Who Has Freedom?

by Mary Meason

Who has freedom of speech and freedom of religion in the United States. It seems that the criminals, Atheist, dissidents, and minorities have all these rights. People came to this country so they could have freedom of religion and freedom of speech.

Now freedom of speech and religion is for the criminals, Atheist, and minorities and dissidents.

There are laws against prayers in schools, (no one can be made to pray), laws against pictures of Jesus in schools or public places, and laws against Nativity Scenes as Christmas decorations in public places.

The following news item was taken from the Lubbock Avalanche Journal.

SCHOOL MUST REMOVE PICTURE OF JESUS CHRIST

A legal dispute over a portrait of Jesus Christ that hung in a Michigan high school for 30 years ended Monday when the Supreme Court led stand rulings that forced removal of the picture.

The justices, acting without comment, refused to hear arguments by Bloomingdale, Mich., school officials that the portrait should be returned to a hallway wall because it offers no religious message and raises no church-state problem.

"It's absolutely absurd that a longstanding, landmark portrait depicting a famous teacher and a famous historical figure cannot be placed in a school system," lamented Thomas Hoke, Bloomingdale school superintendent.

Hoke called the court action "a very unfortunate outcome... It's regressive. It's shameful. I believe it's sending the wrong message, absolutely the wrong message, to children, to students, to citizens and parents."

But Paul Denefeld of the Michigan American Civil Liberties Union said, "Religious symbols that have nothing to do with studies, but rather simply endorse a particular faith, have no place in public schools that are attended by people of all faiths."

Barry Lynn, executive director of Americans United for Separation of Church and State, said, "As a minister, I am appalled that... defenders of the picture of Jesus tried to claim that it is merely the portrait of a historical figure. To treat it as just another historical painting demeans its religious character."

Denefeld noted a federal appeals court's observation that the portrait is moving for all those brought up in the Christian faith.

WOMEN AND HEART DISEASE

According to the Framingham data and the study conducted at the Cleveland Clinic, women aren't spared heart disease -- they just develop it 10 to 15 years later than do men. Each year twice as many women die from heart disease and stroke than from all forms of cancer combined. Two vitamins - vitamin E and the vitamin A precursor beta carotene - are under study to help stave off heart disease. Women consuming high vitamin E had a 34 percent lower risk of heart disease and those consuming more beta carotene had a 22 percent lower risk of heart disease. Consumers can look to dark orange and green leafy vegetables and fruits, fish liver oils, butter, margarine and egg yolks for good sources of beta carotene. Plant tissues, vegetable oils, wheat germ, rice germ, green leafy vegetables, nuts and legumes are all good sources of vitamin E.

BEWARE OF THE MANCHURIAN MUSHROOM

The "Manchurian mushroom", also known in some circles as "Kombucha tea" may not be the panacea it is proclaimed to be. The conditions of producing and handling the substance may promote the growth of unsafe foodborne pathogens.

The "mushroom" received much public attention after claims of its curative properties appeared in an AIDS newsletter in Los Angeles. But the recommendation of "growing" the "mushroom" at room temperature creates a situation that is supportive of mold growth, particularly the extremely toxic aspergillus mold, making it less than safe for any individual, especially those with chronic illness.

Promotional materials suggest that Kombucha can eliminate wrinkles and help remove brown spots on hands, prevent cancer, reduce hot flashes, help allergies and aching nerves, cure diseases, burn fat, level-off glucose, thicken hair, help digestion and reverse symptoms of AIDS.

The Manchurian Mushroom is not really a mushroom, but a symbiotic colony of yeast and bacteria that resembles a jelly fish in form and acts as a living culture. The consumer is instructed to grow the substance in a special medium of three quarts of water boiled with one cup of sugar. This liquid is then transferred to a glass bowl to which five tea bags are added and allowed to steep for 10 minutes. The Kombucha culture is then floated on top of the cooled tea. Some instructions recommend covering the mixture with a cotton cloth and leaving the bowl in a warm, dimly lit place for about a week. Other instructions advise leaving the culture in a "cool" place. In a week's time, fermentation produces a ciderlike, sometimes carbonated drink. Each fermented batch also produces a second culture, commonly referred to as a "baby", these babies often are given to friends or sold.

At least one safety problem does exist with Kombucha, according to mycologists. The Kombucha can become contaminated with toxic mold. In particular, it may be unwise to consume the substance when held at room temperature for a week. All individuals are now advised to avoid consuming anything appearing to contain mold growth.

FLAVOR ENHANCERS THAT DON'T ADD SODIUM NOR EXCESS CALORIES

The newest way of enhancing many of the grilled foods this spring is by adding Texas mesquite, cedar or hickory chips to your barbecue grill fire just to enhance the flavor of grilled or smoked meat products. These add their own distinct flavors without adding sodium to the meat or vegetable product being prepared on the grill. Just wrap a few wood chips in tin foil and make several holes in the foil. Add them to the grill after the fire has been started sufficiently. These are particularly delicious on Texas beef, pork, lamb as well as poultry and fish. Especially tasty on pork are the new apple chips that add a hint of sweetness. The real gourmets can really impress friends at their next dinner party by using the new chips made from red wine soaked winery barrels adding a unique taste to please any palate. One favorite of the Texas Beef Council recommends the blend of one half each of Geek seasoning and pepper prior to grilling with the wood flavor of choice. Mesquite has been a real favorite in the preparation of fajitas in the past decade and will continue to flavor many other cuts of beef.

Educational programs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, disability, religion, age, or national origin.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: For instead energy, nothing beats having the boss walk in.

May is Western Month at the Library. The nice thing about western fiction is that if you like romance and westerns, you can have both in the same book. Likewise, there are western mysteries. There are Cowboy and Indians stories and many, many more kinds of westerns. We have a new Louis L'Amour book, Valley of the Sun, a collection of western stories.

According to AARP, May is also Older Americans Month. To honor us Older Americans, the Library is offering to our patrons several AARP publications, such as If Only I Could Get A Good Night's Sleep: Self-Help Guide for Understanding and Overcoming Insomnia. There are three other publications, but we have only a limited number of each. You are welcome to pick one up, as long as they last.

The Library also has a few copies of the U.S. Consumer Information Catalog for the Spring of 1995. This catalog lists government publications that are either free or very inexpensive. Included are documents on medical problems, financial planning, travel and hobbies, and much more.

This week I am pleased to welcome a guest reviewer to this column. Brenda Gillespie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gillespie of Matador, has reviewed one of her favorite books, Nancy Drew Case 1: Secrets Can Kill. I want to thank Brenda for her excellent review, and I extend an invitation to other library patrons to share their thoughts on favorite books so they will be published in this column. Miss Gillespie's review follows:

Nancy Drew is on a case. She is a young detective. She is sent to Bedford High as a transfer student to try to solve a number of robberies. Her main suspects are Jake Webb and Hunk (his nickname) Hogan. Jake Webb is her number one suspect, but when he is pushed down the stairs and dies, it is a new case. Nancy Drew goes to a dance with Daryl Gray, her cute contact. She is sitting in his car and she finds out he is the killer. Jake Webb was the thief. So that was Nancy Drew's first case.

Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lee for their memorial to Allie Hart. The Library is able to add to its collection through these memorial donations, and they are greatly appreciated.

The summer program at the Library is entitled Be Your Best! The program is for girls in grades K-3 and is a combination of first aid for young children and Brownie Scout activities. This group will meet at the Library each Wednesday for six weeks, beginning June 7, 1:30-3:30 p.m. There will also be a group for older girls, Grades 4-6, meeting at the same time at the Church of Christ. Registration for both groups will be at the Motley County Library, Wednesday, May 31, any time between 4:00-7:00 p.m. There is a $12.00 fee for the program, payable at registration. Financial aid is available at registration. The summer reading program will go along with the first aide and the Brownie programs. Certificates and pins will be awarded to those completing the program.

Living Sermons

Our lives, as God's people, should be the best sermons ever preached. Do we conduct our lives in such a way that when we cross over the river of death our influence for good will continue to live on? In Hebrews 11:4 we read of Abel, a righteous man of God, who "though being dead, yet speaketh."

The poet said:

"Lives of great men all remind us, we can make our lives sublime, and in departing leave behind us, footprints on the sands of time."

The footprints of a Christian should be found following the footsteps of our Lord Jesus. When this happens there is a demonstration of the highest moral standard known to man. To a young unbeliever who was poking fun at Christianity due to the misconduct of one of the Christian school's professors, the late Doctor Mason replied: "Did you ever know of an uproar to be made because an unbeliever went astray from the paths of morality?" The young man admitted he had not. "Then, don't you see," continued Dr. Mason, "that by expecting the professors of Christianity to be holy, you admit it to be a holy religion, and therefore you have paid it the highest compliment in your power?" The young unbeliever had no reply.

As Christians, we must realize the serious responsibility that is ours. That is to live Christ like lives. We do leave footprints on the sands of time.

Methodist Senior Youth Group Meets

The Methodist Senior Youth Group met on Wednesday, May 10, at 7:00 p.m. Joe Martin opened with a prayer and we elected new officers immediately following. They are Leigh Pipkin, President; Lindsey Williams, Vice President; Kristi Williams, Secretary/Treasurer; and Samantha Osborn, Reporter. They will take office in August along with the sponsors, Debbie Martin, Lindy Stafford, and Chip Smith.

Although it was very difficult to find a time when almost everyone would be able to go, a trip to Eureka Springs was planned for June. We will be seeing the Passion Play, which is a reenactment of Jesus' life.

We will also be going to Ceta Canyon to do Mission work on May 29-31. We will be doing erosion work during that time.

In order to raise money to fund our trips, we plan to sponsor two fund-raiser dinners as well as selling t-shirts.

The meeting came to a close with a prayer by Debbie Martin and we were dismissed.

We would all like to express our thanks to the congregation and all of our supporters. Most of all, we want to thank Ron and Mary Kelley and Debbie Martin for all their help and a job well done.

'Spit' Tobacco Isn't Cool or Macho

"Smokeless" tobacco isn't a good name for it. How about "spit" tobacco?

Smokeless tobacco is an innocent-sounding term coined by tobacco companies to portray snuff and chewing tobacco as safe. But medical authorities say the two substances are as potentially dangerous as cigarette smoking, the nation's No. 1 preventable cause of death.

Younger Americans, attracted by chewing tobacco's "macho" image and the fact that many sport stars use it, seem oblivious to the risks. The use of moist snuff and chewing tobacco products tripled between 1972 and 1992, with most of the increase occurring among males under age 24.

Research has produced mounting evidence that higher nicotine levels in these products make them as addictive as cigarettes, if more so. That's why former U.S. Surgeon General Antonia C. Novello, M.D., prefers the term "spit" tobacco. She believes "smokeless" wrongly implies the products are a safe alternative to cigarettes.

The cause-and-effect relationship between "dipping and chewing" and oral cancer is well-documented. The American Heart Association says recent studies confirm suspicions that spit tobacco also can raise the risk of heart disease by temporarily increasing blood pressure and heart rate.

The high doses of nicotine these products send into the bloodstream have varied and widespread effects. Nicotine is a possible culprit in everything from reproductive and perinatal disorders to peptic ulcers to delayed healing of wounds.

But a greater concern is the possibility that spit tobacco accelerates or aggravates cardiovascular disease because of high levels of nicotine in the body.

The only good news is that while it inflicts lasting damage on the mouth, teeth and gums, its ill effects on the cardiovascular system of otherwise healthy young people may be largely limited to the period when it is actually in use.

To find out more about the dangers of all forms of tobacco, contact your local American Heart Association or call 1-800-AHA-USA1 (1-800-242-8721).

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes
Social Security Manager, Plainview

PEBES AS A FINANCIAL PLANNING TOOL

If you think of Social Security as something for the future, you are probably overlooking the substantial role it plays in your life today. Your Social Security survivors insurance coverage is probably worth more than the commercial life insurance you have. And Social Security disability insurance is likely to be the only disability insurance coverage you have. The two programs represent a crucial safety net for your family.

And yet, few people are aware of how much they have coming from Social Security in benefits, or even how much earnings they have credit for. This is an age when financial planning is recognized as the only way to successfully negotiate the uncertainties of the future.

Since 1988 Social Security has been providing a "Personal Earnings and Benefit Estimate Statement" (PEBES) to people who request it. The statement provides an estimate of retirement, survivors and disability benefits a worker (and family) may be eligible for now and in the future. It also gives a year-by-year display of earnings credited to the account so errors can be identified and corrected.

Since PEBES first became available, more than 18 million statements have been mailed to people who requested them. This "on request" service is still available to workers of all ages. In February, Social Security will begin mailing the statements to workers 60 and over and by 1999, will be sending them to all workers 25 and over.

Although the importance of the statements are obvious, to test public reaction to the receipt of the unsolicited information, they were sent to a sample of 13,295 individuals between 18 and 64 last spring along with a questionnaire. Of the 4,500 responses received, 75 percent were "glad" to have received the information. About 40 percent indicated they would like to receive it every year. Younger and non/working individuals were most likely to have a negative reaction to the receipt of the information.

Hopefully, as people began to receive the information on a regular basis, they will begin to use the program in the manner for which it was designed - as a basis of family income in retirement, disability or death. Knowing what they have coming from Social Security should help in that regard.

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Dry conditions continue to delay planting of the 1995 High Plains cotton crop.

Officials at Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) report that while some rainfall has been received across the area in the past week, high winds and blowing dust have prevented producers from taking advantage of the situation.

Although planters are running in some areas, the bulk of the regions cotton, which could total 3.5 million acres, has not been planted. These weather enforced delays could have some beneficial effects in terms of the emerging boll weevil situation on the High Plains.

"It appears that the delayed planting of this years crop may have some beneficial aspects," notes Roger Haldenby, PCG Boll Weevil Suppression Program Coordinator. "In recent weeks guidelines for managing the boll weevil have been distributed to cotton producers in weevil infested areas encouraging them to hold off planting until around the middle of May. It appears that the weather has essentially forced us into delaying the bulk of planting activity until this time anyhow."

Haldenby adds that the major concern now is for producers to get a much needed "planting rain" so they can get seed in the ground.

In the small acreage where earlier planting has been completed the stands established seedling cotton has been reported to have received significant damage from high winds and blowing sand. Most of this has been in parts of Gaines County and at least some of this acreage will likely be replanted as quickly as possible.

"Our current problem is the lack of moisture and the delays that are associated with it," said PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "If we can get some good rains across the area in the next few weeks we should have a fair chance of establishing this year's crop."

Johnson adds that without some help from Mother Nature the outlook could turn around quickly. The High Plains is coming into the 1995 crop year with a significant underground moisture deficit. Much of the area's 1995 crop will be made or lost dependent on the amount of in-season, supplemental rainfall.

"The 1994 crop was produced under conditions only slightly better than those we have right now," explains Johnson. "We made a pretty fair crop last year, but it is really to early to tell what this year's crop is going to do."

The latest crop estimate from the Texas Ag Statistical Service (TASS) indicates the 1994 High Plains Cotton crop will total near 3.097 million bales. This figure is derived by adding the estimated production in TASS crop reporting regions 1-N and 1-S which closely parallels the 25 county High Plains region.

"That is the problem," the appeals court ruled. "Christ is the only central to Christianity, and his portrait has a proselytizing, affirming effect that some non-believers find deeply offensive."

It doesn't seem that there is a true Christian in the Supreme Court.

Their decisions are certainly one sided in favor of Criminals dissidents, Atheist and minorities.

True, minorities should have equal rights for jobs, but not just because they are black or Hispanic. The same requirements of education and qualifications should apply to whites, blacks, or hispanic.

But it seems our all wise, all knowing Supreme Court favors Criminals, Atheist, minorities, whether they are qualified or not, and the dissidents.

Wouldn't it be great if we could only get rid of this supreme number, now and get a Supreme Court made up of all true Christians.

"Beloved, let us love one another, for love is from God; and everyone who loves is born of God and knows God." (1 John 4:7) We certainly experienced God's love of flowing through you, our family, our Pastor, and our friends, as you came to the hospital, as you faithfully called, sent flowers, and cards, and most importantly as you remembered to pray. We felt every prayer. The food and words of encouragement since we returned home have been appreciated more than you know. May God Bless each of you as you have blessed us.

Bennie and June Keltz

Thank you so much for the cards, visits, food, flowers and words of encouragement this past year during Mom's illness and death. She especially enjoyed the hugs she received from each of you. A special thanks to her sisters, brother, nieces, nephews, friends and neighbors that spent time with her. She enjoyed that time with you very much. We are so grateful to the Hospice team (Sharon and Coriana), the MC Clinic Staff (Gerry, Mary, and Dr. Pat) and to Total Home Health Nurses (Deb, Daphne, and Kim). We must also thank her everyday helpers, (Mattie, Terry, Dan, Rose Marie, and Mildred), that gave her such good care.

God Bless each of you.
