PENSION TAX AMENDMENT TURNED BACK AGAIN AS HOUSE REFUSES TO SUSPEND RULES, 95 TO 54

Army Group To Camp Here On Aug. 20

Arrangements were completed here Tuesday morning by Capt. S. F. Fain for an overnight camp by the 20th Infantry here on Aug. 20. Capt. Fain said that there would be about 1,700 men and officers in the regiment, which will be on its way to the "stream-line" maneuvers at Camp Bullis. Last week Capt. G. W. Marvin had completed preparations locally for 300 members of the Second Engineers from Fort Logan, Colo., to camp overnight at the city park en route to set up camp for the maneuvers.

PROPOSERS ASSERT FIGHT WILL BE ABANDONED FOR THE CURRENT SESSION

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Climaxing one of the greatest legislative controversies in Texas history, the house of representatives today again rejected the plan to finance social security by a constitutional amendment levying sales and natural resource taxes. A motion to suspend rules and once more take up the proposal already approved by the senate and favored by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel was defeated, 95 to 54. A two-thirds majority was necessary to suspend. Because the electrical voting machine usually varies slightly from the true result, an oral verification of the vote first announced was ordered. Before the test, the seventh on the amendment plan in one form or another, leaders of proponents said if the house again turned thumbs down on efforts to get the measure up they would abandon the fight in its behalf at this session.

FDR Opposes 3-Man Board For WPA

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt was reported on Capitol Hill today to desire two major changes in the house-approved relief bill—elimination of a proposed three-man WPA board and removal of a provision earmarking $125,000,000 for public works.

The president's views were said authoritatively to have been expressed in a conference yesterday with Senator Byrnes (D-SC), and Col. F. C. Harrington, the WPA administrator.

A senate appropriations subcommittee called Harrington for testimony on the $1,735,000,000 relief measure today. It expects to send the bill to the senate at the end of the week so it can be finally enacted before June 30, when the existing WPA appropriation runs out.

Senators who talked with Byrnes said the chief executive had recommended any funds for WPA should be appropriated separately rather than included in the relief bill.

Chairman Adams (D-Colo.) of the appropriations subcommittee, along with Byrnes, expressed opposition to the three-man board proposal and predicted it would be stricken out by his committee.

Byrnes told reporters he would offer an amendment to compel states to finance at least one-third the cost of all WPA projects within their boundaries.

Inclusion in the house relief bill of bans on political activity brought a prediction from Acting Chairman Celler (D-NY) that the house judiciary committee would make "drastic changes" in the Hatch bill to forbid political coercion by government employees or with federal funds.

"The bill is much too stringent in its present form," Celler said. "Besides, now that the relief bill has passed, there's little need for the Hatch legislation."

Tax Revision Bill Rushed To Senate

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—The business tax revision bill, approved by the house with only one dissenting vote, was rushed today toward senate passage by the week-end. The measure, repealing the last vestige of the undistributed profits tax and continuing excise levies for two years, was supported by democrats and republicans alike in an expressed desire to eliminate so-called business "deterrents."

The lone objector amid 358 votes of "aye" late yesterday was Rep. Tinkham (R-Mass), who said he was opposed to excise taxes and thought the bill did not give enough concessions to corporations.

Republicans claimed victory for killing the undistributed profits tax. They failed, however, in an attempt to make its repeal retroactive to last Dec. 31. Instead it will die at the end of this year.

Shutdowns To Be Continued

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—The Texas oil industry today faced continuation of field shutdowns eight days per month during July, August and September by order of the railroad commission. That body yesterday said the basic production allowance next month, after deducting for the closures, would be 1,362,158 barrels daily, a slight increase over current allowable.

Not considering the shut-ins, the July 1 allowable would be 1,789,270 barrels daily compared with 1,740,576 June 1 and 1,752,027 June 15, the commission stated.

Booster Trip May Change

J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, said this afternoon that the ABC rodeo motorcade would be run on schedule Wednesday.

While floods around Colorado made the scheduled Wednesday motorcade uncertain, preparations for the sixth annual Big Spring Cow-boy Reunion and Rodeo opening here Friday went steadily forward Tuesday.

At the rodeo grounds animals to be used in the six performances were penned and were being given copious quantities of feed in order to have them in top condition for the shows.

Twenty-one cowgirl sponsors had been named by West Texas and New Mexico cities and the number of floats in the parade Friday noon had passed the 50-mark, according to E. B. Summers, chairman. Monday's motorcade sponsored by the Kiwanis club published the rodeo in the territory west of here. The American Business club was to have taken a caravan to the south and east Wednesday, but all or part of the itinerary may have to be abandoned due to the excessive rains on the Colorado headwaters.

DIM MEMORY

"It sounded like fun," said Doris "Pee Wee" Donaldson (above), showgirl, about a plane flight to Washington after an all night round of New York night clubs. She remembered only "dimly" of the party, she testified at the trial of William F. Buckley, Jr., accused of mail fraud and who, with four others, the government claimed established a "beauty lobby" in Washington in an effort to influence legislation.

Judge Given 2-Year Term, $10,000 Fine

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Martin T. Manton, former judge of the United States circuit court of appeals, was sentenced today to two years in a federal prison and fined $10,000. It was the maximum sentence possible under his conviction for conspiracy to sell judicial favors.

Manton was sentenced by Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut after making a sometimes fervid but dispassionate plea of over an hour to have the jury's verdict set aside.

Manton summed up a long array of legal arguments against the conviction the jury reached June 2.

Even while Manton was pleading, the court where he formerly sat was reinstating for re-argument one of the major cases which figured on the charges of bribery and conspiracy.

The court attributed Manton's conduct "which shocked the American public and more particularly the American bar and judiciary," to the jurist's efforts to re-establish his great personal fortune which had been threatened by the depression.

"In attempting to save this fortune," Judge Chesnut said, "the defendant, one of the highest judicial officers of the United States government, violated the most important features of his high office. All public offices are a public trust, but a judicial office is more—it is a sacred trust."

George M. Spector, insurance broker, tried and convicted with Manton, was sentenced to a year and a day and fined $5,000. The case reinstated by the circuit court of appeals was the mandate entered in the patent infringement suit of the Shick Dry Shaver company against Diotograph Products company.

The Shick decision, holding there had been no infringement of Shick patents by Diotograph Products, has been the precedent for numerous decisions in federal district courts throughout the country.

Britishers Evacuating Tientsin

TIENTSIN, June 21 (Wednesday) (AP)—One hundred and twenty British women and children are evacuating today from the beleaguered British concession.

The party is leaving the British bend on a small British river boat for Tangku, where they will transfer to coast steamers for Chintangao and Peitaho Beach, on the coast some 200 miles northeast of Tientsin.

Chinese employees of vital British concession services began quitting their jobs under threats of death to their families in a lightning of the Japanese blockade amid warnings against third power participation in any British reprisals.

Chinese who work for concession water, electric, police and other departments received letters saying their relatives would be killed unless they resigned. Those whose families live outside the concession, in the Japanese-controlled area, were resigning.

U.S. REPRESENTATIONS TOKYO, June 20 (AP)—The Japanese government today studied new representations by the United States against Japanese military action in foreign areas of China.

Eugene M. Doonan, United States charge d'affaires in a call upon Seijiro Yoshizawa, head of the American section of the foreign office, yesterday specifically protested against a Japanese naval blockade at Kulangu, the international settlement at Amoy, an authoritative informant disclosed.

Doonan also discussed the Tientsin situation.

PROTEST WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Secretary Hall said today the American charge d'affaires at Tokyo had protested Japan's continued bombings of American properties in China.

Eugene H. Doonan called on the Japanese foreign minister on instructions from the state department. In addition to making representations against the bombings, he also sought to obtain permission to publish the recent exchange of notes between the United States and Japan on this subject.

Hull explained it was customary to obtain assent of a foreign government for publication of one of its documents—the Japanese reply.

Rail, Highway Traffic Here Is Paralyzed

Buses Rerouted, Mail Likely Will Be Relayed At River

Although torrential rains of Monday night missed the Big Spring area, this city Tuesday felt some of the effects of it as traffic from the east was paralyzed.

Shortly after noon Postmaster Nat Shick waded over the highway bridge at Colorado and got two men to bring back a pair of pouches of first class mail for Big Spring. He then carried the mail here where it was promptly distributed.

Early Tuesday morning State Highway Patrolman Hardy Matthews advised Patrolmen L. P. McCasland and Max Westerman to reroute eastbound traffic from Big Spring either south or to the north.

The Texas and Pacific Railway company, with its trestle at Colorado City out, faced a major traffic problem. The dispatcher's office here said communication lines also were down, and definite instructions had not yet been given on all traffic movement.

It was said, however, that the morning eastbound train, stopped here, would be returned to El Paso, where through passengers would be transferred to the Southern Pacific lines.

Repair crews from both Big Spring and Fort Worth were ordered to stand by for work at Colorado City. The T&P already had been fighting high water menace at Baird.

The telephone companies, the radio stations had interruptions of services when lines went down.

W. F. SCARBOROUGH REMAINS IN A GRAVE CONDITION

KERMIT, June 20 (AP)—W. F. Scarborough of Midland remained in a critical condition today from pistol wounds his son, Hollis, was charged with inflicting.

The 71-year-old wealthy Texas and New Mexico rancher and oil man was shot at his ranch home near here yesterday.

District Attorney William Kerr filed a complaint of assault with intent to murder against Hollis Scarborough, 41, last night in Justice of the Peace J. B. Salmon's court.

Kerr said the son had made a statement. The elder Scarborough, for whom the Scarborough oil pool was named, underwent an operation yesterday afternoon and was given a blood transfusion by his nephew, C. F. McCargo, of Cheyenne, Texas.

No Clues To Ohio Escape

MARYSVILLE, O., June 20 (AP)—A deepening mystery, revolving around a couple of keys, confronted authorities today as they sought to learn how Mrs. Velma West, husband-slayer of the flapper era, and three other inmates escaped from the state reformatory for women "for one little adventure."

"They had to have keys to get out, but no keys are missing," exclaimed Mrs. Marguerite Keiley, superintendent of the institution, shortly after she ordered three women sent to correction cells "until they tell me what they know."

Mrs. Keiley said the three placed in correction cells, whom she refused to identify, slept in a corridor through which Mrs. West, 33-year-old woman from Painesville, O., slipped to freedom with the other inmates early yesterday.

To make their escape, Mrs. West and her companions had to ward part of the ship, and Lieut. William T. Doyle of Baltimore, second in command to Naquin, was the diving officer.

"I did not personally witness reports to the diving officers," Naquin told the court, "but I am told both Nichols and Patterson reported to Lieutenant Doyle that their compartments were ready for diving."

"We got down to 50 feet and I had time to comment that the dive was better than earlier dives and then I walked over the periscope, and it was not until then that any pressure was felt in our ears, and reports were received of trouble aft."

Rate Evidence Is Questioned

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Sharp cross-examination by the carrier of a West Texas oil refiner uninvited this morning's session of a hearing before the Texas Railroad commission for investigation of intrastate class and differential freight rates in the state.

The witness was M. H. Champion, traffic manager of the Coltex oil refinery at Colorado City and president of the Petroleum Rail Shippers association, composed of refiners in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Kansas.

Champion was called to the stand yesterday on direct examination, as a witness for the West Texas chamber of commerce, and gave testimony rail rates on petroleum products moving from and within Texas were so repressive as to have closed 100 inland Texas refineries within three years. His own plant is about to be shut down, he said.

The witness was taken on cross-examination by the carrier.

The spectators became tense once more as Naquin said adjustments had been necessary on the main induction valve, the surface air intake which has been credited by some high officers as the cause of the tragedy.

But here again the Squalus commander added that the equipment in question had been completely dismantled and re-assembled, and that 18 dives had been made after this, without trouble.

Waters Claim Life At Snyder; River At Record Stage

T&P Trestle Goes Out, Refinery And Highways Inundated; Many Forced To Flee Homes In Low Sectors

By The Associated Press
West Texas cloudbursts today claimed one life and sent the Colorado river at Colorado City on one of its worst rises in history, carrying away four bridges and menacing Snyder.

Oille Morrow, a former Snyder business man, was drowned last night when he was swept from a bridge during a flash flood at Snyder, Scurry county. Damage was unofficially estimated at $250,000 in Snyder.

Thirty-five miles southwest of there, at Colorado City, the Colorado, fed by cloudbursts, carried away the 300-foot Texas and Pacific Railway bridge, washed out a highway span on the San Angelo road south of the city, menaced the large highway bridge on U. S. Highway 80, state highway No. 1, west, and battered down two smaller spans north.

Colorado City, a town of 5,000 population, feared more damage from backwaters of the river which rushed into Lone Wolf creek which runs through the city. About 300 families of Mexicans and negroes fled to high grounds when their homes were inundated in the lower area of the town.

Eight cars of fuel oil hauled onto the railway bridge to save it were swept into the river when the trestle went out.

Hundreds of bales of cotton swept from a compress above the bridge were hurled against the spans and tore it away. The cotton moved on downstream and was banked against the highway bridge. Water was as high as 12 feet deep across highway 80 west of Colorado City.

The Texas and Pacific westbound passenger train, two hours late in arriving at Colorado City, at 3:15 a. m. was held in the town after trainmen viewed water lapping two feet below the trestle. Fifteen minutes later the span collapsed.

Passenger trains, buses and private automobiles were stacked into the town. No loss of lives had been reported in the Colorado City area.

Water Four Feet Over Highways

Water stood three and four feet deep on highways only three blocks from the business section but residents explained the water was merely sufficient force to be dangerous. Two bridges north of Colorado City—Cedar Bend and Swinging bridge—spans of some 200 feet, tumbled into the river.

Colorado City braced for a further rise when the crest of the cloudburst-fed stream from Snyder, some 30 miles above, strikes the section.

Residents said the Colorado City higher than it had ever been but they were unable to estimate the depth. It was still rising. Between 40 and 50 houses were under water in the lowlands.

All highway traffic was halted in the area, as was rail traffic. The Col-Tex Oil refinery in the west part of Colorado City was standing in several feet of water.

At Snyder, a flash flood drove 200 persons to the safety of high ground last night, washed away four houses and the American Legion hall, and was subsiding today.

Robert T. Bridge, Red Cross disaster relief director at Abilene, left there early today for Snyder and Colorado City after he received reports serious flood damage was threatened. At Dallas, U. S. Weather Forecaster Joe L. Cline said local conditions in West Texas which were producing the heavy downpours would continue for at least 24 hours. He saw no prospect for heavy general rains in either East or West Texas, but said the local thundershowers would continue.

Houses Washed Off Foundations

River observers at Colorado City said apparently the first of the high water originating on the watershed in the vicinity of Snyder, approximately 30 miles northeast, had reached there.

Many houses in Snyder were washed from their foundations and others were badly damaged when water rose in them several feet. Jim Ned creek near Brownwood—a principal tributary of the Colorado river approximately 150 miles downstream from Colorado City—was on a rise and water was flowing two and a half feet deep over the dam at Lake Brownwood. Rainfall at Brownwood last night totaled 1.40 inches.

Cloudbursts on the watershed of two creeks that virtually encircle the business district of Snyder put them at flood stage. The water began its swift upward surge at 5 p. m. By 7:30 it was so high city officials began sounding the fire alarm at regular intervals to warn residents of lowlands. The crest roared through town between 10:30 and 11, and the water has been slowly receding since.

Other Bridges Are Carried Away

The approaches to a bridge on State Highway 15 were damaged, and another bridge was washed away. Deep creek, on the western boundary of the business district, rose two feet higher than it ever had before. Dry creek, on the eastern edge of the business district, overflowed a section three blocks long by two blocks wide.

Many citizens said they were awakened by rushing of water through their yards, or by the fire alarm. They dressed hurriedly, took no time to salvage household goods and fled to high ground.

Heavy rains since Sunday sent many secondary streams on flood stage in West, Central and East Texas. Washouts yesterday disrupted interurban service south of Italy, and between Hillsboro and Waco and halted movement for a time on the Texas and Pacific railway past Baird.

Traffic was returning to normal on most highways which were covered by floodwaters yesterday. Between Dallas and Corsicana Highway 75 was reopened and interurban service had been resumed. Water covered both interurban line and highway for several hours last night.

SUB COMMANDER SAYS FAVORABLE REPORT HAD BEEN GIVEN HIM BEFORE LAST DIVE

FORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 20 (AP)—Lieut. Oliver F. Naquin, commander of the sunken submarine Squalus, brought to a naval court of inquiry today a message from the dead—a report from the one officer who perished that his part of the ship was "rigged" or ready for the final fatal dive May 31.

The officer was Ensign Joseph W. Patterson of Oklahoma City, in charge of the after compartments which subsequently were flooded, trapping him and 25 others at their posts as the Squalus plunged to the bottom in 249 feet of water.

Baptist Missionary For Dist. Chosen

Rev. Elmer Dunham, pastor of the First Baptist church at Santa Anna, Tuesday had been chosen by the executive board of Baptist district No. 8 to serve as district missionary.

Rev. Dunham is due to assume his new duties effective Aug. 11. He will succeed Rev. J. J. Strickland, who resigned two months ago to become pastor of the South Park church in Beaumont.

The new missionary was named by the district board in a session Monday afternoon at the First Baptist church here. His territory will include the Big Spring, Lanham and Colorado associations.

Novel Idea, But Sound

When the Florida legislature adjourned early this month, its members left behind them the threat of a deficit running into millions of dollars annually. Like lawmakers in some other states, the Florida legislators did not hesitate to authorize additional appropriations, but they failed to provide the necessary revenue. At the end of the session, legislative leaders predicted that the deficit might run between four million and 12 million dollars a year.

But Gov. Fred P. Cone, small-town banker and business man, answered those predictions with one of his own. "The state's going to be all right," he declared, clarifying that declaration by adding: "We just won't spend what we haven't got." And Governor Cone proceeded to use his veto power to eliminate most of the threatened deficit. Within a few days after adjournment of the legislature, he had wiped out approximately five million dollars of appropriations for which the body failed to provide revenue. Nor did he stop with that. He went ahead to veto another bill that would have repealed a gross receipts tax producing two million dollars a year. No wonder Governor Cone could assert so confidently that "Florida's going to be all right."

Some of the other states might be "all right," too, if more politicians had the downright nerve to do the things that they know should be done, to say firmly, "We just won't spend what we haven't got." It's a novel idea in governmental circles nowadays, to be sure; but it's a sound idea, anyway.—(Texas Weekly).

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—It isn't often that anyone who isn't a professional Cuban musician is allowed to sit in on the Latin jam sessions which are staged during the early hours of every morning in a small basement cafe near Fifth avenue and 116th street.

This is a spot where liquor flows freely at all hours, yet the establishment has no legal beverage permit. It is a place where dancing flourishes, but there is no cabaret license to conform to the city's laws.

Its ponderous steel-sheathed door is equipped with a peephole and buzzer system—a throwback to the speakeasy era of not so long ago.

Only Latin musicians and entertainers frequent this off-the-record cafe. It's theirs by right of exclusive occupancy. They drift in after their own chores for the day are completed. Business is heartiest between 2 a. m. and noon.

The proprietor is Rodolfo, a Cuban and a talented guitarist. When show business went sour seven or eight years ago he turned to bootlegging for a living. He has been at it ever since. Of course, he has run afoul of the law at intervals, but after cheerfully paying a fine, he always returns. Rodolfo speaks only a very few words of English.

This low-ceilinged soiree room is simply furnished with a dozen small tables, a few rough benches, a six-foot bar, and a miniature piano. The gray walls are inhabited by vivid Latin caricatures.

The drinks come high at Rodolfo's place. Whisky and rum are 50 cents a jigger, each jigger an ounce. Beer is 25 cents a small glass. There is no gin, no wine, no brandy. The menu consists of chicken and rice, steak and chops. The food is plainly served and usually is excellent.

It is in this subterranean restaurant where many new breaks and rhythms are previewed before being offered to the public. Cyticism is terse and constructive. While praise is genuine, flattery is discouraged, and personal grudges aren't tolerated.

The patrons always bring their own instruments and music, and sometimes as many as 15 recognized stars are joined in an impromptu recital of rumba, swing, and even waltz.

Practically the only outsiders on deck are visiting musicians, and they are usually in the jam before the jamboree ends.

Manhattan, long a leader in the world's most modern and most elaborate electric lighting wonders, illuminates its safety zones with kerosene lanterns.

Billy Rose pays those pretty young swimmers in his Aqueducts $35 a week. And showgirls in all the Broadway clubs get $35 weekly. Swimming or dancing, it makes no difference in this town, if you're an entertainer.

The afore-mentioned Mr. Rose, by the way, can sit on his front porch and look right down into the Aqueducts—at least he could, if he had binoculars. The "porch" is a Manhattan terrace, 22 floors up, looking squarely across Queens to the fair.

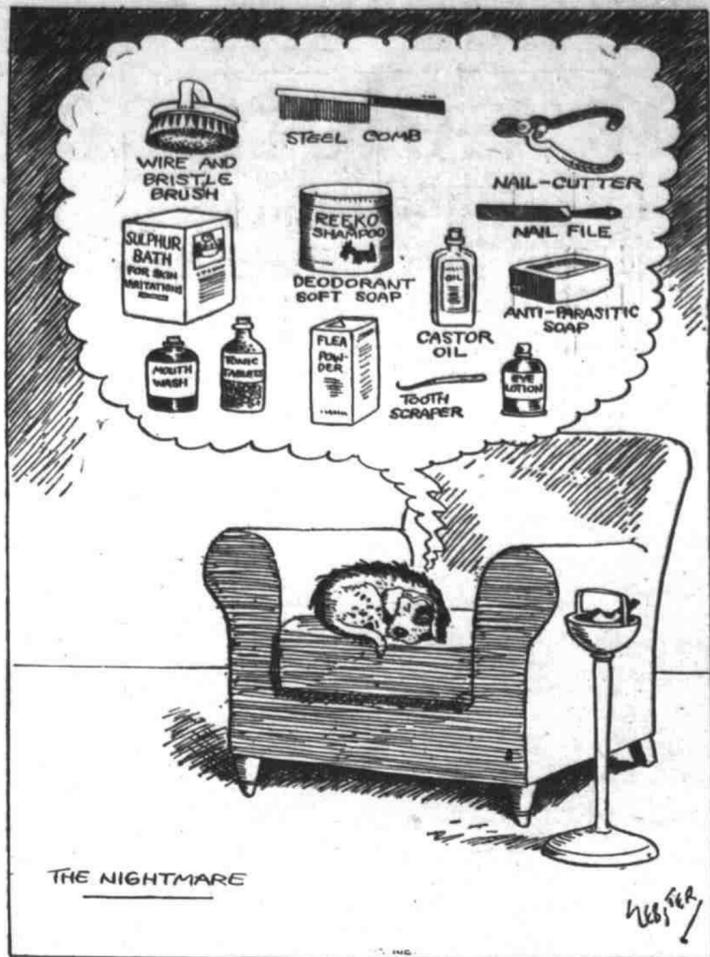

It has been estimated that hivedred, a grain field pest, reduces grain yields as much as 50 per cent.

Women are not allowed to work in Louisiana barrooms under a law enacted in 1894.

Modern lacrosse originated from the stickball game of the Indians, who still play the ancient form.

More than 45,000,000 pounds of castor beans are imported annually for oil alone.

Chapter 13
HORACE AND MORRIS
 "The next thing Lucella was going to do was tour the hospitals to find out if anybody had been brought in with a broken neck," continued Jumbo. "She decided against this because, she said, the people in the hospitals would think she was nuts. Figure it out for yourself, Van. Suppose you rushed into a hospital and said: 'Anybody with a broken neck been brought in here tonight?' Well, the first thing the hospital people would say is: 'Who? What name?' And Lucella didn't even know my name at the time. And she doped it that, in a place like New York, people with broken necks are being carried into hospitals every minute. It would have been like looking for a needle in a haystack. So she finally decided to sit tight and see if there was anything in the papers about it the next morning."

"Of course, there wasn't. I did the prettiest back-dive of modern times and it didn't even make the news. Well, after that Lucella couldn't do anything except wait and hope. And then I called one day. You can imagine how pleased she was to find out that she wasn't a murderer. And in her enthusiastic way—I forgot to tell you that she's very enthusiastic—she asked me right over."

"And you fell for each other?" said Van. "Isn't that just ducky?"

"Well, yes," said Jumbo. "In a manner of speaking. When I saw her in broad daylight, surrounded by all those feminine little touches girls put in their apartments, it dawned on me suddenly that she was a knockout. I knew I was sunk. So I rose to the occasion and took her out to tea."

"Ha! She drinks tea, eh?"

"It was hot," said Jumbo. "We had gin fizzes. Lucella says that alcohol taken in minute quantities at the proper times has caloric value."

"Well, what happened next?"

"Oh, we've had a few dates. And the other day I broached the subject of this party of ours with a view to signing her up for the big night."

"That went over okay, I suppose?"

Jumbo reflected, "Well, it did and it didn't. Lucella is not a girl to mince around about anything. If there's something on her mind, she comes right out with it. So she called me: 'Cutler, she said—she calls me Cutler, you see. She's direct. No nonsense. Well, Cutler, she said, 'you've asked me to go to an affair with you. But I've been doing a lot of thinking lately, Cutler. quer your obesity, Cutler, and I been more plentifully sprinkled might follow you not only to this secret party, but even unto the ends of the earth. Who knows?"

"I renounce!"

"Well, here I thought I'd been sitting pretty and all the time, it seems, Lucella had had reservations. It was a stunner, I tell you. But I want you to see how I met the situation. 'Well, I said—I believe in matching directness—I with a broken neck been brought in here tonight?' Well, the first thing the hospital people would say is: 'Who? What name?' And Lucella didn't even know my name at the time. And she doped it that, in a place like New York, people with broken necks are being carried into hospitals every minute. ### Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—A current inner-circle story about Postmaster General Farley says that he went on his western tour to sound out party leaders on his own possibilities and ran into such a swell of third term talk that his journey became almost a torch parade for President Roosevelt.

It turns the story of John Alden and Miles Standish into reverse. In that Pilgrim fable, John Alden went to the snow-decked cottage of the beautiful Priscilla to propose to her on behalf of his fighting friend Standish.

"Why don't you speak for yourself, John," said Priscilla, and the embarrassed young fellow backed out into the chill air, torn between loyalty to Standish and a desire to ask the prize for himself.

Democratic partisans insist Farley took his western swing to see whether his own enormous popularity could be converted into state delegations to support him in a bid for the presidential nomination. It was during an appearance in Arizona that he appears to have been left with the choice either of speaking out for himself or reaffirming for President Roosevelt.

FARLEY'S LOYAL
 Nobody around here doubts Farley's loyalty either to the president or to the party. Rather than thrust his own case forward at the risk of party disharmony, he abandoned the quest for support for himself.

The wave of third term talk was no surprise here. The boom for Vice President Garner precipitated it. Garner is looked upon here as the magnet for those in the democratic party opposed to out-standing Roosevelt policies. Too much Garner boom would have spelled almost a repudiation of the New Deal. A countering wave naturally would have come anyway.

Speculating too far ahead on the outcome either of the Garner boom or of a move for a third term for President Roosevelt is useless business. Only one thing appears to be agreed upon in both camps. That is that no candidate can be nominated without the consent of the president.

For the president that is a highly strategic position. It reserves power for him both in dealing with congress and in the determination of a democratic presidential candidate in 1940. His forthcoming trip through the West, then, has two values. It will give him an opportunity to sound out for himself, by backtracking the Farley trail, whether there really is great demand for him to run for a third term. In turn it will build up his own position, for previous experience has demonstrated that where his foot treads more democratic grass grows.

Incidentally, Garner's doings continue to be a mystery second only to that of whether President Roosevelt will seek a third term. Everyone who talks to him comes away believing that Garner wants it very well understood that he is seriously after the nomination. He hasn't announced his candidacy and perhaps won't. He didn't announce for the presidency in 1932 although he had two important delegations committed to him.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—If you're one of the people who foam at the mouth about the number of Britishers playing in American pictures, consider Otto Kruger.

Kruger hails from Toledo, Ohio. And he's one of England's favorite actors—in British pictures. For the past several years he has been a regular commuter between London and Hollywood, and what's more, he plays British roles over there.

He has just returned again to his big white West Los Angeles home and is talking about "settling down" permanently. Settling, that is, unless he decides to go back to England on a deal with the new Leslie Howard company.

Kruger was under contract to M-G-M, the only time he signed a term in Hollywood, when he learned that 72 per cent of his fan mail was coming from Great Britain. When he received an English offer a short time later, he accepted—and now he's a big star over there. The British, usually more critical of Americans in English roles, have accepted him without reservation. And the only American he has played—in the English studios—was the role of a playster.

In Hollywood, his speech is as American as anybody's—he sheds his broad-A's on the boat, acquires them again through painstaking practice as soon as he sails from New York. Remarkable? Not at all, he says. Ability to assume an accent should be part of an actor's equipment.

Kruger's latest Hollywood movie now is "All the Tomorrows," opposite Frieda Inescort. He was sold on the story—you can bet on that, or he wouldn't have done it. Time was when he wasn't so happy about his Hollywood assignments.

Once I talked to him about the matter of using the local stage as a "show-window" for versatility. It was the recommended procedure, the sure means of displaying to producers, casters, and directors the actor's ability in any given direction. And he laughed, with reason.

Because, with that idea in mind, he had done his New York hit, "Counselor-at-Law," on the stage here—and John Barrymore did it in the movie. Barrymore, undiscovered, he had played "Accent on Youth" here, a play written for him by Bennett Raphealson—and that Herbert Marshall did it in the movie.

"But all that's changing," he says now. "In England they don't insist that an actor stick to type—and in Hollywood we're getting away from it."

If Kruger joins the Leslie Howard company abroad, the association will be most unusual. Throughout his Hollywood experience, the one man Kruger has been most frequently mistaken for has been Howard, and vice versa. The two would work, however, in different units.

"I'll never forget the time in Chicago," Kruger relates, "when I was shopping and attracted a swarm of fans. I felt wonderful, glorious, extremely flattered about it—and then one of them addressed me as 'Mr. Howard.' My deflation was complete!"

Lake Superior is the deepest of the Great Lakes, its maximum depth being 1,300 feet.

Records of the Youth Hostel association show that more girls go hiking and cycling than boys.

KBST NOTES

Noted Poet To Be Honored On Radio Program

A little known side of the life of Grace Noll Crowell, nationally known Texas poet, will be discussed on TSN's "Personalities in the Headlines" at 10:15 a. m. Wednesday on Station KBST. Mrs. Crowell was named one of the Ten Outstanding Women of 1938, National Outstanding Poet and All-American Mother for the same year. These and many other honors came to her in spite of attacks of nervous depletion against which she makes a courageous fight. A second personality on the Wednesday program will be Harold Ingraham, who with his wife, is seeking peace among the savage tribes of Southern Arabia. An Englishman, he often is called the "Second Lawrence of Arabia."

HEALTH TALK
 Supplementing last week's health talk on heart disease, the Texas state department of health has prepared for its fifth weekly discussion the topic, "Heart Symptoms Without Heart Disease," the broadcast to be heard over Station KBST and the Texas State Network from 11:05 to 11:15 a. m. Wednesday.

The talks are prepared by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, and are presented from the studios of KNOW, TSN's affiliate for the state capitol. Copies of the health talks may be had by addressing the Texas Department of Health, Austin.

MUSIC BY FAITH
 From Toronto, Canada, Station KBST listeners will hear on Wednesday from 7:30 to 8:00 p. m. another edition of Percy Faith's music in swinging rhythm. Faith's strings will play "Spring Madness," George Murray's tender voice will sing "White Sails" while the novelty mixed quartet follows later with "Snug as a Bug in a Rug." Dorothy All will sing the appealing ballad, "You Are My Dream." The broadcast originates through the Canadian Broadcasting corporation and is brought to the local station by TSN.

FLAYS SAFE
 Friends are complaining these days about the over-cautious driving of Clark Fuiks, TSN announcer for the "Crime and Death Talk No. Holiday" program at 8:30 p. m. each week-day on Station KBST. So completely has Fuiks sold himself on the safety campaign which the program is promoting that friends have stopped riding with him if they want to get any place at a speed greater than 15 miles per hour.

Lubbock Opens 3 Game Series Against Barons Tonight

Bahr Masters Pampa Oilers Behind Mates

Pat Stasey Paces 13 Hit Attack In 11-1 Triumph

HANK HART Exhibiting a very nice "No. 1" pitch, Edson Bahr rode his sixth slab triumph of the year as the Big Spring Oilers swept their 3-game series with the Pampa Oilers taking the Monday evening game, 11-1, in Baron Park.

Bahr was in rare form, smacking Oilers with five base blows, lifting eight. He would have had shutout but for his own wildness the eighth frame when he put runners aboard. The invaders led that break to advantage, Paul Lewis scoring on a single by Bill Winters.

Frankie Grabek negotiated the lance for the Pampans and was lifted with his second reversal as many days. The Barons risk his offerings for a total of 13 blows and sewed up the deuce as early as the first frame on they put together four hits with a free pass and a sacrifice to four times.

Win 30th Game Continuing his terrific willow assault, Pat Stasey again blazed away as the Barons carved out 30th triumph and cut away (but half a game) Pampa's third place advantage. The fourth of swinger's net results included a double and two singles in official trips. He drove in five runs.

Every player in the Big Spring up with the exception of Bahr selected at least one blow. Cardele's brace of doubles figured prominently. Bahr experienced an easy time striking Gordon Nell, the other batter, striking him out on his first trips to the plate. The limping man had nothing but "horse" in four attempts.

Manager Tony Rego twice ended the squeeze play successfully in the early frames when he was needed. Van Marshall "one down" to score Stasey third in the initial frame and Berndt did the same thing in the tie to count Marshall.

The Herby Morey continued to pier the lemon, getting a single tribute to the first inning as he then reappearing in the third as a double that drove in a run, by emerging as a serious contender for a higher slot in WT-league standings, the Barons under the league leading book Hubbers in a "crucial" beginning tonight.

Hubbers, coming here after being Lamesa in two of three in Lubbock, are nearing half honors in championships. Gaining the upper hand in series here would help a lot. Joe has Clarence Trantham and light available for mound duty.

Nazis Prepare For Olympic Games

INTEREST GROWS IN LIGHTWEIGHT RANKS

BETTINA AND CONN SLATED TO TANGLE

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—The dethroning of John Henry Lewis is promising to bring more activity in boxing's light heavyweight division than that class has enjoyed in a good many years.

Lewis, ruler of the 175-pound division since 1935, never found his title very profitable. He even took a shot at heavyweight champion Joe Louis in order to make it pay. And he suffered an injury which cost him the sight of one eye and, as a result, his title.

But now that most of the ruling bodies of boxing have withdrawn title recognition from John Henry, he may be able to cash in to some extent on the excitement.

The National Boxing association demanded he undergo an examination. Yesterday it stripped him of his title so far as the 30-odd states under its jurisdiction are concerned for the double reason that his vision was impaired and that he hadn't defended the crown in six months.

Gets Offer Hardly had the N. B. A. decision been announced when John Henry received an offer to "defend" his title in St. Louis July 11 against Gus Lesnevich, young Cuffie, N. fighter. Since Missouri is not a N. B. A. member, the bout may be accorded recognition as a championship affair there.

Meanwhile Mello Bettina, of Beacon, N. Y., the New York state champion, is due to fight young Billy Conn of Pittsburgh here soon and Lesnevich and Dave Clark have a scrap scheduled at Nutley, N. J., next Thursday. If the two winners are matched, it's generally understood both the New York commission and the N. B. A. will award the world title to the survivor.

If Harvey or Australia's Ron Richards want to come to America for a fling at the title, they'll be let in on the elimination series. Those six compose the entire top flight of light heavies after Lewis is counted out.

CANDIDATES FOR SECOND BASE JOB MANY DALLAS, June 20 (AP)—At few positions in the Texas league this season is the quality of play more evenly matched than at second base.

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

Emil Anderson's second annual semi-pro baseball tournament, a meeting sanctioned by the national semi-pro congress, gets underway in the Odessa park Wednesday evening with two Permian Basin league clubs, Odessa and Texon, tangling.

Champions of the tournament will be dispatched to Waco and the state tournament with all expenses paid. That offer wasn't enough to attract many of this sector's teams into arguing with the strong nines of the Permian Basin league, which this year are claimed to be the strongest in the history of the organization.

As a Thursday evening feature Penwell and Goldsmith, two teams expected to accomplish very little in the way of victories, are opposed. Only other worthwhile threat in the meeting is a Hobbs, N. M., team which undoubtedly had no conception of the strength of the invaders from the PB.

Anderson with help of his brother, Taylor, will provide fans of that sector action for the next two weeks with the championship game scheduled after July 1.

Miller Harris, the old Cooden baseballer who has been visiting here over the weekend, left for Odessa today where he goes into the Crane lineup in that team's game with the strong Halliburton Cementers.

Miller, who had his troubles in early season, has elevated his batting average to .510, a jump of some 200 points.

Uncle Billy Diech, University of Texas baseball coach who scouts for the Boston Red Sox during the summer, sat in on the Pampa-Big Spring go last night, left for other league ports this morning.

Collecting 14 bingles in his last 27 trips to the plate, Pat Stasey has elevated his batting average to .525, a jump of some 27 points over his mark of a week ago.

Lone Star And Devils Meet Wednesday

Anderson's Devils get their final chance in first half Munny softball league play to bring the Lone Star Chevrolet team down from their high perch in a Wednesday evening encounter to be played at the city park.

The two teams were originally scheduled to tangle several weeks ago but the game was postponed. The Lone Star team swings into action tonight against Jack Frost Pharmacy.

Last night's game was postponed due to high winds.

Participation of Germany in the winter sports was in doubt so long as the games were scheduled at St. Moritz, but now they have been moved to Garmisch-Partenkirchen there is no doubt Germany will be strongly represented.

A great deal of interest is being manifested in the West Texas Junior golf tournament which will be held here next month, according to Harold Akey, Munny pro, who spoke briefly of plans for the tourney at the advisory council meeting of the recreation department at the city hall Monday evening.

The possibility of securing the co-operation of the local theatres in giving free show tickets each Saturday morning as awards for regular attendance and good behavior on all city playgrounds was discussed by the attending group.

H. F. Malone, recreation director, disclosed that the chamber of commerce had agreed to assist in staging a local aquatic meet and would furnish transportation for a swimming team to compete in neighboring cities staging similar meets.

W. R. Dawes and W. C. Blankenship contributed to the program with brief surveys of the musical organization and activities of our community. Blankenship called attention to the need of a centrally located park. He said such a move should be a co-operative undertaking with the school, city and all civic organizations.

Those in attendance were Marvin House, Malone, Blankenship, Dawes and Akey.

Kennedy Tames Nats In 14 Rounds; Yankees Club Tigers In 8-5 Win

By BILL WHITE Associated Press Sports Writer The two American league teams voted most likely not to succeed—the Washington Senators and the St. Louis Browns—are busy accepting plaudits for the best-played game in the big leagues yesterday.

True, there weren't a lot of games played, but that doesn't detract whit from the 14-inning, 2-1 thriller the bottom place due put on in Griffith stadium.

And it brought to light, not only the fact two cellar dwellers can have as much fun playing the game as the more proficient Yankees but the suspicion Manager Fred Hazy of the Browns didn't do so badly by himself when he acquired Vernon Kennedy in that trade with the Detroit Tigers that sent big Buck Newsom to Autocity.

Vernon scattered six hits to stop the Senators. And last week he hurled a three-hitter to muffle the Athletics, 6-0.

Kennedy, the 30-year-old Missouri righthander, got some vital help from one Chet Laabs, who cracked out a triple in the 14th, sending teammate Johnny Berardino home with the game-winning run.

The champs made five runs off their young fooman, and didn't seem to mind later being out-homered by 2-3.

The Chicago-Philadelphia game was rained out and Cleveland and Boston were not scheduled.

The National league wound up right where it started, with an entire day practically wasted, although the Dodgers and the Cubs got a good workout. They played eight innings before the rain came, and were bunched at three apiece, after Brooklyn had belted Charley Root out with two runs in the last inning they played.

PEOPLE THINK TEAM TO WIN AGAIN

BERLIN (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Host, and according to one system of calculating, victor over the United States at the last Olympics, Germany is preparing to make the next games another series of "Deutschland Ueber Alles" events.

Under the reich's sponsorship and genius for organization, national socialist sport clubs and national socialist sportsmen are being marshalled into line for the 1940 games.

Both the spectator and the athlete himself are being taken care of in the plans being carried out by the sports ministry of the reich.

The official news agency stated recently "the active sportsmen will be accompanied by trainers, doctors, veterinarians, mechanics and referees. The German quota of tickets will be first at the disposal of the German participants."

The reichs bund for sports will cooperate with the Kraft Durch Freude (strength through joy) movement in the transportation of crowds expected to travel up to Helsingfors.

Participation of Germany in the winter sports was in doubt so long as the games were scheduled at St. Moritz, but now they have been moved to Garmisch-Partenkirchen there is no doubt Germany will be strongly represented.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Joe Louis probably will go on an exhibition tour through Dixie if he wins Galento's cars back next week.

The Yankees didn't forget to give congratulations to Lou Gehrig who was 36 yesterday. Maxie Rosenbloom has hired a press agent and is demanding Joe Louis.

Likes her tragedy: With irate Cub fans buring up the mails, it must have given Phil K. Wrigley one of those good old collegiate thrills to have Miss Julie Loefel of Madison, Wis., write:

"I don't know of any finer entertainment than to watch the Cubs play ball."

Boxing czar: "That's the solution." Ouch dept.: The Senators recalled Bob Prichard, star first sacker from their Charlotte (N.C.) farm just when Charlotte needed him most.

Wonder if the Dodgers made a memo of that 73-year-old grandma who broke up a softball game with a homer at Bristol, Conn., the other day? ... Mal, Biff Jones is not on the spot at Nebraska, as some of the tatters have been talking.

Fight tip: Ralph Collette, the Broadwayite who urged his pals to bet on Schmeling in the first Louis fight, told the St. Paul Dispatch Galento will stop Louis. ... The New York football Giants have baffled Neilson, 290-pound fullback from Arizona.

NETTERS MOVE INTO ACTION

CHICAGO, June 20 (AP)—The "big three" of the national clay courts tennis championship—Frankie Parker, Wayne Sabin and Gene Mako—were down for action today.

Parker, singles division favorite, shares the top seeded position with Ladislav Hecht, Czechoslovakian Davis cup star, while Sabin is seeded No. 2 and Mako 3. All were expected to face opponents today as first round matches were completed.

COTTON TO MARRY LONDON, June 20 (AP)—Henry Cotton, 52, captain of the British Ryder Cup golf team, gave notice at a London register office today of intention to marry Mrs. Maria Isabel Moss, 37.

Completes Report On Conditions In Coast Grid Loop

MOUNT HOOD, Ore., June 20 (AP)—Edwin Atherton's report on athletic conditions in the Pacific Coast conference was completed today and representatives of the 10 schools began studying the voluminous survey.

Prof. C. V. Rusek of Oregon State college, conference president, said the delegates would require several days to read the report and would comment later in the week. There was no indication as to the content.

Atherton, former federal agent whose extended study included such subjects as pressuring and athletic scholarships, said before the conference meeting opened that he was only reporting—not recommending.

QUALIFY TODAY

CHICAGO, June 20 (AP)—Midget auto racing drivers take to the boards at Soldier Field again tonight in another battle for points which will determine pole positions next Sunday in a 100-lap duel for the national championship.

Sam Hanks of Alhambra, Calif., who won the 50-lap event in Sunday night's inaugural program, headed the list of drivers on the evening's program.

TO RUN IN LINCOLN PITTSBURGH, June 20 (AP)—Long John Woodruff indicated today he would accept an invitation to compete in the National A.A.U. track and field championships in Lincoln on July 2-4.

The invitation awarded Pitt's unconditional acceptance upon his return from Los Angeles and the N.C.A.A. meet.

Palestine Loses To Kilgore, 5-4

By The Associated Press Mule Tuten fanned 14 batsmen last night as he buried his Kilgore mates to a 5-4 victory over Palestine.

The other three East Texas League games were postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

George Bradley of Palestine honored by the sixth with one aboard but the rally fell short.

Would Limit President To 6-Year Term

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—An attempt to limit presidential service to a single six-year term is being made by some of the senate opponents of a third term for President Roosevelt.

The senate judiciary committee agreed yesterday to vote July 3 on a constitutional amendment incorporating the one-term idea.

Senator Burke (D-Neb), frequent critic of administration policies, in a radio speech last night advocated the amendment and declared a third term for Mr. Roosevelt next year might lead to a breakdown of American democracy.

"In the light of prevailing trends," he said, "should the third term tradition be broken in 1940, no man can safely predict the fate of our form of government."

Joining Burke in expressing opposition was Senator Vann (D-Ind), likewise a critic of the 1937 court bill and various other new deal proposals.

Van Nuys told reporters a third term "would violate one of the best traditions of our country," and announced his support of Paul V. McNutt, high commissioner to the Philippines, for the 1940 democratic presidential nomination.

(McNutt said at Honolulu Sunday that he would not run if Mr. Roosevelt sought renomination, but would back the president instead.)

The comments of Burke and Van Nuys threw into sharp relief the differences of opinion within the democratic party over a third term for Mr. Roosevelt, who has given no clue as to his own views.

Secretary Ickes recently took the lead among advocates of the president's reelection, in a magazine article calling the two-term tradition "political humpbug."

'WILD WOMAN' GETS THE STOMACH ACHE

BEVERLY, Mass., June 20 (AP)—William Ryan, 27, lay in a hospital today with a terrific "stomach-ache" as the result of his appearance as a "wild woman" in a Boston carnival.

At the same time, police searched for two men who Ryan blamed for feeding him the razor blades, electric light bulbs, cap tacks and other impediments which caused the pain.

Ryan told authorities the men forced him to swallow the assortment in the course of the first job he had been able to find, following his graduation from high school.

X-rays supported his story and doctors said they would permit nature to take its course in ridding Ryan of the conglomeration of glass and metal.

examination by Grady Ross and Harry Jones, counsel for the Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific lines, respectively. They challenged, first, the whole trend of his testimony on the ground it involved interstate rather than intrastate rates, therefore was not within the scope of this hearing.

Second, Ross and Jones challenged accuracy of Champion's figures on the number of refineries closed since 1936 at inland Texas points, and the reason for their closing, and demanded he present proof.

"Isn't it a fact," asked Ross, "that when these small inland refineries closed it was because of economic conditions within the oil industry, a survival of the fittest?"

"That is not a fact," Champion answered. "These 100 refineries were shut down because of the pure, undefiled ignorance and selfishness of the railroads in refusing to lower rates to a reasonable level."

The exchange following between lawyer and witness grew so heated Commissioner Lon A. Smith, presiding, counseled them to moderate. On Harry Jones' motion, Champion was instructed to present statistical support of his statement on the number of refineries that have closed. He promised to do so.

RANGE WORK SHEETS BEING ADJUSTED
County committee for the AAA in Howard county Tuesday set about the task of adjusting range work sheets for the year.

under flood waters. Communication, however, kept partially open.

L. B. Williams, manager of the bus terminal, said that all buses from the east and west were being routed through San Angelo. Roads between San Angelo and Abilene, he said, were still open.

Shiek was not certain how mail would be handled pending repair of the flood damage at Colorado but felt that it would be taken on a train to Colorado, there relayed across the river to another train. A similar arrangement would be worked for incoming mail.

For the most part Howard county was missed by the heavy rains. Ackerly reported a quarter of an inch of rain, accompanied by a violent electrical storm at 10 p. m. Monday. Vealmoor farmers reported from a half to an inch of rain. J. P. Anderson, above Luther near the Howard-Borden line, reported about an inch on his place. North of there the fall increased to two inches. Clayton Stewart's ranch, still further north, reportedly received from five to seven inches. The Beals ranch, in that area, got four inches.

Between the Anderson ranch and Vincent heavy rains were reported, but it was unknown if the Vincent area came in for a soaking. However, most of the territory on the upper reaches of the Colorado came in for deluges.

Rain did not extend far south. Mrs. Ida Mae Oldham, southwest of Vincent, said that spotted showers visited her place. Three and four miles north of Coahoma showers were reported.

FUGITIVE AGAIN

ELUDES POSSE
HAYWARD, Wis., June 20 (AP)—The densely wooded Moose Lake country hid Ray Olson, fugitive slayer of two deputies, as a posse he thrice had eluded followed his cold trail with bloodhounds today.

The hounds tracked a fading scent near the Chippewa CCC camp at northeast Sawyer county last night. District Attorney Jay Davis said the fugitive definitely had been identified as a 30-year old convict who served a term in the state prison for burglary under the name of August Buelo.

Buelo escaped from a deputy sheriff in Waukesha county in 1927 after he had been sentenced to serve six months in the Milwaukee house of correction for stealing muskrat hides. Sheriff Alvin Redford said at Waukesha.

Negro Family Flees Home After Attack On White Man
FORT WORTH, June 20 (AP)—Police today were keeping watch over a house, recently occupied by a negro family, where a crowd of about 500 persons gathered last night, forcing the family to flee, then smashing windows and furniture in the home.

In a hospital, Dewitt Brown, 30, who walked past the scene on his way home from a store, was being treated for injuries sustained when he was struck in the chest with a baseball bat.

Police were again called to the house at 9 a. m. today after receiving a call to the effect prowlers had entered the house and were damaging it. Investigators found several youths had turned on the water, gas and lights and then fled.

May 8, 1938, was the 25th anniversary of the creation of the Farm Extension Service in the United States.

Your Favorite Book?

What Would Be Your Choice If You Had One Volume On An Island?

The mythical question of what you really would do if you were cast off on a desert island has been speculated on by many but looking at the situation from a literary point of view—the following question was asked:

"If you were cast off on a desert island and could only take one book with you, what book would it be?"

A wide scope of answers were given and here are a few:

Janet "Speck" Ross, waitress — "I'd find out what island I was going to be on and then get a book about it so I would know what to do."

Mrs. Ben Carter — "I'd take either 'Anthony Adverse' or 'Gone With the Wind' as they were two fiction books that I liked best of all."

W. S. Fleetwood, linotype operator — "I'd take the dictionary, I guess, it has more subjects in it than anything else."

Wyatt Covington, automobile salesman — "I'd take the Bible, of course."

Mrs. B. T. Cardwell, housewife — "I'd take Willa Cather's 'Death Comes for the Archbishop,' as it is a book that I read over every so often. However, I might take a book on gardening."

Dana Hudson, hotel manager — "I guess I'd better take the Bible."

Mrs. Carter To Head Christian Council Here

Officers Named And Meeting Time Is Changed

The nominating committee's report was heard and accepted Monday when the First Christian Council met at the church to name Mrs. Roy Carter as president.

Other officers include Mrs. George W. Hall, vice president; Mrs. R. A. Jordan, secretary; Mrs. J. J. Greene, treasurer; and Mrs. J. T. Allen, missionary chairman.

Mrs. C. A. Murdock presided at the meeting and the Rev. G. C. Schurman gave a prayer and a talk. "I Need Thee Every Hour" was sung by the group.

The council voted to meet during the summer on the first Monday in each month until September.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. C. A. Murdock, Mrs. G. C. Schurman, Mrs. H. Clay Road, Mrs. F. C. Robinson, Mrs. Cliff Wiley, Mrs. Tom Rossen, Mrs. J. H. Stiff, Mrs. R. J. Michael, Mrs. W. M. Taylor, Mrs. J. H. Gray, Mrs. L. D. Eddins, Mrs. R. L. Milner, and Mrs. Harry Lees.

Methodist Circle 3 To Hold Garden Tea Tonight

Circle Three of the First Methodist Woman's Missionary Society will hold a "Merienda" or Mexican Garden Tea at 8 o'clock to 10 o'clock tonight in the home of Mrs. H. N. Robinson, 507 Washington Blvd. Mexican decorations and appointments will be used to carry out the theme.

To Have Singing School

The West Side Baptist church will hold a singing school at the church through this week at 8 o'clock each evening. The public is invited.

Correct Constipation Before—Not After!

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of emergency relief. Why let yourself suffer those dull lifeless days because of constipation, why bring on the need for emergency medicines, when there may be a far better way? That way is to KEEP regular by getting at the cause of the trouble.

If it's common constipation, due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, a pleasant, nutritious, ready-to-eat cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran—goes straight to the cause by supplying the "bulk" you need.

Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day—with milk or cream, or baked into muffins—drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Braniff Lines To Celebrate Anniversary

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 20 (AP)—Braniff Airways, Inc., announced today it would celebrate its 11th anniversary this week with ceremonies in each of the cities it serves between Chicago and Brownsville, Tex.

As a feature, President Tom E. Braniff said six of the company's Douglas B-liners would be dedicated to heroes of the five states the line serves and Mexico.

Special dedicatory exercises will be held in Chicago, Kansas City, Wichita, Oklahoma City, Houston and San Antonio.

Oklahoma's ship will be named "The Sequoyah" after the Indian who invented the Cherokee alphabet. The name will be carried on the plane's nose and a plaque on the cabin door.

Chicago will dedicate the liner "Abraham Lincoln," after Illinois' famous son; Kansas City the "Mark Twain" after Missouri's revered sage; Wichita the "General Frederick Funston" after the Kansas soldier who led American forces in the Philippines and Mexico, and Houston the "Sam Houston" after the former president of the Texas republic.

In San Antonio, a high-ranking Mexican official will dedicate the liner "Benito Juarez" after the Mexican leader.

The first Braniff plane was flown 11 years ago today between Oklahoma City and Tulsa. Today, Braniff operates a fleet over 10,000 miles daily.

FOUR BLIND DATES

By Edwin Rutt

"You don't know which one of these guys you want to see?" he asked.

William shrugged. "It doesn't matter. Either or both."

"Because," said the delicatessen man, spitting over the counter at a cat who had come to feast the doorway, "you can't see one without the other."

"Is that so?" said Bill. "Devoted comrades, eh? Damon and Pythias?"

"Huh?"

"I said, perhaps they're buddies."

The delicatessen man leered. "An' how!"

"Well," said Bill, wishing to get on with it, "do they live in this building?"

"Yeah," said the delicatessen man. "But they ain't here now. They're working."

"Okay. Where do they work?"

"Where do they work, huh?" said the delicatessen man. He brooded for a space, then seemed to get a thought. "You wait a minute, fella."

He turned and took a much-thumbed card from the top of the cash register behind the counter. "This here card," he declared, "says where Horace and Morris work. They says if anybody asks for 'em when they ain't here, I should give 'em this."

Bill took the card. Scrawled in pencil on it was the legend:

HORACE & MORRIS EAST DIFFENDERFERN'S PENNY ARCADE

... EAST 42ND STREET

"Ha!" said Bill. "Theatrical people, eh?"

The delicatessen man grinned at him. Ever since learning of William's mission the delicatessen man had comported himself after the manner of one who possesses superior knowledge. His present grin had a faintly patronizing quality about it. Bill, having noted the information on the card, handed it back.

"Well," he said, "so long. Thanks very much."

Then, enchanted at leaving the delicatessen man and his sinister leer, he went out and hailed a taxi.
