale King. They wore pink and blue dresses and carried tiny baskets of garden flowers.

Paul Ricker of Big Spring was best man, and ushers were Doug McCoy of Lubbock, Tippy Van Court and David Jones, nephews of the bridegroom, of San Angelo.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bridesmaids presided at the bride's table which was laid with a handmade lace cloth over pink satin and decorated with a four-tiered wedding cake and crystal punch bowl.

For travel the bride wore a two-piece summer-weight wool black and white stripe suit with black and white accessories, and a corsage of miniature orchids. The bride attended Texas State College for Women in Denton and Texas Tech. Mr. Jones served two years with the Army Air Corps and also attended Texas Tech college.

After a wedding trip to Colorado Springs the couple will be at home in San Angelo.

Out of town guests that attended the wedding were: Mrs. E. J. Withers, grandmother of the bride, coming from Hamilton, Mrs. Louie Richardson, Brownwood, Mrs. Hazel Gerrells and Albert Gerrells of Carlsbad, N. Mexico, Mrs. B. F. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Jones and daughter all of San Angelo, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Hughes and Miss Dorothy Gunn of Spur, Mrs. Carroll Afton and son of Paducah, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Sheridan and Mrs. G. E. Hamilton of Matador and Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Roberts of Floydada.

HISTORY OFFERS SOME COLORFUL NOTES ON GOVERNORS OF TEXAS

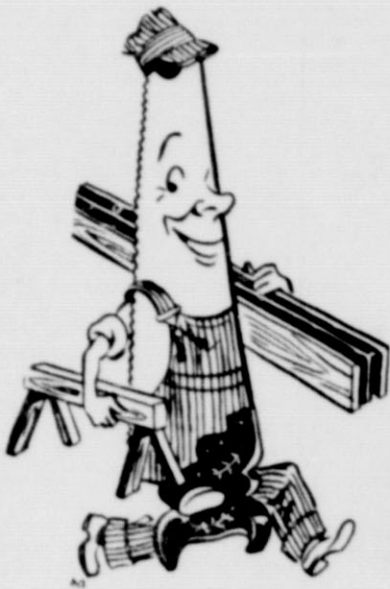

By Marshall Comer
In her early days of statehood Texas found it difficult to forget she had been an independent nation. George T. Wood, the "good-looking" governor who cared little for his personal appearance and never wore socks, and Gov. Peter H. Bell threatened war with the United States over Texas' claim to 93,380 square miles of New Mexico. Bell was the first governor to have a beard. Since then 14 others have had whiskers. Seventeen have been clean-shaven. One had a mustache.

We want to thank the people of Matador for your patronage, and extend you an invitation to come to see us in Paducah.

First In Mansion

Elisha M. Pease was the first governor to live in the governor's mansion. He married Miss Lucille C. Miller of Connecticut, who wanted to live in the capital. She didn't like the first site proposed for the governor's mansion, so the mansion now stands where her husband built it.

"Little Dickey" Runnels, champion of the secessionist cause, defeated the venerable Sam Houston, who fought bitterly to preserve the Union, for governor in 1856. Two years later, Houston defeated Runnels.

The political enmity of these two men probably cost Houston the presidency in 1860, says Paul Bolton, who tells these stories in an informal series on "Texas Governors". Bolton, well-known Austin writer, had no thought of book publication when he produced the sketches for the group of Texas newspapers for which he is capitol correspondent. But they were gathered together in more permanent form by the publishers and given wide circulation.

Had The Shortest Term

The Irishman, Fletcher S. Stockdale, only recently was recognized as the eleventh governor. He had the shortest term—from June 11, 1865, when Gov. Pendleton Murrah fled to Mexico, until July 25, 1865. A. J. Hamilton became provisional governor.

Edmund J. Davis, who fought against Texas during the Civil war and aided the Mexican bandit Cortina in raids against the state, was elected Republican governor with the help of the Army in 1870. He was defeated for re-election by Richard Coke, but tried to hold the office by force. These efforts failed, and as Davis went down the Capitol steps, Judge John Ireland kicked him in the seat of the pants and told him never to desecrate the door of the Capitol again by entering it.

Hubbard Was Heftiest
Richard Hubbard was the heftiest governor. He weighed 400 pounds.

Governor Oran M. Roberts, judge and soldier, could truthfully say the office sought him. He was selected by a committee of 32 when the Democratic convention of August, 1878, was dead-locked. Roberts was on a farm near Tyler when he received word of his nomination. Wearing a Prince Albert coat, smoking a corn-cob pipe, he rode into town on a fan-tailed spotted pony. Friends advised him to accept. He borrowed "four bits" from a local bartender to wire his acceptance.

James Stephen Hogg was the first governor to be born in Texas. Only eleven native sons have held the office. Hogg was one of the first men in the country to begin the struggle against trusts and monopolies.

Charles A. Culberson was known as "the darling of Texas politics." Samuel Willis Tucker Landham, the fervid South Carolinian who came to Texas on his honeymoon, realized his ambition to become governor and wished he hadn't. The office broke his health and spirit.

The Democratic convention of 1906 was stampeded into nominating Thomas Mitchell Campbell by a band playing "The Campbell's Are Coming." "Little Oscar" Colquitt, "the Napoleon of Texas politics," tangled with everybody but was elected to two terms.

James E. Ferguson was the first governor to be impeached. His wife was the state's first woman governor. William P. Hobby was the third newspaper editor to be governor. Pat M. Neff, dubbed "the wild man from Waco," established the custom of marking a Bible passage for the guidance of the outgoing governor's successor.

Wellington To Hold 3-Day Rodeo

Rodeo enthusiasts from the entire Panhandle will gather in Wellington for the big three-day rodeo sponsored by the Wellington Rodeo Association Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 20, 21 and 22.

Co-operating with the association in putting on this second annual western celebration are the merchants of Wellington who will decorate their stores and the fronts of the buildings appropriately.

Prize money will total $1,200 in four divisions. Cameron Beam, president of the Rodeo Association, said.

Cowgirl sponsors from 35 towns and ranches throughout the Panhandle and West Texas have been invited to participate in the sponsor's contest.

The Rodeo Association is especially interested in having old timers of the area take part in the parade as well as owners of horses.

The four events in which money will be given are saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping and ribbon roping.

Members of the Association who are in charge of plans are: Mr. Beam, president, Fleet Pruden, secretary-treasurer; and

Bert Childers was saying. It's funny how so many of our wartime habits stick with us.

Bert likes plenty of butter on his bread, but even now he can't get over spreading it like it was scarce as hen's teeth. And as a war-worker, Bert used to stick to a temperate glass of beer on time off; and he still holds fast to beer and moderation.

Same way with Bert's wife. She not only has no trouble saving used fats, and waste paper. She's learned from wartime necessity to save every single thing that might possibly be used again.

From where I sit, it's mighty good that so many of these common-sense habits like thrift and moderation have stayed with us. Because they belong in America—along with tolerance, and mutual respect for one another's rights. They're habits that have helped to make this country strong and neighborly and free.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH IS SCENE OF IMPRESSIVE DOUBLE-RING CEREMONY

Trellises covered with ivy, sweet peas and babies breath formed the background for the wedding of Miss Yvonna Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Simpson of Northfield and Arthur J. Harmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Harmon of Roaring Springs, at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 15, in the First Baptist Church here.

Gleaming cathedral tapers in pyramid formation flanked with tall altar baskets filled with sweet peas, white shasta daisies and fern completed the setting for the ceremony. Rev. Clifford Potts, pastor of the church, was the officiating minister for the ritual.

Introducing the ceremony, Mrs. G. E. Hamilton played soft music and accompanied Miss Elwanda Martin as she sang "I Love You Truly." Other music was the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional.

Chareen Ketchersid attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Billy Frank Skaggs and Marcia Gilbert. They were gowned in heavenly pink and frost blue net with matching veils and carried colonial bouquets of sweet peas and babies breath. Miss Ketchersid's dress was yellow maize net. For headdress she wore a wreath of sweet peas matching her bouquet.

The elegance of the bride's gown was reflected in the heavy duchess satin and angel white Marquise of which it was fashioned. Self covered buttons closed the back of the sculptured bodice and the long sleeves that were petal pointed. A yoke of Marquise was edged with pearls in scroll pattern, and the skirt which fell from a point extended into a sweeping train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was capped with a tiara of seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was of white roses caught with a shower of satin streamers.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Cpl. Jack Simpson who is in the United States Marine Corps. For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Simpson wore a black crepe dress trimmed with black lace and accented by a corsage of white gardenias. The bridegroom's mother chose an aqua and black dress with a white gardenia corsage.

Male attendants were James M. Carpenter of Roaring Springs who served as best man and Billy Charles Cross and Bobby Hardin, both of Roaring Springs who served as ushers.

A reception for relatives and members of the wedding party in the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The table, covered with a white lace cloth, was centered with the traditional three-tiered cake, topped with the miniature bride and groom, and tall white tapers in crystal candelabra.

Mrs. Clyde Gilbert poured and Mrs. Bob Martin assisted in serving the guests.

When the couple left for their trip, the bride was wearing a summer two piece suit of yellow maize trimmed with the same color of lace. She chose an off-face hat with a yellow drape. Other accessories were white.

The bride graduated from Matador high school this year and the bridegroom from Roaring Springs high school. The couple will be at home at Roaring Springs after a two week's wedding trip in Denver Colorado.

Guests registered at the reception were: Mrs. A. J. Matlock, Mrs. Bob Martin, June

Experts Tell Young Women To Prepare For Career Along With Marriage

WASHINGTON — In a neat little eight-page pamphlet the U. S. Woman's bureau is trying to help a young lady make up her mind about her job future after college.

The experts start out by telling the girl not to try to choose between marriage or career but to get ready for both home and job.

They advise against drifting along because "life's so uncertain." They warn that "the less you're sure of, the more you need to plan."

"Don't expect to find THE job for you" the Women's Bureau says.

"Start out with what you have and what you lack; find out where these fit in the world of work; plot your course, keep on the beam, stay alert; shift directions as necessary with changing winds."

It adds that in planning, one should also work out a balance among work, home leisure and community and civic responsibilities.

Harmon, Lee and Vee Harmon, Mr. R. J. Harmon, Leonard O'Dell, Jr., Gordon Harmon, Billy Harmon, Billie Skaggs, Chareen Ketchersid, Marcia Ann Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Martin, Bobby Hardin, James M. Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gilbert, Ted Kingery, Norton Dye, Billy C. Cross, Charles Payne and Jack Simpson.

The Women's Bureau says it's wise to investigate how many women are employed in an occupation in which you might be interested.

"Large numbers mean more jobs open each year as workers leave, and more likelihood of employment almost anywhere."

It says more than 250,000 women are in each of these groups: stenographers, typists, secretaries, teachers, saleswomen, office clerks, bookkeepers, accountants, cashiers and professional nurses.

Autry Invites Tech Girl To Ride In Madison Square Garden

A chance meeting with Gene Autry in a Lubbock boot shop may result in Miss Betty Jewell Seay, 18, riding in the Madison Square Garden Rodeo this fall.

Miss Seay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Seay of Tullia, and sister of Mrs. Roy Bass, 905-B Ave. R, has ridden horses practically all of her life.

She was in Woodfin's Boot and Shoe shop, when Autry came in to be fitted for a pair of new boots, the owner, Aubrey Woodfin, is to present him. Conversation revealed her interest in riding and resulted in the invitation from the movie star to appear in the New York rodeo.

Miss Seay is a junior student at Texas Tech.

Career Woman!

MEET the greatest career woman of all! She doesn't manage a business, write novels, paint portraits, or sing over the radio. But her job's big and it's important—she runs a home!

What a job that is! In a year she washes more than 6 tons of dishes, cooks more than 1,000 meals, wades through mountains of laundry, trundles her vacuum cleaner across acres and acres of rugs!

The more Mom depends on electric service, the less work is in her housework. And how little electric service costs! A penny's worth a day will rescue Mom from the drudgery of dishwashing. A few more pennies will cook her meals. Electricity will help her wash and iron for less weekly than the cost of a bar of soap.

And when Mom balances her budget, she's bound to note that electricity is one of its smallest items. Actually, the average family now gets twice as much electricity for its money as it did about 20 years ago. This bargain comes to Mom—and to you, too—through the practical experience of your friends and neighbors in this company, under sound local business management.
