

Prospect For Oil Import Tax Becomes Strong

Rotary Club Addressed By Bishop Seaman

Program in Charge of Jim Davis; Houman Next Chairman

In their regular weekly luncheon meeting at the Settles hotel ballroom Tuesday noon, members of the Big Spring Rotary club heard an interesting address by Bishop E. Cecil Seaman, of Amarillo, who has been here presiding at the convocation of the Episcopal church, and who is also a member of the Amarillo Rotary club.

The speaker brought the lives of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson into the picture, saying that the ideals each stood for would be a good pattern for any one to copy from.

The following visitors were present: Sam Johnson, Fort Worth; Wallace I. Lubbuck; C. E. Boydton, Midland; D. G. Campbell, Dberlin; James W. K. Kerr, Oberlin, Kansas; Taylor Long, Midland; Wayne Martin, Big Spring.

Harold Houman will have charge of next week's meeting.

Payments of taxes to date amount to only 50 per cent of the total levied.

How would you like to see the doors of the schools locked because of failure of property owners to pay taxes?

There are always some who absolutely cannot pay taxes but it is also quite true that a number who have not as yet done so can pay them before the deadline arrives—midnight January 31.

After that time a penalty of ten per cent plus interest will be levied under the state law.

For the sake of the children of the community we ought to do everything possible to get as much money in the school treasury this month as possible.

Prospects for passage of a tax on oil imports are now much brighter than at any time in the past.

Enactments of such a duty would not only go a long way toward overcoming the deficit in the national treasury but prove a powerful force toward lifting crude oil prices as well as the gasoline market to a level that would snap the industry out of the doldrums.

Improvements in crude and gasoline prices would have an instant revitalizing effect locally. Very few of us are not affected either directly or indirectly by conditions in the oil industry.

The tariff would be a potent agency toward starting the bits of ponding, the oil to flowing and re-umption of full capacity operations by our refineries.

CITIZEN OF BIG SPRING

Here is a cowboy who turned merchant.

The War was his undoing—or doing, as one looks on it. Although Turner, Texas, was Mr. White's birthplace, he calls New Mexico his home state.

Down the road in front of his father's ranch house the cowboy of the L. F. D. ranch drive as many as 15,000 head of cattle at one time. It was as natural for Leslie White to become a cowpuncher as to breathe.

At the age of 13, he began working on nearby ranches. One of them was owned by Frank Good, brother of Tom, a local citizen.

So Mr. White looked around and decided on telegraphy. He went to the Brantley-Draughn Business College in Ft. Worth, and took a course but after he got into the work he didn't like it. He threw caution to the winds and returned to cowpunching.

About that time his father, H. E. White, (now living at Melrose, N. M.) went into the grocery business at Portales and wanted his son with him. That was the beginning of his mercantile career.

He made a good reputation for himself in Portales, so that when the Acorn stores needed a man they offered him the place and he accepted it. After four years he was sent across the line into Texas at Brownsville.

His life since then has been a succession of Texas towns commencing with the letter B; Brownwood, Ballinger and now Big Spring, in which he opened the Acorn store, five years ago on March 7, which is his birthday.

He was district manager of the Acorn stores for a year then left to join L. C. Burr Co., as district manager. At present he is the manager for the local Acorn store.

Judgment Is Agreed Upon In Hotel Suit

Insurance Company Delays Execution To March, Pays Taxes

Temporary injunction recently granted the Settles Hotel Corporation to prevent a trustee's sale of the Settles hotel building which had been advertised by the American National Insurance company, was ordered dissolved and an agreed judgment for the defendant for $25,922.58 with interest until paid was entered in 32nd district special court.

The suit came up for final hearing Wednesday morning before Judge James T. Brooks. The two parties to the suit agreed on terms of the judgment, most important of which were: 1. That the American National Insurance company not issue execution of the judgment until March 1, thus preventing the holding of a foreclosure sale before the first Tuesday in April.

2. That the American National Insurance company pay all city, county, state and school taxes owed by the Settles Hotel Corporation.

Attorneys for the insurance company paid the taxes here Wednesday morning aggregating $3,050.

The insurance company was represented here by Dallas Scarborough and Ed King of the Abilene law firm of Scarborough, Ely and King, and the hotel corporation by William Barcus, Big Spring.

The insurance company recently advertised a trustee's sale of the Settles Hotel building to satisfy a loan totaling $200,000, of which approximately $26,000 was held to be paid due.

The hotel corporation obtained a temporary writ of injunction, restraining the sale. The suit came up Wednesday for hearing on the merits.

FIRST TERM OF COURT OPENED LOVING COUNTY

PECOS—In the back of a frame drug store the first District Court session ever held in newly organized Loving county was called to order Monday morning at Mentone, 19 miles north of here, by District Judge J. A. Drane.

Loving county was organized through election last summer after having been attached to Reeves county for the 30 years since its designation. A grand jury was impaneled Monday. Trial of court cases started Tuesday. There is a light docket.

Loving county has constructed a two-room courthouse since the organization, but still has no county building large enough for the District Court to meet in.

Business conditions throughout the country, particularly as they relate to the retail credit merchant, will be discussed before the Kiwanis club of Big Spring Thursday noon at the Crawford hotel by Frank T. Caldwell of Miami, Fla., field secretary of the National Retail Credit association.

While in the city Thursday Mr. Caldwell will be available through the local Retail Merchants association, to local business men for credit information and advice.

On his return to the United States he entered the credit department of the National City Bank in New York, where he remained four years. He resigned that position to enter the agents' department of the Federal Reserve bank in Philadelphia, where he specialized in statistics and research.

Oppose Gas Consumption Tax. Representatives in Congress from the oil-producing States are opposing a proposal to levy a consumption tax of 2c a gallon on gasoline consumed in this country which would produce about $150,000,000 annually.

Senator Tom Connally of Texas appears before the house ways and means committee Monday in opposition to a gasoline consumption tax since the States, he said, are now getting $50,000,000 a year from gasoline and using the revenue for road improvement purposes.

"State taxation on real estate and other property is now so burdensome that it is difficult to bear and most of the States are hard pressed for sources of revenue to maintain their fiscal programs," said Senator Connally. "The Federal Government has so many other sources available."

The Finance Corporation

MELVIN A. TRAYLOR, the Texan who climbed to the heights in the financial world, is now being prominently mentioned for a place on the directorate of the newly-created Reconstruction Finance Corporation, according to advices from Washington. Seven men will make up the board.

Among those being prominently mentioned in the east now are Dwain D. Young, Bernard M. Baruch, Silas H. Strawn, Harry M.
Robinson, Rudolf S. Hecht, and Edward N. Hurley.

Nominations will require senatorial confirmation and then the fireworks will start. The senate has been harshly with many important White House appointees during re-there will be opposition to whoever is named on this board. The result-

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Need To Laugh At Ourselves

From Judge:
LAUGH at yourself and prove that you are intelligent! Prof. Carl Garcia of Rutgers says, "Tell me what you laugh at and I'll tell you your mental age." His rating of laughability is the best we have seen: "A moron, a half-wit, even an idiot, can laugh at other people's mistakes; the man who can laugh at superstition, a custom, a tradition, an institution, must be an observer; but the man who can genuinely laugh at himself is truly intelligent."

Perhaps this could be applied to the business depression, and perhaps it would help. There is certainly nothing funny about headlines about people broken for want of work to do. Neither was there anything funny about the suffering of soldiers during the World War. Yet our soldiers and civilians both found plenty of cause for laughter then, and it was a strong force in support of morale. For the last two years this nation has too much neglected its vaunted sense of humor, perhaps because it has been so bewildered. A lot of hearty laughter at ourselves—at the spectacle of a hand choked with plenty and yet compelled to give alms to millions —would be evidence of national intelligence, and it might hearten us in the job of setting the balance right again.

SYNOPSIS: Trueman Rock

Preston, although Preston has a bad reputation for rustling in love with Preston's daughter, Thiry. There is some mystery about the ranch, Rock finds for Thiry is afraid and her brother Ash is hostile.

Chapter 27
GUILTY

Rock jerked in his chin. "Preston—I never let myself have—such hope," he burst out.

"Faint heart never won fair lady," quoted the rancher. Then he frowned and added, tensely, "Declare yourself, like a man, if you want my interest."

"Boss—I-I don't quite savvy," replied Rock, uncertainly. "What more can I say? . . . Unless—I suppose, Preston, when a man falls honest in love he should have honorable intentions. If I had any they sure would be honorable. But, Lord, I never dared even dream of Thiry as my wife."

"But you'd like to marry her?" queried this astounding ranchman. Rock stared a moment. "I'd be the happiest and luckiest fellow on earth."

"Wal, that's talkin'," returned Preston, gruffly. "I was about changin' my mind that you wasn't such a sudden feller, after all. Do you want my advice?"

"Preston, I—I'd be most grateful for anythin'," replied Rock bewildered.

"Thiry ought to be told." "Aw, no! . . . So soon? Before I've proved what—it's only distress her—do my cause harm."

"Cowboy, you don't know women," said Preston. "The very fact that you came to me and declared yourself, straight like your name, will go far with Thiry, an' all of us 'ceptin' Ash. An' even Ash couldn't help but see that was right. He beat a cowboy once who dallied after Thiry without talkin' marriage."

"Like as not he'd try to beat me—if I did tell her," rejoined Rock, with a nervous laugh. The very idea threw him into a fever of panic.

"Wal, I'm appreciatin' your fine feelin's, Rock, so I'll tell her myself," replied the rancher, and turning to the open door he called, "Lacy."

"Preston!" gasped Rock, rising. At this moment Lacy poked her disheveled head and bright face in at the door. "Daddy, did you call?"

"Where's your sister?" "Which one? Thiry is here. But I don't see Alice."

"Wal, reckon Thiry will do. Send her in," said Preston, dryly. Rock, standing as if paralyzed, heard the child call gayly, and then light, quick footsteps. Immediately the dark doorway framed a slender form in white, with wistful, expectant face and great, doubtful eyes.

"Come in, lass, an' shut the door," said her father, as he knocked the ashes from his cigar. There seemed nothing momentous in voice or manner.

She complied, and came forward hesitatingly, her glance going from her father to Rock.

"Thiry, come hyar," he went on, and when she drew close he put an arm around her. "Do you see that big cowpuncher standin' over there?"

"Yes, Dad—I couldn't very well help it," she replied, and she just escaped being demure.

SPORT SLANTS
By Alan Gould

The three-cornered switch in football coaches a short time ago involving Minnesota, the University of Oregon and Holy Cross, has turned out pretty well for all concerned.

It would be difficult to pick any three places more widely separated in their spheres of interest and action but they have a common satisfaction in the turnover that shifted Clarence (Fat) Spears from Minnesota to Oregon, Capt. Joek McEwan from Oregon to Holy Cross, and Fritz Cramer into the head coaching berth at Minnesota, by way of Chicago.

Minnesota came through with unexpected strength this year, trouncing Iowa and Wisconsin and giving the great Northwestern eleven a sensational game. Oregon, upset by the loss of a star back and the by Southern California, retrieved a flock of prestige by handing New York university its first defeat of the season, 3,100 miles from the home of the Web-foot at Eugene.

Holy Cross yielded to Harvard and Dartmouth by a single touchdown, but tied Fordham and cramped over Rutgers and Brown in the course of a very impressive campaign.

McEwan's coaching methods have gained him enthusiastic support at Worcester. His talented assets have included a great quarterback in Phil O'Connell and what one writer describes as a pair of grand opera twins on the wings, Jim Cavalleri and Tony Colucci.

McEwan says he never thinks of his star ends without feeling like humming a few bars of the opera "Cavalleria Rusticana." As a working combination on the flanks, Colucci and Cavalleri rank close to the great Tulane pair, Dalrymp and Haynes, the bare-headed boys of Dixie.

HARPOON THE 'CATFISH'

Speaking of ends, and even if we are a trifle late in stressing the obvious fact, Georgia's Catfish Smith was "ganged" to such an extent in the Tulane game that it is doubtful if even a Hinkey or a Muller would have been able to survive a pounding such as he absorbed and do his stuff.

The most conspicuous tribute to Smith's ability was the fact that the Greenies shot in two and often three men to keep the Catfish out of the play. Deliberately, it appeared, the Georgia star was steam-rolled at the outset.

The psychology was, of course, well conveyed. The bathhouse was strong for the Catfish. He was the marked man. Feeling his own responsibility, he quickly became over-anxious and cost Georgia several penalties through his eagerness to break through the barriers closing around him.

As Edwin Camp of the Atlanta Journal writes me: "I have no illusions about Smith as an end. He is like Babe Ruth; he strikes out often. Still, he is the greatest competitive athlete I have ever seen on a football field."

'BREATHERS' PRO AND CON

The gridiron campaign has pro-

Texas Topics

by RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN—A final round of agitation before political campaigns open for a new session of the Texas legislature came into prospect at the week-end. Rep. J. R. Donnell, Hillshoro-Corsteana cotton man, opened the chorus this week for an extraordinary session.

Repeal of the cotton acreage control law before farmers start planting will be made a basis of the urging. This was Rep. Donnell's motivation. Congressional redistricting will be another.

Apparently the earliest session that has any reasonable grounds of probability would be after the first primary, July 23.

As figured out now, here are some of the reasons:

1. The cotton acreage law is in the hands of a court on the east side of Franklin, on which in the week and appeal taken by decision will be handed down early in the coming week. If upheld, its provisions claim the law will be beneficial.

2. Congressional redistricting could not go into effect in less than 120 to 130 days. This would reach just about, or possibly beyond, the June 6 deadline for filing for the offices, and cause extreme confusion. And there is no more prospect that the legislature would pass a bill than in any of the three previous sessions when it killed them.

3. The state tax rate has been reduced by law, effective with that to be fixed by the tax board July 15-20. The present deficit assures the levy of the maximum rate under this limit law.

4. The only tax legislation that can be passed now, assessing new fees, can be enacted after the July 23 primary, as well as before it, and can be kept out of the political campaign to some extent.

5. Legislation on oil control is required, in Gov. Ross S. Sterling's opinion, only if the two things should occur together of martial law being stricken down by federal court and the state's conservation statute declared void by some court.

Rep. Lawrence Westbrook, a co-author of the cotton acreage law, has predicted that Gov. Sterling will respond to demands for a repeal session if the courts reduced arguments for and against the "breather" schedules of major teams.

While Georgia was tackling the tough ones, north and south, Tulane developed its strength with intervals of comparative relaxation and consequently was in prime condition to upset the Bulldogs.

Cornell used similar tactics but appeared short of experience against Dartmouth, which beat the Ithacans after successive hard games against Yale and Harvard.

Notre Dame, as usual, thrives on big league competition all the way. So has Northwestern, although the Wildcats came close to experiencing an unpleasant reaction against Indiana.

Fast Independent Club Meets Prairie Here This Evening

Spikes Henninger's Cosden cagers commuted to Colorado Tuesday night and in a return to their old form, flashed a snappy passing game to defeat the Col-Tex Refinery team 33 to 18 in a rapid, rough game.

It was the second victory in as many weeks for Cosden and the second great exhibition of the week for Wilson, guard, who was the outstanding floor man of the evening.

Cosden will play the Prairie Oil and Gas company team from Midland at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the high school gym here.

West topped his fellow player, Steelman, for scoring honors by one point with six field goals and a free throw. Steelman accounted for six field goals, the pair tallying 17 to their team's 33 points.

Dorn, Col-Tex center, topped the Mitchell county performers at 14 points. He got three field goals and three free ones. Cosden held Col-Tex to two field goals and a free throw in the first half which ended 15 to 5.

Highway Department Authorizes Highway, Abilene-to-Sterling

AUSTIN.—The state highway department authorized a state highway from Abilene to Sterling City, via Bronte and Robert Lee. Taylor county, under the order, will place $100,000 in escrow toward the part of the work in that county.

The highway engineer was authorized to get options for purchase of a right of way on Highway 128 for a Nueces river bridge near Callallen. The commission agreed to advance the money for right of ways. Nueces county refunding it when county road bonds are sold.

Designation of a state highway from Harlingen to Edinburg was referred to the engineers for investigation and report.

More Care In Listing Births Is Suggested

People of Howard county have been urged through a letter to County Clerk J. I. Pritchard to increase their care in the registration of births. A letter from the state department of health, listing reports from various cities for the first six months of 1931, declares that the report indicates there may have been some failures to record births.

The report for Howard county showed 19.7 birth per 1,000 population, basing the population on the 1930 census.

Crawford Hotel Group Returns From Carlsbad

Having directed a banquet at the Crawford hotel in Carlsbad, N. M., Saturday evening, given by the New Mexico Newspaper Association and in celebration of dedication of the new elevators in Carlsbad Cavern, Mrs. Olive Wertsberger of the Crawford Hotel Coffee shop with her son, Melvin Spratley, and the Crawford orchestra, returned here booked for a cattleman's convention in Carlsbad in March.

The local hotel's orchestra, led by Brook Havens, played for two dances in Carlsbad, Friday evening at the hotel honoring Gov. Beligman of New Mexico, and Saturday evening at the armory of Troop I, New Mexico National Guard.

Four hundred and sixty persons toured the Cavern Saturday following formal dedication of the elevators at 10 a. m.

The banquet program was featured by an address from Gov. Seligman and by delegates to a New Mexico newspapermen's convention, which also was in session in Carlsbad.

J. C. McConvey was toastmaster. Rev. A. G. Tozer offered the invocation. T. C. Horne, president of the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce, spoke on "Carlsbad Is Honored." Governor Seligman's topic was "The Press, Carlsbad Cavern and Carlsbad."

C. A. Pierce, manager of the U. S. Potash company spoke on "Potash, New Mexico's Newest Industry."

Thomas Boles, superintendent of Carlsbad Cavern, spoke on "The Caverns are Calling You."

Mrs. W. B. Robinson's subject was, "Woman and the Newspaper." Harry Stuart, managing editor of "New Mexico," talked on "Good and Bad Publicity."

Superintendent Boles disclosed that 8,144 persons visited Carlsbad Caverns in 1931. They came from the 48 states and 44 foreign countries and colonies of the United States.

Half of the entire number, 40,345, came from Texas. New Mexico furnished 9,365, Oklahoma 6,968, California 5,789, Colorado 2,981, Kansas 2,030, Illinois 1,428 and Missouri 1,372.

From Mexico 163 persons came, Canada sent 90, England 35, Hawaii 31, France 18, Germany 18, the Canal Zone 13, Japan 20, Philippines 11. Others came from Alaska, Afghanistan, Albania, Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Borneo, Brazil, British Honduras, Chile, China, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Egypt, Greece, Holland, Hungary, India, Irish, Irish Free State, Italy, New Zealand, Nova Scotia, Panama, Peru, Roumania, Scotland, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland.

NOMINATIONS OKAYED

WASHINGTON, (27)—The senate banking committee approved the nominations of Charles G. Dawes, Jesse Jones and Harvey C. Couch, for the Reconstruction Corporation. The senate will probably vote on them tomorrow. A third Democratic member of the Board remains to be named.

Famous Folks Are Numerous In High School

People Who Correspond To Celebrities Are Enumerated

You have often heard the question asked "What will be your amount for?" Probably that question has been asked about several of our students, but little did they ever think that we had in our midst characters which are just as famous as politicians, actors, actresses, and statesmen. Note the likenesses and unlikenesses of these outstanding figures in our High School world: "Phog" Allen, the famous basketball coach; George Brown; Romeo and Juliet; Bill Stamphill and Virginia Cushing; Buddy Rogers—Raiph Duvall; Norma Shearer—Florine Rankin; Alexander Smart—Howard Whitehead; Joan Crawford—Lillian Crawford; Lindbergh—Bill Campbell; Pop Warner—Olin Brinkley; Bobby Jones—C. Morgan; Lillian Tashman—Laura Belle Underwood; "Big Bill" Alden—Joe Davis; Helen Wills—Louise Wright; Mutt and Jeff—Richard La Ferre and Morris Bass; Jack Dempsey—Paul Roberts; "Stretch" Murphy—Cecil Reid; Rudy Vallee—Orville Hildreth; Jim Thorpe—Henry Richardson; "Chain-store" Henderson—B. W. Earnest; Ben Crosby—Truett Grant; "Poppey"—David Hopper; Elmer Tuggle—Elmer Dyer; Harold Teen—Virgil Sanders; Lillians—Louise Flowers; Will Rogers—Jake Pickle; Jesse James—Walter Smith; Janet Gaynor—Ruth Taylor; Charles Farrell—Joe Clark; Eddie Cantor—Lillian Harris; "Ma" McPherson—Pearl Butler; Dorothy Jordan—Dorothy Jordan; Carrie (League of Nations)—Mrs. Stegner; Maxie Dressler—Miss Cox; Charles Chaplin—Dude Shaw; "Al" Capone—Cecil French; Greta Garbo—Christine Zarafonich; Jean Harlow—Valma Scott; Fanny Moran—Edythe Ford; The Siamese Twins—Elsie Yates and Elsie Winslow; Winnie Winkle—Jane Tinsley; Andy Gump—Hudson Henley; Major Hooper—Mr. Blankenship; The Four Marx Brothers—Walter Bunker, Johnnie Nall, Steve Ford and Lloyd Forrester; Abe Kable—Fred Martin; The Four Horsemen as selected by the greatest coaches: "quarterback" Curdick—Howard Schwarzenbach; "fullback" Savoldi—Tack Dennis; "half-back" Brill—Oscar Hebbens; "half-back" Schwartz—Bill Flowers; Gail Curci—Leola Moffett; Paderewski—R. V. Jones; Madame Schumann-Heink—Claudine Shaw; Mary Brian—Vivian Snyder; Mrs. Van Trapp—The political boss of the main party—Mr. George Gentry.

Students are you gaining anything from your course in school? Are you attending this institution because of being forced to do so, or to benefit from it in later years? Everything you do at the present time will have some influence on your later life. The things on which you spend most of our time today are either going to be an aid or an impediment. "Be Prepared" is a motto that every one should adopt in life to meet the various obstacles that will confront one after his education days are over. We should be making air castles today, planning to become somebody in this world. Probably everyone is doing this but are all building their castles out of good materials? Are you laying the right foundation? Will it be halfway built and crumble after a severe storm? Do not let your thought be as expressed in the old song, "I'm forever blowing bubbles, pretty bubbles in the air, they fly so high, nearly reach the sky—then like my dreams, they fade and die!" Build your air castles out of good material, and be prepared to emerge from the countless misfortunes that will undoubtedly come. We will not always be a school boy or girl; we must later on make this world go round. Those who are dreaming today of the future will be the ones who will be better prepared to meet the coming years. We must back our thoughts and ideas up and the material information that we secure today in high school will have a big influence on our way to success. Later on in life may be too late, so start now while there is a better chance to succeed.

Steers Meet Cats Friday

Elated by their victory over the Angelo Bobcats on Monday of this week, the Steers are practicing hard this week for a tussle with that same team at the latter's home town. This will be one of the hardest games of the season for the Steers. Having trailed the Bobcats Monday night all three quarters and staying a last quarter rally, the locals nosed them out to the score of 22 to 13. The Steers will have to fight harder this week since they will be playing on an "unaccustomed" field in a distant town. To date the Steers have defeated the Bobcats three times this year but the latter is rapidly improving and a close tussle is expected this week. Pay city taxes before February 1.—adv.

School Supplies A Speciality

Second Semester Matriculation Is Finished In Bustle

The busiest spot in Howard county Monday was right in Big Spring High School. The noise and milling around was almost as great as on the first day of school last fall. Most of the forty-odd new freshmen students were so excited that they didn't know exactly what they were doing. Many old students were stirred up just by the general idea of starting out clear again. And then there were the few, of course, who never get all wrought up over anything. They meandered peacefully around and stood patiently in line, awaiting their turn and showing the teachers due respect. The main cause for the hurrying and scurrying was to get signed up for some class before it became so full that no more could be allowed to enter. As it turned out, many of the teachers have unbalanced classes—twice as many in the morning section as in the afternoon section, etc. Mr. Bristow expected just a few to sign up for his Commercial Law class. When capacity was reached his features took on a worried expression. By the time fifty had applied, he was worried, indeed. Other teachers found similar difficulties. Nevertheless, it will all be straightened out and everything will be running smoothly in a week or two.

Dramatic Club Has New Charter

The High School Dramatic Club in a meeting last Wednesday afternoon adopted a constitution and elected officers for the spring semester. The constitution was read by Oia Mae Hartman, chairman of the committee, and was adopted after several amendments had been added to it. Under the new constitution the governing officers are: business manager, stage manager, secretary, advertising manager, and custodian of property and wardrobe. Howard Whitehead, Steve Ford, Jane Tinsley, Jake Pickle, and Oia Mae Hartman were the officers elected to serve during the spring semester. Try-outs for nine places in the club are to be held Monday afternoon. Any student enrolled in the high school is eligible to try out. Shall we close our schools? Or will you pay your school taxes before Feb. 1st?—adv.

Senior Lists Registration Period Events

By HUDSON HENLEY
The mid-term rush is on. We all registered for new classes and got new books this morning. I haven't seen so much bustle in the building since the first day of last semester. As usual, a lot of the kids were dashing around in a hurry to get into classes before they were too full. My own schedule was practically the same as before. It didn't cause me any worry. Some of the other seniors had a hard time with their schedules though. They have taken about all the school has to offer them and what all they haven't taken falls on the same period. What a break for the nugs. This afternoon all the crowd, "Dodo" and "Moby, Bill and Edith, Sandy and "Babe," Henry and Bandy, Carol and Martha, and Evelyn and I, went out to the lake to watch the ice carnival. There was every kind of an ice-scape caper imaginable performed. The whole thing was more than breath taking, but the thing that made my blood race was a stunt entirely new to me. Two of the performers made a double-figure eight cross-out. Their tracks resembled a four-leaf clover. The spectacular part of it was the way they missed each other in the center of the figure eight. I expected any minute to see them tumble into a big heap. However, they didn't even pretend to fall. After that followed the race. For once I picked the winner and won a dollar from Sandy. His hot tip turned out to be all wet, and was he sore? At eight the gang gathered at Molly's house to spend the evening. Everyone was in high spirits dancing or gambling at Bunco, when I walked three hunky freshmen. That class of churr-headed onion-head is a direct violation of our gang's principles. Accordingly a struggle ensued, finishing in a trio of fish being taken for a ride. We dumped them about five miles out of town, with the thermometer below freezing. The dance came to a happy finish with no more interruptions. I have an extra dollar and a house. One of us can make a house-to-house campaign to sell cheap fountain pens. The other can follow a couple of wetkas later selling a guaranteed ink-remover.

Just the same the Monkeys will enter the county tournament to be held Friday and Saturday of this week. They may win one prize through default, as it is understood that they are the only Junior High team in the meet.

From the principal's office comes the information that several changes have been made in the schedule which was given to the students Monday morning, for the benefit of those classes were formed, both to meet during the month period. They are, Commercial Law and Math 2-B, English 1-B class, which was supposed to meet at the seventh period has been changed to the fourth, and the English 4-A class which was scheduled for the eighth period has been changed to the seventh period.

Teacher's Rating Plans Announced

At one of the faculty meetings a few weeks ago the teachers expressed a desire of having some method of checking on themselves at various times during the year. A committee was appointed to draw up a questionnaire relative to this subject and the committee was composed of Mrs. Stegner, Miss Butler, and Miss Ramsey. They have reported to the faculty and have drawn up a questionnaire which has met with approval. This questionnaire is not to be used by any official or administrator in connection with the ability or selection of teachers, but is to be used by the teachers, only as an aid by which they can better themselves and their methods in teaching the students, in keeping up with the modern trend of teaching, and keep themselves fit in all ways. This questionnaire contains twenty questions which the committee thought were the most important things a teacher could rate herself by. Another purpose of this questionnaire is to get the teachers to think in terms of teachers and their relation to their work and their students. Horses were the first livestock to reach Virginia. Canada buys two-thirds of its imports from the United States. Utah ranks second in U. S. copper bearing states. Ireland has a high birth rate.

Amarillo Man Is Speaker In Chapel

Bishop E. Cecil Seaman, of Amarillo, who was in the city attending the district meeting of the Episcopal Church, addressed the student body Tuesday afternoon on "The Examples of Two Great Southerners; Washington and Lee." "I feel that it is significant that two of the greatest leaders of men the nation has ever developed have been men who recognized the leadership of their Savior," Bishop Seaman said. He was introduced by Supt. Blankenship.

SHOTS FROM THE SHOWERS

Well, the Lubbock tournament is over and the Steers are resting several niches higher on the basketball Railing Calendar than before. Not content with being victors over a tournament of 32 teams, they had to come home and Monday night send the Cats from the Concho home with the small end of a 22-19 score. The Steers have been an interesting team this year. They have the very peculiar habit of fooling the fans for a couple of quarters and then breaking out with the most unexpected scoring spree which usually leaves the opponents so bewildered and far behind the game is never in doubt thereafter. In Lubbock the whole team was working and that's the main reason they went through four games without a loss. They came out on top with room to spare. In the course of their championship flight they met some worthy teams. Probably the second best team in the tournament was the Wilson five. These players had a smooth working defense and a very lobbing offense but it was their fighters and took their third place through hard work. The Steers have a habit of talking trophies. Although no cup or trophy was awarded to the school, each individual player and reserves took home a medal. George Brown was awarded a tie as the coach of the winning team and Richard L. Feve got a pair of socks for being the best built boy. Something to think about was the fact that no one in Lubbock obtained any of the prizes offered. Monday night the Bobcats from San Angelo took it on the chin. Showing an offense that worked out times and then again falling to the Steers, they put up a great battle. The Steers were outplayed for a couple of quarters but that old rally and fighting spirit overcame the Bobcats and brought the fans to their feet for it looked as if it were anybody's game until the last second. The Cats never got more than three goals more than our team by shots but had an uncanny ability to hit the baskets from all angles. However their playing broke many of the Steers plays up. Houser is one of the best men we've seen in action this season. He plays center on the tip off, a fine dribbler and one who can direct his shots and is a stellar player on defense. The team would be weakened to a great extent if this young man were not there to direct the team. It seems like Big Spring's year for sports. An unsurpassed football record, an undefeated basketball team and track season in sight. If you didn't realize it, the records for the Steers is nineteen straight and no defeats that day. All looks like another trip to Austin.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By M. TIE SATTERWHITE
It is strange that when you want to put me girls in a reception line, they are so willing, and then so quickly change their minds. It seems that the self-appointed reception committee Monday morning fell down on the job because the men were bald-headed, and because they all weren't as good-looking as the first ones. Maybe those girls will know next time to find out for sure whether the men are married and if they are bald-headed. It seems that Lubbock almost captured some of our most valuable students during the basketball tournament last Friday and Saturday. Cecil Reid, who accidentally acquired the name "Reddie" while up there, was never on time to dress for a game. Tack Dennis says that it was certainly trying his nerves to try to keep up with "Reddie" and so that he didn't "stay too long" and was on time for the game, and then it seems the finals had to be held up until the Big Spring captain arrived and it seems that Cecil was the only one who was late because of the outside interest. Fred Marian might have been interested in something else, but he says he was never late to dress for a game. Goodness! Poor Coach Bristow is so disappointed because he has to sign some girls up for his commercial law course, but it seems that in spite of all coach's protests, he has several young ladies in his classes. But it isn't at all his fault. He says the girls are so hard to "scare up" about a course. Even though he told them they would have to buy their books, keep notebooks, and spend plenty of time studying—they still insisted on taking commercial law. The chief chatter in the halls this week seems to be about the H.I.K.E. party at Edythe Ford's Saturday night. The boys are almost as interested in that as the girls were in the "B" Association party last week. It is just the same old tale—"Have you been asked to that H.I.K.E. party yet?" or "Gee! I hope that I get to go, but I think she already has a date."

Who's Who

Bill Flowers is a Junior in school. He has blond hair, hazel eyes, weighs 165 pounds and is 5 feet 9 1/2 inches tall. Bill is a model for any boy to pattern after since he has a very charming personality, a nice grin, and a physique like some of the Greek Gods. Bill is interested in almost every sport, but basketball is his favorite. He lettered in football in 1930 and '31, being captain of the Steers in '31. He lettered in basketball in '30 and '31 and from the way he is hustling now he is sure to win a letter this year. He is a member of the "B" Association and is "official spatter" in the club. Bill plans to go to Terrel Prep School next year and then to some university. After he finishes college he is going to "relax." The ideal time in Bill's estimation is 5 feet 3 inches tall with blond hair and she must be good looking. Hazel Smith—five feet, four inches tall, weighs 103 pounds; light student body, while they are sitting on the steps of the "B" Association. "Doesn't Hopper blush when you say: 'Look at the emblem on Tack's blue sweater?'" "Doesn't that color become Virgil?" "Look at that green shirt with that yellow sweater?" "C. L. look. Hebie's hair just matches his sweater!" "Which one do you think looks cutest?"

Football Men Get Sweaters

Twenty-Two Awards Given This Year To Griders

Members of the 1931 football team were awarded their sweaters Tuesday afternoon in assembly. There were 39 members who lettered and received sweaters. Dr. E. O. Ellington, president of the school board, made the presentation address. "I believe, and I think that all will agree with me, that the football season of 1931 has been the best season that any team representing our school ever had, not only through victories, but also in sportsmanlike conduct during the games. To Coaches Bristow and Brown must be given the credit for rounding into shape one of the best high school teams in all Texas—at least one from which all-state material has been named by leading sports writers in Texas. With the same coaches back next year and a reasonable amount of good material, Big Spring should go even farther into football fame than she did this year." Those who received sweaters were: Captain Bill Flowers, Tack Dennis, Elmer Dyer, David Hopper, Virgil Sanders, Orville Hildreth, Edythe Ford, Fred Martin, Kyle Sanders, Paul Roberts, "Dub" Coota, Lloyd Forrester, Lillian Harris, Henry Richbourn, Oscar Hebbens, Howard Schwarzenbach, Co. Nathan, Orr, and "Squeaky" Thompson. To Coaches Bristow and Brown were presented blankets with the emblem of the Big Spring High School "Steers" embroidered on them. A wrist watch donated by Cunningham and Phillips, was awarded Felton Smith, for his continuous services to the team for three years on the scrubs and for his attitude throughout the entire season.

With High School Basketball Teams

Coach Coffey's Calves took a game from the Foran Juniors Monday afternoon by the score of 20-8. The results show a team 100 per cent better than it was at the beginning of the season. The other Junior teams in the county will have to practice and improve considerably before they can beat the Calves out of the county championship which the Coahoma Pups now hold. The Monkeys, Junior High team under direction of Coach Tombs, have been practicing several weeks and have just begun to play matched games. Although beaten by the Calves early, they have improved sufficiently to beat the Foran Juniors 29-19. Sam Flowers was the individual star of the game making fourteen points. The Devils have started again. Monday afternoon they took the measure of Foran high school for the second time this year. They played ragged ball however and the game was lastly played. The Devils are taking them as they come this week. Tuesday they play Midway, Wednesday, Foran and Friday, Record. The Devils' record for the season is fourteen games won and two lost. Ore by Carden City High by a mere two points and the other to the strong McCamey High Badgers. The Devils on the square are, Driver, Townsend, Little, Woods, Franklin, Cordille, Flowers, Pierce, Nell, Counts, and Koberg. With two tournaments tucked away and truly running their total for the season to nineteen straight games the Steers are getting in shape for the Angelo fray Friday night. After putting up such a fighting spirit at Big Spring, the Cats will be set to give the Steers all they have added by being on their home court. This will mark the fourth time this season the two teams have met and so far the Steers have held the advantage after every game. Last night when the two teams met the Steers weren't in top form. They were exhausted after their long trip to Lubbock and the playing of four games.

brown hair and eyes and fair complexion. Favorites are: color, red; car, Oldsmobile; dish, everything; subject, biology; hobby, collecting jewelry, especially bracelets; pastime, dancing. Hazel is classified as a Junior and belongs to the Dramatic Club, Pep Squad, Lebat-nig and Spanish clubs. She is treasurer of Pep Squad; reporter for the Debating and vice-president of Home Room Club. She takes biology, Spanish 11, geometry and English 111 A. Hazel and her gang are to be the favorites of the High School. They seem to be quite noted in the neighborhood towns such as Abilene, Angelo, Midland and the others. Her ideal type is a brunette about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches tall and straight hair. We know by looking at Hazel that she is an exception but never realized she walked to the store for a loaf of bread when she was the age of eight months.

Girl Scout Envoys Address Students

Last Friday afternoon the student body had the privilege of hearing two speakers representing the Girl Scouts of America. They gave interesting reports on what the Girl Scouts are for and about the Girl Scouts camp in New Mexico. They invited all the girls interested in Girl Scout work to attend the camp during the summer. The girls here are organizing a Scout club and plan to start to work in earnest soon.

Ackerly

Mrs. Nick West has returned from a visit with her sister, Mrs. Corbin Sumner in Lamesa. Rev. Reeves filled his appointment at the Methodist church Sunday. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the young people met and under Rev. Reeves' leadership organized a young people's department of the church, programs to be rendered at 8:30 on Sunday evenings. The following officers were elected: Thebert Williamson, president; Miss Johnny White, vice-president; Miss Opal Williamson, secretary; Miss Lemoine Ingram and Ralph Williamson, group captains. Wayne Smith and Miss Geraldine Archer surprised their many friends by going to Lovington, New Mexico, and being married. After a trip through the Carlsbad Cavern they returned home Monday afternoon. Geraldine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Archer of this place and Wayne is employed by the Planters Oil Co. at Klondyke. These young people have the good wishes of a host of friends. The P.T.A. of the Ackerly school held its regular meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 19. It meets on the first and third Tuesday of each month. The state inspector in company with Supt. Webb visited the local school on Monday of this week. Mrs. H. W. Haworth and Miss Lois Pendergraas were shopping in Big Spring last week.

The senior boys' and girls' basketball teams went to Hancock for games on last Thursday afternoon. The girls won, but the boys lost. Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dorsey and Mary Alice of Knott had Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Andy Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Sol Ingram visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Trice at Spangenberg Sunday. Members of Mrs. Sol Ingram's class enjoyed a party at the E. Criswell home Wednesday evening. This party was given in their honor for having brought the most members to Sunday School during the month. The Methodist Sunday School is growing and much interest is being manifested. W. A. Wilson, who has been ill for several months has gone to Beaumont in the interest of his health. Sonny Boy Parker, Mrs. Wilson's small grandson, returned with him to his home after a long visit here.

Winchell To 'Okay' Berlin Thursday

When Walter Winchell, famous newspaper columnist and gossip, salutes the Old World with his "Okay Berlin" on Thursday evening, January 28th, at 10 o'clock, E.S.T., during the Lucky Strike Dance Hour, Marek Weber and his Orchestra, playing from that city will be introduced to radio listeners of the United States. This broadcast will mark the first time in the history of radio that music has ever come from Berlin on a sponsored program. Joe Moss, popular American dance orchestra leader, will share the program with Weber and will be heard from New York. In presenting this program from abroad, the many facilities of the National Broadcasting Company for international communication will be brought into play. It was pointed out. The music of the German orchestra, which will be played at 4 a. m. Berlin time, will be transmitted to England on telephone lines and from that point relayed by shortwave to America where it will be rebroadcast on a nationwide network of NBC stations associated with WEAF. Weber, who is a prominent figure in Berlin's gay circles, has been heard in this country on numerous Victor records. His orchestra, consisting of fifteen pieces, will play typically German dance melodies, while Joe Moss and his Orchestra, whose rating as society's most popular dance orchestra leader has been confirmed season after season by debutantes and Social Registerites, will offer several of our currently popular dance tunes by way of contrast. Since both men are outstanding dance enthusiasts, leaders in their respective countries, this program will afford listeners an unusual opportunity to compare and dance to the characteristic rhythms of the two nations.

able for taxation purposes that it would seem a sound policy not to invade the field of gasoline taxes.

"Nobody wants to pay taxes," Senator Connally suggested that if it is found to levy a graduated income tax against individuals, why would it not be found to levy a graduated income tax on corporations?

"It might be argued that such a tax in time of depression would produce a small amount of revenue," said Senator Connally, "but my answer is that such a tax is just and wise and should be placed in operation."

He added that under present law all corporations were taxed the same rate irrespective of the rate of their income and that he thought there should be adopted a graduated excess profits tax. Senator Connally said that otherwise income taxes should be increased in the higher brackets, increase in estate taxes on larger estates, allotting to the Federal Government all such increase, and adoption of a gift tax.

Einstein Urges Arbitration To Insure Peace; Fixing 'Size of Swords' Ineffective, He Says

Editor's Note: Following is another of a series of articles outlining the opinions of international figures on the arms question. In it are given the views of Prof. Albert Einstein, noted scientist who now is in California, on arms, war, arbitration and the disarmament conference opening in Geneva February 2.

By J. A. BOUMAN

BERLIN, (AP)—Upon the United States Prof. Albert Einstein builds strong hopes of solid and powerful aid in the "war against war" that is to be waged at the disarmament conference table in Geneva.

The noted scientist describes the League of Nations as "a debating club" and the Hague Court of Arbitration as powerless in an article just published by the Dueseldorf General Anzeiger.

Arbitration, Einstein says, should be made compulsory and the Court's verdicts should be enforced, militarily and economically, by joint sanctions on the part of participating powers.

This concession to militarism Einstein makes for the reason that "we should only make these sacrifices to the state when the free development of the individual is ensured thereby."

"The state exists for the citizen; not the citizen for the state," Einstein says. "The same can be said of economic."

"In these troublesome times one is apt to forget that the most important business of the states is to afford protection to the individual and give him an opportunity to develop his creative potentialities."

"Therefore, the state should be our servant, and we should not be slaves of the state."

"This rule is violated by the state when it forces citizens to perform war service—to slay men of other nationalities, or to hamper their free development."

To Americans, the professor says, this is self-evident; not so to Europeans. And he makes a special plea for international protection of the conscientious objector.

Concerning the prospects of the arms conference, Einstein says: "I shall laugh weep or hope?"

"Imagine," he says, "a city full of cantankerous and quarrelsome people. The constant danger to life is felt to be a hindrance to the proper development of the city."

"The city council therefore is expected to remedy this situation, but neither the councilmen nor the plain citizens are willing to give up carrying swords."

"After years of arguing, the council calls a meeting on 'how long and how sharp may be the swords that our people shall be allowed to carry?'"

"So long as the citizens do not try to eradicate mutual killing by recourse to the laws, the courts, and the police, trouble will not cease."

"Agreement on how long and how sharp a sword may be only benefits the strongest and the most quarrelsome of the people, and delivers the weaker into their hands."

"My parable is plain," the professor continues. "We have a League of Nations and a Court of Arbitration. But the League is not much more than a debating club, and the Court of Arbitration has no means of enforcing its verdicts."

"These institutions offer no security to any state if it is attacked by another."

"If this be remembered, France's refusal to disarm without security may be judged in a more reasonable spirit than has been the case hitherto."

"Unrestricted sovereignty and security against attack cannot be reconciled by any artifice. Will it need another catastrophe before states can be persuaded to be bound by internationally recognized verdicts?"

"In my opinion, universal military service is at the root of the moral decadence of the white races. It threatens our civilization; nay, our very existence," Einstein says.

Finally, the scientist invites the people of America to subscribe to the following:

"Whereas the signatories of the Kellogg pact have branded war as an inadmissible and dishonorable means of settling disputes, let all signatories give a solemn undertaking that none of their nationals shall be forced to do military service in any capacity against their conscientious convictions."

"No ministers of religion shall be required to conduct such exercises as blessing weapons of war, or offering up prayers for victory. For such acts are contrary to the outlawry of war, and to the spirit of humanity."

flyer takes off from a point where such a station is located and informs the station, through the weather bureau, of the time of his departure, the station will broadcast that information. If he fails to arrive at his destination in a reasonable time messages are broadcast asking that all airports keep a lookout for him.

The only trouble that has been encountered with this service is not due to inefficiency of the facilities but to failure of flyers to report their departing times to report when they arrive at their destination, or land at any point.

An instance of this occurred last week when a pilot left El Paso at 11:30 a. m. for Big Spring. His time of departure was broadcast. He found a strong tail wind aloft and flew a considerably greater distance without landing than he had expected to. Instead of landing at Big Spring, as was expected, he continued to a field between Dallas and Fort Worth.

Two days, while department of commerce stations and airport staffs throughout this section of the country searched for him, he was innocently visiting friends in Dallas. Had he "checked in" to a weather bureau or government radio station on landing the trouble would have been prevented.

Ban Militarism, Einstein's Plea

"Agreement on how long and how sharp a sword may be only benefits the strongest and most quarrelsome of the people, and delivers the weaker into their hands."

"In my opinion universal military service is at the root of the moral decadence of the white race. It threatens our civilization; nay, our very existence."

"We have a League of Nations and a Court of Arbitration. But the League is not much more than a debating club and the Court has no means of enforcing its verdicts. These institutions offer no security to any state if it is attacked by another."

ALBERT EINSTEIN

POLITICS at random

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Whether they succeed or not, it cannot be denied that the democrats are making heroic efforts this year to pocket their differences and pull together for victory in November.

This is worth remarking, because it is out of the ordinary. The traditional tendency of democratic leaders is to put conviction on the highest pedestal, scorn compromise, and defy the consequences.

Everyone knew the free silver excursion in '96 would split the party. No one could have doubted the prolonged Madison Square deadlock in '24 would have serious consequences on election day.

Whoever sits through any ordinary democratic convention must recognize the tremendous driving power of those conflicting emotions which meet time and again before the show is over.

Of course plenty of dynamite remains in the democratic arsenal and now and then the sound of explosions reaches the public ear. But it is impressive, whether or not it is prophetic to see the constant vigilance by which so many democratic disagreements are being smothered out privately, just as republican dissensions have been smothered so often and so successfully in the past.

SHOUSE ACTIVE

For months the active center of this pressure for coordination has been the party headquarters in Washington, under Jouett Shouse.

To have such a control unit really functioning between campaign years was, in itself, a novelty for the democrat.

The scope of Shouse's activities has been far greater than the public realizes.

Recently a new democratic novelty has appeared. A joint committee of senators and representatives is trying to work out quietly a party policy on legislation.

When trouble over committee places appeared in the new democratic house, the party leaders retired for a week of prayerful conferences. They emerged with a committee slate unanimously acceptable, although it meant that some veterans made great personal sacrifices in the interest of harmony.

SEEK DRY LAW HARMONY

Now definite steps have been proposed to do something about prohibition and the tariff.

Chairman Reakoff's proposal for a prohibition referendum, without party commitment either for or against repeal, surprised his colleagues at the national committee meeting in Washington, in view of his own firm opposition to the dry law.

It is true many dries did not accept the referendum plan as anything but a modified wet proposal, but at least Reakoff's gesture disvested the January committee session of much of the turmoil and bitterness displayed when it met last March.

The democratic tariff bill now pending is calculated likewise to bottle up not democratic words which otherwise might find their way into the congressional record.

There are democratic congressmen who would like to tear the present tariff law into microscopic bits, and there are other democratic congressmen who voted for that law, and have not changed their minds.

While no public display of this disagreement the new proposal undertaken to bridge the gap by merely declaring a broad party policy without going too much into detail.

SEE PROMISED LAND

The reason for the "sweet ranobleness" need be no mystery.

From the vantage-point of recent victories the democrats have seen a vision of the promised land, which they aspire to reach in November if only the brothers can be kept from destroying one another along the way.

Stock Hauling Law Reviewed

Members of the state highway patrol stationed here said Monday that knowledge of provisions of a new law governing hauling of livestock on state highways is limited in the ranks of the public generally and asked that the law be published.

It is house bill No. 157, requiring drivers of trucks, automobiles and other vehicles to have and exhibit to peace officers upon demand written permission covering movements of livestock and domestic fowls on to make written statement in the absence of such a permit, and providing penalties for failing to exhibit a permit or to make such a written statement or for making false statement of possession of a permit.

It follows: An act requiring drivers of trucks, automobiles and other vehicles to have and exhibit to peace officers upon demand written permit covering movements of livestock and domestic fowls contained therein, or to make written statement in the absence of said permit, and providing penalties for failing to exhibit the same or to make said statement or for making false statement or for making a statement of possession of a permit, and declaring an emergency.

Be it enacted by the legislature of the State of Texas: Section 1. Any person who is the driver of any truck, automobile or other vehicle containing any livestock or domestic fowl which is upon or being driven upon any land of which said driver is not owner, lessee, renter or tenant, or which is upon or being driven upon any highway, public street or thoroughfare who fails to have in his possession and exhibit to any person or peace officer upon demand a written permit authorizing said movement signed by the owner or caretaker of said livestock or domestic fowl or from the owner or person in control of the land from which said driver began said movement shall be fined not less than twenty-five ($25.00) dollars nor more than two hundred ($200.00) dollars for each head of livestock and each domestic fowl in said movement, unless said driver, upon demand of said person or peace officer makes signs and delivers to said person or peace officer a written statement containing all the information herein required to be included in permits. Said driver shall be fined not less than twenty-five ($25.00) dollars nor more than two hundred ($200.00) dollars for each head of livestock and each domestic fowl in said movement which is not covered by all the foregoing information: Name of place of origin including name of ranch, or other false written statement shall be included in permit, and destination including name of ranch, market center, packing house or other place; number of livestock or fowls with the description thereof, including kind, breed, color and also marks and brands if there be any. Failure to refusal of such driver to exhibit to a person or peace officer said permit or to make said statement shall constitute probable cause for any person or peace officer to search said truck or vehicle to ascertain if it contains any stolen livestock or stolen domestic fowls and to detain said movement a reasonable length of time to ascertain whether any stolen livestock or stolen fowls are contained therein. Any driver who has in his possession any false or forged permit or who makes any false statement or who makes any statement not less than two hundred ($200) dollars nor more than five hundred ($500) dollars or he shall be imprisoned in the county jail not less than sixty (60) days nor more than six (6) months, or he shall be punished by both such fine and imprisonment. It is provided that the provisions of this act shall also apply to slaughtered livestock and fowls and butchered portions thereof.

Winkler County Wells Deepened; Water In Hobbs

In Winkler county the following operations have been reported in the past few days:

Republic Production company's No. 10 Grisham-Hunter was deepened to 2,592 feet from 2,552 feet and flowed 250 barrels of oil and 5,000 barrels of water daily. It had been making 15 barrels of oil and an equal amount of water.

Recent reports are that eight wells in the Hobbs, New Mexico, oil field are making from two to 60 per cent water. The Hobbs pool has been placed on the 6-day production basis, which was adopted in most Texas pools several weeks ago.

Shirley June Robbins Gives Party On Seventh Birthday

Little Miss Shirley June Robbins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Robbins, was hostess to her friends Monday afternoon for a party in celebration of her seventh birthday.

"I'm Cook enough to Know"

"WHAT I know about making cigarettes...doesn't amount to anything at all! But I'm a good enough cook to be sure of this...You can't get a thing to taste good...unless you use fine ingredients.

"And what's more...you have to know just how to combine them.

"It must have taken an amazing knowledge of tobacco flavors...to work out that recipe for Chesterfield's good taste.

"Just as in a pudding...the proof of any cigarette...lies in the taste.

"Recently I tried Chesterfields for the first time. Right away, I knew that such taste and fragrance had to come from grade A ingredients...to say nothing of a carefully worked out recipe for combining them.

"Then, too, I found Chesterfields milder. I didn't know a cigarette could be so mild and at the same time so good-tasting.

"And have you noticed the paper? Pure white. I'm told it's the purest paper that can be bought.

"Even the package is whiter and cleaner-looking. Little things, I suppose, but I'm cook enough to know that purity and cleanliness must count in cigarettes too."
