Commissioners Discuss Precinct Redistricting

The Motley County Commissioners Court met Monday, July 8 for their regular monthly session. After the invocation by Donald "Butch" Hughes, the minutes were read for the regular June Court and two special sessions and approved. The bills were read and approved. Reports were read from the Treasurers Office and Sheriff and Tax Collector's office, a letter of resignation from Joan Patton, Library lay representative to the Library Board was read and accepted.

The JP reports were read with Precinct 1 JP collecting $6012.00 in fines and Precinct 4 JP, none.

The County Agent, Rocky Vinson and Extension Agent, Beverly Thomas, gave their reports for May and June activities, etc.

The Court passed a resolution to hold the local fall election with the constitutional Amendment election on August 10.

Judge Hart had a bid of $100.00 for the repair on the windows upstairs in the Courthouse. Court passed this job.

Commissioners appointed the elected judges for the fall election as follows: Precinct 1, Hazel Donovan and Faye Slover; Precinct 2, Bill Washington and Sam Ross; Precinct 3, Betty Simpson and Juanita Curlee, Northfield; Evelyn Garison and Earlyne Jameson, Matador; Precinct 4, Venita Sedgwick and Imogene Swim.

Harry Hamilton asked the Court if the County is doing terracing. He was going to need some done and would rather see the County have the money. The Commissioners said they could if the graters were available at the time needed.

Seth Halbert, Representative of Central Plains Center for MH/MR and Substance Abuse, gave a report on the 90-91 year. He stated 31 patients from Motley County were seen in this time period, the ages of patients is primarily 17 years and under, with a value of $38,771.63 for treatment. The greatest expense being Out-patient Counseling, Diagnosis and Evaluation, the Crisis Stabilization Unit, and Community Support Program.

Halbert asked the Court to keep their $960.00 support in their budget.

Mike Cline, SPAG representative for the Redistricting plan, presented the map and plan for Court approval, before he sends it to the Justice Department in Washington, D.C.

After lengthy discussion and dispute over 17 extra miles being added to Precinct 2, the Court recessed until Friday, July 12 at 10:00 a.m.

Public Tours Dickens County Dentention Center

NOTE: This article was taken from The Texas Spur

The public toured the Dickens County Dentention Center on Saturday, July 6, which was the final opportunity for the public to tour the facility since the operators would prefer not to have tours when it is occupied, according to Judge Woodie McArthur.

Tours were under the direction of personnel from North American Corrections and Dickens County Commissioners.

The prison was inspected by Terry Julian of the Texas Jail Standards Commission and he did not pass the facility saying the smoke exhaust system needed to be modified. Prison officials do not view this as a big problem and expect the facility to pass the next inspection which has been scheduled for July 15. No prisoners will be housed until the facility has been approved.

The facility will house prisoners from Harris County.

Travis McPherson, president of North American Corrections based in San Antonio, will move to Spur and serve as Warden. The food service has been contracted to a firm in Louisiana and the educational department has been contracted to Chenier Business School, Beaumont.

A list of personnel can not be released officially until psychological testing is complete.

The facility has 150 beds and meets maximum security standards. (The difference between a maximum security unit and a minimum security unit is the maximum security unit has 45 single cells or more. Any facility with under 45 single cells is considered minimum security.)

Dickens Electric is supplying electricity for the facility while the prison will probably be one of the largest users of water and natural gas from the City of Spur. The City will also provide sewer and sanitation disposal. It will rank in the top four employers in the county.

"We are looking into the feasibility of expanding the facility into a 300 bed unit," Judge McArthur said. "The kitchen and administrative sections were built with this capability," he added. Thus far another privately financed prison has not received approval since the Dickens County unit was okayed.

The opening of the prison, which will come some time after the July 15 inspection, culminates two years of work, planning and study.

Is Redistricting Necessary?

In an interview with Judge Boyce Hart, on Tuesday after the stalemate in Commissioners Court on Monday, July 8.

Judge Hart stated, "I'm sorry about misconceptions and rumors that have confused people, we hope this problem can be solved as easy as possible and with minor problems. I also want the Commissioners to solve this problem themselves in order to keep unity in the Court and County."

The Judge also would like to encourage each citizen who doesn't understand or has questions, to call their Commissioners or the Judge, to keep the facts straight.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Who is making Motley County redefine the four Precincts?

The Federal Voting Rights Act requires County Commissioners Courts to meet certain requirements and in order to be in compliance with the Federal Statutes and Texas Constitutional and Statutory Provisions US Voting Rights Act of 1965.

Are other small counties doing this? Yes, even King County who has only 354 residents. These residents have to be divided equally in their four Precincts. Dickens County began their redistricting this month, too.

Will the Commissioners have to move?

No. They only have to live in their Precinct.

Can't Motley County do this themselves the way they want it done?

No. The plan has to be done according to criteria listed by the Acts and then approved by the Justice Department in Washington, D.C.

When does this have to be approved? By October 1, 1991

What about people living in Matador having to vote in Roaring Springs or Flomot?

The Commissioners are already making arrangements to have voting boxes in each town. Roaring Springs Citizens will still vote in Roaring Springs and Matador residents in Precinct 4 will have a box in Matador (after a petition of 25 names is turned in to the Court requesting a box in Matador). The Flomot Citizens will still vote in Flomot and the Citizens in Precinct 2 living in or close to Matador, will have a voting box in Matador.

How have they changed the people count in each Precinct?

The count was Precinct 1 - 525; Precinct 2 - 209; Precinct 3 - 478; Precinct 4 - 320. The new redistricting plan presented is at present, Precinct 1, 384; Precinct 2, 384; Precinct 3, 382; Precinct 4, 382.

The new hand held radios have the phone patch system, making the regular phone system available to the EMT's who are mobile.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor:

My cousin Arthur Harmon from Amarillo was kind enough to send me the Roaring Springs Homecoming issue of your fine paper. I was in the class of 1941 and a picture of our class was printed. As I looked at the picture with much nostalgia I realized that I have lost touch with every single one of those at one time, close friends.

If you see fit to publish this letter, and if any reader will tell me how I can contact any or all of those in my graduating class, I promise to write and, hopefully, to renew some friendships.

Sincerely yours,
James Harmon

To the Editor:

Those of us who complained loud and long (and I was one of the loudest) about the condition of the Matador Cemetery should see it now. It looks great! It has been mowed and trimmed and looks so nice. The approach to the cemetery has been mowed.

Go see it, and thank the Cemetery Association President, Gary Lancaster, and David and Tammy Taylor who did all that work.

It takes quite a bit to keep the Cemetery looking as it should look so any donations will be greatly appreciated.

5 years audits. He felt that since the past few years, the Hospital District had ended in a deficit each year.

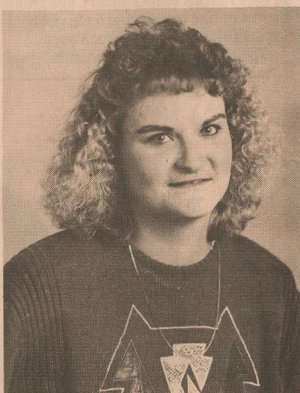

Johnson also informed the Board the funds were running low and they would need to take funds out of reserve for August and September.

Bob Davis, a representative to SPHPO, explained the funding of SPHPO, being a non-profit organization operating on grant funding. Also that the Motley County Clinic was one of the only Clinics that is self-supporting.

The Board discussed the need for more EMT's. The State requires two certified attendants in the crew at all times. The Board can apply for a variance but still needs to build up the EMT roster. Rose explained they had four up for testing now and hoped to recruit more this fall. Meeting adjourned.

Callie Winegar Giesecke Honored On Retirement

Callie Winegar Giesecke

On the eve of her retirement as mail carrier between Roaring Springs, McAdoo and Crosbyton, Callie Winegar Giesecke was honored with a Retirement Party in the Depot at Roaring Springs from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday afternoon, June 29.

The party was hosted by postal friends, Nell Clem, Billie Clifton, Juanita Cooper, Rita Harris, Freda Keahey, Naomi Lawrence, Tommie McCormick, Doris Neff, Ruth Roberts, and Grace Zabielski. Cake, mixed nuts, and lemonade was served to many guests who came to wish the honoree well.

Memories of happenings over the years the honoree had carried the mail, were shared.

Doris Neff, acting postmaster at Roaring Springs, presented Callie with a certificate of appreciation for her 43 years of service as an HCR carrier for Roaring Springs, McAdoo, and Crosbyton signed by Don Bloyd Postmaster, Lubbock.

Geney Stan Receives Honor As Teacher Of The Year

One of San Juan College's most enthusiastic and dedicated teachers has been selected as the state's winner of the annual Excellence in English Education award for 1990 by the New Mexico Council of Teachers of English.

Geney Stan, who has taught at SJC for more than 13 years, received the honor in Albuquerque Oct. 19. She had been nominated by her peers and then selected by vote of the statewide NMCTE committee.

Teaching both English and philosophy, Geney is described as a dedicated teacher who spends hours preparing for classes by reading and re-reading literary works so she may share new perspectives with the students.

"She loves the language and encourages students to develop an appreciation for the language by experimenting with it," said Mitzi McCoy, director of the Humanities Division. "Observing Geney's classes is always a revitalizing experience for me because she is so thoroughly involved and so energetic."

"Her eyes dance as she listens to a student read a piece that he/she has created and struggled with to perfect. She then gives immediate feedback which is both supportive and instructive," McCoy added.

Overall, Geney Stan is a scholar and lifetime learner, McCoy continued. She is fascinated and excited by ideas, and thoroughly enjoys sharing those ideas.

She is a joy to watch, a pleasure to work with as a colleague, and a breath of fresh air in a profession which is all too often characterized by pettiness and cynicism.

Mrs. Stan, daughter of Mrs. Rosa Spray of Whiteflat, is a graduate of Matador High School and North Texas State University in Denton. She has a son, Jonah, Texas Tech student in Lubbock and daughter, Cassandra of LaPlata, N.M.

Home Extension Agent - Home Economics

RECYCLING IS EASIER THAN YOU THINK

If your community doesn't have a curbside pick-up program, you will need to drop off recyclable items once or twice a month at a recycling center nearest you. Check with your local County Extension Office or the local government to find out where recycling centers are located. You might be able to organize a neighborhood cooperative, where several families get together and take turns hauling the group's recyclable items to the center.

If you live in a rural area with no easy access to recycling centers or have other conditions limiting your ability to haul off recyclable items, consider in-home recycling. Books and magazines can be donated to public libraries or nursing homes. Packaging materials can be saved and reused. Before you throw something out, try to think of any other ways you can use it. Take your own string, canvas, paper or plastic bags to the supermarket when you shop. Many supermarkets are now collecting paper and plastic bags for recycling. Check with the supermarket manager.

You also can reduce the amount of waste you generate by purchasing and using products wisely. When possible, buy rechargeable or refillable items. Buy products with the smallest amount of packaging materials. Look for products that carry three arrows in a loop and the words "made from recycled materials" or "this product can be recycled."

Everyone should look for and request recycled products. Recyclers are paying less for some recyclable materials now because more people are recycling than are buying recycled goods. Find out what business in your community are doing to stock and use recyclable products or goods made from recycled materials.

If you cannot find such products when you shop, ask the manager or owner why they are not available. As consumers come to trust products made from recycled materials, the demand for recycled products will increase. Then the demand and price paid for recyclable products should also go up, giving consumers more incentive than ever to recycle.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are for people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

We need a rain! Have you noticed how dry everything is? The grass is brown and it crunches when you walk on it, and not to mention the country side around my house, it looks so barren and dead.

I cannot believe this weather, of how it can rain alot at one time and then it changes, to like it is now, so hot and dry!!

I don't see how people can work out in this heat. Be careful and be sure to drink plenty of water. And for the ones who have pets and keep them outside in this heat make sure you water them down or do something to keep them cool. The animals suffer worse than us humans, do to their heavy coat of fur, and never leave them in the car with the windows up and the air conditioner off. It could kill them. We don't want to see that happen.

I hope you're praying for a rain like I am. We all need one. But since this heatwave is going on, be careful!! Maybe if we ask for one we'll receive it! PRAY FOR RAIN!!!

WHERE ARE THE FISH?

After looking at recent tournament results and talking to local experts, the question of the week is 'Where have all the fish gone?' Seems like only yesterday that catching bass was easy and the crappie were just waiting to jump in the boat.

It's part of the seasonal pattern. If one is dedicated to just catching one species of gamefish, then knowing their favorite hideouts makes sense. For bass the spawn is over, and fishing pressure has depleted the number of fish that live next to the shoreline. Limiting bass fishing to the shallow water means fewer successful outings.

Experts in our local Fun Tournaments will pound the shoreline only early and late. Big bass expert HAROLD AUSTIN suggests that the bigger bass will actively feed in water 8-12 feet deep. Find some structure in 8-12 ft. deep water near a drop-off to some 20+ ft. deep water. Slow down and probe this area until a pattern emerges. Some days a slow crankbait works. Jig and pig combination, ring worms, mag worms, craw worms will all work IF the angler is patient.

One of the most efficient and effective methods for fishing deep water is a Carolina rig. First use a very heavy worm weight (1/2 up to 1 oz.), a small glass bead (to keep the weight from cutting the knot) and tie on a swivel. At the other end of the swivel tie to a leader (12 lb. is good) that will range from 3 ft. to 18 inches depending on what the fish prefer. Now tie on a size #1 Owner Worm hook and rig up either a weenie worm or try a Jack Chancellor 'do-nothing' worm. Let me repeat the sequence of a Carolina rig: heavy worm weight, glass bead, brass swivel, a length of light line leader, a delicate little worm or lizard.

The key to the Carolina rig is working the deep cover because that is where the fish live. When your line feels heavy, sweep the rod tip and start reeling. Don't wait for the tap-top of normal worm fishing.

FOR THE BEST FISHING - Catfish are great fun. According to catfish expert G.W. CHISOLM at Boots and Jeans, catfish will devour most any live bait and some even prefer chicken and turkey liver. One of the best things about fishing for catfish is that every night they cruise the shallows looking for food. Find a comfortable spot, set out the rods, and let Mr. Whiskers do the searching.

Kids and catfish make a great team. Bring plenty of insect repellent, snacks and let the little ones reel in the fish. Nighttime fishing: its a trip they will never forget. The fish will make a great meal and listen as the kids talk about the one that DID NOT get away.

Wear a seatbelt in the car and a life jacket in the boat.

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes

NOT ALL FARM WORK IS COVERED BY SOCIAL SECURITY

Farmers and farm workers need to know when farm work is covered by Social Security.

Farmers must pay Social Security taxes for any worker who is paid at least $150 in cash during the year. If the farmer's total expense for agricultural labor is $2,500 or more, all workers are covered by Social Security, even if they earn less than $150. An exception is made for some piece-work laborers.

The exception applies to laborers who live at home and commute to work daily during harvest season to pick fruit and vegetables by hand. If the work is paid in a piece rate basis, it is only covered by Social Security if the worker is paid at least $150 in cash.

More information for farmers and farm workers is available from Social Security located at 201 West 4th Street, in Plainview or by calling 293-9599. Ask for Factsheet 6, Crew Leaders and Farmers or Factsheet 8, Agricultural Workers.

WTU Requests Rate Decrease

West Texans trying to hold off the effects of summer temperatures received some welcome news from West Texas Utilities Co. the electric utility has lowered the cost of electricity 7.8 percent for July through September compared to costs for the last year.

According to Jesse Turner, WTU's local manager, the interim decrease is part of WTU's request to lower the fuel cost portion of the bill to reflect the price it is paying for gas and coal to generate electricity. The Public Utility Commission of Texas will decide whether permanently lower costs should go into effect beginning in October, Mr. Turner said.

Those final costs are expected to be about 2.5 percent lower than they were during the last 12 months. July through September are typically the months of highest use as air conditioners and heat pumps work overtime to keep inside temperatures as much as 30 degrees lower than outside temperatures. The actual size of each customer's bill will be determined by their use.

WTU also offers energy saving tips which can reduce costs through lower use. These include replacing air conditioner filters monthly; closing drapes to keep out direct sun; using heat producing appliances (such as the oven, washer, dryer, and dishwasher) during the cooler morning and evening hours; and many more ideas.

For booklets and tips on conservation, contact your nearest WTU office.

Host Families Urgently Needed

Reach-out for peace and make a difference in a young person's life, by hosting an international teenage exchange student. The Youth Exchange Service is a nonprofit organization that urgently needs host families from all over the United States to host a group of teenage students from 5 continents, scheduled to arrive in August for the 1991/92 high school year. These wonderful and deserving kids come with cultural visas, are 15-18 years old, are carefully screened, bring their own pocket money and are fully covered by insurance.

Families with or without children will benefit greatly from the experience of hosting an international ambassador of 'Goodwill'. A family only needs to provide love and understanding as the main ingredients to a successful hosting experience. Each month a family host an exchange student through the YES program, they may declare a $50 deduction on their taxes. For further information about becoming a host family, please contact the Youth Exchange Service (YES) at their 24 hour toll free number: (800) 848-2121.

According to figures compiled by Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (PCG) area growers will need to make good management decisions in order to maximize an already late 1991 crop's potential.

"The lateness of this years crop will limit the ability of a producer to bring cotton out of any stressful situations that might develop during this years short growing season," notes Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President. "What it boils down to is that producers are going to have to make timely decisions this year and closely monitor the crop for any signs of stress that could further reduce their yield potential."

Overcoming dry conditions at the outset of the 1991 growing season has turned out to be only the first hurdle that this years crop is going to face.

The majority of area cotton producers were able to establish a crop, albeit late in some areas, and getting that late crop to produce good yields is going to be the biggest challenge many producers will face this year.

The expected increase in the number of acres planted on the High Plains did materialize even though planting continued up until the very end of June in some areas.

Based on recently released figures from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) the Texas crop should come in with a greater number of harvested acres than in 1990. Whether or not more cotton is produced is going to depend on the crop receiving good weather for the remainder of the growing season and timely rains.

High Plains producers increased their cotton plantings to slightly over 3.62 million acres in 1991, 13 percent over 1990's 3.2 million planted acreage figure.

Using a breakdown provided by the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service (TASS) it was possible to estimate how much of the 6.5 million cotton acre attributed to Texas in USDA's 1991 preliminary planted acreage report were found on the High Plains.

The 3.62 million acre estimate was derived using the planted acreage totals for districts 1-N and 1-S, which include 21 out of the 25 counties around Lubbock.

Figuring in a 10-year historical abandonment average of about 15 percent leaves 3.07 million High Plains acres available for harvest in 1991. This would allow 1991 production to come close to 1990's 2.9 million bale total.

Applying the High Plains five-year yield average of 447.5 pounds per acre projects a 1991 crop somewhere between 2.8 and 2.9 million bales.

Taking into account the late planting, which occurred over much of the High Plains, yields are expected to be lower than 1990's 510-pound per acre average.

In the end however, it appears that while the High Plains did see an increase in its cotton acreage of about 400,000 acres in 1991, there will probably not be any notable production increase in 1991.

GOOD SOLDIERS

Hardships, like dangers, are usually experienced before their severity becomes apparent. Those who have suffered most are more reluctant to describe tribulations that can but seem a little foolish and weak beneath the burden of martyr's glory. Good soldiers seldom find pleasure in the discussion of unpleasant things that each has known in battle.

Betty's Tax Talk

by Betty Luckett

WHAT HAPPENS IF A TAX INCREASE IS PLANNED?

Taxing units hold budget hearings to discuss two important items: what services to provide in the coming year and where to get the money to pay for these services. Taxpayers with concerns about how their taxes are spent should attend these budget hearings.

If a governing body wants to increase property taxes above the rollback rate or by more than three percent above the effective tax rate, it must publish a quarter-page notice in a local newspaper, announcing a special public hearing. This notice shows the proposed percentage increase, the difference between the proposed tax rate and last year's actual tax rate, and the effect of the proposed increase on the average home taxes.

The public hearing gives taxpayers an opportunity to voice opinions about the proposed tax increase and ask questions of the governing body.

Before the hearing ends, the governing body must set a date, time, and place for formally adopting the tax rate. The taxing unit then publishes another quarter-page ad announcing the meeting.

If you believe that one of your taxing units has failed to comply in good faith with the laws on adopting a tax rate, you can file a lawsuit in state district court to stop collection of the taxes.

WHAT CAN YOU DO TO LIMIT A TAX INCREASE?

If a taxing unit adopts a tax rate that exceeds the rollback rate, the taxpayers may petition for an election to roll back or limit the tax increase. Petitions for holding a tax rate rollback election must:

- * Use specific legal wording. An attorney can provide assistance on the proper wording for a petition.

- * Be signed by at least 10 percent of the qualified voters in the taxing unit. The number of qualified voters is the number of voters from the most recent official voter list. Signatures are invalid on a petition if they are gathered by someone paid to collect them.

- * Be given to the taxing unit's governing body within 90 days after the date it adopted the tax rate.

Once the governing body receives a tax rate rollback petition, it has 20 days to determine if the petition is valid. If the governing body determines that the petition is valid, of if the governing body takes no action during the 20 days, it must set the date for an election within 30 to 90 days.

Except for school districts, if a majority votes in favor of the tax limitation, the tax rate is reduced to the rollback rate.

In school districts, the limitation applies to the following year's tax rate. However, school finance laws may permit the school to set a higher rate.

TOO MUCH BEAUTY

It has justly been said that this section of western Texas has the most beautiful sunsets of any place on earth, yet, how often do you even so much as hear a casual remark about a sunset? Is beauty truly in the eye of the beholder? I have seen a cowboy stand up in his stirrups and lean forward into the sunset, as if to get a little nearer the thing that fascinates him. I have seen a lone wolf stand on a high and distant hill and look in the sunset. The trouble with Texans is that we have too much beauty. We have ceased to look for it.

HEALTH NEWS

WHAT ARE ALLERGIES?

An allergy is the result of an abnormal response to a normally harmless substance known as an allergen. Those allergens can be inhaled, swallowed, injected or have direct contact with the skin. Common examples include pollens of plants, spores of molds, household dust and animal dander. Some foods, medications and industrial chemicals can similarly cause an allergic response.

"In allergic individuals, allergens stimulate the production of antibodies which result in an inflammatory response," said Dr. Robert J. Mamlok, an allergist on Methodist Hospital's medical staff.

This may result in a runny nose, itchy eyes, asthma or other disorders of the lungs, stomach or skin.

Many forms of treatment are available for allergy sufferers. The first step involves recognizing potential triggers of allergic reactions and removing them from the environment.

"For example, some allergic patients on a lot of medications have been essentially cured when they got their cat out of the bed or exercised appropriate house dust mite control measures," said Dr. Mamlok.

Several safe, effective medications are also available to treat the symptoms of allergic illnesses. Finally, immunotherapy (or allergy shots) may be considered by your allergist if symptoms persist. This form of treatment involves a gradual introduction of the offending allergen with the goal of desensitization.

Bottled Water:

There are many reasons to drink bottled water. Your tap water may sometimes taste "off." However, many people drink bottled water because they think it's "healthier" and "purer", which in most cases is not always the truth.

Because of this change in attitude "sales of bottled water have quadrupled during the last decade," reports the "University of California at Berkeley Wellness Letter" in its June 1991 issue. Some bottled waters are high in sodium and fluoride, which are also present in tap water.

A government report given in April 1991 found that bottle water "may contain levels of potentially harmful contaminants that are not allowed in public drinking water."

The newsletter suggests that if your tap water comes from a municipal system, there's no health reason to forsake it for the bottled variety.

Settling the Score

Our older daughter took up soccer again this spring.

Julie played a couple of seasons of girls' youth soccer about the time she started elementary school. Once, her team completed the season with only one loss and came within a single game of winning the big end-of-year tournament.

But through it all, Julie remained an indifferent player, bemused by the whole "win, win, win" attitudes of her coach, some of her fellow players and most of the parents.

The soccer organization's stated goal was to provide fun for the kids. But there were so many grown-ups running things — coaches, referees, parents, helpers — that it didn't seem much like a kid's game. Julie sighed with relief when she decided to drop out. My husband and I were glad.

So, we were all surprised when she came home from school and announced that she had joined a newly formed team.

A boy in her class was recruiting members. Julie and one other girl signed up.

We still aren't sure why. We suspect that the "mixed" nature of the team influenced her decision. At 11, Julie still thinks boys are "yuck-o," but her protests grow weaker by the day.

Anyway, our Saturdays once again revolve around soccer games, our weekdays punctuated by practice. Not much has changed since our first go-round with the sport. The local youth soccer organization still preaches that fun, not victory, is what's important. But the coaches, and most parents, still want to "win, win, win."

I still find myself on the sidelines at the game wondering if the kids would have more fun with a little less structure, without so much pressure from coaches and parents. When I see real tears and anger each time my daughter's team loses, I wonder about the values these youngsters are absorbing.

Which brings me to what happened yesterday. Julie's team lost a regular season game. But afterward, there was a game between the kids and the parents, a prelude to a pizza party.

The parents-kids game was almost over when I noticed the kids were laughing. When someone messed up, no one criticized. No coaches screamed. Nobody worried about who played what position. Nobody kept score.

When it was over, nobody wanted to stop. So the game was extended by 10 minutes. The kids acted goofy, poking fun at their parents and each other. There were no tears over mistakes or missed kicks.

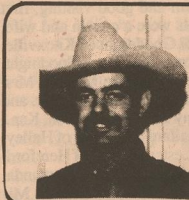

And we had to think a minute to figure out who won. The parents did. But it didn't seem to matter. ■

County Agent's Comments

by Rocky Vinson

I have received a number of calls lately concerning webworms in trees.

Fall webworms are the larval stage of moths. They are about 1 inch long when full grown. Colors will vary from pale yellow to green. There is a broad dusky stripe running down the back, bordered on each side by a yellow strip. These caterpillars are covered with tufts of long-whitish hairs.

The adult moth is mostly white with dark spots on the wings. Fall webworms attack most all trees but prefer mulberry or pecan. The worms spin a web around the foliage of trees, then eat this foliage.

Fall webworms can be controlled by pruning out the affected area of the tree and burning the web. If you choose chemical control, recommended insecticides include Orthene[®], Dursban[®], Diazinon[®], or Malathion[®]. Dipel[®], which is an organic insecticide, can also be used. Remember to read and follow all insecticide labels and be sure the material you plan to use is registered for the variety of tree infested.

How To Lose Weight And Keep It Off

An estimated 34 million Americans are overweight. With summer just around the corner, many people want to shed a few unwanted pounds.

Weight tables and formulas can help determine how much you should weigh. But, what is most important is knowing at what weight you feel most comfortable. Cindy Rowell, R.D., outpatient dietitian at Methodist Hospital, suggests the following simple tips on how to lose weight and keep it off.

They are:
* Lose weight slowly because it's easier to keep off

* Don't try crash diets. They'll change what you eat for a short time, but the weight comes back when you go right back to your old eating habits.

* Know how much you should lose. Set realistic weight loss goals.
* Keep records so you know what you actually eat and how much activity you perform so that you know what to improve.

* Balance eating and activity.
* To lose a pound a week you have to burn off an additional 3,500 calories a week, which breaks down to 500 calories a day.

* Try eating 250 calories less and burning 250 calories through exercise.

* Make exercise a regular part of your routine.
* Think high fiber, low fat.
* Replace "fat" behavior with "thin" behavior. Take a walk instead of watching T.V.

A little test to see if you need to lose weight is grasp the skin at your waist and measure the fold. If it's more than an inch, it's time to lose weight.

Before starting any diet, however, remember to consult your physician.

STOP "INDIGASTION!" Tests Prove Charcocaps® Do What Leading Gas Relievers Don't!

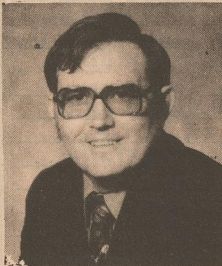

Indigestion with gas pains, cramps, pressure, bloating... there's a name for it: INDIGASTION.

If you suffer from indigestion and excess gas, you should know about Charcocaps® from Requa®... the remarkable natural-origin gas reliever and digestive-aid. Leading TV-advertised simethicone gas relievers break up gas bubbles but cannot adsorb painful intestinal gas.

That's why many doctors recommend Charcocaps with the most effective adsorbent known to medicine.

Discover how fast Charcocaps relieves intestinal pain, cramps and bloating. Take easy-to-swallow Charcocaps after meals. Use only as directed. If your pharmacist doesn't yet have Charcocaps, ask him to order it for you. © 1991 Requa, Inc.

THE GOLDEN RULE

"An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth" became obsolete the same day the Son of God gave His life on Calvary. When we accept Jesus' propitiation, we are called to a much higher standard of living.

The "Golden Rule" may not be easy to live by, but it certainly is easy to determine. Our Lord said, "And as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise." (Luke 6:31). This is an easy passage to commit to memory, but a more difficult one to practice. In determining how it should be applied, we have only to reverse the situation by placing ourselves in the position of the other. Then ask ourselves, "What would I desire of him or her?" There it is! The right course of action has then become very clear and definitive.

Is the "Golden Rule" really a practical standard? Answer: It is never practical until it is placed into practice and then it becomes the true standard of living. Our Lord said, "I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you." (John 13:15). The Golden Rule is easier understood in view of what Jesus did for us. "Because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow in his steps." (1 Peter 2:21). That is easily understood.

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER®
Michael A. Guido
Metter, Georgia

A gunman in Cincinnati waited for a bartender as he locked up to go home. He grabbed the bag he was carrying and ran down the street. Coming to a dark corner he opened the bag and found garbage. What a disappointment.

But every act of sin has its own built-in disappointment. You imagine that your sin will make you happy, wise, or rich. But it doesn't. The end is always disappointment, despair, and, ultimately death. For the Bible says, "Sin, when it is finished, brings forth death."

Want life? The satisfying, overcoming, never-ending life? Try the Lord.

LIKE TEMPERED STEEL

Friendship is a bar of steel that goes into many fires, tempered in the white heat of doubt and finally left to the chill of understanding. If it is too brittle, it will break in the strain of association and if it is too soft, it will twist and warp during the course of relationship. True friendship achieves the happy medium of an exacting consistency that will withstand many strains.
