Search For Lindbergh Baby, Stolen From Home, Widens

Ransom Demanded In Note Pinned To Window; Federal Officials Guard Borders

America's Most Famous Child Was Ill With Cold, Mother Says; New Jersey Withdraws Reward At Colonel's Request

NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Bush, veteran trapper, and neighbor of the Lindberghs, decided footprints showed only one kidnaper was at the Lindbergh home when their baby was stolen away. He said the tracks of a woman were shown and that a man's tracks under the nursery window were old. On Lindbergh's request New Jersey's $10,000 reward for arrest of the kidnappers was withdrawn. At Washington the house postoffice committee approved a bill for federal prosecution of kidnapping threats sent by mail.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK—Hundreds of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania state and city officers were hunting today for Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., 20-months-old son of the famous flyer.

The baby was kidnaped from his nursery in the Lindbergh home near Princeton last night. There were few clues. Footprints showed at least one of the kidnapers was a woman. Another wore moccasins or was in stocking feet. A ladder left under the window showed how the nursery was reached. Footprints led to the place and an automobile awaited.

The child was spirited away in a dark green Chrysler sedan, it was reported in a description carried in a confidential communication on the police teletype systems of New York and New Jersey shortly after the kidnaping was discovered at 10 p. m. Tuesday.

The police notice gave its license number as 'A-1153 N. J.' and stated the machine was stolen in Atlantic City. Princeton police reported two men in a sedan had stopped there shortly before the kidnaping and asked directions to the nearby Lindbergh home. A highway laborer reported he had been asked for similar directions. Fifty state police were concentrated at the lonely Lindbergh estate today.

The colonel, muddled from a night of searching the estate for clues said little, asking reporters to question officers. Mrs. Lindbergh said today the baby was ill with a cold when kidnaped. She is in seclusion. She is expecting another child in a few months.

Note
It was announced about noon today that a note left pinned to the window made definite ransom demands. Col. Lindbergh was willing to pay the ransom if the baby were returned safe. The note threatened to harm the child if the ransom were not paid.

The amount demanded and the method of payment prescribed by the kidnapers were not revealed. However, it was reported $50,000 was asked.

It was learned that it was customary to latch shutters on the nursery windows, which would make entrance difficult but one shutter had been warped so that it would not close. The kidnapers entered there.

At Washington Attorney General Mitchell conferred with President Hoover. Customs and immigration authorities, especially along the Canadian border, ordered a close watch.

At Buffalo, N. Y. customs officers already were searching automobiles.

Bill Pending
Senator Patterson, Republican, Missouri, said he would press for immediate hearing his pending bill that would make kidnaping across state lines a federal offense punishable by death.

Nation's Most Famous Baby Kidnaped

Ill with a cold, Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., 20-months-old son of the noted flyer, was stolen from his crib in the nursery of the secluded Lindbergh home in New Jersey between 7:30 and 10 p. m. Tuesday. The greatest search ever evoked by a kidnaping was underway in a few hours. The father expressed willingness to pay a ransom demanded in a note left pinned to a window.

Japanese Make Heavy Gains

Foreigners Now Further From Danger

Chinese Pushed Almost To Twenty Kilometer Limit

SHANGHAI (Thursday) (AP)—The Japanese advanced all along the Chapel-Woosung line today and had almost pushed the Chinese back to the twenty kilometer limit demanded in the original ultimatum, where the Chinese were practically surrounded but still held Woosung. The Japanese captured Chien-ju, former headquarters of Tai Tung Kai, the Chinese generalissimo. Although the Japanese claimed the retreat was becoming a riot, the Chinese said it was orderly and a tactical measure and would reform and renew battle at Nansiang, ten miles west. There were about 50,000 troops in the retreat, and the Japanese were following closely the Chinese rear guard, who were covering their retreat with machine guns. The Japanese left their artillery behind at Chapel and Kiangnan, new hold by the Japanese although they were mere masses of wreckage. The Chinese retreat removed most of the danger from the International Settlement.

Texas Facing Greatest Period Of Industrial Development In Nation's History, Says Barrett

Her Fiance Killed

Robert M. Short, an American pilot killed in China while flying Chinese plane, was the fiance of Olive Belle Hamon (above), daughter of the late Jake Hamon, wealthy Oklahoma politician. Miss Hamon also is a pilot.

Bringing a message of confidence backed by his own record for outstanding achievement as an industrial developer of Texas, A. P. Barrett, Fort Worth capitalist, and state chairman of the Citizens Reconstruction Organization, addressed a crowd at the Settles ballroom Tuesday evening. The speech closed a busy day for Mr. Barrett, who had spoken twice in Wichita Falls, and in Amarillo and Lubbock before reaching the local airport at 5:40 p. m. in his Bellanca monoplane piloted by W. G. (Swede) Rheinstrom. Unyielding faith in Texas and the southwest was the dominant note of Mr. Barrett. While pointing to the advantages to be derived from distribution of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, he urged Texans to profit by past experiences and in the future use their own raw materials for manufacturing products in Texas and selling them to the rest of the world instead of selling all its raw materials to eastern interests at whatever price is offered. "These bonds the government is offering are just government demand notes with all of the nation's wealth behind them. They'll pay you two per cent and return the principal on 60 days' notice at any time. If you are afraid to keep your money where you now have it, this is a way which you may turn it to circulation and help the entire country. I'd rather see you keep your money on deposit in your own banks but if you won't do that the government's offer is worth something to you," he said.

Learned Much
"We've learned a lot in the past two or three years," declared the dynamic native of Fannin county. "We've been letting Wall Street carry $20,000,000 out of Texas every year. They thought they were smart. They dumped all that money into Europe, loaning it to nations that don't think they ought to pay it back and now the Big Boys have learned they were dumb too. Most of them are broke."

Services For J. B. Delbridge Set Thursday
Long illness fatal to highly-respected local man
Funeral services for James Byrn Delbridge, who passed away at his home Tuesday morning after five months illness, will be held at the First Methodist Church Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Delbridge, who was born and reared in Murfreesboro, Tenn., came to this city from Albuquerque, N. M., in search of health in 1923. Although he was never strong, he was able to work at his job as contractor until three years ago, when bronchial asthma forced him to give up work entirely. He became critically ill in October, 1930, and his physician gave him no hope for recovery from that date.

His illness dated back to an attack of influenza, said Mrs. Delbridge, when he suffered one month after they were married in Bemis, Tenn., Feb. 11, 1922. His doctors advised complete rest and they went to Albuquerque. When he did not improve they came to this city where he recovered from the influenza but developed bronchial asthma.

Mr. Delbridge leaves no relatives except his widow and his children. His parents died when he was young. He was married in Murfreesboro, to Alice Hutton, who passed away when their second child was born.

Fifty Begin Seeking Jobs In Big Spring

Fairly Good Response Is Reported; Sacrifices Necessary

Fifty men and women who met Wednesday morning and started a city-wide solicitation for jobs and cash to relieve unemployment in Big Spring were reported early in the afternoon to be receiving fairly good response. "Although somewhat short on man power for the campaign we are determined to do the very best we can to give all heads of needy families in town enough work to provide food for their families," said a spokesman for the American League of Women Voters, the central committee in charge of the work. "The committee declared that it was not laboring under any delusion that the goal could be reached without sacrifices being made by many residents who have regular employment. On the contrary, they declared, it was perfectly obvious that such sacrifices would have to be made."

Unemployment headquarters are located just behind the First Methodist church, telephone 201 and all applications for employment as well as offers to provide work should be filed there and not at the Salvation Army headquarters of the city hall or court house.

Home Town Talk by Betty

Without vision, without confidence and faith the people will perish. That always has been very true.

And it was good to hear A. P. Barrett in his speech here Tuesday night express such deep-rooted confidence in the future of Texas. No leader speaks can be presented among men than that of a great body of free citizens of a great nation who have lost confidence.

When one loses confidence you can mark it down that the basis for his faithlessness is lack of confidence in himself. So long as he retains self-confidence he can come back and overcome every obstacle.

The weighty thing about Mr. Barrett's talk was that his own career, his own record backs up just what he said. He started with nothing right here in Texas, built up a business that he sold for $1,000,000. As a very striking illustration of his statement that Texans had been foolish in sending their money east but now would profit by the mistake and begin using their money at home he said:

"Some of these smart boys in New York kept after me to sell. Finally I did. They thought they were mighty smart. They took their money and dumped it across the ocean. Now the company I sold to them is in receivership and I'm the receiver."

Mr. Barrett, being acquainted personally with the resources of the regions surrounding Big Spring and knowing that the city does not have to rely upon one source of income knows that Big Spring will in the future witness development far greater than anything of the past. That is, if Big Spring people do not lose vision and faith. Without vision the people perish. For shame do some of our business men often become the greatest exponents of hopelessness and lack of confidence in the future. As Mr. Barrett said "why we've just started. No section of the country ever faced such an opportunity for industrial development that now confronts Texas and the Southwest."

Been striving around the past 24 hours with some of the boys of the Continental Oil company's seismic crew. Thirteen of them, six with their wives, are looking for places to live in Big Spring. A few already have found rooms or furnished apartments. Let's show

BOY CRAZY

by GRACE PERKINS

SYNOPSIS: Dickey Dale, skilful jumper extraordinary, attracts the first real interest of Hope Ross' life while she is in the midst of giving a house party at Lake Placid. Hope, slim in green leather coat, with her gold hair bright under a green hat, as quickly catches Dickey's attention. Hours of riding and ice-fishing and talking result in the highest honor of a high school girl's life—an invitation from Dickey to the Harmouth prom. She already has carried off the social honors at home; she is leader of her crowd, renowned as the prettiest and richest girl in town, and is easily the most popular. Her popularity, in minimum, worries her mother by its incessant progress and drives her sister Goody sullen with jealousy. Hope's father spoils her, but does not carry this to the extent of admitting the social equality of Dickey's father.

Chapter 8
SIGNING A PLEDGE

And wouldn't she just be in town for a matinee—and almost miss it? If she hadn't phoned home about staying in to dinner, she wouldn't have missed it! For when she phoned, her mother explained that a young tramp, arriving in a wheezing car and a rather scrubby raccoon coat, had been sitting in the living room all afternoon, refusing Mama Ross, was Dickey Dale, and he had driven all the way down from Harmouth to see Hope!

An hour later, Dickey met Hope in town. During which hour Hope had successfully dodged her sweet Rusty Crandall, tricking him unmercifully into taking her up to see a sick girl-friend! Poor old Rusty—who knew in his heart that Hope was playing him mean. Who was probably phoning her mother right now, and learning all about Dickey. Oh well, you could always make up with Rusty. He adored her so. Loved her with such a clean, approved and uninteresting love. And Angel would be sublimely happy until Hope took into her head to need Rusty again. Whereupon Angel would be quite forgotten, and Rusty's parents, would draw a breath of relief, and Angel's eyes would grow sorrowful as she would wait quietly, patiently for Rusty to remember her again.

But what did any of that matter? Point was that Dickey met Hope in town, and they both made a large evening of it. Dinner. Theater. And a visit to his father's afterward, where Hope found several ladies and gentlemen of the ensemble, one casting expert, and a playwright.

Dickey drove her home in his rat-trap of a roadster—the kind that make you stretch full length on the floor, almost as if you were an invalid on a wheeling table. A brutal springless open car, rebuilt within an inch of its carburetor.

Dickey stayed in New York with his father, but at eleven the next morning he was back at Hope's doorstep. Refusing to go to the damned old tea she was slated for. Instead they went out into the country. At a Briarcliff Lodge, and cramped all over the grounds Met Hickey with his leading woman up there, and trailed Hickey's car back into town, where they were taken to a night club as was a night club—with Hickey the gayest and noblest of the lot!

Such a week-end! Such a man was this Dickey! Such a riot with Dad over the late hours and such a sermon about sticking to her own crowd!

But Hope didn't hear! Hope was a dead goner Doped with love!

It was easier now to wait for the prom. Easier because she knew that Dickey would care for a girl—the only way any girl wanted to be cared for. What if he was a bit brusque and unreasonable? Hope was sick of boys (like Rusty Crandall) who gave in to all her whims, and ran her errands for her gratefully. Sick to death of them.

The rest of the season spun around in a dizzy whirl. Mama Ross wrenched her attention from the happiness of her elder daughter long enough to complain and forbid and foretell catastrophe for Hope. Papa Ross talked to his daughter long and seriously. A good-looking amusing young athlete, this Dickey male. Good enough stock, yes, but hardly a family for his little daughter to consider as a serious connection. Rusty Crandall, now—who, by the way, was being treated shamefully.

Hope emerged from these interviews with her small mouth set in a determined and angry line. Dickey's folks not good enough! All the folks he had was his father! And of all the men Hope had ever met, J. Hickson Dale got her highest bid.

Next, of course, to Dickey—and to her own father. . . .

We can be too busy to think. Sometimes we can make a point of being too busy to think. The prom was an undertaking. Both for preparation and recuperation. Then Easter vacation, with Dickey right in New York! The night of one of Hickey's huge musical comedy openings, when she and Dickey sat in the front row and went back stage after and parted with Hickey and the star after that.

The college show came next—which Dickey had written (along with a collaborator, who was seldom considered sufficiently important to be invited around). And only by the fact that Betty Preston and Pat Hollins were going to Harmouth too, was Hope able to convince Mama and Papa that all would be well if they permitted her to go—and they'd sadly regret it if they withheld permission. Finally she won, as she knew very well she would win.

AUSTIN—Two railroad commission races instead of one suddenly became the year's prospect when Commr. Pat M. Neff was elected to the presidency of Baylor university. . . . That Gov. Neff will take the place with the university he has served so long as chairman there was little doubt, as he delayed his answer. This was written before his acceptance or rejection had been announced.

Chmn. C. V. Terrell of the commission has announced for re-election. Rep. Ray Holder, Dallas; H. O. Johnson, Houston, and Roy I. Tennant, former board of control member, have entered the race against him. Rep. E. T. Murphy of Livingston and J. W. DeWeese, former fire insurance commissioner, have said they intend to make the race.

Some of them may shift over to the new race.

Under the law, Gov. Sterling will appoint a member to the vacancy for the rest of the current two-year period, and this year the democratic party will nominate the commissioner for the remaining four years.

First guesses were unanimous in naming Sen. Henry Beck of Bowie county to the vacancy.

Dr. Beck, active in assisting the administration of the health side of martial law in East Texas, has been an active leader for the Sterling forces, and one of the strongest men in the senate. He is interested as an official in the conservation administration of the state, and his appointment would accentuate the commission's important duties concerning the oil industry.

Dr. Beck wanted to run for the railroad commission this year against Chmn. Terrell, but decided against it because he wanted to remain in the senate to see that proper appropriations are made for his hobbies, the state psychopathic hospitals.

His appointment to the commission would give him an important advantage and possibly preclude any race against his election, though Gov. Neff had opposition when he ran after appointment at Gov. Moody's hands.

So unanimous was the belief that Dr. Beck will be the choice that no second guesses were found in a hurried survey about the capitol corridors.

A long step was made in the state's suit against 35 oil companies when the last four, three out-of-state Standard companies and the Shell Union corporation, came into court and filed answers under the decision of Dist. Judge J. D. Moore that citation had been perfected against them.

A long fight remained in the preliminary legal attack upon the state's anti-trust statute.

The penalty and ouster suit was filed attacking legality of the companies having subscribed to the oil men's code of ethics and marketing practices.

Judge Moody quickly overruled requests that some of the Standard companies be allowed to make "special appearances" solely for the purpose of debating the validity of the ruling bringing them into court. Motion to quash was also overruled and exception taken. That put all the companies in court for all purposes, according to Atty. Gen. Allred's view of the matter.

May Limit Speed

STATISTICS gathered by an insurance company show that although automobile registrations declined two per cent in this country last year, the number of traffic fatalities increased three per cent. Strangely enough, there was a decline in automobile accidents, yet the fatalities increased. The conclusion drawn from this is that the new high-speed motor cars are making for fewer but messier accidents.

The truth is that two vital factors in safety have not kept pace with the increasing speed of cars. These factors are highway constructed with the safety-factor in view, and proper regulation of the right to drive. More than half the cars in this country are operated by unlicensed drivers; a considerable number are operated by persons who could not get a license to drive, should one be required in their state.

Speed is not inherently dangerous; but it calls for a cool head, a practical eye, and excellent conditions as to road and machine. Bottom do these factors meet; usually one or more of them is missing. It is safe to say that in every fatal accident, one or more of these four safety factors is absent.

If this country finds that speed is inseparable from accident, the time may come when motor cars will be manufactured with a maximum speed much below the present. More than thirty thousand lives are sacrificed every year, and the total rises each year. Limiting speed by mechanical means may become necessary, as it seems to be impossible to limit it by law or by appeal to reason.

Ten Convictions In Tahoka Court

TAHOKA—Ten convictions, only one of which was with term suspended, and no acquittals was the record made in district court here last week. Prosecution of all the cases was handled by District Attorney T. L. Price, assisted by County Attorney G. H. Nelson. District Judge Gordon B. McGuire presided.

Wednesday Henry Reed, well-known local farmer, was given a two-year sentence for theft of a plow from a local business man, Jack Graves, Tahoka junk dealer, was given two years Thursday, charged as accomplice in a theft. Vernon Hill was found guilty of arson Friday, and he, also, was given two years in the penitentiary.

Monday and Tuesday there had been seven convictions. They were: Al Scott, O'Donnell, 18 months suspended sentence, driving car while intoxicated; W. D. Cheanutt, 2 years, sale of intoxicating liquor; Bill Bounds and Stanton Thigpen, 2 years each, theft; Frank Hadden, Blanton negro, 2 years, burglary; R. H. Adams, 1 year, illegal sale of liquor; and F. E. Evans, San Antonio, 2 years and 6 months, for illegal transportation of liquor.

Al Scott, R. H. Adams, Henry Reed, and Jack Graves are all being held for trial on other indictments.

Mrs. Ola Redman will go to trial Monday, March 7, for the murder last spring of Howard Chase in his car on a lonely road near here. This case is expected to attract extraordinary attention in this county.

ACTRESS QUIETS CROWD IN FAMOUS THEATER FIRE

New York's Palace theater, the goal of every vaudeville actor, was damaged by a fire that made a wreck of the rear of the stage. The 1,700 patrons of the theater escaped quietly from the house. Sophie Tucker, billed as "the fast of the red hot mammas," had just finished her turn when the blaze started. She stayed before the footlights and her gay chatter helped to quiet the crowd. This picture shows the damage backstage.

Mrs. Christina Smith, Buffalo widow, was held in Cleveland as police tried to break through her story that a wail known as "Terry Tower," abandoned in Cleveland, was her own. They accused her of obtaining a founding from a maternity hospital in the Ohio city and passing it off as her own so that she might not lose a $30,000 share in the estate of her late father-in-law.

TEXAS INDEPENDENCE

March 21. How every true, loyal Texan should thrill at the mention of this date. Who in Texas does not revel at the romance and history his date holds? Who does not take pride in claiming that he is from Texas? "It was on March 2, 1836, that a group of American frontiersmen and statesmen met in Texas and declared themselves free from the Republic of Mexico and threw off the yoke of that tyrannical dictator Santa Anna, the so-called "Napoleon of the West." It was only in 1821 that Mexico had won her independence from Spain. And her efforts would have been fruitless had not the Americans come to their aid and helped defeat Spain. But on March 2, 1836, Santa Anna, fearing these Americans for no reason other than for his own imperial supremacy, gave the order for all Americans to "give up all their arms." Such a command could never be endured! And a few gave Santa Anna a reply which clearly reveals the determined spirit of all the Americans - "take them. They cannot strip us of life and freedom which mean the complete abolition of all Americans living in Texas, or that right of all people would be respected. Later the Alamo, an old mission in San Antonio, fell before ten thousand Mexicans. Defended by 183 true-blooded Americans who would not retreat! However, this very defeat and the massacre of Goliad only gave the Texans their independence at San Jacinto on April 21, 1836. Cries of "Remember the Alamo and Goliad," curdled the blood of the Mexicans at San Jacinto and the cowardly and perfidious dictator of Mexico was stopped from doing further slaughter. This war was a stain on Mexican history which centuries will not wipe out. Texas has been under five flags, a record equalled by no state in the union. We have progressed into one of the most advanced states in the world; other people admire us. We, today, descendants of those gallant soldiers of '36 should honor and love our state - "the largest and best state in the basket."

FORUM

ASSEMBLY ROOM WHISPERING A sight that is almost always seen in assembly is whispering. This is not a pleasant sight to see in any school as it reflects upon the character of the teachers as well as the students. I think every school should take some means to prevent this as to speak in a school is a talk which everyone or a few interested in something other than what he is speaking about. I am sure every talk or program is of some benefit to the students or it would not be given and it seems to me that it is always the ones who are talking that have been the most benefited by the talk. The speaker usually glances over the audience when he is speaking and goes not to appreciate seeing others talk. This is very inconvenient for him and makes it difficult to concentrate, especially with this divided attention. I think this shows much discourtesy to the speaker and should be stopped immediately. BASKETBALL REVIEW

The basketball season for the Big Spring Steers is over and we have a record that is hard to beat. Winning 29 major games out of 28 enabled Big Spring to win the District 5 title and push Breckenridge to the third game of the series of the Bi-District title. Three games were only lost the entire season and all lost in the District and Bi-district games. Who can say the season has not been a success? This is the second year that the Steers have won the district title and their opponent in District 5 is a team that has won three years. Last year we lost three games; same as this year; however it didn't take as long as formerly. Our opposition has been harder this year than last and the last few games were played with the advantage with the other team. We're making no alibis; we lost, lost fair and square, and to a team who was our superior in the series. We dropped only one game on our home court, that to Abilene. If it could be played over again, we are sure the Steers would make up for this defeat in a big way. In all the games we have played this year we have not had any criticism from the opposing squad on the brand of ball or the sportsmanship conduct during the game. This is a commendation within itself and should offer great consolation so want to go to Austin again this year. Our coach and the squad did year, but fate was against us. It's over and there is no use to pine away the moments thinking about what we nearly had, but let slip through our fingers. We should turn our attention to track. And by the way, our track prospects are anything but dull this year; we should put out the best track team that Big Spring ever had.

Women of Faculty to Be Seen In 3-Act Play "The Texas Steer"

Senior Week Plans Not In Form As Yet

Committee Soon To Arrange Last Week Schedule

There have been no definite plans made for Commencement. The committee consisting of Mr. Blankenship, Mr. Henry, Miss Cox and Miss Butler are working on a program for the last week of school which will be known as Senior Week. The outline for that week as it stands now is: Sunday night the commencement sermon will be preached; Monday night, there will be a musical and fine arts program; Tuesday night, the senior play will be presented; Wednesday night, the commencement address will be given by some out-of-town speaker; Thursday night, the faculty will sponsor a reception for the seniors in the auditorium; and Friday night the presentation of diplomas and the student program.

Notes From Classroom

The typing team went to Colorado last Saturday. Members managed to get home with two first places. The team averaged first, with 39.75 words per minute. A very close second was Colorado with an average of 39.62. Westbrook averaged 18.22. This was their first practice contest. The first three individual scores were Josephine Dabney, Big Spring 48.4 words per minute; Pauline Jones, Colorado, 45.1; Mary Frances Colorado, 38.8.

Those making the trip on the Steers were Josephine Dabney, Paul Warren, Mrs. Nance, Joseph Moore, and Mrs. Low. A similar practice contest will be held in our school next Saturday morning at 10:00. Teams from Midland, Latan, Westbrook and Abilene are expected to enter the contest.

Team members to compete are: Josephine Dabney, Edith Ford, Lillian Crawford; Grace H. Hand, Hazel Nance, Paul Warren.

Statement On ExtraCurricular Activities Assured

Chairman of extra curricular activities made the following statement in an interview Tuesday. "I wish to express my appreciation to the Girl's Pep Squad and the Boy's Pep Squad for the splendid work they did during the football and basketball season."

"The Breckenridge is a very lucky team. They proved that by drawing a bye in the first round at the state meet."

While the Steers lost their last game they also lost from their ranks some of their very best men. Flowers, Dennis, Forrester, and all said good-bye to their high school careers forever. There were all stellar players and each has more than one trophy to show for his efforts.

Reviewing the personal records of the Steers we find the following fact about their games:

"Palms are under way for a debate tournament to be held in our high school March 12. Invitations to ten schools have been sent. Every student in high school is urged to support your debate team as much as your athletic teams."

The interest in extra-curricular activities are due largely to the untiring efforts of Miss Wingo.

SHOTS FROM THE SHOWERS

By FRED KOBERG Won 25 out of 29 major games! That is a season for anyone to be proud of. Winners of a district championship. That is the Steers' record for this year.

Although they lost to Breckenridge in the Bi-District playoff, their season was a huge success. They met and played the best teams in West Texas and continued it until the Bi-district game.

It all goes to prove that you can't trust the deep. Abilene, whom the Steers defeated in a two out of three series, had repeatedly won over the Breckenridge crew. And then the Bucks turned around and administered a crushing defeat in the final and deciding game of the series. And while we are at it, we might make mention of the fact that Breckenridge is a very lucky team. They proved that by drawing a bye in the first round at the state meet.

While the Steers lost their last game they also lost from their ranks some of their very best men. Flowers, Dennis, Forrester, and all said good-bye to their high school careers forever. There were all stellar players and each has more than one trophy to show for his efforts.

Reviewing the personal records of the Steers we find the following fact about their games:

"Palms are under way for a debate tournament to be held in our high school March 12. Invitations to ten schools have been sent. Every student in high school is urged to support your debate team as much as your athletic teams."

The interest in extra-curricular activities are due largely to the untiring efforts of Miss Wingo.

Eight To Get Cage Letters

Track, Spring Football Practice Being Started

Reports come from the office that the following men are to receive letters in basketball: Hopper, Flowers, Morgan, Reid, Forrester, Dennis, Dyer and Harris. Morgan, Reid, Dyer and Harris will all return for the next year, and along with the subs of this year's team, Ben Daniels' Davis, the prospects for next year are very bright.

Monday afternoon the track men accompanied Coach Bristow to the stadium for the first workout. Forrester and Coburn are out for jumping and vaulting. Tack Dennis and Harris are throwing the javelin. Although full strength has yet to report there are prospects for a very bright season.

It seems that at the end of each season of sport we have a casualty. This time "B" Reid, elongated ankle, and has been limping around the school for the last few days, part of the time on crutches.

Spring football practice has started. Ben Daniels has a flock of youthful material and Bristow will turn his attention to the Steers as he gets the track team running smoothly.

The debating team were the guests of the Stanton debate club last Tuesday afternoon.

Debate Meet To Be Held Here Soon

Local Debators Meet Stanton Today

Announcement of an invitational debating tournament to be held in Big Spring in the near future was made today by Miss Jeanette Pickle, sponsor of debating in the local high school. Representatives from several schools are expected.

Four teams are engaged in a strenuous debating schedule this year. Steve Ford Jr. and Hudson Henley compose the ranking No. 1 boys' team with Kent Bishop and George Dabney as the No. 2 combination. Hazel Smith and Jane Tinsley make up the ranking girls' pair with Virginia Cushman and Dorothy Dublin as the second team.

The Big Spring debaters were to compete against Stanton High school this afternoon.

Volunteer Puns On Mate's Names

By DOROTHY FROST All the classes in school decided to go on a picnic together, but we had one car, Edythe's Ford. There were so many kids we were afraid to try to ride in that, so we borrowed a truck, Leonard Van (Open).

and decided to let E. P. Driver, Mack's Austin was handy, too. We decided to go out on Beatrice's Hill and go swimming in Clara's Pool. This we did and were in one of Theresa's Brooks when a scream was heard, and Hazel Smith was found in Clara's Pool nearly drowned. Albert was assigned to Fisher or out. We were all sorry for her, so Bill and Louise donated some flowers to cheer her up. She was dried out, only to find that Acuff's her dress had been ruined. We had a little excitement, too. Beaver Grace's Chonts and Helen's Merier got loose and followed us to the hill. We had planned to ring Helen's Bell when the lunch was ready, so we did.

Everyone gathered around to spread and helped themselves. It happened that the cheese and the beaver were hungry so when they ate the food and followed us they made a mad dash for the table, and in the excitement they knocked Jake's Pickle out of his hand, turned John's Coffee over on Claudine's Shaw, but Odie gave him some Moore, stepped in Modesta's Good pean pie, knocked down Juanita's Cook, sat on Virginia's Cushman, and broke Katy's Hart. The food was thrown over everyone's clothing, so we all decided to send our clothes to be cleaned by Ruth's and Alta's Taylor.

Evelyn in taking Biology and of all times, she felt that this would be a good time to make a collection. She got a collection all right and tied her cap up in a handkerchief. We were all sitting around a camp fire telling stories, when one of Evelyn's Bugs got Lawrence Liberty and crawled up one of Cecil's French legs. It wasn't long before we were aware of the fact, "Fete was cold, and got up too close to the fire." But Evelyn were so bad that Nell offered some of her Brown salve to put on them to ease Dorothy's Payne. We decided to hike back. None of us were very familiar with the country, and the first thing we knew we were lost in Imogene's Wood, which was noted for Charlie's Vines and Cecil's Kats.

We passed by Mary Louise Miller's though and she saved the day by appointing Jack Dean of the situation. She also lent Pearl's Butler to show us the way home.

The animals couldn't decide whether they liked Nathan Orville's Beans. The next day the boys got together and it was found out that Losses's Higgins were known to them all. Other things to be found out were that on the picnic "H. W. who was in Earnest, had said, "Harvey, Hoester girl!" Harvey at this instant saw Margaret and Tucker, one side to see the crowd. They stood under Dorothy's Riggs, which had a firm Rockhold. The rest of us would not go with them. Willis, the King, commanded his Squire, (Farrel), to tell them to come on. Ralph and Dorothy got jealous and we had to promise to go to Dublin or Houston next time.

The only ill effect was that Dorothy's Frost showed up before we got home and every one almost froze to death.

Commercial Class Visits Postal Offices

The members of the Commercial Club visited the Postal Telegraph Company office, Tuesday at the sixth period. The trip was very interesting and instructive to the members. The officials of the Postal Telegraph directed them through the building and explained and demonstrated the use of the Teletype machine. Those attending the trip were:

Mrs. I. W. sponsor, Mildred Shelton, Oneta Freeman, Lillian Crawford, Eva Pearl McCaughey, Lottie Harrell, Frances Shank, Hazel Nance, Marie Bays, Dale Barrett, E. W. Earnest, Grady Harland, Mildred Murray, Muriel Donaldson, Mildred Rhoton, Ruth Dodson, Georgia Owen, and Joseph Moore.

Ralph Neill has been ill.

Rev. and Mrs. C. N. Morton are visiting their daughter, Mary Ida this week.

Ever Mae O'Neal had as her guest over the week-end Lantae Acker of Coleman.

The former Miss Georgia Kirk has been a visitor in Oita school last Friday afternoon.

Organization of Girl Scouts Progressing

Tenderfoot Test Blank Issued; Patrol Leaders Named

The Girl Scouts have not yet perfected their organization, but efforts of the sponsors, Mrs. Harner, Miss Daniels, and Miss Engler are developing the organization into a strong and successful one. Mrs. R. C. Pysant, Mrs. Sidney Hogue, Mrs. Hinds and Miss Jenn Jordan are some of the sponsors, not connected with the school who have been meeting with the scouts.

So far the Girl Scouts have been on only one hike. Other hikes have been planned but due to inclement weather the girls were unable to go. A sunrise breakfast at Park Dam is now being planned.

If the sponsors are able to include merely a few of the Girl Scouts this year, the organization will have accomplished a great deal. At each meeting games, teaching good sportsmanship, songs and drills, and the laws form the program.

Due to the organization of the Girl Scout movement in June, High the organization will meet out even when the high school members graduate as new recruits will be coming into the high school every year.

The Girl Scout movement is a definitely started, for tenderfoot tests have been issued to the girls, and patrol leaders have been elected in the various sections. The names of the patrol leaders are: Christine Zafonostina, Margaret Hinds, Ruth King, and Louise Squires. Mrs. Stegner's section has been divided into two groups headed by Mary Louise Moore and Quilbe Bee King.

Steers End Successful Cage Season

Hopper Rated Among Best Forwards In State

The Steers have put their show in both balls now until next December rolls around. With the loss of Breckenridge Saturday night they brought their successful season to a close. They have not only won state wide recognition as one of the best teams in the state but also have all state material.

David Hopper, although handicapped by illness in the last game, is still the best forward in West Texas.

The Steers repeated their district title winning but failed in the Bi-district playoff.

They rolled up huge scores in their games and became the point-a-minute team. There has been few practice games which have counted much but in the major games, they won 29 out of 27 state a record no one could complain of. They have scored a total of 600 points against 610 for their opponents.

They have won and brought home the majority of honors at every tournament and have added material to the trophy case in our school. The season is pleasing to the fans and they can only look forward to next season of basketball.

Coach Obie Bristow has issued the call for spring football training. Suits have been ordered to members of last year's squad and Ben Daniels' Devila Coach Bristow has been demonstrating the new style of play for next season. By the end of the week or next week it is expected to get under way rapidly.

There were nearly fifty boys reported to Ben Daniels and he looked like another promising prospect. There is some new material out there he has nearly a full line-up of better men from last season.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By MATTIE SATTERWHITE Some girls might have found it nerve to tell some of the boys at our school that they were "fat." Anyhow, the boys leave no impression that they are trying to reduce, by the way they roll down the terrace on the campus every day at noon. The walk back to roll down again should at least make them "fat a pound." Fat boys roll down to the bottom and get up and walks back up. Fat boys roll down again. Paul Hober seems to be the captain of the group and "he picks" on poor Or Calvin Hebbson and Army Armstrong.

The boys and girls up here seem to be rather fond of being pushed from the number of late days. However, they did wait until Saturday and Sunday to go this time and to hear some of them talk, you would wonder why they had rolled on a home two days than on a day of the week. But if you could read their minds you would understand and sympathize with them.

It looks like Georgia Belle has just made it to be introduced to the girls of the Home Economics department. Last Friday she was seen in a group of girls on the building and she seemed to be very much interested in the building and the girls who were with her.

Track Outlook Promising With Ten Veterans On Hand

Faced with the prospects of the best squad of thin-clads in school history Obie Bristow and ten of the veterans of last year's squad are working out daily in the old football stadium in preparation for a series of practice meets before competing in the district carnival at Abilene in the middle of April. It is also possible, Bristow intimates, that one or two of the most promising athletes will be taken to one of the major relay events, such as the Fort Worth Stock Show.

Around Cecil Reid, elongated miler who set a new district record last year on a muddy field, and who may round out into shape after an injury suffered in the final games of the basketball season, Bristow is confident that he can build up a championship threat. Reid is the only proven point winner on the squad, but several other promising candidates have caused track to be taken seriously on the high school sports calendar for the first time.

Dennis Good
Itasca Dennis, out to star in his third sport, is perhaps the most promising. The "back" tosses the shot the other day in excess of forty feet, and expects to add a yard or more to his length before the end of the season. The former Oklahoma high school star is also a decaathlon man, specializing in the javelin, but good in almost every event on the curriculum. He may be exercised in one of the distance runs as well as the field events.

Carleton Coburn, Lloyd Forrester and Henry Riechbourg, captain of 1931 team, will constitute the entire jumping strength of the locals, with Coburn and Forrester seeking altitude and Riechbourg trying for distance. The first two have cleared around five nine and five ten, and Coburn is especially a promising jumper. Riechbourg leaped over twenty feet on occasions last season in the dashes and hurdles. Bill Flowers, Carleton Coburn, and Oscar Heblson will be depended upon to bear the brunt of the point gathering. All three are football veterans who have rounded a successful gridiron career, and whose speed on the turf has led Coach Bristow to believe that they will develop into excellent sprinters. Flowers competed in the hurdles last year, and placed high in several meets.

Denton
The four-forty and the 880 runs loom as the locals' weakest events, although veterans are on hand for both tests. Ralph Denton and R. P. Curry entered both distances in 1931, and Curry is especially promising for the 880. He has a long, smooth stride but has tendencies to run erratic races.

Graduation cost the Bovines at least two stars of the team that last year garnered third place in one knocks on their door and asks if they have a date, they are supposed to say "yes." Maybe that little word will prevent a lot of worry.

district standings, Nathan Orr and Beverly Rockhold, all-around competitor and sprint man respectively Orr, an entry in the shot put, discus, javelin and the pole vault, will be especially hard to replace this year, while Rockhold was a sprinter who came home in the hundred in little more than ten seconds.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

The First Methodists, a squad of ambitious youngsters under the direction of Leroy Merrick, the popular prune peddler for one of the Piggly Wiggly stores, romped into a cinch for the championship of the city cage league by running roughshod over the Christians 39 to 19 yesterday evening. Which was as expected. The all-city team will be released the latter part of the week with the managers as the pickers, and it is quite probable that three or four of the championship quintet will be given places on the mythical five.

We notice that in Midland the Clinic team is one up over some other club in the play off for the city title. It would be a good thing if the Methodists could be matched against the winners of the Midland affair in a two out of three game series for some kind of a championship. The locals could probably take the Midland clan into camp by a comfortable margin, for the Cosden crew ran wild against them in a game played in the local gym sometime ago.

And speaking of Cosden reminds us that the Oilers traveled to Roby for an invitational tournament and came back richer by experience and exercise. The Refinery team plunged sensationally through the first two rounds, but ran afoul of the A. C. C. entry in the third bracket. Which, we are told, is mighty bad. "Lefty" Reynolds, the southpaw forward for the Christians that captured individual scoring honors in the T. I. A. A. this season, dealt the Oilers much misery during the contest, which the A. C. C. quintet won 30 to 22. Elmer Fardus, a member of the 1931 Big Spring high basketball squad, saw action during the contest.

The Oilers were perhaps West Texas' outstanding quintet. Their inability to practice regularly and their lack of substitutes kept them from being a tournament standout, but for one game they were very hard to beat. West, Baker and Wilson formed a quartet that with a month's rigorous training could have turned back any team west of Abilene and east of El Paso. Breckenridge drew a bye in the first round of the stage classic, which only reminds us the more of the statement uttered by a prominent fan after the final game for the bi-district championship "there is a special Providence that looks after fools, drunken men and sailors." However, to give the Buckaroos full credit for their performance in defeating the Steers two out of three games, they are very very liable to go far in the state race particularly since the draw is so favorable. If Spain and Todd are able to hit the basket as consistently as they did last Saturday eve we would not relish the opportunity of facing Shotwell's team. And Stubby Wohlford is as good a guard as will show up in West Texas for a year or two at least.

Incidentally we have been ridiculed by Bobby Campbell for terming the young man by such a nickname. It seems that everyone in Breckenridge calls him "Chubby", which is practically the same thing. And besides we never did like to be a copy-cat.

Tennis Team Have open Tournament

Stripling, Jordan and Bishop in Semi-finals

The Big Spring high school tennis season opened Monday with Coach Wayne E. Matthews directing an open tournament in an effort to select the six ranking players for his squad. The challenge system will be employed throughout the year, with the team being cut to the final three sometimes within the next two weeks.

Harry Jordan, John Stripling, and Kent Bishop were in the semi-finals as a result of the first two days' play. Jordan won over Felton Smith in the first round and E. P.

Driver in the second in straight sets, while Stripling was eliminating Jimmy Wilson by scores of 6-2, 6-3. Bishop drew a bye in the first round and then won over Charles Vines, who had eliminated Jimmy Jones 9-7, 15-13 in the first round by scores of 6-0, 6-0.

Busy Bee Class Members Hold Business Session

Alene Chaney, La Velle Barber and Ada Bell Hopkins were joint hostesses Tuesday evening for a business and social session of the Busy Bee Sunday School class. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served to the following: Marie Tidwell, Mary Sebbles, Maurice Smith, Ruth Lusk, June Vaughan, Anna Belle Smith, Catherine Smith, John Anna Barber, Janice Smith, Dollie Denton and Mrs. C. T. Thomas, sponsor.

come them. She hastily powdered her nose and with Juanita Cook, went to welcome them, only to find the foods girls of our own school to be the "visitors."

Anyone that chanced to pass the school at noon Monday might think that we had girls coming out for track, but they would be forced to say that they would "but they would put the boys in the shade" when it came to the mile runs. Frances Stockton, Georgie Belle Freeman, Dorothy Gene Frost, and Edythe Ford seem to be in good shape and possibly if they continue to run down Runnels street, they will be a winning team. But maybe after all they are just trying to reduce. Who knows?

Who would have thought a group of dignified students like we have in our school would ever become so childish again as to play "Ring Around the Rose" and "Red Rover"? But seeing is believing and it must be a fact that they really did. It was quite funny to see how "still" some of them were, and especially funny to see Gertrude Tucker and Lillian Crawford "break the line." They really demonstrated to Tiny Barbee and Dorothy Dublin how to break through.

Speaking of hiking, the next time a group suddenly decide that they want to "go for a stroll" it would not be unwise to go in the direction of Coahoma judging from the reports we have heard. If the Coahoma citizens treat all Big Spring visitors with the same hospitality that they did the group that hiked over there Saturday, we will all head in that direction "the next time." They were given all the soda pop they could drink, free sandwiches, and they even said they went to the "biggest hotel in Coahoma" and played the piano.

Since the basketball boys went on their last trip this year Saturday, they decided to take advantage of it and have "lots of fun" Saturday night. They are telling some wild tales on them and are even going so far as to say that Lloyd Forrester rode a tricycle in the halls of the Hilton Hotel. You can imagine what impression it would have left on you to see Lloyd barefooted, cigar in mouth, and riding through the halls on a tricycle after midnight. Now where the tricycle was found, we do not know, and there are various tales about where the cigars came from, but the tale that everyone would be most likely to believe is that they were found in the ball room after a dance.

There was a group of worried looking students marching to the office the third period Tuesday, and we can't help wondering just what had gone wrong. If it had been anyone other than the "best" students in school, we would be afraid for them, but since it is that crowd that would never play hooky or do anything wrong—we just wonder.

Howard Kyle certainly knows how to get on the "good side" of the policemen and stay there. He always makes his dates with a policeman's daughter, and if she won't go—he just doesn't have a date. That may not be a bad idea after all, especially for someone that likes to "drive as likes."

We wonder if Miss Wingo enjoyed her trip to Breckenridge Saturday night. Under ordinary conditions, that would have been a long, tiresome trip, but we understand that every convenience was afforded—even a soft sleeper.

It takes a long time to teach some people their lessons, but seemingly some of the girls have learned that the next time some-
