

SANTA CLAUS WILL VISIT CITY TUESDAY NIGHT

Permanence, Utility And Beauty Mark The Furniture Available As Christmas Gifts

Big Spring furniture stores, more adequately than ever, are this season in a position to supply the answer to the fervent prayer of the Christmas shopper for an appropriate gift that combines the qualities of permanence, utility and beauty.

made them popular among yuletide shoppers. If the individual budget will allow a liberal appropriation for a present to the wife, furniture stores have the answer in latest designs of living room, bedroom, or dining room suites.

will not permit quite as steep an undertaking, one of the many carpets, or the currently fast moving wool and throw rugs would not only fill the bill as a gift but be of lasting service.

of its selling record. Rockers—pedestal or platform, boudoir, cricked, or even the sturdy numbers like grandpa demands—are all good for gifts. Occasional chairs are appropriate, especially in the well-built handcarved styles stocked here.

To Distribute Candy To The Youngsters

City Ready For Formal Opening Of Yule Season

"Santa Claus is coming to town!"

The words of a familiar song can be heard more and more as the Yuletide season approaches; and they become true this week as jolly old Saint Nick actually does put in his first appearance of the year in Big Spring. He'll be here Tuesday night, December 6, at 7 o'clock.

Children Are Ready And everything is about in readiness for his coming, to assist in formal inauguration of the Christmas season. Certainly, the children are ready, and they will be on hand in swarms to greet Santa when he stops at a special fireplace on the courthouse lawn to hear their requests for Christmas gifts and give them souvenir bags of candy.

Big Spring stores are ready, too. Display windows will be specially decorated for Tuesday night; and the counters and showcases already are heaping with attractive Christmas merchandise—gifts for every age and every purse.

The city itself has taken on the holiday atmosphere. Christmas lights are twinkling each night on the downtown streets, and other decorations soon will be up; the special fireplace on the courthouse lawn is in place, and will be completed for Santa's call Tuesday evening. Residences over the city are bedecked in trees and lights to add Yuletide gaiety to the local scene. Soon a special "Christmas tree" on the courthouse lawn will be an added holiday item.

The Tuesday night appearance of the jolly old gentleman from the North Pole marks the start of a series of community holiday events sponsored by the chamber of commerce and business establishments. Santa will return on December 13, in a spectacular parade which includes gaily decorated floats and many costumed characters.

Later in the season, probably December 20, a special program of Christmas music will be presented by school chorals under direction of Bill Dawes. More details on this program will be available later.

All in all, it looks like a big Christmas season for Big Spring folk. And Santa's visit Tuesday evening—a special one for the kiddies, who will be remembered with candy—is the starter.

He'll Be Seeing You Tuesday Eve

A CHRISTMAS REMEMBRANCE FOR ALL IS CITY'S GOAL

Many Organizations Busy Preparing For Distribution Of Gifts, Food And Toys To The Less Fortunate Families

Every child's sock in the city will be amply filled Christmas eve with all the goodies of the joyous season and every table thoughtfully supplied with a holiday dinner by people of Big Spring who realize the tinsel occasion cannot be truly enjoyed if the neighbors are cold, hungry and without remembrances.

finds it difficult to understand why his playmates get shiny red wagons and fluffy dolls with all the yuletide trimmings while he is hardly remembered with a toe of candy or heel of fruit much less an overflowing stocking.

Claus won't forget them because they have been awfully good all year. But in a few hours they discover he did forget and through a mist of tears resolve to be better children next year.

Jewelry Shops Become Santa Fairylands

If you want something exquisite, and a gift that can be handed from generation to generation, a selection from the local jewelry stores is highly recommended by one who's been around looking the situation over.

The Cosmetic Counters Give Gift Hints

You Can't Go Wrong In Selection There For The Lady

There was a time when drug stores sold nothing but pills, a few cosmetics, candy and fountain drinks but a peek into one now-a-days reveals everything from perfume, electric appliances and furniture to wearing apparel and sport goods.

Outstanding among those to aid with Christmas charity is the Salvation Army which started the Christmas dinner kettles to boiling November 28. And the more you contribute to the pot the more somebody else will have to eat on Christmas day.

The first thing spied is a display of embossed twin plungers with dogs, baskets or bowls of flowers. Then the eyes followed the biggest sparkle in the room which is a large display of silver plated tea sets, trays, bowls, coffee pots, creamers, servers covered metal containers and pitchers.

On a tour of the establishments it was discovered that some of the fanciest and classiest gifts of the season are on their display counters.

First volunteer contribution for the holiday season arrived through the mail this week, Major Canning reported, and was a check for $25 from a local citizen.

And watch out that you don't stand over that case containing those old fashioned golden lockets, brooches and pins too long because remember you have a lot of things to do before Christmas. But they are lovely—one noticed in particular was a beautiful pair of pearls centered with a diamond. And all of grandmothers' and great-grand-

In Gift Sets If you are a woman, you will never get by the cosmetic counter with its brilliant array of fitted cases, individual packages of make-up and gift sets in all of the nationally known brands. And perfume, cologne and toilet water in the loveliest bottles you ever saw.

The Lions club is to sponsor its fourth annual Christmas program and parties for Mexican children and their parents. Approximately 500 children will attend with a total attendance of around 1,000. No definite date has been set yet.

MANY AN ITEM TO BRING YOUNGSTER LOTS OF FUN

Fun toys, outside of the innumerable and incredible playthings which appear from year to year, offer such standard items as golf sets, whistles, drums, horns, balloons, skates, shovels and rakes, implements, bow and arrows, blackboards, marbles, balls, blocks, cars, airplanes, guns (cap pistols, air guns and coast defense cannons—for gangster weapons are taboo), army tanks, caterpillar and other type tractors, pianos, cash registers, modeling clay and stores. In fact, there's almost anything for any type of child or occasion—as loud or as quiet as the adult members of the family decree.

Names of the various perfume is intriguing like surrender, reflections, country club, vogue, nose-gay, tweed, numero, cuir de Russie de chanel and golliwegg.

With the Christmas mail traffic already beginning to move, it is becoming apparent that the seasonal volume will reach large proportions again this year. By the end of the week there was a noticeable increase in the number of parcels appearing at the windows of the postoffice, many of them marked "Do Not Open Until Christmas."

Making It A Merry Xmas Means Lot Of Work In Advance

BESIDES SANTA THERE ARE Everyone knows this wheeler, old myth-eaten gent has a lot of work to do Christmas Eve, and even before, as he makes a gallant effort to please folks with the gifts he hangs on the tree...

TREE-CHOPPERS Woodmen like this husky Colorado youth must beat Santa into millions of homes with Christmas trees. Their holiday rush is to frosty forests. Those evergreen boughs will be loaded with tinsel and toys.

TOYMAKERS Thousands of workers in Toyland and doll hospitals must toil like this painstaking lady. For there's hard work back of every starry-eyed dolly that's jugged when the Christmas bells ring out.

FOUNDRYMEN And into the merry peals of Christmas bells goes the labor of husky foundrymen who cast them from molten metal. They are balanced and carefully toned. Christmas men they summon folks to candle-lit churches.

CANDLEMAKERS Hours of hot work go into Christmas candles. This candlemaker is pouring molten wax down already well-coated wicks. He can make more than 200 candles a day. They'll gleam greetings from many windows.

AND GREETING CARRIERS Greetings and gifts are the mail man's burden for many days before Christmas. This one has a regular Santa's pack. Postal employees guide Christmas cheer by truck, plane and train across the nation.

Santa Coming Back Dec. 13

Spectacular Nine-Block Parade Is Slated That Date

Santa Claus will be in Big Spring only briefly Tuesday evening, when he arrives to give a pre-Christmas greeting to youngsters; but he will return within a week with a horde of helpers, in a dazzling parade calculated to open wide the eyes of kiddies and adults alike.

A big, colorful parade, in which Santa will be accompanied by scores of characters of comic page and story book fame, is scheduled in the city for Tuesday of next, December 13. This parade will be at 1:30 in the afternoon.

A delegation of Big Spring citizens were in Lubbock this past week to view this particular Christmas demonstration, and pronounced it one of the best they had ever seen. Lubbock was packed with crowds for the parade.

See SANTA, Page 6, Col. 7

FIREPLACE READY

Making ready for the coming of Santa Claus here Tuesday, a large "fireplace" is being constructed on the east side of the courthouse lawn.

Ten-Day Holiday For Local Schools

It'll be a ten-day holiday for teachers and students in the Big Spring schools this Christmas.

Dates for the annual Yuletide respite from classwork were fixed some time ago by the board of trustees. Classes will be dismissed for the holidays on the afternoon of Wednesday, December 21, and school work will be resumed on Monday, January 2.

Most of the teachers plan to be away from the city for the period, visiting homefolk.

As for business holidays, it is generally indicated that stores and offices in Big Spring will take an extra day for Christmas observance on Monday, December 26, since Christmas this year falls on Sunday. It was considered probable that Monday, January 2, also will be observed as the New Year holiday by many local establishments.

31 MARBLES ENOUGH TO CAUSE GIRL A TUMMY-ACHE

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Mary Genova, 19, had a perfect right to complain of severe pains in her stomach, doctors decided, after X-rays revealed 31 full-sized marbles.

Mary explained she and a friend each had swallowed a number of marbles on a "dare" from neighborhood youths whose sled they wished to borrow.

Mary's girl friend has reported no ill effects.

Toy Matinee On Saturday

Clothing Also Will Be Accepted At Benefit Show

Big Spring youngsters this Christmas season will have their customary opportunity of playing Santa Claus in their own right, in donating toys to less fortunate children. Provision for collecting the playthings is made again this year by the Ritz theatre, which has announced its annual toy matinee for Saturday of this week, December 10.

At that time—the show will be at 10 a. m.—children will be admitted to the show on presentation of any type of toy, provided it is in such condition that it can be repaired.

And—this is something new this year—clothing will be accepted as an "admission ticket" to the show. Aware that many of the underprivileged families in Big Spring need something substantial in the way of a Christmas gift, the Ritz management is inviting the contribution of clothing. All items of apparel must, of course, be suitable for wearing.

Many children will have cast-off garments at home they can bring, and many will have good toys which they have discarded. All attending the show are reminded to bring usable toys and wearable clothing, so that they will be a real Christmas gift to the poorer folk who receive them on Christmas Day.

You Can Always Please A Lady By Giving Her A New Perfume

Perfume, Cologne and Jewels—Gifts Close To A Woman's Heart.

By BETTY CLARKE AP Feature Service Writer

Most women are perfume collectors at heart. That's why perfume is a safe bet as a Christmas gift.

There aren't any really safe rules to follow in buying, but the woman who has a variety of perfumes always will appreciate some new scent. And the woman who has a favorite scent or group of scents will appreciate a new supply of those.

Sometimes it's a good plan to match perfume favorites with scented accessories. There are eau de colognes as well as bath powders, bath scents, lingerie sachets and bath soaps to complement many perfumes.

Evening compacts are gifts that send a flutter to the heart—that's the effect you're after. Don't get compacts too large, though! They must fit neatly into an evening purse.

Comb-and-brush sets, make-up kits and manicure sets are three other universally popular beauty gifts.

If you get a comb and brush set, be sure it is practical as well as decorative. The brush should have firm bristles and a handle that is easy to grasp. The comb must be sturdy enough to stand plenty of use. And the mirror should be clear and fairly large.

Among the newer sets on the Christmas market are several in maple, designed for the woman whose bedroom is in that wood. More elaborate are those with crystal handles and cloisonne backs.

Manicure sets should be equipped with a good file and a good scissors or pair of nippers.

"Personal appearance" gifts also seldom will buy them themselves. Suggestions: brush sets (satin-wood, ebony, teakwood or the new "Thyso" wood are all durable and attractive), electric shavers, leather utility kits, lighted shaving mirrors, tie racks and even shoe-shine boxes complete with polish, brushes and shoe cloths.

Men's Goods Displayed In Holiday Style

Local Shops Have Gifts Women Like To Give To Men

Men's furnishings now being displayed in Big Spring shops have more than a masculine appeal.

They are designed to attract the feminine eye, as well as please the men who receive them. This makes shopping for gifts easier and more pleasurable.

What will women find, when they shop for the most desirable gifts for Dad, Hubby, Son or Sweetheart? First, they'll find a grand array of tastefully blended colors. Second, they'll find large groups of popular styles in shirts, robes, handkerchiefs, neckties, mufflers, hose, etc. Third, they'll find a wide choice of sizes that will fit right in with the man of any shape or proportion.

Christmas shirts have a modern sleekness and urbanity that belie their casual comfort. Predominant are white shirts, with white-on-white figures, and small self-designs. Stripes follow a close second in popularity, and every man needs a smartly striped shirt for all wear. This latter group includes wide space stripes in alternating colors, pin-point stripes, peppermint stripes and others. Solid tones continue popular with the younger set, and more and more are seen worn by older men at business. These tones take on a new holiday note with the addition of lighter and softer shades in crayon and pastel.

It is a fact, long proved, that a man wants his pajamas to be multi-colored. The patterns can run riot, and the colors must be extremely bright. Yet men will refrain from actually buying the most colorful designs for themselves. They leave it to the women and hope to receive them as gifts. So if, when you give him one of these new patterned pajamas and hear his protests, don't be alarmed! For his patronizing attitude is just a defense mechanism, and you can be sure he can hardly wait to jump into them. Buying gift robes involves the same process. They too reflect a gay, relaxed mood.

Neckwear for the holiday and winter season is more pleasing than ever. Colors are made to blend with the more attractive suits and overcoats. Silks, satins and weaves all have a tone of gaiety about them. Foulards, the popular choice, are shown in gay geometrics, small and clift figures. Also popular are smart horizontals, alternate stripes and polka dots. Check designs are favored for the man who wears sports clothes with dash.

If you've been trying to do something to liven up his general ensemble, one of the best solutions is to look to the muffler he's wearing (or isn't wearing). For this particular item can make or break the average appearance of savoir faire.

The man who carries a formal air must have the reserved dignity of silk at his neck. This needn't be drab. For new silk scarfs, with the indispensable monogram, are shown in smart, bold figures, patterns and prints—as well as formal whites and solid colors. For men who wear sport clothes, well...the biggest favor you can do them is to present a fine woolen muffler. The patterns and fabric finishes you may select from are endless...and all pleasing.

Fine hosiery offers a variety of appeals to taste. Your choices range from plain black silks to riotous woolen patterns. These come in a wide variety of patterns and colors. The new rib wool patterns are now the most popular for all around winter wear. You'll find that the man who receives a pair of plain colored socks and a pair of highly patterned woolens...will invariably be wearing the latter pair, the pair with the most color.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Replica Of The Family Trailer One Of Headliners On Toy List For Youngsters This Christmas

Don't be surprised if Junior includes a trailer to go with a red streamlined automobile on his list to Santa Claus this year.

Because a trailer, a miniature replica of the family's traveling home, is one of the newest things in the toy world this year.

It might also include a "Lone Ranger" cowboy suit, latest innovation in the costume line; a few Frank Buck animals, just as realistic but not as alive as the originals; a set of hand puppets depicting the "Three Stooges," complete with a skit and working instructions; a leather and woodburning set, a modern interpretation of the indoor sport popular 25 years ago; or a locomotive with a "mystery motor" no more winding of a key, just put it on the floor, push down, and off it goes.

But it was daughter that the master minds of the toy industry had in view this year, and, pared for some elaborate requests. For this year's doll houses are copied from modern homes as pictured in magazines. Furniture, from doll house size to real children's furniture, is modernistic at the demand of children who have gone "sophisticated."

But it's in the matter of food and the kitchen where the toy designers have really shone...small kitchen cabinets complete with samples of nationally advertised foods, stoves with a miniature tea kettle that really whistles, and a fully equipped grocery store...scale and wrapping paper roll included.

Today's youngsters have grown up ideas, the toy manufacturers believe, and they say the most successful toys are those which stimulate in the juvenile things adults are interested in.

Educational Toys Popular

Supporting their belief is the popularity of "educational" toys, toys that allow the youngster to pursue a hobby, use his creative imagination or those which teach him a lesson.

New this year is a low-priced but complete marionette set with puppets, stage and plays, a motion picture projection machine synchronized with sound from a phonograph record, and wooden toys for the very young children which aid muscular co-ordination and teach them color discrimination.

Toys must be creative to interest children for any length of time and parents are more willing to buy this type as they know their money is being spent for a worthwhile purpose.

Not only must they be creative and educational but they must also be modern.

"Youngsters demand their cars even more streamlined than dad's and they have to be realistic.... toys are getting more realistic every year," said one New York toy manufacturer discussing the trend of toys.

November and December is the season for the sale of toys, though a few are sold in the spring and summer. Manufacturers try to sell their toys as early in the year as possible, preferably during the summer months, but large buyers usually wait until September and October or even later before placing their orders.

It's a big business, this being helps to Santa Claus, but it's

Complete Lines of Luggage Displayed As Xmas Gifts

Various stores are going in for complete lines of luggage and the impressions of the traveling bags noted this year are as lasting as the gift itself.

And each piece of luggage has a name like triplex, Bond Streeter and Sky Robe. The triplex is for men or women and is equipped with hangers and compartments. The Bond Streeter is for the men, but bought often for women, and has sufficient space for two or three suits and the Sky Robe is built to hold three or four dresses.

All types of bags from the kind mentioned above on down to the weekend cases can be bought in the airplane material or rawhide.

the children who dictate the styles. Toys are made to please children and, to stay in business, the toy manufacturer must be sure he does just that.

SIGN YOUR HOLIDAY CARDS ACCORDING TO THEIR TYPE

By JOAN DURHAM
AP Feature Service Writer

Should you sign your Christmas cards "Mr. and Mrs.?"

That depends on whether the cards are engraved, printed or signed by hand.

Engraved cards follow the rules for visiting cards, consequently, "Mr. and Mrs." is proper. It is considered a little better to have the card read, "Mr. and Mrs. Merry Christmas and a happy New Year" rather than "A very merry Christmas and a happy New Year from Mr. and Mrs. Merry Holiday."

Printed cards fall into two categories, rather formal ones meant to be sent to everyone and informal ones, designed for intimate friends. If you send out printed cards for formal use in place of engraved ones, then "Mr. and Mrs." is proper. If, however, your cards are intended as informal greetings to good friends omit the "Mr. and Mrs."

Auto Gadgets Make Dandy Xmas Gifts

Radios, Heaters, Etc., Would Be Appreciated

If you tire of contributing that conventional gift to the male regularly each Christmas and are looking around for something different what could be more appropriate and, chances are, more appreciated than a handy gadget for his automobile? And there's an attractive array to choose from if you are undecided on the "knick-knack."

He'd probably be capable of doing a song-and-dance if he awoke Christmas morning to find a nice little panel radio waiting for him. Almost all radio manufacturers, it seems, are making radios for automobiles nowadays and there's a varied field to choose from.

Or A Heater

If he boasts a radio then don't stop there. A cheery little heater, just the thing for this time of year, is being offered for sale. The dealer now handles those which use the battery only when warming, then operate solely from gasoline. And they certainly produce ample heat. A heater is very appropriate for long drives or night driving. Too, a combination heating-cooling system can be installed, one that produces heat in the winter time and cool breezes in the summer.

Speaking of cooler temperatures fans of all sizes and assortments to be played at any appropriate place in the car can be had—and at very low prices. They operate with very little.

Maybe he'd like a new set of horns. Your dealer probably has all the new fangled kinds that can play anything from "The Station Song" to "The Road to Mandalay." Big horns, little horns, fat horns, slender horns—all capable of producing a different sound, are on display.

Then there's always tires and tubes that can be offered which the recipient usually gets more genuine pleasure of receiving than anything else.

Other Accessories

Other suggestions are seat blankets, now coming specially made for the automobile, and seat covers, the durable topping which protects the original cushion.

And how about a defroster, very good in freezing weather for a windshield that insists on giving trouble or a mirror with a clock, quite useful for any motorist.

The knobs for steering gear control are proving very popular and very useful on the market at the present time along with the new brake knobs while the suction cigarette trays are growing in popularity.

Then, of course, there are spot lights, motors, license frames, reflectors of all shapes and fashions, gasoline cap locks, mudguards, battery chargers which may be put to work while the car is in use, windshield wipers, bumper guides, visors and bumper guards.

Lastly he may need a new set of tire tools, an essential part of any motorist equipment.

Possibilities in the accessory field are unlimited. Don't be surprised if the male gets extra nice before Christmas time and drops a hint or two for his needs.

Church Stands For Fasting On Dec. 24

Congregation Of The Council Hands Down Verdict

VATICAN CITY (UP)—Christmas Eve must continue to be considered a day of "abstinence and fasting," according to a verdict by the Congregation of the Council.

The Congregation reached this decision after considering the petition of a group of bishops, who pointed out the difficulty of imposing strict fasting regulations upon the faithful on the day preceding Christmas. They gave two reasons:

Because of the modern custom of celebrating Christmas on the previous evening.

Because of the increased work on Dec. 24, imposing increased consumption of food which "because of its quality and quantity is forbidden by ecclesiastical laws."

The bishops suggested that the "abstinence and fasting" limit be moved back to noon of Dec. 24, permitting Catholics to celebrate the "Birth of Christ" on the eve without violating any of the ecclesiastical laws.

To add strength to their argument, the bishops cited Canon 1252, Paragraph 3 of the Code of Canonical Laws, which specifies that fasting ends at noon on Holy Saturday.

The Congregation's reply was categorical. It said that the reasons advanced for the discontinuance of fasting on Dec. 24 "do not seem based on solid facts."

The practice of violating fasting, it added, should be considered an abuse and every effort should be made to discontinue it and "particularly by those who seek solace for the soul."

Fasting Exceptions Cited

The Congregation further pointed out that provisions already had been made for fasting exceptions in Canon 1245, Paragraph 1 of the Code. Here bishops and priests are authorized to excuse special cases from fasting whenever deemed advisable.

Holy Saturday and Dec. 24, are no parallel, continued the Congregation verdict, since Resurrection is celebrated at noon on the day before Easter, whereas the "birth of Christ" is observed on Christmas Day.

"For these reasons," concluded the Congregation, "it is necessary to turn down the request of the bishops. It invites them contrarily to instruct the faithful of another opportunity of obeying the common and general laws of the church."

House Coats Are Favored For Milady

Evening Frocks, Too, Shown By Stores As The Gift Ideal

Royal blue velvets direct from the king's palace and a suggestion of the Victorian period are evident in the house coats being shown this Christmas in the local department stores.

Long sweeping trains, fitted bodices and high girled bellines are the latest in a revival of some of the oldest styles. A house coat no longer has to be worn in the bedroom but it can walk right into the Sunday parlor this year and entertain.

They really are lovely in French flannel, pome pleated and some circular, and in plain, printed and pressed velvet. And when you get a look at this little number, you'll start scheming today to get it in your sock Christmas morning.

First, it is lounging pajamas but you would never know it for it looks pretty enough for a debutante's first party. The top is of pressed blue chiffon velvet with shirred sleeves and the trousers are of a pale rose satin.

All of the stores are featuring evening frocks for the holiday season and one that comes to mind is a black net over taffeta with flowers of silver sequins on the billowy skirt. And to set it off, it has a two-inch sequin belt. Any girl would be proud of a new evening frock for the New Year dances like a blue taffeta of self ruffle trim noted on the top. It featured a hoop skirt and a girlish velvet bow at the neck.

Lingerie is always an appropriate gift and the stores have a lovely assortment of gowns, slips, pajamas and panties. All sorts of linens and bedspreads are also in the holiday display.

Accessories As Gifts Are Sure To Be Welcomed

If you want to see his face light up when he opens your gift...be sure it's a smart new accessory. This annual event of gift-giving entails much thought and careful preparation, yet you are always sure to please with these smart gifts.

Give him a belt or set of suspenders. You can select from finest leathers, with monogrammed buckles for the belts. Suspenders are featured wider at the shoulders. They are in stripes, solid tones. Other braces are shown in leathers with smart plaited thong.

Give him garters and gloves. The garters are sold in new pattern-colors...are washable. The gloves give you a wide range of choice. You can be sure of pleasing with any of the new leathers. Smart and reliable pigskin...always the best for all-around wear. But new leathers and treatments, add to gift selection. Buckskins, suedes, kidskins, mochas, boar and hogskin are remarkable in their processed smartness. New string gloves, and string combinations, are novel and desirable.

Give him jewelry. No gift is quite like it for expressing seasonal sentiment. You are able to choose inexpensive, but handsome, stud sets for a little over a dollar. And you can pay well into three figures for more elaborate and precious sets. Then too, the stickpin is revived this winter for town and business wear. So put jewelry on Greece and Hungary; Dec. 16, England, Haiti, Netherlands, France, Germany, Scotland, Ireland, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia.

In mailing Christmas cards it is well to remember that only unsealed, printed cards may go under the fourth class rate—that is for a cent and a half. These may have a personal signature or a personal greeting such as "Merry Christmas," "Best Wishes," etc. In long hand, sealed letters and those with personal messages other than seasonal greetings require first class postage, or three cent stamps. Only first class mail has forwarding privileges.

All packages for mailing should be well wrapped and securely bound, fully and legibly addressed and with return address listed before being presented at the parcel window. There is need to address only one side and seals should not be placed on the same side with postage.

Parcels containing breakable or perishable materials should be marked "fragile" or "perishable," and in either case great care should be exercised in packing. Packages for the mails may weigh as much as 70 pounds and have a combined length and breadth of not more than 100 inches. Photographs must be protected by fiber board.

If your package is worth mailing, postal employees say, it is worth insuring. The cost is negligible and due to the confusion around Christmas season, it might prove to be money well spent.

City's Goal

Lawrence Robinson, chairman of the party committee, said this weekend but arrangements are being made for the annual affair. Sacks of nuts, candies and fruit will be given to the children.

Commander R. R. McEwen said the American Legion is to take care of several veterans and their families with food and toys and the auxiliary decided at a meeting Thursday to give individual baskets.

Members of the Child's Study club are to provide toys for the WFA nursery children and the tree is to be furnished by the business men. Each member of the club is to be responsible for four toys for the tree. Merchants also plan to give the tots sacks of fruit and candy.

The Modern Woman's Forum always stages a Christmas party requesting members to bring gifts and then they are distributed about town at Christmas time. The same thing will probably be done this year along with various foods. Beta Sigma Phi is planning to give several baskets and the V.F.W. auxiliary will take care of families who are members of the auxiliary.

Sunday school classes and women's organizations of the church are planning to collect and distribute clothes, food and toys. Ruth class and Friendship class of the First Baptist church are to fix up baskets as will the Philaetha and Susanna Wesley classes of the First Methodist.

Definite plans have not been made by the East Fourth Baptist but the pastor, the Rev. W. S. Garret, said he was sure food and clothing would be distributed.

Bluebonnet class of the First Christian church plans to help several families and Mrs. Emory Duff, president of the Presbyterian auxiliary, said members usually took fruit and candy to children of the church.

From 10 to 15 families are to be aided by the First Methodist church. Mrs. W. D. McDonald, head of the social department, reported. She said last year 16 boxes of food were distributed by the department.

Last week members of the South Ward T.T.A. brought gifts and non-perishable food to a community tree which will be delivered to various homes.

Christmas eve, St. Mary's auxiliary plans to visit December 19 to pack boxes to be distributed December 20. Last year the Ladies Society to the B. of L. E. & E. gave baskets to the churches to be passed out and it is believed the same plan will be followed this Christmas.

The St. Thomas Catholic church is also planning to take care of its part during the holiday and it is believed that the T.E.L. class of the First Baptist plans to give baskets.

RENO, Nev. (UP)—The oldtime claim-rushing-day term of "sooner" is now applied to the various game hunting seasons. One "sooner" of the pheasant hunting season who bagged only one bird and one day too soon got a $50 fine for his "sooner."

Matinee

enjoy—will be "Robin Hood," a Technicolor production starring Errol Flynn and Olivia De Havilland.

Toys received at the Blitz will be turned over to city firemen for repair and refurbishing. Firemen already are working on some playthings contributed, and will receive other toys up to December 12. The items must be in that early to give time for repair.

After the repairs are completed, the toys and the clothing will be turned over by a central welfare agency—probably the Salvation Army—for distribution to those kiddies who otherwise might be overlooked by Santa Claus.

Toys Always Come First With Santa

Plenty in Stocks Here To Delight All Children

Santa Claus—public hero No. 1 for 10, these many years—would never have been more than a sentimental man of many pounds and a red suit had he not had the wisdom to put toys first on his list.

In fact, the jolly old saint's North Pole factories of legendary fame are not given over to the making of fine things for Mr. and Mrs. but to the production of trinkets to bring joy untold to the hearts of eager children.

In short, a Christmas without toys is hardly Christmas at all in the minds of Santa Claus' youthful admirers.

Wise in their readiness to cooperate with the patron saint of the Yuletide, Big Spring stores are carrying this Christmas season as complete a stock of standard and unique toys as may be found anywhere this side of Santa's Arctic factory.

In token of this, shoppers have, at this early date, made it plain that those who wish to get what Brother or Sister would love must act quickly. Many local merchants are plain in saying that seldom has the rush for toys got underway so far in advance of Christmas Day.

Just in case Father and Mother have not been browsing around among the toys (they get a bigger kick than the kiddies in seeing the inanimate oddities perform), here are a few highlights on the crop for the current season:

SNOW WHITE AND DWARFS DOMINATE THE DOLL LINE

Dolls, always a headline attraction for the little miss in your home, are lovelier and "sweeter," more life-like than in former years. Some even consume contents of a bottle and demand a change now and then. The majority cry for mamma. A good percentage are clad in "cute" dresses and have beautiful locks. Some are out of composition rubber and will last a lifetime.

The greatest single innovation in the domination of the doll realm by Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs. Virtually every toy department with dolls has some variation of these sensations of the year. The teddy bear entourage is complete as ever.

PROJECT TOYS AN AID TO CHILDREN

Project toys, over a period of years, have been gaining favor, and rightly so for they turn serious minded youngsters into constructive champions. Microscopes, in a series of sizes and powers, are improved and very reasonable in price. They come with chemical sets and open new fields to the inquisitive. Log, block and tinker-toy sets give the lads something to do. A lamp shade set, electrical kits, and tool chests afford opportunities for boys to make something with their own hands. Water and crayon color kits hit the spot for the artistic children. Telephone and telegraph sets permit an inside glimpse at modern communications.

WIDER RANGE SEEN IN 'HOUSE' TOYS

House toys for the little girl, like so many other toys, are down in price and up in range of type. A striking feature is the tea wagon in several sizes. Dishes, in addition to being complete in assortments, are copying after the vari-colored trends in pottery and heavy wares. Tea sets are clever. Machines, washers, cooking utensils, irons and ironing boards, stoves and house layouts lend to the diminutive household layout.

WHEEL TOYS THIS YEAR GO IN FOR STREAMLINING

Wheel toys have become standardized to a large extent, but that doesn't take the stream lining out of the pictures. Tricycles are constructed in just as sweeping lines and bicycles are designed to literally cut the wind. Wagons, too, have flowing lines—that is except those duplicates of brand new farm wagons, replete with removable side boards and end gates, and wooden spoked wheels.

Trains, electric, spring or non-powered, have the modern touch for the most part, being styled after the "zephyr" limiteds on the big roads. Of course, the good old steam shovels, sleek and black, produce that rattling thrill when they puff around the tracks.

PERSONALITIES ARE FEATURED IN GAMES

Game toys give a hint of what has been going on in the movies and over the radio during the past 12 months. Yes, sir, there's Ferdinand the Bull, Dick Tracy, Charlie McCarthy, Popeye the Sailor, and many other such games. Bingo and oldtime games are dressed up to meet present day competition. Marble and ball games are modeled after the "skin games" at the ocean park or around the amusement halls. Dominoes, checkers, Chinese checkers, pick-up sticks, quilts, darts, and a host of card games offer an endless array of choices.

Jewelry

mothers' are here again to fascinate the young as they did the old. Don't get excited and say something for which you will be sorry if you wake up Christmas morning with a lamp on the family tree that looks like it belongs in a country 40 miles from a power line. On closer inspection you will discover that it just looks like a kerosene lamp because all the time there is an electric light in the tall globe. It is really beautiful and just the thing for an antique room.

China and Glassware

China and glassware of all types and patterns was noticed but something in particular must be mentioned right here. It's called Irish Belleek, and is the most beautiful work of art ever wrought in glass. All of the pieces are made by hand and by only one company in the world. The flowers and designs on the articles are all handmade and the white glass fairly glisters. If you get some of that, you're not only lucky but you can feel perfectly free next year to spend more on his or her gift.

That famous figure—the old balloon seller—in natural colors is something to hint about and if you have a penchant for travel—go look as an illuminated globe with all of the places you've dreamed about standing smack out on the map.

And if it's rings you are looking for—they've got them with all kinds of stones.

Cosmetics

can be purchased with each bearing the owner's name and another puff arrangement is a little yellow cellulose basket for "A Tisket, A Tasket." Sachet bags and dusting powder sets are in attractive gift boxes and make-up kits and cases in genuine alligator to match milady's shoes and bag.

Electric appliances of all kinds, magazine racks and sewing kits were noticed on the tour and the cutest bookends with springs on either side to hold the books intact—oh, yes, and all sorts of books were on display from the Bible to the wildest detective.

Lamps and Lamps

And lamps, more lamps and different lamps from all other years, including one attached to a memo pad.

And one store especially featured the old-time teddy bears, Charlie McCarthy dolls, all of the seven dwarfs, and angora dogs.

Now, hold everything and don't run, get Emily Post before you hear all of this—colored stationery from the greenest green to the pinkiest pink is in style again and furthermore, it has been for more than a year. West Texas druggists have hesitated to buy it for several months because they just couldn't believe it was true but a New Yorker finally convinced them and they stocked up. And you write in white ink.

Santa

they reported, and everyone was pleased with the program.

The Santa Claus parade coming here next week includes some 15 floats, more than 100 people (many of whom will be local folks in special costume) and will be nine blocks long.

Santa, of course, will be the principal figure, riding in a colorful sleigh. But with him will be animals, including reindeer, a camel and ponies. There will be clowns and grotesque and comic figures galore. There will be such characters as Mary Christmas, Princes Mary, Jack and Jill, the Three Bears, the Three Wise Men, and Old Mother Hubbard. Many of these will be on special floats of their own. Colorfully attired heralds and show girls will add to the beauty of the parade, and bands will be on hand to furnish music.

Local sponsors of the December 13 program declare it will be the most spectacular Yuletide demonstration staged in the city in many years.

TEXAS CRIDDERS TO BE ENTERTAINED BY THE ALLREDS

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Turkey with all the trimmings will grace the mansion table Monday when Governor and Mrs. James V. Allred give their annual dinner for the University of Texas football team and coaches.

The governor said today this year's banquet would honor the "spirit" the team displayed through the season and "one of the three or four great coaches in the nation."

The Longhorns this year lost all their games except the traditional clash with Texas A. & M. Thanksgiving.

Smaller Trees On Courthouse Lawn To Be Decorated

Due to storms in June working havoc on the symmetry of the tree which has been lighted for display on the courthouse lawn, it will be abandoned this year.

However, two other smaller trees on the lawn will be decorated in its place. Nat Shick, who has superintended the lighting of the tree for the past two seasons, said that adjacent trees on Main and Third street will be decorated with lights.

The tree on Main will be covered with 800 Christmas lights and 800 lights will bedeck the one on Third street.

Shick will be aided in his work by Earl Scott, Lamesa, an employe of the Texas Electric Service who formerly resided here. Scott worked with Shick on the job last year. Shick said that the lights would be in place and turned on by Monday night.

'GOODFELLOWS' OF DETROIT OBSERVE SILVER JUBILEE

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Old Newsboys Goodfellow Fund will celebrate its silver jubilee this Christmas and to celebrate the event a book, "The Story of the Goodfellows," has been written.

Copies of the book are being mailed to managing editors of newspapers all over the country to acquaint other communities with the work of the charity organization.

It was 25 years ago that the late James Brady conceived the idea of raising funds to insure the needy children of Detroit a Merry Christmas by organizing a group of men who as boys sold papers in downtown Detroit. The idea was for them to resume their old corners at a stated period just before Christmas and sell papers to all who passed, naturally refusing any change.

The idea caught the popular fancy and today the Goodfellow Fund is an agency that works the year around and makes itself responsible for raising $150,000, which cares for the needs of 65,000 poor children in the metropolitan area of Detroit.

The origin and development of the movement is traced in the book, written by Ernest P. Lajoie, a former circuit judge and a practicing attorney in Detroit, who has been one of the prime movers in Old Newsboys Goodfellow movement for many years. It is his hope that the movement will spread throughout the country.

Old Well Holds Gasoline

UKIAH, Cal. (UP)—Probably the world's only gasoline well has been discovered here. Workers razing an old service station came upon a well water well which contained about 100 gallons of gasoline. It had presumably leaked in from the pumps and was preserved in the airtight condition of the well.

Trifles Are Important Gifts For The Home Rank In Christmas Stocking

In expensive gifts, some candy and nuts, and a tangerine in the toe—that's what makes it fun to unload the Christmas stocking.

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE, AP Feature Service Writer

With expectant squeals the youngsters tumble out of bed early Christmas and dash to see what Santa has left them. That exciting hour is Christmas at its old-fashioned best.

The glittering tree, for all its splendor, is just a background for the thrills of exploring those bulging stockings that were hung up so empty and sagging the night before. So it's well worth while for mother and father to take special pains in filling those stockings.

What goes in them? Well, usually some trinkets, candies, nuts in the shells, a rosy apple and a golden orange or tangerine and probably one real "special" present.

Wise mothers have kept their eyes peeled on shopping trips well in advance for little novelties that will make good stocking presents. She has kept the grown-ups in mind as well as the youngsters, getting jokes or knickknacks connected with a hobby. Shops are loaded with inexpensive gifts of that kind.

Scraps of the colored wrapping paper and ribbons left from doing up the big presents should be saved for the stocking gifts. For unwrapping is such fun it's a good idea to tie up the things for the stockings, too.

in one end as a fuse becomes a firecracker. Paper or cardboard nuts, animals and unique boxes are really just containers for hair ribbons, neck ties, cuff links, small notebooks and other gadgets.

How shall each stocking be known? A cookie name-card is just the thing. Cut cookie dough into two-by-three-inch rectangles, and prick a hole in a corner of each cookie to hold a cord. When cookies are baked, insert cards and write names with frosting to tag each stocking.

Animal and flower cookies always appeal to children. They are easily fashioned from rolled out cookie dough and cut out with cutter or a paper pattern. Gingerbread men and jaunty little figures fashioned from gum drops are intriguing creations to see peeping from the top of each stocking.

The gingerbread family can be elaborately dressed with raisins, cloves and piped frostings, the gum-drop children with coats, trousers and hats made of different shaped and colored gum drops.

The visitor had as guests on her program Mrs. Irvin H. Sanders, president of the Garden club, who told of activities of that organization, and Dorothy Lawrence, who gave interesting sidelights on how Big Spring obtained its name and other items of historical interest.

Miss Northe came here by special plane, a Gulf Oil corporation ship piloted by Buck Rowe, who accompanying her was T. K. Kinzie, chief engineer for TSN. # Ronald Colman And Frances Dee Starred In Historical Romance At Ritz Theatre

'If I Were King' Tells Story Of Francois Villon

A popular story—that of Francois Villon, one of fiction's grand lover-rogues—is given outstanding treatment and the advantage of an able star in Ronald Colman; and the result is "If I Were King," the Ritz theatre's featured offering for today and Monday. The picture, widely advertised, is hailed as one of the choice entertainment bits of the season.

Colman, one of Hollywood's most talented players, is cast as Villon, one of the most colorful fellows ever to strut across the pages of history—the fifteenth century playboy, poet, lover and statesman who held France in the palm of his hand for one notable week, only to be banished when he gave his heart to a royal princess. The story of Villon as told in "If I Were King" has been given fine settings, swift action and brilliant dialogue.

The story opens with Colman engaged in the typical Villonesque raidings of a warehouse belonging to King Louis XI, in order to prevent his beloved people of Paris from starving while the Burgundian armies blockade the city. Fleeing the king's soldiers, he seeks refuge in the last place any one would ever think of looking for Villon—in a church, and there he sees the most beautiful creature of his life, a royal princess, played by Frances Dee.

With the stage so brilliantly set for action, Colman suddenly finds himself the ruler of France, due to a caprice of the king, Basil Rathbone, one of whose enemies the regent unwittingly killed in a street brawl. Made grand constable with absolute powers for a week, the idol of the Paris mobs finds that he must defeat the Burgundians by the end of that time or go to the gallows for robbing the storehouses.

The man whose verses and charms conquered the heart of all Paris, and of Miss Dee, too, does not find going to court so easy. The generals of the armies, sitting comfortably behind the stout walls of the city, absolutely refuse to fight. Faced with the prospect of a hangman's rope—now doubly to be dreaded because of his love for the princess—Colman seizes upon Miss Dee's suggestion that he give away every bit of food in the storehouses and so force the lazy generals into action.

In a smashing climax, Colman distributes the food to the Paris mob and then, the generals still hanging back, forces the populace into a furious army, which he himself leads into battle against the enemy.

To support Colman, who now tops his performance in "Clive of India," "Lost Horizon" and "A Prisoner of Zenda," Director Frank Lloyd selected one of the year's biggest casts. Miss Dee, as the princess who dared give her heart to a gutter poet, plays her first role since "Wells Fargo." A

MEN OF THE AVIATION WORLD

Chester Morris, Richard Dix and Harry Carey are three of those big shots in aviation, in another story of birdmen and their conquest of the air, "Sky Giant," which is offered at the Queen theatre today and Monday. Morris and Dix have featured roles, along with Joan Fontaine.

New Basil Rathbone will be seen as the eccentric and crafty Louis XI. Colman's tavern sweetheart is played by Ellen Drew, Hollywood's newest star discovery, who made her bow in the recent "Sing You Sinners." The cast also includes C. V. France, Sidney Toier, Henry Wilcoxon and Ralph Forbes.

Recitals Are Slated At Sterling City

STERLING CITY, Dec. 3.—Miss Clara Hutchins and Miss Kathleen Crawford, teachers of dramatics and music respectively here, will present their pupils in a recital at the high school December 9 at 7:30 p. m.

Only the junior speech pupils of Miss Hutchins will be in presentation; the high school group having been recently presented in three one-act plays.

The pupils of speech are Margaret Ritter, Trinabeth Reed, Peggy Jean Hinshaw, Billy Gene Ray, Jo David Crossno, Carolyn Foster, Dixie Knight, Billy Verne Davis, Annie Lou Knight, Billie McEntire, Jacqueline Everitt, Frank Bomar, Carlene Ballou.

Pupils of Miss Crawford are June Marie Augustine, Norvin Wayne Brown, Mary Ann Bynum, Joan Cole, Billie Sue Everitt, Marjorie Humble, Rosa Lee and Ruby Langford, Neal J. Reed, and Margaret Ritter.

The rhythm band of the first and second grades under the direction of Miss Eloise Nelson, with Mrs. Herman Everitt as accompanist, will assist with the program.

Bobby Breen's Newest Film At The Lyric

Another Child Star, Irene Dare, In 'Breaking The Ice'

Boasting a story human in theme, enhanced by homely humor, with scenes laid in contrasting backgrounds of a rustic section of Pennsylvania and the entertainment world of Chicago, and with an elaborate and beautiful sequence of an ice-skating carnival as its show-piece, Bobby Breen's latest picture is offered locally this weekend.

The picture, a Movie Quiz Contest eligibility, is "Breaking the Ice," and it is the Lyric's feature for Sunday and Monday.

In the cast are Irene Dare, a child newcomer to films who has dazzled critics and the public alike with her skating ability; Charlie Ruggles and Dolores Costello. Little Irene is called the world's youngest ice figure-skater, and displays her talents in "Breaking the Ice" with an amazing series of somersaults, spins and whirls calculated to make Sonja Henie look to her laurels.

Bobby himself is said to have developed an actor in this, his fourth picture. He is presented in "Breaking the Ice" as a more dominant character, as a happy-go-lucky youth who fights adversity with a song on his lips and dynamite in his fists. Bobby is given five songs to sing in the new production.

"Breaking the Ice" is said to be the most pretentious of the Breen pictures, a more costly film, with better music, more elaborate sets.

Other players in the cast are Robert Barrat, Dorothy Peterson, Charlie Murray and Billy Gilbert.

LEADS CHORUS

Prof. Wallace R. Clark, above, head of the department of music at West Texas State Teachers college of Canyon, will bring his men's chorus to Big Spring on December 8 for a concert in the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. A varied program of wide appeal will be given by the collegians, Professor Clark promises.

Real Estate Week Proclaimed For December 12-18

Annual Real Estate Week in Texas has been proclaimed officially by Gov. James V. Allred for the period from December 12 to 18. The event follows the annual convention at Harlingen of the Texas Real Estate association, and realtors over Texas are planning special observance.

The governor's proclamation follows: "In full realization of the important role property ownership plays in the economic pattern of our state and nation, a specific interval has been designated for the statewide observance of the annual convention of real estate men.

"Our forefathers risked their lives and their fortunes pushing westward in search of land which they might claim as their homes. Americans have always been home-loving people, and the ownership of land makes for greater individual happiness and a more strongly woven unity among us. It is fitting that special recognition be given this significant phase of present-day life.

"Now, therefore, I, James V. Allred, governor of the State of Texas, do hereby set aside and proclaim the week of December 12 to 18, 1938, as Real Estate Week in Texas, and commend to the chambers of commerce and other civic organizations, as well as the individual realtors, the advertising of the benefits of real estate ownership in Texas, and the opportunities and new enterprise."

pillow cases, luncheon sets, lounging robes, blankets, etc. This work is done by an experienced operator using the latest type monogramming machine. This service will be offered from Dec. 5 through Dec. 10.

NATIONS REMINDED OF DEBTS TO U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Thirteen powers received reminders today that they now owe the United States government $2,051,707,241 on debts left over from the last war.

The amount due December 15 increases by $160,217,334 the previous due sum of $1,891,489,906 and thus shoves the total unpaid above the $2,000,000,000 mark.

The $2,051,707,241 now owing this country on war debts is not by any means the total of all loans made by the United States. That sum is merely the amount that has fallen due when the semi-annual installment paying days came around and went unpaid.

The total of all indebtedness originally was $10,550,000,000. Interest has now brought this sum close to $13,000,000,000 despite some payments on principal.

KBST Joins In Radio 'Search For Talent'
Local Auditions Scheduled For December 20
A statewide "Search for Talent" will be inaugurated Monday when KBST, in cooperation with the other 22 stations comprising the Texas State Network, will offer local talent the opportunity to present itself to a statewide audience. The occasion is the Texas State Network "Search for Talent," a contest that is open to every talented performer from the Red River to the Gulf of Mexico.
Open to both professional and amateur performers, TSN will not only offer the winning contestants in each community the opportunity of broadcasting over the statewide radio chain, but also offer five valuable prizes to the five entrants adjudged best in their own particular line. The state winner will be awarded a trip to the New York World's Fair, runner-up will receive a trip to the San Francisco World's Fair, and three other prizes of $100, $75 and $50 will be awarded in that order.
Each station on the Texas State Network will conduct local auditions, and select as many as are considered of "radio material," the selected few to appear on a local radio audition broadcast on Dec. 20. Local auditions will be judged by from three to five judges selected from Big Spring music clubs and civic organizations. The winners of the local auditions will be sent, with all expenses paid, to the "final auditions" in Fort Worth, to be held Jan. 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6. The auditions in Fort Worth, to be broadcast over the entire network, will be judged by a nationally known radio talent authority selected and sent to Fort Worth by Variety magazine.
Anyone in Big Spring and surrounding territory who is interested in entering this statewide contest must send their entry in to KBST not later than next Saturday. Auditions will be held nightly at KBST's studios this week, starting at 8 o'clock. All participants are urged to be at the studios promptly at 8 o'clock each night for their audition.

A Texas Student Has Something To Say About That Gl-o-rious Victory Over The Aggie Team

By NANCY PHILIPS

AUSTIN, Dec. 3—Turkey and cranberry sauce day has come and gone and there are but 20 more days, 480 hours and 28,800 minutes until Christmas. Thanksgiving Day has always been a red letter date in the history of Texas industry because it is then that we play our bitter rivals, Texas A. & M. When both schools were young, way back in 1900, this annual game invariably resulted in mass slaughter, and it was hard to find officials who would take their life in their hands and referee the massacre.

When the final whistle blew the crowd rushed on the field and the inspired Longhorns were playing offensive instead of defensive football, for a change. I scarcely sat down during the entire game and when we made the touchdown in the final quarter I grabbed some perfect stranger and gave him a bear hug before I realized it. I must say he responded admirably but I don't think he ever fully recovered as he sat through the rest of the game with an agonizing grin on his face.

When the final whistle blew the crowd rushed on the field and the inspired Longhorns were playing offensive instead of defensive football, for a change.

It was presumed that after four years' recuperation it would be safe to renew the "friendly" rivalry. So in 1915 the football battle continued where it left off, but before each game certain precautions were taken to be sure there would be no loose bricks or clubs within easy reach. The teams fought annually with only minor casualties. It became a tradition that each team won on its own field and, in spite of the fight each team put up the tradition was never broken.

Days before the game the campus was buried beneath "Beat A. & M." signs. Newspaper, magazines and circulars bore the slogan in screaming headlines. A mammoth pep rally was held beneath the shocked face of the tower clock, followed by a bonfire and a snake dance that night.

From the first it was clear to see that the worm had turned and proudly carried the happy team off the field on their sleds. It was truly a day for Thanksgiving and goes to prove you can't beat a jinx.

It's a good idea to mention casually sizes, too, because there is nothing like getting gifts that fit instead of giving you fits. If everybody would follow this policy, it would eliminate a lot of this before and after holiday conversation. Before Christmas, you are so jittery and jumpy that when you go dash out to make a last-minute purchase, you always buy something to fit the clerk. Then after Christmas, the gift is exchanged, the receiver finds out the value of the purchase and nobody's happy.

And this bit of advice might be passed out right now in regard to price tags and marks this season. For your snooziest friends, please be considerate enough of their time and peace of mind to leave the price snatched on the gift because after all they got a lot of things that didn't fit either and they don't have time to investigate. If they do go into the matter thoroughly, they neglect other duties and if they don't, their curiosity will not let them have any peace. So considering all angles, it is much better to leave the tag intact for such friends.

Another tip on hinting—Be subtle but be sure the person understands exactly what you have in mind. For instance if you say you would like to have something to keep you warm this winter, the husband is as likely to bring home a foot warmer as he is a fur wrap. Any who want a foot warmer? But after all you really have nothing to say because you did generalize.

There are a lot of other do's and don'ts about this Christmas hinting but at the moment I can't recall any others except don't hint when the word around you know it will do no good because after all the idea is to get results.

Malone & Hogan Clinic-Hospital Open To Visitors Today

PRESENTING THE CLINIC-HOSPITAL STAFF

On duty at the Malone & Hogan Clinic-Hospital are the nurse and office staff pictured above. They are, left to right, front row: Mrs. J. Steward, office assistant, Mrs. Florence McNew, bookkeeper and secretary, Mary Bashara, nurse; top row: Mildred Fojtik, nurse, Cloda Slagle, superintendent of nurses, Mrs. Maurine Word, laboratory technician, and Stella Bates, nurse. Lillian Schubert, other member of the staff of nurses, does not appear in the picture.

Extensive Remodeling Completed

Institution Now Operating Under New Partnership

Open house will be observed Sunday at the Malone & Hogan Clinic-Hospital between the hours of 3 p. m. and 7 p. m. in recognition of the creation of a medical partnership and transfer of a hospital to new management.

The hospital, remodeled extensively since it was acquired by Dr. P. W. Malone and Dr. J. E. Hogan a month ago from Dr. C. K. Bivings, will be open to public inspection for the brief period. The clinic-hospital is located at 811 Main street and was formerly known as the Bivings hospital.

Already approved by the American College of Surgeons for this year, the clinic-hospital will be in a position to maintain this rating, a communication from the organization advised the doctors acquiring it.

Space Rearranged

Altered to permit regrouping of office and room space for clinical purposes, the building will be presented as a modern, well-arranged unit. The lower floor will be given over to the clinic and offices while the upper floor will remain devoted to hospitalization and surgery.

In charge of the clinic-hospital are the two men who comprise the city's newest medical partnership, Drs. Malone and Hogan. Dr. Malone came to Big Spring in July of 1930. He is a graduate of the University of Tennessee. The southeast portion of the lower floor is given over to his offices and clinic requirements for eye, ear, nose and throat treatments. For seven years Dr. Malone has specialized in this field, having been certified by the American Board of Otolaryngology in September of 1935 and as a fellow in the American Academy of Ophthalmology in 1936.

Fine Equipment

One room contains equipment for treatment and correction of optical diseases and deficiencies, and for fitting of glasses. One of the most complete arrays of technical equipment in this region is arranged in this space. An adjoining room contains nose and throat equipment, and another is a darkroom and supply storage for the eye and nose room requirements. Nearby is a minor operating and general treatment room.

Completing the east side of the first floor is the clinic-hospital laboratory, equipped for any type of test needed in a modern hospital, and containing also one of the latest models of high-powered shock proof X-ray machines.

Dr. Hogan is to use the west side of the building for his office and treatment room. Dr. Hogan, who received his degree in medicine from the University of Texas School of Medicine in 1934, came to Big Spring in 1937 to be associated with Dr. Charles K. Bivings in the practice of surgery, medicine and obstetrics. Prior to coming here, Dr. Hogan spent two and a half years in the Southern Pacific and the Jefferson Davis hospitals in Houston in special training in surgery, medicine and obstetrics.

Physiotherapy Room

In the physiotherapy room, equipment is contained for basal metabolism, infrared, ultra-violet, short wave, and diathermy. Adjoining is private quarters for the superintendent of nurses and laboratory technician. Offices for the clinic-hospital are adjacent, and are divided from the waiting room by a counter-type desk.

In the upper floor, the operating room is maintained, equipped for any type of general, bone and joint surgery. It also has available instruments for use in delicate eye, ear, nose and throat surgery, including eye magnet and instruments for removing foreign bodies from air and food passages. Other rooms in the second floor are given over to hospitalization and to a maternity ward where bassinets are kept in special quarters for six babies.

In the basement are the hospital kitchen, nurses' dining room, special rooms, boiler room, and storage quarters.

GRASS FIRES CAUSE MUCH CONCERN IN STERLING AREA

STERLING CITY, Dec. 3—Grass fires supposedly starting from lighted cigarettes flung from passing automobiles are proving a source of growing concern to ranchmen in this section whose lands are traversed by highways.

Twelve or fifteen burned-over strips can be seen between San Angelo on the east and Big Spring to the west.

The most serious of the recent fires occurred this week on the John C. Reed ranch west of here where approximately 100 acres was burned over before the flames were subdued with wet sacks and two fire-trucks. Chance discovery of the fire in its early stages prevented considerable damage because the grass is dry and tall enough in this country at this season to sweep out of control in very short time. Ranchmen are requesting motorists to extinguish cigarettes before tossing them out.

DUES SQUABBLE MAY HOLD UP TEXTILE UNIONIZATION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Litigation over the proper disposition of union dues, informed labor leaders said today, may give the CIO a setback in its attempt to organize the textile industry.

One officer of the United Textile Workers (CIO) predicted local unions in many states would seek to recover dues paid to the CIO's textile workers organizing committee. This, he said, would be an outgrowth of a decision by the Rhode Island superior court that dues collected by the two belonged to UTW locals.

TREASURY DEFICIT GROWING LARGER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Government spending, plus a recession-caused drop in revenue, has brought the treasury deficit to more than $31,400,000,000 in five months.

Department figures as of Wednesday, showed today that since this fiscal year began expenditures exceeded income by almost as much as they did in the entire fiscal year which ended last June 30. The deficit figures were $1,436,136,705 so far this year and $1,449,625,881 for the whole of last.

Treasury officials, noting that emergency spending designed to stimulate business and smaller income resulting from slower business contributed to the shortage, found an encouraging note in the fact November receipts were about $54,000,000 above those of the same month last year. It was the first month this fiscal year to show a favorable income comparison.

Mr. Bolker of Wichita Falls, an architect, returned to his home this weekend after spending several days here.

BILL HAS A BUSY TIME

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—More things have happened to nine-year-old William Dillingham III since September than happen to the average American in a lifetime of actuality, dreams and nightmares.

Accompanied by his father—an amateur explorer—and two friends, this freckle-faced, red-headed boy has gone through the following:
A boat trip to Ecuador.
A climb up 15,000-foot Mount Pinchica.

Being shot at by Indians.
A 1,950-mile airplane trip home unaccompanied by parents, relatives or friends.
And how did William feel about it?
"My name is Bill," he said with marked sophistication, "and it was all right."

ARMY IS IN NEED OF MORE KETTLES

Do you have a kettle you'll lend the Salvation Army?
Major L. W. Canning, Army chief here, said Saturday his organization needed a few more vessels to put on the streets for the customary collection of Christmas contributions. The old-fashioned iron pots are hard to find, and he thought perhaps some Big Spring household would have one that could be used.
The kettle will be returned promptly after Christmas. Anyone who can help the Army on this request is asked to notify Major Canning.

READING AND WRITING

Some suggested biographies for minds more than 14 years old—
The autobiography of Isaac Jones Wistar is the life chronicle of a red man, a genuine pioneer, a person of convictions and a force in American history. Wistar believed in states' rights, but his privately raised regiment may have saved the Union at Gettysburg and in the Seven Days' Battle. Handy with his fists and his pistol, he still was able to understand pure science and generous enough to endow the Wistar Institute of Philadelphia. (Harpers; $4).
There are few railroad executives with the brilliance and the shrewdness of Daniel Willard, any rail-roader will tell you. Perhaps one reason for the latter characteristic is that Willard rose to the presidency of the Baltimore & Ohio from the lowest rung, perhaps not. (Putnam; $3.50).
A horse of another color is "Ground Under Our Feet." This is the autobiography of Richard T. Ely, whose unorthodox, practical approach to the science of economics has done much to influence the thought of the last half century. Direct, terse, and sincere it is. (Macmillan; $3).
"The Captains and the Kings Depart" is a two-volume edition of the letters and private papers of Reginald, Viscount Escher, a Britisher who really preferred to be the power behind the (veritable) throne, declining many honors in the 50 years before 1930 to remain so. For the man genuinely interested in British life and history. (Scribner; $7.50).
"He had a chest like a sherry cask," writes Charles Poore in his "Goya," perhaps the best balanced of all books in English on the subject. "The ravages of time and injudicious pleasures spared him longer than they usually spare far more prudent men. Illness hounded him at intervals. Yet he was powerful enough to survive more than eight decades of uncommonly strenuous life, agile enough to have been an amateur bullfighter, hardy enough to cross the Pyrenees alone on a mule at 80 and lusty enough to make plausible the tale of many wenching escapades and the 30 legitimate children."
Decidedly you had better read the rest of Mr. Poore's striking study of a great man in art. (Scribner; $3.50).

British Intelligence Falls
LONDON (UP)—The average intelligence of Britons is declining rapidly, Dr. E. A. Fraser Roberts, chief investigator of the Bureau Mental Research Trust, who has completed an analysis of the intelligence of 8,400 British children, reports.

This County In Area Serviced By Angelo Office Of Security Board

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 3—Additions made this week to the territory serviced by the San Angelo office of the Social Security Board bring the total number of counties in this area to 33, it was announced by W. O. King, manager of the office.

The new territory consists of the counties of Fisher, Scurry, Borden, Dawson, Gaines, Andrews, Martin, Howard, Glasscock, Midland, Ector, Crane, Upton, Reagan, and Crockett.

"It is believed that the incorporation of these counties in the San Angelo area will result in a well-defined, unified territory in which the Social Security Board's relations with the thousands of persons affected by the old-age insurance provisions of the Social Security Act will be facilitated," King said. "All applications for account numbers and claims for lump-sum benefits originating in the 15 counties transferred to the San Angelo area should in the future be directed to Social Security Board, 412 Rust Building, San Angelo, Texas."

The San Angelo office has handled a steadily increasing volume of requests concerning the entire program of old-age insurance. Since its opening on Aug. 16, 1937, 2,710 account numbers have been issued to persons requiring them in connection with employment covered by the Social Security Act. Payment of the benefits which become due under Title II of the Act is a major part of the work of the social security board office. Under these provisions, a benefit is payable to qualified workers who attain the age of 65, or to their heirs in the event of death. During 1938, there have been 187 cases in which a lump-sum benefit has been paid. Of this number, 56 were paid to individuals who had attained the age of 65, and 131 to relatives of deceased workers.

CHRISTMAS BUYING AND HOME BUYING

The Christmas season is the buying season, and it isn't amiss to re-assert a truth that is important to our economic welfare.

It is not selfishness to be censured, that selfishness about your home community, in wanting it to benefit from all business possible.

So from 1932 to the spring of 1936 France was condemned to the grinding misery of deflation.

The person living here interested in the growth of Big Spring will think carefully over those items of "value" which sometimes appear tempting at a distance.

Stores here have stocked Christmas goods in volume and variety surpassing all previous years.

TOURIST MONEY IN OUR STATE

Figures on tourist expenditures were released not long ago by the National Park service and this report showed to the surprise of many in our own state.

The leaders, in respect to tourist expenditures in 1937 were, in order of amount: New York, with $86,500,000; California, with $416,800,000; and Pennsylvania, with $27,850,000.

This is gratifying news, especially since the Lone Star state is just beginning on its career as a tourist attraction.

Not a great deal has been done as yet in an organized way to advertise outside the state the places and things we have in Texas.

One of the ways to carry on such advertising is through a cooperative program along the highways.

One hundred and eighty-five million dollars is a lot of money to collect in one year from the tourist crop, but it is small compared to what will be collected when Texas really gets into the cultivation of this crop in earnest.

Today And Tomorrow

By Walter Lippmann

(Mr. Lippmann's column is published as an informational and news feature. His views are personal and are not to be construed as necessarily reflecting the editorial opinion of The Herald.—Editor's Note.)

THE FRENCH CRISIS

Though one can easily be mistaken in discussing the French crisis at this distance, this much is at least plain enough.

LIPPMANN

To understand how this has come about we must go back several years, at least as far back as the critical period of the great depression, which lasted from the summer of 1931 to the late winter of 1933.

But after Great Britain left the gold standard, and carried with her the whole sterling bloc, and the United States as well, the French position was radically altered.

So from 1932 to the spring of 1936 France was condemned to the grinding misery of deflation.

The economic crisis grew worse. Before 1936 there had been a flight of capital from French industry because of the deflation which made investment unprofitable.

The problem can be solved only by inducing French capital, which is a refugee abroad, to return to France and by inducing French labor to work longer hours.

Therefore, when it attempts to do what it is intrinsically necessary, though very difficult to do, it encounters great resistance.

A voluntary acceptance of the necessary economic reforms could be obtained only by a government which seemed to all Frenchmen the exponent of their highest national interests.

For that reason it would seem that, even if M. Daladier has defeated the general strike, France must pass through a political reconstruction before it can take hold of its economic crisis.

This program has been put into effect by decree and without ratification by parliament.

HOLLYWOOD—They've about given up trying to "glamorize" Pauline Moore. And if they'd ask me, which they won't, I'd say "Fine!"

This Pauline Moore, of course, is a hopeless case. She's sweet and pretty and she looks a little like Norma Shearer.

But what does she do? She talks about her baby. Eleven months old, and then she gets around, casually, to mentioning the baby's sister.

And what does she do between pictures, as now? "Well, it isn't very interesting—but I'm making over clothes, letting out hems..."

So I say again, it's fine. It's not, as we say, very good copy. It's too normal, too up-and-up, to be in the least sensational.

For the man with the charcoal smudge is one of the unforgettable vignettes of metropolitan life.

There used to be a lot of him but his number now is sadly diminished. Where he hides in summer no one knows.

I think that when he finally disappears something will have passed from the American scene that all the ingenuity of the novelists and the movies can never replace.

There is a conspiracy. The radio, the mail-order clothes, the automobile took the coonskin cap of the mountaineer.

The merchant is against him, too. In cooperation with the city, there is an ordinance against him now, forbidding him to approach within 100 feet of a store.

November to March is his season. He obtains his chestnuts from the freighters off East River docks.

But it seems to me that the smell of his blazing charcoal burner and his cry of "Cheestnuts, sir," will always be remembered.

Chapter 27 CRUSHED BY A STONE

"Do you suppose I care what you do with your second-hand typewriter?" I stormed. "But you didn't need to keep writing to me on it."

"Well, here's your second-hand ring! See who you can get to take that off your hands!"

"That," he said furiously, "is about the lowest thing I ever knew a woman to do."

"That's the man—so did I. I've been cursing my feeble wit. Wonder what else I've overlooked?"

"I rose and retreated from him until I could feel the solid, reassuring wall at my back.

"Get into Nelson's rooms," Adam called, "and stay with him until you're relieved."

"I stepped to his side, sank down on the stairs and scrutinized it. Why, it's been whitewashed.

"Yes, unquestionably. They're around all the buildings. But that wasn't what I meant. It's been white—but it's mottled now. What do you make of that?"

"Just after Taps, sir. I was in front of the Post Exchange at Taps, proceeding in the direction of the Service Club."

"The car came on toward you." "Yes sir, and I took proper note of it as it passed. I was almost sure, you see, sir, by the driving, sure enough, it was Miss Wright's car."

"How long was that after you saw Lieutenant Nelson and Miss Carew enter the club?" "Not more than five minutes."

"There was Adam's theory, too, that the shot had not found its mark—that it had been intended for Barney..."

St. Nick's Ingenuity Is Revealed In Many Novel Gifts On Display In Local Stores

By JEANE SUITS
Everybody has been in a continual state of surprise and amazement this year. First, it was the lady's new up-swept coiffure and then it was her velled and unveiled, perky and not-so-perky hats to match the first creation and now it's Christmas gifts—even old Santa Claus caught the spirit of not-so-ordinary and comes out with some of the most unusual ideas for Christmas socks and holiday trees ever brought from the North Pole.

A trip to Big Spring stores this past week revealed St. Nick's ingenuity in keeping up with the best of them in thinking up something new and different to please the Yuletide giver and receiver. Gifts suggestive of the popular song, "A Tisket, A Tasket," on down to things and styles of the Victorian age are to be found in the local department stores, drug stores and jewelry shops.

The clutter of Thanksgiving entertaining has been cleared away by housewives, merchants spent the past week decorating and unpacking for the merriest of seasons and now everybody is ready to begin Christmas shopping.

As a time saver for the rushed holiday buyer, many attractive gifts are packed and ready to go in convenient boxes with handles; and every store is to maintain a wrapping department as has been the custom for several years. You really have nothing to worry about this time—merely drop into any of the stores, make a selection and forget about it—Then on Christmas eve or morning—up pops your gift, perfectly wrapped and tied.

The old-time red and green rope and Christmas bells seem to have been definitely left in the family trunk and have been replaced with blue and silver or red and silver combinations. The Christmas spirit is stimulated by the twinkling display windows filled with many useful and lovely gifts for the entire family.

So many amusing and unique ideas were seen on a recent tour of the town that you must be told about a few of them just in case you haven't made the rounds. There is no use getting an advance peek at anything without being able to pass it on to the next fellow, so here goes—

In a gift department of one of the stores was seen a wooden buffet tray equipped with relish dishes, pickle compartments, cheese division and salt and pepper containers—this could be had in red and white or natural wood and green combinations. And for those who love that ritzy feeling before getting up—a good morning tray is recommended. It is really a honey, all in white with the various compartments for breakfast dishes and in the foreground is a little stand sort like a music holder or on which the morning paper is to rest while you read and eat.

Something new in glassware is that which is ornamented with 24-karat gold plate. It comes in ash trays, relish dishes, candy bowls and vases. Crystal, cocktail shakers, footed trays and a 27-inch rock crystal platter was noted on a dash by the gift counter.

And Luggage

Luggage of all kinds—from airplane to rawhide—big, little and middle size to suit man or woman. Ladies' and men's pajamas in styles never dreamed of before that look equally as well in the living room as the bedroom. Belts and buckles packed in desk blotters and cigarette boxes and self-supporting socks for men that any self-supporting woman can afford to buy. It's amazing the new twists that have been put on some of the old ideas. Now, take the traditional sock gift for men—you would hardly recognize it. The tops are equipped with latex and fit up high on the leg, thus eliminating the old-time supporter and making one less thing to look for in the morning when you get up.

House coats for women from taffeta to velvet—plain, pressed and printed—fitted cases with cosmetic containers and those already filled with creams and powders—costume jewelry—bed jackets—lamps for the bed, writing desk, tables and just lamps for anything or anywhere and perfumes in the cleverest bottles you ever saw since you broke grandmother's prize bottle of cologne.

It's going to be a great Christmas this year and if you don't find what you want in your stocking it won't be because it was not available but because you didn't hint in time. This is open season on hinting—begin now and avoid disappointment later.

Some Sports Supplies Or Athletic Goods Would Please The 'Old Man'

The "old man"—whether he be husband, brother, uncle, father or grandfather—probably enjoys being told he still looks as chipper as he did in the ago so why not surprise him Santa Claus day with athletic goods which he can test too much effort or one that can give him the recreation he really needs.

The store windows this winter are chock full of appropriate gifts that he will get a kick out of.

Of course, the master may be a bit old to be kicking a football around with the neighborhood kids. If he is then get him something that will get him out in the open where he can silently go to work both on brain and body. For instance there's a punching bag and all the trimmings. Remember his stories of how he used to be right handy with his fists. This process of upper body development is really wholesome once the fellow gets the knack of hitting the leather and bouncing out of distance before the things starts the rebound.

A Builder Upper

Maybe he'd like a complete gym outfit to set up in some spare corner. You know, pulley machines, rowing machine, spring exercises, dumb bells, Indian clubs, hand balls, medicine balls, springs and rings and what not.

If he feels like he's in fair enough shape to escape this build-up then there's always competitive sport that should attract him. He may have been a tennis player some- where in the dim past. One is never too old to frolic around on the striped courts, batting the little white ball around. It's a world wide popular game—this tennis—increasing in allure every year. Easy to learn and easy to play, the sport is not too strenuous for any age. If he possesses a racquet then he may need a net, back stops or even new strings for the frame.

If he prefers golf there's even a wider field from which to choose. He may need a club, a new stock of balls, knickers or other wearing apparel or even a new bag.

Or maybe he's a bowler, a very popular sport with young and old. There are special shoes on the market for the knicker. A participant may even prefer a specially built ball.

For the Outdoor Man

Then there are those apartments with the Daniel Boone instinct who get no thrill from human competition, instead like nothing better than to match their wits against the four-footed creature, thrill at packing their "hardware" through the wilderness on the trail of our wildlife. He would appreciate anything to better his chances against the wily animals. Maybe he's getting tired of borrowing the neighbor's artillery, would like a gun, one that could proudly be hung over the mantle piece in case he never uses it. The different kinds of guns are many. In this country where deer and bear should please him. If he possesses one of those then maybe he would like a smaller bore to swing into use against fowls or rabbits.

If you feel he has more death dealing material than he can take care of, then he may need a mackinaw, boots, boot pants or even a tent and other essentials that go to form a wilderness "home."

And the Fisherman

The fisherman is a different guy altogether. He's sometimes called lazy because he refuses to go off tramping through the woods, instead plays a waiting game for his kill but he needs just as much equipment and if you think he won't be delighted for remembrance just let Santa leave a nice, new fishing rod or reel in his stocking Christmas morning. Or maybe, again, fishing tackle or nets or seines or even boats. Spawning of boats, a little tub with an outdoor motor would certainly be appreciated.

Yes ma'am, the old fellow may

Santa Himself Might Be Envious Of Doll Factory A Woman Built

Madame Lenci poses with two dolls manufactured in the plant that grew to big business proportions from a hobby.

TURIN, Italy (UP)—Out of a war mother's loneliness has grown one of the world's foremost doll factories.

Santa Claus himself would be proud of a plant like Madame Lenci's here.

Her name, by the way, is really not Lenci at all, although her dolls are known that way on six continents. She is Signora Elena Konig di Scavini, the latter being her husband's name. "Lenci" was just a pet name for the girl, Elena Konig. Folks called her first dolls "Lenci" and the name stuck.

A born artist, she developed a passion for dolls and designing beautiful clothes for them. Trips into Austria and Germany inspired her to try for more varied costumes.

All this was for fun until her husband, an Italian aviator, went to war. While he was gone, her then only child died. Grieving and lonely, she turned to the making of dolls, partly to keep busy, partly to support herself.

Business Picked Up

Soon she needed outside help, mostly women and girls who worked for her in their own homes. Today her picturesque factory employs 360 workers and she maintains a sales exposition in the heart of Turin which is a first rate tourist attraction.

Orders now come to her for dolls from the world's great. Queen Elena of Italy buys them for gifts for the royal family. A doll was made to order last year for the queen of England. Crown Prince Umberto has bought enough of her creations to open a small museum if he so desired.

One of Madame Lenci's most famous orders was from Il Duce for four figures to be used as gifts to Japan. They were dressed in costumes distinctive of Rome, Sardinia, Lombardy and Piedmont. Mussolini had others made for his grandchildren.

Madame Lenci makes two kinds of dolls, one in ceramics and the other in cloth. The latter, when painted in flesh tones and provided with real hair, have an extremely natural appearance.

A collection of historical and geographic costume designs worthy of a Hollywood property director provide ideas for her famous costumes. She uses the finest materials available—genuine silks, satins, velvets and laces. The dolls Il Duce sent to Japan wore real jewels and cost $100 each.

Asked if any trade secret explained her success, Madame Lenci said: "Just one—you must always use supremely good taste."

NOVELTIES, AS WELL AS THE STAND-BY GIFTS, AVAILABLE AT LOCAL MEN'S STORES

Here's a tip that may answer your men's gift question with a question—'Why not go to a men's store for a man's gift?' Men's stores in Big Spring do not have a monopoly on appropriate and unusual gifts for men, but they have such a complete assortment that likely you will not want to look further to find just what you wish to give.

Besides having such a variety of gift suggestions, the local men's stores this year have these gifts at the best line of articles suitable for Christmas presents that they have ever stocked. Of course, one of the first things that pops into your mind is to get something new, something different. Then take a look at the novelty departments. Nothing could be more novel than the cigarette sets, replete with cigarette containers and lighters. One of these tricky sets is so arranged that when the drawer knob is pulled, not a tray of cigarettes, but two emerge to offer smokes. The lighters are a bit different, too. For when a metal stick is pulled from the lighter, a flame is on the end. The flame is snuffed when the piece is replaced. These lighters come in various models from modernistic stands to airplanes and range in price from $1 to $10.

Another trick as neat as a bug is a 'kno-niv' (no-knife) made by a quality manufacturer. This article is about the size of a silver

Pipe racks, always good, are better than ever this season. There are a legion of choices in walnut models offering security for as many as 10 favorite briars. Some of these types contain center jars for tobacco humidors. A tripod model in metal is ideal for three pipes, while nothing could be fancier than the 'mystery pipe lamp.' This item is first of all a metal table lamp. The three pipe holders lean against the lamp standard. By turning the pipe holders to either side, the light is turned on or off.

While on the subject of smoking, you might be interested in ash trays since it's hard to have too many of them around to keep friend husband from flipping ashes on the family carpet. This year you will find them in scotly, monk, and a multiplicity of motifs.

For something smaller and per-dollar, about as thick, and is conservatively decorated with chain attached so that it may be used as a watch fob. By applying pressure at the right point, a semi-circular knife blade emerges on one side and a nail file on the other.

Belts are desirable as presents because they are highly practical and always in demand. Something fine is the saddle stitched belt with 10 karat buckle and inner lined with suede leather. The knockout in belts, however, is the 'ostrich' number. Unbelievably light, this item consists of an outer covering of ostrich skin, lined with choice cowhide. The buckle is leather covered and the whole thing is perfectly tooled.

Brushes, because the average man doesn't have one let alone enough, are fitting gifts. One that will take your eye is an interlocking set that fits snugly into a small leather container with zipper attachment. Beneath the brush compartment is a space for razor, tooth paste, brush, and other toiletries. Then there is the clothes brush which, when the zipper is pulled around the top, turns out to contain needed articles for a man's toilet. Similar models with sliding tops cost as low as $1. Kippy-kits give a man a soft whisk broom and shoe shine outfit in one neat set. Brush set stands in designs from the Puppy arrangement to whatever you want are useable and novel.

These ingenious 'overnight' bags for women have a counterpane this season in the utility bags for men. Though thin, they can be made to hold a world of needed things, yet are striking in finish and colors of British tan, alligator, walrus and moose grain. They are the answer to a man's prayers. Odds and ends include poker sets with 300 to 500 chips, tie racks of sundry twists and turns, bill folds, cigar humidors, etc. The Clothes Line

Clothing developments are flannel pajamas, rescued from the drabness of decades and restored to vivacious cheeks and stripes. They are sensations for comfort as well as color. One of the finest gifts is a cocktail jacket, available in many colors with jacquered designs and featuring the maroon mandarin and black satin choice slippers. Lounge suits (they are in stock to fit men up to 300 pounds) are ideal and striking. Done in satin and moire stripe, they are styled for shawl color and wrap-around. A fine red crepe and rich green suit are at premiums as gifts. Silk pajamas—the real thing at prices you can handle—are available in stripes or solids, either lounge or sleeping styles. Leather goods feature a coat designed with shirt sleeves, blouse back and coat collar and iridescent lining. Although commanding a substantial price, they are genuine values. Gloves, handsome and sturdy, are good gifts. Of course there are socks and ties, coats, etc. in the men's stores—the place to get a man's gift.

Holiday Sweets That Are Tempting And Easy To Make

As the Christmas holidays draw near the wise eyes of children take stock of every package that comes into the house, wondering if it might fit into a Christmas stocking. And how children (and grown people, too) flock to the kitchen when the fragrance of Christmas candies and cookies is wafted through the air! It's well-nigh impossible to plan any surprises at this season of the year. But, here's a delicious, mouth-melting candy that can be made days before Christmas with no tell-tale, tempting odors to give you away, because it's a refrigerator candy.

Chocolate Cornflake Crisps (Makes 2 Dozen) 1 7-ounce chocolate bar. 1 2 square bitter chocolate. 1 4 teaspoon vanilla. 4 cups cornflakes. Melt the chocolate in a double boiler. Add the vanilla. Crumble the cornflakes coarsely and stir them into the melted chocolate. Toss together lightly until the cornflakes are well coated. Drop from a teaspoon onto waxed paper and place in your refrigerator until crisp. This candy is a real favorite. Its crunchy texture and combination of flavors win acclaim from everyone. Another sweet that needs no cooking is a delicious fruit ball which is not only good to eat, but healthful and wholesome, as well.

Fruit Balls (Makes 3 Dozen) 1 pound dates. 1 15-ounce package raisins. 1 6-ounce package of figs. 1 pound prunes (pitted). 1 cup nut meats (cut fine). Put the fruit and nuts through the food chopper. Blend well, and if the mixture seems a little dry add orange juice or honey to moisten. Form into small balls about the size of a marble, dip into melted chocolate and chill thoroughly in the refrigerator. For variety, you can roll the balls in moist coconut, in finely chopped nuts, or in powdered or confectioner's sugar instead of dipping in chocolate. These Christmas candies can be kept indefinitely in your refrigerator. If you like to have candy on the Christmas tree either of these confections may be wrapped in brightly colored cellophane and tied with tinsel ribbon to the branches of the tree. Mrs. J. T. Allen is to leave Sunday evening for a business trip to Tyler.

Here's A New Kind Of Christmas Fruit Cake

Christmas isn't complete without a fruit cake to lend added interest to a festive occasion! Here's a fruit cake that's simple enough to fit into a busy homemaker's schedule, and easy enough to be made successfully even by an inexperienced cook. If you've neglected baking your time-honored fruit cake until it's too late, try this one which requires no time at all for aging. REFRIGERATOR FRUIT CAKE (Serves 8-10) 2 2 3 cups graham cracker crumbs (rolled fine). 1 2 pound marshmallows (cut fine). 1 1 2 cups dates (cut fine). 1 2 cup nut meats (cut fine). 2 3 cup thin cream. 1 4 cup red and green maraschino cherries (cut fine). Combine the ingredients and mix well. Press the mixture firmly into a tube cake pan, lined with waxed paper, which has been well buttered or oiled. Chill the cake thoroughly. If you have a modern refrigerator, this fruit cake can be stored in it indefinitely. In the new type refrigerators, properly moist, clean-washed circulating air keeps foods from rapidly drying out and guards against exchange of flavors, while plenty of storage space makes it practical to keep on hand a variety of delicious dishes all ready to serve for an emergency meal. And it's a grand and glorious feeling to have on hand a dessert which lifts a dinner out of the ordinary, and can make even an everyday meal take on a festive air! When you are ready to serve your fruit cake, slice it thinly and garnish with a spoonful of whipped cream. For very special occasions, sprinkle a few tiny colored candies (the kind you use for decorating Christmas cookies) on the cream.

WINDSORS WILL BE HOSTS TO 'WORKING' FAMILY CHRISTMAS

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The London Star said today the Duke and Duchess of Windsor had arranged to entertain the family of a London workman on Christmas day at their chateau at Cap d'Antibes, on the French Riviera. The workman has accepted the invitation for himself, his wife, son and daughter, but his name is being kept secret. The idea came from the duke, who is anxious to spend the holiday in the company of one of the ordinary people of his country. "The duchess," it said, "immediately suggested the children because she wanted a children's party and Christmas tree." The newspaper described the family as "staggered" by the invitation but said it accepted immediately. Today's reported invitation appeared to represent an effort to show he still was on the side of the workman at a time when he was believed to be contemplating a brief return to England.

Uncooked Christmas Candy Delicious

Candy is as much a part of the holiday season as the Christmas tree itself. It's a clever idea to make several varieties of unusual confections, as well as some of the old favorites, to pack in gift boxes.

Here's an unusual and delicious chocolate fudge: FAVORITE REFRIGERATOR FUDGE 3 ounces unsweetened chocolate 1 egg (unbeaten) 2 tablespoons butter 1 pound confectioner's sugar 3 tablespoons evaporated milk 1 teaspoon vanilla Melt chocolate over low flame, add egg and beat together for 1 minute. Remove from flame and add butter and sugar alternately with the milk. Stir in the vanilla. Spread in buttered pan and place in refrigerator to chill. Make your Christmas candies early and store them in your refrigerator until you are ready to use them. Properly circulating air in the new refrigerators keeps foods from rapidly drying out, and guards against absorption of flavors.

Mary Genova (upper picture), 19, wanted to borrow a sled in New York but in order to get it she had to play marbles with the neighbor boy owner. And in his book, winter marbles is much different than spring marbles. Instead of shooting them, you swallow them. So Mary swallowed her share, and now look at the picture below. Those are the marbles in Mary's stomach, as shown by an X-ray, and she was in the hospital.

Appointment Tasks Ahead For O'Daniel

Selections Must Be Made For Multitude Of Jobs

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel will have to take time out from his governmental studies the next few weeks to make selections for a multitude of state jobs ranging from chairmanship of the highway commission to supervisors of towboat pilots.

Speculation Rife
Speculation on probable appointees already has become rife here, particularly regarding the highway commissioner, life insurance commissioner, labor commissioner, and the $6,000 a year secretary of state's job.

As usual, there is a plethora of job applicants and the Fort Worth radio entertainer, in finding places for a small percentage of them, doubtless will cause more sadness among the unchosen than gladness among the chosen. A governor does not control nearly as many jobs as ten years ago because virtually all of the important boards are overlapping, with only one-third of the membership appointed by the chief executive each two years.

The talk here is that Carr P. Collins of Dallas, one of O'Daniel's chief campaign advisers, probably has the inside track for the highway commission appointment, which will be made February 15. Others named as possibilities include Oscar Burton of Tyler, Henry Mills of Fort Arthur, R. L. Lucas of Fort Worth and Walter F. Woodul of Houston, retiring lieutenant governor.

W. A. Tarver of Corsicana, a former life insurance commissioner who now occupies a federal position at Washington, has been mentioned frequently in connection with the life commission appointment to be made February 10. Robert Lyles, Austin insurance man, also has been mentioned.

Marlin Sandlin, who as first assistant secretary of state already

County's Gin Total Is Increased

Heading down the harvest home stretch, farmers last week piled in about 1,500 bales of cotton and promised about that much more before calling it a season.

Five gins in Big Spring had 7,393 bales Saturday night, a gain of 793 bales for the week. On the revised basis of handling about 47 per cent of the county's gin total, the local figures would indicate a production thus far of 15,700 bales.

Ginners predicted that another week would virtually end the ginning except for scattered clean-ups. Thus a final production of about 17,000 bales was indicated.

During the past week the price of snaps, down to a low grade, sank to six cents on the local market and 7 to 7.50 in the loan. Needless to say, most of the stained staple went into the loan. Seed remained steady at $23 a ton.

AIRLINE MEET SET MONDAY

Big Spring will be represented Monday in a parley at San Angelo to consolidate briefs from six returns in support of a north-south air line.

J. H. Greene, chairman of the inter-city committee to compile the briefs into a master document, said Saturday that San Angelo, Big Spring, Lubbock, and San Antonio would have representatives at the meeting. Pueblo, Colo., sent its brief to Greene Saturday.

Edith Gay, chamber of commerce secretary, went to Lubbock Saturday to gain information for a final draft of the local brief so that it might dovetail into others.

The final brief, said Greene, will be profusely illustrated with photographs and will be thoroughly indexed. Although he may not be able to attend the Monday session, Greene plans to go to San Angelo Wednesday to help finish the task if there is a need.

Braniff Airlines has filed intention of filing an application for a line along the route indicated by the cities.

They feared his illness might develop into pneumonia.

Peace With Govt., Labor Industry's Aim

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—A poll of American industrial leaders shows an overwhelming majority wishes to accept a program of peace with government and labor to end unemployment and bring back prosperity.

Several of the leaders prominently connected with the National Association of Manufacturers, disclosed the fact today.

The association, biggest organization representing American industry, has its annual convention here next week, and the canvass was taken to sound out sentiment for its annual platform.

The spokesmen said there is no evidence of any widespread desire to take advantage of the recent elections results—which industry generally interprets as favorably—in a political campaign against government or labor.

The keynote of the convention, they said, will be "cooperation—to make America click."

While the convention will ask some modifications of government policy, they declared there has been no disposition "to go backward" from the "liberal social gains" of the new deal.

National progress demands, they said, co-operation of government, industry, commerce, labor and agriculture.

It was forecast that industry, as a group, would confess its past "mistakes," and would urge that other groups do likewise as a start towards better living conditions for all in the United States.

Industry as a group, they said probably will express its desire in formal terms to:

1. Reach amicable industry-labor relations with labor achieved through collective bargaining.
2. Accept social responsibilities.
3. Approve the general theory of regulation for mutual good.
4. Achieve better living conditions for all workers.
5. End unemployment.
6. Aim to be a "good citizen" of the community at large.
7. Please the consumer by raising quality and lowering costs as possible.
8. Inaugurate a general policy of "taking the public into industry's confidence."

Claims Support For Inflation Plan To Hike Cotton Price

Trading Of Lint For Silver Advanced By Senator Pittman Of Nevada

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Senator Pittman (D-Nev.) predicted today there would be a showdown in the senate next session on his proposal to give cotton farmers almost 13 cents a pound for their surplus crop by trading it for silver on the world market.

An administration supporter and chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, Pittman said his proposal would be a form of "controlled inflation."

Definite assurances have been received from some cotton state senators they would support the idea, the Nevada senator added in an interview. (Cotton now is bringing about 8 1/2 cents a pound.)

Pittman felt sure of backing from the dozen or more senators who formed the "silver bloc" several years ago and helped pass legislation giving the president power to devalue the dollar.

With support of both of these elements, the senator continued, he thought there was a good chance the senate might adopt his proposal.

As he explained the policy, 10 pounds of surplus cotton would be sold to foreign buyers for an ounce of silver, now worth about 43 cents on the world market.

The treasury, under the present law, could issue $1.29 in currency against this ounce of silver, and it would pay the cotton grower that amount for the portion of the crop sold abroad under this arrangement.

The treasury now issues currency only in the amount it has paid for the silver.

Pittman estimated his proposal would require issuance of approximately $900,000,000 in new currency. He insisted this would be on a form of "controlled inflation" because this amount would represent only a small increase over approximately $6,000,000,000 of currency now in circulation.

He thought if his cotton surplus sale idea were put into effect it would bring a revival of world trade because other countries would be forced to raise the price of silver to meet this nation's competition. That would increase the purchasing power of silver-holding countries such as India, and immediately spur all trade, he contended.

Condition Is Like That Of Old Ghetto

Forbidden Areas, Limited Living Quarters Fixed

BERLIN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Berlin officially restricted Jews today with an approach to ghetto conditions.

The capital's police chief, Count Wolf Hendrick Von Helldorf, gave the signal for inauguration of a system of banned streets, forbidden areas and restricted living quarters for German Jews which undoubtedly will be followed by other cities.

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels on Nov. 15, five days after the current anti-semitic drive started, had pledged there would be no ghetto for German Jews but newspaper headlines observed: "No ghetto but sharpest division."

A decree by the chief of all German police, Heinrich Himmler, withdrew drivers' licenses and automobile and motorcycle permits immediately from all German Jews.

His order asserted the assassination of Ernst vom Rath, secretary in the German embassy in Paris, by the young Polish Jew Herschel Grynszpan, showed Jews were "unreliable and unsuitable to keep or driving motorized vehicles."

After Monday, Jews except those of foreign nationality cannot enter government buildings in the Wilhelmstrasse without special permit, nor visit such places as the memorial to the Unknown Soldier, museums, operas, athletic grounds.

Window shopping may soon be forbidden Jews, also.

They may not attend the movies or theaters. To enter a forbidden area may mean a $50 fine or six weeks in jail.

Helldorf suggested Jews find rooms in central and northside streets, already inhabited mostly by Jews.

To Berlin residents these names cannot cheap liquor houses, criminals' hideouts, tawdry pawnshops, second-hand clothing stores and squalid tenements of Jewish immigrants from eastern Europe. They lie in the section known as the "Scheunenviertel"—a quarter of squalor and riff-raff.

MARK M'GEE IS NEW TEXAS TECH REGENT

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Mark McGee of Fort Worth today became a regent of Texas Technological college at Lubbock succeeding Clifford Jones of Spur who recently was named president of the state institution.

Governor James V. Allred revealed he had telephoned McGee in Kansas City and McGee had accepted the appointment.

McGee, an attorney, was adjudged general during part of the first term of Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson. He is a native of Brownwood and a graduate of the University of Texas and is active in bar association work and American Legion affairs.

The Tunisian development led Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax to order immediate strong representations to the Italian foreign office.

With vital English and French strategic interests in the Mediterranean involved, Lord Halifax, reliable quarters said, ordered British ambassador to Rome, the Earl of Perth, to take a "firm stand" against Italy's latest anti-French drive.

This drive threatened to wreck Chamberlain's projected visit to Rome in January.

There were some who felt the fast-changing European scene might yet shift enough to force a reconsideration of the visit.

Britain decided on the Rome representations to reinforce the request of the French ambassador in Rome, Andre Francois-Poncet, for an explanation of the Italian clamor over Tunisia.

The foreign office had been informed officially France could not tolerate interference in Tunisia or any other territory.

The Italian aim has not been stated exactly and it was not clear whether the fascists are calling for cessation of Tunisia or simply for increased Italian rights.

France meanwhile maintained a tight military and civilian grip on her North African protectorate.

Only a month ago French army leaders traveled through Tunisia inspecting defenses and civil authorities have been routing out remnants of a secret nationalist organization which it was feared Italy might use to weaken French rule.

Fortune In Stamps On Display At Meeting

Valuable Displays Gathered For Philatelists In Session Here

Stamps, hundreds of them from scores of nations, were displayed in the Settles ballroom Saturday afternoon as the Texas Philatelic association District No. 1 convention opened here.

So unusual and valuable were many of these stamps that thousands of dollars would not replace them. They were considered worth enough that a special guard was maintained over them Saturday night.

The collections, shown in more than 20 specially arranged frames by collectors over a wide area in West Texas, were to be on display until Sunday at 2 p. m. when the convention will be climaxed by its second auction sale.

The public was invited by officials of the Inter-City Philatelic Society, host chapter, to view the exhibits.

How much the collections, counting in those of the dealers who were on hand to drive bargains, were valued at was difficult to estimate. However, in the words of Frank E. English, secretary of the local society, "the amount would stagger you."

There were plenty of rarities—and that's what gives a stamp its value. Dr. John A. Roberson, a leading collector of this section, had an Alaskan "gutter-block" which has had values placed upon it from $400 to $2,500. A "gutter-block," it was explained, is the product of a slip on the part of the stamp machine which leaves a large vacancy between rows of stamps.

Hurmann Englehardt, Fort Worth dealer, had a vertical pair of 1851-56 U. S. issue catalogued at $275. A horizontal pair, considered less of a rarity, commanded $137.50. The vertical brace was to go into the Saturday night or Sunday afternoon auction.

Dr. Roberson had frames of round-the-world covers which carried sketches of all the U. S. presidents, except FDR. Two other frames of covers were choice morsels for the philatelists.

One was that of W. E. Harriott, See STAMPS, Page 6, Col. 3

Philatelists Hear Address

Abilenian Discusses Stamps As Record Of History

The tracing of the history of countries and the fields of science, architecture, engineering and commerce through collections of stamps was demonstrated to West Texas philatelists assembled in district convention here Saturday evening.

Dr. O. O. Watts, Abilene, head of the department of chemistry at Hardin-Simmons university and an enthusiastic collector of stamps, asserted that the practice of collecting could be made much more interesting by development of themes in issues.

With the aid of reflector, he showed to more than 50 philatelists issues depicting architecture, bridges, science, electricity, transportation, food production, rubber, war, as well as history and legends.

W. E. Harriott, who presided over the meeting as president of the host chapter, the Inter-City Philatelic Society, made awards to Dr. John A. Roberson, Abilene, Dr. O. E. Wolf, Big Spring, W. E. Harriott, Forsan, P. F. Boone, Midland, Jerome Gunn, Abilene, Herman Harrison, Abilene, Nora K. White, Forsan, Idella Alexander, Forsan, and Billie Koons for prize winning plates on exhibit in the Settles ballroom. The exhibits will remain open to the public until 2 p. m. Sunday when W. H. Perry, Lubbock and formerly of Big Spring, will conduct the concluding feature of the meet, an auction sale. Perry was auctioneer at a sale Saturday evening following a banquet session.

That supplemented a widespread interpretation of recent election returns, unseating democrats, progressives and farmer-laborites in favor of republicans, as an impressive warning against hasty and experimental reform detouring next session from the recovery highway.

Many congressmen arriving early for the January meeting are sounding that note, regardless of party. It is expected widely to exercise an influence on procedure of the economic committee.

Senator O'Mahoney, Wyoming democrat and chairman of committee, reflected that in starting the proceedings, recovery and cooperation, not monopoly "witch-hunting," were his keynote.

By the time the committee took its week-end recess, there was a first-blush impression that this new machinery of legislative-executive collaboration might afford the most realistic basis yet laid for the often talked of "partnership" of government and business.

TRAFFIC DEATH FORT WORTH, Dec. 3 (AP)—The death here today of J. B. Stone, 70, raised Tarrant county's traffic fatality toll for 1938 to 58. Stone, who formerly lived in Waco, was injured Wednesday as he crossed a street.

Final Park Project To Be Submitted

All Unfinished Work Would Be Completed, New Units Contemplated

Plans were complete and ready for submission Monday on a $66,691 WPA project which city officials set up as the final park project to be sought under the relief work program.

In the application were provisions for 18 integral points of development which would see the completion of all unfinished work in the city park area and addition of many new improvements.

Under the proposed project, the city's share of the program would be $12,102, equipment and supplies already on hand accounting for all but about $3,000.

If and when the project is approved and completed, the city plans to concentrate on street and water extension work with WPA, it was understood.

B. J. McDaniel, superintendent of city operations, listed these points in the program:

Pave parking areas around the swimming pool and place seal coat on all park drive ways.

Complete park comfort stations, complete the swimming pool pump-house, complete an equipment shed and complete the amphitheatre which will seat some 6,000 people when finished.

Demolish three CCC buildings and move nine remaining structures, eight of them to the city park for establishment on rock foundations as a community center, and cut the remaining building in twain, parts to go to the West Side park and the Mexican Plaza.

Construct two new tennis courts and enclose with Cyclone wire fence, and refence and re-top two existing tennis courts in the park area.

Build a stone retaining wall around and fill in the West Side park.

Construct a fence around an eight-acre tract near the city park entrance for possible use as a game preserve (contingent upon cooperative assistance).

Build 12 stone tables, several large picnic tables, 50 stone benches, eight stone drinking fountains, and one large barbecue pit for the city park.

BASCOM GILES ILL

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Physicians today closely watched the condition of Bascom Giles of Austin, and commissioner-elect, who was taken to a hospital suffering from influenza.

They feared his illness might develop into pneumonia.

A Christmas Tip For Grade School Teachers—

"Santa and the Lost Princess," a Christmas serial for children by Sigrid Arne, will start in The Herald Monday and run daily through Christmas Eve. Because children love Sigrid Arne's Christmas stories, and there has been increasing classroom use of them, here is a suggestion:

Have your children make up cardboard-covered notebooks into which they can paste each installment as it comes along. For the cover of the book we will supply an illustration. In notebook form the story will be doubly useful and provide an interesting and instructive diversion which will carry over into the vacation period.

Midwest Takes Five Berths On Assoc. Press All-America

O'BRIEN, ALDRICH AND YOUNG ARE AMONG STARS HONORED

By HERBERT W. BARRER
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Middle West, returning to football power after a one-year lapse, dominates the 14th annual All-America team, selected today by The Associated Press on the basis of a nationwide survey of expert opinion.

From that geographical sector, no fewer than five players are named to the first team, along with two from the East, two from the Southwest, and one each from the South and Far West.

This, however, fails to reveal the entire picture. If the Midwest captures the bulk of first-team honors, it remains for the Old South, including the Southwest area, to earn a heavy plurality on the All-Star squad of 33, including first, second and third teams.

Here the count shows 14 for the South-Southwest as against eight for the Midwest, seven for the Far West, three for the Far East and one from the Rocky Mountain district.

In a season as spectacular and unpredictable as any in football history, the All-America debate was complicated by the widespread use of two or more uniforms by colleges fortunate enough to have virtually unlimited football manpower. There is no question of this system's strategical effectiveness but it served to make All-America selections just that much more difficult.

There was a striking trend all along the line, as a matter of fact, to place the main emphasis on the team as a whole rather than on the individual. Notable examples of this were Notre Dame, back once more as a national contender; Luke's Southern conference champions; Oklahoma's Big Six title holders; Tennessee, Pittsburgh and Texas Christian, to name only a few.

Partly because of this, perhaps, the All-America spotlight centered for the most part, on the stars of teams in the lower-ranking brackets.

Thus Iowa State, Michigan State, Mississippi and Santa Clara, all beaten at least once, won first-team brackets for the first time since The Associated Press began its All-America selections in 1925. So, too, did Oklahoma, reckoned as a Midwestern entry because of its membership in the Big Six conference.

T.C.U. Gets Two Posts
Texas Christian, one of the nation's top-ranking outfits, placed two men, Robert David O'Brien and Charles Collins Aldrich on the first team, the other big team berths going to Pittsburgh, Cornell, Notre Dame and Michigan.

The two eastern representatives, Marshall (Biggie) Goldberg, keyman in the ferocious Pittsburgh attack, and Jerome (Brud) Holland, Cornell's great negro end, both are repeaters from the 1937 All-America.

Rounding out the All-America backfield with O'Brien and Goldberg are two more seniors, Linus Parker Hall of Mississippi and John Spencer Pingel of Michigan State.

This quartet combines passing, running, kicking, blocking and defensive skill to an extraordinary degree and would need to offer few, if any, apologies, if confronted with any All-American backfield combination of the past.

Whatever arguments might develop elsewhere can be few to challenge O'Brien's right to a place on any all-star array. His exploits as a passer brought Davey his principal recognition. But the fact is that on an all-around basis he has few equals. His passing record this year far eclipses that compiled by Sammy Baugh, his illustrious predecessor at T.C.U., in his (Baugh's) senior year. In addition, O'Brien's generalship, his running, his play at the safety position, his defensive work and his durability, all have been major factors in Texas Christian's spectacular showing.

In the Horned Rovers' first nine games, O'Brien figured directly in

Hull-Daisetta And Wink Win

South Texans Run Victory Streak To 34
By The Associated Press

Hull-Daisetta ran its victory string to 34 straight and Wink brought its scoring plunge to 503 points in 11 games Saturday as the bi-district round was completed in Texas Class B schoolboy football.

Taking out Port Neches 20-12, Hull-Daisetta became the opponent of Alvin for the region 10 championship this week.

Hull-Daisetta has compiled its amazing record over a period of three seasons.

Wink defeated McCamey 59-0 Saturday to continue at the top scoring team of the year.

Twelve region championships will be determined this week, ending the year's activities for the class B schools, who did not play to a state title.

Next week they pair as follows: Region 1—Panhandle vs. Wellington; Region 2—Rotan vs. Wink; Region 3—Crown vs. Newcastle; Region 4—Diamond Hill (Fort Worth) vs. Willis Point; Region 5—Royce City vs. Mt. Vernon; Region 6—Overton vs. Crockett; Region 7—Brady vs. Taylor; Region 8—McGregor vs. Calvert; Region 9—La Grange vs. Bellville; Region 10—Alvin vs. Hull-Daisetta; Region 11—Junction vs. Cuero; Region 12—Alice vs. Freeer.

GARNER GIRLS DEFEAT BROWN

GARNER, Dec. 3—Garner's girls basketball team defeated Brown school here Friday evening, 44-22.

Leslie Long was high point scorer with 20 points while Hazel Harland trailed with 18.

Battle Over Center

Nowhere did the All-America debate rage hotter than over the center post where Aldrich, moving up from the second team of a year ago, gets the call over such able performers as Dan Hill, Jr., of Duke, Johnny Ryland of U.C.L.A., and Charley Brock, Nebraska veteran.

Aldrich won general recognition in the Southwest as the finest defensive and offensive lineman developed in the past 10 years in that rugged football sector. Rival coaches called him superior, on an all-around basis, to Darrell Lester, Texas Christian star who was the All-America choice at center in 1934 and 1935. A great offensive blocker, Aldrich likewise was recognized as the key man in Texas Christian's defense, an expert play diagnostician. He easily topped the entire Southwest list in number of tackles.

Holland Finishes Fast
Competition for the end positions also was heated and it is only by narrow margins that Holland and Walter Roland (Waddy) Young of Oklahoma get the nod over such consistent performers as Bowden Wyatt of Tennessee and Earl Brown of Notre Dame.

Holland got away to a slow start this season but finished with such a terrific rush that there can be no argument as to his right to retain the first-team post he won a year ago. A 60-minute performer, the big negro was a play-wrecker all year, a first-class blocker and pass receiver, and a sure ground-gainer on the end-around plays Cornell uses, averaging better than eight yards a try. In the upset victory over Dartmouth, Holland was a smashing end all day.

Young, ace of Oklahoma's rugged line, made a specialty of ruining rival passers. Oklahoma's record against pass-minded teams such as Rice, Texas, Missouri and Tulsa reveals an air-tight defense and much of the credit belongs to Young. This 6-foot-3-inch, 203-pounder was a deadly blocker and a thorough master of all the tricks of an end's trade.

Tackles Hard To Choose
A surprising scarcity of "major-league" tackles made a wide-open race for the first-team berths in this department. Careful analysis of comparative records leads to the selection of Joseph Edward Beiner of Notre Dame and Alvord William Wolff of Santa Clara as the big team.

Beiner has been a rock in the Irish line, playing his greatest games against Army, Navy and Minnesota, all of which feature power attacks. Not the spectacular type, Beiner has been consistently steady on defense and a powerful blocker. He took Harry Stella of the Army out on two touchdown plays—Joe Theising's 49-yard run and Ben Sheridan's short plunge.

Buck Shaw, Santa Clara coach, calls Wolff the best tackle he ever coached and Buck, as an all-time Notre Dame tackle, ought to know. Wolff has a tremendous offensive

Meeting Slated To Attract Dozen Aggregations

GARNER, Dec. 3—At least a dozen teams are expected to participate in Garner's annual girls' invitational basketball tournament which gets underway here Friday night and continues through Saturday evening.

Handsome trophies will be awarded to the winner and runner-up teams while individual awards will go to the all-tournament team.

Among the outstanding teams that have already accepted the invitation to compete are Highland, winner of the recent Divide tournament, Brown, Ackerly, Klondike, Coahoma and Union.

Friday Lubbock eliminated Vernon 26-6, Breckenridge rolled over Bowie (El Paso) 40-0, Highland Park defeated Gainesville 26-0, Tyler downed Lufkin 18-6, and Corpus Christi smashed Pharr-San Juan-Alamo 59-0.

Only two undefeated teams remained in the state when the firing ceased Saturday. Tyler was unbeaten and untied. Corpus Christi was undefeated but had been tied by Temple in non-conference game.

Breckenridge plays at Lubbock Friday afternoon.

Masonic Home plays Highland Park at Dallas Saturday afternoon.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 3 (AP)—The power valve on the University of Tennessee gridiron machine remained wide-open today and the Orange Bowl selection rumbled to a 47 to 0 triumph over a hapless Mississippi Rebel team, before 20,000 fans.

It was the Volunteers' tenth consecutive victory of the season.

Six different ball carriers scored and experts were chattering by half-time that "anybody" could score behind the blocking afforded by the forwards.

The Vols opened their first offensive drive from the 36 yard line.

Leonard Coffman scored the second touchdown minutes later after Cafego sparked a drive from the Rebel 46. Bob Andridge and Babe Wood helped but Cafego netted 35 yards in three trips.

Passes Downed

Olie Miss perked up when Bill Schueler intercepted a Tennessee pass, downing the ball on the Vols' 20.

Four times Marvin Smith fumbled back and shot passes into the end zone but all went awry.

After the Volunteers punted, a rebel attempt to attack fated and Bill Luttrell, substitute Tennessee tackle, broke through to block a Rebel kick on about the 15. Luttrell finally covered the ball on the one and Wallen carried over on the succeeding play. Cafego's kick was again good.

Major Bob Neyland's boys couldn't miss in the third period. Coffman contributed a 52-yard touchdown run down the sideline and on the first play after Mississippi received the kick-off, Wyatt snugged a rebel pass and streaked 34 yards for another score. Cafego missed one kick but Watt's placement was good.

The Rebels resorted to desperation passes then but the Vols forced them to punt.

Buist Warren added insult to injury by tucking the ball in on his 15 and rambling 85 yards behind pointless blocking.

The final marker came shortly after the fourth period began. Sneed going over after a drive from his own 44. Sneed drop-kicked the extra point.

FIRST DEFEAT OF YEAR FOR RAMBLERS

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, Dec. 3 (AP)—Notre Dame came tumbling off football's highest peak today, knocked down for the first time this year by Southern California the Rose Bowl hopes of the Far West, in a savage game that ended in a 13 to 0 victory for the Trojans before a record crowd of 101,000.

Beaten twice this year but determined to carry no more defeats into the Rose Bowl against Duke Jan. 2, the warriors of Troy upset the Notre Dame hopes in two lightning-like thrusts. Coach Howard Jones' eleven scored the first touchdown in the fading moments of the first half after the Irish had gambled for a first down in midfield and lost, and hammered the Notre Dame defense 35 yards after recovering a fumble late in the fourth period. Keyed up to a pitch of excitement, both elevens missed scoring opportunities in the first part of the battle. Then came another opportunity for the so-called Notre Dame opportunists. But Bob Sagar, Irish sophomore half star, who tried to make three yards on fourth down, missed by one yard on the Irish 38.

The Irish came out battling after the rest, but so did the Trojans. They were without their star quarterback, Grenville Lansell, who left the game in the first quarter with a twisted ankle. The Irish regained the Trojans on running plays, 145 yards to 98, but the combined passing and running of the Trojan team brought the edge to Troy by 151 yards to 143.

THE SPORTS PARADE

by HANK HART

It seems that Bill Tate couldn't find the time to sojourn in New Orleans Dec. 7 and, as a result, the job of representing the Big Spring baseball club will fall to Jack Hutcherson and Harry Faulkner. We hope earnestly that Jack makes it. The Monahan druggist has been ill of late but he seriously intends to set in on the confab at the Roosevelt hotel if he possibly can and, of course, will be assisted in every way possible by Faulkner who promised his cooperation to the utmost when he left here last week. Jack is going to bulletin us if some party agrees to agree and that's quite likely. The New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates, as we stated before, are interested in the training field the West Texas-New Mexico league offers. Faulkner informs that Iack Miller, the Lubbock manager of last season, will probably be back to manage the Hubbers. Previous information gathered indicated that Hack would join Dallas in 1939. Other Hubbers due to return to play in the circuit are Al Carr, Bob Mosel, Malcolm Stevens and Johnny Taylor. Joe Gedzius, the all-star shortstop, is sure to move on and Boyd Watkins may go up. The six clubs of the league reserved a total of 71 players, Big Spring 13 of that number: Al Berndt, Billy Capps, Bobby Decker, Chick Greer, Dick Hobson, Frankie Jacot, Willard Ramsdell, Joe Saporito, Harry Siegbert, Johnny Soden, Pat Stasey, Clarence Trantham and Doug Harkey. Of that number Capps, Decker, Greer, Jacot, Saporito, Trantham and Harkey are "class men" in other words, have had two years professional experience. A club can carry but three class men and five who have seen one year's pro experience. That means that six rookies or men who have not seen previous experience as a pro must be used. That's where your connection with a club of higher affiliation comes in. They can find them. Directors of the local club are going to wait until after the first league meeting, probably to produce an official announcement as to next year's manager. Charles Barnabe, last year's leader, is still under consideration but is doubtful. Meanwhile a possibility is Byron W. "Tex" Stuart, the smart little Clovis catcher and field captain who lives at Ozona. Tex wanted to play with Big Spring last summer but wasn't given a chance to show his wares and moved on to Clovis where he was an immediate success, was later elected captain of the squad. When he joined the Pioneers the crew was in last place, almost ready to drop out of the league. The New Mexicans went on to finish in second place, did well financially. . .

Kerrville Is Beaten, 27-7

AUSTIN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Speedy Tom Pickett and a band of Temple High School Wildcats blasted the Kerrville Antlers in a bi-district championship football race, 27-7, before 9,000 in Memorial stadium here today. The stalwart back garnered three touchdowns, one on a 70-yard dash. The others were off short plunges which capped long drives by the Wildcats. A. J. Mercer raced 36 yards for another after intercepting Bill Coleman's pass. Coleman touched the pay stripes for the Mountaineers who marched from the Temple 44 to the goal line.

Nothing was being accomplished toward a banquet for the local high school grid aggregation so the boys themselves went to work and raised the necessary funds. The system: shoe shining. That isn't as peculiar as it might sound for the laddies have been doing such wonderful business that the colored operators in the various shine parlors are threatening a picket line. It seems that it is initiation week for the "B" association, a school organization open only to boys who earn athletic letters and the "victims" or first-year men are the shiner-upperers at a nickel a shine. The funds realized from that business plus a playlet offered at the high school last week netted enough iron men to proceed with the plans. The big blowout is scheduled to come off around December 15 at the Crawford.

The Paramount News, a Friday-Saturday feature at the Ritz theatre, in giving its 1938 All-America football team, honored Kl Aldrich and Davey O'Brien, TCU stars, as first string linemen along with Waddy Young, Oklahoma, and Bud Holland, Cornell, ends; Al Wolff, Santa Clara, and Ed Belnor, Notre Dame, tackles; Harry Smith, USC, and Jack Heikinen, Michigan, guards; and Bob MacLeod, Dartmouth, George Cafego, Tennessee; and Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh, backs. Here's a prediction that the New York Giants will slam Sammy Baugh and the Washington Redskins in their battle at the Polo Grounds today for the Eastern National Professional Football league championship. In that game Tally Maxton, who worked here for some time last summer will be fighting his former mates, the Giants. Tally was released by the New Yorkers following an injury and immediately signed with Baugh's club. Daniel Fortmann, ex-Colgate guard now with the Chicago Bears, is one of the youngest players in pro ball. He's 22 and playing his third year with the Windy City team. Lubbock's Westerners over Tyler's Lions in the state high school finals Christmas week is a pick that should ring true. Lubbock's most difficult test will be Breckenridge next week.

The Greatest Living Buffalo Hunter

A Story Of J. Wright Mooar, Written For The Herald By John R. Hutto

The connection of J. Wright Mooar to West Texas had its beginning back in one of the most picturesque periods of western history. Born in Vermont in the middle of the 19th century, Mr. Mooar, a descendant of original colonial American stock, is today the oldest living buffalo hunter. The extinction of the buffalo from the category of wild life in the continent of North America can be attributed more to his skill as a hunter than to any other man. He has led a very eventful career as a woodman, as a worker in the woolen mills of his native state, as street car conductor in Chicago when the motorpower was horsepower, as buffalo hunter on the Western Plains, and as a West Texas ranchman.

A Market For Hides

Mr. Mooar had his first experience as a buffalo hunter in Kansas in 1871. At that time the animal was killed solely for the meat and the hide used as a robe. The value of the skin for leather had never been ascertained. Through the agency of Lobenstein of Leavenworth, Kas., Mooar furnished a part of the first shipment of hides to London, England, where they were shipped for experimental purposes. In the meantime he and his

Into The Panhandle

In the summer of 1870 Mooar hunted buffaloes around Dodge City, Kas. The settlement of that country, the extension of railroads, and the drift of the buffalo southward caused the hunters to range for the next two years down into the Indian Territory and even into the Panhandle of Texas. In the spring of 1874 Rath and Wright, suitors from Fort Dodge, established a trading post in the Panhandle in what is now Hutchinson county. A. G. Myers established a general store and James Hanrahan started up a saloon. This was the beginning of the Adobe Walls. In May of that year the Mooar brothers, with other hunters, crossed the Red river into Texas. Within a few days they had five separate conflicts with the Indians. They decided, therefore, to change their base from the Adobe Walls back to Fort Dodge. The wisdom of the move was soon evident, for on the very day of their arrival back in Fort Dodge the battle of the Adobe Walls, which has already been narrated in this series, took place.

In the spring of 1875 the Moosars loaded their wagons with government freight and started out for Fort Griffin, which was a post on the Clear Fork of the Brazos in northern Shackelford county. At that time Fort Griffin was the Dodge City of Texas. It was directly in line of the cattle trail from Mexico and South Texas to northern markets. It is authoritatively stated in that year, half a million range cattle were driven through Fort Griffin. The little town of a thousand people was not only the site of a government fort, but was the rendezvous for buffalo hunters, gamblers, cattle thieves and bad men and women of all descriptions. The bark of the law and the survival of the fittest were the order of the day.

The town became the principal buffalo hide market in Texas. During that season the Moosars shipped several thousand hides to Denison. Their principal hunting ground was in Haskell county where thousands of buffaloes were killed. A New Location

During the summer of 1876, J. Wright Mooar rode horseback from Fort Griffin to Dallas where he took the train for New York on business. He returned by the way of Philadelphia where he spent some time at the Centennial Exposition. On his return he had rail way accommodation into Fort Worth, as the Texas and Pacific had been completed to that point in his absence. On his return to Fort Griffin he and his brother set about to find a new location for fall and winter hunting. They located on Deep Creek in Scurry county, and there on the seventh day of October he killed a white buffalo. The white buffalo was very rare and Mr. Mooar sent the hide to Dodge City where he had it dressed into a robe. The robe, still in his possession, is probably the only white buffalo robe in existence. While Mr. Mooar remained in the buffalo hunting business as long as there were any found in the country, then he gradually changed into the cattle raising line.

In 1877, he established a ranch in Fisher county under the brand of SKT. It was said he built the first house ever erected in Fisher county. During the construction of the Texas and Pacific railway through this country the Mooar brothers contracted with construction companies to furnish prairie hay for their stock. This business proved very profitable and was continued until the construction reached the Pecos river. Later they established a livery stable in Colorado, but all the while kept up their ranching business in Scurry county. In recent years their partnership in cattle raising of 35 years was dissolved, but J. Wright Mooar still retains his cattle business.

Killed 20,000

Mr. Mooar does not regard his killing of more than 20,000 buffaloes as ruthless destruction. Without the destruction of the buffalo, which was the source of the food supply of the Plains Indians, West Texas would never have been the home of the cattle man and the farmer. He claims that the buffalo hunter did what the American soldier could never have done. Some paragraphs from an article of Mr. Mooar illustrate his viewpoint.

Speaking of his trip into Texas he writes, "After passing Decatur every day we saw stone chimneys by the roadside. All were silent monuments of tragedies where attempts had been made to settle and occupy homes, but the ever present Indian had destroyed all hope and ambition of the settlers by killing and scalping and leaving those stone chimneys to tell the story of the disaster." The frontiersman could not compete with the ruthless Indian. Besides, the Indian traveled in a straight line, and given a few hours' start, could never be overtaken. Quoting Mr. Mooar further, "The buffalo hunter had a vastly superior gun to that of the Indian. As the hunters drove the Indians and the buffaloes back, the cowmen, ever quick and alert to see an opportunity, followed in the wake of this forward movement so closely that many of the large herds were located in hearing of the roar of the Big Fifty's, and so when the buffaloes were exterminated the country was stocked with cattle." He thus regards the buffalo hunter as the necessary forerunner of the development of West Texas.

Revival To Be Continued

Evangelist Goree To Conduct Services This Week

REV. CLYDE C. GOREE

Because of its outstanding success during the past two weeks, a revival campaign at the Assembly of God church, West Fourth and Lancaater streets, will be continuing a third week. It is announced by Rev. Homer Sheats, pastor, Evangelist Clyde C. Goree, nationally known religious leader and speaker, will be heard each evening, and will continue to bring messages of interest and benefit.

Rev. Goree will remain here until December 11, closing date of the revival.

"We have had a fine meeting," said Rev. Sheats. "The church has been filled to capacity on a number of occasions, and many have found salvation. A group of three messages on 'People Who Will Never Be Saved,' by the evangelist, was well received."

Sunday night, Rev. Goree will speak on "The Last Prayer of the Strongest Man." Each night through the week subjects of importance will be discussed. Announcements regarding the revival will be heard each day at 11 a. m. over radio station KBST, and at 12:48 p. m. today the Assembly of God church sponsors a religious broadcast.

Thursday of this week will be a red letter day at the church. Ministers and lay workers from the South Plains district will gather here for an all-day meeting, and the district superintendent, Elder A. C. Bates of Amarillo, is expected to be present. The initial service will be at 10 a. m. and dinner will be served at the church. An evangelistic service is scheduled for the evening hour.

Forsan, president of the Inter-City Philatelic Society, and considered by many the leading collector of Howard and surrounding counties. His collection of U. S. envelopes carried the first issue ever released in this country, had antiquated newspaper envelopes (the stamp imprint made on common newspaper), one cover where the machine failed to ink and left a colorless impression on the envelope, and another where the stamp impression was put in the center of an envelope.

L. P. Boone, Midland, had a collection of first flight covers with some corking good stories involved. For instance, there was a cover C. T. P. Ulm had taken on the first flight from Australia to New Zealand. Later when he flew from England to New York and was en route to the coast, Ulm stopped at Midland. Boone showed him the covers and Ulm remarked: "Well, I'll be damned!" He autographed them, took a sack of pecans as a reward because he had never heard of a pecan, flew to the coast and was subsequently lost in the Pacific on an attempted oceanic flight.

Boone's collection also included a first flight cover flown by Capt. Kingsford-Smith in the Southern Cross. Capt. Kingsford-Smith subsequently was lost in a flight over the same area.

"Tin Can" Cover

Another interesting one was the "Tin Can" delivery cover. Years ago delivery of mail was made to Niuafoou Island by sealing mail in a tin can and casting it overboard. Natives would swim out and retrieve the can, but the practice was discontinued when a shark made a meal of one of the "mail swimmers." A rare number in the frame was Boone's Alaskan Zeppelin first flight, and so was the DO-X flight. Other interesting covers in the group were one bearing stamps from London, England; London, Canada, and London, Texas; a Japanese seaport postmark; a Der Graf Germany-South America and return cover; and a cover bearing Chinese characters translated to mean "to resist foreign invasion for saving the country; to recover all lost territory."

W. E. Harriott had an attractive cover of English coronation stamps arranged around portraits of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. Billie Koons' frame told the story of U. S. transportation with U. S. transportation issues.

Farley's Follies "Farley's Follies," the unperfected issues which he ran after furnishing a few to friends, were shown by Mrs. Idella Alexander, Forsan, with an autographed photograph of Farley in the center. Other exhibits included odd shaped foreign airmails, foreign post cards, hunting stamps, U. S. and foreign Christmas seals, Texas Centennials and commemorative issues, and stamps from many countries.

First Half Taxes Off

Full Payments To County, However, Show Increase

An increase in full payments and a decline in half payments were noted Saturday evening at the office of Tax Collector John F. Wolcott.

This fluctuation was responsible for a net decline of some $7,000 in current collections. A change in payment policies of many oil companies was considered the determining factor in the trend, since most of them will pay in full in January.

Half payments at the end of the deadline Nov. 30 totaled $26,999.82 and full payments $28,700.95. A year ago the half payments at the same time amounted to $39,712.50 and full payments to $23,824.05. Full payments were noted from the county's bracket of largest taxpayers including Texas and Pacific Railway Co., Group No. 1 Oil Corp., Dora Roberts' interests, Texas Electric Service, Magnolia, Superior, and Sinclair.

Current collections to the city during November, part of them under the semi-annual payment plan, totaled $4,355.51, giving a current total to date of $18,432.45.

Work Advances On Airport Runways

Sub-grade has been established on the last of three runways to be improved at the municipal airport as the $119,000 WPA project goes into the second half.

At the end of the week, the northwest-southeast runway stretching for little less than 5,000 feet, was virtually ready for caliche base to be hauled in. Barring interruptions the base material will begin to move from pit to runway during this week.

Two other runways, the north-south and east-west, have caliche base down in strips 300 feet wide. Crushed rock is down for topping about one-third of the important north-south runway, and this week the city rock crusher will be put into operation to provide rock for the remainder of the runway surfacing.

WPA has purchased 5,000 gallons of asphalt for the topping on the first portion of the project, it was reported, and barring interruptions due to weather, shooting asphalt should start within 10 days.

However, Odessa outbid towns asking for the class B game.

has made several exhaustive governmental surveys for the governor-elect, may be in line for the secretary of state appointment. Edward Clark, who now holds the position under Governor James V. Allred, has announced he will practice law in Austin.

Many national guard officers have endorsed Carl Nesbitt as Mineola, a former state commander of the American Legion, for another term as adjutant general.

Allred still has one important set of appointments to make, consisting of three of the nine members of the board of education. He is supposed to name the appointees January 1.

Appointments to be made by the new governor during 1939 or 1940 include:

On or before his inauguration January 17: Three members of A. & M. college board of directors; adjutant general; assistant adjutant general; not less than nine nor more than 21 members of the bureau of child and animal protection.

Wild Life Planning Board Meets With Game Manager

Charles Friley, Jr., regional game manager who had headquarters in Abilene, met with several members of the Howard County Wild-Life Planning board Friday afternoon at the courthouse and entered into mutual discussion on a universal hunting and fishing license law now up for debate in the state legislature.

The board will probably be called into session again in January before congress opens its spring session to approve the bill and send a recommendation that it be passed to Austin.

Says The U.S. Must Advance Economically
Can't Continue At Present Level, Economist Shows
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—A prediction the nation is in for a period of economic stagnation and decline "if we go on as we are," came today from Leon Henderson, secretary of the government's temporary national economic committee.
"We are at a strategic point in our economy," the blunt-spoken economist told the committee. "If we go on as we are, we are in for stagnation and decline. One of the interesting observations of recent years is the inability of the system to maintain itself at any level it has attained. We do not stop. We either go forward or back."
He exhibited charts to show a constant increase in the national income from 1850 to 1929 and a general downward trend since then; and cited his own unofficial estimate of increasing unemployment in the latter period as evidence of a slowing up in the economic machine.
While there were little more than 1,000,000 unemployed in the big prosperity year, he estimated, there were 10,569,000 jobless in October this year. This figure compared with 14,317,000 in March, 1933, a low for the depression period of 7,412,000 in July, 1937, and 11,783,000 last February.
The figures showed, Henderson said, that between March, 1933, and July, 1937, a total of 9,600,000 workers found employment in private industry but of these 2,700,000 had come into the labor market since March, 1933.
Such additions to the labor force indicated, he declared, that even if there has been no depression and the nation had remained at the 1929 prosperity level there would be today 6,000,000 workers without jobs.
Therefore, he asserted, to solve unemployment the United States must move forward to an economic level higher than that of 1929.

PROMOTER HAS AID PLEDGED FOR RAIL LINE FROM GULF ACROSS WESTEX TO N. M.
With commitments in hand from five West Texas and New Mexico counties for aid in providing roadway and bonuses should his proposed Corpus Christi-Roswell, N. M., railroad be realized, Capt. Ed Kennedy, 83-year-old railroad promoter, left Friday evening for South Texas to carry on a campaign he began five years ago.
After receiving assurance from local civic leaders that Big Spring would cooperate in event he gets word to the point a major trunk line will take it over for operation, Captain Kennedy said he had right-of-way pledged over West Texas and bonuses promised in excess of $250,000.
He visioned the road as an important coastal outlet for vast supplies of freight in cattle, cotton, oil and eventually potash in this region. The haul from Big Spring, said Captain Kennedy, would be 169 miles shorter to the Gulf.
The tentative route for his road was outlined by Captain Kennedy, who said he was interested in the project five years ago by the late Robert Driscoll and Roy Miller of Corpus Christi. He said he had a freight contract over a line from Corpus to San Diego and that he had let contract to Cagle Construction company of San Antonio for grading 100 miles of right-of-way from Freer to Cotulla. He is seeking use of a Missouri Pacific connection from Cotulla to Uvalde and 38 miles over a line from Uvalde to Campwood. From that point his road would go to Junction, then into San Angelo.
Another connection over the Santa Fe to Sterling City would be sought, then new road to Big Spring. Seagraves, Hobbs, N. M., Lovington, N. M., and Roswell, N. M. He told the chamber of commerce industrial committee here that he had 120 miles of right-of-way graded southeast from Roswell.
In his younger days Captain Kennedy promoted a line from Atus, Okla., to Wellington, a stretch that now extends into Lubbock. He also promoted the road from Beaumont to Sour Lake, which now connects with Houston, and promoted the interurban line from Beaumont to Port Arthur.
Captain Kennedy was here four years ago in the interest of his project. From here he planned to go to Llan Angelo and then to Corpus Christi for a meeting on Tuesday, he disclosed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The justice department said today it was investigating complaints of various unions that strong-arm methods were being used to discourage employees in the Chicago stockyards from organizing.

WORK RESUMED ON WILDCATS NEAR HERE

Three Additional Wells Nearing Completion In The Snyder Sector

Resumption of operations on two important wildcat tests and recompletion of three wells in the Snyder area featured oil activity here during the week.

The T. G. Shaw No. 1 H. H. Wilkinson, Martin county wildcat test in section 35-A, B. & C. was ready to rerun casing Friday after a two-week repair job and will resume drilling at 3,405 feet in time as soon as a baller fishing job can be completed.

S. S. Owens No. 1 Dr. J. G. Wright, northwestern Howard county exploratory test, resumed drilling after shutting down at 2,983 feet with a hole full of water from 2,960-67 feet. It was below 3,060 feet, carrying a wet hole until top of lime is logged.

In the Snyder pool of southeastern Howard county, Eastland No. 2-B TXL, northeast quarter of section 33-30-1s, T&P, carried 2,200 feet of oil in the hole in drilling below 2,729 feet in brown lime. Magnolia No. 11 A. E. O'Daniel, northwest quarter of section 34-30-1s, T&P, experienced a heavy flow for 10 hours before being shut in for cleaning out operations following a 650-quart shot from 2,625-2,795 feet. It was cleaning out 105 feet off bottom. Magnolia No. 10 A. E. O'Daniel, a companion well, flowed 60 barrels in 15 minutes after a 640-quart shot from 2,633-2,800 feet.

29, W&NW, was cleaning out after a shot.

Test Cleaning Out

Shell No. 1 Snyder, in the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of section 28-30-1a, T&P, was cleaning out five feet off bottom in another Snyder pool development. Parton No. 1 Snyder, a location east and two north, spudded and shut down. Moore Bros. No. 8 Snyder 2,310 feet from the south and 1,850 feet from the west lines of section 28, spudded and set 12 1/2 inch casing at 768 feet. Moore Bros. No. 7 Snyder, on the same lease, was drilling on whipstock. Shell No. 5-TXL, section 33-30-1s, T&P, drilled to 2,480 feet and set seven inch string with 50 sacks.

Greene Production company No. 1 Snyder, in the center of the northeast quarter of section 27-28-1s, T&P, was bailing after resetting 12 inch string. Although there was still some water, bulk of the returns was oil. Shell dug pits for its No. 5-TXL on its 80-acre lease, the south half of the northeast quarter of section 33-30-1s, T&P.

PLANE FORCED DOWN

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP) — A two-motored transport plane carrying 21 passengers and crew of three was forced down about 10 miles south of here late today by bad weather. No one was injured. Residents near Jacobsville, Anne Arundel county, said the plane circled in the fog and mist for ten minutes before the pilot brought the huge transport to a perfect landing in a corn field.

New Pool Is Indicated In Jones County

Well Runs High, Estimated Good For 75-100 Barrels

ABILENE, Dec. 3 — Indicated opening of a new southern Jones county oil pool ten miles northwest of Abilene provided a center of attention for this immediate area during the week.

Luther A. Hedrick No. 1 Dorotha Akard, which had created a flurry of lease and royalty trading for more than a week with reports that it was running structurally high, had drilled 13 feet of lower Bluff Creek sand—same horizon as that producing in the Sayles field to the east—and was estimated good for 75 to 100 barrels per day natural before casing was cemented.

The test was drilled by Ungren & Frazier of Abilene for the Wichita Falls operator on a block of about 1,200 acres centering on Guadalupe Martinez survey.

On Swabbing Gauge

Six-inch casing was swung in the hole to shut off caving after gas and oil sand had been drilled from 2,141-54 feet, a seven-foot correction from original sand line measurements and the test placed on swabbing gauge. It made 35 barrels of oil on the first eight hours and maintained a 3 1/2 barrel hourly average. Operators were to cement this weekend. It is located 330 feet from the southwest corner of the Akard 160-acre lease in Martinez survey.

About ten miles northeast of Abilene, on the Jones-Shackelford county line, the Dewey Fox and D. H. Rudd No. 1 F. W. Shotwell completed this week for a railroad commission potential of 302 barrels of oil in 22 hours flowing through tubing from the shallow Tannehill sand. The well, opening a quarter mile south extension for the Hamby pool in which only one well has been completed, had pay at 1,622-32 feet, total depth.

The test was completed with tools remaining in the hole, operators being unable to recover them after a month's fishing job. Tubing was lowered slightly below 1,400 feet for the gauge. Location of the test is 150 feet out of the northwest corner of the Shotwell 40-acre lease in section 9-D&DA survey. It is 150 feet inside the Shackelford county line.

Oil Showing

A good showing of oil was picked up in the Lucile Manley No. 1 fee, Jones county wildcat a mile northeast of the Steffens pool 10 miles southeast of Anson, but operators were drilling ahead. The test found saturation in the Bluff Creek sand, from which the Steffens, Lewis and Sanly Ridge pools are producing, at 1,892-97 feet, and filled 200 feet in eight hours. It will continue to test the Swastika. Location is 220 feet out of the southwest corner of section 4-15-T&P survey.

East spread of one location was given the Lewis pool, in the same part of the Jones county "shinners" by the Danciger Oil & Refineries No. 3 Hugh B. Roberts, which flowed 272 barrels of oil in 24 hours following a 10-quart nitro shot at 1,915-32 feet. Danciger moved rig to an east offset location for another outpost. No. 4 Roberts, 660 feet from the west and 220 feet from the south lines of the east 110 acres of the northeast quarter of section 37-15-T&P survey.
