PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Almost anyone can find the right road, but many turn in the wrong direction and travel too far before becoming aware of the error.

Modern motels continue to improve their facilities and advance their prices until guests reach a state of confusion that softens the impact of bankruptcy at the check out desk.

Transportation by jet plane has shriveled that natural barrier of distance so that relatives might as well be in the same community. The advantage is that most of us also have relatives to visit in retaliation.

History of the United States is a record of dissension, fears, doubts and continuous problems. The nation's strength is the by-product of freedom which permits every man to be an authority on any subject which excites his interest.

My next invention will be a car seat that ejects me to the paving so that I can walk a mile before the gas tank is empty.

Last week a fellow publisher named Ford, had trouble getting into the Arlington General Motors assembly plant after the guard read the name on his badge. He was allowed to enter, however, when he explained that he had made the down payment on a new Pontiac.

A lie is like a blanket that is too short. If you pull it up over your head, the feet are exposed.

Those that walk the straight and narrow declare they are not confronted by a traffic problem.

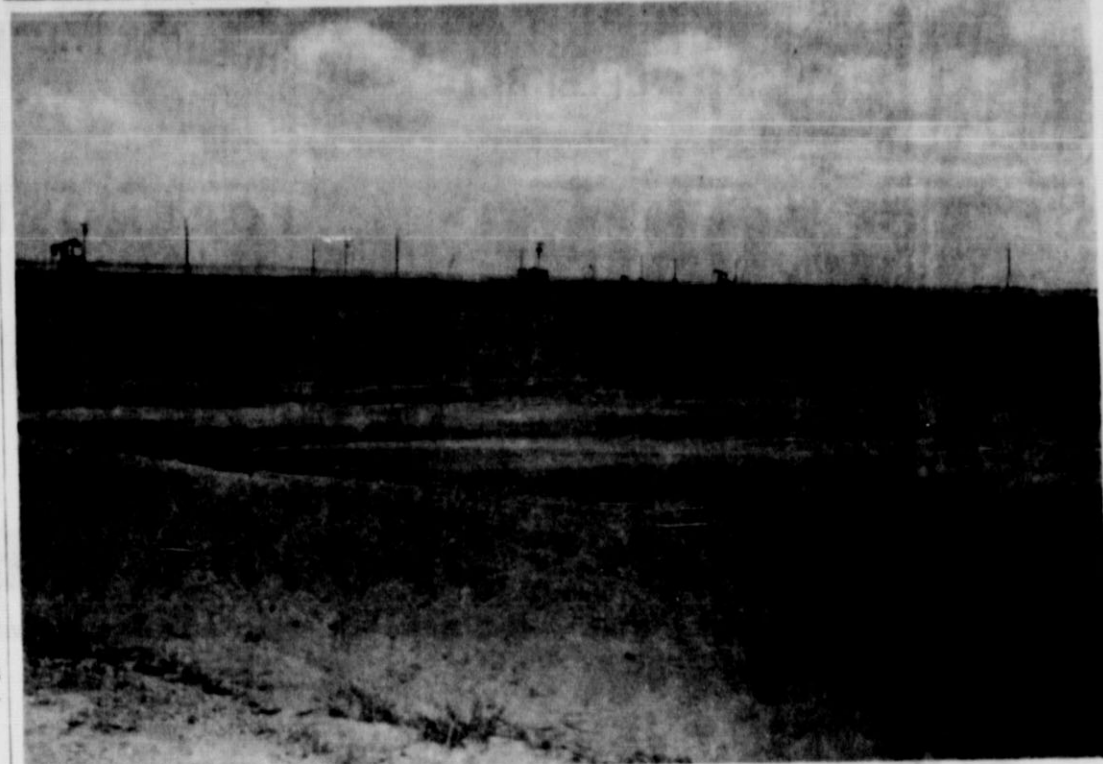

FROM CALIFORNIA

Pat Reeves and son, Douglas of Daly City, Calif., a suburb of San Francisco, arrived by plane Saturday afternoon, at Lubbock Municipal Airport, where they were met by Mr. Reeves' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Reeves, and accompanied here. Douglas will visit here during the summer with his grandparents. They accompanied Pat Reeves back to Lubbock, Wednesday for the return trip home.

HOSPITAL IS BLOCKED BY HIGH BIDS

THIS WAS A COTTON FIELD on the Stearns farm east of Roaring Springs, before the Friday, June 13th storm, that damaged or destroyed many thousands of acres of crops across a wide area. Rainfall from four to seven inches was accompanied by devastating hail that destroyed most of the vegetation in its path, and also damaged homes, cars, pickups and other property. —Staff photo

CONFRONTED with increasing costs of labor and materials, Motley County Hospital District, Thursday faced a solid wall of insufficient funds.

The crisis was apparent when the hospital board began opening bids for the remodeling and equipping of Stanley Hospital, in a project started three years ago. During the long months of governmental red tape and delay, the costs were increasing by leaps and bounds.

The lowest bid opened in the District Court room Thursday was for $144,925. Available funds approved by the Federal Housing and Urban Development, Department of Community Facilities are approximately $96,000.

Other needs for funds, including architect fees and certain-to-arise costs would require an additional $45 to $50,000, according to John Stevens, president of the hospital board.

County Judge Forrest Campbell said the cost has almost doubled from the original estimate. He said many materials and required articles of equipment have doubled in price.

Going To Fort Worth

Judge Campbell and Stevens will leave this morning for Fort Worth in an attempt to secure more funds and will meet with representatives of HUD. They have been assured that many hospital districts face the same problem and that the plight is apparently hopeless at this time.

The Hospital District secured the services of Gordon Russell of Hale Center in December, 1967. The required specifications were prepared and delivered May 14, 1968. It was not until the first of November that the board received notification of approval.

No Federal Grants

While other counties have received rich grants for various civic and community improvements, Motley County has remained the "step-child of government benefits." It has not asked for help until the crucial need for continued hospital service was made public.

Working diligently, the hospital board sought a plan that would serve the wide area needing hospital facilities. Included in the plan was the matter of being able to repay the federal loan.

Finally with the approval, the costs have doubled during the delay and the hospital district faces a severe crisis.

Second Storm Hits County

TORNADIC WINDS and hail struck Motley County about 5:30 Thursday afternoon for a second spree within ten days. This time the most severe damage to crops was in the Flomot area where rain and hail wrought havoc. The new Barton home near Flomot was damaged by heavy hail.

Here the damage was from winds that approached tornadic force. Trees were blown down, signs destroyed and buildings unroofed. E. H. Gafford said he saw a tornado north of town.

Roof was blown off the E. E. Markham "hog parlor" at the northwest corner of town, with an estimated $400 damage. A city well house was blown approximately three blocks and set down. Mrs. D. C. Baker saw her steel picnic table carried across the yard. Ed Lee watched the Jameson brothers' boat shed carried across the road east of town.

The wind lifted the roof off H. H. Blevins' barn and dropped it on a pickup which he had just vacated. John Stotts in north Matador watched the wind pick up his trailer and wrap it around a butane tank. In down town the wind damaged the Lions Club's new sign on the courthouse square. Roofing was blown off the old Rogue Theatre building and trees were broken in the City Park. Rainfall here was slightly more than a trace.

Storm Pictures

Pictures of damage resulting from last Thursday's storm are not in this issue of the Tribune. Miss Judy Marrs made the pictures, but they were not processed in time.

Publisher Douglas Meador was in Arlington attending the Texas Press Association meeting and did not return until late Sunday. The pictures will appear in next week's issue.

Injuries Slight In 2 Accidents

Injuries were slight in two automobile accidents over the week end that completely demolished two vehicles. Saturday morning Karen Lynn Ruotola of Clovis, N. M., side-swiped a stock trailer on US Highway 70, 10 miles west of Matador, and lost control of her 1967 Oldsmobile convertible, which crashed through a fence and into the Burlison Ranch pasture.

The stock trailer was being pulled behind a pickup driven by Faunce A. Faulkenberry of Floydada. The driver of the automobile was treated for a slight injury on head lip.

At 12:05 a.m. Monday Fortino Chavez Medrano drove his 1963 Corvair into a culvert six miles north of Matador on State Highway 70, and demolished the vehicle. He was treated for injuries in Richards Memorial Hospital, Paducah, and returned here.

Both accidents were investigated by resident State Department of Public Safety officer Paul Hoff, with the aid of county officers.

LEG IS BROKEN

Vann Francis is recuperating at his home on the Bear Creek Ranch east of town, from a broken leg sustained when a horse kicked him two weeks ago.

Paducah Churches will Sponsor Concert by Continental Singers

The Continental Singers and Orchestra, a touring musical group from Southern California, will appear in Paducah in a sacred concert to be held Tuesday, July 1, at 8 p.m. at the high school auditorium.

The concert is being sponsored by the Paducah churches as an interdenominational effort.

The touring organization is made up of 20 singers and a 20 piece orchestra selected by audition from all over the United States. The majority of these young people (ages 17-24) are professional musicians or majoring in some area of music in various colleges and universities around the country.

In addition to the U.S. itinerary for 1969, the group will be presented throughout Europe and Latin America including England, Sweden, Germany, Switzerland, France, Italy, Mexico, Peru, Chile and Brazil.

COME TO CHURCH SUNDAY

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

Guar Production

Some farmers are looking for a new crop, especially, since the hail and rain losses over the county the past week. Guar is a crop that some may be interested in checking out.

Guar is a summer annual legume grown primarily for seed production but is also valuable as a soil building legume.

Guar may be planted up to July 15. One hundred and twenty five days are needed for the Brooks variety to mature. Guar does best on sandy soils but also may be produced on tighter soils.

Recommended seeding rates are 5 to 6 lbs. per acre when planted in rows, and 12 to 20 lbs. per acre when planted with a drill. (Every other drill is stopped up.)

Yields vary and as we do not have production figures for Motley County it is difficult to say what yields can be expected. Tests at Chillicothe have ranged from 646 to 1321 lbs. per acre dry land. The price depends on the grade.

Number 1 beans are currently worth $4.60 a hundred and number 4 beans are worth $3.85 a hundred. Farmers interested in this crop are urged to stop by my office for additional information.

At an emergency meeting in San Antonio on April 30, livestock producers were told of the seriousness of the situation. An action program was outlined stressing greater vigilance and better herd management practices along with the release of sterile flies in an effort to reduce the impending threat of heavy screwworm reinfestation.

Screwworms socked it to Texas last year when a record 9,268 cases were confirmed, marketing the worst epidemic since the eradication program began in 1962. The severe outbreak claimed the life of a South Texas woman last fall. Collection kits and vials for mailing larvae to the Mission Screwworm Laboratory for identification will be stocked in my office.

Dolph Briscoe Jr., Uvalde rancher and president of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation — industry group leading the battle against screwworms — told almost 100 key leaders that "no ranch is immune to the threat of screwworms this year. Texas has recorded more cases in a wider area this year than last, and case numbers in Mexico are much higher than last spring. Fertile fly migrations are also greater, and nearly ideal weather conditions exist for fly propagation."

Briscoe emphasized that prevention of cases is more important than ever, "for it costs about $800 to produce enough sterile flies to treat a single screwworm case."

Dr. S. C. Gartman and Dr. M. E. Meadows Jr., U. S. Department of Agriculture veterinarians from the Mission Screwworm Eradication Center, also emphasized that the threat of a major screwworm outbreak this year is considerably greater than last year, due to reduction in sterile fly production during the winter.

"Conditions are right for a heavy screwworm re-infestation, since sterile fly treatment in the barrier area along the U. S.-Mexican border has been lighter than usual with the limited number of available flies. Sixty-three cases have been confirmed in Texas this spring, compared to only 40 a year ago. Sterile fly treatment areas presently include the lower portion of the state as well as the Edwards Plateau region and along the Rio Grande to the Big Bend area. Fly drops also are underway in Arizona and New Mexico, where cases have been confirmed; and for preventive purposes in Mexico," Dr. Gartman said.

The renewed battle against screwworms calls for regular inspection of all animals, treatment of wounds — manmade and otherwise — with a product recommended for that purpose; and spraying herds with a recommended product.

When infested wounds are found, collect from 6 to 10 representative worms from the wound and mail the sample to the Mission Laboratory for identification. Only cases that have been positively identified as screwworms can be treated because of the cost factor. To date 14 non-screwworm cases have been submitted from Motley County.

Trustees of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, meeting prior to the general session, re-affirmed the need and desire to move the screwworm eradication program southward into Mexico. Officials of the foundation, including President Briscoe, and Vice Presidents C. G. Scruggs of Dallas and John Hays of Yarnell, Arizona, have ratified a joint declaration to that effect with officials of the National Livestock Producers' Confederation of Mexico.

Foundation officials emphasized that in order to move into Mexico, the project must move through diplomatic channels and then be accomplished by the governments of the two nations involved. In preparation for the joint program between the U. S. and Mexico, SWAHRF trustees authorized the financing of an architect's plan for a plant to produce sterile flies in Mexico. The designs are to be worked out in cooperation with officials of Mexico.

A major problem experienced by ranchers in trying to control mesquite is basal sprouting after the tree tops have been herbicide-deadened.

Too often, the result after several growing seasons is thicker brush than ever.

A trio of Texas A&M University scientists has come up with a new angle of attack in an effort to beat the problem.

The researchers are Page W. Morgan of the Plant Sciences Department, Robert E. Meyer, U. S. Department of Agriculture plant physiologist at A&M, and Morris G. Merkle of the Soil and Crop Sciences Department.

Their system calls for deliberately forcing underground buds to grow before a herbicide is applied. Then the herbicide is sprayed on and catches both the upper part of the tree and the sprouts.

The result is a dead tree from top to bottom. At least the system has worked well under laboratory conditions. Morgan says the next step is field testing. And he admits that forcing of buds on mature trees may not be as easy as it is on greenhouse seedlings.

In laboratory experiments, Morgan and his associates sprayed mesquite seedlings with a hormonal growth regulator known as 2-chloroethanephosphonic acid.

Call it Ethrel for short. The chemical is still experimental and is not available on the market.

The first effect, they learned, was defoliation. Then the tops of the plants came on strong with a big increase in number of branches and leaves per node. At the same time, there was considerable sprouting from basal and lateral buds from the bottom of the seedlings.

Morgan emphasized that the system is simply a new principle — one that he hopes will work in the field. There is no guarantee that this approach will revolutionize brush control.

COME TO CHURCH SUNDAY

A LOOK AT YOUNG PEOPLE

By Larry Heard, Pastor

First Baptist Church, Matador

In a day in which we hear and read much about the "generation gap," "student unrest," "our rebellious youth," and various other terms we use to describe a small vocal element of our young people in America, would it be in order to submit a word of pride about some of our youth rather than only the voice of criticism and pessimism?

Personally, I think that it is far past due time when we need to hear some constructive and encouraging news concerning some of our youth! I doubt very seriously if this type of news will make the newspaper headlines. I'm certain you will not see it reported on your TV screens. You see, there just isn't enough sensationalism involved with the youth about whom I'm speaking.

I'm speaking out concerning some Texas Baptist youth. I'm positive that similar youth could be found in every denomination and in every state in our great United States. The group about which I speak is known as "TEXAS INVINCIBLES." It is comprised of 60 young people who have given their time to a summer of hard and unusual work. They have volunteered to work in Vacation Bible Schools across our state. Not just Vacation Bible School either. They work in areas that would not normally be able to have a Vacation Bible School.

They work in small struggling churches or in communities without churches. Their facilities are never adequate. Their supplies are always limited. But their faith is strong and their reward is eternal. They spread out two by two to tell boys and girls (in the majority of cases, underprivileged boys and girls) about the love and concern of Jesus Christ. They show this love and concern in their own lives. Their earthly reward is very small, $30.00 a week plus whatever room and board may be provided. Their greatest reward is the joy of service. Headlines are not theirs; happiness is.

Our churches and our community, especially those of us who have had the privilege of working closely with them, have been blessed by having two of these "Invincibles," Misses Mary Long-year, college sophomore from Dallas, and Sharon Mills, college senior from Brownwood working in our midst this week. They are leading in a Vacation Bible School at the Macedonia Baptist Church.

My own faith in young people has been strengthened. The small vocal minority we hear so much about today is the passing voice of today. In youth such as these "Invincibles" lies the true future of America. May your number increase.

Look at these Young People!!

or do you consider the premiums you have been paying as money poured down the drain? Do you have any idea what your policy is worth at the present?

Most plans that are sold have some cash accumulation and should never be thrown away, even if you have stopped paying the premiums, without first consulting the Company, a representative or someone that can inform you concerning its values.

We would be most pleased to assist you if you have a question concerning a policy. Call 348-3136, Roaring Springs
