House Adopts Democratic Tariff Bill

First Majority Victory Polled By Vote Of 214 To 182

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—The house today passed the democratic tariff bill, giving the majority its first victory of the session on party legislation.

The vote was 214 for and 182 against the bill.

It now goes to the senate.

Is the American Petroleum Institute really favorable to a tariff on crude petroleum and refined products?

Although the announcement was made by the organization, following its recent convention in Chicago, that it favored the tariff in principle, authentic sources reveal that sixty per cent of A.P.I. members did not vote on the question. Before a poll was made of all members the board of directors has taken a vote; 20 members voted for a tariff "in principle"; 16 opposed it; 15 were present but did not vote; 21 were absent. In the poll only 40 per cent of members voted, and as follows: for 1947, against 433.

We understand that a number of farms and farm women will meet here tomorrow for the purpose of discussing discontinuance of the county farm agent, county home agent and public health nurse's offices.

In this column we have endeavored to point out some of the values in having these services for the people of the county and that in times of financial stress these services are of more value than at other times.

Our remarks have not been intended as criticism of the commissioner's court in ordering discontinuance of the offices, but to help stress that every possible means of keeping the agencies should be tried before they are dismissed finally.

The big thing is that, regardless of condition of the general fund of the county, discontinuance of the offices would be a step backward rather than forward.

There has been handed to us the following remarks, made by Mrs. O. L. Thorpe, president of the Veal-Mo-Lump Demonstration club, which are interesting and informative:

Harlene Smith, one of these girls, already has a hot bed made, as I had told her that was to be the beginning of girl's work for next season. These girls, with the exception of one, are from homes where the mothers have not joined the club for different reasons. Seven boys have become interested in a club, and are planning to try to have one if there is any way of keeping a county agent.

The club women prepared a Christmas tree for the children of the community. All of the children of the community had the privilege of seeing Santa through the work of club women. Every child in the community was remembered, and at least fifteen would have been left out otherwise. Women have learned what good neighbors we have since we have club meetings. Little differences between families are being wiped out by this wholesome organization.

Our community is better off financially by the club work. We have so much more food on hand, and are eating the right kinds of food. If our commissioner would visit us now and then, he would not have to be told that we need all the help we can get from people who have made a study of ways of helping farm families to improve their living conditions, have better food, and sell products to the best advantage. We are paying for our farms by what we make off them, and we want to get them paid out, make them produce more, and thereby raise our standard of living.

We would also like to express our appreciation of Mrs. Showalter's work as county nurse. Twenty children have been immunized against diphtheria. Through her work one child with extremely bad tonsils is to have them removed soon.

Position Of Nation Given By Bruening

Policy To Be Enumerated At Forthcoming Lausanne Meeting

BERLIN, Jan. 9 (AP)—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening today declared any continuation of reparations payments were impossible and any attempt to maintain them "must lead to disaster, not only for Germany but for the whole world."

The declaration was included in an interview with the chief editor of the semi-official Wolff news agency.

The chancellor said that at the impending Lausanne conference Germany would urge the abandonment of reparations.

For Governor

TOM F. HUNTER
Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Jan. 9.—In attack upon the Texas highway commission as a "centralized political machine," and advocacy of diverting gasoline taxes to exempt $3,000 homesteads from property taxes and to assume county road bonds, Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls attorney, Saturday announced the selling of his car to his principal opponent.

Hunter advocated requiring the users of highways to pay their cost. He charged that public utilities are taking excessive profits from the state, and that huge gas companies are exercising monopoly to buy gas at prices too low to leave the state's production tax effective.

His platform called for repeal of the "Humble Oil company law" that allows foreign corporations to own and control Texas corporations.

Modifying an antiquated anti-trust statute and making it workable against combines, placed their assets at the helm of the ship of state, and are guiding its course without regard to the rights and interests of the majority.

Home ownership and relief of property from excessive taxation was another plank. Mr. Hunter asserted over two-thirds the state's wealth now escapes taxation.

Protection against chain store aggression was made one of Mr. Hunter's campaign planks. A sales tax on products not grown in Texas, such as large substitutes, is to be sponsored by him. He advocated reduction of poll taxes from $1.75 to 50 cents, and exemption of war veterans and their dependents from poll taxes.

"Our highway department," Mr. Hunter's platform statement said, "is so operated that less than half of our state highway funds actually go into the roadbeds."

"This department has degenerated into an expensive political machine. It has wasted millions of dollars, partially by such useless practice as erecting pretty signs to name the gulches and creeks at crossings, and by placing concrete (CONTINUED ON PAGE 1)

West Texas Oil Production Drops 40,000 Barrels Daily Below Runs

Crude runs through main pipe lines jumped in advance of production in West Texas oil pools in December, according to information from reliable sources.

Distribution last week was 40,000 barrels daily above production, caused by spread of the Sunday shut down movement.

With only about 50 per cent of storage filled and crude being withdrawn daily stocks are due to be greatly depleted by spring. Production in West Texas now is running at or near 170,000 barrels per day.

Average daily production of crude oil in West Texas during 1931 was 219,081 barrels, a grand total of 79,964,565 barrels.

However, at the end of the year daily average production had declined to 171,388 barrels, during the week ending January 2.

Average daily production in barrels by companies during 1931 follows:

Willys-Overland Announces 1932 Improved Models

Announcing the 100,000-mile "silver streak" motor, the manufacturer of Willys-Overland automobiles Saturday made known a large number of improvements in its new 1932 models.

The McNew Overland company of Big Spring, official dealers, released specifications, which included advanced free wheeling, shatter-proof glass, larger brakes, more roomy bodies, sound-insulating panels, velvet mohair upholstery, form-fitting seats.

Willys-Overland celebrates its Silver Anniversary with these models. Prices are $100 to $200 less than last year's.

In conjunction with exhibition of the 1932 models a radio contest was announced. Those wishing to become acquainted with details of the contest should tune in on station WFAA, Dallas, at 6 p. m. central standard time today, and each Sunday thereafter.

Orchestra To Play Evening Concerts At Crawford Hotel

The Crawford Hotel has secured the pieces orchestra under the direction of Ernoox Havens to play in the main lobby each evening from 6:30 to 8 p. m. Each musician is capable of playing on any instrument in the band. The orchestra recently played at a dance at the Colorado hotel, where they received an excellent reception. They have been asked to make a return engagement.

WACO, Texas, Jan. 9.—Joe Pickle, editor of the Daily Lariat at Baylor University, was selected as the most representative man student on the Baylor campus, last night by a committee composed of the officers of all four classes, and five faculty members. The decision is based upon extra-curricular activities as well as scholastic record in the university.

Joe is the son of Mayor and Mrs. J. B. Pickle, of Big Spring, Texas. He entered Baylor as a freshman in the fall of 1928 and has done his major work in the department of Journalism. Last year, he was president of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, of (CONTINUED ON PAGE 1)

Rig Built For Wildcat Test In Glasscock

Mann & Currie's No. 1 Poston 4 Miles North of Garden City

Rig is being built for Currie and Mann's No. 1 Poston Brothers, a wildcat test four miles north of Garden City in Glasscock county, which is considered one of the most important exploration projects started in this section of West Texas in many months.

B. C. Mann of San Angelo and Steve Currie of Garden City, with relatives of Mr. Currie, own in fee jointly sections 24, 25, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31 and 32. They did not acquire oil and gas leases when they bought the Poston ranch but have been buying leases on parts of it since and now have checkerboarded leases on this and other property in the area, aggregating 4,000 acres.

The test is located 330 feet from the north and 1890 feet from the west line of the northeast quarter of section 27, block 34, township 3 south, T&P survey.

It is about five miles south of the McDowell pool, where Gulf Production company and the World Oil company and J. S. McIwether wells got oil from the 2,800 and 3,200-foot levels.

The nearest wildcats that have been drilled were F.H.E. Oil company's No. 1 Meek, in section 7, block 34, township 3 south T&P survey about five miles southeast of the new location, and General Oil company's No. 1 Neal, in section 31, block 35, township 3 south. F.H.E.'s test had oil shows but was abandoned at dry at 3,150 feet. It was drilled on the strength of shows in Timberlake Snyder's No. 1 Meek, which was a short distance to the northeast.

Elevation of the Mann & Currie test is 2,700 feet. Many months work by geologists, who worked out in detail both the surface and sub-surface structures, was completed before the location was made.

Jim Black Enters Race For Assessor Of County's Taxes

Jim Black, well-known resident of Big Spring, who is known by practically every farmer of this region through his ten years of work in the gin and feed business here, announced that he is a candidate for Democratic nomination for tax assessor of Howard county, subject to the July primary.

Mr. Black made the announcement after a large number of friends, without his knowledge, had discussed the matter and then urged him to make the race.

Before coming to Big Spring ten years ago, Mr. Black was for a number of years in the mercantile business in Merkel, Taylor county, Texas. "I've never run for public office and had no idea of ever doing so but since my friends have brought this matter to my attention and expressed their desire that I do so I have decided to make the race."

Mr. Black will appreciate the votes and influence of his many friends.

MANN KILLED AT PAMPA

PAMPA, Jan. 9 (AP)—R. W. Bart, 43, was killed today when a gasoline tank in the wing of an airplane he was painting exploded, hurling him to the ground from the wing and breaking his neck. The accident occurred in a Pampa hangar.

The origin of the explosion was undetermined.

June 27 Date For Conclave; Harmony Seen

Party Convenes 2 Weeks After C. O. P., in Same City

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9 (AP)—The democratic today chose Chicago for their convention city and in a harmonious gathering referred the prohibition issue to the national meeting.

Chairman Raskob and Vice Chairman Ely of Virginia representing conflicting groups which clashed in the session last March, put through a smooth working program.

June 27th, two weeks after the republicans meet in the same city, was the date chosen for the convention.

Raskob unopposed the opening blast against "propaganda" that the Smith-Raskob-Shouse machine was working in opposition to forces favoring former Governor Roosevelt of New York, for president.

He denied an "oligarchy" of this kind. Chicago gave $200,000 for the convention.

Mrs. Bell Is Buried Here

Rites Said Saturday For Mother of Local People

Funeral services for Mrs. Frances L. Bell, 76, who died Tuesday evening in San Angelo, were held Saturday afternoon from the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. W. Cunningham, in New Mt. Olive cemetery, Rev. W. M. Elliott, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Colorado, officiated. Mrs. Bruce Frazier was in charge of song service.

Mrs. Bell is survived by nine children: Mrs. Cunningham, G. F. and C. B. Bell, of Big Spring; Miss Jennie Bell, San Francisco; J. W. and E. R. Bell, Marysville, Calif.; D. B. Bell and C. M. Bell, El Paso, and Charles M. Bell, Pecos. Seven grandchildren also survive. Dora, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cunningham, was the only one who could attend the funeral.

In addition to the members of the immediate family a sister-in-law, Mrs. M. M. Bell, of Denton, and a niece, Miss Ruth Bell, of Fort Worth, were here for the funeral.

Active pallbearers were: Grover Cunningham, Ira Driver, Homer McNew, G. C. Dunham, Raymond Dunagan, Will Fahrrentak.

Honorary pallbearers: T. S. Currie, W. R. Settler, D. E. Painter, R. H. Settler, A. C. Walker, H. R. Debenport, J. B. Littler, R. C. Strain, J. O. Tamsitt, W. M. Fisher, John Wolcott, Chas. Chalk, J. ## Fire Following Break In Pipe Line Cause of Smoke Cloud Saturday

Burning of approximately 1,500 barrels of crude oil in a draw two miles south of City Park Saturday afternoon created considerable interest and even alarm in Big Spring.

A break in a joint of the Gulf company's 10 1/2 inch trunk line was the cause. To prevent spread of the oil and eliminate the fire hazard, it was damped up and ignited.

A dense cloud of smoke drifted across the southern portion of the city, northeastward from the fire. At one time it became so dense the high school building was almost obscured from view from the business district.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS FOR COMING WEEK

Varied Screen Attractions Are Offered At R & R Ritz

Marilyn Miller Picture On Today's Bill; Wheeler and Woolsey In Fresh Success

Walter Huston Stars In "The Ruling Voice"; Fast Newspaper Story, "X Marks the Spot," Concludes Week's Features

A dramatic romance, a hilarious comedy, a milk war and a fast newspaper story make up the bill at the Ritz theater for this week. As varied a program as even the most exacting could wish for.

Marilyn Miller returns this week starting today for two days, to the Ritz theater together with a quartet of the screen's funniest comedians, W. C. Fields, Ford Sterling, Leon Errol and Chester Conklin. The story is about a barmaid in Berlin who falls in love with the son of a wealthy and prominent family and ends up mar-

Newspaper Men As In Real Life Shown In Picture

Newspaper men as they really are and not as they have recently been characterized in motion pictures and in current novels, will be portrayed in the new Tiffany Productions drama, "X Marks the Spot," which is coming to the Ritz Theater Saturday only.

Recent portrayals of newspaper men have been portraits confined to what the old time newspaper man was supposed to be. According to Eric Kenton, director of the newspaper drama, the modern newspaper man is neither the old-time tobacco chewing, hard drinking and heard-swearer newspaperer of a few decades ago, nor is he a dishonest, racketeering wise guy.

"X Marks the Spot" is a newspaper story of the craft as it is. The phrase, "X Marks the Spot," says Kenton, "refers to the diagrams showing where the accident happened—or where the body was found."

'Trader Horn' Now At Queen Theatre For 3-Day Run

A royal "casting office" was employed by Director W. S. Van Dyke when he filmed the opening scenes of "Trader Horn" in British East Africa. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer drama, which is based on the famous book of adventure of the same title, opened with a great procession of narratives bearing ivory to a barge.

Being thousands of miles away from Hollywood's Central Casting office, the director naturally had to choose his extras by other means. So when he arrived at Panamur, Uganda province, he sought audience with the native sultan. For a wagon load of trade goods he rented more than two thousand natives, in fact, the whole village, from the sultan, and used them to film scenes in which Duncan Renaldo and Harry Carey watch the cavalcade of ivory-bearers.

NOTICE OF BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS

In the matter of Sam Margules, Jr., Bankrupt, No. 148 in bankruptcy.

OFFICE OF REFEREE
Ablene, Texas, January 6th, 1932.
Notice is hereby given that Sam Margules, Jr., of the County of Howard, and district aforesaid, did on the 7th day of December 1931 file in the Clerk's office of said Court, at Ablene, a petition setting up that he has been heretofore duly adjudged a bankrupt under the act of Congress approved July 1, 1898; that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property, and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the Court touching his bankruptcy, and praying for a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate in bankruptcy, save such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

On considering the above mentioned petition, it is ordered that any creditor who has proved his claim, and other parties in interest, if they desire to oppose the discharge prayed for in said petition, shall, on or before the 18th day of February 1932, file with the Referee for the Ablene Division of said district, a notice in writing of their opposition to a discharge in the above entitled cause.

D. M. OLDFHAM, Jr., Referee in Bankruptcy.

We move to larger and better quarters on January 30th, between Crawford Hotel and Biles Drug Store, where we will be much better equipped to test your watches, fit glasses and repair your watches, clocks and jewelry.

Sweetheart of 'Sally' and 'Sunny' Supported By Four Premier Funny Men At R&R Ritz Theater Today

Marilyn Miller, who comes to the Ritz theater today in "Her Majesty Love," her latest First National starring vehicle, again displays the dazzling grace and beauty which won her success on the London and New York stage and in her former picture, "Sally" and "Sunny."

Though born in Evansville, Indiana, Marilyn spent her early childhood with her grandmother in Memphis, Tennessee, where the nimble feet of the pickaninies first initiated her into the delights of dancing. Her first professional appearance was at the age of five with a vaudeville aggregation known as "The Five Columbian"—the other four being Marilyn's mother, two sisters and stepfather. She was billed as Miss Sugarplum, the Child Prodigy, and did toe dancing, child labor laws interfered.

The Ruling Voice

Walter Huston, most versatile man of the screen, is seen in a new type of role in "The Ruling Voice" at the Ritz theatre Thursday and Friday of this week. Loretta Young has the feminine lead.

Laugh Riot

If you thought "Caught Plastered" and "The Cuckoo" were good vehicles for the comedy favorites, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, (and, of course, Dorothy Lee!) you should see "Peach-O-Reno," Tuesday and Wednesday at the Ritz theater.

In "Peach-O-Reno" the comedians, and the producers, RKO Radio Pictures, have done a difficult thing. They have "topped" a long succession of comedy mirthquakes by a wide margin. "Peach-O-Reno" will probably stand long as the funniest picture Wheeler and Woolsey have produced.

Her Crowning Glory

Marilyn Miller and Ben Lyon in "Her Majesty Love" at Ritz today and Monday.

New Kind of Underworld Story Billed At Ritz Thursday, Friday

It is a new kind of underworld that comes in for an airing in First National's "The Ruling Voice," which will be seen at the Ritz theatre Thursday and Friday.

All the flagrant violence that marks big town hoodlumism as pictured in previous films now gives way to the suave and efficiently businesslike operations of the grafters that feast off of Big Business.

Hardgrave Returns To Dallas Theater

Harry Hardgrave, who has been acting manager of the Ritz and Queen theaters here for the past six weeks is returning to his regular post with one of the Dallas houses of the R&R circuit. He will be here for Fred Polacek, who was in Dallas undergoing medical treatment and has returned home.

Miss Dorothy Frost Is Given Surprise Dance

Miss Dorothy Frost was surprised by a group of friends Friday evening. She and her mother, Mrs. Billie Gill Frost, after an evening of dancing served refreshments to 14 boys and girls.

Thimble Club Given Delightful Party

The members of the Thimble Club met at the home of Mrs. Fox Stripling for a lovely and enjoyable party Friday afternoon.

Legion and Auxiliary To Have Joint Meeting

There will be a joint meeting of the William Frank Martin Post of the American Legion Monday night at the Settler Hotel.

Concert Given By High School P.-T.A. High Point of Season For Town's Lovers of Music

Christian Thaulow Shows Himself To Be As Good At Handling Crowds As Violins In His Clever Response To His Young Audience

The musical event of the season went unheralded Friday afternoon except by the music teachers of the city and the few mothers who never fail to promote the interests of the High School P.-T.A., when Christian Thaulow, head of the Violin department of Simmons university, gave a concert in the high school auditorium for the benefit of the High School P.-T.A.

It was the sort of cultural event the lack of which the town's intellectuals loudly bemoan on occasions; the sort of program they would have paid $2 for in Dallas but not a two-bit piece at home; and the sort of artist they don't come out to hear, on the great American supposition that he can't be much or he wouldn't be in West Texas.

Good Judge of Human Nature Mr. Thaulow showed himself to be as good a business man as a violinist by his quick perception of the type of crowd he had to deal with. There was a small group of chairs near the stage, filled mostly with youngsters and several high school boys more intent on teasing the girls than anything else; there was a piano on the stage lacking a support to hold the sheet music; and there were about two dozen adults.

Immediately he played to the children. His antics won their interest, even though his music might have been above the appreciation of most of them. He was applauded considerably; in fact, his personality made a decided hit with his audience; sometimes the children missed his wisecracks but they liked the informality of the program.

For this one thing alone, he deserved praise. Any artist who could appear in such surroundings, with the dismissed bell ringing in the midst of his music and the outside door being continually opened by passing pupils, any artist who could grin and joke and make his audience like him, in spite of all this, deserves credit for something that possibly is more likely than his technique to bring him fame.

Program

His program was composed of the simpler, popular airs which the public has learned to enjoy from victrola records and to which even the youngest could not object to on account of length. He opened with "Rondo Capriccioso" by Saint-Saens followed by "Humoresque" by Dvorak, "The Chase" by Kreisler, "Old Refrain" by Grieg, and "Gypsy Airs" by Sarasate, into

MRS. J. L. SULLIVAN

Mrs. Sullivan, who writes under the name of Pearl Stone Sullivan, is a Big Spring writer who has burst into print this month with a story called "The Love Miser" in the latest issue of Allstory Magazine.

The story is a sweet romantic love story of a girl in a business office and a boss whose tyranny she can not understand or explain. It is cleverly handled and the denouement is unexpected—as much as any love story's can be.

Mrs. Sullivan has been told by competent critics that this is the first of better stories from her pen and that she will be writing for the best magazines in the country in a comparatively short time, if she perseveres in her work.

The Allstory magazine is carried by all the newsstands of the city. The story, which is one of the leading stories in this number, appears in the January 15 issue.

which he put his best playing. For an encore he played at the request of one of his listeners, "Caprice Viennois" by Kreisler, and would probably have played others if his audience had had the courage to ask for them.

Miss Virginia Peden, a local violin teacher and formerly a pupil, introduced him. He was accompanied by Mrs. Lydia Gresham Whisenant of the piano department of Simmons University.

Every adult who heard Mr. Thaulow hopes that he will come again when the new auditorium is finished, and the High School P.-T.A. can present him to his own advantage.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Big Spring Hospital Mrs. Horace E. Bobb of Snyder is a patient at the hospital.

Mrs. Horace Dearing continues to improve following a major operation.

Lucille Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Thompson, is improving following an operation for appendicitis.

C. P. Filler, who is in the hospital suffering from serious burns received at a local gin company recently, is improving.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Bramer, Wednesday, a daughter, Homer Johnson of Garden City is in the hospital for treatment of a fractured leg which he received while on a wolf hunt recently near Garden City.

DR. CHEAPPA, the Mexican doctor, will be at Cap Rock Camp Monday—adv.

is in your hand

When our grandmothers went shopping they were prepared to match their wits against the shopkeeper's. His was the whip-hand. Prices were anything the dealer had to pay, plus a profit. And his profits were as elastic as his necessity—or opportunity.

Our grandmothers had a very fine knowledge of woolsens, cottons, silks. They used their eyes and fingers in buying. They tasted and sniffed at foodstuffs. Our grandfathers knew an intimate lot about woods, veneers, stains. They knew leathers and machinery and cutlery. They had to.

Today you can shop with assurance by designating this brand of this and that brand of that, and hardly bother to check the price on the bill when it comes. You can send a twelve-year-old to market with a note and never have a doubt of kind, quality or price—if you buy advertised goods.

Advertising has established standards, established values and established confidence. Advertising forces fair dealing and honest merchandise. It puts the whip in your hand.

Pay That Poll Tax

NINETEEN THIRTY-TWO will be a great political year. Great issues impend. Everybody from constable to president must be elected except a few state and United States senators whose terms run for four and six years, respectively, and a few district and appellate judges. It is the greatest political year since 1928, and will not be equalled again until 1936.

The opportunity it offers to the voter should be inducement enough to pay that poll tax.

The votes in 1932 will have a regular Roman holiday. There will be men and measures he desires to swat; there will be men and measures he desires to approve. He can neither approve or disapprove unless he antes up that one dollar and seventy-five cents for a poll tax. Considering the fun he will have as a qualified voter, the $1.75 represents one of the greatest bargains of this age of bargain.

Voters have only this month to qualify themselves. The longer that poll tax payment is put off the longer the voter will have to stand in line at the collector's office.

Texas should qualify more than a million voters in 1932.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Controlled Immigration

Philadelphia Public Ledger: FOR THE FIRST time since the Civil War the number of aliens admitted to this country has dropped below 100,000 annually, according to the report of the commissioner of Immigration. A new record was also established for deportations. In the year that ended June 30 a total of 97,138 aliens were admitted for permanent residence, while 1,142 were sent away.

As a part of his report, the commissioner makes a number of requests for legislation which will restrict the smuggling of aliens into the United States. The effort to make unlawful entry becomes more determined, of course, as the immigration requirements are made more exacting. Commissioner Hyde urges the provision of specific penalties for the harboring of smuggled aliens and of fines and forfeiture as punishment for those who carry on the traffic. He also suggests the liberalizing of the law to permit the freer entry of desirable aliens and the wives of those who have settled in this country and applied for citizenship.

A great deal of unpleasantness might be avoided by small changes in the immigration laws, without weakening their intended effectiveness. Wholesale immigration has been stopped, smuggling can be controlled. It is a good time, therefore, to make adjustments in the law wherever its requirements are proved arbitrary and unreasonable.

A Hardeman county farmer recently harvested five and a half bushels of alfalfa seed valued at ten dollars per bushel from one acre of alfalfa at one cutting.

Serum in Pneumonia Since 1912 much study has been devoted to the treatment of pneumonia by means of immune serum.
Doches and Avery succeeded in producing from horses an immune serum which was materially effective in combating the pneumonia caused by germs belonging to group one.

Since then substantial progress has been made in producing immune sera for the treatment of pneumonia caused by the germs of group two and less so for group three.

The germs belonging to those latter groups are more virulent and give rise to more hazardous types of the disease than do the germs of group one.

Immune sera used in treatment of pneumonia are specific in their effects, that is, the serum produced to treat pneumonia due to the germs of type one is not effective in the treatment of type two or of type three.

To be most effective the serum treatment of pneumonia must be instituted within the first 36 hours of the illness.

This implies an early diagnosis of the disease and the determination of the germ type causing the pneumonia.

Since time is an important factor in the treatment of pneumonia, the anti-pneumonia serum is given by injection into a vein.

Under certain circumstances a mixture of sera combining serum of different types one and two is used.

The serum treatment does not supplant, of course, the other therapeutic or curative procedures.
Oxygen inhalation and symptomatic treatment of the circulatory system may be carried on simultaneously.

While the anti-pneumonia sera can be used with a fair degree of effectiveness as a treatment for pneumonia, they do not promise to prove of value in the prevention of the disease.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—There will be a lot written and heard about one of the probably least known senators this winter when a certain committee gets down to consideration of the proposal to legalize 4 per cent beer.

His name is Jesse Houghton Metcalf of Rhode Island appointed chairman of the sub-committee on manufactures to study this particular bill of the group of prohibition bills introduced by Bingham of Connecticut.

Metcalf, just past his 71st birthday, is known to senate observers as the man who sits on next to the last row on the republican side of the chamber between the tall, white-haired and stately Bingham on his right and the robust, bald Frazier of North Dakota on his left.

They know further that he rarely makes a speech, seldom engages in debate, is quiet and unassuming in his attitude toward everybody and everything, presides with dignity over the committee on education and labor.

Philanthropist
The swank of social Washington know him as the senator who often arrives in Washington aboard his palatial yacht, "Felicia," drops anchor in the Tidal Basin and entertains select groups on short cruises down the Potomac.

None but his closest friends perhaps know of his extensive private philanthropies which have endeared him to the hearts of people both here and abroad.

By chance we heard of one of his "unknown" projects the other day.
It concerns a French village and the days before he became a United States senator. Our informant says that not 100 persons in the country know anything about it.

During the war, Metcalf virtually supported a hospital in France.
After the armistice he and Mrs.
Metcalf went abroad to visit the war zone. During their travels they visited a village where many of the residents had been patients at Metcalf's hospital.

Rehabilitates Village Immediately the village wanted to give them a banquet. Metcalf, observing the ruins, said no—that he wanted to banquet the village.

He did more. At his expense engineers were brought from Paris and put to work repairing the village's water system. He practically rehabilitated the place.

Before leaving he gave a considerable sum of money to the village authorities with instructions that they build a fountain in memory of inhabitants who died in the war.
Some time after he heard from the grateful villagers. It was news that the fountain had been completed. But it had not been named for the village war dead—Metcalf and Madame Metcalf—in appreciation of their kindness and generosity.

SUNSET PASS
by Zane Grey

SYNOPSIS: A barrier to his hope of obtaining work at Sunset Pass rises before Trueman Rock when he meets Ash Preston. Ash is the son of Gage Preston, who owns the outfit Rock wants to join, but he is of a different temper from his father. He is cold, vindictive, quick to anger and already a potential menace to Rock.
Gage, on the other hand, is well liked, although there are queer rumors about the source of his wealth, and it is believed that he may be rustling cattle. Despite forebodings, Rock intends to work for Gage Preston, because he is strongly interested in his daughter Thiry. Upon his return to Wagontongue after a long absence, he met her once, and afterwards has built all his plans toward her. Warned that Ash has mistreated cowboys who liked Thiry, Rock intends to find some means of conciliating or conquering her brother.

"No? Well, that's unlucky for some," rejoined Rock.
"An' dad ain't home."

That would have made the matter conclusive for most men confronting Ash Preston.
"You mean you say he isn't home to?" queried Rock, deliberately "Wal, I didn't expect you to take it that way, but since you do we'll let it go at that."

Here was the first hitch in the situation. It had to be met. Rock accepted the inevitable. Harmony let alone even agreeable acquain-ance, was utterly impossible between Preston and himself.

"Excuse me Preston, if I can't let it go at that," he returned coolly. "Would you mind tellin' me if any of the other ten Prestons are home?"

There the gauntlet went in the face of Ash Preston. Still he did not show surprise. The intense blue of his eyes, steady on Rock, changed only with a flare. Whatever he might be when drunk, when sober as now, he was slow, cold, complex, cunning. He was flint singularly charged with fire. Rock would have felt easier in mind if Preston had shown less strength and perception.
But he gave Rock the same statur that Rock gave him. It augured ill for the future.

"Wal, Rock, all the Prestons are home, if you're so set on knowin'," returned Ash. "But there's one of the thirteen who's advisin' you to dust down the road."

"Reckon that must be you, Mister Ash?" inquired Rock, nonchalantly "An' that's shore me."

"Well, I'm sorry. I don't know you. And sure you don't know me.
I can't ever have offended you. Why are you so uncivil?"

Preston's glance, straying over Rock, and the flashy saddle and beautiful horse, betrayed something skin-to-die-for, but he did not commit himself further than to make a slight gesture, indicating the road down the Pass.

"Plain as print," went on Rock bluntly. "But I'm not takin' your hunch, Ash Preston. I'll stay long enough, anyhow, to see if the rest of your family is as rude to a stranger as you are."

In one sliding step Rock reached the ground. And at that instant heavy boots crunched the gravel.
"Hey, Ash, who're you palaverin' with?" called a deep hearty voice.
Ash wheeled on his heel, as on an oiled pivot, and without answer strode back into the cabin, to slam the door. Then Rock turned to see who had intervened so timely. He saw a man of massive build, in the plain garb of an everyday cattleman. Rock perceived at once that he was father to Thiry and Range Preston, but there seemed no resemblance to Ash.

He might have been fifty years old. Handsome in a bold way, he had a smooth hard face, bulging chin, well-formed large lips, just

News OF THE Day IN Pictures

STIMSON PLEADS FOR DEBT MORATORIUM

WOMAN HELD IN KIDNAPING

Mrs. Ethel DePew, nurse, was arrested in Bloomsburg, Pa., charged with being a principal in the kidnaping of Mrs. Nell Donnelly in Kansas City. Her husband, Martin DePew, shown with her, was sought as the alleged leader of the gang that abducted the millionaire manufacturer and released her without obtaining the $75,000 ransom they asked.

Miss France

The title of "Miss France" for 1932 went to Miss. Line Calsson de Souza, 18, daughter of a wealthy lawyer of Nice. She will represent France in international beauty contests.

MINER HELD IN SHERIFF'S DEATH

Virgil Hutton, 30, held for the murder of Deputy Sheriff Owen Sizemore, 50, in a renewal of Harlan county's mine warfare, is shown with his wife and 21-month-old daughter in front of the jail at Mt. Sterling, Ky. Trouble arose when Hutton distributed literature calling for a mine strike January 1.

FINDS ART IN DESERT BONES

Georgia O'Keeffe, one of New York's modern school of painters who is well known for her flower paintings, has found a new inspiration in bleached desert bones. Flowers and bones express to her the feeling of the desert. Miss O'Keeffe's recent work is on display at a New Mexican art gallery. She is shown standing beside one of her New Mexican studies which she calls "Life and Death."

New Badger Boss

Irwin Uteritz, former Michigan football and baseball star, was named by the University of Wisconsin athletic council to become the new director of athletics. He coached successful Wisconsin football "B" teams in the 1930 and 1931 seasons.

Japan Apologizes

Formal apologies of the Japanese government were conveyed to the American consul general at Mukden, Manchuria, for the attack by three Japanese soldiers on Culver Bryant Chamberlain (above), United States consul stationed at Harbin.

DEMONSTRATES ARTIFICIAL RUBBER

Dr. Wallace H. Carothers is shown demonstrating the elasticity of a synthetic rubber, made from the compounds chlorophene and bromophene, before the American Chemical society. He said the synthetic product, which is heat-resisting and can be dyed, is superior, for some uses, to natural rubber.

STEVENS HEADS GRID COACHES

"Chick" Meehan (right), coach of Manhattan college and retiring president of the American Football Coaches association, turning the gavel over to Mal Stevens of Yale, newly elected president, at the annual coaches meeting in New York. Stevens appointed himself as head of a committee to make a thorough investigation into football's tremendous death toll in 1931.

Confesses Slaying

William Irving Brown, 17, was held on a murder charge in Newton, Mass., after he had walked into a police station and told of having shot and killed his stepfather, Richard Wilson. Brown said he shot in self defense during a quarrel.

TINKER-TOYING WITH MOLECULES

No, Dr. W. R. Brode is not trying to figure out how Junior's Christmas present fits together. He is working with his new "molecular models," which are designed to eliminate the use of charts in studying organic chemistry, and which Dr. Brode demonstrated before the American Chemical society meeting at Yale university.

'Major' Mildred

Mildred Gatzke, senior co-ed in Ripon, Wis., college, has been elected honorary cadet major of the college R. O. T. C. She is also president of her sorority.

A PRINCE IN MINER'S CLOTHES

Prince George (left), son of the king and queen of England, donned the garb of a miner when he made a tour of the coal fields in south Wales. He was accompanied by a group of miners.

LENZ' NEW BRIDGE PARTNER

CENTRAL FIGURES IN THIRD PARTY DISCUSSIONS

Third party talk is back in the political wind in Washington. Unconvinced of their ability to block Mr. Hoover's renomination and dubious over the outlook for an acceptable democratic candidate, the republican independents of the northwest are seriously considering a third party movement. The name of Senator George W. Norris (center) is that about which third party discussions revolve mostly. Other names also heard are those of Senators William Borah (left) of Idaho and Hiram Johnson (upper right) of California and Gov. Gilmer Pinchot (lower right) of Pennsylvania.

Chinese Envoy

Dr. W. W. Yan recently took up his duties as the new Chinese minister to Washington. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia and was three times premier of China.

Five Millions Cut From Price Marks In Ward Co. Stores

A general reduction in selling prices throughout all Montgomery Ward & Company stores, totaling $5,000,000, has just been completed, according to C. P. Woody, Ward's local store manager. This step, which is considered one of the most momentous in American retailing, has resulted in a general lowering of prices from 10 per cent to as much as 50 per cent below the peak

The 10th of the Month Is Merchants' Pay Day!

The retail merchant is a public servant. He serves you and, like any other faithful servant, expects his payment when due.

Retail charge accounts today are based on standard monthly terms:

Each month's charges are due on the 10th of the following month.

Whether you are an employer or an employee, you know what "pay day" means!

The 10th is the merchant's pay day. Pay him promptly.
Prompt payments promote prosperity and protect your credit.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

COLORADO, Jan. 9.—

Between two and three hundred athletes registered here as twenty-seven teams entered the invitational basketball tournament staged in the city last week end. Among the visiting clubs were the McCamey Badgers, with Coach Clyde Parks very much in evidence, the Sweetwater Mustangs, and a pair of Howard county schools, Lomax and Coahoma, who were unfortunate in being cast against each other in the second round after each had come through their first test successfully.

Although the continuous activities being staged in the high school gym holds the interest of the majority of the fans King Football comes in for its share of attention as such gridiron notables as Parks, Obie Bristow, George Brown, and a few lesser characters gather in the lobby of the Colorado Hotel, where the visiting coaches and sports writers are being entertained, or recline at their ease in the coffee shop and sip languidly of whatever they have enough money to pay for. With Parks it is such extravagant orders as breakfast and potatoes. Brown relies upon soup. Bristow takes hamburgers, and the writer an extra large glass of water. Bristow always turns the conversation to football after a moment's or two minor discussion of some other sport, and inevitably the proposed eight semester in for its share of eloquent and no doubt sincere denunciation.
None of the trio are in favor of such a law. In fact Bristow and Parks declare that they might withdraw from the state interscholastic race and start them a district all of their own. Let the Badgers and the Steers play the best three out of five games.

The all-star District 4 seven is well-represented in this basketball tournament. McCamey's one outstanding gridder of the 1931 season Homer Barnett, is also the individual star on their cage team, while of course Big Spring has Hopper, Dyer and Dennis. Sweetwater's pair of Baugh brothers, Sam and Bob, both merit starting positions while Sheridan and Strother, all district half back and guard respectively, appear in the Pony lineup during the course of every game.

A youth from Westbrook, Clingersch, shattered the individual high scoring record Thursday evening by tallying twenty-seven points in a single game, but Miss Arath Phillips' Lomax Hornets came back with a last half spurt to draw ahead at the final whistle by a score of 35 to 34. Again the blue-clad Lomax club showed themselves unable to adapt themselves to the strains of tournament play on a foreign court and their showing against Westbrook was by no means a true test of their ability. Hare for the Hornets scored 15 points himself, but his performance went practically unnoticed as Clingersch tried to beat the Lomax club by himself, and almost succeeded. Not that the Westbrook star played an individual game, but that he was their whole team, both defensively and offensively.

Hardy Pierce's Colorado team went out in the first round, losing to Trent 25 to 14 as the Wolves displayed an inability to hit the basket from an angle. Terry, forward for the visitors, showed up well, and may secure a position on someone's all-star team.

The Sweetwater Mustangs qualified as the one threat to disturb the Bovines' reign over West Texas basketball circles by their play in the tournament. Sam Baugh, the sweetwater point guard, is a sweet forward passing fool, is a sweet ward, and his efforts are nobly accompanied by Buddy Bell, substitute back during the football season. Bob Baugh is a fair center and Trammel and Rogers are nice guards.
The Ponies have a court system somewhat similar to the tactics Bill Stevens employed during the three years that he directed athletics at Big Spring high, featuring the long shooting of Sam Baugh. All of the teams entered with the exception of the Steers believe in shooting from the center of the floor if in the clear, and even George Brown gave instructions to Forrester and Flow-ry to try a few long ones in their first round game with the Anson T.
Bears, coached by Melvin P. "Dink" "Pitt" took his defeat gracefully and made many a crack at his own club's expense. He begged George Brown at the half to replace his first string so his club could make hamburgers, and the writer an extra large glass of water. Bristow always turns the conversation to football after a moment's or two minor
discussion of some other sport, and inevitably the proposed eight semester in for its share of eloquent
and no doubt sincere denunciation.
None of the trio are in favor of such a law. In fact Bristow and Parks declare that they might withdraw from the state interscholastic
race and start them a district all of their own. Let the Badgers and
the Steers play the best three out of readers of this paper what home demonstration work has meant to my community. Our club was organized March 17th, at which time Mrs. Allgood gave a demonstration on selection of materials suitable for cotton dresses. As a result of this demonstration, four dresses were entered in a dress contest in June. Eight foundation patterns consisting of a plain waist and sleeve pattern, and a plain skirt pattern were made. I should say that our women have dressed better on much less money this year than before as a result of the work.

In April we made pantry budgets, and began planning gardens and hotbeds. Seven hot beds have been made. These hotbeds enable us to have fresh vegetables on our tables the year around. One aim in pantry work was to have evergreen onions and one other vegeta-teen women have onions all the year, and eleven have additional vegetables growing as a result of this aim.

WILL ROGERS: It's A Long Way Ho Osaka, When You Are Extremely Sick At Sea

By WILL ROGERS
Osaka, Japan.—Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I see as I prow. I think the last time I wrote you a long letter we were in the middle of the Pacific Ocean. You know I am the Champion of the World getting Dog Beach, and I know that it is just lack of nerve. If you will just keep up there and battle with it, and keep going why you are O. K. But I am kinder yellow anyhow, and when I feel a little squirmish why I start hitting for the Hay, and when once I get down in the old bunk why I am a dead Dog Beach, and I know that it is just over going through all those beautiful wooded islands and straits. We got over the 'e just about dark, and there was a lot of folks come down to the Boat. The American Consul there wanted to take me ashore and show me the Town. Course it was dark, but we drove by all the big Government buildings and we got a mighty good idea of the City. There is beautiful homes there and gardens and grounds. Its about the most British City of any in Canada, there is an awful lot of Britishers there. I mean the real ones that came direct from England, and are not Canadian, but British. There seems to be a kind of a pack of em out there.

Well we shoved off in the morning about eleven thirty from Vancouver on the Empress of Russia, a fine boat, a fine crew, and fine Captain, and they sure did do everything in their power to make everything pleasant. I didnt want to get sick for I didnt want to leave this good Gang. Floyd Gibbons of course was a good sailor, for he had done nothing but sail somewhere all his life. He was a kidding me and telling me to come on and eat a lot, and have another little glass of beer.

Well its a beautiful trip from Vancouver over to Victoria, thats the capital of British Columbia. So I didnt have much excuse to keel Well then we pulled out and hit the real Ocean, and course I went to bed. But even in the morning I surprised myself by getting up and getting down to breakfast, and then stuck it out till Lunch, and then dinner, and mind you all this time I was packing in the Fodder. They had awful good cats on the boat and I just went the limit, and then about the middle of Mister Balboa's Ocean we hit a Typhoon, and that when the Lifeboat wased away and like to get some more.

But do you know those little Chinese Crew, all the head officers were British but the crew are Chinese, and they are real Sailors. Those little Rascals stood out on that deck and hung onto ropes and did work around there when the waves were breaking all over this deck and it was the top one. I like to feel overboard from just looking at it from the inside; and we just had another glass of beer, and they were always passing all kinds of Horse Duerys. (I cant spell it but I can eat it.) Well I was cramming that in all the time. And three big meals a day in addition. I bet by the time I landed I was as fat as C. B. Irwin of Cheyenne. (You dont know Charley. Well thats your loss, you ought too.)

Then by that time I was figuring that I was a real Sailor. This thing of a typhoid came with a Monsoon, and sired by a Hurricane lasted with all that was following it, about two days in all. But what I started to tell you was one time, away out in New Zealand, thats right near Australia, I was working with a Circus, (Wirth Brothers). My Wirth's the great Barback Rider was a little Kid with it then. Well I left it to come to America, or rather the United States, for we are not ALL of America. Well I was supposed to make a one night trip by a small boat from down the coast where I left the show, after being with it for over six months, and finally made enough to get home on. (But not first class).

Well the train I was on pulled up beside the Boat, and I knowing that I was going to be sick, rushed aboard right away, and I says to myself I will get in the bunk and maybe that will help me from being too sick. Well its the paint, and that smell of varnish that does it. Well I got a whiff of it going down, and I crawled right into my bunk, (which was in among a lot of other mens bunks). Now I was under the impression that the Boat was going to pull right out. But well I havent got long to be sick, and sure enough I started in being sick. I had the old Lunch Basket tied right on to the edge of the bed. (They have lovely little Cupboards of a thing for Birds like me). Well I sure was going strong. I thought Mrs. W. C. CORRECTION

An error was made in the Red and White Stores advertisement appearing in last Friday's paper. In the ad, Camay Soap was priced 3 bars for 10c and Blue & White Salt was priced 3 pkgs. for 21c. The correct prices of these articles should have been—

CAMAY SOAP . . . . .	3 BARS	21c
BLUE & WHITE SALT . . . . .	3 PKGS.	10c
