PRICE SEVEN CENTS

PRESIDENT SAM ROSS and KGNC (Amarillo) personality Cotton John (Smith) with C. C. (Crabill) Jones of Flomot discuss current problems following a luncheon under the trees near Old Settlers Pavilion in Pioneer Park. Friends of Cotton John's had "waited dinner" on him until after 12:30 Thursday. During the afternoon Cotton John "taped" part of the program and interviews with old timers which he later broadcast on his program over KGNC.

Tribute for Faith Paid to Pioneers

Early settlers of Dickens and Motley Counties, together with sons and daughters of the pioneers were lauded in a dedicated address, Thursday morning in Memorial services at "Old Settlers reunion."

Occasion was the 40th anniversary of the Old Settlers Association of the two counties, founded in 1923 under the trees at historic Roaring Springs, and speaker was a native son of Motley County, Joe B. Meador, son of Joe E. Meador, and manager of the Vernon Chamber of Commerce.

"I think our two counties are truly 'sister counties,'" Meador declared in his opening remarks. "They were created at the same time, in 1876 and both were organized in 1891. . . . the people living here at that time actually paid little attention to the boundary line of the counties . . . old and tried friends, they worked closely together as neighbors."

Using as his subject, "Forty Years of Faith," Meador quoted from an address by the late Henry H. Campbell, founder of the vast Matador Ranch empire. "The early settler can best be described by the late founder of the Matador Land and Cattle Co. in his farewell address in 1891, delivered to the employees of this fabulous empire. Mr. Campbell said:

"The prudent man is rarely content with the present, but desires, as far as possible to peer ahead and see what the future promises . . ." Meador quoted as he continued reading from the address. "We have already remarked that everything is characterized by change . . . how often we have seen this truth verified by personal observation . . . first the Indian and the buffalo, then the cowboy and the herd, and finally the settler and civilization." Mr. Campbell paid the cowboy special tribute as he said, "Civilization owes him a debt of gratitude greater than it is conceivable and one that will never be fully realized or repaid."

Meador compared the early settlers with Biblical characters and quoted from Ezekiel 22:30. "The Lord God of Israel said, And I sought for a man among them, that would stand in the hedge and fill up the gap before me."

"These early settlers" Meador concluded, "who lived and died for government, honor, and respect were of this special breed . . . they had the faith of Caleb and Joshua and saw through the dust, the drought and storms, a land that flowed with milk and honey."

Mayor Goodwin, president of the Old Settlers Association introduced the speaker, following invocation by Rev. W. B. Vaughn and an address of Welcome by S. J. Braselton, Mayor of Roaring Springs.

As a surprise tribute to the organization's president, Braselton presented Goodwin's two daughters, Mrs. Martha (Bobby) Moore and Mrs. Jane (Max) Thacker, who dedicated a duet to their parents.

Business meeting at 2:00 p.m. was followed by a program of gospel singing presented by the Sullivan and Clifton families of Dickens County. The two families are comprised of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Clifton and their young son and daughter, Mickey and Teresia, now of Plainview but formerly of Spur, B. D. Clifton, John Clifton, Ira Sullivan and his son, Ira Ray Sullivan, all of Afton. Joining the group for one song was H. D. Marshall of Matador.

Old Settlers Elect Sam Ross President

SAM ROSS, prominent Flomot farmer, Thursday afternoon was elected President of the Motley-Dickens Counties Old Settlers Association in the business meeting. Recommendation of the nominating committee named retiring President, Maurice Goodwin as first vice-president, Corby Lee (Corky) Marshall as secretary-treasurer, and the following directors: John Stevens, Johnny Koonsman, S. J. Braselton, Hal Courtney and Louis Bostick. The vote was unanimous after a call for nominations from the floor.

Saturday night (early Sunday) closed the 40th, and most successful reunion. High tribute was paid President Goodwin for his work in arranging the program and improving the "public image" of Old Settlers. "Corky" Marshall also received the praise of many for his work as secretary-treasurer.

Many who have attended "Old Settlers" for many years said the crowd Saturday night was the largest ever witnessed at any meeting in Motley County.

The number of pioneers attending the day sessions was larger than expected, many coming from as far away as California to attend and visit with old friends.

Rodeo crowds taxed the capacity of facilities as did the crowds at the two dances each of the three nights.

At the rodeo H. C. Zachary, Lubbock, won the bareback bronc riding event. Herb Woods, Big Lake, took top honors in double mugging roping. In the old men's calf roping, J. C. King, Amarillo was first. Carl Dean Baird, Silverton, was tops in the junior boys break away roping.

Tuffy Thompson, Tahoka, was first in the roping event with Walter Arnold second.

Honors in the junior boys flag race went to Jerry Light, Amarillo, and Micky Witt, Spur. Delwin McGinty, Plains, was winner of the girls barrel race, and Owen Fox, Taiban, N. M., took top honors in the wild mare race.

Cowboy Injured
Ronnie Longham, 17, of Wayside was seriously injured during the rodeo Saturday night while riding a bronc horse. He was treated at Stanley Hospital here. He was dismissed Monday and returned to his home. He suffered concussion when his horse fell on him.

Dove Season to Open Sept. 1st
Dove Season will open in Motley County September 1 and run through October 30, resident Game Warden Jerry Noles has announced. Bag limit is 10 per day and 20 in possession. Hunters are reminded that the hours are 12 noon until sunset.

Landowners who lease land for hunting rights are required to secure a shooting preserve license, which may be obtained at the county tax assessor's office.

Col. and Mrs. E. Y. Arnold and family of Taipei, Taiwan, visited recently in the home of his sister and family, Mr. and Gus Bird and Barbara. They recently returned from a two years stay in Taiwan. Visitors in the Bird home during the week end were Mrs. Bird's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Ellis of Paris.

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

The amount of ambition a man possesses determines his place in the auditorium of life; whether he will be in the audience or on the stage.

The distillers are good businessmen, especially in the design of bottles. It would be difficult to pour the liquid back into the container should a consumer ever become obsessed by the thought.

Woven into the fabric of life is a strange thread of irony which may be concealed or time brightly when greatness becomes the by-product of tragedy or disaster.

The depths of despair may be as shallow as the scum of self.

The physical condition of boys can become alarming during summer months, especially those who live in homes set in abundant lawns.

The father of a bride who thinks he is washing his hands of responsibility, should buy an extra supply of soap.

A man in love might as well be a visitor from Mars, so out of focus is the world with his mental attitude.

Lightning Sets Off Grass Fires

Lightning started one (perhaps two) grass fires on the E. E. Moss & Sons Red Lake Ranch about 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Long distance telephone circuits were out at the time but members of the Matador Volunteer Fire Department saw the fire.

The grass fire truck was at Roaring Springs and the big tank empty at the time. As fast as possible the tank was filled and with many volunteers the equipment reached the scene. The fire burning tall grass on the ranch was brought under control with the loss of approximately 400 acres.

E. E. Moss of Lubbock, formerly of Roaring Springs, called the Tribune Tuesday morning to express his appreciation for the volunteers who brought the fire under control.

"Matador Fire Department is tops," he said, "and it was wonderful to have hundreds of friends come to your aid with every kind of equipment in an hour of need. Our loss was small and we want to express our gratitude to every one, especially the Matador Fire Department."

Burleson Ranch Fire
Lightning caused a grass fire on the J. C. "Doc" Burleson Ranch north of Matador Friday afternoon. Matador Fire Department men and the county fire fighting truck brought the fire under control with the loss of only eight or ten acres.

"I want to express my appreciation to the Matador Fire Department and to every one who aided in bringing the fire under such quick control," Mr. Burleson said.

Lancaster, who scored 158 points, and tackle Pete Davis, both All-South Plains performers.

Take away players like Mike and Kenny Barton, plus Lloyd Martin who scored 88 points, and you'd think a team would be down considerably, especially in Class B.

But one of the reasons Matador has been strong is that several players have been able to play two or more positions. This play two or more positions. This play two or more positions.

For instance, David Rattan, a two-year letterman who was a guard last year, will be playing end or quarterback. Richard Campbell, a 206-pound junior, will see action at fullback and at center, where he played last year.

Gone from that team are the entire backfield, including Gary

The bale was purchased by the gin at a premium price of 40 cents per pound and the ginning was contributed by the gin.

First bale last year was ginned here four days earlier, according to information from the Tribune files.

Mr. Smith said that he will probably gin another bale before the Tribune is printed this week and that several farmers have cotton open sufficiently to pick.

Matadors Rated in Strong Season Class

By BILL HART
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

The Matador Matadors had the top team in Class B last year and, despite losing the entire backfield which included the area's top scorer, they're going to be tough again.

Coach Charles Johnson isn't as optimistic as in the past, but he feels that the team could be as strong as a year ago later on in the season if things go right.

"There's a lot of ifs," he said, adding, "Turkey has more boys back this time than we do."

The Matadors won the Region 2 title in 1962 and the only man on the 12-game slate was a 14-14 tie with Rochester. Turkey fell to the Matadors, 37-0, in the District 6-B title contest.

Gone from that team are the entire backfield, including Gary

The letter was from Mrs. Duff Green of Roaring Springs inviting him to have lunch with her in the first home built in the community (celebrating its 50th anniversary). Over-Use Damages Rangeland Grasses

Many manufacturing plants of Motley County are being damaged each year, it was recently pointed out by Soil Conservation Service supervisors. This is done by over-use of rangeland grasses, they assert.

According to information from the SCS office, "the grass plant is a manufacturing plant. It produces proteins, carbohydrates, and fats. These three products are used for livestock production and for maintaining the grass plant. Grass is the rangeland crop and marketed through livestock."

A grass plant like any other "manufacturing plant" will produce according to the way it is managed. If the leaves and stems of the grass plant are destroyed, the main manufacturing plant will also cause reduction of the roots and less food will be stored to maintain the plant. Yet it has been found if only approximately half of these leaves are removed there is still sufficient production to maintain the plant and provide root storage.

If the grass plant is over-used, past the half mark, the grass can be brought back by giving it a rest through deferred grazing. It takes grass to produce grass.

For assistance on proper range use contact the Soil Conservation Service. "The way you ranch today may determine if you ranch tomorrow," is their warning.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

Boys and girls who plan to show calves in the Motley County Jr. Livestock Show are reminded that they should be making arrangements for calves if they have not done so. Many good calves are available, but after delivery, pickings will be slim.

From reports all over Texas as well as in the county, the screwworm program seems to be successful. Stock owners are reminded that the success of the program depends on them. If cases of worms are not treated, flies will hatch, and screwworm populations will build up, and if worm cases are not collected and mailed to Mission, no sterile flies will be released in the areas where screwworms are found.

Regular drops of sterile flies are being made along the streams of this area, but failure to report a case may be the item that will allow a buildup of screwworms in the county this fall. I still have several mailing tubes, and livestock owners who do not have a mailing tube are urged to contact me.

When bollworms get out of hand, control is extremely difficult with any insecticide. Research has shown that higher rates, shorter intervals between applications, changing insecticides and/or adding 0.5 pound of methyl parathion per acre to recommended materials has improved the control. I have copies of Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects, which are available for the asking. Rates of application are given in actual pounds of poison per acre rather than the old rates of quarts per acre.

When boll weevils first start to invade a field, it is time to start controls. The entire field will not need to be treated, and infestations can be held to a minimum if the correct insecticide is used at the correct rate and the right interval of application. It normally takes from 250 to 300 bolts to make one pound of lint worth about 30 cents. One weevil will lay up to 300 eggs, and when the factors are considered, the value of early control can easily be figured.

Junior 4-H Records are due Sept. 25th. Boys and girls who were 13 or younger as of Jan. 1, 1963 are eligible for the Junior Record contests, and a list of contests has been distributed to most of the 4-H members in the county, with complete distribution to be completed by Sept. 6. Any boy or girl who needs help in compiling their record are urged to contact me, and I will provide the help needed.

Now is the time to consider wheat fertilization, and take soil samples. Nitrogen is the fertilizer in short supply on most soils, but a soil test is needed to determine how much to apply. Where the wheat is to be grazed, it is important to apply the fertilizer before planting, and if yields have been low, the owner may find that phosphorus needs to be applied too. Profitable response has long been evident on sandy and mixed land soils, therefore as an aid to increased production and grazing, soil test now, and follow recommendations.

Beer and Care In Production Of Japan Beef

Daily beer and massages are part of the loving care lavished by the Japanese farmer in preparing beef on the hoof for steaks on the dinner table. The information is in a United Press International release, which says the Japan Kobe beef will be available in some parts of this country, and may sell in the neighborhood of $1.08 per pound.

The article says most of the beef which goes into ship lockers is from one-year-old cattle. They get much of the loving care treatment, but the older a steer gets, the better is his lot and some are kept as long as four and a half years.

In the final year the diet is carefully weighed and prepared, consisting of naked barley mornings and evenings in the final stages of fattening. The feed is concentrated and in event of appetite failure, the steer goes on a daily ration of beer. Sometimes Japanese whiskey is given to stimulate the appetite.

The steer is bedded down in a spotlessly clean barn and daily receives a brush down and a massage, with most of the family leaning into his hide to knead the supple flesh with their fingers.

The result is steak of flavor and succulence that delights every visitor to Japan lucky enough to have been steered to the right steak house. Because of its price, Japan doesn't expect to put its quality beef in every US restaurant and butcher shop, but it will be available in more expensive places.

The United States leads the world in beef cattle production with 29,000 million pounds in 1962 (nearly twice as much as Russia).

Japan has 2,320,000 beef cattle, little more than it had ten years ago, but this figure includes cattle used for draft animals. They are becoming fewer as the country's agriculture system becomes more mechanized.

(Continued from page 1) Johnson has six offensive starters and five defensive regulars back, and of the 12 lettermen, six have won two monograms. Rattan, Tom Green and Campbell went both ways last year, while tackle Robert Brandon, guard Jack McCallie and end Charles Ezzell, who played some in the backfield, performed only on offense. Other defensive starters were Kenneth Pitts and Ronnie Cox, who may start at offensive center when Campbell is at fullback.

There are only five seniors on the 22-man squad and eight are juniors.

Matador has been mostly a ball control team and seldom passed. The Matadors will try to play this style again.

There's pretty good size in the club again. Tackle Johnny Thomas tips in at 225. Cox, a sophomore, weighs 213. Campbell, 206 and Brandon, 191. But after that, the weights drop sharply as McCallie weighs only 164.

Six of the players scored for the Matadors last year with Ken Pitts getting 36 to 34 for Ezell. The Matadors were one of the highest scoring teams in the area in 1962. — Lubbock Avalanche.
