MATADOR, MOTLEY COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1961

PRICE SEVEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

This is a tribute to my deceased father. You were a poor and humble man but the greatest man I have ever known. Perhaps the trait of your character that I remember most vividly was your unselfishness. The things you wanted were for your family, your relatives and your friends. I do not believe you ever desired anything for yourself.

You were kind, considerate and always compassionate. I do not remember your ever speaking unkindly of anyone. You taught me the vital principles of life at your knee, but more important, you lived them for me day by day. You loved relatives, friends and laughter.

You worked long hours all your active life and never complained. I remember as a boy, the frozen rain on your mustache, your numb hands that lifted me to your arms and wrapped your coat about my small shoulders. I remember your giving me the last dime in your purse. I remember the tears on your cheeks when we stood in mutual grief beside fresh clay in a cemetery. Thanks, Dad, for the wealth of memories you left to me.

Lions to Sponsor Carnival

Members of the Matador Lions Club will again go into the carnival business for three days next week (Thursday, Friday and Saturday) Lions will help operate concessions.

It is the same carnival (John Steinbeck) that was here in November last year, and will be in the same location, the south side of the courthouse square.

Boss Lion Billy Wason said the club was able to secure the carnival only because of another club's cancellation. He said the Matador club last year received substantial funds as a share in the revenue made by the carnival.

The type of entertainment and operation was declared to be above the average of shows of similar nature.

Lions President Wason said directors would notify members of their assignments to operate concessions. Profit from the show will be used to augment the Lions general fund.

Baptists Attain Attendance Goal

Highest attendance attained in Sunday School at First Baptist Church, during the period since 1950, was reached Sunday, with a registration of 261.

A goal of 253 had been set for the third Sunday in an attendance campaign. The goal of 210 for the previous Sunday, Sept. 10, was also reached, however, one goal of 185 on Sept. 3 was attained.

A continuation of regular attendance each Sunday is urged by Sunday School Superintendent Bill McCaghen.

Drama Foundation Receives Charter

Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc., has been granted its charter by the State of Texas, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Ples Harper, president of the organization.

Reports of the progress of plans indicate production of symphonic drama in Palo Duro Park in the summer of 1962, for which the Foundation was formed early this summer.

The drama, based on history of the Texas Panhandle, is being written by Paul Green, Pulitzer prize winning dramatist of North Carolina.

Permission to build the amphitheater in Palo Duro Park and financial assistance is expected to be granted by the Texas State Parks Board at its October meeting in Lubbock.

Mrs. Harper stated that area committees have been formed in 11 Panhandle communities and plans are being made for organization in many other Panhandle towns expressing great interest in the drama project, to "instill in the children the heritage of our Texas Panhandle."

Honor Graduates Attending Tech

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech has 63 honor high school graduates as entering freshmen throughout the highest in their high school graduating classes, have been awarded $100 tuition scholarships for their freshmen year at Tech.

In the group is Douglas Levon (Dink) Wilson, valedictorian of the 1961 class.

THIS IS NOT A 1962 MODEL automobile being advertised in Matador this week. It is a group of pioneer Motley County ranchers attending a convention (possibly San Antonio). No accurate identification could be obtained. Three in the back seat are J. E. Russell, I. E. Martin and Ed Lisenby; and the man on the running board is Harrison Williams. Photo was believed to have been made about 1910. (Note right hand steering wheel.)—Picture is the property of Bob Martin

Mavericks Play Turkey Tonight

The Matador Mavericks defeated the Estelline Grade School team 14-8 last Thursday evening at Estelline for their second win in a row this year.

Tonight they will meet the Junior Turkey Turks here at the Junior Turkey Field. Game time is set for 7:30, and a large crowd of "home folks" will be appreciated by the team and Coach J. E. Edwards.

In the Estelline game Mavericks Quarterback Johnny Hughes, opened the scoring with a 5-yard run. Lewis Moore added the extra points. Hughes connected with Dickie Garrison on a 30-yard pass play for the final tally.

The Mavericks will play at home for the next three Thursdays and then close their season with a game at Turkey.

Cotton Carry Over Near 7 Million Bales

The Agriculture Department says the cotton carryover on Aug. 1, 1962, is expected to be about 7 million bales. This will be about 200,000 bales smaller than the carryover for the 1961-62 marketing year which began last Aug. 1.

The carryover next August will be the smallest, less than half the peak carryover in 1956 of 14.5 million bales. At that time a department official referred to the carryover as the nation's No. 1 surplus problem. Now, the cotton supply is such that some persons, both in industry and government, consider the carryover barely adequate to meet demand and still maintain an adequate stockpile for emergencies.

The carryover on upland cotton—the bulk of the fiber grown and traded in the United States—is about 6.8 million bales. The remainder is extra long-staple cotton.

The National Cotton Council, an industry group, considers a cotton carryover of 7-7.5 million bales necessary to meet demand and to provide a cushion in event of an emergency. Alexander Nunn, chairman of the department's cotton advisory committee said many persons in the industry believe an "adequate" carryover should be 4.5-5 million bales, and a "safe" carryover 6.5-7 million bales. This, Nunn said, would be for purposes of national security, mill needs, and regular export trade.

The carryover situation plus the size of this year's crop must be considered by secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in setting cotton acreage allotments for the 1962 crop. He must set the allotments by Oct. 15. The council has said that 20.5 million acres would be necessary to produce a crop of 15.5 million bales which the group believes is essential to meet export and domestic demand and to build up the carryover.

Mesdames H. F. Aulick, Laura Houston and Jack Spray accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Lynn to Lubbock, Tuesday, on business.

Class A Buffaloes Win Over Matadors

by Johnny Ezzell

THUNDERING into the lead Class A Petersburg Buffaloes Friday night defeated the Matador Matadors 24-20 in an exciting high school grid classic held at Petersburg. During the game the Matadors came back from a 24-6 deficit in the fourth quarter, and threatened to pull the win out. Final decision evened both clubs at two wins and two losses for the season.

The Buffs scored twice within 1 minute and 52 seconds in the second period to take a 12-0 lead. Both teams traded scores in the third period, before the Buffaloes tallied early in the final quarter. After that it was all Matador.

The Matadors gained 253 yards during the night, 198 on the ground and 55 in the air. Fullback Ros Bearden was the leading ball carrier with 128 yards on 20 carries. Quarterback Gary Lancaster hit on only two of four passes but gained 55 yards and one touchdown on them.

The Matador defense, despite strong efforts by Kenneth Davis, and Mike Barton, yielded 306 yards to the Buffaloes. 254 coming on the ground. Petersburg also totaled 14 first downs to 12 for the Matadors.

Petersburg's first scoring covered 61 yards in 15 plays. Right-half back Troy Fox went the final yard over right tackle with 1:56 left in the first half.

Take 2nd Half Kickoff
The Buffaloes took the second half kickoff, but Jimmie Green intercepted a pass and returned it to the Petersburg 47. Ros Bearden carried three times for 13 yards and Lloyd Martin once for 8 yards to put the ball on the 26. Gary Lancaster then swept wide around right end and went all the way for the third quarter.

Petersburg took the kickoff (See MATADORS back page)

Cold Air Hits Area

Winter tossed in some radical temperature changes yesterday after several days of exceptionally hot "for the time of year" weather. The cold front, which hit Amarillo about 8:30 a.m. yesterday, dropped the mercury there to 54 degrees at noon.

The cooler air hit here yesterday afternoon, producing quick temperature changes, reminding citizens that winter is at hand.

Hot weather over the week end had a brief cooling period Sunday night when cooler air and a cloud struck about sundown. The temperatures again rose rapidly Monday and Tuesday, to keep air conditions going.

Hot weather has caused rapid opening of cotton with gins reporting an impressive start on the harvest. Much of the excellent crop in this area is late and an early front would damage it to some extent. Farmers, however, believe that the general area will produce the best crop since 1949.

James E. Meador Obituary

Life Bridged Span Of Changing World

VAPOR TRAILS of jets in the blue Texas sky were a source of interest to James Meador before his old eyes became too weak to observe them. He had seen the smokes of many fires from the campfires of Comanche Indians on the warpath, to the smoke rings of diesel trucks.

He died last week at the age of 94 years, 11 months and 14 days. Funeral services were held Thursday (September 21) at the First Baptist church in Matador, with the pastor, Rev. Miller Robinson officiating. Interment was made in East Mound Cemetery under the direction of Eudy-Seale Funeral home. Pall bearers were D.I.W. Birnie, Ben Edwards, Elbert Reeves, Marvin Patton all of Matador, J. C. Clary of Paducah and George Humphries of Guthrie.

James Meador was born in the vicinity of Newark in Tarrant County, Texas, October 6, 1866. He remembered a raid of the Comanche Indians when the band took a saddle horse from the lawn grass while the family watched from inside the house.

His father, Berry Meador, served in the Confederate Army, and returning home after the war, engaged in buffalo hunting. He contracted pneumonia while recovering a yoke of oxen in 1877, and died away from home. He is buried in an unmarked grave in the old Veal Station cemetery about four miles south of Springtown.

James Meador came west with his widowed mother and brothers and sisters. They lived in Stonewall County for a time and moved to this area about 1890. Mrs. Meador filed on land on Harnica Creek about 15 miles north of Matador.

James Meador worked on the "Scab Eight" later purchased by Swenson Brothers, on the old Call Bar and other ranches. He started work for the Matadors as a cowboy but was soon transferred to cook of a range chuck wagon "until they could get a cook." He held the job five years and quit.

He was married to Miss Jennie Quarten in Silex, Missouri, November 19, 1899. Their first home was Matador, about one mile north of the townsite. He carried mail for a time on horseback between Matador and Dickens.

They moved with a son, Douglas Meador, then 6 months of age, to the J. T. Watkins ranch in Moore County, where they lived for about a year. They then moved to a claim in Texas County Oklahoma, one mile north of Texhoma, where they lived five years and where their second son, Joe Meador was born.

The family lived in Dalhart two years, then moved to Quanah in about 1907. They moved from Quanah in a wagon to Dunlap, north of Paducah in Cottle Co. and after one month purchased the H. P. Cook homestead five miles west of Paducah. Mrs. Meador died there in November 1935, and was buried in Matador East Mound Cemetery.

Besides his two sons, Douglas Meador of Matador and Joe Meador of Paducah, Mr. Meador is survived by one brother, Joe Meador and one sister, Mrs. W. D. Long, both of Matador, one granddaughter and one great-grandchild, Mrs. Harold Maxey and Carla Maxey, of Paducah. James Meador, at the age of 77 was believed to be the oldest person to be baptized into the membership of the First Baptist Church of Matador. He had been converted however, in early manhood.

James E. Meador

Muddy Ponds Sign Of Costly Erosion

Any good stock pond can be protected against muddiness, says Eddie Simms, Work Unit Conservationist of the local Soil Conservation Service office.

The most common sources of erosion are pastures which were grazed too closely, unpaved roads, and bare roadsides, field borders, and cropland. Silt-colored ponds attest to costly erosion, while the clear waters reflect better soil and water conservation, Simms pointed out.

"A better sod, with more grass cover not grazed too close, will stop erosion in a pasture. Strip cropping and more crop residue turned into field soils will reduce, and sometimes stop completely, the washing of topsoil from these valuable lands," he explained.

Field borders can be planted with vegetation for wildlife he said. Further, he said, "A pond can be protected from roadside siltation if grass cover is planted in highway waterways, or with a terrace-type waterway to divert muddy water around the pond.

Muddy ponds produce a poor poundage and quality of fish, according to Simms. The life of the pond itself is shortened rapidly by silt.

"A pond is a barometer of erosion versus good water. Most cooperators in the Upper Pease Soil Conservation District are trying to keep it reading 'clear.'"

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

SUGAR-MIXED SOIL KILLS NEMATODES

Ordinary sugar mixed into the soil is an effective killer of nematodes (microscopic soil infesting eelworms), reports the USDA.

Nematodes exist in soils everywhere and are among the world's most destructive pests. They are believed to damage virtually every crop each year, and uncontrolled infestations often make cropland unfit for economical production.

Sugar mixed into soil infested with these insects—at rates of 1 part of sugar to every 20 to 100 parts soil-killed up to 100% of the nematodes within 24 hours in USDA tests.

Nematodes died from dehydration rather than any toxic effects of the sugar, as sugar could not pass into the nematodes' bodies, but water passed out of their bodies to dilute the sugar solution in the soil.

Experiments showed that as moisture content of the soil was reduced, sugar concentration and nematode mortality were increased. Research is being continued by Dr. W. A. Feder, Plant Pathologist, to determine practical means of control.

EGG SPOILAGE

Washing eggs in water containing a high concentration of iron (5 to 10 parts per million in solution) has been found to increase the rate and extent of egg spoilage, according to the USDA. This discovery helps solve a mystery that has plagued egg producers for years: why washing seems to increase egg spoilage in some instances but not in others.

USDA studies show that wash water containing excess iron carries the iron through the shell and shell membrane into

School Lunch Programs Play Important Role in U. S. Farm Economy and Health

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN

WASHINGTON — About 20 billion meals ago the National School Lunch Act was passed. It marked the beginning of a tremendously important new market for food.

It was 15 years ago—in June, 1946—that this market was opened. Since that time, the school lunch has played a vital role in both the nation's farm economy and in the nation's health.

From a small beginning the school lunch program has grown to outside proportions. According to the latest count, an estimated 13.5 million youngsters in some 63,000 schools took part in the 1960-61 school year program. These youngsters are roughly equal to one-third of the nation's school population.

2.26 Billion Lunches

The agricultural marketing service said that by June the children had sipped, spooned, and otherwise consumed 2.26 billion lunches. All these in just one school year. AMS estimated that in the 15 years of the program's existence, about 20 billion meals were eaten.

Virtually all of the lunches served during the recent school year were complete meals — "type A" lunches that contained one-half pint of fluid whole milk plus specified minimum amounts of protein-rich foods, fruits and vegetables, enriched bread or rolls, and butter or fortified margarine.

the inner egg tissue. Here, the iron reverses the protective action of an egg's conalbumin—the iron-binding protein in egg white—and accelerates spoilage.

It takes a staggering amount of food to supply a menu like this to the millions of youngsters who attend schools where the school lunch program is in operation. AMS estimates that something like 34.2 billion pounds of food have been used since the program began.

Train 2,826 Miles Long

Just one food group — fruits and vegetables — accounted for 10.4 billion pounds or about 347,000 carloads. This would be enough to make a freight train 2,826 miles long, reaching from New York to San Francisco.

Most of the food used in the school lunches — about 80 per cent — is purchased locally by the individual schools. In this way the school lunch program has expanded markets for food in thousands of communities all over the United States. In some states it has become the state's biggest food service customer.

Last year, for example, local purchases amounted to nearly $540 million. The estimate for 1961 is $575 million.

The states and local sources pay the major share of the school lunch bill. Federal funds are allocated to the states to help reimburse schools for part of the cost of foods purchased. These funds must be matched from sources within the state at the rate of at least $3 for each federal dollar. In operation, this matching requirement has been exceeded every year since the program began. Last year, the overall ratio of state to federal funds was $8 to $1, this year it promises to be $9 to $1.

In addition, federal support for the program last year included $70 millions in surplus commodities and well-being of the nation's foods purchased and distributed by AMS to help schools meet established meal-type standards.

The objectives of the school lunch program were stated in the act: "To safeguard the health and well-being of the nation's children, and to encourage the domestic consumption of nutritional agricultural commodities and other foods."

Agriculture department officials believe the objectives have been met.—Lubbock Avalanche.

In Letter to Tribune Pioneer Barber Tells of Early Days in Motley County

In a letter to the Tribune, an early-day resident, J. H. (Jim) Hendricks recalls his own experiences when his family came to this area in a covered wagon.

Mr. Hendricks visited here this summer with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rattan and other friends. Excerpts from his letter are as follows:

"I enjoyed the write up of the pioneer days. It's all very interesting and brings back very pleasant times. The scenes of the open country, the ranches, cowboys, and freight wagons hauling cotton to Childress, following trails across those big ranches and hauling freight back to Matador; and the mail hawk which carried the mail to Childress over this same trail.

"Well I guess you are wondering how I know so much about this. I landed in Matador and Whiteflat the first of November, 1904. Here is resume of our travel from East Texas, (we started 10 miles north of Sulphur Springs, at Peerless, Texas in Hopkins County).

"On October 1, 1904, my mother, Mrs. Bell Smith and five children, Jennie, Ida and Jack Smith; Jim Hendricks and Willis

Hendricks boarded a prairie schooner, covered wagon and headed West for Matador. We had three straight weeks traveling time on the road which was most enjoyable.

"We stopped, or rather spent two weeks at Seymour and picked cotton, then boarded our schooner and finished our journey. My brother-in-law, Judge Horace Thomas had rented a farm at Whiteflat. We farmed there from 1905 through 1909.

"I hauled cotton to Childress and freight back, then after cotton season I hauled freight to and from Childress, especially during the summer season after crops were laid by.

"At last the dry weather changed our program and in the meantime our mother died, April 23, 1907. Also my sister, Mrs. Thomas died in January, 1909. Both are buried there in Matador (East Mound) Cemetery.

"We children then began to scatter. I picked up the barber trade and barbered two years at Whiteflat, beginning Sept. 10, 1910, and finished up 50 years at the trade, November 12, 1960 at Brownwood, retired and moved down here to live with my children. Sincerely, J. H. (Jim) Hendricks, 515 So. Munger St., Pasadena, Texas."

Former Resident's Daughter Receives Lifesaving Award

The daughter of a former resident, last year received a national Girl Scout lifesaving award. She is Lauren Cullison, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Cullison of Houston.

She was only 13 when she rescued a 5-year-old boy from drowning in June of last year (her birthday is in August). The incident has prompted her to decide to work to win badges in swimming, life saving and first aid.

A ninth grader this year at Hartman Junior High School, Lauren is a member of Troop 1087 in Houston and her badge sash already shows achievements that range from backyard camping to sewing.

The Cullisons are members of the MacGregor Park Baptist Church where Lauren is the reigning queen of Girls Auxiliary.

The family visited here this summer with relatives and friends. Mrs. Cullison is the former Mavinee Russell.

Roaring Springs Plant Operator Earns Citation

AUSTIN— "Excellent performance of a vital community service" has earned an official State Health Department citation for H. L. Hall, operation specialist with the Roaring Springs municipal water plant.

The impressively designed document, signed by the commissioner of health and authorities of the Texas Water and Sewage Works Association, is sparingly awarded only to those who can demonstrate "skill and knowledge of water treatment plant management and an understanding of the public health importance of the work."

Under the State Health Department's operator certification program, operators are carefully examined on their technical ability and on their knowledge of their work's influence on community health. Each must pass a stiff written test to qualify for certification.

The Texas general sanitation law requires that at least one plant operator per shift be certified by the state health agency, but other plant personnel and persons in related fields frequently seek certification and on their own time and at their own expense to advance themselves professionally and to increase their efficiency.

The recipients of these certificates are a credit to their profession and to their communities, sponsors of the certification program said.

Points toward certification are earned through actual work experience and by attendance at annual district and state short schools sponsored and conducted by the Texas State Department of Health, the engineering extension service of Texas A & M College, and the Texas Water and Sewage Works Association.

HUNTSVILLE—(Sp)—A double feature attraction, plus the best in convict contests will highlight the opening performance of the 30th Annual Texas Prison Rodeo here Sunday, Oct. 1, at 2 p.m. in the prison's 30,000-seat stadium.

Fats Domino, nationally famous jazz pianist and singer, will make a personal appearance, as will lovely Gee Gee Powell and her team of Alaskan Huskies from St. Peter, Minnesota. Gee Gee has the only group of performing Huskies today who have enjoyed success in numerous appearances over the nation.

Along with the star performers, 40 of the prison's toughest inmate riders will attempt to tame tougher prison rodeo stock—the best assembled in the prison's $1 million arena.

There will also be several inmate entertainment groups featured and the Gorse Girls from the women's unit of the Texas Department of Corrections.

Free-world special attractions include calf roping, a girl's barrel race, trick riding and a top-flight mounted quadrille.

LUXURIOUS STYLING of Pontiac's 1962 sports coupe models is graphically illustrated by these views of the sparkling new Bonneville. A smaller rear window and a lower roof design give this two-door hardtop the rakish look of a softtop convertible. A divided V-shaped grille of horizontal bars exemplifies the smooth flowing lines and the Bonneville's generous full-length side moulding accentuates the car's long, low and sleek appearance. This same new look in hardtops is found in the Catalina sports coupe.

sonal appearances will be Rex Allen and his horse Koko on Oct. 8, Ernest Tubb, folk song star, on Oct. 15; U. S. Bonds, recording artist and Clu Gulager (Billy The Kid) on Oct. 22, with Chuck Connors of "The Rifleman" TV series on Oct. 29.

Net proceeds from rodeo ticket sales are placed in the inmates' welfare fund which makes it possible to furnish rehabilitative services not allocated by the state.

Reserved seat tickets for any of the five Sunday performances may be obtained by writing Rodeo Ticket Office, Huntsville, Texas, enclosing check or money order. Tickets are $2.40, $3.75 and $4.40 each, tax included.

The gas-saving "4" with Pontiac Punch!

PONTIAC TRIGGERS ANOTHER TEAM OF WINNERS. Every one is a fancy mover. Convertible, Sedan, Wagon, Two Coupes. Choice of 110, 115, 120 or 140 h.p., gas-saving 4-cylinder engine. A couple of extra cost options: Put on a 4-barrel carb and get 166 h.p. The citizen who wants even more can go for an aluminum V-8 option that pulls 185 horses.

TEMPEST HAS A FRONT ENGINE/REAR TRANSMISSION! (The only American car with this feature.) It gives Tempest equal weight at every wheel. It has biting traction on the bricks or in the mud. Tires last longer. Brakes take hold like they mean it. The front floor is practically flat (no big hump in the middle). Tempest seats six—easily!

Drive America's only front engine/rear transmission car... it's balanced like none of the others!

TEMPEST HAS INDEPENDENT SUSPENSION—FRONT AND REAR! Each wheel (and it's a big 15" one) moves up and down independently of the opposite wheel. There's no solid axle in the rear. Result: Firm ride on pavement, soft ride in the boondocks! Swing axles in the rear help the Tempest to carve out clean, firm curves.

PLUSH NEW SERIES—THE LE MANS (LUH-MAHNZ). The Tempest Convertible and Coupe are out this year in special custom trim. Call them the Le Mans! They both have sports-type bucket seats, full carpeting, floor mounted stick shift, acceleration rear axle option—no extra cost. Extra cost option: 4-speed gearbox. Take one out—it's a going machine!

The Tender Buds Junior Garden Club resumed meetings for the new club season, in a meeting Tuesday at 4 p.m. at the home of Mrs. W. W. Clements, sponsor.

A program on "Dried plant materials, how to select and preserve" was given by Mrs. Clements. At the conclusion of her demonstration and talk, Mrs. Clements served refreshments of punch and cookies to the following girls:

Starlene Berryman, Olivia Campbell, Louise Terry, Ann Marshall, Linda Vinson, Kathy Lawrence, Beverly Brandon, Patricia Sae Hughes and Vickie Hoyt.

IN APPRECIATION

I wish to take this means of expressing my appreciation to friends in Matador for the many cards, letters, gifts, flowers and other remembrances during the days of my hospitalization and recuperation have been made so much brighter because of your thoughtfulness. Mrs. Jack Robinson, Paducah, Texas.

RETURN FROM VISIT

Mrs. W. W. Clements and Mrs. Jameson returned Friday from a week's visit with relatives in New Mexico. Mrs. Clements accompanied Mrs. Jameson, and visited her daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Horton, in Las Cruces, and with two brothers, Philip Graves and W. D. Graves and their families, in Deming. Mrs. Jameson visited near Alamogordo with her mother, Mrs. E. T. Clark.

PIED PINIONS

By Mrs. M.

Our guess for the reason that "father-in-law" jokes are more rare than "mother-in-law" stories would be that dads just have a knack for making a daughter-in-law feel like she "belongs." Such was our own fortunate state. The goodness of Dad Meador to the wives of his sons will be a cherished amulet worn to his memory, by two grateful women.

Without sacrifice to the occasion, young cousins Joe, Douglas and Stacy Meador, and a niece, Carla Masey, furnished distractions for relatives here for the recent memorial rites.

Joe D., a chip off the "Old Block," this dad, Joe B. sang hymns while accompanying himself with gusto at an improvised piano. Notable was his rendition of "When the Saints Go Marching In." Little sister Stacy chimed in at intervals, adding space to the performance. Not to be outdone, Carla sang, with gestures, "You Great Big Beautiful Doll," and could easily have been singing about herself.

It was at this point that a certain not-too-old grandmother (whose initials rhyme with E. E.) who stopped by for a brief visit, was heard to remark, "Now, if I just had my grandchildren here..."

Dad would have enjoyed it all himself, more than anyone, because he loved all his relatives, especially the little folks. The night before he became ill, he spent a companionable evening joking and laughing with other great-nephews, Doug, Dan and Larry Meador, Dean and Billy Osborn.

Memorabilia such as these shape the foundation for a loving obelisk.

THANKS TO FRIENDS
We wish to take this means of expressing our appreciation for cards, visits, telephone calls and your prayers during our hours of anxiety for our daughters, Mrs. Lewis Mullins of Dallas who had surgery, and Mrs. Kenneth Meek and family of Victoria, in the hurricane area. We are also grateful to friends who visited with Virgie during my trip to Dallas last week. Our sincerest wish is that we may be able to help our friends in time of need, as we have been helped. Mr. and Mrs. Virgie Rattan and marched 82 yards in 17 plays, with a 28 yard pass that carried to the Matador 5 the key play. Quarterback Gary Loyd scored from the 1 with 43 seconds left.

Fox broke loose over right tackle to close out the scoring for Petersburg. The gallop was good for 66 yards. This score put the Buffaloes ahead 24-6 in the first three minutes of the final quarter but the next nine minutes belonged to the Matadors.

Matadors Take Over

Bearden returned the kickoff to the Buff 49. The first play was a toss from Lancaster to right end Kenny Barton who took the ball behind the Petersburg defenders and raced into the end zone to up the Matador score to 12 Jimmy Green took a short pass from Lancaster to make the extra points and bring the score to 14 for the Matadors.

A Petersburg fumble put the Matadors in business from the Buffalo 38. It took the Big Red nine plays to score, five coming from inside the 10. Martin slammed over the 3 with 3:29 left to cut the score to 24-20.

The Matadors had the ball with only seconds left but could not move as the Buffaloes held on for the win.

This week the Matadors return home to battle the Aspermont Hornets. The game will begin at 8 p.m.
