TRAIL DUST

By
DOUGLAS MEADOR

Mistakes in life can not be erased like an error on paper. They must be atoned in service and humility.

Society owes a debt to the ignorant who believe that greatness is measured by the monetary position of the individual. Somewhere in the scheme of things is the lesson that the poor are forever the wards of those who have attained affluence; that greatness is a shadow measured by the length of compassion.

Life is but a vapor, a wisp of smoke caught in the winds of circumstance and dissolved on the shores of some unknown sea. Nothing must remain forever but truth.

The weather in West Texas has always been variable. A friend says he remembers as a boy when they were killing hogs. The water was boiling in one end of the long vat and freezing over in the other.

If you haven't made a mistake one of two things is certain: Either you haven't tried to do anything, or what you have been doing was so uninteresting that no one paid any attention.

The fickle finger of fate often points with amazing consequences to a passive individual who has spent a lifetime trying to stay in the shade of obscurity.

The gross receipts of a life in no way indicate the net returns to society.

Not counting the trouble of being unpopular there is the constant maintenance cost of time in thinking of unkind remarks that will bring discomfort to others.

Former Resident Buried at Tulia

Graveside services for Neal Alexander Patton, 42, formerly of Matador, were held at 6 p.m. Saturday in Rosehill Cemetery in Tulia with the Rev. Roy Johnson of Plainview officiating. Burial was directed by Wallace Funeral Home of Tulia.

Patton was a nephew of local residents Mesdames L. J. Barkley, Alvin Stearns and J. D. Craven and Miss Rachel Patton. He died at 2 a.m. Friday in a Dallas hospital following an extended illness.

Funeral services were held at 4 p.m. Saturday in the Schooler-Gordon Funeral Home Chapel in Amarillo.

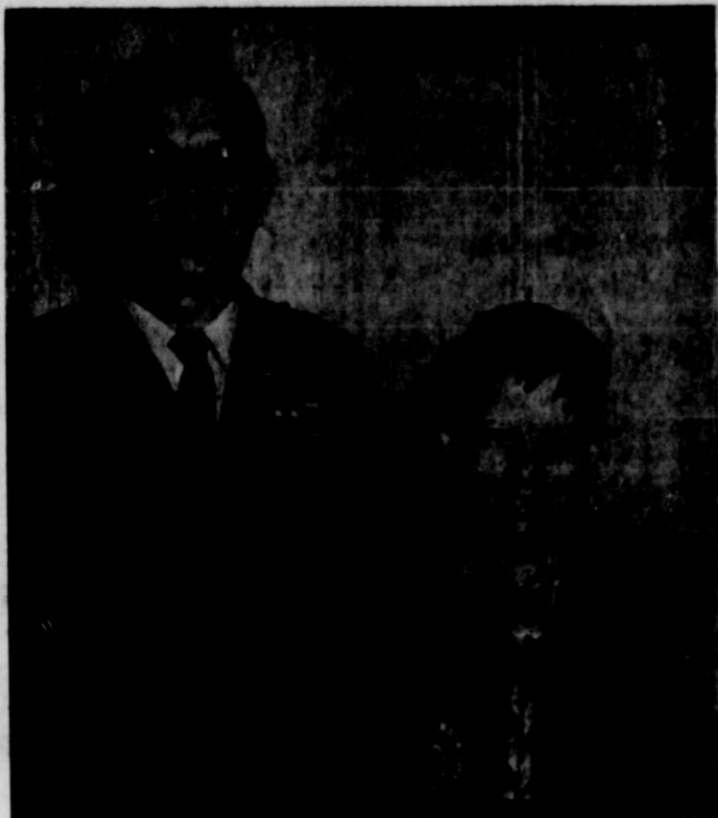

He was born at Matador, February 17, 1926 and moved with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Patton, to Plainview about 30 years ago. The family later moved to Kress. At the time of his death, Patton was living in Amarillo.

Survivors include his wife, Patricia; a stepson, Richard Stuckey of Amarillo; three brothers, Kenneth of Tulia, H. Gordon and Gaines, both of Kress, a sister, Mrs. Fayola Andrews of Lubbock; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. (Buck) Patton of Kress.

Attending the funeral services from here were Miss Rachel Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stearns and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Craven.

Mrs. F. W. Addison was a recent patient in Richards Memorial Hospital.

Also a recent patient there for two weeks, was Bill Groves, who returned home Friday.

Many Visitors At Open House

TUESDAY WAS "JACK BRADSHAW DAY" in Matador when the new ASCS building was dedicated to native son Jack Bradshaw of Bryan, Assistant to the State ASC Committee.

A brief informal ceremony in the building at 10 a.m. was opened with remarks by Stuart Dixon county ASCS chairman, followed by prayer by Rev. Larry Heard, pastor of the Matador First Baptist Church.

A welcome address was made by Mayor F. H. Welling in which he declared he did not have a key to the city to present to each one, but that Matador was honored by their presence.

Former resident and native son Albert Marshall of Wheeler, now Farmer Fieldman for the ASCS, introduced the County Office Managers from ten West Texas counties who were guests.

A brief talk was made by Tribune publisher Douglas Meador, long-time friend of Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw, in which he related some of the early experiences of the old AAA office here where the honored guest first began work for the government agency that is now the ASCS.

Measels Vaccine Administered Here

Seventy-nine grade school and pre-school children were inoculated against measles last Thursday at the Matador Grade School in a program sponsored by the State Health Department and local Medical Society. A nurse and two technicians from the health department were assisted by Dr. J. S. Stanley in immunization processes.

Parents were contacted earlier, and permission was received before the children were inoculated, said Grade School Principal J. E. Edwards.

The immunization program has been in effect in other sections of the nation, for almost two years. Glen W. Snyder, Asst. Director, Oregon Immunization Program wrote in a letter to columnist Ann Landers, in April, 1967, "Measles is a dangerous disease. It can cause mental retardation, blindness, deafness and death. In this day and age no child needs to have measles. In 1963 a sure-fire vaccine was discovered and one inoculation can protect a child throughout his entire life. . . . The Public Health Service has provided enough vaccine to wipe out the disease in a single year."

Committeeman Dixon then presented Mr. Bradshaw with a bronze engraved plaque which dedicates the building to the former resident.

In accepting the plaque, Bradshaw said "Matador will always be home to us, and it is a signal honor that you have bestowed upon me." In a voice traced with emotion, he declared, "We are grateful to our friends, and will always treasure the memory of this eventful day."

The plaque was later hung near the entrance of the new building. Mr. Bradshaw complimented James Stanley, owner of the building, and paid tribute to County Office Manager Richard Newman and the committee composed of Dixon, vice chairman James Taylor and Newton Fletcher, for dedicating the facility in his honor.

In his talk Mr. Bradshaw said the ASCS is the only government agency which has reduced its size. He said the ASCS now has 21%.

RESIDENTS of Matador may soon be paying a 1c city sales tax as now effective in Lubbock and hundreds of other cities in Texas.

An ordinance permitting the sales tax election was unanimously approved last week by the five members of the city council.

It was decided the city sales tax may be the "most painless" method of increasing city revenues to meet the expanding cost of municipal government.

It was explained that Matador has not had a property tax raise in many years, and it was impossible to find when the last general property appraisal was made.

The city has had a static tax situation which will not meet the expanding costs of city government. It was decided by the council to hold the election (probably April 5) and allow the residents to make the decision as to the method they prefer.

While many communities the size of Matador already have a sales tax, it was impossible to determine the amount of revenue that might be received. Some estimates were in the neighborhood of $1000 per quarter, or about $335 per month. If the tax is approved in the referendum, the state would collect the revenue and remit on a quarterly basis.

Election is Called

Terms of three councilmen expire April 5, and a city election was called for that date. Those whose terms are expiring are Dr. J. S. Stanley, Lewis Bostick and Bundy Campbell. Other two members of the council are Kirby Campbell and Howard Edmondson.

Last day for filing for a place on the council is March 5. Late yesterday no applications had been received.

Roaring Springs Lions Sponsoring Outstanding Show

An outstanding show, Virgil and Julie in "One Fantastic Night" is being sponsored by the Roaring Springs Lions Club. The show is scheduled for Saturday night, March 1, starting at 7:30. The performance will be held in the Roaring Springs school gymnasium.

Recently CBS paid Virgil and Julie $3,700 for a ten-minute performance on a national television special from the Ed Sullivan Theatre on Broadway.

The act that was so sensational as to attract this attention from the network was the "London Spirit Seance." The act was developed by Virgil and Julie over a period of years and featured by them on a five-year tour completely around the world.

The "London Seance" will be just one of the many acts that will be presented at Roaring Springs during the two-hour performance of "One Fantastic Night."

Tickets may be obtained from members of the Roaring Springs Lions Club.

Harry H. Campbell

Rites for County's Oldest Native Son

WEST TEXAS HAS LOST one of its last true pioneers, Harry H. Campbell, believed to be the first male child born in what is now Motley County, died at his home in southwest Matador about 6 a.m. Monday. He was 87.

Given the name Henry Harrison, he was born May 15, 1881 at Ballard Springs headquarters of the Matador Cattle Company which his father, Henry H. Campbell established in 1870.

He was president of the First State Bank here, which position he had held since 1937. He had been associated with the institution since 1919 when he became a director. He was a charter member of the Matador Masonic Lodge. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. in the First Methodist Church with Rev. John Fitzgerald, pastor, officiating assisted by Rev. Larry Heard, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Masonic graveside rites were held and interment made in Matador East Mound Cemetery. Seigler Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Henry H. Campbell sold the Matador Cattle Co., to the Scottish syndicate in 1883 and continued to operate the holdings until 1891. It was he who filed on the section of land that is now the city of Matador. He was the primary influence in organizing Motley County, and he was elected the first county judge.

Harry Campbell knew Matador when it was a vacant section of land. His first schooling was through a governess and his first public education was four or five months at Old Estacado. He went to Floydada one month and in the fall of 1891, he was enrolled in the Ad Ran College at Thorp Springs. When the first school opened at Matador in 1892, he enrolled here.

The son of Mrs. John Hamilton and the late Mr. Hamilton, the new DA was elected in November as county attorney and took office in January. He will begin new duties March 1.

Former Resident has Surgery During Visit

Howard Hamilton of Lubbock has been a patient in a Seattle, Wash., hospital since undergoing major surgery Tuesday of last week while on a visit with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Straub, of Bellevue. He was unable to return for the funeral of his brother, John A. Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton left Lubbock about the time the heavy snowstorms hit the Pacific northwest, en route to Bellevue to attend the wedding of their granddaughter. Upon their arrival both became ill with the flu. Mr. Hamilton then had to enter the hospital for surgery, and was unable to attend the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton will remain with their daughter (1106 167th St. S.E. Bellevue, Wash. 98004) until he is able to return home, according to word received here by his sister, Mrs. Melvin Meason.

DOGS DISTURB CLASSES

Dogs following students to the Matador schools are disturbing classes, according to school officials. Owners of dogs are asked to keep them at home and avoid the loss of time resulting from the disturbances. A complaint has been made to the city and it is hoped that dog owners will cooperate with the need of enforcing city ordinances regarding dogs.

"I told 'em it was going to be 'somebody special' if we ever got a West Texas governor and we did," Aunt Zona declared.

Church and Society

Americanism is Theme of Program At Meeting of El Progreso Club

Theme of the program was "Americanism" when El Progreso Study Club met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Freeman Thacker, with Mrs. D. E. Pitts as Program Director.

The president, Mrs. Robert Darsey, greeted the members and guests and thanked the hostess for the use of her home for the afternoon.

A letter of thanks was read from the 1900 patients in the Wichita Falls state Hospital, thanking the club for the Christmas box sent to them. This is an annual project of the club.

For introduction to the program, Mrs. Pitts read a poem by Paul Hoffman and gave a prayer of thanks for freedom. Mrs. W. W. Clements read, "I am Your Flag," (author unknown) and Nancy Higginbotham, a guest, gave a self-composed story on Abraham Lincoln.

The Rev. John Fitzgerald, pastor of the local Methodist Church was guest speaker and gave an interesting talk on "Carl Sandburg, Biographer of Lincoln."

He described Sandburg in his early years, as a drifter, moving from place to place, strumming on his old guitar. "He never finished high school, but later went to college and graduated," narrated Rev. Fitzgerald. "He won many honors and was invited to speak on college campuses and before other audiences. In fact, he became a noted lecturer, as well as author and poet."

Sandburg spent 11 years collecting material and writing the Lincoln Biography, Rev. Fitzgerald related. The last years of his life were spent with his wife on a 240-acre farm in North Carolina. He died at the age of 89 years.

Mrs. Carroll Thomason gave the closing thoughts on Americanism. The next meeting will be in the 8th grade class room at Matador Grade School, with Mrs. Grace McDowell as hostess.

Those attending the meeting in addition to the guests and others mentioned, were Mesdames G. E. Hamilton, J. M. Hill Jr., W. F. Jacobs, Ben Keltz, W. D. Lipscomb, W. F. McCaghren, R. W. Overstreet, W. N. Pipkin, John Fitzgerald, Frank Pott, Fred Simpson, J. R. Whitworth and J. L. Woodruff, and Misses Mary Keith, Amy Glenn and Sue Glenn.

Matadors Receive Football Awards

Head football coach, Max Kennedy, handed out blankets and letter jackets to the 1968 football team February 12.

The new University Interscholastic League rule states: "No member school of this League shall be permitted to issue (and no pupil shall be permitted to receive) awards for participation in interschool competition in excess of $20 (or the equivalent in value) during his high school enrollment in the same high school; except that additional symbolic awards not to exceed $3 each may be presented for additional interschool activity each year." Because of this ruling the junior boys who have received jackets in the past, ordered blankets along with the seniors this year. The freshmen, who will be able to receive only one jacket in high school, received their jackets, and the sophomores received supplementary awards of letters.

Don Cox, and Mark Hill.

The jackets are black with red and white trim around the bottom. The letters are black trimmed with red on a white background; the sleeves are leather. Freshmen receiving jackets are: Rickey Lawrence, Andy Green, Lamar Tison (manager), Kenneth Marshall, Don James, Dwayne Campbell (manager), Bobby Simpson, Bill Barnhill, and Gerald Jackson. Randall Elliott, a junior, also received a jacket.

Team members receiving the supplementary awards are: Larry Jameson, Robert Elliott, Rickey Elliott, Lee Hurt, and Randy Cook.

The blankets, jackets, and letters are regarded as sacred property. A senior remarked that his blanket was four years of hard work.

Typing Classes Type to Music

The typing room blared with the beat of patriotic music Feb. 7.

The typing classes were trying to improve their rhythm by typing to the steady beat of the music. The students found the music either too slow or too fast, and the steady beat was easier to type than their usual jumpy style. What really amazed the students was the sound made by 30 typewriters being typed on at the same rhythm.

The periods were not all play, however: Time writings were taken in the last thirty minutes.

The records used were ones by John Phillip Sousa. "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "Washington Post March" are two that were used.

E. U. I. Presents Science Program

Several junior and senior boys attended a program in the science room, February 13, presented by two representatives, Mr. Schmidt and Mr. Clay, from Amarillo for the United Electronics Institute. The students learned of the great demand for electronic technicians. While automation is destroying two million jobs, it is also creating three million jobs that will require technical training. There is a shortage of 300,000 electronic technicians in the country today. The schools turn out only 16,000 in a combined total a year. This means that a trained technician who is in demand, can ask for better wages and working conditions.

There are seven U.E.I. schools in the United States: The closest one to Matador is Dallas. The courses last two years, four hours a day, five days a week.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

Among cattlemen rises the controversy over which size cow raises beef the most efficiently. Some literature says larger cows, up to a certain point, at least, this may be true, as they tend to give more milk and raise larger calves. To help settle this argument, a "cow size" study is underway at Texas A&M's Livestock and Forage Research Center at McGregor. To date, some of the smaller cows have produced heavier calves on less feed than larger cows, indicating that the size of the calf produced in relation to the size of the cow is the determining factor. This was also brought out by L. A. Maddox, who recently presented a program on cow and calf operations. Maddox's statement was that a cow should wean a calf that was between 50 and 60 per cent of her weight.

Preliminary tests show that the size of the cow has no relationship to the size of the calf weaned, but that milk yield has much more effect on calf size. In nearly all cases, cows that gave the most milk raised the largest calves. Information on this subject was given in a previous news article, and Motley County livestock producers can help by observing the size of calves produced by their cows.

The 10 year study on "cow size" should be helpful to producers, but the final application by the stockmen will determine the value of this study to the individual producers. It will take some time and extra work to compare the size of the calf produced against the size of the cow, but if you can cull out the low producers and replace them with heavy producers, won't the returns be good pay for the time spent?

The winter tick is commonly found on larger domestic and wild animals, with horses and cattle being the most commonly affected tame animals and deer and coyotes the common wild hosts.

The winter tick is a one host tick. This means it usually completes its life cycle on one animal. Larvae begin to attach to a host during Sept. and Oct., with the adult population reaching its peak during the latter part of Nov. or Dec. In Jan. the population begins to dwindle, and by Feb. or March, only a few adults are found on animals.

The tick normally feeds on the host 5 to 7 weeks, but may feed as long as 18 weeks. During the feeding period, mating occurs. After a female drops from the host, it usually deposits 3,000 to 4,000 eggs in 3 to 6 weeks. The summer is spent by the larvae clustered around the base of grass and other plants, not seeking a host until fall.

A heavy infestation can cause loss of appetite, depression and a weakened condition. Loss of blood from heavy infestations weakens and can kill horses. A condition known as "water belly" can be caused under heavy infestations, and the tick is also a vector of anaplasmosis in cattle.

If heavy infestations are noted, controls should be applied, with recommended treatments given in Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock & Poultry, which is available in my office.

Don't be misled by promises of something new and different in the way of garden plants or garden equipment. Many times the so-called "new startling discovery" is just another old, easy to grow plant misrepresented under a new name. This is why it is best to make your purchases of nursery stock and landscape items from reputable, well established firms. The itinerant peddler and vacant lot operator should be checked closely as there is seldom any recourse in the event that the plant fails to grow.

Fertilize Cotton to Boost Yields, Quality and Profit

By: T. R. Cox, Chief Agronomist
Cyanamid Agricultural Research Center,
Princeton, N. J.

High yields of cotton and high soil fertility go together. Research and experience show that you can't have one without the other. It is easy to see that the grower who continues to make a success of cotton relies heavily on the use of fertilizer to keep yields high and unit costs low, the combination required for a high net return per acre.

Of course it takes much more than fertilizer to be a success in the business of growing cotton. Total management is required, and this means close attention to several key factors:

- (1) Select only your most fertile well-drained soil and prepare the seed bed for deep root penetration.
- (2) Plant good quality seed, treated against seed and soil-borne disease.
- (3) Test your soil and fertilize generously.
- (4) Plant in a warm soil for rapid seed germination.
- (5) Carefully manage irrigation water.
- (6) Knock out competitive grass and weeds.
- (7) Control insects early and throughout the season.
- (8) Defoliate for timely harvest and better quality lint.

So high yields are no accident—they result from plans carefully made to fit the farmer's particular situation.

Fertilizer needs vary considerably from area to area. This emphasizes the importance of soil testing and consultation with your local dealer and agronomist in arriving at a program. Deficiencies in the secondary and micronutrients are also observed more frequently as yields per acre increase. Sulfur, boron, or other elements are needed in many cases in addition to N, P and K.

Surveys show that more lime must be used on many soils in the South to insure maximum response to fertilizer. A South Carolina study, for instance, showed that liming from pH 5 to 6.5 increased seed cotton yields 289 pounds per acre.

In all areas nitrogen is one of the most limiting factors of all in cotton production. Anhydrous ammonia applied prior to planting is probably the most used source of N. It has the advantage of being resistant to loss through leaching, applied deep in the moist root zone, and it is the highest analysis, lowest cost source of N available. Ammonia is also excellent for side dressing where total needs have not been applied before or at planting time.

Another important benefit from a full fertilization is the increased efficiency in water use by the cotton crop. Research shows that water use efficiency has been increased by 50 percent or better by a balanced fertilizer program. This "drought" insurance from fertilizer is a valuable dividend to consider in stretching the season's water supply from irrigation and rainfall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Ross visited in Olton, Thursday, with their daughter and family, the J. L. Carsons, and with their son, Tom Ross and family. Tom Ross left Monday morning for Dallas, where he entered Veteran's Hospital for more surgery.

Work Committee Leader Endorsed By Farm Bureau

LUBBOCK — (Spl) — Jose Mendoza, a spokesman for California farm workers who are resisting compulsory unionism efforts by Cesar Chavez and the AFL-CIO, will speak at an area-wide Farm Bureau meeting Feb. 27 at the

VIRGIL is shown above in the outstanding performance of Virgil and Julie in "One Fantastic Night" presented under the auspices of the Roaring Springs Lions Club, Saturday night, March 1st. The two hours of entertainment includes hypnotism, ESP, music, fantasy, telepathy and seance KoKo Palace here, according to H. L. (Hub) King, District 2 director, Texas Farm Bureau. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and is open to the public.

Mendoza is a leader of the Agricultural Workers Freedom to Work Association, an organization formed last year to combat harassment and intimidation by organizers and sympathizers of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (AFL-CIO), led by Chavez.

Since September, 1968, Medoza has been traveling throughout the country under the joint sponsorship of Californians for Right to Work and the National Right to Work Committee. He has become widely recognized as the spokesman for the majority of California's vineyard workers.

Mendoza's appearance in Texas at this and a number of other meetings is being sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau.

"We are pleased to have Mr. Mendoza in Texas to give the inside story on the harassment and intimidation of grape workers in California," Sidney Dean, Victoria, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, said. "He tells the 'third side' of the labor controversy there—not the growers' or the union's—but the viewpoint of the workers themselves."

Dean said the UFWOC had been unsuccessful in its campaign to sign up workers last summer when, with the aid of the AFL-CIO, it called a nationwide boycott against California table grapes. This was done, he said, in an effort to compel growers to sign union contracts and force workers into the union.

The TFB president said that the boycott was effective only temporarily in some markets and that growers were able to sell all of their crop. He added that growers are expecting an intensified effort this year against California grapes.

"We in agriculture must not permit the unions to have success with the powerful boycott weapon," Dean said. "Today it is grapes—tomorrow it could be any commodity! That is why we are inviting Mr. Mendoza to come to Texas—to give us farmers a first-hand account of what to expect when, and if, the union decides to move against us. We also want to get the true story across to all of the citizens of Texas."

In speeches around the country, Mendoza has told audiences that organizers of the grape boycott are more interested in organizing a powerful union than they are in helping farm workers.

"I don't like Mr. Chavez's union, and most of all, I don't like the way they're trying to force it onto people," Mendoza says. "What Mr. Chavez has done in Kern County (California) is nothing but create unemployment. He has killed hundreds of jobs. He has caused people to really migrate from one place to another."

Bill Hoover, Information Director of TFB announced that a press conference for Mr. Mendoza will be held at 4 p.m. on the 27th at the KoKo Palace.

Voluntary Medical Insurance May be Filed Thru March

The monthly premium older people pay for the voluntary medical insurance part of Medicare will remain at the present $4 for the period July 1969 through June 1970, John G. Hutton, Lubbock social security district manager, noted today.

The premium covers half the cost of protection that helps pay doctors' and surgeons' bills and a variety of other health care expenses. The other half is paid out of Federal General revenue. ("The population 65 and over, 95 per cent are now enrolled in the supplementary medical insurance program, Hutton said, up from the 91 per cent enrolled when the Medicare program began on July 1, 1966.

A new enrollment period opened January 1, Hutton said, and will provide another chance for people who missed out earlier to sign up for the protection. For some, those born October 1, 1901, or earlier, and earlier, and those who were enrolled but dropped out before January 1, 1967—it will be the last chance to enroll.

Older people who delay in enrolling, Hutton said, pay a premium that is 10 per cent higher for each full year they could have had the medical insurance protection but were not enrolled. They have until March 31 to enroll, but under present law, there will not be another chance. Hutton said that many of the elderly people in the Lubbock and nearby towns who have not yet signed up for the supplementary doctor bill insurance plan will be receiving application blanks in the mail soon. If they have any questions about how to fill them out or about Medicare itself, or if they do not receive a form, the people in the Lubbock social security office will be glad to help them.

A representative from the Social Security's Plainview office will be in Matador on March 4 and March 18, to assist with any problems. He will be at the First State Bank at 9:30 a.m. until noon.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM YOUR STATE CAPITAL

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas legislators now are busy with committee hearings on dozens of bills the 181 members would like to turn into laws.

Even though Gov. Preston Smith may not have his budget and tax message ready this week there is plenty of business before the legislative committees to keep them occupied.

Perhaps the most talked-about legislation is that dealing with the public school reorganization plan recommended by Gov. John Connally's Committee on Public School Education.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes joined Governor Smith in doubting that the forced consolidation of school districts would pass. And mail the legislators are getting from parents and administrators in the smaller districts leads others to agree that the proposal will have to be modified.

Smith is urging reform of the basis on which state aid is given to local school districts.

PSE Committee's study revealed that a great many school districts are getting bonanzas from the state by failing to properly tax their own property. It seems that the less they collect locally, the more they get from the state.

Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris and Rep. George Hinson of Mineola have signatures of more than half of the members of each house on the Texas State Teachers Association pay raise bill for school teachers. This package of changes will cost the state's taxpayers some $206 million a year, plus $20 million increased state funds for school operation, maintenance and transportation.

Smith said that he will recommend new taxes to finance projects he will recommend in his spending program. But he is not yet ready to say what sort of tax he will suggest.

WETS ACT FAST — Liquor by the drink legislation received instant action in the Senate.

Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso introduced a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to legalize mixed drink sales on a local option basis, then minutes later, his own senate constitutional amendments committee set it for hearing Wednesday (Feb. 12).

A similar amendment was introduced in the House at the same time by Rep. Cletus Davis of Houston.

Both Lieutenant Governor Barnes and Governor Smith gave the amendment a cautious approving nudge.

Barnes said he viewed prospects for approval of liquor-by-the-drink as improving and added he feels "people ought to have an opportunity to decide the issue" by popular vote.

Smith made an almost identical observation and noted the proposal advanced by Christie and Davis gives voters "several checks" through local option elections.

Constitutional amendments must receive a two-thirds vote of both houses of the Legislature before they can be submitted for approval or rejection of a majority of qualified voters.

The Christie-Davis proposition would delete the old constitutional ban on "open saloons." It would empower the Legislature to "regulate the manufacture, sale, possession and transportation of intoxicating liquors, including the power to establish a state monopoly on sale of distilled liquors."

A separate bill spelling out the recommended regulations to take effect on passage of the constitutional amendment will be introduced later. If the amendment fails to get two-thirds support, the sponsors will try to pass the bill anyway and risk a law suit challenging constitutionality.

Barnes predicted some senators who oppose liquor-by-the-drink will go along with submitting the issue to a vote. One of these, Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, is a co-author of the proposed amendment.
