Barbara's Bylines

When I was first asked if I would go to the Lion's Club meetings and report for them, I thought I didn't have time for it, but now that I have been going to their meetings for the past months, I look forward to going. It is a pleasure to see the serious working men relax and enjoy an hour. They really have fun at their meetings and do good for the community. Thanks Lions!

Roaring Springs City Council Contending With In-City Livestock Problems

The Roaring Springs City Council met July 8 at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall. Present were Mayor Eugene Watson; City Administrator, Annie Alvarado; Councilmen, Vincente Saenz, Gene Brannon, Roy Hernandez and Ronnie Thacker; City Water Manager, David Saenz.

The minutes were read and approved.

Dickie Johnson of Ober J. Engineering Firm met with Councilmen to discuss water, sewer projects and surveying for the city.

Two residents came to complain about livestock within the city limits causing problems with flies, unpleasant odors and electric fence with safety hazards to children. Councilmen stated that the city has an ordinance prohibiting livestock within the city limits. Councilmen stated they have not, in the past, been able to enlist law enforcement on the local level. A petition was suggested to request feedback from local citizens.

Another resident discussed with councilmen problems with a road to her house which floods with heavy rains. Councilmen were unable to pinpoint a solution. The Mayor related that due to the county maintainer being inoperable, the roads have not been maintained recently.

Returning to the City Council's agenda, Annie Alvarado, City Administrator-manager, indicated her plans to complete her current tasks of planning parks, planning zoning and subdivision, completion of the Economic Development Study and completion of the budget.

Alvarado stated that she would like to make July 31 her last day to work as City Manager but would be willing to stay until August 15. She emphasized the need for the City Council to find a replacement for the City Manager position.

They went into closed session.

4-H Club Reject Building Offer

The Matador City Council met for their regular monthly meeting, July 10. Present were Mayor Gary Lancaster, Councilmen L.B. Campbell, Lewis Bostick, John Briscoe, Joe Smith; City Secretary, Nell Berryman; City Water Manager Bill Jameson.

The bills were read and approved. The City of Friona called the City of Matador stating their desire to buy the hospital X-ray equipment for $500. HUD had given the hospital to the City with the stipulation that HUD gets 75% of amount sold. They decided to not sell the equipment.

Bill Stubbs of the Tetra-Valent Water system had discussed with Bill Jameson, the pros of chlorine gas treatment. Councilmen decided that the city comply with state recommendations.

Ray Minkley for the 4-H Club met with Councilmen to report on the Bakery building. The club voted not to buy the building due to the probable cost of renovating the building for a rifle range and a meeting room. They felt the cost would be comparable. The City Council discussed offering the building to the Library before making a decision to tear it down.

Commissioner's Disagree Over Maintainer Problem

Motley County Commissioners held Commissioner's Court on July 14, 10 a.m. at the Courthouse. Present were: County Judge Billy J. Whitaker; Commissioners, Fraiser Watson, Joseph Simpson, Bill D. Washington and John M. Russell; and County Clerk, Lucretia Campbell.

The minutes were read and approved.

The bills for June are as follows, (figures are approximations.): General $5466.35; Precinct 1 $1647.17; Precinct 2 $172.00; Precinct 3 $1012.11; Precinct 4 $282.70; Lateral Fund $1325.00.

J.P. Report took in $6235.50 in fines in June. Treasurer's Report indicated a balance of $232,637.97.

Library Report: An anonymous donor has donated a lot to the Library, between the old feed store and the Carson Building. Commissioners recommended that the Library Board to find out who owns adjoining lots. Also recommended getting the deed to the lot as soon as possible.

A total of 763 books were checked out during the month of June. The Library has 8268 books available.

C.L. Abernathy, representative from Central Plains MHMR met with the County Commissioners to relate Mental Health Services available to Motley

County residents. Central Plains MHMR serves a nine county area and plans on opening Haven Hospital in the old Nichols Hospital next year. Their statistics show 32 people from age 2 years up to 65 years of age from Motley County have sought use of their services. 53% of those clients are in the 22 to 44 years of age range. The amount that Motley County contributes to the MHMR Center is $640.00 per year for 1986 and will remain at that figure for 1987; in 1986 the State contributed $4267.00.

A motion was made and seconded to reappoint the election judges for another year.

A representative from West Texas Equipment Company met with Commissioner to discuss the Roaring Springs maintainer malfunction involving an electrolysis problem and the cost of repairs. The cost of buying a new maintainer for that precinct was discussed. After a lively consideration of the pros and cons of this subject, the commissioners decided 3 to 1 against buying a new maintainer.

The Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation sent Commissioners Court an order for the placement of bridge signs on county bridges that post load limits. The commissioners reviewed various ways to comply with this order.

Ambulance Abuse Cited By Hospital Board

In session July 11, hospital board members, Larry Hoyle, Caldwell Smith, Buzz Thacker, Darrell Cruse and Lillie Crouch attended to routine hospital business.

Financial report indicated a $19,917.04 bank balance with a total expenditure for July of $3055.83. Bills were read and approved.

It was noted that a continuing problem the ambulance service is facing is people calling the ambulance repeatedly, brought to the hospital and never admitted. The hospital board members highly encourages residents to determine that their needs are truly of an emergency nature before calling the ambulance. It costs approximately $488 per run considering salaries, gas, vehicle depreciation, etc.

The ambulance needs the wheels aligned and balanced.

The Executive Board of S.P. EMS, Inc. had sent Motley County EMS a letter of sincere appreciation for financial support 1985-86.

The Board discussed finding a full time physician and the fact that few doctors want to locate in a rural area.

Jo Ann's Jots & Jingles

Liberty Weekend was special for me not only for personal memories but for the excitement of patriotism displayed. With terrorism so rampant in our world today, I, along with millions of other Americans, sighed a sigh of relief when the planned festivities occurred without incident or tragedy.

The 4th of July day ended for me in a most pleasant way. My grandchildren in Andrews called to ask if I had really lived in New York and if I had really been on navy ships and if I had really been in the Statue of Liberty. Now, almost fifty years later, it was with a sense of pride that I told them what their mother told them about their grandmother was true.

I won't live to see another weekend such as America celebrated on Liberty Weekend in 1986. I wish my father who came to America in steerage from Italy and saw the Lady and passed through Ellis Island could have been here. He was one of "the huddled masses, yearning to be free."

We have recently celebrated Liberty Weekend and what a "spectacular" it was!

I think ABC and all its sponsors are to be thanked for bringing the celebration into the homes of communities such as Matador via the T.V. medium.

On a personal note, it was a day of nostalgic remembrance for me. As a teenager my family lived in New York City and our apartment overlooked the Hudson River. As I saw the USS Iowa and other U.S. naval ships I was whisked back in time to the 1930's when the U.S. naval fleet anchored in the Hudson River. My father and I stood in line to board a tender to the USS Pennsylvania. Then on another day a trip out to the USS Maryland on the captain's gig with my friend and her family. What a thrill to have a tea in the captain's quarters!!!

My mind also journeyed back in time to visiting Liberty Island (then still called Bedloe's Island) and going up into the Lady herself.

"Son Beams"

A young man returned to the farm where he, as a child, had spent many hours receiving pleasure and love from his Grandparents. His heart beat rapidly as he approached the old house where the aroma of coffee, fried eggs and bacon had filled his nostrils in the early morning hours. He visualized the beautiful yard that was always an array of rainbow colored lilacs, petunias and roses. Even the birds seemed to sense that this was a place to be cared for. He could hardly wait to hear the familiar thumping of the windmill as it beat out a perfect rhythm to sleep by.

By June Keltz

Having arrived, his anticipated joy quickly turned into a form of depression as he walked over the weed covered ground and through the dark, dusty, deteriorating house. Life was gone from the old place because his Grandmother and Granddad who had given it life had moved on to Heaven and only sweet memories remained.

We hold tenaciously to spiritual experiences of years ago and even try, from time to time, to recapture them. When we do, we discover that although the experience was wonderful, it is Jesus and not the experience that is meaningful to us.

In First Flight, Olivia won low gross and also had low putts (28); and in 2nd flight, Lucretia won low gross.

BLOCK THAT SUN

Controlling cooling costs this summer really means controlling the effects of sunshine on your home. How much the sun heats your house depends on your home's shape, orientation, insulation, color, materials, landscaping, and most important,--the shade it receives.

Trees, shrubs, trellises with climbing vines and landscaping cut cooling costs by keeping the sun's heat off your walls, windows and roof. So you might consider planting more trees and shrubs as an energy-saving investment as well as a way to beautify your yard.

Building elements, such as overhangs, awnings, shutters, screens, reflective films, drapes, blinds and shades will also help reduce cooling costs.

How much of an impact these devices have depends on their shape and form, location near a window, color and the reflectivity of the materials used.

A "shading coefficient" is used to compare different shading options. It is a ratio of the total solar heat gain through a shading device or window combination compared with the total solar heat gain through a single-glazed, unshaded window.

A single-glazed, unshaded window has the highest value of 1. The lower the ratio, the more effective the shading device.

The most effective shading devices are outside louvers, with a ratio of .10 - .15 and outside overhangs or louvered shadescreens at .25. Properly angled, long roof overhangs can reduce indoor temperatures from 8-15 degrees and lighten the air conditioning load by 25%.

Trees that cast a shadow across walls and roof can provide shading coefficients from .20-.70, depending on density and position.

Exterior shading devices tend to be more effective than interior devices. For example, inside dark shades or blinds have a shading coefficient of .60-.80. So before you start your air conditioner and send the electric meter soaring, think about some ways to add shade to your home and lot.

Wedding Bows Exchanged

Miss Cari Leigh Walker became the bride of Bryan Lee Limmer, Saturday, June 28, 1986 at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church. Dr. Gil Fleer officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Kattes and Barry Walker of Park City, Utah. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Limmer.

Grandparents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ross Carroll, of Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pohl, Matador; and Lee Limmer of Kingsland.

Vows were exchanged before the altar centered with an arrangement of pink and white gladiola and an arched candelabra. Candeltrees at each side were decorated with white spider mums, emerald, and leather leaf. Ivy leaf foliage tied with pink satin bows marked the bridal aisle.

Lighting the candeltrees were Kelly Walker, sister of the bride, and Jayson Limmer, brother of the bridegroom.

Pre-nuptial and wedding piano selections were played by Mrs. Jane Womack. Jeana Fox and Todd Turner sang "Just You and Me," accompanied by Mrs. Womack.

The bride entered the sanctuary to "The Bridal Chorus" by Lohengrin and was escorted to the altar by the bridegroom. She wore a white gown styled of re-embroidered Alencon lace and matte taffeta. Seed pearls and sequins accented the Sabrina neckline, bodice, sleeves and cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was gathered to a cap covered in lace to match her dress. The cap had embroidered seed pearls and sequins. The two tiers of the veil were edged in pearls.

The bride carried a cascade of white bridal roses, white gladiola blossoms, starburst mums, stephanotis, baby's breath and greenery. The white satin ribbon streamers were tied in love knots.

For something old the bride wore a gold wedding band belonging to her great-grandmother, Ona B. Carroll of Garland, Texas. Something new was pearl earrings, a gift from the groom; borrowed was a diamond bracelet belonging to the groom's mother; and blue was a garter, a gift from Peggy English. In her shoes for luck, she wore sixpence minted in the years of their births.

Serving as maid of honor was Kelly Walker. Bridesmaids were Tracy Fortune, Shahala Blair and Jenny Eiland of San Angelo.

The attendants wore tea length dresses of pink satin and lace. The gowns featured a Sabrina neckline, puffed sleeves, dropped waist with a satin bow and a scalloped lace hem. Each carried a nosegay of pink miniature carnations, pink alstroemerias, white starburst mums and white baby's breath.

The groom wore a black full dress tuxedo. His boutonniere was a white bridal rose with white stephanotis and baby's breath.

Perry Echols was best man. Groomsmen were Randy Burrus, Shane Nutt, and Clif Payne. Ushers were Jayson Limmer, Brad Robertson, Gary Don Edmiston and Ronnie Rosas. The men wore black classic tuxedos with cummerbunds.

The bride presented both mothers with a long stemmed red rose as she entered and left the sanctuary.

Closing the ceremony, the bride and groom lit the unity candle and the benediction, "The Lord's Prayer", was sung a cappella by Miss Fox. The traditional "Wedding March" by Mendelssohn was played on the organ for the recessional.

Sabrina Sullivan presided at the registry table. The bride's book lay on a table covered with a white organdy cloth and centered with white porcelain doves and pink tapers. After the ceremony, the reception was held in Wesley Hall. The bride's table was covered with a white eyelet cloth. The floral centerpiece in a crystal vase contained pink snapdragons, pink alstroemerias and white spider mums. Silver appointments held punch and mints. The all white four-tiered wedding cake featured wedding bells and fresh pink flowers.

Both are graduates of Snyder High School. The bride attended Western Texas College and will attend Texas Tech University as a business major. The bridegroom, an Animal Science major, will be a December graduate of Texas Tech University.

After honeymooning in Nassau, Bahamas, the couple will live in Lubbock.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was given at The Willow Park Inn. Wedding courtesies included a gift coffee, a kitchen shower, a lingerie shower, a bridal luncheon, a bridegroom's lunch, and a barbeque held in the couple's honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pohl attended this gala affair.

MANAGING SURVIVAL 1986

BEEF PRODUCTION ISSUES

What management practices should cattlemen look at to increase profitability? The most important thing that cattlemen need to look at is calf crop percent. Second is weaning weight. A producer can also influence the price he receives for his calves by paying attention to the quality of the animals he produces, which relates to breeding. So a producer needs to be concerned with optimum calving seasons, good reproductive and health management, bull and heifer selection, and record keeping. Annual cow-calf expenses can be kept to a minimum with a controlled calving season that is tied to peak forage production.

weight and 205-day adjusted weight. This tells a cattleman how many pounds of calf each cow produces—her contribution to the total herd. If a producer would rank his cows based on the weight of calf produced, he would find the top half are making money while the bottom half usually are not. Along with these two production record systems, a cattleman needs to keep up with all operating expenses—financial records to determine production costs. By keeping up with production costs, a cattleman will be able to determine whether his management practices are returning a profit.

weaning weights and overall herd performance?

A producer must give emphasis to those things that make money while at the same time keeping inputs in check. Having an optimum calving season is one of the most important production practices that a producer can implement to turn a profit while holding down costs. Calves born right before good, lush grazing becomes available in the spring can take advantage of this situation and gain more weight, bringing in more total dollars per head. This also means that cows that have just calved will recuperate much more rapidly and will rebreed quicker. Therefore, optimum calving seasons increase weaning weights and conception rates without increasing costs.

A second practice that can pay handsome dividends without an overly large investment is to buy a good bull. A producer can afford to spend $1,500 to $2,000 for a bull with good performance records. Studies have shown that over three to four years, a producer with 40 cows can actually have a net return of $3,000 to $4,000 from that kind of investment as a result of increased weaning weights of calves.

Another practice that maximizes weaning weights of calves in addition to treating them well in all management practices is to use growth implants. A dollar invested in implants can return $20 to $25 per head. For dollar invested, it may be one of the best practices of all.

What should cattlemen do with regard to herd size given the current economic situation?

This is the greatest time for a producer that wants to stay in business to really cull down his herd—to weed out those animals that are not performing at a high or optimum level. It's also a good time for someone interested in getting into the cattle business because there are good buys available from breeders with good herds leaving the business due to the depressed economic conditions in the industry. When buying cattle, make sure they are not culls and are from herds with good management programs and that records are available on the performance of individual animals.

How can a cow-calf producer use less land and dollar input without reducing his calf crop,

What type of record systems should cattlemen use for making sound management decisions?

Records, of course, should indicate calf crop percent, weaning weights and production or operating costs. In addition, records should be kept on each individual cow and calf to monitor their performance. For instance, producers need to know how many cows in the herd are pregnant after the breeding season each year. This means palpating cows 60 days after the bulls have been removed to determine the conception rate. Open cows should be culled because they add to expenses without producing a calf. These records also should show calving intervals.

Records on the calf should include the birth date, weaning

IT'S A FACT!

An international treaty regulates trade in endangered species. Also, U.S. laws govern this country's wildlife trade. Despite these controls, illegal imports of crocodile skins, snake and lizard skins continue. In a typical year, 400,000 live reptiles, five million skins, and eight million manufactured reptile products are imported into the U.S. As many as one-fourth of these imports are illegal.

The World Wildlife Fund, in cooperation with the U.S. government, is working to improve this record. If you have questions about wildlife trade issues, you can write to WWF's trade monitoring program at TRAFFIC (U.S.A.), WWF, 1255 23rd Street, N.W., Washington, DC 20037, or call (202) 293-4800.

SEE YOUR DOCTOR

DON'T IGNORE ALLERGY SYMPTOMS

If you're like many of the one in six Americans with hay fever, you'd almost rather ignore its symptoms than treat them. That's because the treatment sometimes was worse than the condition. Now, however, your doctor may have good news for hay fever sufferers.

Your doctor can now prescribe a new antihistamine specially formulated to relieve the bothersome side effects of allergic rhinitis, or hay fever — sneezing; runny, itchy nose; watery eyes; breathing trouble — without causing the usual side effects — drowsiness, dulling of the mind, and sleepiness.

The symptoms of hay fever occur when dust, pollen or another allergen provokes your body's immune system to produce a special antibody and a series of reactions that release a substance called histamine. Histamine and other substances cause the symptoms associated with hay fever. Antihistamines, which have been around since 1946, effectively block certain receptors to these substances in human cells.

Like other antihistamines, the new drug Seldane is prescribed for relief of seasonal allergic rhinitis. Unlike earlier medications, it does not cause sedation because it does not readily cross the blood brain barrier.

Many people view this as a sneeze-fighting reason to visit their family physician.

THEN and NOW!

One of today's most popular beverages worldwide had a humble beginning. Here, you can trace its history.

Then: In May 1886, the first Coca-Cola was sold at a soda fountain in Jacobs' Pharmacy in downtown Atlanta. The recipe originated in the backyard kettle of an Atlanta pharmacist, Dr. John Styth Pemberton. The selling price was five cents per glass. Sales of the beverage averaged only 13 drinks per day the first year and revenues amounted to only $35. In 1888, Asa G. Candler bought the company. By 1895, he proclaimed that the beverage was available in every state and territory in the United States. In 1898 he started bottling the product and in 1915 a universally recognized 6 1/2 ounce bottle was designed by Alexander Samuelson. In 1923, for the first time, the sale of the beverage in bottles exceeded sales through soda fountain outlets. The soda has been at the helm of a number of innovations; in 1926 a foreign sales department was established and changed the syrup distribution method to use concentrate processed overseas; the first six-bottle carton appeared in the 1920s; in 1929 the metal top open cooler served ice cold soda in retail outlets; and the Chicago World's Fair of 1933 triggered the introduction of automatic fountain dispensers that mixed syrup and carbonated water.

Now: Today, Coca-Cola, the world's largest selling soft drink, is consumed more than 355 million times per day in over 155 countries. Company sales total nearly $8 billion worldwide. In 1986, the Coca-Cola family is celebrating the Centennial of the famous product. Special events will take place throughout the world commemorating this milestone. Americans are celebrating right along, taking "the pause that refreshes," which has been a part of their lifestyles for 100 years.

Remember When

by Annie B. Cloyd

Hi, Neighbors, it's me again here in Flomot thinking about old times when folks had too far to go for a Doctor so there was a "home remedy" for most everything.

I remember the time when I was about five or six years old, that I was running bare-foot across the yard and stepped on the garden rake. The prong went in between the bones of my left foot and my Aunt grabbed me and pulled it out. The first thing she did was to get a wash pan and pour coal-oil in it and hold my foot down in there for a long time. I know it was hurting bad, but I guess it worked because I don't think I lost any time playing. They more-than-likely put some Watkins salve on a rag and tied it up so I wouldn't get dirt in it and turned me loose.

I went to school with some kids that had a little bag with some stuff called Assafetida in it and tied with a string around their neck. It was supposed to ward off different ailments and it smelled terrible. I always wondered if it worked. Maybe the "ailments" couldn't stand the smell.

When you got a bad cold in your chest, they would put Vicks salve on a rag and get it good and warm and lay it on your chest. My mother would put Vicks salve in the bottom of a paper sack and close the top then hold it over the fire till hot, then open it so you breathe the fumes. Boy! they would be strong but it helped open up your head.

If you had a sore throat you had to eat a teaspoon full of sugar with a few drops of Turpentine in it. That sure was a bad dose because all the sugar still didn't kill the taste of that Turpentine.

When you got stung by a wasp or red ant or something like that the only thing to do was put tobacco juice on it or better still put chewed up tobacco in a rag and tie it up good for a while. Worked every time.

Remember when school kids got the Itch?---That was bad stuff and the sulphur and grease they mixed up and put on you was enough to make you sick. But they had to do something. The saying was, "It's bad to get the Itch, but it's worse to keep it."

Every spring the thing we didn't like was this tonic they mixed up. It was sulphur and cream-of-tartar. Seems like they thought we kids needed to start the year off with a good dose of that.

Better stop for now but we'll get together again and "Remember When" about some more things we used to do.

WTU Seeking Cost Refund

West Texas Utilities Company's retail customers will receive another fuel cost refund and a significant decrease in their future electric bills if a request filed Tuesday in Austin is approved by the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

WTU is asking permission to refund a total of $5.7 million in retail revenues collected in excess of actual fuel costs, and to lower its fuel charge rate for the months of September, October and November. The total refund includes $5,425,372 in actual fuel cost savings which have accumulated from March through June, plus $306,511 in interest.

This would be the third time for WTU to make a refund and to lower its fuel cost factor since its last rate increase in November, 1984. Over $17.6 million was refunded in August 1985, and $9.3 million was refunded in May 1986.

"This is not an actual rate case filing," WTU President Glen Churchill explained. "It is an adjustment possible because the price of our boiler fuel has been declining. Any savings we can make on fuel cost is passed on to our customer as soon as permitted."

The due amounts on customer bills include both fuel costs and base rates. Utility companies are not allowed to make money on fuel. WTU has had no change in its base rates since 1984.

If a reduction in fuel rates, technically known as the Interim Quarterly Fixed Fuel Factors, if approved, WTU officials estimate the fuel cost charges to its customers will drop by 24 per cent, or $7.9 million, during the three-month period beginning in September.

After the state's Public Utility Regulatory Act was amended in 1983 the PUC ordered the use of the fixed fuel factors and their use was recently re-adopted in an emergency fuel rule. Previously, an automatic fuel adjustment matched fuel billings to fuel expense each month.

These immediate adjustments prevented over-recoveries of fuel costs and made refunds unnecessary.

Under WTU's proposal, all existing retail customers would receive refunds through one-time credits to their bills in the billing month of September. A typical residential customer would receive about $11.

Natural gas is the principal fuel for all of WTU's eight major power generating stations. In recent years, fuel costs have amounted to more than half of the Company's total operating costs, but have dropped from all-time high of $3.18 per million BTU in 1983 to $1.88 in June 1986.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. How much money is WTU planning to refund?

A. Fuel cost savings available for refunding amounts to $5.4 million. With interest added, the total is $5.7 million.

Q. How is the interest calculated?

A. In accordance with rules of the Public Utility Commission, interest was calculated at a rate of 13.08%, the cost of capital approved in the Company's last general rate filing.

Q. How much refund can the typical residential customer expect?

A. $11.

Q. How will refunds be calculated and made?

A. WTU will comply with the refund provisions of the Commission's new emergency fuel rule. The total refund will be allocated to each rate schedule based upon that schedule's kilowatt-hour usage for the period in which the over-recovery occurred. Once the refund is allocated to each rate schedule (class) the refund amount is divided by the projected kilowatt-hour usage for that class during the month of refund to develop a refund factor which will be applied to individual customers' usage billed in the refund month. There are twenty-three (23) rate schedule classes.

Q. When did the Commission adopt the new fuel rule?

A. The Commission's new fuel rule was adopted on an emergency basis on February 21, 1986. It has not yet been permanently adopted.

Q. When will the emergency rule become permanent?

A. The Commission extended this emergency rule until August 20, 1986, but has set a July 18 hearing to permanently adopt a rule. The process of permanent adoption of a rule involves accepting comments from interested parties and an open hearing at which comments may be orally presented. The Company has filed initial and supplemental comments on this emergency rule in an attempt to persuade the Commission to modify the rule upon permanent adoption.

Q. Why did WTU over-recover its fuel costs?

A. The PUC requires utilities to use fixed fuel cost factors, which specify the amount to be charged for fuel per kilowatt-hour used by the customer. Because the factors are based on the expected cost of fuel as forecast at the time the factors are set, actual fuel costs probably will turn out to be more or less than the amount of revenue recovered through the fixed fuel cost factors. In the last general rate case fixed fuel factors were set. These factors have been reduced twice since they were set. For the past several months, WTU has spent less on fuel than was anticipated with the result that another over-recovery has accumulated.

Q. Since WTU over-recovered its fuel costs during the past year, does this mean the fuel charges will be lower in the future?

A. Yes. We are seeking to lower the interim quarterly fixed fuel factor for the months of September, October and November effective with the first billing cycle in September, 1986. If further material savings are accumulated, or are anticipated, another refund and/or modification of the fixed fuel factors will be sought.

TIPS ON PICNICKING

Picnics today can be as elegant as dining at home thanks to the impressive array of gourmet take out food available.

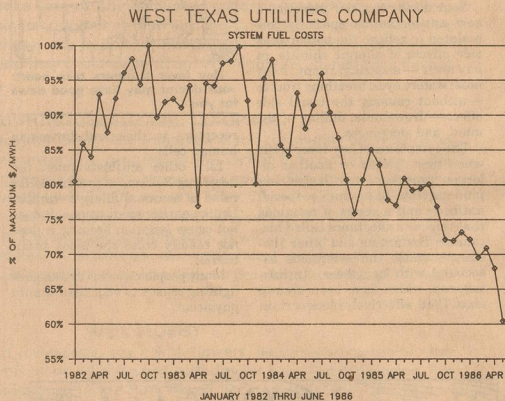

Planning the perfect picnic can be a real picnic if you ponder some food for thought and hints to make it all a bit easier.

- To be sure your cold drinks stay that way, fill the thermos the night before and keep it in the refrigerator.

- Eliminate the mess of buttering corn on the cob. Fill a wide-mouthed quart jar with hot water and add two sticks of butter. When the butter melts, put a cob in the jar and pull it out slowly. The butter, which floats on the top of the water will coat the corn.

- Make picnic planning easier by taking advantage of the increasing array of elegant, delicious and nutritious takeout food available. Today, carryout can mean quiche from a gourmet caterer, a Neopolitan pasta dish from a specialty market, seafood dinners from a fine restaurant. These come in clean, one-time-only plastic containers such as those made by the Nyman Manufacturing Company to keep foods at their best.

- You can picnic in style by putting the food on a table you've created by cutting the legs of an old card table down to about six inches. You can set this in the sand or on the grass.

Air Cleaners:

Relief For Allergy Sufferers Is Here

If you suffer from allergies, house dust does more than flunk the "white glove" test. It plays havoc with your health.

House dust is often a major cause of allergy symptoms like facial swelling, a running nose and scratchy eyes. Even if you're only mildly affected by allergies, it's wise to keep your home as dust-free as possible.

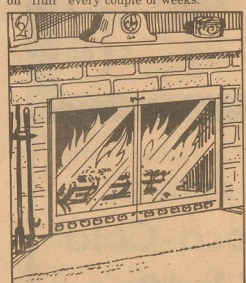

The most meticulous person in the world can't get rid of all the dust in a home. It enters your home every time you open a door or window. And inside, your furniture, carpets, drapes and clothes naturally form dust particles as they age.

So what can you do to defend yourself from this unseen enemy?

Lots. Just take a look at all of the dust traps around your home. Bookcases, knicknack shelves, windowsills, picture frames, upholstered furniture. They're all excellent hiding places for house dust.

To get rid of the dust in your home, follow these simple tricks:

- Enclose bookcases and shelving units with glass doors.
- Tumble drapes in your clothes dryer on "fluff" every couple of weeks.

• Avoid shag, twisted pile and looped pile rugs and carpets because they tend to hide dust and resist easy cleaning.

Installing an air cleaning system is probably the best way to get rid of dust in your home. A high efficiency non-electronic air cleaner attached to your furnace continually cleans the air throughout your entire home. It removes virtually all the bothersome dust, pollen, spores and pollutants as they pass through your furnace.

Clip out this list to remind yourself of other ways to avoid traps in your home.

1. In the bedrooms use fabric-free chairs and headboards. Washable furniture is best.

2. Install your clothes dryer in an enclosed room. And vent it outside.

3. Enclose your fireplace behind glass doors. Close the damper. And store wood outside.

4. Avoid dust-catching knicknacks, bookshelves, and wide windowsills.

5. Vacuum your home at least once a week.

6. Invest in an efficient kitchen exhaust fan and wash the filter regularly.

7. Don't carpet bathrooms. Use washable throw rugs instead.

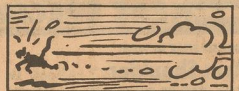

8. Buy rugs, carpets and padding made of 100 percent synthetic fibers.

9. Damp mop floors regularly.

10. Keep your bathroom sinks and fixtures as clean as possible.
