Assembly of God Youth Camp Celebrates 25th Anniversary

By Michelle Bearden

Settled in a shallow bowl on the side of low range of rolling hills, looking down to the winding bed of the Tongue River, the Assembly of God Youth Camp has come a long way from its inception 25 years ago. On July 2, 3 and 4th former campers, leaders and anyone wanting to come and visit will reconvene at the camp to celebrate its 25th Anniversary.

In 1960, Ben H. and Rev. Edna Dillard attended an Assembly of God District Council meeting where a hot subject of discussion was the necessity of renting camps from other church denominations to hold summer youth camps.

Mulling this situation over after returning home, the Dillards decided to donate 41 acres of land from their ranch in S.E. Motley County to establish the much needed Youth Camp. On March 17, 1960, the land and the road to the prospective camp was deeded and dedicated and plans were underway to build on the site 12 miles east of Roaring Springs, Texas.

Ben and Rev. Dillard remained active participants of the Youth Camp for many years, she as camp nurse, he as jack of all trades, often hauling 300 lb. blocks of ice to the camp once and sometimes twice a day. Ben lived to enjoy six years of the camp that he was so instrumental in bringing about. Rev. Dillard, now in her 80th year, brown eyes glowing with memories of early camp years, reminisces, in a voice gravelly after 59 years in the pulpit, of the cold, windy day that the road to the camp was begun.

Today's camp is run by a gentle, towering man with a seasoned tan and steady blue eyes, by the name of John Murdock. Murdock, with a smile always just beneath the surface, orchestrates the departure of the 267 kids from the first kids camp of the year, the 8-12 year olds. He solemnly accepts hugging farewells and serious handshakes from kids who hale from all over the West Texas Assembly of God

District, as close as Paducah and as far away as El Paso. Murdock, with a Pastoral Ministry Degree from Southwestern Assembly of God College, is the District Youth Director and Educational Director for the 115 churches in the District. He is involved with setting up youth groups and Sunday School seminars as well as serving as guest preacher for various churches.

The camp hosted over 1000 kids in 1986 and there will probably be around 1200 this year, according to Murdock. Offering a curriculum of bible classes, drama, photography and the publication of a camp newspaper. Young campers also enjoy the use of the swimming pool, basketball and tennis court, baseball diamond, and volleyball. The youth camp is open to a child of any faith, as it is, Murdock asserts, more important for a child to find Christ rather than become a member of the Assembly of God Church.

Murdock stated, "I am willing to say there have been more souls saved, more people receive the baptism of the Holy Spirit and more decisions made for the ministry here, than anywhere else in West Texas."

John and wife, Sue, first came to the camp as youngsters in 1964. This is the second year that they have brought their three children to camp, sharing a firm belief in what Christian influences can accomplish. Murdock states, "Young people come to camp and find Christ to be the Lord of their lives and also have other kids around them with the same focus. Christ is the Theme here."

It takes around 30 counselors, 13 workers, a maintenance man and two full-time cooks to keep the camp running smoothly. Murdock and his staff are set on continuous improvement of the camp facilities.

The grayed adobe colored cinder block buildings are patterned in odd angles to one another and surrounded by the lush green lawn and carefully nurtured trees which have benefitted from a newly installed sprinkler system. The slate sky with pockets of bright blue peeking through thick thunderheads overlook the youth camp as youngsters throw a chorus of good-byes to new friends the last day of camp, some to return for the next session. Slowly, the exuberant voices die away as the kids are homeward bound. As the camp is vacated and stillness reigns, an air of expectancy persists, as if it is already waiting for the arrival of the next group of campers.

Twenty-five years of youngsters coming and going, some with lives changed forever, others who come again and again to rededicate lives that have strayed through the year past, and then there are those who are seemingly untouched. But the work, the vision, goes on, ultimately to produce a host of future preachers, teachers, missionaries and disciples that get their start at the Youth Camp perched above the Tongue River in the midst of the mesquite choked pastures.

Take Another Look At That Flag.....

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following was submitted by Annie B. Cloyd and was taken from her home town newspaper, Light and Champion from Center, Texas.

Dear Young American,

This is your flag. You know that of course. You salute it in your classroom. It flies over your school, over your buildings, your parades, parks and playgrounds. You honor it in your church or synagogue. It flies too from your own front porch, in your back yard, on the scout camp pole.

Yes, you recognize the "Stars and Stripes" but is it saying something for you - doing something for you. Are you angered when you see it defiled or ridiculed. Does your heart beat faster, your eyes glisten with tears when you behold it unfurled in the breeze. Or is patriotism perhaps religion - you don't know if you've "got it" until you need it.

I was once a young American too and no more or less patriotic than you. I pledged allegiance to the flag and sang "The Star Spangled Banner" as best I could. Until Hitler raised a heavy hand and smashed his fist into the heart of Europe...until Japan directed a savage attack on our shores. Then I was catapulted into a wartime world I could never have imagined.

I became a soldier, sailor, airman, marine. My brother, my buddy, and I followed the flag as it billowed against the gray sky and sea and battleshp. We saw the colors ground into the sands of North Africa; shredded on the coral of Corregidor; bloodied on Omaha Beach. My brother raised that flag on Iwo Jima. My buddy cried when he sighted the flag flying over his England air base as he, and two few of his comrades, returned from the Schweinfurt raid. A brother kept his eye on a tattered flag from battle to battle until the battles were no more. And for a buddy it was the last blanket to cover his body before it was buried in foreign soil or slipped into a watery grave.

And I...I watched our flag until it was no longer there to watch. I parachuted from a flaming plane over Germany - surrendered to an overpowering army on Bataan. I was marched along at bayonet point; I was transported like an animal - to a "stalog" or to a jungle camp. Guarded, taunted, barricaded - I was a prisoner of war. For days, months, and year after endless year, I existed under a flag that boasted either a rising sun or the Nazi swastika.

What my captors failed to realize is that although they shaved my head, starved my body, deprived my soul, and denied me basic human rights, an American flag fluttered in my heart.

Pride in what the "red, white and blue" stand for buoyed my spirit. God watched over me, my compatriots sustained me and I survived.

Can you understand what a blessed, beautiful sight that flag was to me when I viewed it at last in New York - San Francisco. Why that flag waved to me from sea to shining sea, beckoning me back to my farm, my shop, my career, my family. That flag cried out to me, "Look...look...I am still flying...I always will." I did look. I wept. I thanked the Lord for returning me to this good land.

And now my young American friend, will you do something for me. Take another look...a good, hard look...at that flag.

Ex-prisoner of war

BARBARA'S BYLINES

First I want to apologize for not being available to take pictures of Pepper Nichols and his famous dogs. It's hard to cover everything.

I hope everyone will notice the new head for the Library Notes. Earline Vaughn's granddaughter Teresa Vaughn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Key Vaughn of Austin designed it. Good job Teresa!

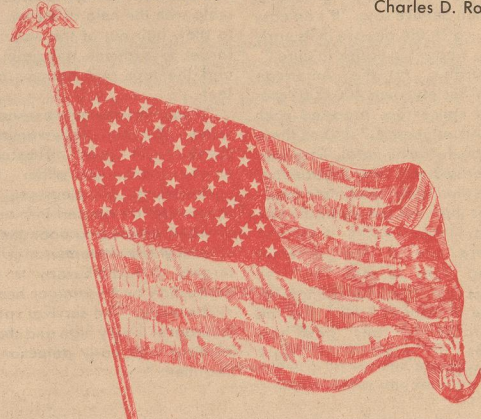

Last Tuesday night as I was going home after work, the new activity bus was pulling up at the baseball field. Heads turned and kids started running to get on it and take a ride and so did I. It was a very exciting time, so many smiles and giggles. Lots of pride to know that we, "The People of Motley County", have a beautiful bus for our youth to ride to and from all school activities.

Recently the Editor of the Lockney Beacon, Jim Reynolds wrote an article about small town newspapers. He wrote, "We admit to being embarrassed to look at the eight, ten and twelve page Motley County Tribune. Matador is smaller than Lockney."

He commented that Matador and other area papers have full page food store advertisements and other large ad supporters that it takes for operating funds.

As times get hard, everyone suffers, but my staff and I want the people of Motley County to know how much we appreciate your support and also the people supporting all business in Motley County, so we can all continue to stay alive and progress.

THANK YOU MOTLEY COUNTY AND HAPPY 4TH.

NEW BUS ARRIVES

A 46 passenger, diesel, Trailways Bus is decked out in Motley County School colors and logo for all transportation to all school activities. Everyone will be very proud to step off this beautiful new addition to our school.

Jo Ann's Jots & Jingles

By Jo Ann Dickson

I wrote my first JOTS AND JINGLES on February 28, 1985, when Leon Watson owned this newspaper. Shortly thereafter, my daughter, Patsy Tippin, bought the newspaper and I became a permanent fixture.

Patsy and I learned about "putting the paper to bed" by ourselves. It was an experience I will never regret and one that I hoped would last. But the Tippins moved and Barbara Jameson became the new owner of the Motley County Tribune.

Barbara was gracious and allowed me to continue my weekly JOTS AND JINGLES.

However, I believe the time has come that I must discontinue my weekly visit with you. Many people have been gracious, some indifferent and some very much in disagreement with me. But then, it takes all kinds doesn't it?

So on this Fourth of July weekend, I will bid you a fond adieu and thank you for being my readers and go out with a BANG!!

Anger is one of the sins that we sweep under the rug and excuse it by saying, "Well, we are all human and we all get mad sometime." Nevertheless, anger is not taken lightly by God. It is instrumental in the cause of child abuse, emotional disturbances, broken spirits and broken homes.

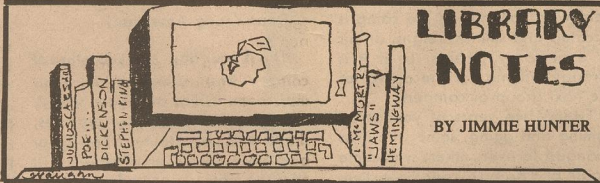

God, in His word, elaborates on this subject with clarity. He calls one who loses his temper "a fool" and one who holds his temper "a wise man." (Prov. 29:11, 14:17) He says, also, that a man of great anger shall bear the penalty. (Prov. 19:19) Unfortunately a man or woman's family also bears the penalty. The Bible tells us in Prov. 22:24 not to even associate with a man given to anger or not to go with a hot-tempered person lest we learn his ways, and find a snare for ourselves.

We cannot keep anger from rising up within but with our Father's help we can control it and not allow it to manifest itself. We cannot keep sinful thoughts from coming to our minds but we can quickly cast them down. Anger can be compared to the old cliché, "You can't stop the birds from flying over your head, but you can stop them from building a nest in your hair." We know that anger is controllable because we read in Eph. 4:31 "Be angry and yet do not sin, do not let the sun go down on your anger."

We sometimes excuse our temper by calling it "righteous indignation" and bring up the event of Jesus driving the money changers out of the temple.

We claim to be spiritual people, but if we are walking by the spirit we will not carry out the desire of the flesh. "The deeds of the flesh are evident, which are: immorality, impurity, sensuality, idolatry, sorcery, enmities, strife, jealousy, OUTBURSTS OF ANGER, disputes, dissensions, factions, envying, drunkenness, carousing and things like these, of which I forewarned you that those who practice such things shall not inherit the Kingdom of God." (Gal. 5:19-21)

What an exciting and interesting week this has been at the Library! So many new things to report!

Our new summer worker at the Library is Gilbert Hernandez. "I'm a student at Motley County High School, I'm living with my legal guardians, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Gonzalez. I have enjoyed my first two days at the library and have had fun with the children" says Gilbert.

Friday morning, I had just read the note left by Mrs. Vaughn, telling me that Adla Fita of the JTPA Summer Youth Work Program had called to say she had interviewed Gilbert Hernandez the day before and if we found him satisfactory, he met their requirements. After a brief interview, I called the Crosbyton office and put him to work. By the end of his first day of work, he had emptied the overflowing return book box, assisted in checking out 43 books, instructed children in the use of the computer, and made great progress in getting the Easy books in alphabetical order on the shelf. If Gilbert is not already a friend of yours, I know you will enjoy getting to know him as he helps you at the Library this summer. Welcome, Gilbert!

Did you notice the new artwork on our LIBRARY NOTES heading last week? It was designed for us by Earline Vaughn's granddaughter, Teresa Vaughn of Austin, TX. Teresa is an art major and the daughter of Roma and Key Vaughn. The design arrived in Wednesday's mail just in time to make last week's edition. I hope you like it as well as I do.

A large number of children, parents and grandparents, were waiting at the Courthouse lawn Saturday morning when Pepper Nichols of Wichita Falls presented the CHINO AND LOGAN SHOW. Chino's free-style show was the major attraction, as he made high frisbee catching leaps, dashed between his trainers legs, or jumped over his back. Chino is a real ham when it comes to performing. He loves children, and allowed them to pet him and returned the frisbee to them when they were allowed to play with the dogs at the close of the show. Chino is a seven year old, part Labrador, part bulldog who was the 1985 K-9 Disc Master World Champion. He was four times Gains World finalist and has earned trips to San Francisco, Chicago and Washington D.C. He has performed before

A GUIDE TO CLAY TILE FLOORING

Clay tiles give a cool feel and southwestern or Spanish look to homes. If you're selecting flooring for an entryway, kitchen or family room, consider the advantages and disadvantages of the different types of clay tiles.

Quarry tile is a baked product, usually found in an unglazed or natural form for home use. Because it's extremely porous, it requires an oil-based sealer for stain resistance.

The colors of quarry tile range from terra cotta to slate blue. You'll need to clean it with a damp mop and synthetic soapless detergent, rinse and sponge dry, then wax with a water based wax.

Ceramic clay tile is non-fading and very resistant to wear. It's available glazed or unglazed and doesn't stain from grease or chemicals, which makes it a good choice for kitchens. Ceramic clay tile is available in many shapes and colors. Be aware that certain ceramic tiles are use only for walls, and others are use only for floors. Make sure you get flooring tiles, since wall tiles will not be as durable.

Wash ceramic glazed tiles with synthetic detergent. If the tile aren't glazed, apply a coat of water-base wax for protection.

Mexican clay tiles have a crud base with a smooth surface. The are durable and inexpensive, but available in only limited colors.

True Mexican tiles or "pavers" are still produced by hand wit local clays and dried in open field. Firing in primitive ovens leaves them porous. Although they are less expensive, you should order 2 percent more than needed to allow for tiles that break in shipment c those that are defective.

Mexican tile requires installattic by a professional on a deprese floor, because they're about an inch thick, uneven, warped and dr

For care, the Mexican til requires regular dusting. Wash occasionally with a synthet detergent then wash it with a wate base wax.

Social Security Tips

by Terry J. Clements

Millions of young people will work this summer, many for the first time. If you are one of them, there are some things you should know about Social Security.

First, you need a social security card as most work today is covered by social security. Most teenagers already have cards. If you don't have one, contact the Social Security office.

While you work in 1987, a little over 7 cents from each dollar is deducted for social security taxes. Your employer matches this amount. These taxes help to finance monthly retirement, disability, and survivors benefits for about 38 million Americans, as well as medicare hospital insurance for most older people and some with long-term disabilities or permanent kidney failure.

Someday benefits also may be paid to you and any dependents if you have credit for enough work covered by social security. In 1987, you earn credit for one-fourth year of work (called a "quarter of coverage") for each $460 in earnings, up to a maximum of four credits for the year.

All covered wages and self-employment income are recorded under your name and social security number on a lifetime earnings record. Entitlement to and the amount of future benefits will depend on the completeness and accuracy of that record.

About every 3 years you should request a statement of your earnings record to make sure it is correct. You can get a form at any Social Security office for requesting this free statement.

There are special rules that apply if you receive $20 or more cash tips in a month. They must be reported in writing to your employer within 10 days after the month ends. For more information about this or anything else regarding benefits or taxes under the program, you may contact us at 1401-B West 5th Street, or call us at 293-9623. Appointment can be arranged if desired.

Efforts For Method To Reduce AIDS Risk In Process

HOUSTON - A vaccine for AIDS will probably be years in coming because there currently exists too great a risk that a vaccine will cause the deadly disease, according to researchers at Baylor College of Medicine.

However, these researchers have joined with colleagues in Sweden to develop a method to reduce this risk.

Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, AIDS, is a fatal disease that destroys the body's ability to fight off infections. It can be spread through sexual contact or blood.

Vaccines, like that for polio, involve the injection of a killed or weakened form of a whole virus into the body, causing the immune system to produce antibody cells that will recognize and destroy the real virus when it appears. In the case of AIDS, however, if some of the virus were to revive, the vaccine would cause development of the very disease it is meant to prevent.

"The same approach used to develop vaccines against earlier viruses, such as polio, is inappropriate for formulation of an AIDS vaccine," said Dr. William Hutchens, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Baylor. "There would be a remote possibility of transmitting disease that is not only fatal for the recipient but potentially to others as well. Some of the first recipients of the polio vaccine did contract the disease, and no one wants to take that chance with AIDS."

So instead, Baylor researchers have joined with scientists in Sweden to study how harmless proteins of the AIDS virus can be attached to a substitute material that, when injected into the body, would produce the desired antibodies.

Dr. Hutchens and Professor Bror Morein at the University of Uppsala, Sweden, are studying how to attach AIDS surface proteins to microscopic, cage-like structures, called Immune Stimulating Complexes (ISCOMS).

"The AIDS virus is surrounded by a coat of proteins that work like antennae in recognizing, attaching to, and attacking cells of the immune system," Hutchens said. "The idea is to isolate these surface proteins and attach them to ISCOMS, which better mimic the natural virus without running the risk of actually infecting a person with the disease."

To date, however, attaching AIDS surface proteins to ISCOMS has been difficult. Professor Jerker Parath, University of Uppsala, who invented many of the protein isolating processes used in the world's laboratories today, has been working with Hutchens to improve the binding capability of ISCOMS for the AIDS surface proteins.

"Right now we are testing the effect of different chemicals on the ISCOM structure's ability to better absorb the AIDS protein," Hutchens said.

While he cautions that it could take several years for the ISCOM binding process to be resolved, Hutchens said the same techniques could be applied to developing vaccines for other viral diseases, such as herpes, mononucleosis and the common cold.

Traps baited with a synthetic sex attractant have caught over three times as many boll weevils this spring as were caught in any prior year. That's the word from Ed Dean, Field Service Director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, the organization that has conducted the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program since its beginning in 1963.

That statistic raises a warning a flag on two fronts, Dean says. "It warns those of us responsible for the program that our job this year may be a bigger job than it's been in a long time. And it should alert producers in the control zone that individual early season control measures may be needed well before our program spraying begins."

Target date to begin aerial application of malathion in the High Plains program is September 20, Dean notes, while it's possible, "even probable," that developing weevil populations in some fields will pose an unacceptable crop risk at a much earlier date.

The September start of operations is consistent with the primary program objective of reducing to the lowest possible number weevils reaching the disjunct stage required for winter hibernation, Dean explains. This strategy coupled with the normal winter survival rate of only one to 2.5 percent, he continues, has kept weevils out of the concentrated weevil-free cotton fields above the Caprock as the program is designed to do.

An added program benefit has been a delay in the development of economic weevil infestations in the control area. But officials expect the delay this year may be less effective because of higher beginning numbers.

Program officials estimate that the mid winter of 1986-87 permitted a surprising 16 percent of weevils to survive until warm weather brought them out of hibernation this spring. Because spraying within the control zone last fall held down the number of weevils entering hibernation, the increase in trap catches this spring with the control zone was nothing like the explosion of catches in areas adjacent to the zone on the east. Dean points out that per-trap catches inside the zone were 84 percent below the number trapped outside.

So program entomologists say the concern for crop damage early in the production year comes mostly from the danger of rapid population buildups outside the zone, resulting in heavy migration into less infested fields within the program area.

To guard against production losses experts area advising constant vigilance and immediate control measures when weevils are found in economically significant numbers.

"Protecting the early fruit set in cotton from boll weevils and other insects this year is going to be important," Dean concludes, "and the responsibility for that protection before mid-September rests with each individual producer."

Family Land Heritage 100 Years In Agriculture

Texas farmers and ranchers once again have an opportunity to preserve their family's agricultural heritage as participants in the 1987 Texas Family Land Heritage Program.

January 15, 1987, is the opening date for the 14th year's search to locate Texas farmers and ranchers who have continuously owned and operated their family land for 100 years or more.

The Program is designed to recognize much more than mere ownership. It seeks to chronicle the uniquely personal histories of agricultural productivity in this state, a proud record which might otherwise be lost forever.

Since its institution in 1974, 2,008 properties have been enrolled in the Program throughout the state.

Participants who qualify in the Program receive a certificate of honor in the name of the land and are listed in the annual Family Land Heritage Registry.

Under provisions of the Program, Texas residents who own agricultural land may apply if they can trace the line of ownership from the first family member to the present either through direct relatives or by marriage.

The land, which must be currently productive, must also fit the old U.S. Census definition of a farm; 10 acres or more with agricultural sales of $50 or more a year; or if less than 10 acres, sales of at least $250 a year.

If all the land has ever been rented out, it will not qualify. Also, owners must live on the land and work the property or, if living off acreage, must actively manage the day-to-day operations.

Texas residents who own agricultural property which they think may qualify can obtain application forms and information about the Program by contacting their local county judges or county historical commission chairperson. Forms and information may be obtained from any Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) district office or the main Austin TDA office, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Deadline for this is July 15.

Let everything that has breath praise the Lord. Praise the Lord.

Ps. 150:6

The first paragraph of Stampede Part II was printed incorrectly last week. The following is a re-print of that paragraph.

A few men are left to tell of the stampede of the Hison-Kidwell herd of cattle that were being held in the old wood corral near the Double Mountains. How they became frightened, possibly no one ever knew, but they ran, and not being able to break down the solid wood walls of the corral, the cattle piled up, one upon another and overflowed, absolutely crossing the fence on the crushed, broken mutilated bodies of both the dead and living cattle on both sides of that wood corral that would not yield to the furious pressure of that frightened, mad, crazed herd. Yes! Yes! A few men are left that saw that shocking scene of enough dead and maimed cattle to sink a battleship.

DUFF GREEN'S HORSES

Personally, I never in all my life cared to or tried to make a "Bronck-snapper" of myself. When a horse pitched with me, I think that I was the poorest rider to be found on any range. On the other hand, when a horse fell down with me, I think I was about the closest rider that ever went down the pike, and then is the time a man shouldn't be such a good rider. It is much safer if the horse throws the rider clear of himself when he falls down; still as many falls as I have had, I've never had a broken bone in all my life time.

It has been a long time since I rode steady and as old as I have grown to be, when I ride now, I find no fear in pulling my horse wide open, if necessary. Some years after becoming a stock-farmer, a hog got out of the pasture. In an effort to rope it on a horse in the dusk of the evening and around plunder piles that accumulate on all homesteads, my horse ran onto a turning-plow sitting upright in the weeds with the handle bars towards the horse. I had forgotten about it in my haste and the horse never saw it until he was right on it. The noble creature tried to clear the plow, but being so close, got his front feet tangled in the handle bars that turned him in the air as though he had been fore-footed, and we got an awful fall but no broken bones.

Some people might call that luck or judgement. I call it Fate or Destiny, for when a man is thrown by his horse as high as a housetop, no judgement can possibly be used by the man in the way he falls. He just comes down and hits the ground like a sack of sand and about the same way when his horse falls and gives him a bad spill.

I do not want to write egotistically about myself or my exploits, for in most part they have been little more than ordinary; but I would like to tell you a little bit about one horse I rode, that in some ways was out of the ordinary.

I had a brown "JG" horse named "Brownie". He was broken at the age of two years old that made one of the best cutting horses that I ever rode, weighed a thousand and forty pounds I rode him twenty-five years without his ever falling down with me. If that isn't unusual, come on with your horse and his record. I will certainly take my hat off in honor and recognition to any horse that excelled that. I have seen many cutting horses just as good, maybe better, but never knew any horse that carried the same man so long and always keeping a firm footing. Sure, as that faithful, good steed aged the strenuous hard riding was reduced. There never was a horse that could stand up and hold an exacting pace for that many years. With a good constitution, care and treatment, Brownie lasted a long time. Turned many a cow and never lost his zest for cattle work, was ever watchful and attentive, even in the days of his decline. The last year of his life he was scarcely ever saddled. A splendid, magnificent piece of horse flesh and then he died, I missed him almost as though as were one of the family.

The antithesis to Brownie, when it came to cow-sense, was a nice gentle pony secured for my wife to ride when we were married. "Nick-tie" was as dumb about cow work as any city woman. I rode him quite a good deal and the only thing he ever learned about a cow was in the penning of some wild cows to be broken to be milked. As dumb as he was, he learned what was wanted when one was penning. It was hard for a cow to turn back on him. If she did, she was roped and snaked in the corral at the saddle horn.

Neck-tie was light in weight, but could easily drag a grown cow in the spring of the year and at full length of the rope. That was the only part of cow work he ever took kindly to, yet, he seemed happy and wide awake whenever that had to take place.

DPS Urges Safety For July 4th Holiday

AUSTIN -- The Department of Public Safety estimates that 40 persons will die in traffic accidents in the state during the upcoming Fourth of July holiday period.

For counting purposes, the National Safety Council has designed the 78-hour period from 6 p.m. Thursday, July 2 through midnight Sunday, July 5, as the holiday period.

Last year, during the Fourth of July period, 41 persons were killed in Texas traffic accidents, with four others subsequently dying of injuries suffered during the time frame.

"Even though the 1986 and 1987 holiday periods are the same length, we're hopeful that fewer persons will die this year, in keeping with the steady decline in traffic deaths we have been observing in recent years," said Col. Leo Gossett, director of the DPS.

Though the number of holiday vehicle deaths varies from year to year, the causes of fatal accidents do not.

"Last year, slightly more than 6 out of 10 traffic fatalities resulted from accidents in which either speed or driving while intoxicated were listed as contributing factors," Gossett said. "The message is clear-high speed or driving under the influence of alcohol, and often a combination of both, can kill motorists. It's also very important to remember to wear that safety belt and make sure very young children are in child safety seats."

As in years past, the DPS will conduct its Operation Motorcade program during the Fourth of July period, with periodic reports on the number of traffic deaths occurring during the 78-hour counting period.

Additionally, as part of Operation Holiday, DPS Highway Patrol commanders will be assigning added personnel to patrol the state's highways during the period.

The guests, led by E.J. Browning, sang, "Heavenly Sunlight" as the mothers were escorted to their seats. The recessional was the recording, "Little Rock Getaway".

Vows were exchanged before the Communion Table centered with cascading ivy entwined with pink ribbon and a pink and white satin bow. Emerald greenery draped the wall in the background. Baskets of roses were placed on each side of the altar. The windows were complimented with petunia flowers and greenery. White satin bows marked the aisles and the reserved pews had pink and white satin bows centered with rose buds.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a tea length ivory wedding dress designed with scattered lace motifs and a jewel neckline trimmed with an Alencon lace collar. The A-line skirt was fashioned with a ruffle at the hemline and the highrise empire waist and fitted sleeves had bands of lace. Matching lace and pink rose buds adorned her hair. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses and sweetpeas with lavender net frills and pink and white satin streamers.

The bride wore a family heirloom gold necklace for the traditional something old, something new was her wedding dress, something borrowed was a garnet ring of her mother's and something blue was a garter.

Miss Susan Marie Hunter of Austin was maid of honor. She wore a tea length pink floral designed dress of chiffon and carried a matching bouquet of pansies, sweetpeas and needle point ivy with white streamers.

William Stanley Wigley, Jr., son of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Tommy Paschall Ross of Dallas, brother of the bride and Phillip Lockhard Wigley of Lubbock, son of the groom. The bridegroom wore a pink and white boutonniere and the best man and ushers wore white boutonniers.

The bride is a 1975 graduate of Motley County High School. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of Houston in Clear Lake in 1981 and her Masters of Library Science at North Texas University in Denton in 1986. She is employed at the Mahon Library in Lubbock.

Following a wedding trip to Jamaica, the couple will live in Lubbock.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Flomot Community Building.

The bride's table was laid with a pink lace cloth over white, gathered at mid section with a glittering bow and streamers with heart cutwork. Centering the table was the bride's bouquet. The three tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Doyle Calvert, was a beautiful pink and white pyramid decorated with columna and flowers. It was topped by the traditional bride and groom encircled by flowers and the inscription, "Lisa and Stan". Regina Cruse and Melody D'Ann Ross of Dallas, sister in law of the bride, presided at the crystal punch service and served strawberry slush punch, cake, nuts and mints.

Presiding at the silver coffee service at the groom's table were Sissy Cox of Lubbock, aunt of the groom, and Shirley Wigley of Lubbock, sister in law of the groom. The table was covered with a pink cloth. The centerpiece was a mailbox holding a dogwood flower arrangement, a miniature Postal Mail Jeep, cap and a letter addressed to the couple. ## Families Learn Spanish By Hosting High School Exchange Students

A Greenwich, Connecticut based educational organization has a unique way of teaching Spanish - it sends you a native Spaniard for a year.

Over 500 high school students from Spain will arrive in the U.S. this fall as participants in the Academic Year in America program sponsored by the American Institute For Foreign Study Scholarship Foundation. Students will live with families in communities throughout the U.S. and attend local high schools for one year.

The Foundation is currently seeking Host Families who would like to participate in this unique cultural opportunity. In addition to helping the family learn Spanish, the young people share their foreign culture, customs, native dishes, and way of life with the Host Family.

Host Families can select a student by reviewing a "picture profile" - a photo and description of the student's background, personality and hobbies. The family receives a travel scholarship of up to $800 to be used on overseas study and travel programs and also qualifies for a monthly tax deduction.

The students from Spain speak English, have full medical insurance and are supervised by local Community Coordinators.

For additional information on hosting a student from Spain, call 1-800-248-HOST or write American Institute For Foreign Study Scholarship Foundation, Dept. P-5, 100 Greenwich Avenue, Greenwich Connecticut 06830 or 3661 Buchanan Street, San Francisco, CA 94123.

FISHING IN CANADA

Jim Bennett and son, Bo Derick, accompanied by friends, Ralph Fellers and son Tommy, all of the Dallas area made a flying trip to the Canadian Wilderness for a fishing trip. They were met in The Pas (French for the pass) by L.H. Dirickson and Bobby Mitchell who is a native of Matador and a recent graduate of Texas Aero Tech of Dallas as a licensed air plane mechanic and is currently employed in Dallas.

Dick and Bobby left Matador several days in advance with pickup camper and boat to meet the flyers when they arrived in The Pas, then resumed the trip north to Sturgeon's Landing and Lake Nameru (Nameu) where they set up camp for fishing - all in the Manitoba and Saskatchewan provinces. Lakes abound with Walleye and Northern Pike. After several days fishing the group split and returned to their respective homes after 3,000 miles by car.

SALES OF SAVINGS BONDS FOR FIRST HALF OF FY 1987 IN TEXAS UP 23 PERCENT

Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds for the first half of fiscal year 1987 in Texas amounted to $232,781,413, an increase of $44 million or 23.3% over the same period of 1986, T.J. Morrow, District Director for the U.S. Savings Bonds Division in Dallas, announced today. These sales represent 60 percent of the state's 1987 assigned dollar goal of $388 million.

Sales of Series EE Bonds, amounted to $38,737 during March 1987 in Motley County, Judy Cartwright Volunteer County Chairman, said. The October 1986-March 1987 total for the County was $96,197, which represents 213.3% of the County's 1987 assigned dollar goal.

Nationally, March 1987 sales of Series EE Bonds totaled $703 million, an increase of 17% over last year and the highest sales for any March since 1978. Sales of U.S. Savings Bonds for the first six months of fiscal year 1987 increased 129 percent and redemptions decreased nine percent compared to the same period for 1986. Savings Bonds held by the American public has reached an all-time high of $94.7 billion. The increase in amount outstanding during March 1987 alone was $883 million, the highest for any March since 1943.

Much of the sales growth can be attributed to the new market-based rate which was effective November 1, 1982. The current rate in effect (May through October 1987) for Bonds held five years or longer is 5.84%. The average rate since November 1, 1982 (five years) is 8.68 percent. Bonds held at least five years earn 85 percent of the average rate on five-year Treasury marketable securities during the holding period which is currently 8.68 percent. Bonds held less than five years earn interest on a fixed, graduated scale.

Current rate information is available by calling toll-free, 1-800-US BONDS.

Membership Campgrounds May Promise More Than They Deliver

Camping with the family can be a lot of fun, especially if you can find a pleasant location. Many people have chosen to take their vacations in recreational vehicles and Texas has lots of parks and other areas for these, too. If you are a camper or an RV owner, you may have been solicited to join a "membership campground."

salesperson to put all the promises in writing.

Too many consumers have believed that they would soon be riding horses and swimming in Olympic-size pools, only to be disappointed as the months drag on and no such amenities appeared.

• Does the salesperson say or imply that you will be making a good investment? Some sellers will tell prospective customers that resort memberships now selling for $7,000 sold for only $5,000 a few months ago, for example. If you check with people who purchased earlier, you'll usually find that the sales price actually hasn't changed at all. However, by getting you to believe that the price has already gone up, it's easier to make you believe it will go up even more in the future.

• As in timesharing, the salesperson may try to win you over by promising that you can go camping in hundreds of other locations nationwide and may even promise special rates abroad. Be skeptical. Popular campgrounds and resorts fill up quickly and often have long waiting periods. Don't join a resort just for the privilege of exchanging for another.

• If the salesperson promises to help in reselling your membership, make sure that promise is in writing, too. And, as always, remember that any deal that's good TODAY ONLY should be avoided.

WHY PEOPLE JOIN

Those who buy into these private campgrounds don't acquire ownership interest in land. Instead, they pay charges for the right to camp at certain private locations for a specified number of years. Many of the member families say they joined because they were tired of crowded and unfriendly public parks. Others say they joined because of the amenities offered, such as tennis courts and showers.

HIGH-PRESSURE TACTICS

Like the timeshare industry, the membership campground industry has been plagued by overly aggressive salesmen who make big promises they cannot fulfill. These campgrounds also frequently use the lure of expensive prizes, such as cars and boats, in order to get consumers to listen to their high-pressure pitch.

WHAT TO WATCH OUT FOR

If you do end up listening to the sales pitch for a membership campground (often called a ranch or resort by the promoters), here are some things you should look out for:

• Does the salesperson offer you lots of amenities, such as stables, clubhouses or swimming pools, with the promise that those will be built in the near future? If so, ask for a construction timetable and ask the

Our Dietitians

Helping America eat healthier: That's the goal of dietitians, the highly skilled men and women who get thousands of families started on the road to good nutrition.

Dietitians say: fill up on fiber.

Surprisingly, many people don't know what components go into a truly balanced diet. Many others are on special diets because of health problems. That's when the dietitian's expertise is necessary. A dietitian analyzes your nutritional needs and devises a meal plan you can stick to.

Companies concerned about good nutrition, including the makers of Wasa Crispbread, a flavorful, high fiber bread, are saluting the outstanding efforts of the American Dietetic Association (ADA) in bringing the message of good nutrition to the general public, and offers the following guidelines to help increase your nutrition "know how":

- Always read labels. Ingredients are listed in descending order of usage.
- Fill up on fiber. Crispbreads, muffins and cereals that list whole wheat or whole grain first on their list of ingredients are good choices.
- Lean towards low fat. Substitute whole milk and dairy products with skim or low fat milk products.

Remember When

By Annie B. Cloyd
Box 22
Flomot, TX 79234

Hello Nice Folks, we have had some good rains and most all the farmers have their cotton up and fighting the sand that blows after one of these hard rains, is the thing that they have to be ready for. That just goes along with this farming business. It's a big gamble all the way around but it's such a good life I think.

Well, the Homecoming is almost here and we were wondering what the folks from way out of town will think of this little place now. There just isn't much left here for them to see. Why the old Hi-Mo cafe building has fallen down. It's been sinking down in the middle for a long time and the last hard wind and rain we had has finished it up. Some of the buildings on the west side are still standing but if things keep going as they have been, why they might go next. It's bad too, to think of all the places of business that were here at one time, and now if it weren't for The Hobby Hut, the Post Office, the two Gins and Kathy's there would be nothing left. At one time there were 6 filling stations, 4 grocery stores, 2 hardware stores, a drug store, butcher shop, a movie house, 2 gins, 2 blacksmiths, a laundry, 3 garages, 2 hotels and a motel. Now this was back in the 1920's, so there may have been more places like a Livery Stable or anyway there had to be a place for horses to stay in town, because way back then a lot of folks came to town in their wagons pulled by teams of horses or mules.

It's hard to believe that this country was once farmed with teams and, if you were lucky, you had a plow with a seat on it so you could ride. Boy! Those were the days when you had to be at work by sun-up and stay till dark. If you had a great big farm, why, you had to have lots of help to get everything done so there were plenty of people living here and working for folks with lots of land. Now, with all the big tractors and plows that cover six or eight or more rows at one time, one man can do what it took six or more to do back when we used teams to farm with.

We shouldn't complain these days but we do. Guess that is just being human isn't it? It's hard to be happy with what you have and not want just a little more of "something."

Sorry about missing you folks last week but couldn't be helped. Will try to do better from now on.

Better stop and start cleaning house just in case we have some of our folks come in for Homecoming. So will see you soon and "remember when" again.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST AND STATEMENT OF INTENT

Notice is hereby given that DICKENS ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. (the "Utility") intends to change rates for electric utility service effective July 19, 1987 or as soon thereafter as may be permitted by law. Based upon a test year ending December 31, 1986 the increase requested over actual test year revenues is $1,395,775 or 13.78%.

Effective April 1, 1986 the Utility switched wholesale power suppliers from West Texas Utilities (WTU) to Brazos Electric Power Cooperative, Inc. (Brazos). Based upon a test year which is adjusted to take into account differences in the WTU and Brazos wholesale rates the increase requested is $815,703 or 7.62%. The utility believes that purchasing its wholesale power requirements from Brazos will result in lower total cost. Increases or decreases in the cost of power purchased by the Cooperative are passed on to its members.

The changes are applicable to all areas, all customer classes, and all customers served by the Utility. The Utility intends to change its service rules and regulations including rules relating to obtaining service, the provision of electric service, and discontinuance of service.

Implementation of the proposed changes is subject to approval by the appropriate regulatory authority. A statement of intent including the proposed revisions of tariff and schedules and a statement specifying in detail each proposed change is available at the general office of the Utility located at Spur, Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Texas Department of Health nurses will be in Matador July 8 and 22 and in Roaring Springs July 15.

They are in the Motley County Courthouse Basement in Matador and in the City Hall Building in Roaring Springs.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Tribune received a report from Sonny Jackson, East Mound Cemetery Assn. President, that people need to be aware it is a criminal offence to steal anything from the cemetery.

Recently they have had pot plants, wreaths, etc., removed from the graves. People spend money in these ways to pay tribute to their loved ones who have gone on. These are ways people feel a comfort in their grief and it adds to their grief when they return 2-3 days later to find their plants or flowers removed. Jackson said they had even found where shrubs and rose bushes planted in the ground had been pulled up and taken.

Anyone caught taking anything from the cemetery that does not belong to them will be prosecuted.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

JULY 4th 1987

"When in the Course of human Events"... began the document, so powerful it set into motion a revolution that would shake the world and founded a new nation, separate and independent. When our forefathers penned those words more than 200 years ago, they were shaping the very ideals and principles that would become the foundation upon which we live and work today.

We The People

200 Years of Freedom

This year we celebrate the 200th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution. In many ways, the creation of our Constitution was a more important event in our nation's history than the Declaration of Independence in 1776.

In the 11 years between the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, America was little more than a collection of 13 bickering former colonies.

Under the Articles of Confederation, America could hardly be said to have a government at all. Congress and the courts were ineffective and the executive branch of government was nonexistent.

So in 1787, many of the same leaders who had so recently won our independence gathered in Philadelphia. Included in their number were such men as George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Alexander Hamilton and James Madison.

Their goal was to create a new form of government that would be strong enough to unify the states while absolutely guaranteeing individual rights and liberties.

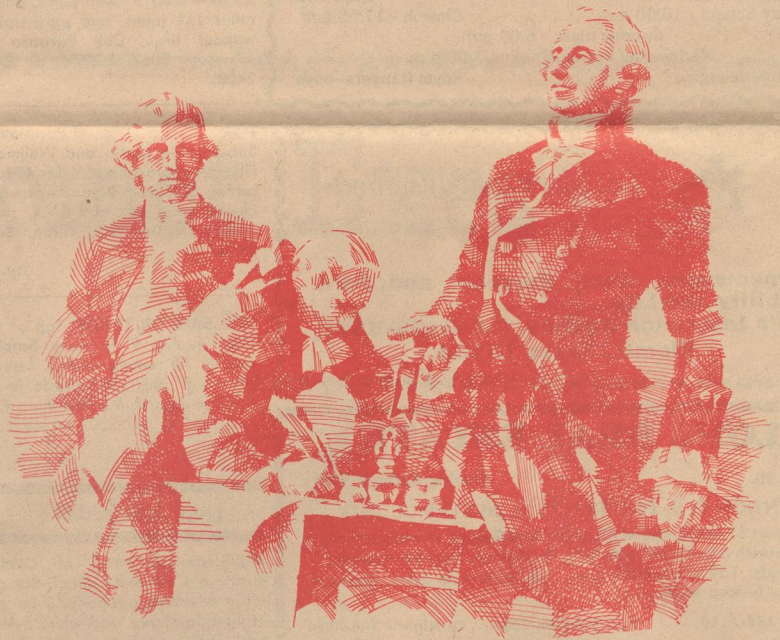

That we are able to celebrate the bicentennial of that Constitution is testimony to their genius. That basic document still protects our right to worship as we please, to speak freely on all issues and to freely communicate with one another through newspapers and magazines without fear of unwarranted government interference or censorship.

That our founding fathers were able to produce a document that would stand the test of time is a tribute to their great political skills as well as their wisdom. Those who went to Philadelphia representing their states began with major differences. Each had a vision of how America should be governed. Hamilton had an aristocrat's fear of "the mass of the people." He was countered by such advocates of democracy as Virginia's Madison and George Mason.

That our Constitution began as a result of compromise, of give and take between widely differing viewpoints, may be one of the secrets of its greatness. It is our legacy of seeking peaceful solutions for difficult problems and allowing opposing opinions to be openly and freely debated. ll

4TH OF JULY SAFETY TIPS:

Eye Injury Prevention

TEMPLE, TX -- WARNING: Fourth of July Holiday fireworks are dangerous to your eyes. It is estimated that 4,000 people will suffer eye injuries, with 1,000 of these resulting in permanent vision loss, according to the American Academy of Ophthalmology.

"Bottle rockets are responsible for more than half of these injuries," says Richard D. Cunningham, M.D., Director of the Division of Ophthalmology at Scott and White in Temple, and professor at Texas A&M University College of Medicine.

"I cannot describe the tragic feeling when we have to remove eyes from children or adults and know the injury was preventable. Wearing protective goggles or glasses will prevent most eye injuries," notes Dr. Cunningham. He emphasizes that children should never be allowed to handle or ignite explosive fireworks.

The most frequently injured person is a ten-year-old boy setting off bottle rockets, according to a three-state fireworks injury survey in Arkansas, Georgia, and West Virginia.

Nationwide, more than half the states have adopted a model law which limits the use of fireworks to licensed displays or relatively safe fireworks such as sparklers. The three-state study indicated that there were ten times more fireworks injuries where no model law was in effect.

Another recent fireworks eye injury survey, being conducted by the American Academy of Ophthalmology, is designed to gain comprehensive information on eye injuries caused by fireworks.

More than 11,600 ophthalmologists in the United States are being asked to participate by reporting how many injuries occur, the severity of injury, and the type of fireworks involved.

SOME TIPS FOR AVOIDING EYE INJURIES DURING 4TH OF JULY HOLIDAY

* Always wear safety goggles or glasses when setting off fireworks.

* Only adults should handle or ignite explosive fireworks.

* Adults should be present to supervise children during the use of relatively safe fireworks such as sparklers.

* Do not put firecrackers in a bottle or tin can, or under a clay pot. When such objects shatter, the fragments are often propelled into the eye, causing serious eye injury.

IN CASE OF EYE INJURY

* Immediately rush child or adult to a hospital emergency room for treatment.

* Never press, rub, or touch the eye.
