God's On The Move In Motley County

Matador Methodist

by Eddie Marcum

All of us face certain struggles in life. As Christians, we struggle each day to be faithful where we know God wants us to be faithful. And every now and then we need a special touch from God or to be refreshed and renewed in life. That's where our church Revival comes in.

Revival literally means to "wake up" and "live". And there is not a one of us that wouldn't admit we all need some "reviving" in our lives.

I hope you will make a special effort to attend the Revival held April 27-30. The Revival will start at 7:00 p.m. each evening. Rev. Tom Fuller, the pastor from Oakwood United Methodist Church in Lubbock will be the featured speaker. He has pastored the Stinnett, Gruver, and Oakwood Churches as well as serving as Campus Minister at McMurry College. Oakwood is one of the fastest growing churches in the conference and plans are being made to build a new sanctuary there next year.

Jim Fullingim will lead us in music. Jim is known throughout the state of Texas and across denominational lines as an outstanding singer and witness for the Lord. He is a farmer from Petersburg. Jim greatly loves the Lord and is excited about sharing his faith with others.

Both of these men will inspire you to deepen your walk and faith in Jesus Christ. I hope and pray that you will faithfully support them by your prayers and presence at our church Revival April 27-30. See you there!

Commissioners On The Job Monday

The Motley County Commissioners Court met on April 14, 1986 at the Courthouse. Present was Judge Billy Joe Whitaker, Commissioner's Bill D. Washington, John M. Russell, Joseph (Gid) Simpson, Fraiser Watson and County Clerk Lucretia Campbell. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Bills were read and approved.

The Commissioner's discussed the trappers salary and the current trappers request for a salary increase. Previously the salary increase was requested and approved by the commissioners. The money had been sent to the Trapper's Assoc. and the trapper only got 5% of the allotted raise.

It was noted that the most recently purchased front end loader was now paid for. The Commissioners voted to drop the insurance on it.

Library Board President, Marisue Potts, and Librarian Sara Hurt met with commissioners to report that the librarian has attended several workshops to upgrade her level of knowledge. Library bills were presented to the Commissioners, were read and approved. Plans are being drawn up to expand library space as the American Legion members had voted to give the library a five year lease and to have it arranged to meet Legion needs. Commissioners were invited to come into the library and actually take note of the many books, especially the Texas History group. The library net worth has greatly increased through the years.

Lubbock General Hospital had sent the county a hospital bill for a Motley County indigent which the county is required to pick up at least 20% of the cost of indigent hospitalization. Commissioners reviewed the bill and discussed the problems incurred with this legislation which brought up the question of how much the county is liable for. Further investigation of this matter will be conducted by Commissioners Court.

Marisue Potts, representing the Sesquicentennial Committee invited the Commissioners to ride in the Folklife Festival parade on May 26. Commissioners Simpson, Watson and Russell agreed to participate.

Discussion of the Commissioners Court's role in maintaining proper electoral procedure ensued. It was brought up that citizens had questioned several commissioners regarding the legality of a convicted felon voting in the recent elections. The County Attorney quoted from a Vernon's Annotated Statutes Election Code of Texas, that proper procedure is to file contest to the election in the District Court which must be filed by any qualified voter.

Commissioners voted to lease-purchase a backhoe which was discussed in depth.

Commissioners voted to accept a new compressor which was used as a bond security are two years ago on a fine owed. The County will use the compressors in all the precincts as needed.

Reed has traveled over 12,000 miles and visited 180 Texas Counties pursuing his much-loved hobby--not just photographing old ranch homes but studying their history. For every photograph Reed has a story about the heritage of the land or the character of the people that worked these ranches.

Included in this display are 6666 Ranch Headquarters in Guthrie, the Reynolds Ranch Camp northwest of Fort Davis, the old XIT Ranch Headquarters in Channing, the J.A. Ranch

Headquarters in Clarendon, the Fulton Ranch near Rock Port, the Quannah Parker House, Pitchfork Ranch Headquarters, the Matador Ranch Headquarters in Matador, the old John Cunningham dugout in Motley County, the D. Waggoner Ranch in Decatur, the B.W. Reynolds Ranch House and Old Shanghai Pierce Ranch House in Pierce.

Hospital Board Welcomes New Member

The Motley County Hospital Board met on April 11. Present were Board members Larry Hoyle, Darrell Cruse, Lillie Crouch, J.M. Thacker and Caldwell Smith. Incumbents welcomed new member.

Votes of recent election were canvassed. New officers were elected: Larry Hoyle retained Board presidency, Caldwell Smith was elected Vice President, Lillie Crouch secretary.

Incumbent Board members explained Ambulance Service System, etc. to new member.

Smith was assigned task of evaluating need for painting and repairs at the clinic.

A request was brought to the Board to allow the Winner's Circle Club to use the clinic once a week to meet. The clinic has a good set of scales that are primarily needed for W.C. The Board voted and approved this request.

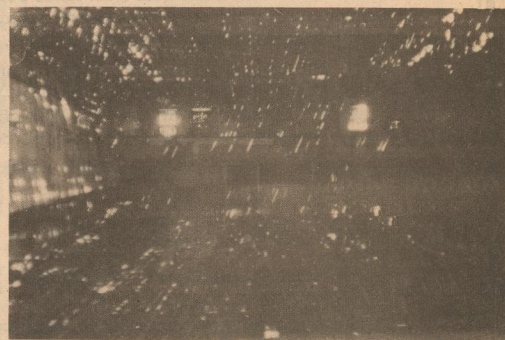

The Board discussed how smooth the clinic seemed to be running at present.

One item of discussion was regarding an E.C.A. student who had not worked on the ambulance service to pay back his tuition for certification. (Tribune note: it was erroneously stated that ECA students paid their own tuition and then were reimbursed by the hospital board. A correction would be that the hospital board paid the tuition and the ECA can either work to pay back the tuition or can simply pay the money to the Hospital Board.)

Bills were reviewed and approved by the Board. Discussion of need for SPAG representative from Motley County. Lillie Crouch agreed to represent Motley County.

The Board discussed improved communication with SPHPA and remarked on how helpful they had been to the clinic and board.

We in Matador should be thankful to have such a place as the Summit Savings Community Room in which to hold our various meetings.

The Summit Savings provides this room for us and Bessie Jean Williams is a gracious hostess to us all. She is always so willing to help us and provide us the key many times at an unrealistic hour when we have been negligent in securing it at a proper time.

Bessie Jean doesn't have full-time janitorial help so she herself often grabs the broom and dust rag and vacume cleaner and cleans the room herself.

We who use it should remember that this convenient facility is being provided for us "free of charge." Therefore, we should return chairs and tables to their proper place. We should pick up our trash and also carry it to the dumpster. It goes without saying that if we use the kitchenette, we certainly should leave it clean for the next meeting.

The clubs, organizations and individuals who use this room are indeed fortunate to have its availability. As in every area of life, we have responsibility. We have responsibility in the use of this room. Let's express our gratitude to Summit Savings and to Bessie Jean by being good stewards.

Thank you, Summit Savings! Thank you, Bessie Jean! We appreciate both of you!

"Son Beams"

By June Keltz

Spring is a joyous time for man and nature. It is an awakening from winters dormancy, a symphony of sounds, a parade of color and a time to breathe deeply the fresh air purified by a passing shower.

There is one of God's creations who always seems particularly grateful for Spring. Jesus called our attention to him in Matthew 6:26, "Look at the birds of the air." Have you looked? They are singing, chirping, flying, hopping all without a care. There is not a worried one to be found, "they do not sow, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not worth much more than they?" Yes, birds have families, build nests, eat and even take an occasional bath, all without anxiety because God is their source of supply.

Jesus taught His disciples that our Heavenly Father is aware of every sparrow that falls to the ground and as much as He cares for the sparrow, man is of more value. We are not to fear that our needs will be lacking when Father has already provided. (Matt. 10:29-31). In a world that seems to be falling apart when we listen to the "doom and gloom" news reports, let's remember that God made everything beautiful for our pleasure. His love surrounds us, lets take time to accept it.

Philippians 4:6-7 L.B. reminds us, "Don't worry about anything, instead, pray about everything; tell God your needs and don't forget to thank him for his answers. If you do this you will experience God's peace, which is far more wonderful than the human mind can understand. His peace will keep your thoughts and your hearts quiet and at rest as you trust in Christ Jesus."

Controlling Credit

As I focus on financial stress and families, it is important to develop money management skills that include controlling credit before it controls you.

The national debt may be in the news, but in many households, it's the family debt that's of greatest concern.

While most of us have to go into debt to buy a house and a car, installment or credit card spending is one area where we can control or even eliminate indebtedness.

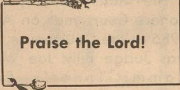

How? Get started by asking yourself the following questions before making a credit purchase:

- How much will the extra cost for credit be?
- Is this something I need--or simply want--right now?
- Will I be able to make payments without seriously straining my budget?
- What if I get sick or have an accident, could I still pay?
- Can I afford to spend my future income? For how many months or years?
- Will I still want to be paying for this item over those months or years?
- Would it be wiser to save my money and buy this later?

Once you've answered these questions, you should have a pretty good idea of whether a credit purchase is a good idea or not. But you have to stop and think.

If impulse buying is your weakness, try leaving your credit cards locked in a safe place at home when you go shopping.

It doesn't cost a dime to say "no" to a credit purchase and it could save both money and worry later on.

Better Business Bureau Warns Golf & Country Club Orchid & Farm Owners

The BBB of the South Plains, Inc. has learned that two companies by the names of CHEMGLO, INC. of Allendale, NJ and LITECHEM, INC. of Ramsey, NJ have mailing invoices for 20-35 gallon drums of weed killer to golf club owners/managers and orchard and farm owners which were never ordered or delivered. Just last week, it was learned that a country club had paid invoices totaling over $5400 to CHEMGLO for weed killer only after they questioned a fifth invoice received from the same company for all-purpose cleaner in the amount of $1399.

The companies' response to complaints is that the invoice was sent in error.

The U.S. Postal Service filed suit against the company (P.S. Docket 22/59) alleging CHEMGLO, INCORPORATED and owner, David Glassman has violated federal law. On September 13, 1985, a cease and desist order was issued in connection with the company offering any product or service for sale by the mail. The company must cease and desist from falsely representing that: the merchandise identified on the statement of invoice was previously ordered by the addressee; the apparent order for merchandise specified on the income represents a sales contract between the company and the addressee; and the addressee is obligated to remit to the company the invoiced amount of money. The company must also cease and desist from sending any solicitation for the order of goods/services that looks like a bill, invoice or statement of account due that does not comply with federal law.

BBB/South Plains urges bookkeeping staffs to verify that an order was placed and merchandise received before making payment.

Foliage Travel Tour Described At Club Americanism Program

by Lila Meador

A program on Americanism for GFWC El Progresso Club featured a foliage tour in northeastern states, when the organization met April 10, at the Summit Community Room. Mrs. Robert Dickson presented slides and descriptions of colorful scenery and historical places that she and her mother, the late Mrs. Margaret Narciso had visited on tour.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Dickson, president. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Joe Campbell, secretary, and a report on the museum project was given by Mrs. Harold Campbell.

Mrs. Furman Vinson, program leader, read the yearbook quotation by Sinclair Lewis: "Intellectually, I know that America is no better than any other country; emotionally, I know she is better than every other country," and turned the program to Mrs. Dickson.

It was a nostalgic trip for Mrs. Dickson and her mother when they arrived in New York City from Houston. The former Jo Ann Narciso graduated from George Washington High School, when her parents lived in New York, and the trip back afforded a tour of familiar places in the metropolitan area, including St. Patrick's Cathedral, Ellis Island, the Statue of Liberty and West Point Military Academy. She noted one landmark still in operation, Bear Mountain Inn.

The trip took them through scenic country where trees, plants and apple loading apparatus vied for attention with waterfalls and rapids down Ausable Chasm; then by ferry across Lake Champlain to Vermont, where they visited the marble quarry at Barre. Scenes of foliage and maple trees along the countryside en route to Montpelier and a view to the capitol, said to be the smallest of all the states in the union, added interest to the historic covered bridges in the area.

The tour continued through New Hampshire past Great Stone Mountain Face, Eagle Rock, many New England homes, including the Bigelow (carpet) family mansion, and again colorful foliage seen here on beechnut trees.

Slides made and bought, of historical Boston, Mass., included the Old State House, Paul Revere's House, where one of only two original coat-tail chairs exists, the Old North Church with its high backed pews and the oldest organ in the United States; the USS Constitution or "Old Iron Sides," and on to Sturbridge Village and a view of two-and-a-half story houses; and from there back to New York.

For Inspirational Thought, Mrs. Vinson read "A Prayer for the Middle-aged," to conclude the program.

"Since the program centered on New England, apple pie seemed appropriate for the occasion," said Mrs. C.D. Garrison, hostess for the day as she served refreshments of apple pie a la mode, and coffee.

Members present included Mesdames Ted Elliott, Frank Pohl, John Hamilton, Bill McCaghen, W.N. Pipkin, Robert Darsey, W.D. Lipscomb, E.A. Day, Douglas Meador and R.E. Campbell; Rachel Patton, and others mentioned, Mmes. Dickson, Harold Campbell, Joe Campbell, Vinson and Garrison.

Nutrition Notes

Yogurt Coated Snacks Are Candy

COLLEGE STATION--Consumers may be buying yogurt coated raisins and nuts under the misimpression that they are "health" snacks, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX) specialist.

Nutritionist Marilyn Haggard says the yogurt coating used in these snacks usually has sugar as its major ingredient. The other ingredients include partially hydrogenated vegetable oil, which may contain saturated coconut or palm oil, non-fat milk solids, non-fat yogurt solids, whey and artificial color and flavor.

She says that many people believe that they'll get the benefit of yogurt's protein, calcium and riboflavin from these snack foods.

But a .9 ounce serving of yogurt raisins provides only 2 percent of the recommended dietary allowance (RDA) for calcium, less than 2 percent of the RDA for riboflavin, and one gram of protein.

These products should be considered in the same category as candy-coated nuts or raisins, says Haggard.

For a real high-nutrition snack, the TAEX nutritionist recommends putting some raisins in a cup of plain yogurt and adding a non-nutritive sweetener to taste.

AVOID HIGH-CALORIE TREATS--After the "good behavior" of exercise, diet and hard work, people may reward themselves with rich, calorie-laden foods, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist Dr. Alice Hunt. While this system may work for some people, it can lead to a continual cycle of dieting and splurging for others who have trouble controlling their weight. A healthy diet includes a variety of foods from the basic food groups, including meat, poultry and fish, dairy products, breads, cereals and pasta, and fruits and vegetables, Hunt says. To cut calories, she points out that you don't necessarily have to buy special prepared low-calorie foods. Instead, just make sure you are eating low-fat dairy products, lean red meats, and poultry with the skin removed. Avoid extra fats from gravies and sauces or fried foods. If you're one of those people who rewards yourself for dieting with high-calorie foods, the nutritionist also suggests finding some other way to give yourself a treat.

Only the strong have sufficient will to be humble.

Mrs. Shannon Presents Program On Quilting
Mrs. Doyle Shannon of Roaring Springs presented a program on the art of quilting at the Do Gooders' Club meeting held Wednesday, April 9 at the Community Center in Flomot. It was not only an entertaining program but an educational presentation when she told the history of quilts. She displayed a quilt over a hundred years old as well as others that had been in families thirty and forty years.

She had quilt squares made of many small pieces of material that were not used when sewing clothing apparel. These were used for quilts at the long ago Quilting Bee parties. Today, material is bought to make different designed quilts. She told of a modern day quilt technique you make as you go that doesn't need a quilting frame. She closed the program telling those attending that information and books about the history of quilts is available at the library for their reading enjoyment.

Re-Elect
George W. MILLER

District Judge

FACT: Two (2) out of 1465 cases reversed.

Since January, 1982, when the Court of Appeals began keeping records by judicial districts, only two (2) of Judge Miller's cases have been reversed to date according to that court's records. During this same time, 1465 cases filed in Judge Miller's court were tried or disposed of, including deferred adjudications, according to the records of the Office of Court Administration, Texas Judicial Council, updated by the District Clerk's records in each county. The number of reversals are remarkable low compared to total dispositions.

FACT: Seventy-seven (77) days worked on assignment.

Since 1982 during which time Judge Miller assisted the widow of a deceased former client and family friend, seventy-seven (77) days were devoted by him trying cases in Lubbock, Tarrant, Parker, Swisher, Terry, Childress, Yoakum, Hale, Crosby, Bailey and Hall Counties outside this district and at the request of the sitting District Judge. Jury and nonjury trials were always punctually tried in this district at all times.

SUMMARY: Not only has Judge Miller performed his duties extremely well, but continues to assist in other districts.

Hightower Addresses Diversification

(DALLAS)--"Our state government's financial future cannot be made sound simply by slashing budgets or even by finding enough new tax revenues to cover the deficit," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower told members of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce. "Rather, our state must now become more aggressive than ever in planting new seeds of grassroots economic development so that two years, five years and 15 years down the road we have a diversified economy that can support state services at a responsible level."

Hightower addressed the "First Tuesday" luncheon of the Dallas Chamber, calling for "a problem-solving partnership that links an active state government with enterprising Texans to build new, homegrown industries in such fields as food processing, electric energy generation, aquaculture and movie-making. With a targeted, coordinated, crash program including market development, applied research, capital formation, entrepreneurial training, and natural resource conservation, the state can be a catalyst to generate hundreds of small and medium-sized enterprises that will bring new wealth, good jobs and a positive balance to our state's economy," Hightower said. "Added up, these growth industries have a multibillion-dollar potential, representing an economic gusher greater than Spindletop offered 85 years ago."

Hightower observed that declining oil prices, a deepening agricultural depression, a slump in the high-tech industry and other disquieting trends have somewhat dimmed the economic luster of The Lone Star recently. "But our Star will be ascendant again if we make a concerted effort and vest our economic future in the hands of our own enterprising people," Hightower said. In fact, the latest Texas Poll reveals that the public is more than ready for such a push, with 65 percent of those polled saying that they would be willing to pay more taxes to the state to encourage economic development.

As evidence that an economic development approach will work, Hightower pointed to several successful initiatives that the Texas Department of Agriculture has made in the past three years. "Everyone knows that agriculture is a problem for our economy today, but by nurturing it properly, agriculture can be a major solution for the Texas economy tomorrow," he said. To nurture it, TDA's focus has been on three areas of need: (1) help farmers and ranchers sell their commodities directly in local, nationwide and international markets; (2) promote diversification of our agricultural production into high-value cash crops that use our natural resources efficiently; and (3) foster construction of processing facilities so Texas begins to capture a much larger share of the lucrative value-added segment of the food and fiber industry.

"There are profitable markets that Texas producers are only now beginning to produce for—everything from jalapeno peppers to Christmas trees, from pinto beans to crawfish," Hightower said. "Not only can we grow these products and help to supply multimillion-dollar markets for them, but we also can build our own processing and marketing facilities so that Texans can capture much more of the value-added share of the food dollar that now goes out-of-state."

"Farmers and ranchers now receive an average of only 26 cents out of the consumer's food dollar, with 74 cents going to the processing and marketing sectors. Texas is the second largest grower of food in the nation, yet we process only six percent of the country's food. The Texas food processing industry is grossly underdeveloped. By selling raw and

Children 'Wanted Alive'

COLLEGE STATION--In recognition of the many accidental injuries occurring to children, the following "Wanted Alive" announcement is issued by Dr. Gary Nelson, a safety specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The pair wanted are male and female between the ages of 5 and 10 (more or less) and stand belt high (more or less). Their eyes are brown, blue, green or hazel and they go by aliases such as "princess, sweetface, good buddy and champ."

Their general habits dictate close supervision as they are attracted to such things as water and may be found around ponds and tanks. They beg to ride tractors and other dangerous power equipment. They're occasionally found climbing tall trees or on buildings. They have been known to play with matches and could cause problems where poisons are stored.

The pair are wanted at school for questioning regarding the completion of their studies. They are wanted at home to enjoy family meals, do homework and be hugged by parents.

Approach with caution. The pair are known pranksters and may be armed with bubble gum, sticky fingers and even an occasional sling shot. On their persons may be found rubber bands, small rocks, live pet bugs and numerous other seemingly innocent items. They are often found running in gangs; you should always expect the unexpected from them and their cohorts.

If found, hug daily. Supervise their activity. Teach them how to avoid childhood dangers. Be a good example. Set and enforce safe limits. And let them know they are loved and "wanted alive."

buying back finished food products, we are losing billions of dollars that could be kept at home. For every additional one percent of the national food processing market that Texas captures, it means an additional $1 billion to the state's economy," he said.

Hightower pointed to the example of flour, noting that Texas wheat farmers are getting only a nickel out of a pound of flour that costs consumers 28 cents. The processors—most of which are out-of-state firms—get 21 cents of the value. "Clearly, the dough—the green kind you take to the bank—comes from making the flour, not from producing the wheat," Hightower said. "That's why TDA's marketing staff worked for a year to help find a market and arrange private financing for a new, farmer-owned flour mill in the Panhandle town of Dawn.

"Soon hard-pressed wheat farmers around Dawn will be processing their own wheat into flour, capturing not only the value of their wheat, but also the 21-cents-per-pound of value-added money that has been going to out-of-state flour makers. The Dawn flour mill will produce 300,000 pounds of flour a day, all of which is already sold under contract. The farmers who sell their wheat to the mill will enjoy a 50 percent increase in their share of that $1.00 bag of flour, plus they will save grain storage costs they otherwise would pay. Instead of the 'value-added' money going out-of-state, every penny of the consumer's dollar will be returned to the local economy. And the mill will create 14 new jobs—that doesn't solve the unemployment problems of Texas, but it does solve them in Dawn.

Blueberries can be produced in East Texas to serve the fresh market in Texas of $27 million per year. Regional demand for fresh blueberries is as great as $100 million annually based on a recent TDA study.

Crawfish producers in the Golden Triangle are planning to process their 60-cents-per-pound live crawfish into $1.50 per-pound frozen crawfish tails that can be sold to restaurant franchises.

"The aquaculture industry in Texas, including inland shrimp, catfish, and crawfish, has the potential to grow into a $100 million a year activity for producers."

"Texas Christmas tree growers have begun to capture more of the four million trees per year in-state market. In 1985, Texas cut 300,000 trees, returning nearly $3 million to producers and reducing prices to lucky consumers by as much as 50 percent; and "Production and processing of wine grapes is putting Texas on the map as a quality wine-producing state. Production from the 17 commercial wineries in the state will increase from 465,000 gallons in 1985 to 650,000 gallons in 1986, with the value of production increasing from $9.7 million to $13.5 million.

"The key is to always start with a market," Hightower said. "Whether it's across town, across the country, or around the world, TDA has people in the field today, helping our farmers, ranchers and food processors find new markets for their products." Again, the initiatives are proving successful.

"The value of livestock shipped through TDA export facilities increased from barely $6 million in 1983 and $36.8 million in 1984 to $77.5 million last year.

"Direct sales at TDA-assisted farmers markets across Texas increased from $1.6 million in 1984 to $3.3 million in 1985 as the number of those markets doubled to 34."

"Direct wholesales by farmers cooperatives to processors, chain stores and restaurants assisted by TDA jumped from $438,000 in 1984 to $757,000 in 1985."

"The number of companies participating in TDA's Taste-of-Texas program to identify Texas-grown and Texas-manufactured food products increased from 87 in 1984 to 188 in 1985; and

"The amount of capital invested in value-added food and fiber projects assisted by TDA more than doubled from $31.8 million in 1984 to $65 million in 1985. When completed, these processing and marketing facilities are estimated to generate first-year sales of $260 million."

"That's $260 million which will be placed into local communities at a grassroots level and allowed to generate three and four times through the entire Texas economy. It's not trickle-down economics, but percolate-up economics that creates genuine wealth at a local level," Hightower said.

"These are some of the steps toward economic diversification and development taken by one small agency, operating with a modest program, but they indicate the potential. The approach is based on the old saying 'If you've got lemons, make lemonade.' We should launch a major, state economic development drive like Massachusetts, New York, Ohio and other forward-looking states are doing. Just as the food and fiber industry holds enormous promise, so do other sectors of our economy."

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; but fools despise wisdom and instruction.

Hightower pointed out examples of other food processing ventures that TDA has been helping to develop in every region of Texas:

"A Childress ranch family will turn 55-cents-per-pound choice steers into $2.09 ground round through a rancher-owned and operated slaughter-house and attached retail sales facility;

"Ochiltree County farmers will diversify from cotton into pinto beans. These farmers will increase the value of their dry pintos from 17-cents-per-pound to 22-cents-per-pound through a bean grading facility and will gain access to chain store markets not available to those selling bulk beans;

"Panhandle potato farmers are considering the feasibility of turning their three-cents-per-pound potatoes into 33-cents-per-pound bulk frozen french fries;

"Costal Bend rice farmers will dry and bag their own rice, increasing its value from eight-cents-a-pound to 17-cents-per-pound;

"Rio Grande Valley farmers in La Villa are now grading, packing, and shipping their own cucumbers, increasing their return by up to 40 percent per pound; and

"West Texas onion growers will grade, pack and ship their own two-cents-per-pound onions and receive five-cents-per-pound in return.

"In addition, TDA is helping growers in all parts of the state to take advantage of identified markets that now exist for alternate crops and their processed by-products," Hightower said. For example:

WTU Refund Announced

West Texas Utilities Co. has received permission from the Public Utility Commission of Texas to refund more than $9 million in over-collected fuel costs to its retail customers.

The PUC's action was in response to a request filed March 17 by WTU. The total amount to be refunded includes $9,146,092 in actual fuel costs savings which have accumulated since the current fuel rate for WTU was set by the PUC last August, plus $215,837 in interest.

The refunds will be made through one-time credits on bills customers will receive in May. The typical customer should receive about $22.

Also approved was WTU's proposal to reduce its fuel rates, technically known as the Interim Quarterly Fixed Fuel Factor, for the three-month period beginning in May. WTU officials estimate that fuel charges to customers will drop by 8.2 per cent during that period. Base rates for kilowatt-hours used have not changed since 1984 and will remain the same.

WTU's fuel costs have declined for two years in a row, largely due to a softening natural gas market. Utility companies are allowed to pass the fuel costs to customers. Adjustments for over-collections or under-collections formerly were made automatically each month, but since 1983 utilities in Texas have collected fuel costs through fixed factors, which have necessitated refunds. This will be WTU's second refund within a year.

Vinson Installed In Mason Ceremony

Furman Vinson

Furman Vinson was installed as Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery Knights Templar of Texas at the One Hundred Thirty-third Grand Conclave held in Abilene, TX, April 12-14, 1986. The Commandery is an appendant body of Free Masonry that requires profession of a belief in Christ. The Grand Commandery of Texas is composed of 80 commanderies that are divided into 9 districts with about 28,000 members. The first Commandery of Texas was chartered June 23, 1855 at Galveston, TX and named San Felipe de Austin Commandery No. 1. Furman served Plainview Commandery No. 53 as Commander in 1964. He was elected a grand officer in 1980 and by tradition advanced a station each year.

County Agent's Corner

NEW PEST

Most of you have heard about the new wheat pest we now have in the U.S. call the Russian wheat aphid. We have found it here in Motley County on several fields. It's damage looks different than the normal greenbug we are used to. It stays in the upper leaves that are curled up. Infested plants turn purple, can have white streaking on the leaves and, when heavily infested, may make the tillers lie almost parallel to the ground. Recommended treatment at present is a combination of contact insecticides such as parathion plus a systemic insecticide. This should be done before the flag leaf becomes visible.

Most of our wheat has past this stage anyway so treatments this year would not likely be beneficial.

4-H WORK DAY

The city of Matador is tearing down the old theater building. They have offered the good lumber to the 4-H Club if the club will clean it up and move it out of their way. Plans are being made to use the lumber in re-roofing the Rifle Club building so that it can again be used for 4-H Shooting Sports project and other 4-H activities. Anyone who would like to help clean up and stack the lumber is invited to come Tuesday evening April 22, at 6:00 pm for the first work day.

If you plan to come from out of town you may want to call the Extension office Tuesday to check for sure they have enough lumber down to start on.

FRUIT THINNING

Thinning of fruit is a key practice for both backyard gardens and commercial growers.

Thinning is important for getting good-sized peaches and other fruit, thereby increasing the crop's value, says Dr. Calvin Lyons, Extension Horticulturist.

For top production, fruit should be 6 to 8 inches apart. On a well-pruned tree, leave about 600 fruit.

It's always best to thin fruit trees early in the season. Fruit thinned at bloom will average about one-fourth-inch larger than fruit thinned at six weeks of age.

Thinning at 28 days after blooming is a good guideline because the danger of frost is normally past at that time, the fruit thins easier, and increased fruit size can still be realized. However, thinning after pit hardening will be of little value other than to prevent limb breakage. All doubles (twin fruit) should be removed.

Thinning can increase the value of the fruit crop dramatically. Peaches two-and-a-half inches in diameter are often worth twice as much as two-inch peaches.

Salt was so valuable in early times that it is the source of the word "salary". The Latin word, "salarium", means salt money.

New Beef Packaging Bring Savings

VACUUM-PACKAGED BEEF NEW AT THE MEAT COUNTER-- Vacuum-packed beef is an innovation in meat packing that can help consumers save money while they enjoy one of their favorite meat cuts. Nutritionist Mary K. Sweeten explains that vacuum-packaged beef is a boneless section of beef that is trimmed of excess fat. It is packaged in a plastic "shrink-wrap" bag at the processing plant under strict sanitation controls, says the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX) specialist. By buying bulk, vacuum-packaged beef, consumers can save from 20 to 50 cents per pound, Sweeten says. According to the specialist, vacuum-packaged beef is slightly darker in color than traditional beef cuts. But once the bag is open and the beef is exposed to air, the meat will take on a bright red beef color. Meat that is vacuum-packaged can be stored two to three times as long as conventionally-packaged cuts, she says. But as with other meat, it should be kept refrigerated and used soon after the "sell-by" date on the label.

Diet Trends
Reviewed

LOW AND HIGH CALORIE DIET TRENDS--According to Dr. Alice Hunt, nutritionist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX), various studies show that as many as 75 percent of Americans may have changed their eating habits in some way as a result of diet or health concerns. Americans in general have increased their consumption of poultry, low-fat milk and fresh fruits and vegetables, but decreased consumption of eggs, coffee, red meat and whole milk, she says. The trend toward lower calorie, lower fat foods has been reflected in everything from restaurant menus to reduced-calorie frozen entrees and salad bars in fast food stores. Yet industry figures show that Americans are also eating more croissants--at 65% fat--more chocolates, more premium high-fat ice creams and more chewy cookies than ever, Hunt says.

Dear Barbara,
I am really enjoying the Motley County Tribune. Lots of news organized in a way that it is easy to read.

I really like the religious articles with the good news, we need more good news in our newspapers. I am also glad to see the bible verses you set in throughout the paper. They "jump out" at me and I have read them before I realize it then I usually read them again and think to myself "how long has it been since I read that one?"

Keep up the good work, continue to follow Gods leadership and the Motley County Tribune will continue to get better.

God Bless You,
Corky Marshall

To Whom It May Concern:

In response to a so called chain letter that other people and myself have received. First of all they are against the law, some say they are the work of the Devil himself. Anyone who would send a so called friend a letter telling him that good things will happen to them if they do so and so, and if they don't then, very bad things will happen to you or your family, such as your husband or wife and even children will die.

We do not appreciate your chain letters one bit. If you do believe in this nonsense then you really shouldn't be sending these letters out to your friends, you should send them to Khadafy in Libya or someone of his nature. The letters that we received have been destroyed and turned over to the local authorities. Let me remind you, if you want good things to happen to you and your family, then try going to Church and ask the good Lord for Blessings.

Signed,
A few unappreciative citizens

Dear Editor:

It has come to my attention that David Cave has placed an advertisement in your paper citing a Supreme Court holding in a case styled Harrison vs. Parker. In his enthusiastic efforts to unseat Judge Miller, Mr. Cave has overlooked some very significant matters in the information he has stated. In the interest of fairness to Judge Miller, I feel I must respond to certain implications made.

I was the attorney for the defendant's estate in the Harrison vs. Parker case cited by Mr. Cave. There were many equities against awarding Mr. Cave's client, the plaintiff, Mrs. Parker anything. But the key to Judge Miller's refusal to award her anything was the fact that case law barred her recovery. The judge was merely following the law as it stood when the case was tried. Judge Miller's findings in the case were reversed not because he ruled incorrectly, but because the case upon which Judge Miller based his ruling was overturned on appeal. It is the duty of a Judge to follow case law precedent, Stare Decisis. This is what Judge Miller was doing in the Harrison case. The reversal came not as a result of an incorrect decision on part of Judge Miller, but rather because the Supreme Court changed the case law.

As a friend of Judge Miller, and as an attorney who has tried many cases in Judge Miller's court, I resent the unbaised charges by Mr. Cave concerning Judge Miller's competence and judicial conduct. I have always found him to be fair and equitable in his rulings, thoroughly knowledgeable in the various aspects of the law, and willing to work hard at coming to a proper resolution of every case. I also know him to be a man of the highest integrity, a man I greatly respect.

I trust that your readers will be perceptive enough to realize that Mr. Cave's advertisement is so slanted and biased as to be totally unfair to one of the finest district judges in our area.

I would have hoped that as an attorney Mr. Cave could have directed his campaign with more integrity and class than this advertisement shows.

Thank you for allowing me to express my viewpoint on the subject even though I will not be able to cast a vote in this election.

Sincerely yours,
Tom J. Brian

Dear Mrs. Jameson,
I was pleased to learn that you have recently purchased the Matador Tribune and have returned the publication's original name.

As a lifetime resident of Motley County, I am sure that the paper has a special meaning for you. The citizens of the area are fortunate to have the insight that you can bring to the historic publication.

Best wishes to you in this new endeavor. If my offices can ever be of assistance to you, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Letter to the Editor:

There seems to be an epidemic of dogs being poisoned in Roaring Springs lately. In one incident, there were 3 dogs poisoned in one day in the owners yard. These people have a 3 year old child and thank God he didn't get into the poison. It was bad enough to wake up to his three dead puppies.

It's a sad day when someone poisons dogs in the owners yard! Please don't be so cruel!

Signed,
Citizen of R.S.

Letter to the editor

Dear Ms. Jameson,
Having just read the March 13 issue of your paper, I would like to compliment you on the fine job that you are doing. It makes for very interesting reading.

Thank you especially for including pieces of news--such as items about wells being drilled, that are of special interest to those of us who live out of the vicinity.

This is the second Army Achievement Medal that he has received.

Crazy C Roping School

The Crazy C Roping Club sponsored a three day roping school at Burleson Arena, April 4, 5, and 6. Guy Allen, four time World Champion Steer Roper, was the instructor. Guy, whose home is on a ranch at Eunice, N.M., instructed the 13 participants in the use of skills with a rope and with their horse. All the students agreed that Guy worked them hard but they benefited from the instruction.

Those attending were: Rex Yeary, Quitaque; Cody Reep,

Ropes; Phillip Glasson, Lockney; Randy Martin, Matador; Cole DuBois, Todd Beady, Tom Ross, Shannon Shurbet, and Laron Fulton, all of Floydada; Steve Jones, Tony Keeth and Joe Smith of Levelland. Mr. and Mrs. Keith also helped.

Alvin Martin, Paul Glasson, Craig DuBois and Tutt Garnet were on hand to help with the cattle and other duties to benefit the ropers and their instructor.

Carla J. Jones and Lou Burleson were time keepers.

It's A Small, Small World

by Mickey Meador

They say that if you sit in a cafe in Paris long enough, the whole world will pass by. I do not know if that is true, but that is the feeling I got recently at an Army Community Service orientation in Butzbach, West Germany.

I am sure that some of the soldiers noticed my distraction as I kept telling myself that the person I thought I was seeing was not really there.

I do not know what the odds are of two people from Afton winding up in the same room half way around the world from home are, but they must be pretty high.

The person who distracted me so was Chad Mullins, another graduate of Patton Springs High School, who was recently assigned to the Kirchgoens Kassern where my husband, Cpt. Danny L. Meador of Matador, is stationed.

I don't know what that briefing did for him, but it sure made me feel good.

We hear about terrible things happening in far away places, and we really don't realize that they are not as far off as they may seem. It is easy to take our safety and our freedom for granted, because those places are "too far away" to be a threat.

We also dream of leaving our small towns and seeing exotic places. How many times have you dreamed of "getting away"? I know that I did.

Seeing someone from home so far away made me realize that, though I may never go back to that little town, part of me has never left. I am glad of that because those "small town" people and those "small town" values shaped some very important parts of me.

Lastly, I would like to say not to take that little town so much for granted. We all dream. But there are plenty of soldiers over here who, when they dream at night, it is no longer of exotic places, but of the little towns that they never really left behind.

A MEAL IN MINUTES

The phone's ringing, the dog's barking, you're running late, and there's a PTA meeting in an hour. Everybody's hungry, but they're tired of eating the same old thing.

Help is at hand. By applying some creative cooking "strategies" suggested by the kitchens of Nabisco Brands, you can have meals that are quick to fix, as well as satisfying to eat.

- Prepare meals in advance — If you have time the night before, fix a dinner that can be reheated when you come home the next evening.

- Use time-saving cooking techniques — Use recipes that feature microwave cooking, stir-frying, grilling, skillet cooking or broiling — all reliable cooking time-savers.

- Make enough for two meals — When preparing a complicated dish, make enough for more than one meal. Freeze the other portion for later use.

- Find quick-to-fix recipes — Try using recipes suggested on product packages or in specially prepared booklets. They often contain ideas for quick dishes. ▲

Happy Birthday

We're Proud of You!

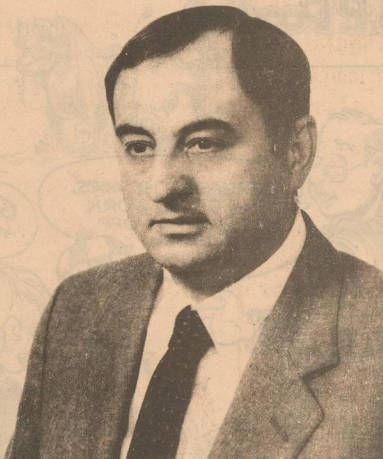

Richards Announced As Republican Chairman

Ron and Alyson Richards of Matador have agreed to serve as the County Chairman of the Kent Hance for Governor Committee in Motley County. Hance, who is in a three-way race for the Republican nomination for Governor, has organized steering committees throughout the state. In his 1984 bid for the U.S. Senate, Hance carried 204 of 254 counties in Texas. The Hance for Governor Campaign reflects that support by extending throughout almost every county in Texas. "Our extensive statewide organization is unprecedented for a Republican primary, but each county in the state is essential to winning this election," Hance said. Hance has the support of several traditional Republican leaders, including 10 of 11 State Republican Executive Committee Members in Houston, and 3 of 4 SREC Members in San Antonio. "I've always said the best form of advertising is someone actively supporting a campaign, and I'm pleased these people have enough confidence in me to support my candidacy," Hance said.
