ISSUE NUMBER 10

Barbara's Briefs

The Motley County Tribune is now in its new home on Highway 70, a half block East of Main Street. Yeal!

It even smells new. There is still alot to do, but in time it will all get done.

My thanks go out to my 'landlord' Clay Jameson who has put in hours painting and getting the building ready, and then he and Garland Cartwright used their strong arms and backs and moved everything from the Matador Tribune office to the Motley County Tribune office. I also want to thank Steve Bostick for stopping by and lending a helping hand, and to June Keltz for her help and Brenda Osborn and daughter Samantha for helping load office supplies, Kelly G. Martin for helping pack and for Judy Cartwright for bringing us cokes m-m-good, and last but definitely not least Mary Renfro and Michelle Bearden and Jason Jameson. I could not have done it without you!

Also I wish to say Goodbye and God Bless to Roy and Patsy and Russell, Holly and Rebecca Tippin who changed locations this week and now live in Andrews, Texas.

Come by to see our new home and give us some news.

The three day action packed affair, March 6, 7, and 8th will also feature a concession stand to tempt the taste buds; fancy Nachos, regular Nachos, Chili

Dogs, Popcorn and the renowned Dieters Downfall, Brownies and Rice Krispie Squares.

The Sesquicentennial Folklife Festival Committee would like to invite everyone in Flomot, Northfield, Matador, Roaring Springs and surrounding areas to come out at least one night and join together for an evening of honest fun and dedicated munching!

Conservation Reserve Program Offers Options To Farmers

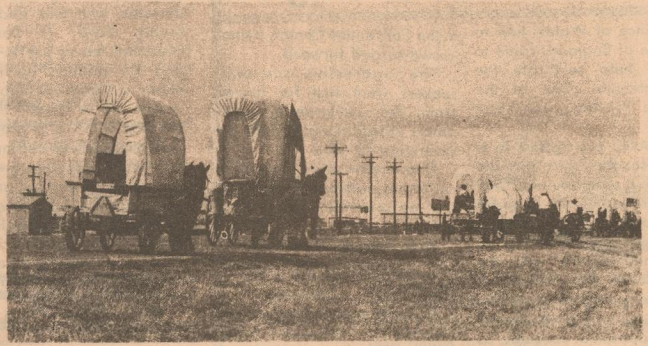

A meeting to discuss the 1986 Farm Program and the Conservation Reserve Program was held March 3, 1986, at the Motley County Courthouse. Scotty Abbott, County Executive Director, of the Motley County ASCS office, began the meeting by discussing the 1986 Farm

Program. Abbott says that the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will begin accepting applications to participate in the 1986 Farm Program beginning March 6 and ending April 11. The program is voluntary, but to be eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and land diversion payments, producers must sign-up. Program provisions include a 25 percent acreage reduction for cotton and wheat; a 20 percent acreage reduction for feed grains; a paid land diversion for wheat and feed grains; advance deficiency payments for wheat, feed grains, and cotton if requested at sign-up; and a provision where a producer may earn 92 percent of his projected deficiency payment and only plant 50 percent of his permitted acreage for harvest. Further program details are available at the local ASCS Office.

James Gillespie and Ray Minkley discussed the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP). This program is designed to retire highly erodible cropland from production and protect from future soil loss. Under CRP a farmer may enter into a ten year contract and receive annual rental payments over the ten year period for the idled land. The land must have a protective cover of grass established. While the land is in the CRP there is no grazing allowed, no haying allowed, or harvesting of grass seed. Leasing of the land for hunting or recreation purposes is allowed. Cost share will be available for the establishment of the grass cover. To be eligible the land must have been planted or considered planted two out of five years (1981-1985), and be eroding at a rate 3 times the soil tolerance. Signup for this program begins March 3 and will end March 14. Further details are available at the Soil Conservation Service office or the ASCS office.

Wagons Ho! The Sesquicentennial Wagon Train heads closer to West Texas.

Wagon Train Journey's Onward

Today, March 6, the Wagon Train is scheduled to pull into Fredericksburg, Texas.

Although the statewide press coverage has not always been particularly favorable to the Wagon Train, it continues onward with around 50 wagons enroute.

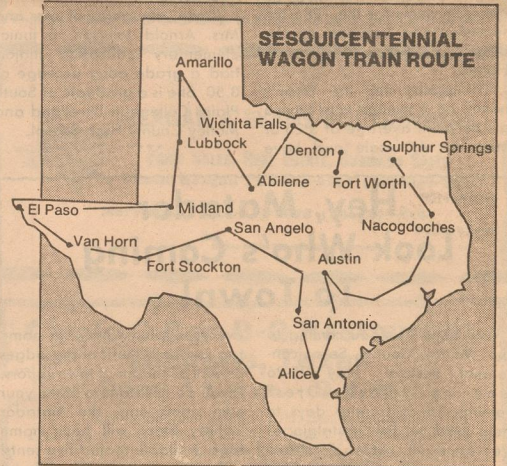

The Wagon train is now a third of the way through its 3000 mile journey across Texas. This has been an experience participants will never forget. True, they don't have to worry about marauding Indians, lack of water or food supplies which must last 6 months to a year. Nonetheless, the Texas sun can still scorch and sandstorms are still as suffocating.

Accompanying the wagoners and cowboys are two bus loads of students, ranging from kindergarten age to High Schoolers. Most of these students are the offspring of wagon train participants. One 15 year old stated that she enjoyed visiting the small towns the best as they usually went all out for the Wagon Train, while larger cities were more ho-hum.

The Wagon Train may have not received the best press coverage it could have had. However the spirit of the journey remains intact and Wagon Train will in all probability be in Motley County on May 26th., the date originally scheduled.

Northfield Notes

Hello Folks, thought I'd come to town and see what is going on, and stop in for coffee with some one.

Had you ever stopped to think about how smart some people are and how dumb some are?

Well there are some people who are so smart they know all the questions and all the answers.

Then there are people who are book smart, but are vague about what goes on outside of a book.

Then there are people who are some smart but they don't know everything.

Now take me for instance, I am some smart, I think, but I am sure dumb sometimes.

Like when my son, Benny J., comes out this way on a field trip, he stays with me at the ranch, and gravitates out in which ever direction he needs to go. (Gravitate, now that is a good word, I think).

He usually takes me on these trips, and we travel the highways and byways up hill and down, looking for rare and beautiful flowers, plants, trees and shrubs.

If and when he finds them, if the season is right, he takes bark cuttings and seeds to A&M College at Dallas to the experiment station.

There, they pamper and pet these plants and seeds, trying to see if they will grow for yard beautification.

On this trip we went out close to Texline on the hunt of a lovely rare Bluebonnet. The color was different and seed pod also, to any other Bluebonnet in Texas.

On our way out about mid-morning, son said "If this town coming up has a DQ, we will stop in for coffee." I said, "O.K." We drove in and stopped at the Dairy Queen. I looked all around but I didn't say anything. About noon son said, "If you are not too hungry we will go on through this town coming up. I know the next town has a DQ and they have delicious hamburgers." I said,

"That is fine."

About 1 p.m., we drove into the next town and stopped at a Dairy Queen. I looked all around but I didn't say anything. The burger was pretty good.

We have now made a half circle and on our way home.

About mid-afternoon, son said, "I see a big DQ coming up. How about some ice cream as a float?" I said, "O.K.", but to myself I said, "You sure see things I don't. Finally I couldn't stand it any longer and I said, "Son, what is a DQ, and where do you see one?"

Well sir, that boy looked at me like you poor ole' sole, you do need a keeper. He said, "Mother do you see that tall sign up ahead?" I said, "Yes." "Well, look up there and tell me what it says. I looked and sure enough there was a great big capital D and a Q on that sign, and you know what? It was standing right in front of a Dairy Queen.

Well as I said some people can be smart and dumb at the same time.

Ho hum, time for coffee. Ya'll come!

W.J. Boykin is champing at the bits, he recently had surgery, and the Dr. let him come home, he was doing so good, with the understanding he wouldn't bear wrestle with anyone, and gave him a few more does and don'ts. J is doing fine but restless.

Faye Timmons still on twice per week treatment at the clinic in Amarillo, is feeling great.

Nita Curlee is visiting her sister Wilma Thomas. Nita and Wilma made a visit to see R.B. Ramson a sick cousin in Cee Vee, Saturday.

Betty Simpson took on the job of finishing a red, white, and blue quilt top, that Annie B. Cloyd gave the Arts and Crafts club to be quilted to sell chances on at our Christmas Bazaar.

Viola Featherston, from Hico, Texas is visiting her sisters, Mary Hoover and Annie Lee Holiman.

That's all folks, see you next time I'm in town.

Let's Go To The Grocery Store

(Article contributed by Bruce Marrs)

My bill at the grocery store last week was $137.00. If I had five kids and a hungry husband at home, that wouldn't have been too bad, but I thought it was a terrible price to pay for food for two people.

I was home stashing my supplies in the cabinet when a friend came over. In the midst of my singing the grocery store blues, she commented, "Oh well, you probably bought a lot of meat."

She didn't know that we have half a beef in our freezer. The $137 went for flour and sugar and canned goods and cabbage, but not for meat. But her comments piqued my interest. Her opinion is a popular one. Most people blame their high grocery bills on the "high" cost of meat.

I decided to do some comparative pricing next time I went shopping. I found that the same grocery store that sells beef loins for 16 cents an ounce charges 31 cents an ounce for halibut steak and 37 cents an ounce for lobster. Something was starting to smell a little fishy.

I like good home grilled hamburgers, so I decided to find out what they were really costing. Ground beef was a bargain at seven cents an ounce.

But the accompanying catsup, mustard and mayonnaise retail for six, 16 and nine cents an ounce. Ouch!

In the next aisle, peanut butter was selling for 13 cents an ounce...and an ounce of crackers to go with it cost 26 cents. The new sugar-free Jello is selling like hotcakes, at the prohibitive price of 1.36 an ounce. And corn chips at 90 cents and cheese puffs at 98 cents could sure run the bill up quickly! At those prices, I didn't think eight cents an ounce was too much to pay for a pork roast.

Prepared breakfast cereal was selling for 18 cents an ounce, four cents more than the cost for an ounce of Choice Sirloin steak. Beef was looking like a better buy all the time! I was glad I didn't like steak sauce when I found it would cost 23 cents an ounce to put sauce on my 14 cent steak.

I found that a quarter would purchase an ounce of toothpaste or shampoo and razors retailed for 30 cents apiece. Light bulbs go for a dollar apiece. Deodorant costs 30 cents an ounce. And you can take a Porterhouse steak home for 20 cents an ounce, a nickel less than it takes to buy a roll of toilet paper.

And the list continues. One ounce of tea bags sells for 89 cents, but we haven't seen a reenactment of the Boston Tea Party. An ounce of Kool-Aid costs 75 cents and coffee goes for 27 cents an ounce. But boneless hams are sold for nine cents per ounce.

I just can't figure why people will complain about paying eight cents an ounce for Round steak and turn right around and buy Stove Top stuffing for 16 cents an ounce. That is double the money! I prefer standing over a hot grill tending the beef ribs I bought for six cents an ounce to dusting furniture with my 11 cents an ounce polish. (Mmmmm, I can almost taste the barbecue right now!)

The store was full of paradoxes. Salad dressing mix is sold for $1.87 an ounce and breakfast bars go for 30 cents. Chuck steak, on the other hand, can be bought for less than a dime. Ounce for ounce, candy bars sell for more than three times the price of Chuck Steak.

When steaks are cheaper than paper towels or chocolate chips or coffee, I find it hard to believe that people can gripe about the prices they pay over the meat counter.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

By Joe Woody (High School Student)
We read in the papers and hear on the air, Of killing and stealing and crime everywhere. We sigh and say as we notice this trend, This younger generation-- where will it end?

But can they be sure it's our fault alone?

Are they less guilty who place in our way Too many things that lead us astray? Too much money, too much idle time, Too many movies of passion and crime.

Too many books, not fit to be read, Too much evil in what we hear said. Too many children encouraged to roam, Too many parents who won't stay home.

Kids don't make movies. We don't write the books. We don't make the liquor, we don't run the bars. We don't make the laws and don't make cars.

We might sell the drugs that muddle the brain But it's started by older folks, greedy for gain. Delinquent teenagers. Oh, how they condemn The sins of a nation and blame it on them.

By the laws of the blameless, The Saviour made known Who is among us to cast the first stone? For in so many cases it's sad but it's true, The title "delinquent" fits older folks too!

This article was printed in the National Teen Challenge newsletter and is so applicable to the cry we hear. It is our feeling that where there are young people with problems, there are adults in trouble. In America we talk of our high rate of literacy, but there is no tragedy as tragic as that of combining high mentality with low morality--God help us to awake and set a sure example.

Happy Birthday

CARDS OF THANKS

Words cannot express our appreciation and love for the people of Matador and Roaring Springs, who have prayed for us, sent cards, flowers, telephone calls, food and all the help they have given us through Eva's illness.

Especially we will always remember Beth Hinson, and Carl and Shirley Barton, who took time out to drive us to the Hospital; also our granddaughter, Karen Davis, who was there when we needed her.

Our special thanks to the Ambulance crew who worked so hard to get me to Lubbock through the snow. We know we live among the best people in the world and we sincerely hope that we can be as much help to you, if you ever need us.

Thanks to Eddie Marcum for his many visits to the Hospital and his wonderful prayers of comfort and encouragement.

Eva and J.D. Mitchell

We wish to take this means of saying Thank You to Mrs. Bertha Stearns for making it possible for the Motley County Senior Citizens Building having the Red Cedar trees planted.

Your thoughtfulness is greatly appreciated.
 Frances Hobbs and the Motley County Senior Citizens

A Special Thank You to all our friends and family for the words of encouragement expressed to us, in so many ways, in wishing us the most of everything in our lives as Mr. and Mrs. James J. Meador.

A MAN WHO LOVES THE SOIL
 By Eleanor Lyons Culver

*I think a man who loves the soil,
 Who bends above the fertile earth,
 And plants the seed with calloused hands
 Must be a gentle man of worth.
 A man who cherishes the sod
 Must surely be a friend of God!*

*I think a man who loves the soil;
 Who nurtures every growing thing,
 And watches with expectancy
 For nature's fruitful harvesting,
 Who oft has plowed the lands he's trod,
 Must be a partner of God.*

*I think a man who loves the soil
 Finds happiness in rich supply;
 Though toil he must to earn his bread
 He reaps much more than wheat and rye,
 For with each little grain and sod
 He cultivates a faith in God.*
