MERCURY DROPS AFTER DAY OF WIND AND DUST

Snow Halts Dirt Blow In Panhandle

Worst Storm Of Year In Big Spring As Wind Hits 49 MPH

TEMPERATURE DOWN NEAR FREEZE MARK

Snowfall Of 2 To 5 Inches Stops Duster In North For While

Falling temperatures and grit rode into Big Spring and surrounding area Saturday on a northwesterly gale which attained a maximum velocity of 49 miles an hour during the mid-afternoon.

Visibility Less Than Mile

Visibility was reduced to less than a mile and travel made difficult by the strongest blow of the year.

Temperatures slipped downward during the afternoon and broke nine points from 55 degrees at 5 p. m. to 46 degrees an hour later. At 7 p. m. the reading was 41 and at 10 p. m. it was 36. However, the mercury apparently had ceased its rapid decline, dropping little more than two degrees in the two hours before the 10 p. m. reading.

The wind had shifted to the northeast and subsided to a mere 15 miles an hour. At sundown the skies cleared and Big Spring awaited crisp weather Sunday. Change of the wind to the east carried the roar from the "air" well four miles east over every part of Big Spring Saturday night.

Snow In Panhandle

While dust filled the air in this section, the Panhandle, under a blanket of snow, was dustless and thankful for air-cleansing moisture. A week of repeated dust storms over much of the southwest, including parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and Texas was brought to a close with snow that ranged in depth from two to five inches. The wet snow hugged the earth and farmers said it would prevent an immediate recurrence of dusts and promote wind erosion measures.

A strong northwest wind, holding promise of considerably colder weather Sunday, swept across North Texas early Saturday night, bringing a dense cloud of choking, brownish silt. There was no indication of rain.

Reviewing The BIG SPRING WEEK

by Joe Pickle

The big noise last week came from a hole in the ground just east of the Coston refinery. Millions of cubic feet of almost pure nitrogen gas issued from the Westbrook and Graham No. 1 Great West with such force as to create a roar which could be heard all over Big Spring, four miles away, and with enough force to batter the rig badly. Around 6,000 people viewed the mighty rush of gas and wondered where it was coming from. One old negro feared that earth surrounding the area would crumble like a deflated balloon if the flow continued.

Rumors quickly got afoot and before nightfall reports from Chicago and New York told of an important oil strike. Many localities waxed warm and suddenly wanted to enter the leasing business. Yet there was nothing except the volume to warrant this excitement. The best part of it was that the test is shown to be running structurally high, a favorable indication for an oil test. Still, one wonders what could be done if all the power emanating from the hole could be harnessed. If the supply proved to be half as large and almost inexhaustible, nature could light the city from now on.

After all this talk about improving the quality of cotton lint produced in Howard county, Le-max farmers have decided to do something about it. With the co-operation of the gin in that community, they plan to raise only one variety in 1937. The gin will buy this cotton at a price commensurate with its quality. Naturally, the producers will receive more than they would under the old hog around purchase policy by gins where every type of staple is bought. Perhaps other communities will see that it pays Le-max farmers to raise better cotton.

Wind Storms Wreck Houses

Several Persons Injured As Tornado Sweeps Louisiana Area

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 20 (AP)—A tornado struck near Dubach, Lincoln parish, about 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, demolishing about 15 houses and injuring seven persons, three critically. A torrential rain preceded and followed the storm.

The tornado struck first at Hood's Mill and then swept on toward 15 miles to the northeast, cutting a swath 300 to 400 yards wide. Midway in its course it went through the north and northwest edge of Dubach.

Heaviest damage was reported in the area north of Dubach where several large farms felt the full force of the storm. Four of the farm houses were totally destroyed. Several children were reported injured in this area.

IN MISSISSIPPI

NATCHITZ, Miss., Feb. 20 (AP)—A tornado struck the village of Kingston on highway 61 between Natchez and Bogalusa, 18 miles from here, tonight.

Ten tenant houses were reported demolished. Most of the damage was on the plantation of J. E. O'Kelley. It was reported that no one had been injured.

THREE COUNTIES HIT

MARSHFIELD, Mo., Feb. 20 (AP)—A tornado twisted through three Ozark counties late this afternoon, injured at least four seriously, wrecked a score of farm homes, disrupted telephone lines, and blocked roads with fallen trees.

SHERMAN, Feb. 20 (AP)—A sudden gust of wind wrecked all but 20 feet of the 185-foot steel tower of radio station KRRV here late today.

The steel tower was wrenched apart and the top fell to the ground, a mass of twisted steel. Service on the station, which is operated by the Red River Valley Broadcasting corporation, was resumed after two hours interruption.

HARLAN LEADS IN EL PASO CONTEST

EL PASO, Feb. 20 (AP)—M. A. Harlan, former national commander of the disabled American veterans, won a slight lead over A. B. Poe, El Paso business man, for the democratic nomination for mayor of El Paso. Don Thompson, city alderman seeking the nomination, was third. The run-off will be held March 13.

Ben Carroll, legless newsboy, was elected city treasurer. He won the election over two opponents without necessity for a run-off.

Weather

WEST TEXAS—Fair, colder in southeast portion Sunday; Monday fair, warmer in north and east portions.

EAST TEXAS—Partly cloudy and colder Sunday; Monday fair, rising temperature in interior.

Tax Issues Neglected By Solons

Session Third Gone No Revenue Bills

AUSTIN, Feb. 20 (AP)—The four-months general session of the legislature was one-third over today and the task of raising revenue as assigned by Governor Allred as of chief importance was far from accomplishment.

In his messages the governor said the state needed approximately $13,000,000 in new revenue, but the house had not passed a revenue-raising bill and must do so before the senate can start work on taxes.

Rep. Herman Jones of Decatur twice failed to bring up his bill proposing increases in franchise taxes on corporations to five per cent of net income. There was a possibility a bill to boost the tax on oil production might be taken up next week.

Hundreds of Bills

The end of the deluge of bills was in sight for after next Thursday none could be introduced except by four-fifths consent of the members in the house 628 had been introduced with 205 in the senate. Thirty-five constitutional amendments had been offered in the lower chamber and 14 in the upper.

The house of representatives adjourned last night until Monday and the senate until Tuesday after a joint session to hear Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes. The secretary defended President Roosevelt's proposal to reorganize the supreme court and discussed federal oil administration policies.

By the senate adjournment until Tuesday, some question arose as to the status of a resolution proposing ratification of the child labor amendment to the federal constitution, consideration of which had been set for Monday. Several senators expressed the opinion the effect would be to push the senate program back a day and the setting would prevail on Tuesday.

Drivers' Licenses

Slated for possible early consideration was a bill by Rep. A. M. Mays of Atlanta to create a new court for Cass and Marion counties for two years. Next was a bill to tighten the drivers' license law by requiring examinations. Another would prohibit liquor advertising.

Outstanding events in the legislative week were passage by both houses of bills extending oil production two years and increasing district judges' salaries. The latter was signed immediately by acting governor Walter F. Woodul in the absence in Washington of Governor Allred.

The house also passed a bill repealing the law which in 1933 legalized pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing, and a senate committee set a hearing on it and a similar senate measure for March 6.

BIRTHDAY SAME AS WASHINGTON'S, THIS MAN WILL BE 101

BIG TIMMER, Mont., Feb. 20 (AP)—George Washington Cook, he'll be 101 years old Monday, the birthday anniversary of the father of his country—thinks the "old days on the range produced better men, but we have more progress now."

Eager as a youngster on a holiday, he accepted promptly when friends called today to invite him to a birthday party in his honor tomorrow. They found him doing "just some small chores around the house" and complaining because "the folks won't let me do any real work any more."

"I never drank liquor; never used tobacco; never cheated anybody and I always paid what I owed. I guess that's partly why I lived to be 101," he chuckled.

To those who aspire to longevity he advises, "Live clean and keep active."

LINDBERGHS REST IN JODHPUR, INDIA

BOMBAY, Feb. 20 (AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh rested tonight at Jodhpur, India, after a one-stop flight from little-known Gwalior. They flew 300 miles from that isolated spot to Jodhpur before continuing to Jodhpur.

The couple, on a vacation jaunt, paused less than an hour in Karachi, on the north coast of India.

Wage-Hour Bills Mapped By FD Advisers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—Business advisers of the Roosevelt administration have drawn up a new formula for curing "sweat shop" ills and improving trade practices.

Informed officials said today that President Roosevelt is favorably disposed toward the proposed legislation, which would provide mandatory minimum labor standards for industries operating in interstate commerce and would itself define interstate commerce.

Based on a new and broad definition, the plan probably would embrace all major industries, high authorities said. They added

Launch Move To Organize Oil Workers

Union President Asserts Campaign Has Support Of Lewis

RACE BETWEEN AFOL AND CIO MENTIONED

20 Organizers Reported Due In Houston Area In A Short Time

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—A campaign to unionize a million oil industry workers, including filling station attendants, took form today.

Neither of the rival union generals, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, or John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization, would comment, however, on possibilities that they would clash in soliciting of members.

Harvey C. Fremming, president of the International Association of Oil Field, Gas Well and Refinery Workers, said Lewis would take an active part in the membership campaign of his organization.

He said his group, heretofore limited to workers in the production phases of the industry, was going after marketing workers who were unrecognized except for "a small number of locals" chartered directly by the American Federation of Labor. The locals are mostly in the Great Lakes region, he added.

TO JUMP THE GUN?

HOUSTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—Possibility that the American Federation of Labor would try to "jump the gun" on John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization in a proposed drive to unionize 1,000,000 workers in the oil industry was unofficially reported here today.

On the heels of official confirmation that the C.I.O. planned to start a drive early in April to unionize the vast industry's countless workmen in all branches came a report the A.F. of L. would try to get ahead start on Lewis' organization.

A local source close to the A.F. of L. said unofficially that giant labor organization planned to assign at least 20 organizers to the oil industry within a short time, perhaps a month prior to the date set by the C.I.O.

Such a move would keep active the long, bitter fight between William Green, A.F. of L. president, and John L. Lewis, who has been in the labor spotlight for months, close observers predicted.

Plans of the C.I.O. to extend its activities to the oil industry were revealed here last night by local representatives, who said headquarters of the intensive drive would be at Houston with a branch office at Fort Arthur, a big refinery center.

Philips Head Of Red Cross

Elected To Full Term At Meeting Of Local Chapter

Shine Philips, serving out the unexpired term of L. A. Deacon as chairman, was elected to his first full term as chairman of the Howard-Glasecock Red Cross Friday evening in the annual meeting.

Max Jacobs was named secretary and Reba Baker vice secretary.

Committees will be appointed this week, it was announced. Roger C. Platsted, special representative from the national office, discussed plans for first aid instruction in Big Spring. He said that arrangements had been made to start classes March 1 at 7:30 p. m. in the city hall with Dr. Frank Boyle as instructor.

Instruction will include a brace of two-hour sessions each week until the 30-hour course has been completed.

One of the purposes of the course will be to train lay instructors as well as to inform laymen on first aid measures. Representatives from the various industries are expected to be enrolled in the class.

fair practice and anti-trust laws would be overhauled.

Because it would be grafted largely on to laws which already have passed the test of constitutionality, officials said they believed the system would stand up under a court test.

Administration legal experts, it was said, are of the opinion that the supreme court would uphold any "reasonable" definition of interstate commerce contained in the act. Thus, officials said, should Mr. Roosevelt give the program final approval there would be no reason to delay it until after congress acts on his suggestion.

Complaints that prescribed standards had been violated would bring a "cease and desist order" either from the new board or the present federal trade commission. Civil penalties might be imposed if such orders were violated.

NO INDICATION OF A COMPROMISE PLAN FROM WHITE HOUSE

Program Given Impetus By Conferences; Senate Judiciary Committee Will Start Its Work On Monday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt gave congressional leaders tonight a signal to go ahead with legislation for reorganizing the courts.

Senators emerging from the second of two conferences at the White House forecast that the senate judiciary committee would begin work Monday on the president's proposal to name six new justices to the supreme court. Hearings will be held, it was indicated.

The senators said there was no talk of compromise at the White House. As the legislators left, Thomas Corcoran, young presidential adviser who is widely credited with helping in the court program, went in to dine with the president.

Review Battle Plans

Two of the dozen senators who attended the conference tonight, Frazier (R-ND) and Nye (R-ND), already were opposed to the presidential idea, and they said after ward they had not changed their attitude.

For more than an hour and half the president went over battle plans with Vice President Garner and a half dozen senators backing his proposal.

Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, acted as spokesman when the group was questioned afterwards by reporters.

"It is believed the measure is progressing in a satisfactory way," he said.

"What do you mean by progress?" the bill hasn't moved yet," one newsman asked.

"No, but it will move," Robinson replied as he stepped into an automobile with Garner and departed.

No Talk of Compromise

Another senator, who did not wish to be quoted by name, said there had been no talk of compromise in the conference.

Asked if the president was inclining toward a revision of the plan, he said:

"That's all wrong."

Presidential aides gave no indication, in announcing the earlier democratic strategy conference, that any change in the administration's no-compromise attitude might be in the making.

On Capitol Hill, however, there had been increasing discussion of compromise during the day.

Two Instead Of Six?

Senator Van Nuys (Land), an opponent of the president's legislation to provide six new supreme court justices, said he was approached by an administration senator regarding a proposal to compromise on two new justices instead of six. He said he turned down the suggestion.

Earlier this week, Representative Celler of New York, ranking democrat on the house judiciary committee had discussed with Mr. Roosevelt. One member of the senate liberal bloc opposing the president also has said privately he would accept two-justice compromise.

Additional opposition to the proposed court reorganization came tonight from a member of the president's own party, Senator Copeland of New York.

The thirty-first senator to declare openly against the legislation, Copeland said in a formal statement that there was not the slightest excuse for it.

AUTO PLANTS HEAD FOR RECORD OUTPUT

DETROIT, Feb. 20 (AP)—Capital and labor in the motor car industry having for the time being at least decided to compose differences of opinion around the conference table, automobile factories are steadily heading for a record level of production.

Assembly lines of General Motors, completely halted by the more than six weeks of strikes, began moving again this week on a limited basis and immediately the week's output volume turned up toward approximately 89,000 passenger cars and trucks, compared with 74,145 last week. Next week barring unexpected developments the industry's total assemblies should near the 110,000-unit mark.

Recent buying support based on reports of dust storms in the southwestern region dried up when word of the moisture relief was received. Traders said there was no indication of the extent to which wheat might benefit.

PART OF 11TH STREET OPENED TO TRAFFIC

Two blocks on E. 11th street, between Funnels and Johnson, were opened to traffic Saturday evening.

All of the street is to be surfaced by the middle of the week and a seal coat placed before the end of the month.

'Hands Off' Is The Warning From Hoover

Proposal Greatest Constitutional Question In 70 Years, Says He

WANTS TO KNOW WHY ALL THE BIG HURRY

Independence Of Court Is Held As Safeguard Of Liberty

CHICAGO, Feb. 20 (AP)—Hoover tonight called for "hands off the supreme court."

Addressing the Union League club, the former president said President Roosevelt's court proposal has created the "greatest constitutional question in 70 years" and has placed the nation "face to face with the proposition that the supreme court shall be made subjective to the executive."

"Stripped to its bare bones," Mr. Hoover continued, "that is the heart of this proposal. And that reaches to the very center of human liberty. The ultimate safeguard of liberty is the independence of the judiciary."

What's the hurry?

The "real issue" in the supreme court question, Mr. Hoover said, "is whether the president by appointment of additional judges shall revise the constitution—or whether change in the constitution shall be submitted to the people as the constitution itself provides."

Declaring that the constitution provides "an open and above board method" by which social changes can be accomplished, the speaker asked:

"What is all the hurry in this? The nation is recovering from the depression. There is no emergency. Surely a year or two is no waste in the life of a great nation when its liberties are the stake of naught."

"If the historic liberalism cannot be maintained under the present provisions of the constitution, I shall be the first to support the president in amendment of it."

Above Partisanism

Mr. Hoover declared "It is a magnificent thing for the nation that the debate upon it (the supreme court proposal), has risen above partisanship."

Girl Is Slain At Cincinnati

Shot By Man Who Had Hidden In Rear Of Automobile

CINCINNATI, Feb. 20 (AP)—Beatrice A. Roth, 20, attractive daughter of a former real estate operator, was shot four times and killed tonight as she sat in a taxicab waiting her escort, Police Lieut. Walter Martin shortly afterwards announced the arrest of a suspect in a church in which he had sought refuge.

Lieut. Martin said police acted on a telephone tip from the church in west end, Price Hill.

Police later announced the suspect had confessed and that murder charges would be filed against him.

Miss Roth was shot by a man who apparently had concealed himself in the rear seat of the automobile of Maurer Heitz, 19, the girl's escort.

Had "Broken Off"

Earlier, Lieut. George Schattin of the police homicide squad announced his men were looking for a youth with whom, Schattin said, he was told, Miss Roth had "broken off" a companionship last week.

Heitz said they had just left her home. He placed her in the front seat of the car, parked nearby, and had just opened the left-hand door when, he told police, "a man who had been lying on the rear seat rose up and said 'Well, Buddy, I got it.'"

"I couldn't hear any more because the man started shooting," Heitz said. The man fled down a street. His hat was found in the car. Lieut. Schattin said, adding that it bore an initial "C" on the sweatband.

Miss Roth died of wounds in the back and abdomen 45 minutes after she was received at a hospital.

Film Drama From The Best-Selling Novel, 'Green Light', Offered Today At The Ritz

Errol Flynn, Anita Louise Have Leading Roles

A best-seller for two years, Lloyd C. Douglas' novel, "Green Light," has been translated to the screen in a stirring photoplay brought to life by a competent cast. The picture plays Sunday and Monday at the Ritz theatre.

Errol Flynn, whose first two pictures, "Captain Blood" and "Charge of the Light Brigade," proclaimed him as one of the greatest "finds" of the movies, adds stature to his dramatic reputation in the role of Newell Paige, the young surgeon who sacrifices his own professional integrity to cover the mistake of an older doctor. In shouldering the blame he incurs the hatred of Phyllis Dexter (played by Anita Louise) whose mother's death was caused by the fatal mistake.

To justify his life and to prove to Phyllis, whom he loves, that he is trying to make up for the tragic mistake she believes he has made, he goes to an obscure laboratory in the Rocky Mountains and risks his life trying to discover a vaccine that will prevent the dread spotted fever.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, who was knighted for his capable work on the British stage, is outstanding in the role of Dean Harcourt, the minister whose advice and philosophy shape the lives of the other characters.

Margaret Lindsay is given an important part as Frances Ogilvie, who loves the young doctor but has to give him up. Henry O'Neill appears as the older surgeon who is the cause of Flynn's martyrdom. Walter Abel appears as Page's friend and colleague.

"Green Light," directed by Frank Borzage, famous as the maker of "Seventh Heaven" and "Bad Girl," has been produced with care to preserve the moving theme of the popular book.

Case Diagnosed As 'Rabbit Fever'

PARIS, Feb. 20 (AP)—A physician here awaiting confirmation from Washington today before finally diagnosing an illness as tularemia or "rabbit fever."

A blood test by the physician and a Dallas specialist indicated the rare fever, but a sample was sent to Washington for a final check.

At the same time, another case resembling the one under test was being studied and was believed to be tularemia. Residents of this area have been warned to use rubber gloves in all contacts with rabbits, squirrels and other rodents.

The physician said the disease has a death rate of five per cent among humans and is usually fatal to rodents. It is transmitted from rodent to rodent and from rodent to man, but not from man to man, he explained.

The Dallas specialist reported that he had only encountered one case of tularemia in a lifetime of practice of related troubles.

PRINCIPALS IN FILM AT RITZ

Anita Louise, Errol Flynn and Margaret Lindsay, who have the featured roles in "Green Light," film adaptation of the Lloyd Douglas best-seller.

FOUR BIG-NAME STARS MERGE TALENTS IN PICTURE AT LYRIC

Harlow, Powell, Loy And Tracy Have Featured Parts In 'Libeled Lady'

A quartet of some of the biggest starring names in pictures provides the attraction of "Libeled Lady," first-rate comedy romance which is booked at the Lyric theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. Brought together in a film for the first time are Jean Harlow, William Powell, Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy.

Each has a featured role in a brisk comedy-drama dealing with a metropolitan newspaper which finds itself defendant in a libel suit brought by one of the world's richest girls on the grounds that she has been slandered. Into the scheme of things come the heiress (Miss Loy), the newspaper's managing editor (Tracy), the girl in love with him (Miss Harlow) and a clever gentleman of the drawing rooms who has achieved a unique reputation for his ability to quash just such libel suits.

They Fall In Love Powell is selected by the editor to "frame" Miss Loy, and Miss Harlow is persuaded into a marriage of convenience with him to assist in the paper's defense. Complications arise when Powell and Miss Loy fall in love, and it takes a lot of swift developments to straighten out the tangle.

Although "Libeled Lady" is the first time all four of these stars have been in the same film, they have been co-featured as teams in other successes. Miss Loy was with Powell in "The Thin Man," its popular sequel, and "The Great Ziegfeld." Powell and Miss Harlow were together in "Reckless." Miss Harlow and Spencer Tracy co-starred in "Riffraff."

The supporting cast of "Libeled Lady" includes Walter Connolly, Charles Grapewin, Cora Witherspoon, E. E. Clive, Lauri Beatty and Charles Trowbridge.

A. E. Holland Dies At Home

Young Business Man Succumbs Unexpectedly To Heart Ailment

Alton Earl Holland, 27, succumbed unexpectedly at his home, 500 Lancaster street, Saturday morning, victim of a heart involvement resulting from an influenza attack. Holland, an employee of the Maytag Big Spring company, became ill Friday a week ago, but returned to work the latter part of the week. He worked Friday, but complained of illness Friday night. Saturday morning, his wife left the house to go for medicine. She returned about 9:30 to find him dead in bed.

Holland was born January 21, 1910, at Fluvanna. He was married on September 1, 1934 to Miss Lettie Marie Harrold. Besides his wife, survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Holland, 905 West Fourth street; two brothers, Willis and Lovell Holland, and three sisters, Willie Marie, Elma and Avis Holland, all of Big Spring; the parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harrold of north of Big Spring; and several uncles, aunts and cousins.

The funeral service will be at the Eberly chapel at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, with Paul Edwards, Church of Christ minister who is here preaching for Forrest Waldrop, in charge.

Funeral home will be Carroll Eastman, H. L. Shiley, Carl Lockhart, Morris Sneed, Elton Harrold and F. R. Spaulding.

BURNET, Feb. 20 (AP)—J. T. Fluvy, 55, pioneer resident of Howard County, 10 miles west of here, was found dead today of gunshot wounds. Friends said he had been in poor health for several months.

Youth Admits Killing Wife

Refuses, However, To Give Officials A Motive For His Act

DENVER, Feb. 20 (AP)—Smiling, dapper Marion James Linden, 22, was held in the city jail tonight while police strove to learn why he shot his wife to death.

Mrs. Arlene Linden.

James E. Childers, detective captain, said Linden confessed the shooting readily, but steadfastly refused to disclose a motive.

Mrs. Linden, who Childers said was married to Linden last December 5, was found dying, a bullet through her heart, at the home of her stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cochran.

At a coroner's inquest today the girl's mother testified she overheard Linden pleading with her daughter not to file divorce proceedings.

Childers said Linden admitted he had "done time" in a Nebraska penitentiary on an Omaha conviction, but that he refused to tell what the charge was.

Linden returned here January 8, Childers related, with $900 he said he had earned in the Texas oil fields.

Bowman announced he would file a murder charge against Linden Monday.

BANKS, POSTOFFICE

CLOSED MONDAY FOR

WASHINGTON DAY

Birthday of George Washington, father of the country, will be celebrated here Monday by the closing of the city's two banks and the post office.

WPA, with the exception of a few projects making up lost time, will close shop for the day. Being a federal agency, the district headquarters will be closed all day Monday.

Programs will be built around the occasion in the schools and in several club meetings.

But to business in general, Washington's birthday will be just another Monday.

First Baptist Church Services To Go On KBST Each Sunday Evening; Weldon Stamps In New Song Program

Two new programs are announced by radio station KBST. The first is a daily program with Weldon Stamps, new staff announcer and musician, singing with his own guitar accompaniment. Stamps presents this program each week-day morning at 11:30.

The second program is the broadcast, each Sunday evening, of services from the First Baptist church. Arrangements for this regular weekly feature were announced by Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the church. This program will be inaugurated this evening, and Rev. P. D. O'Brien, Colorado Minister who is conducting a revival at the First church, will bring the message. The program is scheduled for 7:30.

Sunday morning services are broadcast regularly from the First Presbyterian church.

Mary Vance Kencaster, staff pianist, is featured in a quarter-hour piano program each afternoon at 3:30. The numbers are put on the air under the title "Sketches in Ivory."

An educational program presented as "Know Your Church" is presented by KBST each Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 11:45 a. m. to 12:15 p. m. Directed by Carl Young, the program is designed to develop a better understanding of local churches and their undertakings.

Various members of the churches appear on the broadcast, explaining the different departments of the church and their relationship. The talks are presented in addition to sacred music offered by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young and members of the various church choirs.

The Texas Wranglers, popular KBST entertainers, announce a new member of their organization. Red Pollard, formerly of KWEG, Hutchinson, Kas., brings his saxophone to the band. One of the original Oklahoma Ramblers, Red joins two of his former colleagues in Big Spring, Joe and "Happy" Norman having been with him in the Rambler organization.

FACTORY INSPECTION ON OLDSMOBILES IS OFFERED BY DEALER

Special free inspection by a factory service representative of any Oldsmobile car is offered this week by the Smiley Motor company, local Oldsmobile dealer.

The service will be maintained all week, from Monday through Saturday, and Oldsmobile owners are invited to have their cars brought in for a thorough check and test. There is no charge for the inspection. A skilled factory representative will give the car a road test and a thorough check-up.

SOIL CONSERVATION MEETING TO BE HELD AT AMARILLO MONDAY

AMARILLO, Feb. 20 (AP)—Representatives of six state and federal agencies will meet here Monday to discuss ways of making soil conservation efforts more efficient.

Purpose of the meeting is to merge the activities of the different federal and state agencies in the current agricultural, conservation and rehabilitation programs and to work toward a closer coordination with a view of obtaining the maximum results, said L.

Frederick M. Babcock, chief of FIA's underwriting section, said the greatest building activity ever recorded would be necessary to erect sufficient homes to supply the growing demand resulting from better times.

Garland A. Woodward returned Saturday evening from a business trip to Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio. He has been gone since Monday of last week.

Bride, 13, Proclaims Marriage A Success

CO-OPERATIVE HOUSEHOLD
William Ridd contributes to the smooth functioning of the household by helping a 13-year-old bride with the supper dishes.

VALLEJO, Calif., Feb. 20 (AP)—Florence Hill Ridd, a bride at 13, is already a success as a housekeeper. Her 22-year-old husband, William Ridd, is making good at his job, too. Ridd vouches for his wife. Ridd's employers, a lumber firm here, speak for him.

Florence, awaiting the arrival of her first baby next April, makes it unanimous. She says her marriage is a complete success.

Ridd met his bride when she was 12, through family connections.

"She Was Different"

"She didn't seem like only 13 years old to me," he explained. "Most girls seem so young at that age, but Florence was different."

Three days after her 13th birthday last September, Florence left her seventh grade class in an Alameda school, went to Carson City, Nevada, gave her age as 16 to both the marriage license bureau and the clergyman, and was married. Her mother and a sister-in-law accompanied the couple.

They Get Quins
Four days later the newly weds had some quins and told an operative of the juvenile court what they'd done.

"The lady said it was terrible but since we were already married she guessed there was nothing she could do about it," Florence said. "She said she wished she could have stopped us in time."

The Ridds, who have the blessings of both their parents, have lived quietly here for months without attracting special attention.

CO-OPERATION WITH STATE IS FEDERAL AIM IN CONSERVATION OF OIL, SECY. ICKES DECLARES

AUSTIN, Feb. 20 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes told Texas oil operators today the federal government's only interest in the industry was to cooperate with the state in conserving and help producers get every possible barrel and the best possible price.

His surprise visit and announcement of the federal bureau of mines estimated of March market demand of 1,256,600 barrels daily, 53,200 more than that for February, highlighted a state wide protest hearing by the railroad commission to receive evidence upon which to base March allowances.

Ickes said he was glad "to show the operators the man who, according to some people, tried to ruin the oil industry."

He reflected that oil had climbed in price from 10 cents per barrel in 1933 to $1.27 as late as last month, adding he believed the average price in the future would be even higher.

Concerning conservation the secretary said the federal government was intent only upon helping Texas enforce its own statutes. He asserted Texas had adequate statutes which were enforced to the best interest of the operators.

The state allowable for February at the start of the month, 1,329,378 barrels daily, increased by 35,716 in 19 days due to new wells and adjustments. There were 482 new wells completed.

Reporting that bottomhole pressure declined 5.85 pounds in the East Texas field last month, E. V. Cottingham, commission engineer, said the drop was not alarming and was consistent with good operating practice.

He said the present allowable was somewhat high.

Col. Ernest O. Thompson who presided in the absence of Chairman C. V. Terrell announced the commission would require purchasing companies that recently raised crude prices to file affidavits explaining "why gasoline prices were not coordinated with the purchase of crude."

West Texas operators, asserting there was a firm market demand, sought a 2,000 barrel allowable increase for the Empire field and 600 for the Means field. Panhandle district operators asked for 7,500 barrel increase.

T. H. Cullen Friday afternoon entered a plea of guilty in county court to a charge of selling beer without a permit and was fined $25 and costs by County Judge Charles Sullivan.

France Works Day And Night On Exposition

Race Against Time Starts To Assure Opening On May 1, Set Date

PARIS, Feb. 20 (AP)—With slightly more than two months remaining before the day assigned for the inauguration of the Paris exposition, officials have speeded up construction work. Night shifts began to operate on some parts of the exposition grounds, and 6,193 workers were called to jobs in the last week of January, an increase of 20 per cent over the total previously at work.

Throughout January newspapers carried news of the celebration surrounding the laying of the cornerstones of different buildings. Most of the 49 nations that will take part in the exposition have officiated at the ceremonies which mark the start of their pavilions. Among them are the German pavilion, which will be topped by a tall tower with a huge German Eagle and a massive swastika flag; the Palestine pavilion which will visualize the progress made by the Jewish "national home." Among others of a general nature will be the pavilions of decorative arts, hygiene, advertising, artistic ironwork, iron and bronze, Normandie, Brittany, rural France, of women, children and the family.

There have been few cornerstone layings this month, as most of the structures have been started. Work, however, has not yet started on the American pavilion, but the embassy reports that only final action from Washington is delaying the work. It was announced that the original appropriation of $50,000 for the pavilion had been increased to a sum four times larger. It was said that the building will be erected speedily once it is started. One of the main celebrations during the summer at the American pavilion will be an American historical pageant staged on July 4.

Already 49 nations have announced that they will take part in the exposition and will open the doors of their pavilion on the scheduled date, May 1. World powers figuratively will rub shoulders with small nations, new countries with old ones, as they display their distinctive contributions to the comfort and happiness of mankind.

Soviet Russia will be represented, also Vatican City, Italy, Great Britain, Nazi Germany, Norway, Brazil, federated Austria and Imperial Japan. Each will tell in its own way the story of what it is doing to bring about the conjunction of arts and crafts to raise the standards of civilization.

Thomas J. Watson and Frederick Sterling have been named commissioners general of the American section by President Roosevelt, while Pierre C. Cartier, of New York heads the American committee.

"There is a strong feeling in France," declared Cartier, "that this exposition will promote peace and good will among various nations participating, and it is because we desire the friendliest relations among the United States and France and other nations of the world that no effort will be spared to make this undertaking a success."

Preparations for the exposition are progressing satisfactorily, despite a number of strong press attacks against the possibility of finishing it in time.

The buildings will occupy a site of some 150 acres near the Trocadero Palace and along both banks of the Seine, where the exposition has a mile-long frontage. The exposition will form the "visual" and spiritual center of the exposition and several palaces will stand about it.

All rumors that the exposition would not be ready for the opening ceremonies on May 1 have been denied by officials. M. Labbe, commissioner general of the exposition said:

"We have invited the world to meet us in Paris on May 1. We have promised that the exposition will be inaugurated on that day. That promise will be kept. The number of workmen will be constantly increased."

Paris workmen, through the trade unions to which exposition workers belong, have held many meetings in the last few weeks to discuss how to speed up and increase efficiency. They called on the government to increase the shift so that more unemployed could be absorbed.

May 1 will be a nation-wide holiday, and in the streets of Paris a grandiose pageant-procession will be staged, entitled "France at Work." Thousands are expected to take part and march in the procession.

SAVINGS-LOAN UNIT GETS GOVT. FUNDS

First Federal Savings and Loan association Saturday announced receipt of $10,000 as another government contribution to the organization's treasury. The amount ran the total government funds in the association to $34,000. M. J. Stewart, secretary, said half the amount was already pledged to loans.

President, General Manager Says He Can Sit Down If Employees Can

DETROIT, Feb. 20 (AP)—Staging a one-man sit-down strike against sit-down strikers, Walter L. Fry, president, general manager, and chief salesman for the Fry Products company, held his position tonight that "if they won't work I won't, and unless I work and sell, they won't have any work to do."

"They" refers to the 142 women and eight men who went on a sit-down strike, called by the United Automobile Workers of America Friday afternoon.

Although no official demands have been presented to President Fry thus far, it is understood the workers want more wages, and shorter hours.

But Fry says: "We pay the high-

Lectureship Week Opens

Record Attendance Expected At Annual Affair Of Abilene School

ABILENE, Feb. 20—Record attendance is expected at the twenty annual Bible lectureship of Abilene Christian college, which opens Sunday, February 21, with speakers from five states and three continents delivering thirteen principal lectures and taking part in other phases of the five-day event.

Invitations have been sent to this community and to every part of the state, unless I'm ejected from my own plant," he said.

Persons in Alabama, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Ohio, California and other states have said they would attend the event.

Principal lectures will be delivered each morning at 11 and at 3 and 7.30 on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. C. A. Norred, minister of the College Church of Christ, Abilene, and Homer Hailey and R. C. Bell, Abilene ministers, will open the series Sunday morning and evening, and Monday morning, speaking on the subjects "The Perfected Church," "How the Church Went in the First Century," and "The Urgency for the Church to Go Today."

Guest lecturers from Tennessee, Arkansas, California and the missions of Africa, China and Japan will speak on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

College departments will furnish programs of entertainment including a one-act play on Wednesday evening; a hymn program by the college chorus on Thursday night; and musical numbers preceding the afternoon lectures.

'Parade Of Progress' Exposition To Be In City March 2-3

Merchants To Hold Meeting Monday Night

Plans For Free Exhibition Will Be Discussed At C-C Conference

Cooperation to be given by merchants and business houses of Big Spring to the Parade of Progress exposition, "the mobile world's fair," which is being brought here, will be discussed at a meeting of business men called by the chamber of commerce for 7:30 Monday evening on the mezzanine of the Settles hotel.

The meeting was arranged by W. T. Strange, Jr., manager of the chamber of commerce, and is expected to attract a large gathering of citizens. Everyone is invited to attend. Larry Corcoran, special advance representative of the exposition who has been here for several days, will be at the meeting to explain the Parade of Progress. Moving pictures of the exposition will be shown to illustrate his talk.

$1,000,000 Show
The Parade of Progress, representing an investment of more than $1,000,000, will be in Big Spring on March 2 and 3. Arrangements were completed Saturday to have the exhibit located at the showgrounds on West Third street.

Corcoran said the gigantic exposition was designed "with the idea of attracting thousands from this section to see the marvels of science and research." With "proper cooperation from all," he promised "two of the biggest days in Big Spring's history."

The exposition, while sponsored by General Motors corporation, is non-commercial in every way, Corcoran said. It was developed by Charles F. Kettering, scientist, and vice president in charge of research of General Motors whose many inventions are in use throughout the world.

The self starter, cash register and other inventions are among some of Mr. Kettering's achievements. Mr. Kettering says that "there are too many musicians and not enough composers," meaning that "there is a definite lacking of scientific inventive minds and too many mechanics."

Today's Opportunity
He believes that America, particularly young America, should realize that the land of opportunity is more accessible in this day and age than in the days of yore; that the mechanized world has far more means of accomplishing outstanding achievements because of the many added instruments, implements and theories.

"It is my hope that the spark will be set in some brain that will ignite a new brilliant inventive genius, thus creating work for labor and capital, not alone give to America a new commodity unknown heretofore," Mr. Kettering asserts.

The Parade of Progress Exposition comes here in 40 specially constructed trucks and manned by 60 men. Some of the trucks are set side by side and their sides fold up to form roofs, inner panels come down to form floors and a series of exhibit halls result.

March Of Progress
These halls portray the march of time and the progress of industry in that time. A living room of pioneer days is compared with a living room of today.

WE refer to the confidence and mutually helpful business relations this bank enjoys among its neighbors in this Community and to the various correspondent relationships and association affiliations with other banks.

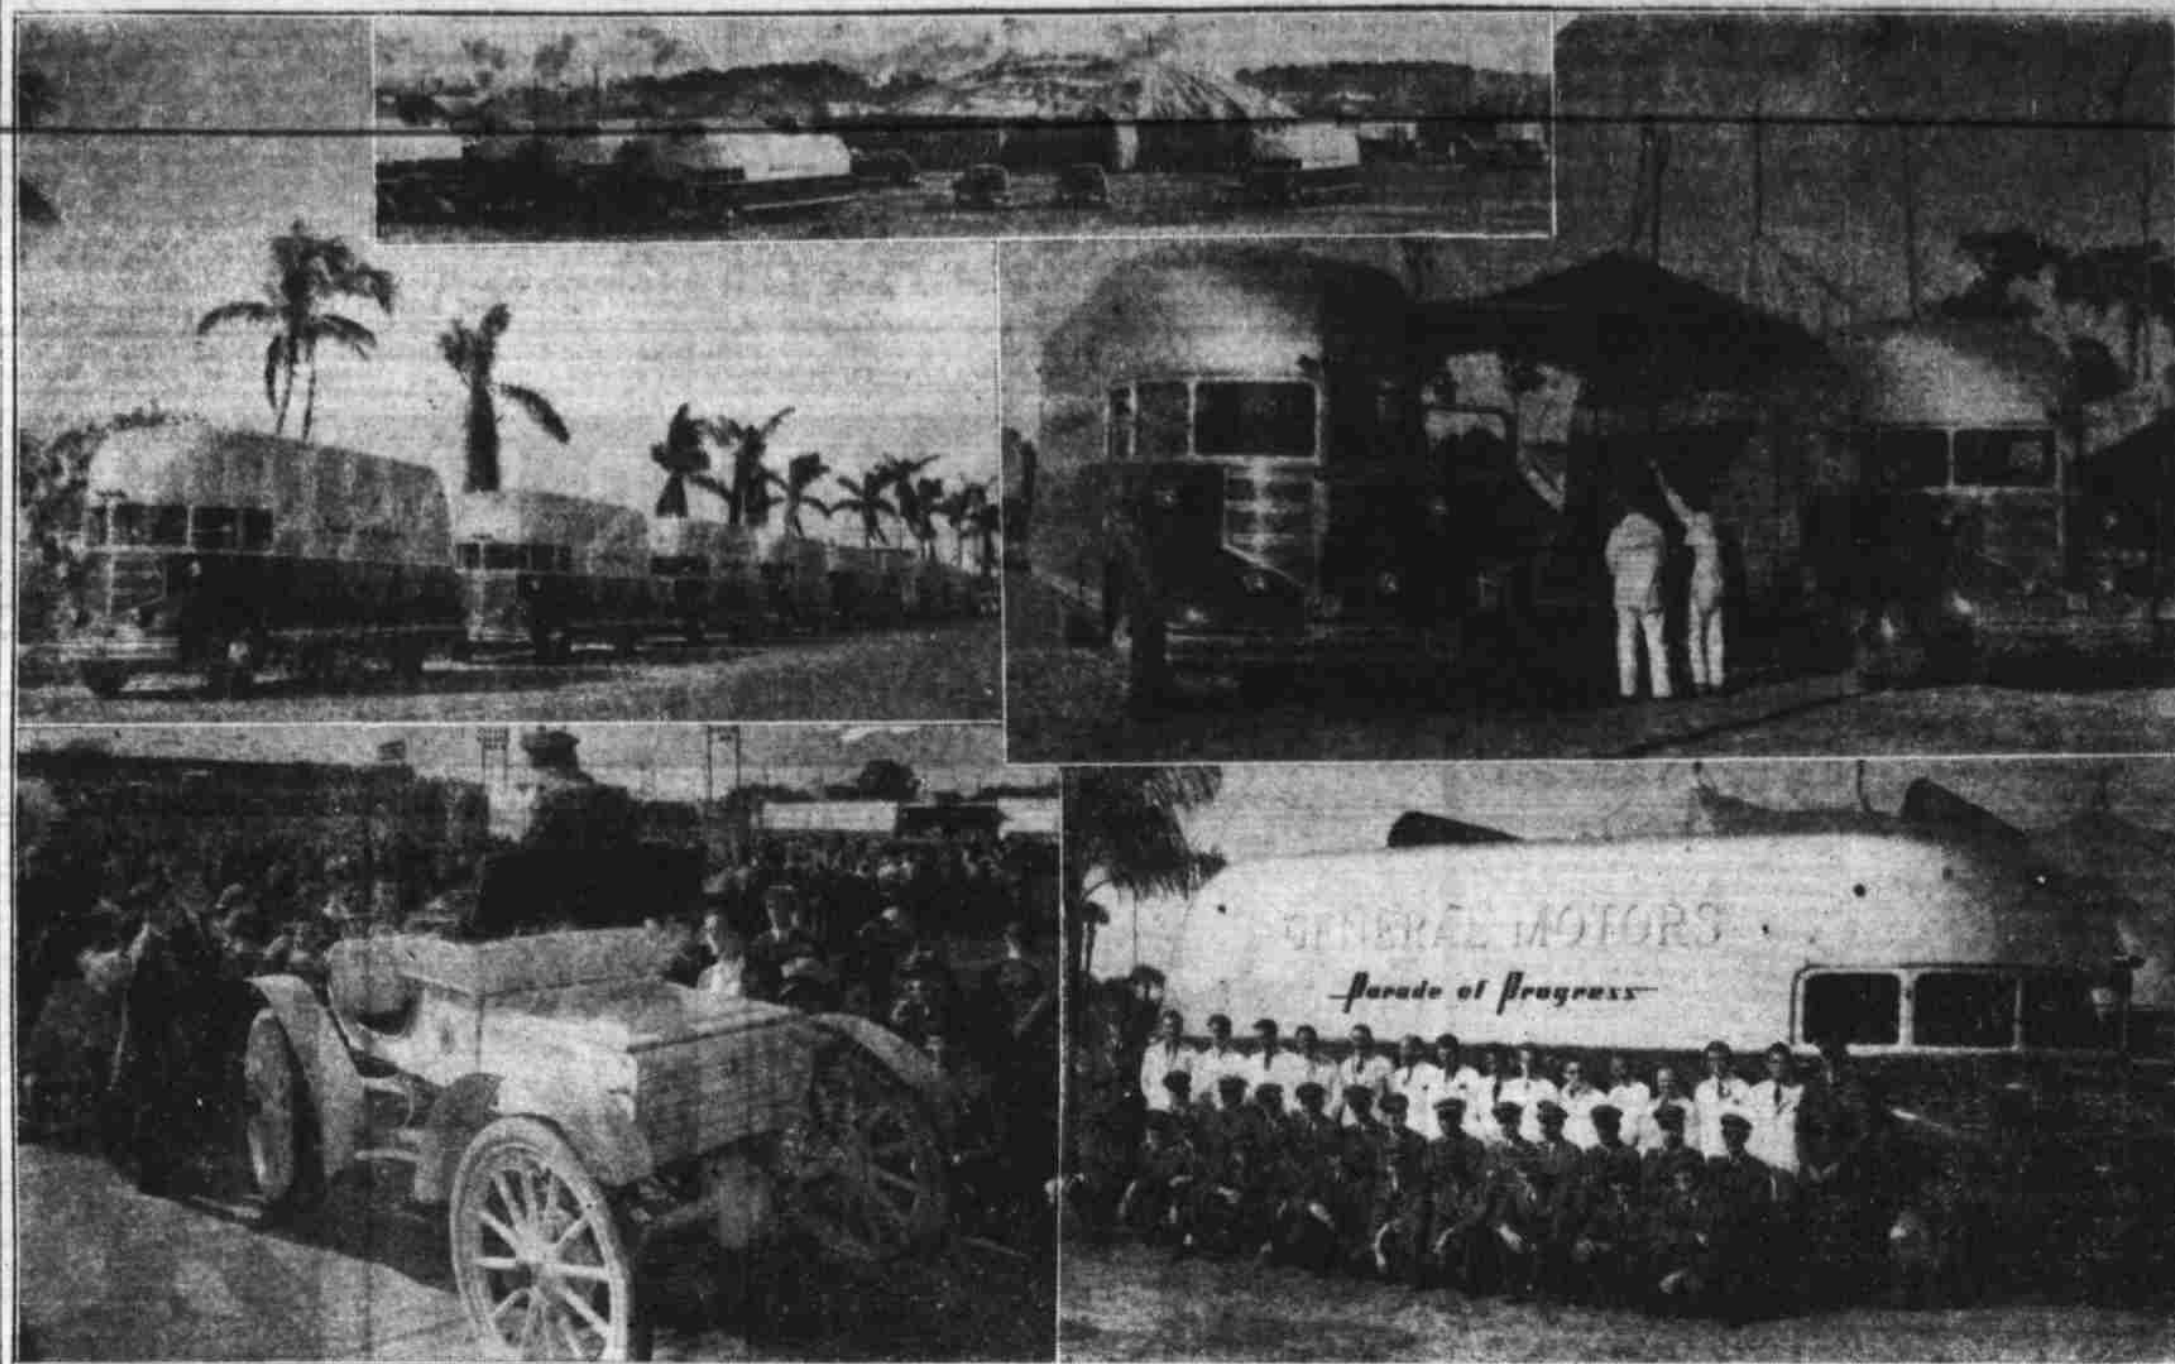

These inter-bank friendships are typical of the American banking system. They help weld it into a sturdy, compact structure in which the strength of all adds to the strength of each. They augment the facilities of the individual bank to render broad all-around services to its own customers.

In our next advertisement we shall discuss further our State and National inter-bank relationships.

Research Centers On Made-To-Measure Medicine Possibilities

New Weapons Found In War On Disease

Research Centers On Made-To-Measure Medicine Possibilities

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20 (UP) — "Made to measure medicine" method of fighting disease, as revolutionary as discovery of antibiotics, is believed possible since the success of the drug penicillin.

"Just as penicillin aids in septic sore throat, so new drugs might be built to fit all sorts of bacterial diseases just as a tailor fits clothes to a person," Dr. E. C. Czarnecki explained. "But first we must find out just how penicillin works."

Penicillin was used to aid Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., when he suffered from a streptococcal sore throat. It is considered effective in some cases of erysipelas, scarlet fever, childbed fever, blood poisoning and certain types of pneumonia, medical men say.

Conduct University Research
Dr. Czarnecki and Dr. Sargant Pepper, research scientists at the University of Pennsylvania medical school, explained the "tailor-made drug" theory.

"We know that in some mysterious way penicillin poisons the bacteria by joining chemically with them," Dr. Czarnecki continued. "With slight changes in the chemical formula of penicillin, we can probably make in the laboratory chemical combinations similar to penicillin which will fit the 'Achilles heel' of other forms of bacteria—those causing meningitis, for example."

When a physician talks about a "specific" drug, he means a medicine which will kill the microbes causing disease without injuring the human body. Only three specifics are known: quinine, which kills the animal parasites causing malaria; arphenamine, or "606," which kills the spirochetes of syphilis; and now penicillin, which destroys streptococcal bacteria.

Hospitals Are Cooperating
Dr. Pepper revealed to the United Press the results of experiments with penicillin among patients of University hospital and other co-operating Philadelphia hospitals. The results are among the first to be made public in the United States.

"Penicillin in its present form is no cure-all for streptococcal diseases," he said, "but we have found a number of cases where it seemed to be clearly helpful. Apparently it must be used early to be most effective. And I am also convinced that it is harmless if properly used, although it sometimes produces temporary nausea."

Curiously, Dr. Pepper said, one patient will respond readily, while another with the same disease shows no improvement. He and Dr. Czarnecki are planning experiments with rabbits to find out whether the difference is due to the various strains of streptococcal bacteria.

Penicillin is a reddish-brown liquid, something like tincture of iodine. In pill form it leaves a slightly bitter taste in the mouth.

AT THE CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

(Room 1, Settles Hotel)
"Mind" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, February 21.

The Golden Text is: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding" (Proverbs 3:5).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord" (Deuteronomy 6:4).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We can have but one Mind, if that one is indefinite, when we admit that, although God is infinite, evil has a place in this infinity, for evil can have no place, where all space is filled with God" (page 469).

transmitted on a light beam from one end of the stage to the other. A liquid cold light is developed which promises to be a coming commodity.

"The whole stage show is a maze of fascinating demonstrations of past performance and future possibilities of our nation. The visitor comes from the tent realizing that the surface is but scratched, that we have but started on the way towards the ultimate," Corcoran continued.

In the midway may be found the first car to ever cross the country under its own power and whose sister car is in Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D. C., a small gasoline engine which is running at times with the gasoline of yesterday and at other times with the gasoline of today, showing the difference in performance and the progress of the oil industry in the past decade.

The exposition has been on the road for approximately one year, showing in more than 50 cities along the Atlantic seaboard.

It is now on its way to California where it will remain for a year. It has been acclaimed by educators, industrialists, civic leaders and governmental officials. "It is free to all with no subscriptions asked of any one, either those attending or those sponsoring the movement," Corcoran concluded.

'Sit-Down' Strike At White House Is Broken By Police

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP) — Park police broke up an American Youth Congress "sit-down" strike at the White House today by arresting two leaders and "shooting" away 2,500 others.

William Hickley, 25, and Abbott Simon, 21, of New York, were released on $25 bond for appearance in police court next Tuesday when the charge against them was changed from violating the parade permit to disorderly conduct.

The permit authorized a "moving parade" through downtown streets past the White House in behalf of a bill pending in congress providing $500,000,000 for work and schooling for young people.

Simon, the organization's national legislative counsel, said he and Hickley, national chairman, sat down to await the arrival of a covered wagon bringing up the rear of the parade with petitions to be presented to President Roosevelt.

They were joined by about 500 other marchers in South Executive avenue, which swings back of the White House. The youths chanted "pass the American youth act" and declared they would "sit in the middle of the street" until the president saw them all.

PRESSURE LOWER, FLOW OF GAS IN TEST CONTINUING

Great West Development Indicates Little Except Hole Running High Structural; Test For Helium Content

Antics of the wildcat Westbrook and Graham No. 1 Great West four miles east of here, and the completion of two wells in the area furnished conversation for oil in the area here this week.

The Great West test, located in the northwest quarter of section 48-32-1N, T&P, encountered a small air pocket a week ago, moved cautiously ahead and had tools blown back up the hole Monday for 150 feet. The difficulty was overcome, but when drillers touched 1,400 feet in anhydrite Wednesday morning, up came a stream of nitrogen gas of sufficient force to lodge tools 100 feet up the hole and create a rear available in Big Spring for two days.

99.3 Per. Nitrogen

Several hours after the flow started, it was gauged at 253 million cubic feet a day. Four hours later it had dropped to 258 million. Friday shortly after noon it was again gauged at 174,298,006 cubic feet per day. An analysis of the gas by a Fort Worth laboratory showed it to be 99.5 per cent nitrogen, 4 per cent oxygen, and 1 per cent carbon dioxide. Because strong nitrogen content is found wherever there is helium, samples were sent to the government helium plant at Amarillo. Supply of nitrogen, however, does not mean presence of helium, it was pointed out.

In the southeast quarter of section 35, a mile and a half north, a similar pocket was struck several years ago at 1,090 feet. It was reported below 2,000 feet.

Scoury Co. Test

Scoury county's test of current interest, the Bristow No. 1 W. H. Sterling, in the northeast corner of the northeast 1-4 of the southeast 1-4 of section 122, block 97, H&TC, was drilling past 300 feet Friday. Obie Bristow, Big Spring oilman, is drilling the test. In the northeast 1-4 of the southwest 1-4 of section 148, 97 H&TC, the Hinesman, et al., No. 1 J. H. Henderson is to be spudded within two weeks. E. F. Robbins, Big Spring oilman, has acreage between the two locations.

Two tests in the Howard-Glasscock area were running Friday, preparatory to testing. Ward Oil Corp., No. 6 Roberts, section 37-29, W&NW, was running three-inch tubing at 2,339 feet while Gulf No. 5 Chalk, section 125-26, W&NW, was running two-inch tubing at 3,167 feet. Merrick and Bristow No. 8 Hooks, section 140-26, W&NW, was on pump at 3,250 feet in line. Its No. 2 Hooks, in the same section, was drilling ahead at 3,015 feet. Pure Oil No. 1 Chalk, section 125-29, W&NW was at 2,583 feet.

Shallow Tests

Three of Continental's shallow sand tests were making headway while one was awaiting tools before spudding. No. 22-S Settler was in sand at 1,245 feet. No. 22-S Settler was at 1,245 feet in sand, and No. 24-S Settler was at 821 feet in shale. No. 25-S Settler was waiting on tools. All are in section 129-29, W&NW. Continental No. 1-C Chalk section 124-24, W&NW, was drilling in line at 2,048 feet while Continental No. 2-D Chalk, same section, was at 1,757 feet, preparing to test. It had pay from 1,720-37 feet.

Fleethorn No. 1 Blackarrow, wildcat test in section 12-34-34, T&P, was reported running easily to 1,895 feet to shut off flow of water from 1,775 to 1,800. Shell No. 1 McDowell, section 39-34-24, T&P, other Glasscock county wildcat, was reported below 2,800 feet with a slight amount of water from 2,725-30 feet.

Shackelford Tests Drilling Toward The King Pay Sand

Abilene, Feb. 20—Four new northwestern Shackelford county tests were drilling this week seeking King sand pay as a follow-up to the Owens-Snebold Oil corporation No. 1 D. A. Ivy pool opener, seven miles northeast of Lueders, which flowed 25 barrels per hour on a short gauge.

A new wildcat test for that area, about two and a half miles northwest of the discovery well, was spudded by Frank A. Oyster and associates of Abilene on the J. E. Swenson ranch in the center of a 1,000-acre block.

It is located 717 feet from the east and 601 feet from the south lines of the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 14, AB&M survey. Hensley Drilling company has the contract.

Three offsets to the Ivy pool opener were spudded. The Iron Mountain Oil company No. 1 D. A. Ivy was drilling past 600 feet on a north offset, located in the southeast corner of the north half of the southwest quarter of section 159, BB&C survey.

Danciger Oil & Refineries No. 1 J. E. McGowan, a west offset, is 220 feet from the north and east lines of the south half of the southeast quarter of section 159, BB&C survey.

Ungrun & Frazier No. 1 J. F. McGowan, a diagonal northwest offset, is 220 feet from the south and east lines of the north half of the southeast quarter of section 153, BB&C survey.

Plans Completed For Oil Refining
Plant At Post

Arrangements were completed last week for the erection of a small refinery at Post by T. E. Patton, Mineral Wells, to handle production from the pool south of that place.

Site was secured in the southeast part of Post and the Santa Fe railroad is building a spur to the grounds. Completion is slated within six weeks and installation cost

Wildcat Test Is Spudded In Pecos County

Locations Staked For Other Tests In Loving,
Ward Sections

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 20—Spudding of a Pecos county wildcat offsetting a small short-lived producer and the staking of locations for tests near lone wells in Loving and Ward counties and for a scheduled Ordovician wildcat in Crockett county attracted most attention in West Texas this week.

Onondago Corp. No. 1 Fromme, northeast of the Masterson pool in Pecos county and in the south quarter of section 110-10-H&GN, struck oil from 1,550-55 feet and late in the week was rigging up a control head, bottomed at 1,555, with 950 feet of oil in the hole.

Completions numbered 50 in 10 counties and locations 45 in 11 counties compared with 49 completions and 56 locations the week before. Failures this week included a wildcat each in Andrews, Edwards and Pecos counties.

Near Abandoned Well

Spindoc Oil Co. and Downey spudded a Pecos county wildcat on the White & Baker ranch in the southeast corner of section 5-20-7-TCR, half mile north of Gulf No. 3 White & Baker, which in December, 1934, initially flowed 20 barrels of oil daily from 1,828 feet, three feet in the line, but declined and was plugged last year. The area is six miles east of the Taylor-Link pool and 10 miles west of the Yates field.

Carlson & Irwin No. 1 Iowa Realty Trust, Pecos county wildcat in the west quarter of section 72-10-H&GN&E, and the Pecos Valley & Masterson pools, pumped only five barrels of oil, and was abandoned at 1,829 feet.

Humble spudded No. 1 J. H. Tipsett two miles north and slightly west of the Hobbs-Tippett pool, 6,217 feet from the south line and 330 feet from the west line of section 538, T1&M survey.

In Loving County

Mason Oil company staked a location for No. 3 Minnie Kyle, 680 feet west of its No. 1 Kyle, opener of loving county's second Delaware lime pool, which headed 290 barrels daily while cleaning out after a shot, bottomed at 3,903 feet. No. 3 Kyle will be 2,310 feet from the north and west lines of section 20-53-1-T&P. Stanolind is scheduled to drill a south offset to the discovery, which is not to be tubed until it obtains a pipe line outlet.

L. F. White of Michigan, A. R. Eppenaer of Fort Worth and W. B. McDowell of Pecos staked a location in western Ward county for No. 1 Rector-Monroe, in the east corner of section 3-1-W&NW. In the opposite corner of the section Shipley, Eyrd & Harmon No. 1 Monroe has been flowing 25 barrels of oil daily for 5 1/2 years, bottomed at 4,695 feet, but tests that have been drilled around it have been dry. The operators secured from Pat Hill of Pecos leases on 2,640 feet checker-boarded over the west part of his block of around 5,280 acres.

Shut down since early January, Gulf No. 2 Waddell in the Tule area in western Crane county yielded 25 barrels of 34.5 gravity oil in 12 hours, pumping off, for completion at a plugged back depth of 6,186 feet. The oil is from the Simpson, middle Ordovician, topped at 6,003 feet, 3,264 feet below sea level. Only water was struck in the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician. Gulf No. 2 Waddell is in the southwest quarter of section 18-32-1-pal, 1 1/4 miles northeast of Gulf No. 1 Waddell, which was completed in the Simpson for 75 barrels on the pump as the first Ordovician producer in the West Texas Permian Basin outside the Big Lake field in Reagan county.

Slight Strewing

Clark, Cooper and others No. 1 Jordan, Crane county wildcat in the northeast quarter of section 12-32-2-pal, had another slight showing of oil from 3,580 to 3,600. Drilling daylight, it swabbed three barrels of oil after overnight shut-downs in drilling to 3,710 feet in line. The test is five miles northwest of the Waddell pool in Crane county and 3 1/2 miles south of the Penn field in Ector county.

Gulf No. 11 Goldsmith, which recently marked a three-eighths mile south extension to the Goldsmith pool in Ector county, was completed at 15,000.

Production from the field at the present time is around 900 barrels (estimated), the plant capacity.

Two miles south, two tests were going forward. Grisham and Hunter No. 1 Post estate, section 6-5, K. Aycock survey, was below 1,100 feet after overcoming trouble with a bad hole. The S. "Blackie" Caprio No. 1 Post estate, section 12-50, K. Aycock survey, was below 120 feet after spudding. Two miles west and slightly north of production in the area.

Test Showing Of Wildcat In Jones County

Oil Encountered In Location Five Miles From Hawley Field

ABILENE, Feb. 20—A showing of oil in the Ungrun & Frazier No. 1 J. J. Steele, Jones county wildcat test about five miles northeast of the Hawley field, was being tested this week-end as a highlight of activity which included spudding of one new wildcat and location for two north outposts of the Hawley field.

The Ungrun & Frazier No. 1 Steele, in the northwest corner of the south half of the southeast quarter of section 11-15-T&P survey, topped an undetermined amount of oil in line at 2,230 and drilled three feet before shutting down to underground six-inch casing to that depth.

It is on a block formerly owned by F. E. Shalheen of Abilene, in the center of 960 acres split. Nearest production is the Hawley field.

N. H. Martin & Son, Wichita Falls independents, were rigging up for a mile north outpost to the Hawley field this week-end on the Nettie H. Hayden tract, 200 feet from the south and west lines of lot 2, J. E. Cockrell subdivision of Gabriel Marlines survey No. 195. It is slated to drill 2,400 feet.

North Extension

Owens-Snebold Oil corporation, Danciger and Fortex No. 5 Henry Dorsey estate was being rigged for a 300-foot north extension attempt to the field, following completion of the No. 4 Dorsey. The No. 3 is 200 feet from the west and 150 feet from the south lines of section 19, Manuel Bueno survey No. 196.

The No. 4 Dorsey, only 150 feet from an abandoned hole drilled by the same operators, flowed 717 barrels in 24 hours through 3-4 inch choke after acidization in Lower Hope line from 2,222 feet to 2,226 1/2 feet. It is in the north half of section 20, Bueno survey No. 195.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 4-B Bertha King was rigging up in the center of the field, 200 feet from the north and 1,000 feet from the east line of section 7, Bueno survey No. 197.

Other completions in the field included: N. H. Martin & Son No. 4-D Dorsey, in section 5, Bueno 197, flowing 1,474 barrels in 24 hours from Lower Hope sand at 2,194 to 2,207 feet.

Gaines Test Is Abandoned

Stanolind No. 1 Morrow Shows Little Oil At ter A Shot

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 20—Stanolind No. 1 Morrow, near the west and slightly north of Lueders and slightly north of Lueders, first oil producer, and in the south-west quarter of section 30-A24-pal, showed little oil as a result of a shot this week that followed plugging back from 4,856 to 4,713 feet and was ordered abandoned.

Ameras No. 1 Robbins, one mile south of Landreth No. 1 Kirk and in the northwest corner of section 9-A22-pal, swabbed 16 barrels of water and only five barrels of oil in cleaning out following a shot and prepared to acidize at a plugged back depth of 4,895 feet.

Yokum-Pacific No. 1 Bennett Yokum county's second oil well, located a quarter mile northwest of the discovery, deepened five feet to 5,341 feet without apparent increase and was waiting. It had been shut down since late in January when it flowed 570 barrels of oil with an estimated one million cubic feet of gas in 24 hours after treating with 5,000 gallons of acid. The well is 660 feet from the north line and 1,890 feet from the west line of section 678-L John H. Gibson.

Test Deepened

In the Gular area, testing for a mile north extension to the new pool, operators had shut down operations on the E. P. Campbell and John L. Reeves No. 1-C-A. Reeves after engine trouble as the test was being swabbed. It had been acidized with 2,000 gallons in soft lime showing saturation at 2,185 to 2,225 feet. It is in lot 9, G. Martines survey No. 194.

The first inside test for the pool to fail in the regular producing zone was being deepened this week-end for a test of the Lower Hope horizon. The Ungrun & Frazier and Farris & Fikes No. 4 Gular trust estate, west offset to the discovery well, had drilled past 2,130 feet, after obtaining only about a 20-barrel estimate in Cook sand at 1,996 feet. It is in the northeast corner of the south half of the northwest quarter of section 44-15-T&P survey.

Three wildcat tests were abandoned. They are the Gist & Graddy No. 1 G. C. Ranson, a mile south of the Gular pool, which drilled only to 1,785 feet in line and is being plugged. It is in the H. M. Clifton survey.

Lewis Production company No. 1 Henry Bayles, testing for another

Oil Price Inquiry To Start At Once

AUSTIN, Feb. 20—Testimony on the comparative worth of West Texas petroleum, by geologists, chemists and engineers, will be taken at once, Chmn. Penrose B. Metcalf, of the joint legislative committee to investigate asserted price discrimination against West Texas and Northwest Texas oil, announced here.

The committee will begin work next week. After establishing proof of the gravity and quality of West Texas oil, it will study market figures showing actual posted sales prices, comparisons with similar oil from all other sections.

Members of the committee are Metcalf, Alfred Petrich and John J. Bell, house authors of the resolution, and Senators E. M. Davis of Brownwood and R. A. Weiner of Seguin.

THE SPORTS CIRCUIT

Lubbock To Go
After Westex
Tourney in '38

By Tom Bensley

THE LUBBOCK country club one of the bidders for the West Texas Golf Association tournament, will not make a bid for the event until next year. Charles Akey tells us. Charles leaves for Lubbock next week to take over duties as Lubbock country club pro, and he believes that by next year his course will be in fine condition for the tourney. Brownwood is a clinch to get the tournament this spring, Akey said. He believes it will be a race between Fort Worth and Lubbock in 1938.

Akey is to take a large number of crack linkmen from the plus area this spring to the association tourney.

Harold Akey, who will have charge of the Muni course here, will arrive from Fort Worth about Wednesday, or Thursday of this week. Charles, however, will be here until next Sunday.

HARVEY MUNN, Lorraine baseball fan, is expected to assist in getting a park here for the Dallas parlies who will take the Big Spring franchise in the W. T. circuit.

WALTER MORRIS, one of the owners of the Dallas Steers, may have some special interest in Big Spring, inasmuch as he's sending Dallas representatives out here to make arrangements for a Big Spring entry in the West Texas League.

OBIE BRINTOW says the state senator who is making such a kick about the University of Texas paying Dana Eible a $15,000 salary as coach, should pay down. He's not kidding about the high salaries paid senators for doing practically nothing.

ED HENNING, football coach at Sweetwater high school for the past six years, will be missed when the next grid season arrives. Henning will be head coach at Tyler. Disputes Saturday night quoted Ed as saying he would not be ready to name an assistant for several days, but in all probability he'll take Laurence Priddy with him. He thinks a great deal of Priddy, whom he coached in high school and junior college. Henning has been in the coaching business for a long time.

Nov Sweetwater will probably go after Sam Baugh, who played for ED in high school.

BEN DANIEL, coach of the junior basketball teams at the high school, Saturday announced the following letters:

DEVILS: Marvin House, Bobbie Savage, Thomas South, Jack Oliver, D. McGuire, Euster Chaney, Odell Womack.

CALVES: Bobbie Martin, Jack Rice, Griffith, Bobbie Savage, Marvin House, D. McGuire, Charles Reid, Stewart Merrick, Johnnie Miller and C. E. South. (Ben had a number of switch players—they lettered on both teams.)

Bon starts spring football and football practice Monday. His junior footballers play a game at Snyder March 5.

MUSTANGS DEFEAT CRIPPLED TEXAS TEAM, 24 TO 19

SMU ADVANCES A STEP NEARER THE S'WEST CAGE CHAMPIONSHIP

Victors Have Trouble Locating Basket
In First Period But Take Big Lead In Second

AUSTIN, Feb. 20 (AP)—The Southern Methodist University cage team tonight advanced another step toward the Southwest Conference championship, defeating a crippled University of Texas team 24 to 19.

The embattled Longhorns put up a splendid fight without the services of their captain and center, Jack Collins, and were forced to use the weakened Baxter, just out of the hospital from a severe spell of influenza, when Chovanec, substitute center, went out of the game after a bad spill.

The Mustang offense, featuring Norton and Dewell, clicked after the opening of the second half. The Mustangs ran a one-point lead up 10 minutes while holding the Steers to a single field goal.

The Texas quint led by one or two-point margins up to the final moments of the first half and rallied in a vain effort to overturn the Mustangs in the final. The Steers came within three points of overhauling the smooth-functioning Dallas team.

The Mustangs had trouble locating the basket in the first period but dropped them in from all angles in the second. While they were forging ahead after the first half, they forced the Steers to shoot almost from midcourt. Sprague distinguished himself with top-notch guarding.

Baxter, who played but a few minutes of the game, and Tate, Longhorn forwards, led the lanky Roach consistently for scoring, besides looping a few of their own. The Mustangs need to win but one of their remaining games to clinch the Southwest conference championship.

WIND UP UNDEFEATED
ARILENE, Feb. 20 (AP)—Guards Lawrence Clark and Conway Butler did some fancy shooting and their tall comrades from West Texas State college threw up a stout defense tonight to give Hardin-Simmons' perfect season record a close call. The Cowboys forged ahead early in the second half, however, and strolled through the last ten minutes to win by 23 to 21.

The victory, fifteenth straight for the Cowboys, ended their schedule, but additional games may be arranged, and they intend to compete in the National A. A. U. tourney in Denver next month. Butler led scoring with ten points, one more than Carol Benson, leader for the Cowboys.

2nd Victory
Rice Series

Owls Contribute Leading Scorer But Lose To Arkansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 20 (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks trampled the Rice Owls, 52 to 34, in a Southwest Conference basketball game here tonight—their second straight victory in the series.

The game was as rough as last night's, but the score and honors were more evenly divided.

Orr, center for the Owls, led the scorers with 18 points, although he fouled out in the second half. Elwin Gilliland and Don "Deadpan" Lockard, Razorback forwards, were runners-up with 14 points apiece.

The Owls gained the edge on the Porkers at the start, scoring six points before the Arkansas boys could get their shots going. The game was a nip-and-tuck affair during the first half, with the Razorbacks holding the advantage, 25 to 18, at the half-time whistle.

The Porkers' shots were more accurate at the start of the second half and Arkansas quickly increased its lead by 16 points. With the Rice defense letting down and the Porkers' guarding improving, the Razorbacks were able to dribble the ball to their own goal almost at will.

A number of fouls were committed, with Orr, Seale, Lockard and Mason leaving the game for this reason.

Outstanding players were: Kildworth, Orr and Campbell for Rice and Gilliland, Lockard and Benton for Arkansas.

ANDERSON TO U. OF MICHIGAN
ANY ARIZONA, Feb. 20 (AP)—Hearty W. (Hunk) Anderson, who helped Knute Rockne mold a crushing football machine at Notre Dame a decade ago, joined the University of Michigan staff as line coach tonight.

"Good line play is good line play in any system or in any ball Michigan athletic director, "and Anderson said. "Flicking H. Rockne, Hunk Anderson has the reputation of being one of the best line coaches."

Anderson was recently let out as head football coach at North Carolina State College after a losing season.

Texas Tech Hoopsters
Trough Arizona State

LUBBOCK, Feb. 20 (AP)—Racing away in the last half after the invaders threatened with five field goals in a row, the Texas Tech hoopsters trounced Arizona State of Tempe, 45 to 24 in a rough game here tonight to sweep the two-game border conference series.

Tech held a 15-9 advantage at the half, both clubs having played sluggishly and passing erratically for many interceptions. Hugh Snodgrass, dribbling, crisp-shooting Tech forward, shot 15 points for individual honors. The Tech team counted 14 free shots in 20 tries. Melvin Owens of Tempe and Leroy Crews and Elmer Tarbox of Tech used up their personal foul rights as a total of 32 personal fouls were called.

Tech plays University of Arizona here Monday and Tuesday night to wind up the local season.

MODERN ANNIE OAKLEY
COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 20 (AP)—A modern Annie Oakley, totin' a target pistol, outshot all male competitors today to win a place on the University of Missouri pistol team.

Ruth Vieck, Wahoo, Neb., punched the bullets for 238 points of a possible 300 in eliminations. High score among the males was 266.

Rosemont, The Favorite, Cops Santone Handicap At Santa Anita Park

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20 (AP)—Rosemont, the favorite, won the $7500 added Santa Anita handicap at Santa Anita park today over a field of candidates for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

Star Shadow surprisingly finished second and Special Agent was third in the 16-horse field. Rosemont ran the mile and one-eighth in 1:50 1-5, paying $14.40, $8.00 and $5.30. Star Shadow paid $30.50 and $8.00 and Special Agent $3.40.

The highly regarded Indian Broom and Sea Biscuit ran out of the money.

SNYDER, Feb. 20—Hamlin's Pied Pipers came from behind in the fourth quarter here Saturday night to defeat Brady Nix's Forsan Buffaloes, 26-23, in the finals of the district basketball tournament, succeeding the Howard county quint as champions of this sector.

Trailing, 20-9, at the end of the third quarter, the Pipers, led by Farmer, star forward, rallied brilliantly to take the lead from a fatigued Forsan crew.

Forsan edged into the finals by defeating Peacock, 23-12, while Hamlin cagers won their semi-final game from Tuscola, 29-18.

The Concho outfit led most of the way but the Crews quintet had the push in the end and won their second straight district title.

SAYS HE TOSSED VICTIM IN Well After Killing
Her With Truck

COATESVILLE, Pa., Feb. 20 (AP)—Alexander Meyer, 29-year-old farmer, led police today to the body of Helen Meyer, 16, concealed in a deep well of an abandoned farm where he said he tossed the girl after accidentally killing her with his truck on February 11.

The girl's left leg was dismembered below the knee. Blood stains were on her head and chest. The body lay under 18 inches of water, stone and dirt blown down by two sticks of dynamite which Meyer said he exploded to better conceal it.

After questioning Meyer for two hours District Attorney Raymond Reid said he did not believe the man's story of an accident.

"We believe he attacked the girl first and then killed her," Reid said. "We are going to hold an autopsy and this, we believe, will carry out our conviction. We are going to place a charge of murder against him."

Reid said Jennie Watterson, 16, identified Meyer as the man who attempted to attack her a week before Helen's death. Jennie was struck on the head with a black jack, but she escaped.

Calf Winner

Kenneth Holloway's Entry Takes Award At Odessa Show

STANTON, Feb. 20 — Grand champion 4-H club calf of the fifth annual Odessa livestock show, which closed today was fed by a Martin county boy, Kenneth Holloway, Tarzan.

The calf was out of the E. B. Dickinson, Stanton, herd, and weighed 850 pounds at seven and a half months. It placed first in the class 850 to 900 pounds and showed against calves from Nolan and Fisher counties.

The calf was the second ever fed by young Holloway.

Martin county's three entries placed in the calf division. Billy Reid showed a calf out of the I. B. Cauble, Big Spring, herd. The animal weighed 850 pounds and won fourth money in the heavy class. Hoyt Spriggs' calf, from the D. E. Cross, Stanton, herd, won fifth money in the middle class.

Judging of the 4-H and vocational agriculture calf show was W. L. Stangle, head of the department of animal husbandry at Texas Tech.

Some 40 calves were shown by boys from Ector, Andrews, Crane, Reagan, Martin, Garza, Nolan, Fisher and Borden counties.

George Bond, Martin county agent, said that he planned to take his club boys and their calves to shows at San Angelo and Fort Worth during March.

Maxie Baer Is Clamoring For The Public Eye

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP)—Mad-cap Maxie Baer, who always has been kept in the headlines on a paying basis, broke into the headlines today when he said he's through with night clubs.... For the time being.

Maxie said he has definitely given up the primrose path for the comeback circuit. Whereupon he stepped off the train and headed for a hotel in the frivolous Fifties—the core of the big town's night life.

The former heavyweight champion, who came in with his brother, Buddy, and their manager, Ansel Hoffman, was met at the station by Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden boxing director. Johnston plans to match Baer against Bob Pastor in the Garden on March 19 in a 10-round bout.

The New York state athletic commission has refused to sanction the match until Baer appears in person to apply for renewal of his boxing license.

Max expects some barbed remarks from the white-haired Bill Brown, the commissioner who insisted Baer wasn't in shape for his unsuccessful title defense against Jimmy Braddock. But Max won't answer back. He's going to hold his tongue.

"I'm on the level about this comeback stuff and I'll be through with the night clubs," said Maxie. He weighed 218 pounds and appeared in A-1 condition.

MOTHER OF LOCAL WOMAN SUCCUMBS

Last rites for Mrs. M. W. Willis, 84, mother of Mrs. E. F. Robbins of Big Spring, were conducted Friday afternoon at Trenton. Burial was in the Burns cemetery. Mrs. Willis had lived in the vicinity of Trenton since her family settled there 75 years ago. Mrs. Robbins had been at the bedside of her mother for the past week.

DIZ STILL TALKING OF CONTRACT FOR FIFTY GRAND

ED HENNIG, S'WATER MENTOR, ELECTED TYLER COACH

SAYS HE MAY QUIT BASEBALL

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Feb. 20 (AP)—Jerome Herman Dean, a very disgusted young man, chewed down two cigars, called the Gas House gang a bunch of vipers and admitted today he had returned an unsigned $25,000 contract to the St. Louis Cardinals. "Outrageous—that's what it is," pattered Dixie. "How could that fellow Branch Rickey have the nerve to send me last year's contract? Why I didn't even glance at it. My wife opened it, told me the figure, we laughed about it, and had it on a return train two hours later."

"They always send two contracts—one to sign and one for me to keep. I didn't even keep the extra one. Just don't want it laying around to make me mad."

"I'd play cheaper than that for any other ball club in the business—just to get away from Rickey and that cheap bunch," he belloved. "Shucks, I know there isn't a ball player alive actually worth fifty grand, but it adds up to that when he's a showman and drawing card. And I ain't bad at that."

He circled his huge hands around his month-old nephew, brother Paul (Daffy) Dean's child, "clucked" a couple of times, and carried on.

"I'll lay out of baseball just as sure as I'm alive if they stop at a cent less than $50,000. I won't put a foot in that spring training camp unless I get it. If I sign for $50,000, they'll get $50,000 worth of pitching. If I sign for $25,000, they'll get $25,000 worth of pitching. I ain't gonna sign for that. Dean carefully traced his major league career, dating back five years, and said when you have hung up 121 victories for an average of 24 triumphs per season, 'you've got something.'"

The big right-hander, weighing in at 198 pounds now and denying that contract troubles had put a flock of grey hairs around his temples, tore into the St. Louis ball

Wayne Sabin, Senior Meet In Net Final

Florida-West Coast Championship To Go To California

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 20 (AP)—The Florida-West Coast tennis tournament title will go to California for the first time when Walter Senior and Wayne Sabin, both of Los Angeles, meet in the singles finals here tomorrow afternoon.

Senior, ranked twelfth nationally, sprang a mild upset by defeating Art Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., in a four-set semi-final match, 6-3, 7-5, 6-0 today.

Sabin eliminated Vernon Marcum, also of Lakeland, 6-0, 6-2, 6-0, in the other semi-final match. Marcum eliminated Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., ranked eighth nationally, in love sets.

Misses Zolfe Mae and Mary Elizabeth Dodge arrived Saturday night from Denton, to spend the week-end here with their parents Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dodge. They are in attendance at C. I. A. club.

"We've got too many managers. Now there's Frankie Frisch, Branch Rickey, Sam Beardon and Leo Durocher. I sorta hate to say this, but unless I sign, they won't finish in the first division. If I do, there's not a club in the league that can beat us. Gas House gang? Humph—a bunch of vipers."

Dean yawned and admitted he was wearying of the contract wrangle. "I won't even answer the telephone if it's Branch Rickey calling and I don't open his mail. When he gets ready to come around with that $50,000, he can just slip a note in the paper where I can read it and I'll get in touch with him. If he's worth $42,500 as vice-president, I'm worth $42,500,000 out there in the pitcher's box."

He'll win "between 20 and 30" games this year if he pitches, Dean guessed, and the mound staff of Dean and Dean, Jim Winford and Lon Warneke will be baseball's best.

He's leaving for Florida tomorrow night, not, of course, to be near spring training but to attend a birthday party for an old umpiring pal, Bill Klem. Paul, his ailing arm working smoothly after three days workout here with the Dallas Steers, will depart Monday.

THIRTY-THREE MINOR LOOPS TO OPERATE

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 20 (AP)—Thirty-three minor baseball leagues the greatest number since the "good old days of 1913-14," will operate in the territory of the National Association of Minor Leagues; a gain of seven over the 26 which competed a year ago.

Joe P. Carr, promotional director of the association, said today the new leagues are the rejuvenated Three-Eye; the North Carolina State; the Coastal Plains, made up of North Carolina teams; the Northwest International, which includes one club in Vancouver, Can.; the Southeastern; the Eastern Shore; and the Cape Breton Colliery league, up in the maritime provinces.

Subpar Round Breaks Three Way Deadlock

Henry Picard Assumes Command Of Thomsville Open

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 20 (UP)—Slender Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., one of the game's consistent money winners of recent years, cracked par again today to break a three-way opening round deadlock and assume command of the $2,000 Thomsville open golf tournament, with a 30-hole total of 140.

Right on the heels of the pace-setting Picard with cards of 11 were Ky Laffoon of Chicago, Horton Smith of Chicago and long-knocking Jimmy Thomson, untitled.

"Light Horse Harry" Cooper of Chicago, and Dick Mota of Chicago were tied for the lead after the first eighteen holes with 69s.

Elbow Beats Garner For County Title

M. Gregory And R. Grissom Score Thirty-One Of Team's Points

Elbow senior girls won the county basketball championship Friday night, defeating Garner in the finals, 34 to 15.

Led by forwards M. Gregory and R. Grissom who scored 17 and 14 points respectively, the Elbow contingent entertained a packed gymnasium. Elbow won from Moore by default.

The Elbow girls have two invitational tourney championships to their credit this season—Big Lake and Garden City.

Gas Price Fixing Charged Against The Ethyl Corp.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—The government has filed an injunction suit against the Ethyl Gasoline corporation alleging the firm and two of its officials had attempted to fix gasoline prices in violation of the federal anti-trust laws.

The injunction request, filed in federal district court at New York (southern district), was to stop the Ethyl corporation's present system of licensing gasoline jobbers.

Acting Attorney General Stanley Road made the request. His petition contended the gasoline company, Ethyl Gasoline Corp., and J. Conrad Taylor, vice-president in charge of sales were guilty of "a misuse of patents to bring about stabilization of retail gasoline prices throughout the United States."

The petition alleged the corporation claimed to possess exclusive rights to the sale of tetraethyl lead and to its use in gasoline (Tetraethyl lead is a substance which is mixed in minute quantities with gasoline.)

The petition charged the corporation was selling its products to approximately 125 gasoline refiners and was licensing the refiners to sell gasoline treated with the substance through their own outlets as well as to jobbers. It further charged the company was placing "an illegal restriction" on refiners by permitting sale of gasoline only to jobbers approved and licensed by the gasoline company.

H. T. MOORE BUYS LOCAL TAXI FIRM

Hafey Would Trade Plow For New Bat

Chick Claims Cincinnati Trying To Slip Him Trick Contract

WALNUT CREEK, Calif., Feb. 20 (AP)—Long, gaunt Chick Hafey, anxious to exchange a pair of plow handles for a baseball bat, declared today he would drop plans for a comeback try unless the Cincinnati club "agrees to the same contract I had when I quit in 1935."

The National league batting king of six years ago claims Warren Giles, general manager of the Cincinnati club, wants him to sign a "trick contract." He says there are too many "ifs" in it.

"My proposition was for the club to pay my expenses to Tampa for spring training. If I convinced them I was able to play as well as before I was taken sick, I'd sign a contract on the 1935 basis, if not, the club would send me home."

"Giles countered with an offer of $4,000. If I was playing June 1 I'd get a $2,000 bonus. If I finished the season they'd pay me the balance on a contract equal to that of two years ago."

"If I played every day and if I hit 'em all over '300' everything would be all right. But if I didn't, they would have me lashed to the mast. Say, if I knew how much I was going to hit, before the season started, I could make my own terms."

BEEN PONY COACH FOR SIX YEARS

TYLER, Feb. 20 (AP)—Ed Hennig, for the past six years coach at Sweetwater, was elected head athletic coach at Tyler high school today. The announcement was made by Tom Ramey, chairman of the school board.

Hennig succeeds Rufus King one time University of Texas football star.

Ramey said that King had not been released from the athletic staff. King could not be reached for comment.

Hennig, who coached the Sweetwater high school football team to three district titles, said that it would be several days before he would be able to recommend anyone for assistant's jobs. It was not known whether King would be retained under the new set-up.

PARTY STRIFE NOW IS A HANDICAP TO THE SPANISH CAUSE

GIBRALTAR, Feb. 20 (UP)—Party strife within the popular front, especially among communists, now is the most serious menace to the Spanish government's cause, neutral observers said today.

Communists allied with the Stalin and Trotsky factions, representing two violently divergent viewpoints, were declared on the verge of staging a "war within a war."

This new difficulty has added to traditional hatreds between the two most powerful labor organizations—the socialist general workers union, and the anarcho-syndicalist national confederation of workers, the observers said. The outcome of the recent trial of 17 Trotskyists in Moscow—after which 13 of the defendants were executed and four received prison terms—has caused Stalin communists to demand, it was said, that the Peum (Partido Obrero Unificado Marxista—workers united Marxist party) be dissolved and its members tried as enemies of the Valencia government.

DALLAS MEN MAY BACK TEAM IN WESTEX BASEBALL LOOP

J. Walter Morris, organizer of Class-D baseball leagues deluxe, will have a representative in Big Spring Monday with a group of Dallas baseball men who are interested in securing the Big Spring franchise in the West Texas Baseball Loop.

If successful in making arrangements for a ball park they will then make application for league membership.

The league is to be operated on a much smaller scale than was the old Westex circuit, when some teams had monthly pay-rolls as high as $5,000, and took losses of from ten to twelve thousand dollars for the season.

Under the plan outlined by Morris and his backers there will be a monthly pay-roll limit of $1,000, and with the Shoguness play-off plan in effect a third, fourth or fifth place club will probably outdraw the league leaders.

The final organization meeting will be held Feb. 23, probably in Carlsbad Caverns. "I believe I can get both Judge Landis and Judge Bradham at the affair," Morris wrote. "Also, J. Alvin Gardner will be there. If we can get the National Broadcasting Co. interested in putting it on the air we will receive more publicity free than any other league has been able to buy."

$500 BOND IS FIXED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Justice of Peace Joe Faucett fixed bond of $500 Friday afternoon for Brunson Manning, negro, charged with assault with intent to murder. Manning was arrested after George Lowe, negro, had been rapped over the head with a pipe.

men and others obliged to give signals. To make it screech, the wearer merely blows into the mask.

MONEY WISELY SPENT

THIS IS THE FIRST of a series of advertisements about our community and its welfare. Watch for these advertisements and read them all, for they have to do with a subject of vital interest to all of us.

The prosperity of this or any other community depends on the loyalty of citizens. Retail institutions in Big Spring have combined investments here which total a very large sum. Their annual payroll runs into thousands of dollars. They spend still other thousands locally for rent, taxes, insurance, delivery equipment and maintenance, and the many other items of overhead which go into good times or bad. They help build our schools; they are the most important factors in maintaining local government; they are back of every worthy civic movement.

How many of us realize that owners and employees of Big Spring stores, with their families, comprise 25 per cent of our total population? In other words, the retail stores of Big Spring are the sole source of livelihood for one-fourth of our population including many of the young folks who graduate from our local schools and would otherwise have to go elsewhere to live and work!

Quality and price being equal, money spent with Big Spring merchants is money wisely spent. Let's stand shoulder to shoulder in the upbuilding of our community!

Merchants of Big Spring buy from the same sources of supply as do the merchants of Ft. Worth, El Paso, Dallas, New Orleans or St. Louis. They offer you the same merchandise offered in other cities, and the prices are often actually lower. In those rare instances when you fail to find here exactly what you want, it can be obtained for you promptly by any Big Spring merchant in that line of business.

The citizen who thoughtlessly goes elsewhere for merchandise that could be bought through local sources takes just that much money out of this community, making it difficult for our local enterprises to survive and prosper. And any hardship for our merchants is a hardship for every man, woman and child in this community!

posal is too grave to be dealt with on such terms. It is an inspiring thing that in this question the leadership to maintain the integrity of the American form of government has been begun by eminent senators belonging to the president's own party.

Turning to President Roosevelt's proposal, Mr. Hoover said "we may quickly dismiss the secondary parts x x x. We can accept the view that justice would be expedited if we had more federal district courts. There may not be enough circuit courts of appeal."
"But there can be only one supreme court. Here, Mr. Roosevelt demands the power to appoint a new justice parallel with every existing justice who is over 70 years of age. This means that two thirds of the court, or x x of them, are to be given a sort of intellectual nurse, having half the vote of each justice.

"It is the implications of this proposal which have thrust us with startling suddenness into an issue greater and deeper than any in our generation. x x x
"But the president's proposal is far deeper and more far-reaching in purpose than these details." In the light of background, Mr.
Hoover related, "no one can conclude other than that the president seeks to secure a supreme court not that will find in accordance with the constitution as it stands, but rather than will revise the constitution so it will mean that he wishes it to mean."

The Week

tion and consider it as a sensible step.

For more than a year now there has been spasmodic agitation for garbage disposal service in the city.
For months the city has offered contracts, which when enough are signed, will result in the collection twice weekly of garbage for a charge of 50 cents a month. While many have clamored long for the service, few have signed. Conspicuous by its absence from the list of signers was the name of one who has kept the fight alive.

Jesse Martin, Fort Worth attorney who addressed the annual chamber of commerce banquet group Thursday evening, struck a responsive chord when he declared for more law observance.
He was right again when he urged more education in law, instead of more laws. He suggested that newspapers and radio be forced to refrain from publishing activities of officers while in pursuit of criminals. Unless officers generally are a lot more liberal with their lips than their hands, there is no way to worry about this suggestion.

Recently, when a dusky prisoner was assigned to the task of cleaning the courthouse windows, something beside favorable reactions occurred. For the first time in more than two years the employees in the tax collector's office were able to do their work without turning on lights.

Big Spring rallied to the support of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce last week by raising its quota in little more than one day. A lot of people may think $500 is a lot of money for this city to turn over to the regional chamber, and others may find fault with the WTCC, but the fact remains that West Texas enjoys many advantages because of the vigilance of the regional chamber.

Dust won't damage your health, an Oklahoma physician asserted at the height of a dust storm last week. His advice was just to relax. Maybe it won't impair our health, but we had just as soon he keeps his dust at home. Instead of relaxation, he might well preach the more practical doctrine of water and soil conservation. Then we could swap this choking mass of yellowish gray silt for a crew full of honest to goodness grit from a genuine West Texas sandstorm.

Big Spring and Howard county need to do a little long range "planning" patterned after the work of the state planning board.
This would involve a thorough check of resources at hand including such raw materials as lime stone, brick clay, rotary clay, magnesium, quartz, gold dust, oil, gas, volcanic ash, gravel, caliche and perhaps many other minerals in addition to the basic source of wealth—agriculture. A thorough knowledge of what the county and area contains in the way of resources is the best approach to sound planning.

FARM MEETINGS TO BE CONTINUED FOR ANOTHER WEEK

The series of informational meetings concerning the 1937 federal soil conservation and building program will be continued this week in rural communities, County Agent O. P. Griffin said Saturday.

Monday evening Gay Hill will hold such a meeting, and Tuesday it will be Vealmoor. Wednesday the meeting will be at Knott, Thursday at Lomax, Friday at El-beu and Saturday in Big Spring.
All meetings except that at Big Spring will be at 7:30 p. m. The city meeting is set for 10 a. m. at the courthouse.

The series will be concluded
March 1 and 2 at Moore and Center Point, respectively. Meeting were held at Coahoma and Vincent last week.

Special Advertisements Emphasize Benefits Of Trading In Home City

Attention of all citizens of Big Spring is directed to an advertisement appearing in this issue of The Herald, entitled "Money Well Spent." It is the first of a series of 12 common-sense talks by local merchants, based on the fact that prosperity of all enterprises in the city depends upon the success of its retail institutions. Big Spring merchants have had this series of advertisements prepared, in a cooperative moment in which The Herald is joining.

The advertisements stress that retail business houses are the chief source of local prosperity. The point out that 25 per cent of Big Spring residents depend upon Big Spring stores for a livelihood counting owners, employees and their families. In salaries and wages the stores distribute tens of thousands of dollars annually in the city, and they spend other sums for taxes, license, transportation equipment, and the numerous other items of overhead.

The advertisements are directed to those who, in spite of the fact that mutual trade is necessary in the community, buy elsewhere many items that can be had in Big Spring for the same money—and at greater convenience. The theme of the ads is "when we spend money elsewhere, that money is gone from this community. No one of us has any chance to get our hands on it again. It adds to the wealth of some other community—not ours!"

Merchandise offered locally, in many instances, comes from the same wholesale or manufacturing firms that supply the merchants of larger cities around us, and the fact that there is seldom any advantage in buying outside Big Spring—and also to the fact that money spent in some other town pays no Big Spring taxes, employs no Big Spring citizens, rents no Big Spring buildings, and contributes in no other way to local prosperity.

General Jose Maja, government commander on the Madrid front, issued an order making every resident a guard over the capital's food supplies. Persons knowing of abuses in handling food and not reporting them will be charged with complicity and be subject to severe punishment.

REPORT STEAMER IS AGROUND OFF OREGON

SEATTLE, Feb. 20 (AP)—Coast guard headquarters said tonight the Norwegian steamer Horda had run aground in "the channel" at Cooch Bay, Ore., and the coast guard cutter Onadaga was speeding there from Astoria.

The merchants exchange said the Horda was under charter to the Latin-American Lines and was in general cargo service in the South American trade.

No passengers were believed to be aboard the Horda and the number of its crew was unknown here as the ship did not touch Seattle

Conservation Plan Outlined For Ranchers

27 Sign At Meeting Here For Participation In Program

Twenty Howard county ranchers signed preliminary applications for participation in the 1937 range conservation program following an explanatory meeting conducted Saturday morning by O. P. Griffin, county agent.

The ranchers, representing tracts from one section to 20,435 acres, listed 109,765 acres to be affected by the program. Griffin indicated that others likely would sign applications.

Under terms of the program ranchers will be given range building allowances for any of 13 range building practices. Among them are reseeded by deferred grazing contour listing or furrowing, ridg-ing range land, spreader dams and spreader terraces, earthen tank and reservoirs, fences, fire guards rodent eradication, and reseed-ing range land from prickly pear and cactus, mesquite, cedar and lech-guille (bear grass).

Re seeding by deferred grazing will entail the withholding of 2 per cent of the ranch from grazing for a period of six months until the plant life has seeded and will carry payments up to one-third of the range building allowance.

Payments
Contour listing will bring a maximum payment of 70 cents an acre while ridging range land will bring as much as 10 cents per linear 100 feet. Spreader dams will draw 15 cents per public yard and spreader terraces 40 cents per 100 linear feet.

Earthen tanks will merit benefit payments to the extent of 15 cent per cubic yard and range fence 30 cents per rod. Fire guards will be worth three cents per 100 linear feet.

Rodent eradication may bring five to seven and a half cents, depending on the type of rodent involved.

Re seeding range land from prickly pear and cactus may draw from 50 cents to $1 per acre, according to the degree of infestation. A similar policy as to mesquite will net 50 cents to $2 an acre, depending on infestation, while the same practice against cedar is worth 75 cents to $1.50 an acre. Bear grass eradication will bring 50 cents an acre.

The range building allowances for range lands in this county will be established by the county committee on the basis of $1.50 times the grazing capacity, which the committee will also establish.

Sentiment expressed in the meeting Saturday showed that the most popular practice will be that of creating earthen tanks and reservoirs. Spreader dams and terraces have been erected on the Flower ranch south of town as a demonstration measure. However, re seeding by deferred grazing may be stressed more than others.

FIRES EXTINGUISHED WITH SLIGHT DAMAGE

Three fires, none of any consequence, were extinguished by city firemen Friday and Saturday. Friday afternoon they put out a blaze which occurred in a flue which had been plugged and packed over. Rags in the flue apparently ignited through spontaneous combustion.

A few hours later firemen extinguished a car fire at 3rd and Main streets before it could do damage.

Saturday afternoon they successfully combated a truck fire in a 40-mile-per-hour gale in the downtown section. For a time the cargo of blazing burs threatened to scatter over a wide area.

19 PHYSICIANS IN MONTHLY MEETING

Nineteen physicians took part in the regular monthly meeting of the Six-County Medical society here Thursday evening. There were representatives from Stanton, Midland, Odessa, Andrews and Big Spring.

Dr. M. H. Bennett, Big Spring, gave a case report and Dr. F. E.
Hudson, Stamford, district counselor, delivered the counselor's message. Dr. W. G. Whitehouse, Midland, president, presided over the session.

The next meeting will be held in Odessa March 18. Dr. R. B. G.
Cowan, Big Spring, is vice-president of the association.

SHOT TO DEATH

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 20 (AP)—

Frank Bink 22, awaiting grand jury action on robbery charges, was shot to death today by Chief Jailer Otis Helman as he and seven other prisoners made a break for lib-

Three of the other men were wounded. None escaped.

Rowe Home to Be Scene of Silver Tea

Methodist Women Plan Pretty Affair For Missionary Fund

An informal silver tea will be held by the Women's Methodist Society of the First Methodist Church at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C. L. Rowe, 1300 Johnson Street, and a musical program has been arranged for the tea hour which is to be a social affair.

The Martha Washington theme is to be used in house and table decorations.

Guests will be greeted by Mrs. C. A. Bickley, Mrs. Fox Stripling and Mrs. Rowe. Members of the house party are Mrs. O. M. Waters, Mrs. J. G. Keaton, Mrs. M. Wentz, Mrs. Hayes Stripling and Mrs. H. N. Johnson. Mrs. Albert Smith and Mrs. Winston Manuel will preside at the tea services.

On the program that will precede the serving will be Mrs. Victor Newell, vocalist, Mrs. Dallas Childers, violinist, Mrs. H. G. Keaton and Mrs. W. K. Edwards, pianists, and little Marilyn Keaton who will give a reading.

All church members and their friends are invited to call during the appointed hour. The proceeds will be used in the general missionary fund.

Mrs. Lynn Edwards Is Complimented With Gift Shower

Mrs. Lynn Edwards, the former Miss Martha Walling, was honored for a gift shower in her State Street apartment Friday evening when Miss June Howard, Mrs. Milton Reeves and Mrs. Willard Ragsdale were co-hostesses.

The guests were greeted by Miss Mary Frances Robinson and they registered in the bride's book by writing a recipe. Employees of the G. F. Wacker store where Mr. Edwards is employed presented the couple with a set of dishes.

Gifts were received from Miss Lillian Hart, Miss Dorothy Dean Sain, Miss Faye Runyon, Miss Mary Frances Robinson, Miss Dorotha Campbell, Miss Faye Edmondson, Miss Orla Redding, Miss Maurine Montgomery, Miss Lois Mae Hall, Miss Frances Bledsoe, Mrs. Gordon Meeks, Mrs. R. C. Hill, Mrs. Thelma Willis, Mrs. I. S. Moore and Mrs. F. Walling, mother of the honoree.

Those sending gifts were Miss Devela Lee Moore, Miss Edith Johnson, Mrs. M. L. Birch and Mrs. George Montgomery.

Cauble P-T.A. Has Washington's Day Program At Meet

Cauble Parent-Teacher Association heard a debate, and entertaining program that dealt with the theme of Washington's birthday anniversary at the meeting held Friday afternoon at the school. Arthur W. Franklin presided over the short business meeting that preceded the program.

Members of the tree committee set out trees during the afternoon. Subject for debate was, resolved: Austin deserves more credit for the formation of Texas than Houston. Afterwards Jerry Ford, Harold D. Leatherwood and Garland Findley gave a moving picture show on travel and communication. Others who appeared on the program were Wynell Franklin, Roy Franglin, LeRoy Findley, Gene Anderson, Geneva Turner, Hollis Yates, Alyne Hart. Those who were cast in the two plays were Gene Anderson, Billy Gaskin, Roy Kufner, Freddie Franklin, Charles Billy Leatherwood, Levi Kufner, Allen Hart, George Franklin, C. Treadway, Eldon Sipes, Captain G. Anderson, Claude Galloway, Claude Kuper, Jim Turner, Elsie Ford, Elizabeth Hart and Allene Russell.

Guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Denver Yates, Mrs. L. Findley, Mrs. Allen Hart, Mrs. Milton Gaskin, Mrs. Hiram Yates and Mrs. Arthur Franklin.

GARDEN CLUB MEET

Members of the Garden club and others who are interested in gardening are asked to join in the called meeting at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the commissioner's court room in the municipal auditorium.

Mrs. L. E. Eddy, president, who called the session, has issued a special request for a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Russell and family have returned to their home in Cauble after attending the funeral services in Rule for Mrs. Russell's father, C. H. Biffle.

Psychology Is Important To Dancers

Pre-Season Suggestions Made For Frolics To Take Place Soon

Washington's birthday brings with it a retinue of dances. And so do the spring vacation and post-Easter holidays later on.

Nowhere in the entertainment world does the psychology of looking as if you're having a grand time—whether you are or not—bring such immediate results as it does at a dance. For where there is gaiety there is also a crowd.

Two important bolsters for that psychological bluff are: (1) being sure you look your best and (2) knowing how to dance—and that means being able to dance like those you'll be dancing with most of the evening.

Don't Rush Preparations
Take plenty of time getting ready for the dance. Have your hair washed and set the day before. Don't leave your manicure until the last minute. And have your dress back from the cleaners in time to attach the necessary buckles and other ornaments.

Put your make-up on slowly and carefully—wiping off excess powder that might streak your dress or wrap. And don't just dab on your perfume and run.

If the dance is a program affair it's customary to reserve the first and last dances for your escort. Men who don't already know you and wish to dance with you should have themselves introduced — by the hostess or your escort or mutual friends. If you don't wish to accept an invitation to dance you may say that you prefer to rest for a while. But if you use such an excuse don't turn around and accept another offer right away.

Avoiding Cut-ins
Once you're on the dance floor and someone cuts in, however, you can't refuse to dance with him—unless there's some very good reason for doing so. If he touches your partner on the arm and asks "May I?" your partner is bound to let you go. The only way you and your escort can avoid cut-in—if you both wish to avoid them—is to dance with your clear line of the star line or for you to resort to such stunts as dancing with your eyes closed.

One of the quickest ways to land in the little row of chairs along the wall is to talk too much—or whistle or sing loudly. It's all right to talk a little and use a little bit of a so-called "line." (Remember the old saying about sugar catching more flies than vinegar? Well, everybody likes a little flattery—especially on a dance floor. But don't overdo it.)

At the end of the dance, when your partner says something like "Thank you"—as he should—you may reply, "Thank you, too," as he takes you back to your escort.

Show Entries Are Nearing List Limit

'Miss Bluebonnet' To Be Given Under Auspices Of C. I. A. Club

Sponsors of twelve automobile firms and six dress shops had posted entry fees late Saturday evening for the Fifth Annual Spring Fashion and Automobile show given under the direction of the St. Mary's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church that is scheduled for staging at 8 o'clock on March 9 in the Municipal Auditorium.

Mrs. E. V. Spence, auxiliary president, said that plans were to make this one of the most spectacular of all the offerings and the work now underway showed prospects of developing a finished show. Seventeen women are aiding Mrs. Spence in making preparations for the show that is to be presented within two hours from the curtain rise.

Cars that have been entered for display are Dodge, Plymouth, Buick, Pontiac, Studebaker, Oldsmobile, Hudson, Chrysler, Chevrolet, Ford, Lincoln-Zephyr and International pickup. Other firms plan to enter models provided the new ones arrive in due time.

Holding the number of dress shops to a limited group, to date six had registered. They are Albert M. Fisher Company, Fashion, Hollywood, Ladies' Salon, J. and W. Fisher Company and Mellinger's. The latter will present the latest offerings in children's apparel while others will show creations for spring designed for young and middle-aged women.

More than 24 models will be selected to display the women's and children's wear in addition to those who will demonstrate the automobiles.

Musi-Comedy Rehearsals In 2nd Week

Cast of "Miss Bluebonnet," a musical comedy, is beginning its second week of rehearsals under the direction of Miss Madge Chambers of the Wayne P. Sewell Production Company of Atlanta, Ga., to be presented Friday evening under the auspices of the C. I. A. Club with a cast of 14 local people.

The hour has been set at 8:15 o'clock and will be staged at the Municipal Auditorium.

The play is spiced with a number of lively tunes and chorus numbers are well underway with a number of high school girls in the lineup. Children of grade school age will also take part.

The play is one newly released and marks the first of a group of home talent plays planned by the local club.

Tickets are to be placed on sale early Monday morning and may be had by contacting Mrs. Flossie Low, ticket sales chairman, or other members of the group.

A list of the cast is to be publicized later in the week according to Miss Chambers.

Funds realized from the production will go toward the fund used by the club to send a deserving girl to C. I. A. who would not otherwise be financially able to further her schooling.

Announcements were made over the weekend of the marriages of two popular Big Spring couples, those of Robert Flowers to Miss Patricia Lester Hodgson and Dan Scott to Miss Jeanne Hostetter, both of which were performed in Midland. The Flowers ceremony was read on November 27 while that of the Scotts took place on February 8.

The Flowers marriage took place the day following Mrs. Flowers' return from several months' stay in Hollywood, Calif., her former home, according to an announcement made by her mother. The couple was accompanied by Miss Bobbie Gordon and Robert Satterwhite.

The bride is the daughter of Lois Lester and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lester, long-time residents of this city. She attended grade school here and for several years attended school in Hollywood. Last year she enrolled here where she plans to complete her work.

Robert is the son of Mrs. W. J. Flowers and is well known in the sporting circles by virtue of a notable reputation gained from football during his high school days. He captained the local team during the '34 and '35 seasons and was elected most popular boy in school for two consecutive years. Following his graduation in '35 he enrolled in Tulane University and later at Texas University. Late in '35 he attended Texas Technological College in Lubbock.

The couple will make their home in the Bray apartments on 17th Street.

Announcement of the Scott-Hostetter marriage was made by the couple late Friday evening.

The Rev. Winston Borum, pastor of the Baptist church of Midland, read the ceremony at his residence. The couple was accompanied by Miss La Verne Scott, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Thelma Jean Moore, Miss Virginia Fischer and Mrs. William Lewis.

Mrs. Scott is the daughter of Mrs. Cora Benton and has made her home in Big Spring for the past five years, coming here from Longview. She was editor of the high school paper during her senior year and was graduated with the class of '36. In 1934 she was chosen winner of a beauty contest sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Recently she has appeared on several amateur night programs as a singer.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. McCullough and is a graduate of Brownwood High School, finishing in 1934. He later attended Howard Payne College where he was a member of the football squad. He has made his home with his family here for three years and is now employed by the Quality Auto Body Shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott are at home at 1111½ Main Street.

Howard Co. Women Take Honors At HD Dramatic School

Howard county's delegation to the dramatic institute, conducted through Friday in Sweetwater, won first place in a tournament Friday morning.

Following instruction Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, each county group was assigned to a play. Mrs. Noel Barnett, county chairman of recreation and radio for home demonstration work in Howard county, Mrs. Adams of Coahoma, and Miss Lora Farnsworth, demonstration agent, together with a man from another county, completed the cast.

Mable Fouts Hobbs, from the National Recreational association, directed the institute and instructed delegates in the production of community plays, make-up, speech, and lighting. She saw a need for reviving dramatics in the rural area as a recreational measure.

FEWER EXEMPTIONS

Practically every bill enacted by or proposed to the Texas legislature which has to do with levying of taxes carries one or more exemptions, and each of these exemptions provides a loophole for others not supposed to be exempt, to escape at least a part of the taxation that rightfully should fall on them.

The gasoline tax and registration exemptions, for instance. The house committee having a bill in charge has reported favorably a provision to exempt from registration fees cars used exclusively by water conservation and improvement districts. They are but one class of many such exemptions, and one cannot help wonder why the exemption should be necessary or desirable.

If such vehicles were used exclusively for the work of the organizations, it might give color to an exemption. But everyone is aware that all such vehicles are used many times for purely personal purposes. There is a car standing at hand—a personal business trip needs to be taken, or perhaps a social call—the car is used, just as any privately registered car. Trucks which are registered under conditions different from the general run of hire trucks, and which are allowed a drawback on gasoline consumed, are for purposes not at all connected with the business which is supposed to entitle to the exemption or special favor.

Advorem taxes are levied with many exemptions, none of which are based on good sound equitable practice. If there were no exemption provided, in practically all such cases there would be no necessity for such high tax rates. Favored classes are repugnant to our theory of government, but in practice there are many favored classes and people not in those classes carry the additional burden. Equality of men under the law, one of our boasted liberties, should be extended to equality of taxation. Lack of exemptions would simplify a law and make it easier of enforcement.

NEW YORK—Personal notes off a New Yorker's cuff: City Hall Park will soon be flaming with multi-colored tulips. A motorman on a First Avenue bus amuses his customers with snatches of "Aida," in a fine tenor voice. Most Gypsy restaurants entertain their patrons with string ensembles. A criminal courts reporter runs a book shop on the side. And at least three famous Broadway columnists began their career as ham actors.

Peggy Fears has the most luxurious wardrobe of fur coats in town. Sixth avenue in the 40's is so crowded at lunch time that hundreds of pedestrians are forced to walk in the street. A favorite lunching place for publishers is a Hungarian restaurant near Sheridan Square. At German beer gardens in Yorkville waiters and patrons frequently form quartets. Herbert Asbury, whose writings are mainly devoted to the sinful sectors of large cities, is the son of a preacher.

Madison Avenue shop windows are filled with costumes for tropical beaches, while outside on the street pedestrians are chin-deep in mufflers and overcoats. At an auction of antiques the portrait of a noted actress didn't get a single offer. There are pay-telephones in the hallways of at least 10,000 apartment houses and homes in New York. ## Guards Posted At Street Projects To Halt Violations

The city is "through" issuing warnings to automobile drivers to stay off street construction projects. From now on, persons caught breaking down barricades or driving on blocks under construction will be given a ticket for appearance in court. And they likely will be caught. City Manager E. V. Spence said Saturday that special guards have been posted at all construction projects, with instructions to give tickets to anyone running over the barricades or entering a blocked-off zone.

"Faving work is being damaged heavily by traffic," Spence said. "The city asked cooperation, and isn't getting it. So the guards are on duty."

BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Copyright, 1936, by Paul Mallon

Wallace seeks long-range farm control. Farmers balk at proposed 1942 extension. Roosevelt confers with ship operators. President would build up "naval auxiliary."

Innocence

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20—Henry Wallace, the agriculture secretary, has been insisting all along that he is just a hayseed puritan in the political world of Washington. He just cannot seem to understand politics—he says.

Some doubt about it arose during the last presidential campaign, when Wallace played Little Red Riding Hood to Governor Landon's wolf throughout the farm belt, and won every state, including Kansas. After what happened in the secret meeting of his recent committee of 18 farm legislation framers here recently, it has become increasingly evident that Wallace's head is getting a little heavy for the Red Riding Hood role.

Experience

It did not get out at the time, but there was one thing in Wallace's official manuscript for the farm conference that the farm representatives declined to read from his prepared script. They were ready to back him on ever-normal granary, crop insurance, soil conservation and all the other things but they scratched their ears when they saw he wanted to continue the soil conservation and domestic allotment act until 1942. His ally, Chairman Jones of the house agriculture committee, had then gone so far as to introduce the official Wallace bill in congress, proposing extension until 1942.

The farm representatives reminded each other that there would be another presidential election in 1940 and that Mr. Wallace was being prominently mentioned as a possible candidate of the new order.

Note—Incidentally, most of the agricultural congressmen are now confessing they did not really mean it when they wrote the law that the soil conservation and allotment act was to be turned over to the various states in 1938. In the words of one member of the Jones committee, they "just put that in for the benefit of the supreme court."

Purpose

The farm program seems to be simply this: Wallace intends to build up reserves this year by encouraging production; if surplus accumulates, he wants to make commodity loans; and then, in the year after the commodity loans are made, he wants to control production drastically to protect his loans.

The government intends to keep the following balls in the air at the same time: commodity loans, crop insurance, soil conservation, loans to farm tenants, mild production control, drastic production control, buying of surpluses.

These balls will probably be juggled whether or not the president gets control of the supreme court, but if the president's court proposal does not go through, the ever-normal granary bill may not go very high. Wallace dare not make extensive commodity loans without having the power to control production drastically the following year. Otherwise, the government would get stuck with commodities at a loss, as the old farm board did.

However, Wallace's recent dire warning that supreme court repackaging is vital to the success of his plans was generally recognized simply as an attempt to rally support for the president's move.

Naval Auxiliary

President Roosevelt has been quietly meeting with ship operators. Another series of White House conferences is expected next week. He seems to be interested in avoiding further strikes and in building up a "naval auxiliary," this phrase is likely to be popularized instead of the old "merchant marine". No commercial keels have been laid in two years, and there is much talk of reviving American shipping, although it is not yet clear how the idea will fit in with the unsettled neutrality program.

Appointments in the maritime commission have been delayed until the president can canvass the shipping situation.

Debate

It appears some senators are writing their own speeches on the court issue. That always has been considered dangerous practice in organized drives. It has resulted this time in considerable confusion among the advocates of Mr. Roosevelt's proposal.

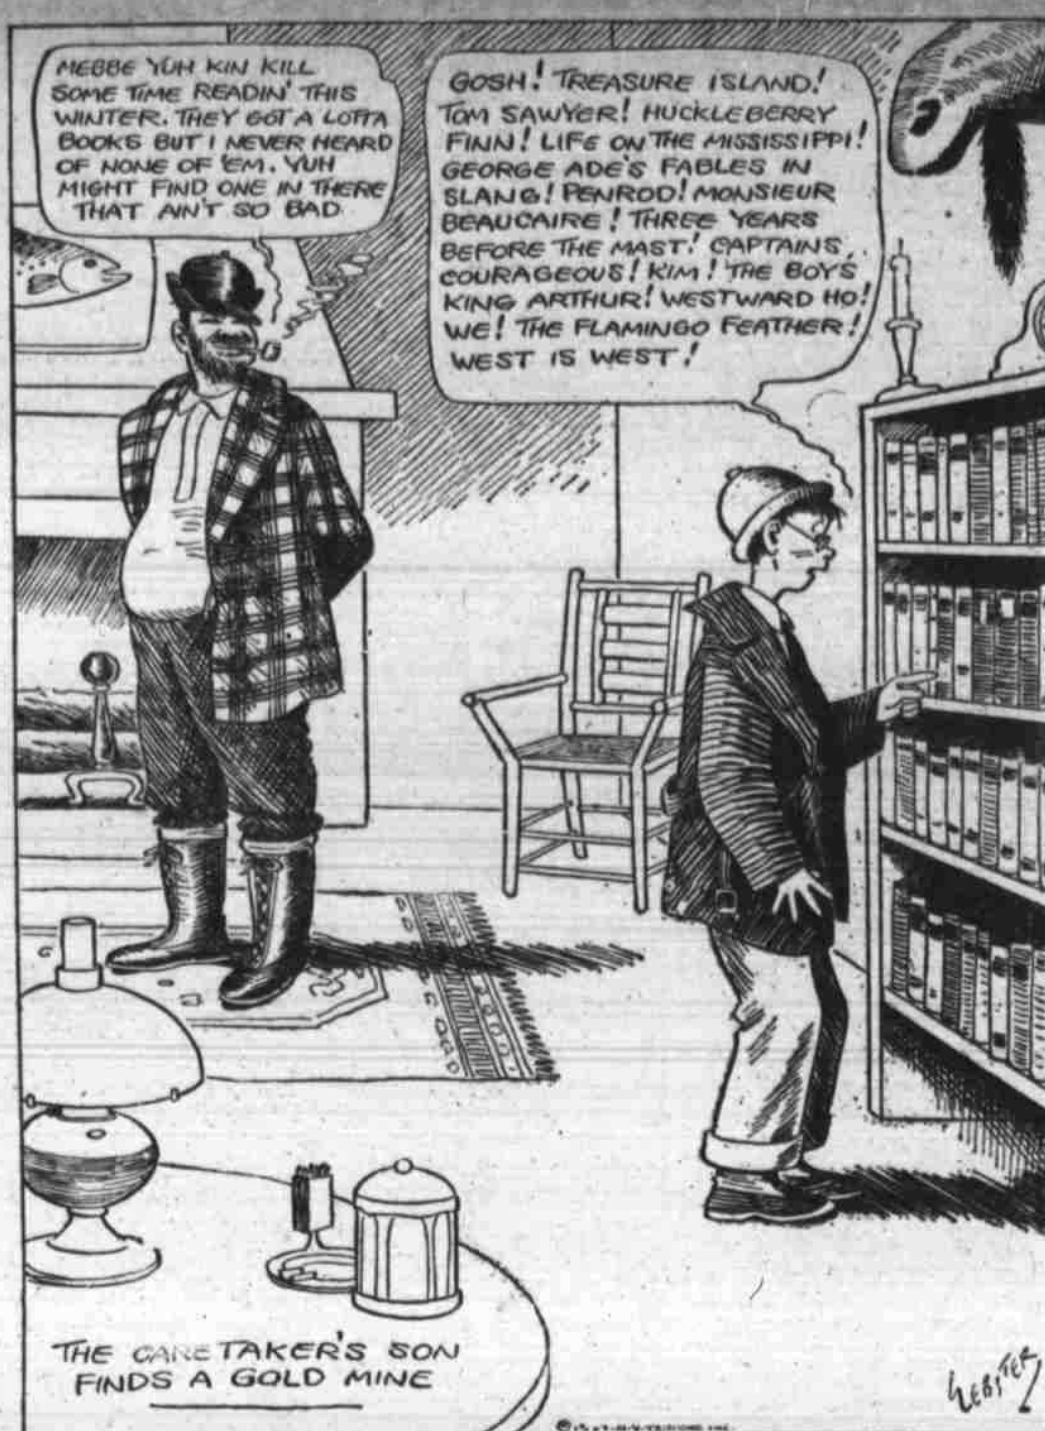

For instance, advocating Senator Minton took the air to argue that the president should have the right to "un-pack" the supreme court by packing it with new judges at a whim.

Then came advocating Senator McCade, arguing the president would never, never think of packing the court, but merely wanted to help the overworked judges.

Third came advocating Senator Byrnes, saying the president intended to pack the court and it was a good thing.

The opposition had decided to remain quiet, permitting the proponents to conduct what amounted to an unintentional debate among themselves.

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

Hollywood

Sights and Sounds
By Robin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — "Gardenia" white skin with the delicate flush of girlish wholesomeness, crowned by a silken mass of flaxen hair—this, translated from studio biography of Jean Rogers, means that she is a pretty blonde, not unlike many another pretty blonde. But what puts her in a class by herself is that, while not very famous in Hollywood, she is a favorite in the world of boys and girls, and gets more fan mail than many a name you know better.

Her virtual anonymity, locally, is explained by the fact that nobody—well, almost nobody—deliberately goes to see a serial movie. And Jean's career, until now, has been confined to serial-queuing, unless you count a couple of feature leads on the side.

Risky Business
Jean at 20 is the survivor of a crowded, thrilling cinematic existence. While other ingenues of her age pine for the peaks, Jean was leaping from crag to crag, as serial queens must.

For really hazardous stunts, a serial actress is "doubled." Even so, Jean suffers black and blue marks from her last serial while she "ingenues" currently in a feature. She is not sure it was her last serial—they always seem to find one more for her.

There is no "double" for a 3 a. m. call to location, nor for the rigors of a hasty shooting schedule which sometimes requires working straight through the day to 10 p. m.

That means, for six weeks at a stretch, Jean doesn't play at all. What, I wonder aloud, does an "action actress" do with her hands when she works in a feature and doesn't have to talk? That, says Jean, is easy. In the first place, a feature director has time to tell her what to do, whereas the hurried serial-maker is too busy rushing into his chapter-after-next. In the second, it's rather nice to rest your hands.

Still a Movie Fan
Jean used to be Eleanor Lovgren from Belmont, Mass., and a movie fan. She still is a fan, even after playing opposite some of the heroes she used to play with fan mail.

She got into pictures by being (accidentally, of course) on a ferry boat the day a talent scout was to select candidates for the film "Eight Girls in a Boat." After she won, she and her mother stored the furniture and came out—in a landing, of course, to go right back. It was mother, says Jean, who thought they might as well gamble on staying. After a partless year under contract, Jean went to Universal and signed there. She still says she wouldn't stay in Hollywood if it meant struggling for a job.

Jean is shy, although she works hard at not being—but she is the only one of the "boat girls" now being featured. The others went home, or are doing bits. She thanks serials.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Tammitt returned Saturday from a month's vacation along the southern coast and in Florida.

Turfmen Give Up Legislative Fight

Repeal Of Race Betting A Certainty, Only Spring Meets Remain For Texas

By RAYMOND BROOKS

HERALD Austin Correspondent

AUSTIN, Feb. 20—A spring meet, then it's all over.

A lobbyist reports the race-track operators have thrown up their hands, conceded defeat, and backed out of the legislative picture. The house has voted repeal of the race-track betting and legalized racing law, by a top-heavy vote. The senate hasn't acted.

But the big track and turf men see certain repeal, and have acquiesced to the idea of holding one spring meet at Epson, Arlington and Dallas, and finishing that now going on at Alamo Downs, San Antonio, after which they expect to fold their pari mutuels and depart for greener fields, according to the information of a man who ought to know.

This lobbyist's name is not used, because he is working another end of the business. But his picture is a sort of understanding by the race-track operators that they will play out the rest of the scheduled string, and that the law

"Talk then, for God's sake!" cried Anne. "I've been waiting all night to find out what happened. I could hardly resist calling you up in the early hours of the morning. Talk about suspense!" She pressed out the end of her cigarette and lit another.
"But I told you, everything occurred practically according to plan," said he.
"But what do you mean by 'practically according to plan'?" What went wrong?
"Nothing, really," he assured her, and told her in detail exactly what had occurred. She sat listening with her eyes fixed on his face.
"Awful!" she whispered, "when the policeman passed. And that knock came on the door! I wonder you didn't both die of fright. I'm sure I should have! Poor Dr. Austreitz! Did you realize he took this job on without asking a single awkward question or registering a word of complaint?"
"He's very clever. There was nothing he needed to ask," said Bigelow. "And he isn't the sort to complain when one asks him a favor."
"A favor—" repeated Anne grimly. "Suppose the police trace him? Suppose that policeman noticed his license number or recognized him?"
"I don't think that's likely and neither does he," answered Bigelow.
"But suppose it happens! Unlikely things often do!"
"He'll say he knew Vronski—that Vronski was a patient. And that when he got home from the party last night, he found Vronski waiting for him at his place—very drunk. And he took him home."
Anne considered. "But that would have been about five o'clock. Haven't they ways of finding out from a medical examination that he died before that?"
"They can't tell exactly. They can only form an opinion. In any case, if they did suspect Austreitz, they wouldn't be able to discover a motive."
"No, I suppose not. But he might get a good deal of undesirable publicity."
"He can look after himself. Don't worry about that," said Bigelow.
The waiter approached with the cocktails and the grapefruit.
"A Key Changes Hands"
"Who is giving the dinner party tonight?" asked Bigelow, making conversation.
"Philip Whitelaw," answered Anne, playing up. "I don't think you know him. He's in Wall Street. A typical business man, I mean, a cross between a pirate and a Puritan. Fascinating combination. You never quite know where one is going to leave off and the other begin. His mental processes are enthralling when one can follow them." Her eyes rested distractedly on the waiter who was still fussing about.
"How old is he?" asked Bigelow.
"Thirty-six. And he's never been married. And he's most suitable in every way—I'm told. Quite nice looking, too, although he has to swim and play golf to keep his waltzline in check."
Anne finished off her cocktail and lit another cigarette.
"I think I can see him," nodded Bigelow.
"He's what mother calls safe. She's always hoped I'd marry him in the end. She's alarmed at the way the world is moving on and feels uneasy about the future. And I must say things do seem to be in a mess everywhere, don't they?"
The waiter—having supplied them with everything they could possibly want—departed at last. Anne breathed a sigh of relief.
"I forgot to tell you how sorry I am that I let go, last night," she said. "I usually have myself better in hand than that. And I think I can promise there'll be no further demonstrations of mid-Victorianism."
"I think I liked it," said Bigelow.
"Yes, I suppose men do! Some men! Nice man! And I don't deny it was a relief to have you handy to lean on. But one must not encourage such feebleness of spirit in oneself. That's why I determined to lunch here under the eyes of the world—my world, I mean, of course. I'm trying to behave exactly as if nothing had happened."
"You're doing beautifully," said Bigelow, with a sly glance at her cigarette. It was her fifth or sixth, but the waiter had removed the ends of the others so there was no evidence of her nervousness.
"What do you do at the studio besides removing him?" she asked then. "I mean—there was a towel, wasn't there? ... And the gun?"
"They are still locked in the cupboard and I have the key. If you'll give me the key to the front door as well, I'll drop in there after lunch and remove all traces. I suppose you have a license to possess a gun?"
"Yes, Philip got it for me. It was his idea that I keep a gun at the studio for protection. He hated my staying there so much alone. Funny, isn't it? If there had been no gun there, all this probably wouldn't have happened. So he's directly responsible."
She took the key from her bag and passed it under the table surreptitiously. Bigelow slipped it into his pocket.
"Thanks. And if anyone should inquire at any time, you had a gun but it was stolen some time ago—by some cleaner who came in—or a tradesman or delivery boy—or perhaps by a guest at a party. You noticed it was gone, but you never bothered to do anything about it as you had only kept it there to please Whitelaw and never really felt the need of it."
She nodded. "I see. The gun is going to disappear completely."
"And forever—I hope," said Bigelow. "By means of the science of ballistics, they can often tell, nowadays, whether a given bullet was fired from a given gun. But if the gun isn't available, of course the bullet alone tells them nothing."
"I see," said Anne. "Let's eat. Here comes Topsy."
Mrs. Kane drew near, waving for a waiter to bring a chair.
"Don't look now," she said, putting Bigelow back into his seat with one firm plump hand, "but if you want to see what I looked like when I first blew in from Kansas, just let your optics roam lightly over my sister-in-law. She's sitting on my right at my table. And you'll know what starts the cyclones."
Anne smiled. "Your sister-in-law? Is she really, Topsy?"
"Well, I hope you didn't think I chose her out of all the world to be my friend," murmured Topsy. "That's Kate Kane herself in person and no mistake about it. Of course, she's really Mrs. Irving Starke. Irving is a real go-getter and a Rotarian and he's here to attend an important convention, so Kate decided to come, too. You know what men are when they get to New York away from their wives! And Kate says that just because Sam and I couldn't get along together is no reason why she and I should forget the years and years and years we spent running in and out of each other's houses. I'm taking her through Rockefeller Center this afternoon. That's her idea of a treat."
I thought Lorna was luncheon with you today, Anne?" Mrs. Kane rose. "So did I," said Anne, "but we were both mistaken. She had her maid call me up this morning and put me off."
"Get a better offer," declared Topsy, nudging her head as she departed.
As Anne and Bigelow started out a few minutes later, they ran into the Baroness Dermott and Clet Harrison at the door. They were both very much excited.
"What's the news?" asked Anne, steeling herself for what she knew must be coming. She felt the baroness's sharp eyes fixed on her.
"The news about Vronski," said Clet. "We just read it in the papers. He's been killed."
Anne's color reddened and she repeated through dry lips, "Killed?"
"It wasn't acting. Although she had been prepared for it, the situation was requiring all her courage. And she felt a sudden terror of the baroness who was eyeing her so mercilessly and saying nothing. 'Shut in his own apartment sometime last night,' Clet rattled on. 'His valet found him this morning.'"

Reading + Writing

By John Selby

It is just possible that after all one should not write exclusively of oneself. There comes a point of exhaustion.

It is not fair to say that Max Miller has written all there is of Max Miller; to be truthful, his latest, titled "Mexico Around Me," is far better than his recent diatribe against Hollywood.

But "Mexico Around Me" would be more appealing, it is safe to say, if Mr. Miller had written objectively. The opening is an example. At page 98, this reader flogged himself to a stop, and took stock. What, if any, was the impression left by those 98 pages? It was that Mr. Miller had spent lots of time in bars, and that he had only dirty shirts with him. Much of the book had simply flitted by like moths in the night. Many of what obviously were intended to be delicate literary flourishes simply did not come off.

The method is that of all Mr. Miller's books. He wanders with what appears to be an open mind, looking up "impressions" instead of facts. These impressions he keeps inside him until a convenient time for writing occurs, when they are reduced to paper as best Mr. Miller may. When he was writing about his famous waterfront, the method sufficed simply because he knew the waterfront better than any place else. A little more digging is necessary, it seems, to produce a good Mexican travel book.

There are shrewd pages just the same. Many of these have to do with the present state of labor in Mexico. It may be that under a so-called labor government, Mexican labor is in better shape than it used to be. But little that Mr. Miller writes points that way. It seems that the exploiters are from another camp. Mr. Miller seems also to believe that the present Mexican stock, at least that of the peasants, is physically strong and mentally weak. He explains this by indicating that under the old regime peons of initiative were done away with before they made trouble for the bosses, which seems rather a curious explanation.

So it goes. There is a lot of pretty neat anecdotes in the book, and some good description. But some readers will want to reserve judgment.

Collar and Cuff Set

By RUTH ORR
Pattern No. 432
Do you have an old dress that needs rejuvenating? Or a new one that you want to vary occasionally? Then crochet yourself a lovely new set of collar and cuffs and no one will remember how often they've seen the dress you're wearing. At first glance, this design may look very complicated but it isn't really. The little fan-like motifs that constitute most of the design are easy to make although the stitches are new. But the instructions explain in detail exactly how to make these stitches so that even a beginner can make a good-looking set.

GRASS EXPERIMENTS SOUGHT AS WAY TO FIGHT DUST STORMS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (UP) — Rep. Phil Ferguson of Woodward, Okla., asked the agricultural department today to create grass-planting experiment stations in the Oklahoma Panhandle to help reduce damage from "black blizzard" dust storms.

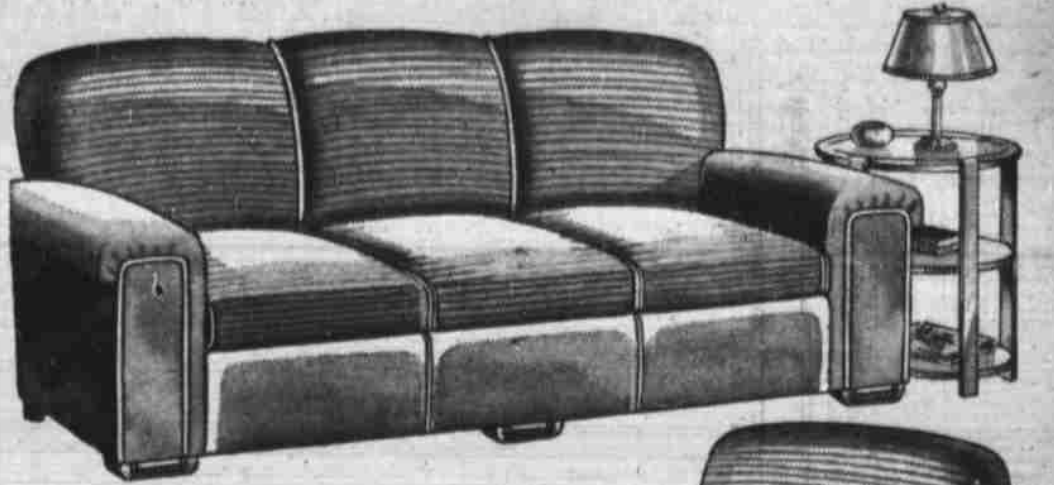

He proposed that when the resettlement administration acquires full title to a 50,000-acre tract in Oklahoma and Kansas near Liberal, Kan., the bureau of plant industry take it over to study general range practices and experiment in maximum uses of available grazing grasses.

He suggested also that the extension service add about 500 acres to its Woodward, Okla., station to conduct more technical experiments in "grass breeding."
