Assembly of God Church 50th Anniversary

The Assembly of God Church in Matador is celebrating their 50th Anniversary this Sunday, September 7, with a dedication of the new addition on the church building. The church was initially established in 1936 after meeting for a year in homes of its members. They then organized with the West Texas Assembly of God Council. In 1937, the congregation built a small sanctuary and in 1947 this was replaced with the current building. By August 1940 the Church had reached the requisite number of years and members to become a sovereign Assembly of God Church. Only one current member of the church, Bobby Martin Taylor, was a charter member. Kevin Creed, pastor, is planning on growth of the church, and is continually adding new programs. He has several goals to promote the on-going progress of the church. The church has just completed the addition of a nursery and bathrooms to the church building and they have future plans for more construction later on. Rev. Creed's main goal is the spiritual growth of his congregation.

Sodbuster: To Break Up The Farmer?

by Michelle Bearden

Bantering around the pros and cons of the Sodbuster Section of the 1985 Farm Bill in the coffee shop or hanging over the back of a pickup, won't have any effect on the progression of the plan or the withdrawal of it. Farmers and land owners have recently been given until Oct. 26, 1986 to put their 2c worth in to the people who can do something about it. Now is the time, to write out either in longhand or typed, a very brief statement saying, "I support the Sodbuster Section of the 1985 Farm Bill," or "I am against" it. No rhetoric in proper gramatical form is required - but let your position be known to those who are forming policies that ultimately may completely direct how a farmer farms.

Under the law, Sodbuster will lose his eligibility for government programs (such as USDA price and income supports, disaster payments, crop insurance, FmHA loans, Commodity Credit Corporation storage payments, farm storage facility loans, etc.) if he produces a crop on highly erodible land that was not cropped five years prior to the 1985 Farm Bill and was cultivated after Dec. 23, 1985, if the farmer does not have a conservation plan approved by the local Soil and Water Conservation District.

After January 1, 1990, all highly erodible croplands, regardless of when they were broken out, must have an approved conservation plan if the producer is to remain eligible for USDA program benefits. The producer will have five years (January 1, 1995) to implement the approved conservation plan.

The Soil Conservation Service will determine if the land is highly erodible, and if the producer is actively applying a conservation plan. The FmHA will determine if the proceeds of any loan it makes will contribute to excessive erosion of highly erodible land.

Impact on the Rolling Plains will deal, probably, equally with wind and water erosion. Many farmers already use such erosion protection. The erodibility of land may be determined based on the SCS Land Capability Classification System, the use of the Universal Soil Loss Equation and the Wind Erosion Equation, a determination of the actual erosion occurring on the land, or a combination of some of these methods.

One point to be emphasized is that highly erodible land criteria used for Sodbuster is NOT the same as the criteria presently used for the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP).

At least 60% of Motley County falls in the category of being highly-erodible. In Motley County there is 119,000 acres of cropland which at least 60-75% will be classified as highly erodible.

A couple of interesting features of Sodbuster is that: Section 1212 of the Act provides no person shall become ineligible under the highly erodible land conservation provisions for program loans, payments and benefits as the result of the production of a crop of an agricultural commodity planted before Dec. 25, 1985, or, if such person is using a conservation system of such land. A person who is actively applying a conservation plan based on local SCS guidelines will have until Jan. 1, 1995 to comply with the plan without being subject to program ineligibility.

James Gillispie, Motley County Soil Conservationist states that, "Most land in Motley County has some type of conservation treatment on them." The eligibility for the farm programs will ultimately be determined by the Federal guidelines which have not as yet been put in the hands of the local SCS office. Gillespie states "Possibly less than a dozen farmers don't utilize at least one of the federal programs."

The soil conservation services have historically been a voluntary effort which worked for the good of the land and, ultimately, for the farmer. The Sodbuster puts a tremendous burden on both the SCS office, as well as the Agriculture Stabilization and conservation service and the local Soil and Water Conservation District by

Barbara's Bylines

We've been getting lots of complements on the Old Settlers Edition of the paper. Thanks go to Marisue Potts, Carla Jones, Michelle Bearden and others for their time spent and the good stories. Thanks go the advertisers for making it possible to print so many stories and the people like James (Tootie) Meador, who brought pictures to use.

I especially enjoyed the letter about Mrs. Knight, since she was one of the sweet ladies that kept me when I was a child.

I feel officially initiated into the Lions Club now, since I've been fined.

My apology again to Billy Donaldson for printing his name wrong twice.

New County Appraiser

by Michelle Bearden

The Motley County Appraisal Board announced September 2 that Betty Luckett has been hired as Chief Appraiser for the County Appraisal District. Mrs. Luckett has already achieved Class II qualification in requirements by the state to become registered by the Board of Tax Professional Examiners.

The Appraisal Board determined that as Mrs. Luckett has already successfully completed 12 of 14 requisite courses to become a registered property appraiser, she was the best qualified applicant. No other applicant was near Mrs. Luckett's current level. She will be required to achieve level III within two years; and then two more years to achieve class IV and take the class IV (RPA) exam.

Forest Campbell will be retained for an indefinite period to help with the transition.

Have you ever watched women at a Garage Sale? They move faster than a bullet. They are as powerful as a steam engine. And they can leap over each other without any hesitation.

It seems that the best idea to rid one's self of the accumulated junk we have is to give it to Good Will. However, when we realize that one person's junk is another person's treasure, we just can't help having a couple of Garage Sales a year.

Some people hesitate to spread their castoffs for others to see and pick apart. But when you realize that some of this stuff hasn't been used in 20 years, you ask yourself why keep it. One of my cardinal rules for Garage Sale merchandise is that if I have not used it in two years, the probability is that I will never use it. So into the Garage Sale it goes.

I do have some pet peeves about Garage Sales. I tell myself that if I am going to start at 8 o'clock in the morning, then that is when I will start. BUT, when the cars pile three deep in the street at 7 o'clock and the customers are waving their dollar bills in front of my face....well, ready or not, I open at 7 o'clock.

It is amazing what you can sell, too. The sign says that the toaster doesn't work, the plastic flowers are faded, the guitar is scratched and the strings are missing, the handle on the shovel is visibly split, yet these items are the first to sell!! There is no accounting for buyers taste!

In addition to having Garage Sales, I love to go to Garage Sales. Went to one the other day and bought a wall hanging, a cup tree holder, and unusual shaped can all for 90 cents, I thought. As I started to pay, the lady said it was only 45 cents. Seems everything had already been marked half price. Now, that is the kind of Garage Sale I like. There is one kind, though, that I don't like. If you don't have a price on the items, I'm going to turn around and walk away. Don't look at me and jack up the price because you think I'm a sucker. I've been Garage Saleing for years. I'm savvy. Don't Mess With Me!!

"Son Beams"

By June Keltz

We identify people, animals and things by a word which has become their name. Advertisers use names to stimulate our desire to buy their product. When an individual's name is mentioned, our minds immediately compute a character sketch of that person. King Solomon said "A good name is to be more desired than great riches."

There is a name that is higher than any other. At the sound of this name, every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess that He is Lord. There is no name under Heaven, given among men, by which we must be saved. Whatever we ask the Father in this name, the Father will give it to us. His name is Holy and awesome - His name is Jesus.

This name has multiple meanings - Creator, Almighty, Blessings, Lord (the one in control) Provider, Righteous, First, Last, Victory, Healing, Self-existing, Peace, Shepherd, God

Men of the world hate that name because just the sound of it brings conviction. Peter and the apostles were ordered to stop teaching in that name, but Peter said, "We must obey God rather than men." (Acts 5:29) Then in verse 41, we read that they actually rejoiced because they were considered worthy to suffer shame for His name.

What a comfort it is to know that He knows us by name and if we have accepted Him as our very own Savior, He has written our name in His book of life and will confess it before the Father and His angels. (Rev. 3:5) Even though evil spirits are subject to us, we are not to rejoice in that, but in the fact that when we are born again our names are recorded in Heaven. (Luke 10:19).

Calling upon that name in simple faith, will bring you life. If you haven't, do it today.

After a big rain on Wednesday (about an inch and a half) it was too wet to play golf Thursday morning, so the morning was spent in the club house for Loys, Louise, Geneva, Dorothy D., Dorothy Campbell, Dudley and Judy Barber and Hazel.

Your reporter was feted on "her day," with the group singing the traditional "Happy Birthday" chorus and eating home-made ice cream with various toppings, and Italian cream cake (made by Loys for the occasion) served with coffee. All making for an enjoyable time.

theoretically putting the ax in their hands.

Crucial to farmers is that the impact of this "interim rule is the value of the government benefits which will be foregone if the farmer continues to farm highly erodible land without a conservation plan. Current philosophy in farm legislature is to reduce farmer's dependence on government programs, with significant cuts in those...by 1990," despite the obvious economic reversal, this may not be necessarily all bad. Government regulations have only complicated farming to the extreme.

While farmers pride themselves on being independent, their lack of cohesive voice has intensified the lack of governmental response to the farming predicament. ## Wedding Vows Exchanged

Pam Francis and Billy L. Wilson were united in marriage on August 2, 1986, at 7:00 p.m. in an outdoor ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vann Francis, parents of the bride. Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wilson of Girard, Tx.

The double ring ceremony was officiated by the Rev. Larry Heard of Idalou, Tx.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white cotton eyelet dress with a sweetheart neckline. For her headpiece she chose a white hat accented with white daisies. A Mother of Pearl Bible brought from Jerusalem by her grandmother, Mrs. Coyal Francis, was the "something old", while "something borrowed" was the wedding ring that belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. John Stevens. Her dress was new, and she wore a blue garter to complete the traditions.

The bride carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies and strands of english ivy accented with satin streamers tied with love knots. The groom's boutonniere was a white daisy. A white lattice gazebo was decorated with English ivy and baskets of Asparagus ferns.

Matron of Honor was Gaylynn Holt of Matador. Her yellow dress had a dropped waist line, and she carried a basket of yellow and white daisies.

Best man was Mike Wilson of Girard, brother of the groom. Elaine Risser provided a selection of wedding music on the organ.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held outdoors. The reception table was laid with a white cloth trimmed in English ivy. Brass appointments complimented the table. The centerpiece was a yellow basket filled with yellow and white daisies. The bride's cake was decorated with cascades of yellow daisies and ivy.

The groom's table was decorated with brass and wicker. The centerpiece was a sculptured watermelon and assorted fruits. Also, on the table were assorted trays of meats, cheeses, and breads. The groom's cake was a German Chocolate cake.

After a Caribbean Cruise, the couple are at home in Matador.

'86 Church Conference to Focus On Texas' Rural Crisis

COLLEGE STATION--Strategies for dealing with the crisis in Texas' heartland--the financial woes that have beset farmers and ranchers and smalltown businesses--will be discussed at the 1986 Town and Country Church Conference at Texas A&M University Sept. 15-17.

"Rural Crisis in Texas: Hoped-filled Strategies" will be the theme of the 41st annual conference, which is for clergy and church lay leaders.

The conference is aimed at identifying dimensions of the current economic crisis, at understanding the concerns about the crisis, at determining what churches and agencies are doing to overcome the crisis, at providing church leaders with positive approaches for helping families in financial difficulties, and at exploring ways that churches can cooperate with other agencies in information and action programs.

Key parts of the conference will feature small group listening sessions, special interest areas, and a session on developing a constructive response for dealing with crisis issues, points out Dr. Dave Ruesink, sociologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, who is coordinating the conference program.

"We hope to get a good perspective of how clergy and lay leaders are involved in dealing with the financial crisis throughout Texas and how their efforts and the efforts of various agencies can be interfaced for greater impact," Ruesink points out. "We want to develop positive approaches for dealing with problems that are affecting families, churches and communities as a result of the current financial crisis."

The conference opens with registration at 10 a.m. on Sept.

15 and continues through noon on Sept. 17.

Keynote speaker at the opening session at 1 p.m. the first day will be Charles Kanteen with the American Lutheran Church of Minneapolis, Minn., who will discuss "A Displaced Farmer Helping Church Leaders Understand the Farmer's Story."

The morning program on Tuesday, Sept. 16, will feature Roman Catholic Bishop Michael J. Sheehan of the Diocese of Lubbock. Sheehan, who has been involved with the agricultural crisis in the Lubbock area, will address highly charged emotional issues associated with the agricultural crisis.

His address will be followed by a special video developed by Charles Kanteen titled "Another Family Farm."

Special interest workshops Tuesday afternoon will deal with these topics: "Agriculture," "Energy," "Direct Service Providers," and "Last Ditch Efforts--Ethical and Legal Aspects."

A highlight of the conference will be the recognition of the Texas Rural Minister of the Year at a banquet that evening. The award is presented annually by the Progressive Farmer magazine.

The concluding session on Wednesday morning, Sept. 17, will feature remarks by Frank Dietz of Dallas, executive director of the Resource Center for Small Churches. Also, Lucy Todd of Austin, with the Texas Department of Human Services, will talk about the "Texas Crisis hotline," and Roddy Peoples of San Angelo, with the VSA Radio Network, will give an overview of his radio program, "Cow Country News."

Free Shade Trees For Fall Planting

The National Arbor Day Foundation is giving ten free shade trees to people who join the nonprofit Foundation during September, 1986.

A Pin Oak, Red maple, Weeping Willow, Red Oak, Green Ash, Thornless Honeylocust, Silver Maple, Tuliptree, European Mountainash, and Sugar Maple will be given as part of the Foundation's campaign to encourage tree planting.

These trees were selected because they provide beautiful full colors, flowers, and berries, in addition to cooling summer shade, according to John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director.

The Foundation will give the ten free trees to members contributing $10 during September. The six-to-twelve inch trees will be shipped this fall between October 15 and December 10 when conditions are right for planting. They will be sent with enclosed planting instructions, and are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free by the Foundation.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, a $10 membership contribution should be sent to TEN SHADE TREES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by September 30, 1986.

More Texas Women Die of Lung Cancer Than Breast Cancer

Until recently, breast cancer was the most common cause of cancer death among women in Texas and the U.S. However, in 1979 the lung cancer death rate among white Texas women surpassed that of breast cancer. For black women this occurred in 1982.

According to an article in the August issue of Texas Medicine, lung cancer deaths in Texas women continue to increase. Only in black women over age 65 have lung cancer deaths remained relatively stable, according to Drs. Margaret R. Spitz, David T. Car, Guy R. Newell, and attorney H. Keith Lynch, division of medicine, The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute, Texas Medical Center, Houston. Writing in the official journal of the Texas Medical Association, they state "There is an inverse relationship between socioeconomic status and smoking prevalence." They add it is likely that the peak of black women smokers occurred after it did for white women. Therefore, the lung cancer death rate for older black women in the future might increase.

The report also reveals that lung cancer deaths are decreasing for young men in Texas. The authors conclude that lung cancer deaths in women are projected to continue to increase and exceed the rate of men by the year 2000. This is because women have stopped smoking at a slower rate than men. They add that "these data emphasize the urgent need for continuing efforts aimed against smoking and directed particularly to young women."

Social Security Tips

by Terry J. Clements

People who work in employment covered by Social Security should check their work record every three years to make sure the records are correct.

This is especially important if the person changes jobs often or has more than one job. A free form is available at any Social Security office which a person can use to request a statement of his earnings as recorded in Social Security records.

A person's earnings record is very important. Eligibility for and the amount of any benefits due will be based on the information contained in that record.

Once a person receives a statement of earnings, he or she should check it carefully to make sure the proper amount of earnings has been reported to Social Security. If the person's own records do not agree with the amounts shown on the statement, he or she should contact a Social Security office right away.

This is important because most corrections to an earnings record must be reported to the Social Security Administration within three years, three months, and fifteen days after the end of the year the earnings were paid. The person should provide his or her own records of the earnings that are available so that an investigation can be made.

More information about social security earnings can be obtained at the social security office at 1401-B West 5th street, or you may call us at 293-9623.
