Soviet Guerrillas Raise Panic In German Ranks

Exploits Of Woman, Boy Guerrillas Are Revealed

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (AP)—Two young Russian guerrillas, one a young woman, and the other a boy of 17 who was hanged by the Germans, were decorated for valor today.

The Order of Hero of the Soviet Union was conferred posthumously on Alexander Checkalin.

Alexandra Gorbenko, 26, was decorated with the Order of the Red Banner.

Pravda, the communist party newspaper, said Checkalin had operated behind the German lines since early October, stealing arms and transmitting valuable information to the "red" army. He fell ill, and the Germans captured him in his bed, but only because a hand grenade he hurled proved to be a dud.

Pravda said he was tortured but kept silent until a noose was slipped around his neck in the public square at Likhvin. Then he shouted to the crowd:

"There are many of us, and all will not be hanged. Victory will be ours."

He died singing the Internationale.

Three weeks later the red army recaptured the town, found his body still suspended, and gave him a military funeral, Pravda reported.

The woman guerrilla was credited with helping men attack a German truck column and herself derailing a German supply train, killing 10 nazis.

Red Troops Advance In Kalinin Area

Russian Army Pushes Toward Smolensk Through Bitter Cold

MOSCOW, Feb. 5 (AP)—Soviet guerrilla detachments today were reported to be creating wholesale panic behind the German lines as the nazis sought to throw up fortifications and attempted counter-attacks in many sectors of the front.

Dispatches told of wide-ranging damaging Soviet raids on the railway lines essential to the nazis efforts to bring up reserves. On one sector of the southwest front the guerrilla bands were said to be marching 35 miles nightly in a systematic plan of destruction of German communications.

On the main battle front, meanwhile, today's Soviet communique announced recapture of five localities in the Kalinin area, with 5,300 of the defending Germans slain or wounded, and the seizure of six other populated places on the central front.

In this zone the red army apparently was pushing westward on the road to Smolensk in the teeth of snow and ice and bitter nazis resistance.

The operations of the guerrilla bands were seen as ample compensation for the time devoted to training these troops among whom are some of the toughest veterans in the Russian command, sharpshooters, marksmen, daring boys of 16 and 17 and even women.

Equipped with automatic rifles and bulging pockets full of grenades, they are armed heavily enough to enable them to execute such damaging blows as one raid in which they wrecked a train, disabling five locomotives and ditching hundreds of cars.

The "Kalinin front," on which the Russians said they destroyed 27 German tanks, five cannons and eight machine-guns, presumably refers to the province which extends clear to the Latvian frontier, rather than to the immediate vicinity of the city of Kalinin.

Before Leningrad, Russian units were declared to have smashed 27 German gun positions, killing more than 400 German officers and men.

Who Stole My Buggy Wheels?—Reality of the shortage is emphasized in an important manner to Walter Scott Hanson (above), who can't quite understand why—on his second birthday, of all days—someone stole all four rubber-tired wheels from his buggy. Walter's mother, Mrs. Harold C. Hanson, said the wheels were stolen when burglars ransacked the Hanson home in Chicago.

Dutch Keep Morale High Despite Raids

BANDOENG, Java, Feb. 5 (AP)—Morale in outlying Dutch army posts remains high despite frequent Japanese bombing attacks, Netherlands Indies army headquarters announced today through the news agency Aneta.

"Our local commander in a small village on the west coast of Borneo wired that his troops were as spirited 'as red peppers' despite the fact that a fire set by Japanese raiders had forced them to evacuate the village.

The commander's first wire said: "Bombed 9:30 this morning. Thirteen bombs dropped as result of which market place afire. Probably heavy damage. Will favor you with more later if possible."

Shortly afterward came this message: "Greetings from all of us. We cannot extinguish fires and will have to abandon place. Enormous damage. All private property destroyed. But spirit remains like red peppers and we will be indomitable."

Students Buy $278 Worth Of War Stamps

Big Spring school children this week bought $278.20 in defense stamps as their systematic purchase program swung into action at five places.

The figure reported by Joe Ratliff, who started the idea in elementary schools here with his Central Ward school, covered only five of the grade school units and did not touch an effort being in one part of the high school.

Revenues reported Wednesday—generally regarded as "defense stamp" day in local schools—included: South Ward $7.85, East Ward $18.50, West Ward $59.95, Central Ward $92.45 and College Heights $49.40.

Accurate figures are not obtainable, but to date school children of Big Spring have saved more than $1,000 since the first of the year.

China Loan Approved; Help For Reds Asked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The senate passed and sent to the White House today a measure making $500,000,000 in financial aid available to China, the fund to be administered by the Secretary of the Treasury under direction of the president.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) added to the loan discussion an appeal for increased deliveries of military supplies to Russia.

Voiding approval of the proposed China loan, Pepper told reporters that this country also ought to do everything it could to speed up the transfer of war materials to Russia so the Soviets would be as well prepared as possible for the promised Nazi spring offensive.

The Florida senator said he did not doubt that the necessity of rushing reinforcements to the southwestern Pacific had interfered with the schedule of deliveries to Russia, causing the lag which has created considerable concern in some quarters here.

Pepper declared that this deficiency in shipments should be remedied as speedily as possible. "I have no doubt that the Russian government recognizes the difficulties that we face," he said, "but we ought to let them know that we mean to keep our word and to give them what we have said we would deliver."

Defense officials said there was no question of ignoring previous assurances given Moscow. On the contrary, they asserted, the production of the promised supplies was generally "on or ahead of schedule." The recent heavy demands made on available shipping was the big problem, they explained, but they hoped to solve this satisfactorily.

While the matter of Soviet supplies was to the fore in discussions, the senate foreign relations committee arranged to hear six government officials on the need for the Chinese loan.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the foreign relations committee said it was his understanding that this authority would be used to stabilize the Chinese currency, to establish credit for China here and to provide supplies, arms and munitions for the Chinese armies.

Asked how these supplies would get to Chungking if the Burma road should be cut off by the Japanese, Connally said it might be possible to parallel the road from India or to establish a route through Siberia.

No Protest On Rate Increase

AUSTIN, Feb. 5 (AP)—One for the book:

For the first time within the memory of officials, not a single protest against a requested rate increase came from witnesses yesterday at a railroad commission hearing.

The hearing, presided over by Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the commission, was on an application by the Railway Express company for an increase of 10 cents a shipment on intrastate movements. The company recently had been granted an increase on interstate shipments by the federal commission.

British Admit Jap Advance In Burma

RANGOON, Burma, Feb. 5 (AP)—The British officially acknowledged today that Japanese patrols had crossed the lower Salween river at a number of points since the invaders occupied Moulmein last Saturday.

The Japanese occupied Paan, 30 miles above Moulmein, several days ago, a British military spokesman said, and the RAF reported it had subjected the town to a heavy bombing attack today.

At the same time British patrols were reported to have penetrated the enemy lines on the east bank of the Salween river.

The military spokesman declared that the British command intends to hold Rangoon "at all costs, but," he added, "if Rangoon should go, it would not mean the end of Burma or of the Burma road." Rangoon is the chief port for the Burma road, the allied supply route to China.

Reports from the Salween front said the Japanese still were balked in their attempts to capture Martaban, across the mouth of the river from Moulmein, by the swift-flowing Salween river itself and by heavy British artillery fire from the west bank.

Since the first of the week they have been trying by heavy artillery fire and bombing to make Martaban untenable for its British and Indian garrison, but British headquarters said this effort had failed.

Japanese skirmishers were reported strung out all along the lower Salween front, but there were indications they lacked strength, at least for the present, to handle a full-dress assault across the river. Their feeler attempts have been thrown back.

Singapore Guns Blast Would-Be Invaders

Japs Spread Destruction By Bombing

Enemy Troops Mass For Plunge Across Narrow Strait

SINGAPORE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Despite continuous bombing and strafing by Japanese airmen, Singapore's artillery has blasted enemy observation posts, knocked out opposing batteries and spread destruction in the transport of Japanese troops into jump-off points for invasion of this island stronghold.

That the Japanese still have not won complete control of the air was demonstrated this morning by Hurricane fighters of the RAF which intercepted a large formation over Singapore, shot down one Japanese plane, probably another and damaged a third.

Civilian casualties from the past two days of blasting and machine-gunning strafing by the Japanese air force neared the 300 mark—228 injured and 63 killed. The people had virtually no safe places of refuge from bombs. Officially, however, these casualties were called comparatively light.

(The Japanese reported that their guns had been thundering across the mile-wide Johore Strait since 6 p. m. yesterday, Singapore time. A Tokyo broadcast said that the siege guns were pouring a steady stream of fire into the British forces and their positions in a grove of rubber trees near the head of the breached causeway leading from the Malay mainland.)

(Flames burst in the greenery as the Japanese shells found their mark, the broadcast declared, "indicating that another enemy oil tank had been sent up in flames." The broadcast added: "As evening deepened the thunder of guns grew in intensity.")

Large movements of Japanese troops through Johore State toward the shore facing Singapore island were reported by British reconnaissance planes. Enemy troops have been massing in the area of Johore Bahru since the British imperials finally withdrew their island stronghold last Friday night and early Saturday.

Second American Duty: To Engage In Politics

Davy Jones Gets Many Italian Subs

LONDON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The admiralty asserted today that several Italian submarines had "paid the ultimate penalty" after having been sent to help the Germans' submarine campaign in the Atlantic.

One of these, the admiralty said, was the Ferraris, an 880-ton craft armed with eight torpedo tubes, two 3.9-inch guns, which was sunk late in 1941 after having been damaged by a United States-built Catalina flying boat.

The admiralty said the Ferraris had had an "eventful but unsuccessful" history.

She was one of four Italian submarines which escaped from Massaua, Eritrea, on the Red Sea, when Italy lost her East African empire and which made a 14,000-mile voyage back to Europe without incident.

Such a cruise was "made possible by meeting with a German supply ship which was sailing under the stars and stripes."

Boys' Stock Show Set For March 30-31

Dates for the annual district club boy livestock show here have been set for March 30-31, it was disclosed Thursday.

As was the case last year, the show will be restricted to the display of drylot fed calves in the cattle class, although there is no change in the pig and sheep classes.

This year, too, the field is being narrowed to a degree, in that only contingent counties are eligible to furnish entries. Heretofore, around a score of counties have been eligible although not many except those close by availed themselves of the opportunity to show.

The show is after the Garden City, San Angelo and Fort Worth exhibitions, and is immediately preceding the Odessa event. Future Farmers of America and 4-H club boys in Howard, Glasscock, Martin, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Mitchell and Sterling counties may enter stock.

Witness Tells Of Operations Of Spy Ring

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—An FBI roundup of German spies in the summer of 1941 was said by a witness in federal court today to have hampered the operations of several members of another alleged espionage ring.

One man fled to a mountain hideout and a woman made plans to leave for Japan with information on defense industries, Army camps and the huge Douglas B-19 bomber, the witness said.

Eighteen-year-old Lucy Boehmler, who has pleaded guilty to charges of conspiracy to violate the espionage act, testified for the third day at the trial of six men and one woman.

Miss Boehmler testified that after the 1941 roundup—which resulted in 33 convictions—Kurt Frederick Ludwig, named by the defendants now on trial, fled to a Pocono mountain hideout.

On the stand yesterday, Miss Boehmler, an attractive German-born blonde, testified that no less an authority than Heinrich Himmler, Nazi Gestapo chief, received information on identities, cargoes, origins and likely sailing plans of ships in New York harbor as well as data on eastern seaboard forts and plane factories.

R-Day Plans For Howard County Told

At least six registration places will be operated in Howard county on Feb. 16—Registration Day—George White, chairman of the county selective service board said Thursday.

There will be one or more places for men to register at the courthouse, one place at the Kate Morrison school, and others at the Foreman and Knott schools and the Legion hall in Coahoma. If volunteer registrars from that place are listed with the board, a place will be provided at Vincent.

In addition, said the board chairman, there will be booths operated to meet schedules at the bus station and train terminal. By this means, those traveling may register if they fall within the 20-45 age brackets.

Registration will start at 7 a. m. and continue to 9 p. m., said Bruce Frazier, chief clerk of the board.

Men may expedite matters by having in mind such basic information as this: First, middle and last name; residence; mailing address; telephone number; age, date and place of birth; occupation; name and address of person who would know address of registrant at all times; and name of employer and place of employment.

The board still is in need of more registrars, and those who will volunteer to give their services for the day to the U. S. government should call the selective service office.

Rice at $1.85 registered an increase of 7 cents per bushel following the market advance of 27 cents per bushel in December.

Cotton at 16.3 cents per pound compared with 15.3 in December showed a stronger advance than during the previous month. Compared with the mid-January price a year ago of 8.8 cents per pound, present prices are barely double. No change was reported from the $41 price for cottonseed in mid-December, but the slight advance over the November price was held. Miss Laneous Notes

The examination time. Not for the youngsters in school but the slightly aged youngsters out of school who have been working like the proverbial beavers on their Red Cross first aid and home nursing classes.

To minds not used to thinking diligently about such but the grocery bill and "what shall we have for dinner," there has been something added. Things like, whether artificial respiration should come first before applying tourniquets and the like.

Others, who worried about whether to stall off the gas company until next month or make the department stores wait, are now discussing splinting and pressure points.

Still others who used to stare all day at bridge cards are learning now how to read temperatures and count the number of times a patient breathes in a minute.

Next week will be the turning point for a percentage of these folks who have spent the past few weeks delving into these matters. And if you don't think some of them are as worried as a seventh grader at mid-term, then just listen to them talk for a while.

But no matter what the outcome of the classic, more dormant brain cells have stirred these past weeks than a body would have thought possible. If the shock doesn't prove too great, there may be some qualified persons around town in case of disaster.

Lovington Pastor Closes Week Of Prayer At Presbyterian Church With Talk On Foreign Missions

Banquet Session Held At Church Wednesday

The Rev. Lowry Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Lovington, N. M., was guest speaker Wednesday night at the third and closing service observing Week of Prayer at the First Presbyterian church.

The Rev. Walker talked following a banquet at 6:30 o'clock on "Why Foreign Missions." He pointed out that it was commanded by God to warn people of their wickedness and that the Bible gave the great commission of "Go Ye Into All the World and Preach My Gospel."

The Lovington pastor said that he believed a non-missionary church is a dead church spiritually. Three questions of why foreign missions when the need is great in America; why try to turn other people to our religion; and why foreign missions during wartime, were proposed by the speaker. He declared that business men still tried to sell their goods in other countries when everybody didn't buy their goods here; that superstition would be banished in other countries by the Christian religion; and that there are now three dictators in the world who needed to be banished for the one dictator of Jesus Christ.

A short worship program of songs was held and an offering taken for the foreign missions.

The Rev. Walker is a member of the foreign mission committee of the El Paso Presbyterian. There were more than 80 persons present at the banquet meeting.

Income, Expenditures Run Above County Budget For '41

Road Maintenance Costs Show The Biggest Excess

Expenditure of Howard county during 1941 were only $2,398.62 over the budget under which the county was operating, annual report of County Auditor Claud Wolf shows.

The 1941 budget, adopted in August of 1940, called for expenditures of approximately $971,000. Thus it is apparent that the actual expenditures of the county during the year missed the budget by slightly over one per cent.

Income of the county, meantime, exceeded estimates by $32,482.38 and the budget estimate of income was essentially the same as that for expenses. This means income of 15 per cent more than forecast—possibly due to a high percentage of tax payments during the past year.

While many county funds went under the budget by small margins, considerable dislocation was evident in the road and bridge fund.

Road maintenance costs were farthest from the budget figure of any county expense during the year. There spending was $17,901.99 in excess of the $54,900 budgeted.

Apparently the item suffering from this excess was that portion of the road and bridge fund which had been allocated for the purchase of right of way. The budget had allowed $12,000 for this purpose, while the commissioners actually only spent $529—leaving a $11,470 balance.

New equipment purchases totaled $22,916, compared to a budget allowance of $25,000. Administrative costs for the road and bridge fund ran $2,357 under the budget allowance of $6,550. The office of county engineer, which had been allowed a budget of $3,000, was eliminated and $777.52 spent for other engineering services, accounting for most of the underspending in this division.

Other expenditures were remarkably close to the budget estimates, as follows:

Jury fund, district court $793.30 under budget, county court $53.50 under budget.

General fund, administrative costs, $614 under; building maintenance, $302 over; election expense, $153.70 over; miscellaneous, $1,044 over; justice of peace precinct 1, $771 under; constable precinct 1, $188 under; lunacy costs, $100 over; charities, $2,906 over (budget had called for $9,520); agriculture, $470 over (largely due to increased outlay to county trapper); capital outlay for equipment, $482.26 under.

Permanent improvement fund, $763 under budget.

Interest and sinking funds, $224 over budget.

Officers salary fund: tax collector, $1,267 under; county clerk, $263 under; district clerk, $113 under; sheriff, $358 over; county judge, $37 under; county attorney, $82 under; county treasurer, $206 under.

The county ended the year with $96,384 in cash balances in the various funds.

Total indebtedness of the county stood at $136,000 as of December 31. This includes $90,000 in special road bonds payable $10,000 annually at 5-1/2 per cent interest, road refunding bonds totaling $18,000 repayable at $4,500 annually at 3 7/8 per cent interest, $4,000 in courthouse and jail warrants payable $1,000 annually at 6 per cent interest, and $24,000 in viaduct warrants payable $1,000 annually at 6 per cent interest. The state participates in payment of the two larger issues.

Women Backing Community Meet

With interest apparently picking up in the weekly series of community sing-songs at the municipal auditorium, real impetus is expected to be given the program Sunday when the women take a hand in promoting attendance.

Sponsors for the day will be the auxiliary to the Lion's club.

Mrs. Boyd McDaniel, president of the auxiliary, said that the Rev. P. D. O'Brien would serve as master of ceremonies and that Judge Cecil C. Collins would be heard in a brief, patriotic address. Members are working toward a good attendance, seeking to have the largest crowd to date, she said.

Herbert Arnold Gets Promotion

Herbert C. Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Arnold of route 1, Big Spring, and now stationed at Goodfellow Field, Army Air Corps basic flying school at San Angelo, recently was promoted from the rank of private first class to the rank of corporal.

Corporal Arnold is attached to the 388th School Squadron.

The shortage of jute from India for making burlap bags is being felt in Brazil and Ecuador, where it is used for coffee bags.

Farmers Get Assistance On Income Tax

A steady stream of farmers is flowing through the county agent's office these days, obtaining aid of three clerks hired by the Farm Bureau and the county agent in making out income tax returns.

From three to half dozen farmers may be found in the office obtaining aid at almost any time.

By March 15 it is likely that several hundred Howard county farmers will have obtained this assistance. Members of the farm bureau receive it free, others pay a small fee.

Farmers face double-trouble in making out income tax returns. For many of them, it is the first time they have been required to report, inasmuch as the changes in income tax laws have included a wide bracket of newcomers. Present law requires the filing of a return by any married man who grossed over $1,500 or any single man who grossed over $750 in the past year. In the case of farmers, it is possible to gross far above these figures and yet have a net income far below.

The second difficulty facing farmers is that their returns are about as complicated to figure as can be imagined. They must show income from perhaps a dozen sources, show even more items as deductible expenses, and figure depreciation of a large amount of farm equipment.

Two Dead In Auto Crash

DALLAS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Richard Burnett, 21, of Greenville, and Mrs. Maria Dahmann, 23, of New York were killed in an automobile collision, 18 miles east of here, last midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Burnett of Dallas, who were in the car with Richard Burnett, suffered cuts and bruises. Denno Joseph Dahmann, 45, of New York, husband of the dead woman, suffered a broken jaw.

Office Opened For Aircraft School

V. D. Hill, formerly of Dallas, has opened an office here to serve as a sort of district headquarters for the Bob Boyle Aircraft School of Dallas.

He said he planned to open part time offices in Midland, Odessa and Colorado City and service them from here.

Enrollments in this immediate territory, he said, have amounted to 18 young men, and now that emphasis has been placed on enlisting women as workers in the aircraft industry, there have signed up to date in Big Spring. They are Mrs. Dixie Bussey, Mrs. L. Arrington, and Elsie Stautzenberger.

They will take the regular Boyle 320-hour course which requires six weeks of intensive training in types of riveting, blue-print reading, metallurgy, Army and Navy standards, assembly jigs, and many other fundamentals of the industry, said Hill.

The average production record in the larger Hollywood studios is three minutes of finished film in an eight hour day.

Seek Capital For A Texas Rubber Plant

DALLAS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Financial support for the establishment of a synthetic rubber industry in Texas will be considered at a meeting in Houston today.

Senator W. Lee O'Daniel announced the meeting yesterday at a gathering here, attended by a group of bankers who listened to an explanation of the proposal by O'Daniel and Dr. E. P. Schoch of the University of Texas, discoverer of a process for synthetic rubber manufacture.

"Speed in bringing the program to maturity was recommended by O'Daniel. Washington authorities, he said, will welcome the project if backed by a responsible organization and submitted in black and white.

"But if we wait and dawdle," he said, "pretty soon we will see pictures in the papers of rubber plants going up in other sections of the country."

The plan, as described by O'Daniel and Schoch, contemplates the installation of equipment in or near existing power plants in Texas for the production of liquid acetylene from natural gas. These installations need only the raw materials of gas and electric energy, they said, and may use energy during off-peak times as it becomes available from other loads.

Acetylene thus produced would be shipped to one or more central plants to be converted into synthetic rubber by processes already well known and tested.

Holiness Defined At Mission School

Holiness, said Dr. Charles Allen McConnell, who is leading a Bible and missionary institute at the Church of the Nazarene here this week, is in having the correct or right attitudes.

It is having the right purpose to indulge in the right activities which lead to the right relationship with God and fellow men, said Dr. McConnell. It is a necessity but it is not a guarantee against sin although it certainly is a force for living right where regeneration has removed the desires for sin.

Thursday evening he speaks on "Sanctification, a Second Work of Grace." Mrs. McConnell speaks Friday at 4 p. m. to women and girls only on "An African Love Story."

Time Change Big Problem For Railroads

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—American railroads are all set for the ticklish job of changing their operations from Standard Time to war time in the small hours of Monday morning.

For the average citizen, it merely will be a matter of setting a watch an hour ahead and going to bed, but the railroads must go through a major operating maneuver when they depart from the old Standard Time at 2 a. m.

Every clock in every station, every watch in every trainman's pocket, must move forward accurately at the prescribed time so that schedules can be maintained with the maximum of safety.

Japanese Say Rails To Burma Road Cut

BERLIN, (Via German Broadcasts), Feb. 5 (AP)—Tokyo dispatches broadcast by the Berlin radio today said that the railway north from Rangoon which feeds China's vital Burma road had "been cut effectively" by a series of Japanese air raids yesterday.

These attacks, it was asserted, destroyed the railway station at Toungoo, 130 miles north of Rangoon, and severed the railway south of Mandalay at several points. Five British planes were destroyed on the ground at Toungoo, where the Japanese were caught by surprise, the broadcast said. It claimed the Japanese suffered no losses.

Novis Womack Passes Air Corps Mental Tests

Novis Womack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Womack, has passed the mental portion of his examination for enlistment in the air corps as an aviation cadet applicant, Sgt. Troy Gibson, said at the U. S. Army recruiting office Thursday.

Womack now is subject to notices when to report for training, said the sergeant.

Others who have passed their examinations and who are awaiting call are William Travis Aaron, William McDaniel Taylor, and Volle E. Sorrells, Big Spring, and John F. Priddy, Stanton.

Sgt. Gibson called attention to the unlimited quota for parachute troops and added that those accepted for this branch of the service would get $50 a month extra pay.

The Eggs, Your Honor, Were Good, But That Was Just Three Weeks Ago

DETROIT, Feb. 5 (AP)—A modern Solomon in Recorder's Judge Thomas H. Cotter.

Three men, among them one Aaa Wilcox, 31, were before Judge Cotter on charges of selling inedible eggs.

"Nonsense," snorted Wilcox, "I'd eat any of those eggs."

"Have you got the evidence here?" the judge asked Ward Brown, state agricultural department inspector. Brown said he had.

"I don't think that's fair," gasped Wilcox.

"Of course it's fair," retorted Judge Cotter. "You volunteered to eat any of those eggs. Go ahead."

"Look, Your Honor," Wilcox remonstrated, "the inspector's had those eggs three weeks. Sure, they're no good now."

Wilcox didn't eat any of the eggs, but he was convicted and fined $15 by Judge Cotter.

Little Tokyo's Nisei Are Good Americans Fighting For U. S. A.

American-born Sumida Cut A Rug, American Style. "The United States Is Worth Fighting For."

By F. H. FRAWLEY
AP Feature Service

LOS ANGELES—If Los Angeles county, nerve center of Pacific coast war production, is apprehensive about its 60,000 Japanese, there is no outward sign.

The FBI upon the declaration of war interned some Japanese nationals and the Treasury department placed certain economic restrictions against others.

But the Nisei, or American-born Japanese, who comprise two-thirds of the 150,000 Nipponese in Continental United States and Hawaii, are generally held above suspicion. They are as modernly American as tomorrow. They have discarded almost every trace of Japanese tradition.

Typical Nisei Family

Typical family in "Little Tokyo," Los Angeles Japanese settlement, is that of Chimata Sumida, a merchant, who came to the United States 30 years ago and three years later sent back for his "picture bride," Masako. They have three daughters, two sons.

The boys are students at the University of California at Los Angeles, majoring in business administration. One daughter is in junior high school, two were graduated with honors and now are secretaries.

Life at the Sumida home is not greatly unlike that of the average American family of European ancestry, except perhaps for some variance in food habits.

There is a close family attachment, industry and thrift are indoctrinated, but all play as hard as they work. The children "cut the rug" on occasions and can execute the latest dance steps.

Father Chimata is proud of his children, says he hasn't had to prod them but rather has preached relaxation and enjoyment of life. All the children play golf and the boys and father are proficient enough to have captured numerous trophies that adorn the family "bull pen," equivalent of the rumpus room.

The war has injected a sombre note to everything in "Little Tokyo," however. Nisei say they haven't detected any special unfriendliness from other Americans and that the young children have not been "baited" at school.

Everyone in the community is eager to do his part in helping to whip the Axis powers.

Suicide For Japan

Father Sumida, who has traveled extensively in the Orient, feels that Japan finally has come to the end of her dangerous expansion program, and that when she attacked the United States, she sealed her doom as a first-rate nation. The militarists, he believes, are committing national harakiri.

Daughter Grace, who spent 18 months in Japan a few years ago, was glad to get back. The trip climaxed her college education and while she was glad to study the land of her ancestors, she would not want to live where the husband summons his wife by the clasp of his hands and she must, out of respect, walk behind him.

Sons Marshall and Theodore are still too young for the Army but will be glad to do their hitch, they say, whenever needed. They and all other Nisei agree that life in the United States is worth fighting for, and 2,000 of them have joined the Army to do just that.

Regardless Of What 'They' Say, Don't Rush For Birth Certificate

"They said" is causing a lot of trouble these days.

"They said" is bringing about a minor revolution in the courthouses of the land, and county clerks and their deputies are being steadily driven to distraction by the same.

"They said" is the strong rumor that is going about concerning birth certificates.

Hundreds of people have flocked into the office of County Clerk Lee Porter during the past few months with the assertion that "They said" it could get a birth certificate here. "They said" I had to have one.

"Who said it?"

"Oh, a man said it. They said I couldn't even drive my car without a birth certificate." (Which is a mistake).

The county clerks and their deputies can do nothing but smile tightly and start the task of issuing a birth certificate. And therewith follows a period of grief.

The matter of getting a birth certificate is troublesome. It often takes weeks of letter writing and doctor-chausing. It costs from 50 cents to $1.50 or more.

For that reason, people who do not have definite need of birth certificates are urged—yes, pleaded—with—not to seek these records during the present rush.

Birth certificates are required by volunteers in the armed forces, and by a few war production firms. But the larger number of people coming to the clerk's office for certificates have no earthly need of these certificates, and in asking for them they are causing those who do need them to get slower service.

Street rumors have arisen concerning many and various needs for the certificates, but these needs are limited and it is advised that every person refrain from getting a certificate until his employer or some public official has specifically told him it is needed.

It is not necessary to have a birth certificate to be a good wartime citizen, to drive a car, to register for the draft.

But, if a birth certificate is needed, here is the correct procedure:

Write directly to the county in which you were born, giving the date of your birth, enclosing 50 cents and a stamped envelope addressed to yourself.

DON'T go to your nearest county clerk. Write to your native county. If the clerk of the county in which you were born has the certificate, he will mail it to you and the job will be done. If he has not, he will send you a blank to have filled out by the attending physician or other witnesses to your birth.

2 Babies Die Of Pneumonia

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon for two babies, both victims of pneumonia.

Gladys Ruth Beene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Beene, died at the family home in Plains at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday. She was born March 18, 1941, and besides her parents was survived by a brother, Albert Wayne; a sister, Mary Ann, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Arnold, Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Beene, Abilene. Rites were said at 10 a. m. Thursday at the First Methodist church in Stanton with the Rev. H. A. Dooley, pastor, in charge, and burial was in the Evergreen cemetery. The family formerly had lived in the Lenorah community of Martin county before moving to Plains.

Funeral for Nora Mae Hardin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Hardin, was held at the East Fourth Baptist church here with the Rev. Paul Jakes, Stanton Baptist pastor, in charge. Burial was in the city cemetery.

Nora Mae, born Oct. 26, 1940, succumbed at the home of her parents, near Stanton, at 1:10 p. m. Wednesday. She was survived by her parents, one brother, John D. Hardin, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Lauderdale, Ackerly, and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hardin, Stanton. The family had moved recently from Big Spring to a farm near Stanton. The baby's uncles, Billy and Raymond Hardin, served as pallbearers. Eberley Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements in both cases.

'Yanks Are Coming,' Frenchmen Told -- Leaflets From US Dropped On Conquered Areas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP) — RAF bombers, doubling as delivery boys for the U. S. A., are strewing occupied France with pamphlets by the millions, proclaiming the gigantic scope of America's war plans and conveying to a conquered people the implicit message: "The Yanks Are Coming."

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early made known the newest of pamphlet raids today, and disclosed that the leaflet bombardment was particularly intense on the Brittany peninsula.

The same ports and towns were the first to see the doughboys a quarter of a century ago, and that maritime section of France would be one of the first likely theaters of action whenever the United Nations are ready to open a major invasion campaign to regain the continent.

Early, who reported that a total of 1,417,000 pamphlets had been dropped in the latest raids, said he had been told that operations to date constituted "the biggest pamphlet bombing job ever done" more than 2,000,000 leaflets were dropped in the initial raids a month ago.

Significant or not, the Brittany area was the first and only section to date to be blanketed with a new pamphlet—one which contains President Roosevelt's pledge that the United States will "put the weapons of war at the proper time into the hands of those men in the conquered nations, who stand ready to seize the first opportunity to revolt x x x."

The intensive pamphlet bombing served notice that the United States, which used ideological weapons with telling success against Kaiser Wilhelm's reich, was neglecting no fronts in the total war campaign it had planned for a long-pull victory.

In the current struggle, however, it will be some time before the Nazis themselves are peeted with American printed matter.

"The first pamphlets they get from this country," remarked one highly placed official, "will be bombs."

Besides buoying the hopes of conquered France, the evident aims of the pamphlet raiding were to foster sabotage, stir unrest and encourage resistance to the German army of occupation.

As Early reported on the progress of this psychological offensive, the senate set itself in complete congressional action on the $26,495,305,474 Navy bill and dispatch the all-time record appropriation to the White House. Leaders also were hopeful of getting speedy action on the $500,000,000 proposal for financial aid to China, which the house approved yesterday.

With the situation on the Pacific fighting fronts still bleak for allied arms, there were expressions of impatience in some quarters at the strikes which halted war production in two important mid-western plants, and at several minor labor controversies. Many members of congress looked on these outbreaks as violating the labor-management agreement outlawing strikes for the war's duration.

The question was heightened by the concern expressed in a number of quarters here over the lag in the promised shipments of supplies to Russia. Responsible officials claimed that the lag was caused by shipping difficulties and asserted that production for the Soviets was either on or ahead of schedule. However, some legislators took the position that any production delays would prove costly, if not on the Russian front then in some other theater of war.

In announcing the newest pamphlet raid, Early disclosed that most of the leaflets dropped were the same in content as those used in the opening bombardment early in January when 1,380,000 were strewn over Paris, 600,000 over Lille, and others elsewhere.

This pamphlet No. 1 contained assurances that the United Nations would win the war, as well as the peace to follow, and emphasized the traditional friendship between France and America.

In its latest forays, the RAF let loose 1,020,000 more of these same pamphlets—246,000 in the Bourges area, 144,000 in the Dijon area and 630,000 in the vicinity of Paris.

In addition delivery of pamphlet No. 2 was begun in the Brittany area with an initial consignment of 397,500 copies. The second pamphlet, printed in London like the first, bore the red, white and blue "V's" on its cover for victory.

High School Studes Drill For Air Raid Precautions

By DICK CLIFTON

If you think Big Spring high school students aren't prepared for an air raid, you're wrong. They're drilling steadily for safety's sake.

Air raid precautions differ from those against fire in that the students, when the alarm rings, march from classrooms into the interior hallway, theoretically safer from bomb fragments, shrapnel and flying glass. In the halls, youngsters form in two lines along the walls. During the interment period, groups are directed by teachers in recreational activities.

Air raid safety rehearsal started the first of the week, and will be carried on regularly. Instructors reported a fair result in early trials.

Rules laid down for the air raid precautions include:

"Follow all instructions of teachers and student leaders to the letter; when the air raid alarm sounds pass in orderly manner to the section of the building indicated by teacher; pass in single file to and from the shelter; do not push or hold on to another student; all talking must be in subdued tones; there will be no whistling, yelling, or roughness of any kind; the class must take its place as a group and remain in that group while in the shelter; every student must participate in whatever activity his teacher or leader directs; remain in the shelter until the all-clear signal is given; the all-clear signal will be two sounds from the fire alarm gong; return to the classroom in the same orderly fashion."

There are four towns named Comfort in America.

Want Some Tough Hunting? Try Alaska's Big, Bad, Brown Bear

By SAM JACKSON
AP Feature Service Writer
JUNEAU, Alaska. — In case you're a rich sportsman who has been sulking because the war has interrupted your lion and tiger hunting, this may cheer you up— You can stay right in Uncle Sam's domain and tangle with what many hunters consider the most dangerous animal on earth—the mighty brown bear of Alaska.

The decorations on this Alaska woodsman's hut give you an idea of the size of the famous brown bears in that area.

Many a mangled body found in the northern wilderness testifies that the mild and playful aspect of this animal conceals a ferocity possibly unmatched by the jungle kings of the old world.

Largest Carnivorous Animal
"The brown bear is the largest carnivorous animal on earth," says Frank Dufresne, executive officer of the Alaska game commission, "the elephant and hippopotamus being strictly vegetarians."

"Our records show hides eleven and a half feet long and carcasses ranging up to 1,500 pounds. When a really big bear stands erect he may reach 12 feet. Imagine how you'd feel looking up at that mass of muscle and fur, topped by a head almost as big as a wheelbarrow."

"I've timed a bear running down the road ahead of my automobile at 24 miles an hour. The only defect in his whole makeup is poor eyesight."

Dufresne says that the brown bear is one of the three animals that will deliberately stalk a man. The others are the rhinoceros and water buffalo.

The territory requires that no matter how good a hunter you are, you must take a licensed guide when hunting bear.

The brown bear and his slightly smaller kinsman, the grizzly, range the Alaska mainland as far north as Yakutat bay and occupy several adjacent islands. The common black bears and wolves are never found on an island where the brown bear rules.

Guides who have studied the monsters' habits for years say that during the two months when they are catching salmon in the river shallows they are rather peaceful. At such times they have often been photographed with impunity.

But during the courting season, during their voracious hunt for food prior to hibernation, and particularly when they are protecting their cubs, they are likely to be murderous.

Must Be Good
"Of course, there are bears and bears," one guide explains. "They have just as much individuality as pedigreed dogs."
When a bear charges it takes a bullet directly between the eyes to stop him. If he's not stopped it's all over. Last summer a luckless woodsman was knocked into a bramble thicket with such force that it took two hours to extricate his body.

Alaska has set two seasons for brown bears and charges a $50 non-resident fee for hunting them. One is from September 1 to the hibernation period—about mid-October — and the other is from when the bears emerge from their winter sleep in mid-April until June 20. The young are born during hibernation.

The game commission estimates that these "greatest wild animals in the world" number about 28,500 and that they are on the increase.

What It Means -- Your Sugar Ration Card

By HERMAN ALLEN
If you're an average American, you ate 74 pounds of sugar last year, about 1 1/2 pounds a week. To you, sugar rationing means first of all that the shopper in your home will be able to buy less than two-thirds for this year.

What will this mean to the average American's innards? Will he get enough to keep healthy? There's a twinkle-eyed little lady in the department of agriculture's home economics bureau who has the answer.

"Why," she chuckled, "most of us eat a lot more sugar than we need anyway. We just eat it because we like our coffee or our strawberries better that way. Look here!"

What You Need
She reached in her desk and pulled out a table that the bureau had prepared. It shows how much sugar is needed a week by men and women and children of various ages. Here it is:

Children
0-12 months	1 ounce
1-2 years	3 ounces
3-4 years	5 ounces
5-9 years	10 ounces
10-12 years	12 ounces
Girls
12-15 years	1 lb.
16-20 years	12 ozs.
Boys
12-15 years	1 lb.
16-20 years	1 lb., 4 ozs.
Women
Moderately active	1 lb.
Very active	1 lb., 4 ozs.
Sedentary	11 ozs.
Pregnant	12 ozs.
Nursing	1 lb.
Men
Moderately active	1 lb., 4 ozs.
Very active	1 lb., 12 ozs.
Sedentary	1 lb.
Spreading It Thin
"Three quarters of a pound would be spreading it pretty thin," she admitted, "if we had to have all the sugar in this table in the form of just plain white sugar. But it includes all that you get in sirups, molasses, jellies and preserves and candy as well as white, brown and maple sugar."

"Besides that, the rationing plan is on a person-by-person basis. That means Mother can buy 3-year-old Buster's ration and have some of it left over for herself and Buster's father."

"So the situation may not be so terrible as it sounds. We'll just have to wait and see how bad it is."

Sugarless Preserves
Price Administrator Henderson has said that sugar is being put aside for next summer's home canning season, but the home economist has a solution in case the housewife can't get enough for all her plums and strawberries. You can put up preserves without sugar. If you don't know how, write the Superintendent of Public Documents, Washington, D. C., for home canning pamphlet No. FB-1762. Enclose 10c in stamps or well-wrapped coin.

If you like a bottle of pop or a piece of candy now and then, you'll probably find the pop less sweet, and your favorite candy bar may be out of stock occasionally. Commercial sugar users bought 40 pounds for every American in 1941 but are going to get only 27 pounds this year.

Railroads' Net Income Highest In Eleven Years

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The nation's class 1 railroads had an estimated net income of $500,546,671 in 1941 which was more than two and a half times the 1940 profit, the Association of American Railroads reported today.

This was the first time since 1930 that their income exceeded the half billion dollar mark. In that year, the net was $252,907,472.

Operating revenues last year totaled $5,346,699,998, an increase of $1,048,700,000 over 1940 and an increase of $66,000,000 compared with 1930.

Net railway operating income before payment of interest and rentals for the nation's 135 class 1 railroads last year amounted to $999,502,930, a return of 3.79 per cent on property investment compared with a return of 2.61 per cent in 1940 and 3.36 in 1930.

Housing Shy In Many Areas

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—A critical housing shortage is indicated in almost half of the nation's key defense areas, and residential vacancies were found to be below normal in nine-tenths of such areas, the Works Progress Administration reported today.

The agency said it surveyed 287 defense areas and that in all but 25 the gross number of vacant family dwelling units was less than 5 per cent, the figure considered "normal," and in most cases less than half the vacant dwellings were habitable.

In 111 areas, the report disclosed, the vacancy ratio was less than 2 per cent, indicating a "critical" housing shortage. The federal government now has under way programs calling for expenditure of approximately $500,000,000 for housing facilities in defense areas.

They're Good Citizens -- Hyphen Removed From 'German American'

By DON BRANNON AP Feature Service

MILWAUKEE—The Germans of Milwaukee fought against war with the land of their forebears. But if outward manifestations are any criterion, Uncle Sam need have no fear as to where they stand today. The bulk of them rallied to his standard immediately after Pearl Harbor, resolved to see him through to a smashing victory.

Pro-Nazi citizens suddenly lost their volubility. Some were reportedly placed under surveillance. Most Milwaukee Germans were not loathe to see this done.

Opposed Intervention From the day the Nazi legions marched on Poland, Milwaukeeans of Germanic extraction opposed intervention. It was not our fight, they declared. Some became bitter as administration support of Great Britain progressed. Most of the group detested Hitler and hated the things he inflicted upon his people and the world. But they hated England more—blamed her for Germany's misery and for Hitler.

The first bomb blast in Pearl Harbor blasted Milwaukee isolationist sentiment into oblivion. Germany declared war, and Milwaukee's German-Americans proudly became plain unhyphenated Americans.

Bernhard Hofmann speaking for the 60 German-American groups which he organized into the Wisconsin Federation of German-American Societies said: "Since the Axis powers have declared war, we American citizens of Germanic extraction know our only duty will be to our country. We fully realize that this is a life or death struggle for America. Therefore, we will do everything in our power to help our government, and sacrifice to the utmost to win this war for the United States, our country. So it has been in the past, so it is now, and so it will always be."

Texas Demos Plan New Type Dinner

By the Associated Press

A Texas democratic dinner at Fort Worth February 23 will replace Jackson Day dinners of peacetime years, Myron Blalock, Texas national committeeman, announced in Washington after consulting with Mrs. Clara Driscoll, state national committeewoman. The Fort Worth dinner will be for the whole state, it was announced.

Raymond E. Buck, Fort Worth attorney, accepted chairmanship of the dinner. He said democrats will be asked to contribute towards the national fund, and those contributing $25 or more will be issued invitations to the dinner. State Democratic Chairman E. B. Germany, commenting on the dinner, said he opposed a fund-raising campaign.

"The people are engaged in positive charities having to do with the war," Germany said. "This is no time to ask them to contribute to their party to wipe out a deficit."

Seek Identity Of Man Killed Under Train

A few days earlier, Hofmann had told an interviewer that the United States should not intervene in Europe because the world's troubles could not be settled by force, that American victory in a war fought on two fronts would not be worth the cost in men and money. He had also declared that Hitler was wrong in trying to create a better Europe by force, and had fought to prevent Nazis and Communists from gaining control of German-American societies.

War quickly changed the near northwest side taverns where Germans gather for a few hours of gemütlichkeit (good fellowship and hospitality) and a stein of beer. At the Schwaben-Hof, a North Twelfth Street, tavern and restaurant famous for its Tyrolean orchestras and German music, the Tyroleans put aside their embroidered shorts, heavy leather harness, woolen half socks and feathered hats and came out in cowboy suits, chaps, high-heeled boots and crooned of dogies, pinto, and the lone prairie.

First Day of War A representative group of Texans gathered in Central Hall the first day of war with Germany to hear the bartender, Curt Porath, speak. He is commander of the German-Austrian War Veterans association. "It is now our fight," he said. "I know what war is. But I say, now we're in it, and we got to win, and we nationalized citizens are going to help all we can. No one is going to be able to point to us and say we are not doing our part."

HILLSBORO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Two blood-stained pictures—one of a woman and another of the same woman and a baby—were studied by officers today seeking the identity of a white man who was struck by a passenger train north of Itasca last night. They were investigating two theories: one that the man killed himself, another that he was robbed and beaten into a daze and in that condition staggered to the tracks.

The album-type photographs were sent to the state department of public safety for identification study.

The man's body was a badly mangled by the train. Identification marks had been torn from the coat, and no cards or money were found in his bill fold, said District Attorney Billy Martin.

One of the pictures showed the woman sitting on a lawn near a group of palm trees in front of a pretentious home. The other included the same background, and the woman and a baby.

Railroad officials told officers a man fitting the general description of the man who was killed walked into the Itasca station and sat down, saying he was tired, about three hours before the death was reported.

Lincoln's Birthday Is The Time To Try Old-Time American Foods

SPARERIBS—Country Style

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE AP Feature Service Writer

Lincoln's birthday is a grand occasion to try your hand at some of our best, oldtime plain American foods.

Many of the dishes, so popular in the days of our prairie president, can't be beat when prepared as they should be.

STEWED CHICKEN AND DUMPLINGS: Select a plump stewer, about 5 pounds, wash and cut up. Cover by 4 inches with cold water, add 2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 cup finely chopped celery leaves. Cover tightly and bring to boil, lower heat and simmer about 3 hours, until chicken is tender.

Pour off stock and fat to make creamy sauce. Mix 5 tablespoons fat and 1-2 cup flour. Blend in cup cold water, pour into chicken stock and cook slowly until creamy. Add chicken, top with dumplings.

MIX 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon salt and 1-4 teaspoon pepper, add 3 tablespoons chicken (or other kind) fat, 1 egg and enough milk to make soft dough (about 3-4 cup). Drop from spoon on top chicken mixture. Cover tightly and simmer 15 minutes.

CODFISH BALLS: Wash 1-2 pound dried salt codfish in cold water. Rinse, cover by 3 inches with cold water. Soak several hours. Drain and flake codfish and add to 2 cups cubed raw potatoes and 1 cup water. Cover and cook slowly 10 minutes until potatoes are tender. Drain, mash ingredients until soft.

Add 1 egg beaten, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon white pepper and 1-4 cup hot milk. Beat until fluffy, shape into balls and roll in flour. Fry in deep, hot fat until brown. Drain. Serve hot with Tartar or tomato sauce or relish cabbage salad.

CRUNCHY ESCALLOPED OYSTERS: For a quart of oysters mix 2 1-2 cups rolled crisp crackers crumbs, 2-3 cup butter, melted, 1 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 1-3 teaspoon celery salt. Sprinkle half cup crumbs in buttered baking dish. Add layer of oysters and sprinkle with crumbs. Fill dish alternating layers of oysters and crumbs. Pour in 2-3 cup cream, milk and oyster liquid. Make knife cuts to allow moisture to be distributed evenly, or add some liquid to each layer when placed in dish. Bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven (350).

Age Benefits Not Subject To Tax

In response to many inquiries from individuals seeking information as to whether or not payments received from the United States government under the old-age and survivors insurance system of the social security act are subject to income tax, Robert M. Wayne, manager of the Big Spring office of the social security board stated "such funds are not subject to federal income tax." This statement was based on information which his office has received from the bureau of internal revenue. According to Wayne, exemptions include cash benefits paid, and in the hands of the recipient, such as primary insurance benefits as set forth in the law; wife's insurance payments; and payments made to children, widows and parents. These exemptions not only include monthly benefits, but lump sum death benefits as well.

FLASH PREVIEW Or "Roxie Hart"

The new 20th Century-Fox comedy drama stars Ginger Rogers, with George Montgomery, Adolphe Menjou, Lynne Overman and Nigel Bruce.

As cub reporter George Montgomery looks on, Roxie's husband tells detectives she shot her lover.

Nigel Bruce, a theatrical agent, promises to make her a big-time vaudeville star if she will confess.

The press boys put on a big campaign to free her.

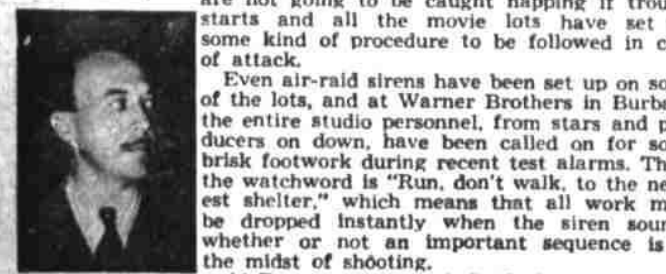

Coached by criminal lawyer Menjou, she is acquitted.

Meanwhile Montgomery, convinced of her innocence, falls in love with Roxie.

ON THE SETS With REED JOHNSTON

Considering the reasonable unlikelihood, at least for the present, of an enemy bombing attack on Hollywood even by night, the extensive precautions taken by the studios against daytime raids might seem just a bit overdone — until you recall the many times the Axis forces have caught us off guard.

REED JOHNSTON

Even air-raid sirens have been set up on some of the lots, and at Warner Brothers in Burbank the entire studio personnel, from stars and producers on down, have been called on for some brisk footwork during recent test alarms.

At Paramount every individual on the lot has been assigned a shelter-station to proceed to in case of alarm, and air-raid wardens easily identifiable by white armbands, have been appointed to serve in a capacity exactly similar to that of wardens in any bombed area.

Further outstanding names enrolled are James Cagney, Bette Davis, Kay Kyser, Rosalind Russell, Pat O'Brien, Tyrone Power, Betty Grable, Gene Autry, Gary Cooper, Cary Grant, Ginger Rogers and many others.

The Victory Committee is headed by Fred W. Beetsen and was formed to assist Lowell Mellett, recently appointed by the President as United States Coordinator for Films.

Fashion Scene By MARGARET McKAY

There's no shortage of fresh new fashions in vibrant color and whimsical line for the femmes to wear as a war-gloom antidote. What is more cheering than splashes of brilliant color and yellow and turquoise. She "glamoured up" her trousseau, for her marriage to George Brent, with a flannel sports dress in mimosa topped off by a flannel jacket in turquoise. Jumper dresses are scampering into everything—torsio-length jumpers with skirts or slacks, and dirndl dresses with the top part a jumper-style. Giant flowered or wild-plaid blouses are worn underneath them and add variety by being changed as regularly as the swing shifts of our defense factories.

Plumes and feathers will be seen plentifully in prints this year, as will mammoth flowered designs.

Record Review By WAX MAN

We had to listen to Art Kassel's latest Bluebird disc—the title got us—The Biggest Aspid Astor in the World—the dictionary tells us that the aspid astor is an Asiatic house plant. If you like different types of waxes — here's one for the library.

Someone's Rocking My Dream Boat is a swell tune when played by any band — but get a load of 32 pieces of real band plus Artie Shaw and you've got something. We're also proud of Paula Kelly's vocal. Victor did it.

Victor has just plucked a plum. For the past two years we have been hearing of the company's constant search for a swing harpist. The other night a young publicist, Warren Cowan, listened to a 10-year-old lad, Gale Lawton, get busy during a jam session with pianist-composer Hal Borne and immediately dispatched the news of his discovery to a contact in New York and now it looks as if we'll finally get a hep-harp album.

Gallagher and Shean was a great record — and have you heard Hey, Abbot—Hey, Costello? The laugh-boys have waxed for Victor a couple of sock choruses and dynamite gags — and found themselves with a best-seller on their hands.

Heard a new tune, Breathless, done by the Merry Macs on the air the other night and understand a recording date has been set for the waxing. You've never heard the likes of it — it's a cinch to catch on. The lyrics will dare you — sounds like double talk, but isn't.

Kate Smith will be the first to wax Me and My Buddy Next Door. Tune was written by Stanley Cowan and Sidney Miller, the latter being Mickey Rooney's collaborator.

Listeners who have enjoyed Henry Levine's "Strictly From Dixie" program on NBC on Friday nights will be happy to know that negotiations for the recording of an album based on this popular feature have been completed. Henry will record eight sides for Victor.

Just finished work in MGM's "The Courtship of Andy Hardy." Ann Rutherford offers several reasons why any wise young man might court her.

JOE FISHER'S Reviews of Previews

RKO-Radio studios dominated the preview scene in Hollywood this past week with three offerings, the best one of which was "VALLEY OF THE SUN," starring Lucille Ball and James Craig, with Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Dean Jagger, Peter Whitney,

Lucille Ball and James Craig in RKO-Radio's "Valley of the Sun."

Billy Gilbert and Antonio Moreno in the top supporting brackets. The film is a free movie adaptation of Clarence Buddington Kelland's book of the same name, and under the expert hands of producer Graham Baker and director George Marshall emerges as a vividly exciting story of goings on in Arizona in the days following the Civil War, when Apache Chief Geronimo was keeping Uncle Sam's warriors' hands full. The picture fairly bristles with Indians and real Indians too, for with the exception of Geronimo, played by Tom Tyler, and another chief portrayed by Antonio Moreno all the Indians were members of the various tribes who make Arizona their home. Furthermore most of the picture was filmed in the Sun Valley State, all of which gives the whole an authenticity so often missing in these Western dramas.

The story is of an Army scout (Craig) who is court-martialed when he intervenes in the crooked administration of Indian affairs by the resident Indian agent (Dean Jagger). Escaping from the Army bastille he becomes further involved in rescuing The Girl (Miss Ball) from a mistaken marriage and wins her himself.

On this simple tale ace director George Marshall has built an outstanding Western that is chockful of hairbreadth escapes, fights and action galore all cleverly held together by careful character delineations whose development, contrary to usual movie technique, actually helps in sustaining suspense and promoting the fast-moving tempo of the film.

Miss Ball's performance is a solid one and James Craig wins additional laurels for a standout performance. Excellent too is the work of Peter Whitney as a kindly halfwit, Billy Gilbert as a justice of the peace, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Antonio Moreno and Tom Tyler.

"VALLEY OF THE SUN" is an ideal escape adventure film that will delight every member of the family and is heartily recommended for your "be sure to see" list by your reviewer.

RKO's second picture was "CALL OUT THE MARINES," starring Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe, with Blaine Baines and Paul Kelly in the top supporting roles.

The picture continues the activities of the two principals first brought to fame in "What Price Glory," but frankly the film falls far short of that tremendous hit. It has its moments however, as do Messrs McLaglen and Lowe in their rivalries for the affections of Binnie Barnes, a nightclub entertainer whose side-line is spying. There is some good music by Mort Greene and Harry Revel with good harmony by the King's Men and Six Hits and a Miss, and a newcomer, Coriana Mura, who can certainly put over a song.

There are plenty of good laughs in "CALL OUT THE MARINES," but don't think you're going to see another "What Price Glory."

The final RKO offering was "MEXICAN SPITFIRE AT SEA," another of the Lupe Velez, Leon Errol episodes. The film is a complete steal for the competent Mr. Errol, who literally carries it on his shoulders throughout its length. Miss Velez is her usual self, but to Mr. Errol and to luscious Marion Martin must go the bulk of acting honors.

Meet the Stars With VIC BOESEN

If your father were a banker, it wouldn't necessarily follow that you would become a banker, too; but if your grandfather had been a banker, and your great-grandfather a banker, it might reasonably be said that the family was in a rut and that tradition stood against any other course but to bank.

VIC BOESEN

This rule of the dynasty held forth in Vic Boesen a town like Michigan City, Indiana, which is where Charles Arnt, rising Hollywood character actor, came from; and it was here that his father, the town's financial oracle, a spry patriarch of eighty or so, who still puts in a man's day at the office, assumed that Charles would some day settle down and take over—that is, when his father was old enough to retire.

Charles, soon to be seen in "Take a Letter, Darling" and "Paris Calling," the latter all the better for the presence of Basil Rathbone in it, describes it as a "hard day" when at last he broke the news to his father of his decision against carrying on at the bank. Charles had been away to college; Princeton, and there he had done right well for himself, not only scholastically, but in amateur dramatics. He had been president of the Triangle Club, the university's theater group, and taken part in productions that included another fellow who was pretty good, one James Stewart.

Charles liked it. But one doesn't make important decisions in college, so he returned home, after a vagabondage around the world, and dutifully took a job in a Chicago bank by way of breaking ground for an important place in the family habit in Michigan City. A year of it was all he could take.

Telling his father that he was full up to the neck with balances and deficits, he went off to West Falmouth, Massachusetts, and there organized "The University Players," with the aforesaid Stewart, Margaret Sul-lavan, Henry Fonda, and Joshua Logan joining him. In shorter time than due course, Charles Arnt was on Broadway doing a featured role in "Knickerbocker Holiday."

A Hollywood spy lurking about frisked him off to California, where he had been once before, as technical director on "She Loves Me Not," a tale of Princeton. Charles had sought a certain part, but Director Elliott Nugent had said he was too old. So they gave the part to a guy eight years older.

Charles had done other things on this first trip. In Princeton, he had majored in geology, for obscure reasons, and to sustain himself during these days in Hollywood, had taken a job with a mining engineer that led him deep into gas-ridden abandoned gold mine shafts. It was his verdict on the high quality of the ore that resulted in the reopening of the fabled Silver Queen near Mohave. Now back in Hollywood, he was cast in "Little Men," and his place was fixed.

Meanwhile, the bank in Michigan City is doing fine.

ERSKINE JOHNSON'S HOLLYWOOD

EXCLUSIVELY YOURS: W. C. Fields, who recently went on the wagon, will capitalize on the publicity he received at the time by giving a temperance lecture for his sequence in the Boris Morros film, "Tales of Manhattan." He'll advocate the drinking of coconut milk, which he serves to his audience during the lecture. But both the audience and Fields wind up drunk—someone has spiked the coconut milk! . . . Marlene Dietrich, who slugged her way back to cinematic prominence in that barroom brawl in "Destiny," is due for more roughhousing in Frank Lloyd's new version of "The Spoilers." In one scene she kicks, scratches, slaps and throws a rotten egg at Leading Man John Wayne . . . Rita Hayworth and Columbia have kissed and made up—Rita getting the salary increase she so richly deserved.

Red Skelton, taking one look at Bert Lahr wearing a white beret for a scene in "Ship Ahoy," cracked: "Yo Gads! You look like an unconfirmed rumor!"

And seeing lanky John Carradine for the first time in the film, "Whispering Ghosts," Milton Berle says: "He looks like an old pipe cleaner I once threw away."

Bill Gargan is considering an offer to play the lead in a new Broadway play, "The Brooklyn Dodger." . . . Ronald Colman will wear a beard for his role in "The Gentlemen Misbehave" at Columbia, and he is growing a real one . . . Hollywood, pledged to keep the nation laughing, is even putting laughs into a movie with a Nazi background. Producer B. P. Schulberg describes his new film, "Highly Irregular," as "a comedy in Nazi occupied Holland." Joan Bennett and Franchot Tone are co-starred . . . Are Mary Beth Hughes and Ted North secretly married? I'm only asking . . . Marc Lawrence, the reformed villain, gets his third straight comedy role in Republic's "Tokel Boy."

They're even putting glamour into the lone pre-war these days. Leading lady Fay McKenzie has 12 changes of wardrobe in Republic's "Dunk on the Painted Desert." Western heroines usually get only two—calico and blue jeans.

Gen. Charles DeGaulle, leader of the Free French, will help exploit the Elisabeth Bergner hit, "Paris Calling." His rave comment about the film will be in all advertising.

After elevating Joe Cotten to stardom in "Journey Into Fear," Orson Welles sent him a telegram reading: "Despite the fact you are a man—despite the fact you are a movie star, I still admire you." . . . Frankie Thomas and Rita Quigley were a two-some in active preparation and great secrecy surrounds the scripts of all of them. Steve Fisher, assigned to one at Fox, describes the action as "a furious 120 page race from Rangoon to Chungking between three sets of writers." . . . Promised and hoped for: Bud Abbott and Lou Costello getting mixed up in the war as erstwhile British soldiers in their next MGM film after "Rio Rita."

Max Lief, bidding for Sam Goldwyn's $100 prize for a title for the Lou Gehrig picture, suggested it be called "Gehrig Cooper." Gary Cooper is starred.

Jean O'Donnell, the gal whose photo is featured in all "Hellzapoppin'" ads, and Mack Grey are planning a wedding in the spring.

Comic Teddy Hart is testing for the role of "Mr. Average Man" in a series of comedies coming up under that title . . . Universal has renewed Leo Carrillo's contract again, and gives him a big salary increase . . . Laraine Day and Ray Hendricks are expected to tie the matrimonial knot any day now.

Good idea: Every time a member of Ray Noble's orchestra hits a sour note he has to contribute a defense stamp to a Liberty Bell bank . . . Tex Craig, the handsome Mocambo waiter, gets a screen test at Universal . . . Add sights: Mickey Rooney's impersonation of all the top film-town executives . . . At a party the other night, Nat Pendleton said he was amazed at the progress being made in the auto industry. He said: "Just look at the record, 1940—no running boards, 1941—no gearshift, 1942—NO CARS!"

KEN MORGAN'S HOLLYWOOD KEYHOLE

KEN MORGAN

Laird Cregar became an actor as a means of self defense and preservation—this must read a trifle inconsistent to you, but I assure you, there was nothing else for him to do—"After all," says Laird, "there's a lot of me to feed, and I get hungry twice as often as the average man." You see, Mr. Cregar is six feet four inches tall and weighs 300 pounds. Oh, he tried several different means of keeping his frame together, but somehow, matter what business he tried, the customers were forever complaining to the management about the big hulk who just knocked them down, or the other sales people were forced to walk a few extra miles each day because when Laird was behind the counter—well, what do you think? Now he's happy. In his present picture, he is owner of a department store. The studio has been forced to build the set 15 per cent larger than the average. Plenty of room to operate now.

Roddy McDowall, the little 12 year old English refugee, is a much bewilderer young man. No sooner than "How Green Was My Valley" was released, Roddy found himself among the top ten stars on the 20th Century-Fox lot in the matter of fan mail. He blushes at some of them, too. Half a dozen of the last batch consisted of cute little mash notes, such as "I think you're pretty," etc.—a little confusing and out of the mental realm of the lad. Executives are of the opinion that Roddy is a pretty valuable property—witness the billing on a picture recently finished—Roddy McDowall in "On the Sunny Side."

Looks like a new comedy team is about to be born. After Hal Roach peeked at the rough cut of his latest picture, "Cubana," he became interested in diminutive comedian Jerry Bergen, and is now considering featuring the pint-sized laugh man with his "long stick" standby, Slim Sumville.

THE GOOD HUMOR MAN: The monthly rumor of Mae West getting back into grease paint for another fling at the cinema is hereby reported—some say the story will have Las Vegas as the background . . . Franchot Tone is playing cupid for his pal, Buzz Meredith—says to hurry up and marry Mary Barker . . . Late stayers at Mocambo were treated the other night to a rare treat—Orson Welles arose and gave a stirring reading of "King Lear" . . . And Ciro's has closed for the duration . . . Constance Worth, the ex-Mrs. George Brent, is getting constant work at Mocambo . . . Radio Announcer Peter Potter wore a sad look the other night when he emerged from a showing of "Tarzan's Secret Treasure"—says he expected the picture to revolve around a new set of tires! . . . Lana Turner in New York so Tommy Dorsey is finding solace with Carol Bruce . . . Sports Announcer Bill Stern discovered Tennis Champ Mercedes Marlowe on his Coast trip . . . Marjorie Ray has lost 15 pounds on her current personal appearance tour—and looks swell . . . Phyllis Ruth and Richard Denning, both Paramount contractees, don't see enough of themselves at the studio—so usually carry on for dinner . . . Judy Canova is back with Warren McKinney —at Mocambo . . . George Weeks, producer of the Range Buster western series, doesn't believe in the net superstition—started the 13th in the series on Friday, the 13th . . . Frank Morgan's getting paid by MGM for the use of his Peter Fairchild portrait of himself while it is being used in a scene . . . Wendy Barrie got her citizenship papers last week—she was born in England . . . Bob Stack finds Natalie Thompson very interesting—spotted at the Florentine Gardens . . . And the Bar of Music's best customers are John Carroll and Marie Windsor . . .

You can see Jean Parker these days in the new Pine-Thomas melodrama, "No Hands on the Clock."

City League Tied Up As Carnett Wins

Playoff With Crystal For First Half

Carnett knotted the first half of the city fast league race Wednesday evening, defeating Vaughn, 8-4, and winning the right to play it off with Crystal for title of the initial leg of the season.

It was a make-up game and Carnett went into the fray trailing Crystal by half a game. Jones paced the winners with 16 points and Chapman was warm with 12. Urey tied Jones 16 tallies and Sanders was equal to Chapman's 12.

Carnett took the lead early and only turned on the power thereafter when it was needed. In fact, the boys literally coasted in for the win despite the big score for both sides.

In games starting at 7:15 p. m. today, the Lions will tangle with the Boy Scouts in the only slow league tilt. Coeden and Vaughn play at 8:15 p. m. and then Carnett and Crystal top off the evening with a featured clash at 9:15 p. m.

Cotton States League Plans To Be Talked

GREENVILLE, Miss., Feb. 5 (AP)—Directors of the Cotton States baseball league will meet here Sunday, Feb. 15 in special sessions to consider operation of the Class C circuit for another season.

President Emmet Harty said today he had called the meeting of the directors for the sole purpose of deciding whether the league will carry on during the coming summer now that President Roosevelt has given the green light to war-time baseball.

One club was shifted last season, the Clarksdale franchise being moved to Marshall, Tex., but the league closed the season as an eight club circuit.

Rice Defeats Eastex 36-34

COMMERCE, Feb. 5 (AP)—East Texas State's Lions, leaders in the Lone Star section, forced Rice to come from behind to win last night, 36 to 34.

A crisp shot by Jim Middleton, East Texas guard, would have tied the score in the last few seconds, but the toss was ruled illegal.

There never was more than three points difference in the score.

Homer Fuller of East Texas was the scoring leader with 12 points. The runner-up in this department was Rice's great Bob Kinney.

But there was much ado along the defensive line, notably by Lee Ryser, Harry Thompson and Middleton of the Lions, and Placido Gomes and Chet Palmer of the Owls.

Texas Dog Paces Hunters' Trials

ALBANY, Ga., Feb. 5 (AP)—The Texas Ranger, defending champion, led a fast field of 15 other high-ranking hunting dogs into the second day one-hour heats of the $1,500 quail field trial championships here today.

Locating and handling three coveys with precision, the Ranger was the standout in yesterday's competition which saw 44 coveys found and handled during the day and numerous others finished by the large gallery. The Texas pointer is owned by D. B. McDaniel of Houston, Texas.

Other contenders for dog's "world series" crown included Hillbrigt's Susannah, 30-pound setter bitch owned by M. G. Dudley of Greenville, S. C. She placed next to the Ranger with five finds, one-third of the afternoon's total.

Baseball's Oldest Player—

Jackie Reid Ready For 22nd Season

BOYD, Tex., Feb. 5 (AP)—Baseball's pine knot, a little guy who's as amiable as anybody else at his own durability, took a few practice throws and announced he was ready for his twenty-second season.

Jackie Reid, who would like to pitch when he's 100 years old, doesn't have to get into shape to start a campaign. He did that in 1921 and has been warmed up ever since.

Reid starts the season with Dallas of the Texas league in April, the oldest active player in baseball.

He'll be 67 when the umpire announces "Reid pitchin'" for Dallas' and you can bet your socks if the little guy has control (which he seldom is without) it'll be a tough night for the opposing team.

Jackie—who says his real name, Herschel Nathaniel, is sixty—has pitched in more than 600 games since he started with Mineral Wells in the old Texas-Oklahoma league and only one season did he fail to win as many as he lost.

That hurt was Jackie's pride. They call him the fireman because he's always saving games for somebody else.

He never has weighed over 155 pounds. That's why he never could get into the majors although Bob Connery, scout for the Yankees, once told him: "I never saw you pitch a bad ball game."

Jackie never throws a fast ball. It just comes down there tantalizingly slow, low and true.

Reid lives quietly at his farm here. No running around nights, except maybe to practice his tender voice at a social, no drinking. And he's as quiet on the diamond as at home. He never was put out of a ball game by an umpire.

Reid has played with nineteen clubs in nine leagues. He jumped into pro ball after one season with a town team at Graham.

Business Club Bests Lions In Scrappy Benefit Tilt

You would have thought they were fighting the Japs instead of raising funds for the Home Guard uniforms the way the ABC club and Lions basketball teams battled it out at the high school gym Wednesday evening.

In the end, it was the same story it had been all season—the Lions seized the lead and held it until the fading minutes of the game, only to let ABC forge ahead and take the victory, 29-26.

Lions partisans didn't like it any better than their ace, Jack Smith, who put on his jacket and walked off in protest in the final quarter when he figured his boys were being wronged. This gave the ABC boys heart and they pulled up a notch closer. Moments later Bob Ward, burly guard, fouled out, and then the ABC really went to town.

Ted Phillips got hot in the last quarter to pull the game out of the fire for ABC and made his crisp shots count when the chips were down. He rang up 12 points for honors of the evening. Smith led the Lions with eight points.

Although more than 400 tickets were sold for the affair, possibly only 300 turned out to witness the conflict. ABC fans sat on one side, and Lion rooters on the other—razing away for the duration of the tilt.

Now Zale Is Sore, Confident That He Can Defeat Conn

CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—Tony Zale, world's middleweight champion, slammed his training paraphernalia into grip sacks today and departed for New York with murder in his heart.

He had taken to heart the statements credited to Billy Conn shouting from Pittsburgh that he'd knock out the No. 1 heavy weight contender. He figures he can spot Conn 10 or 12 pounds and still win.

He pointed to his engagement with George Abrams, heretofore recognized by the New York athletic commission as champion before Zale caught up with him. Abrams used all his boxing mastery to outpoint Zale in the early rounds, but the Gary, Ind., man of steel finally connected with his brutal sledge to the ribs to come on and triumph.

six weeks. I know I can outlast him and I think he knows it, too. He's no super boxer. He can be tagged. Joe Louis proved that."

The 160-pound titleholder boomed defiance at Billy-the-Kid from Pittsburgh, swearing that he'd knock out the No. 1 heavy weight contender. He figures he can spot Conn 10 or 12 pounds and still win.

Meet The 'Punching Parson'

Divinity Student Makes Self Champ In The Ring

PORALEN, N. M., Feb. 5—Meet Johnny Nihart, the "Punching Parson" of Eastern New Mexico college.

Nihart, a 135-pound lad, who is literally fighting his way toward the Doctor of Divinity degree, is probably one of the most unique athletes in sportdom.

To begin with, he is one of the best lightweights in the country. He has won 61 of his 65 fights since he first climbed into a Golden Gloves ring six years ago in Clovis, N. M. Underage at the time—he was just twelve—Johnny apparently put one over on the officials.

That early beginning, however, must have justified the white lie, for beginning in 1938, the "Punching Parson" held the five-state title three years in a row. The five states are Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma and Kansas.

He probably would have won it again in 1940 but he did not enter.

"I was eligible to compete in the nationals," he says, "but I couldn't raise the funds to make the trip." Now about that "Parson" angle. Nihart is studying for the Methodist ministry and takes every available opportunity to preach a sermon. During the fall semester at Eastern New Mexico college he had a regular circuit and preached at Melrose, N. M., every Sunday.

He dropped the pulpit for the spring semester to concentrate on his studies and to train for the spring boxing war.

Yet, that isn't all the prerequisites that qualify 18-year-old Johnny Nihart for the title "the man." He is married and is the father of two lovely little girls, Beth, age two, and Patricia, age eight months.

"I was 15 years old and a junior in high school when I got married," Johnny says.

Youth Beauty Boosts Lead In Bowling

Youth Beauty Shop strengthened its hold on the lead in the women's bowling league Wednesday evening, downing Cornillion Cleaners by a 2-1 count.

At the same time, Modern Cleaners rocketed up in the standings, gaining a tie with Cornillion when C. R. Anthony was short one too many players and had to forfeit three games to Modern.

For the evening Youth Beauty had the high game at 77 and high series at 2,082 but Zou Parks of Cornillion's was top in single game with 193 and tied Stella Flynt for high series at 438.

Next week Youth Beauty tangles with C. R. Anthony, while Modern and Cornillion each will try to take the other to a cleaning.

Sub Commander Spares 40 Lives

LEWES, Del., Feb. 5 (AP)—Captain Walter W. Koch, whose ship was torpedoed without warning off the Maryland coast, felt grateful today for the actions of a submarine commander "in sparing our lives."

The United Fruit freighter San Gil, 3,806-ton, went down early yesterday after an enemy submarine pumped two torpedoes and about 11 shells into her. Two of the crew were killed when the first torpedo exploded in the boiler room, but 39 others and one passenger were picked up after seven hours adrift in lifeboats and landed here.

The Panama registered ship was the 18th officially reported lost off the Atlantic coast through enemy action within the past three weeks.

Amateurs Pay For A Round With Pros

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 5 (AP)—Eighty-eight amateur golfers paid $2 apiece today for the privilege of teaming with a like number of professionals in a best-ball 18-hole event which serves as a warmup for the western open, starting tomorrow.

The entry fees go into a pot to provide a financial incentive for the men who make their living on the links.

Most of the amateurs are Arizona and winter visitors who welcome the opportunity of playing with golf's greats, but there are a few who can shoot with the best of the money boys. Johnny Dawson of Hollywood, for instance, winner of Bing Crosby's recent tournament at Rancho Santa Fe. He went under the course yesterday in 69, two under par. He is paired with Herb Bowers, Globe, Ariz., pro.

And there is Ellsworth Vines, tennis pro and golf amateur, who plays with Lee Ray Garrett, Beaumont, Texas.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (Wide World)—Suggestions noted: Jesse A. Lanthicum, sports ed. of the Baltimore Sun, would like to see something more done about getting basketball referees off the court. It was tried out in Oregon a few days ago with reported success. . . . Lanthicum advanced the idea five years ago and still thinks it would help a game that needs help in some sections. . . . On the other side, Herb (N. Y. Post) Allen suggests that if New York referees were put in boops above the backboards, Pat Kennedy would drop through the hoop oftener than the ball. . . . Dan Parks of the Okla. (N. Y.) Times Herald votes for the extension of his plan of having every basketball team devote one game to national defense with admission payable only in defense stamps.

Hostility highlights—Yesterday's fight from Tuscaloosa, Ala., at Vanderbilt athletics resulted in some smoking rejoinders—and this corner apparently helped warm things up by neglecting to mention that the six games in which the Commodores were accused of getting rough were the "Bama-Vandy" clashes. . . . Chancellor O. C. Carmichael points out that Vandy's foreign language requirements were dropped only as a war measure for "superior standards," and court Coach Norman Cooper says Jack Jenkins was his only player to get the bounce for roughness. That was in the Alabama game and he hasn't even fouled out of any other. . . . Seems certain, though, that any future roughness won't be regarded as unnecessary.

DANGEROUS BAGGAGE

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter Ten
440 Volts

Sharon scarcely had time to thrust the strange warning under her desk blotter before Tom came back to his desk. Fighting for time to regain her composure, she pretended to study a letter lying open on her desk. Eyes blind of the actual print, her thoughts flew hither and thither. Had Tom planned that warning? Who else would have? And why should he so persistently try to get her out of her job? Was he aware that she suspected him?

Suddenly she was aware that Tom stood just behind her, looking over her shoulder. Glancing up, she saw a smile tripping up the corners of his mouth.

"Look, my sweet, if you'd turn that right side up, maybe you could read it better," and calmly talking the letter out of her hand, he righted it, held it in front of her. "See?" and grinned maddeningly. "Day-dreaming and during office hours too! Tak! Tak! What would the Colonel say?"

Exasperated, Sharon snatched the letter. "Oh, mind your own business. I was thinking."

Tom shook his head. "That's a dangerous pastime."

"How do you know? Ever try it?" She hid her uneasiness behind a saucy smile.

"Sure. Since daylight this morning I've been thinking about a certain pretty Irish girl I know and—"

"You're paid to think about Sierra Steel?"

"I do that, too. Look. I've picked up a blueprint from his desk, laid it before her. 'Here's my latest brain storm. New wiring for the plant. More machinery. More production. See—two new furnaces where only one grew before. Smart, aren't I?'"

"That's what you think. What does Mr. Goodwin say?"

"He says I'm the white hope of Sierra Steel. Aren't you glad you know me?"

"I'll be glad when I know you're back in Pittsburgh," she said archly. Then she hazarded a long shot. "Then, maybe we'll settle down to business instead of school-boy pranks."

But Tom's expression didn't change by a fleeting flicker. If he planned that note, he certainly didn't intend she should know it.

"Now was that kind? Here I've brought the only ray of sunshine into this dank hole and that's all the thanks I get." Slapping his hat on the back of his head, he picked up his brief case, thrust the blue prints into it, grinned at her. "Since you don't love me any more, I'll go ahead of time, this left great stocks of suits on hand for those in civilian life."

"The official, sketching a broad picture of what the clothing situation will probably be after a year of war, was optimistic on most counts."

Shipping And Suits

"We can say," he continued, "that there is enough wool yardage on hand and enough suits on the racks to last easily through the coming year. After that it depends on the shipping situation—whether we can get enough wool from Australia and South America to go with our domestic clip, which supplies less than half of our normal requirements."

"If worst comes to worst—if you'll allow me to make a joke about something that we don't think is going to happen—why, a wool suit is pretty tough, so you can wear our clothes an extra year and get by very well."

"Right now we have so much wool on hand that when the Army on her hips. "I suppose it does sound fantastic to you, but I do not care to have dinner with you at Joe's or anywhere else. Understand?"

"No sabs," Tom shook his head. "No speakum 'Merican. See'm byambye." And hands thrust up his sleeves like a Chinese mandarin, he bowed himself out.

"Fool!" Sharon laughed aloud and then, remembering the mysterious note, waited until she heard the elevator door clang shut. Then she fled to Mr. Goodwin's office.

Mysterious Accident

He glanced up, frowning. "I found this note in my typewriter just now." She laid the note on his desk.

"For a moment, his face remained inscrutable. Then, he smiled slowly. "Somebody's idea of a practical joke?"

"Probably."

"Any idea who?"

"Tom, of course."

He nodded. "He'd like to see you out of here."

"Has he told you that too?"

"Several times. Mr. Goodwin shrugged contemptuously. "I've an idea he wants to put me in charge, in your place. I told him I'd think it over."

Sharon held her breath. "Do you, too, think I am too inexperienced for the job?"

"Certainly not. But neither do I think Stafford believes I find you indispensable. That makes your position a little less hazardous."

"But why would he write this anonymously? It's so melodramatic, so silly to think I could be frightened out this way?"

"He underestimates your courage, Sharon." He picked up the note, tore it into fragments. "Just ignore it. You are in no immediate danger. I assure you of that."

"But if he is working right now to put an accomplice in my place in the office, isn't it time for you to put a stop—"

Goodwin's face hardened. "I think I'm perfectly capable of acting without your advice. And the less you know about the situation, the less you would have to tell under pressure."

Sharon flared. "You don't trust me?"

"I do. But secrets are dangerous baggage. I thought you understood that."

"Yes," Sharon flushed. "I do. I'm sorry."

"Very good, then. You just concern yourself with doing your part of the job."

Winning under his rebuke, Sharon escaped to her own office. There she buried her face on her arm until she could control the tears that threatened. All the ground she'd gained in the last several weeks, seemed lost now. She'd presumed on Goodwin's kindness and encouragement and forgotten her place so completely that he'd had to put her back in to it just as if she were any impudent underling! Why couldn't she keep her thoughts to herself! She'd deserved that rebuke. But—she straightened, wiped her tears, attacked the mail stacked on her desk—she'd never earn another! She would prove herself indispensable. And, as her fingers flew over the keyboards, she'd think of a new approach to Tom. There must be some way to win his confidence. If he still thought her just a misguided sub-deb, then she could capitalize on that. She'd begin the moment he came back.

But Tom didn't show up all day. At quarter of five she locked the files, cleared her desk, stalled for time in the hope that Tom would appear.

She gave up, finally, pulled on her hat. Maybe he'd call her at home. It wouldn't be like him to have taken her "No" for an answer.

The phone rang just as she was closing the door. It was Macdonald, the plant foreman.

"Mr. Goodwin there?"

"He's gone for the day. Any message?"

"Yeah. There's been a bad accident at the plant. The engineer got hurt."

"You mean—Tom? Mr. Stafford?"

"That's right. We're taking him to Good Samaritan Hospital now. Can you get word to Mr. Goodwin?"

"Yes. Yes, I'll call him."

When she hung up, Sharon sat staring at the phone. Tom hurt—dead, maybe! She couldn't believe it! Not Tom Stafford. That big grin, that generous, good-natured laugh within him—silence! Impossible. And yet—slowly implications unfolded—had it really been an accident or, she shuddered, one of Tom's own detestable plans that backfired!

Shock!

For a precious half hour, Sharon tried vainly to locate Harvey Goodwin. Pavlo, the houseboy, told her he had left work he would not be in for dinner. He was not at his club. He was at none of his favorite cocktail lounges. Even Countess Cayetuna couldn't guess where he might be.

Sharon finally called a taxi, went out to the Good Samaritan herself.

Macdonald, the grizzled Scotsman who ran the plant, met her in the corridor outside Tom's room.

"We don't just know how it happened, Miss Doyle," he said in answer to her instant question. "Stafford had started work on his re-wiring job in the plant. Peterson, the lad we had helping him, come up behind him with a coil of wire. He sees a live wire lying there and yells to Stafford to know what to do with it."

The old Scot stopped, drew on his short briar pipe reflectively a moment.

"Yes. Go on, please," Sharon prompted him.

"Stafford's up on a ladder and don't hear him of course. When them furnaces is roaring, you couldn't hear a bomb burst. So Peterson reaches up to touch Stafford's arm, attract his attention. Stafford's working with his shirt off, you know. Pretty hot next to a furnace that's up to about 3000 degrees."

"But—what happened," Sharon beamed frantically.

"Why, Stafford turns, sees him just in time to jerk out of reach," the garrulous old man went on. "And that's all that saved Peterson's life."

"Why, what do you mean?"

"That wire Stafford was monkeying with carried about 440 volts. Being up on the ladder, Stafford was properly insulated from the ground. The kid was standing square in a puddle of water dripped from a leaky faucet I been meaning to get fixed."

"Please go on."

More Industries Ahead For Texas

Texas industrial development as a factor in the war effort lays the groundwork for the observation that this state can find some compensating factors in the conflict if it emerges in peacetime stronger from a manufacturing standpoint.

For years economists have been preaching the need for industrializing our state if it is to maintain its fast progress, but it remained for the urge of war to prompt the exploitation and risk that go with such advancement.

It is a known fact that war necessities spur scientific and industrial research to the extent that it had not known before. Similarly, Texas can emerge from the world holocaust with new manufacturing and processing facilities it probably never before realized were possible.

One of the big developments likely to occur is the thorough utilization of the state's vast oil and gas deposits. New synthetic rubber and aviation gasoline plants are in the offing, and these can be converted to valuable peacetime production.

Big scale development of the long-life iron ore industry in East Texas may come as the war progresses, to remain as a source of wealth after the war. Already the Texas coastal regions are witnessing important manufacturing and industrial processes that extract minerals from sea water. There are many uses to which the Texas lumber supply may be put through industrial processes. The development of the East Texas iron ore blast furnaces logically could lead to construction of steel mills. This state has vast mineral resources—metals and non-metals—which have never been fully developed but probably will be to a greater extent than ever before.

The Lone Star empire has the resources, it has the power, it will have the labor and it can organize the capital. What probably has been lacking is the profit incentive, which—with scientific, social and economic development sure to come at some period after the war—will be stronger in future years.

Preview Of U. S. A. In '43-- Suits May Have To Last Longer

(Second of a Series)
By HERMAN ALLEN
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Here's one benefit—although a left-handed one—that war conferred on the American consumer. A war production official told the story this way:

"When war came, many men put on a uniform instead of a new suit. Since men's clothing is made up a year or more ahead of time, this left great stocks of suits on hand for those in civilian life."

"The official, sketching a broad picture of what the clothing situation will probably be after a year of war, was optimistic on most counts."

Shipping And Suits

"We can say," he continued, "that there is enough wool yardage on hand and enough suits on the racks to last easily through the coming year. After that it depends on the shipping situation—whether we can get enough wool from Australia and South America to go with our domestic clip, which supplies less than half of our normal requirements."

"If worst comes to worst—if you'll allow me to make a joke about something that we don't think is going to happen—why, a wool suit is pretty tough, so you can wear our clothes an extra year and get by very well."

"Right now we have so much wool on hand that when the Army asks bids for a million overcoats it gets bids for six million. The bite that the Army will take out of the wool supply won't be felt this year, however."

"Where the war undoubtedly will be felt—and fairly soon—will be in a reduction in the number of styles. This is because manufacturing equipment is needed for uniforms."

Less Fancy Colors

"Another thing, there are some dyes that we can't get any more. Overalls and work clothes probably will be made in the natural color instead of blue, for instance."

"We have a surplus of cotton, of course, but we have a smaller supply of yard goods in cotton than in wool because some cotton looms have been turning out stuff for sandbags. However, there's plenty to last the year, and then some, particularly if women will cut down a little on house dresses. Sometimes they buy a half dozen at a time."

Silk Imports are gone, but production officials figure there will still be plenty of rayon and nylon. The present stock of girdles and other clothing items containing rubber will last the year, but after that it probably will be just too bad. Defense also gets first call on metals and many of the things that go into plastics, so there may be a shortage on buttons and trimmings.

The war did a left-handed — or left-footed — thing to shoes, too. The Agricultural Department is calling for an increase in the kill of cattle from 25,000,000 to about 28,000,000—and there's that much more leather.

"As far as we can tell now," a leather man assured me, "there will be plenty of good quality shoes for everybody through the next year, and probably for the next two or three years, if the war lasts that long."

Heels And Toes

"Shoe production increased 25 per cent to 800,000,000 pairs last year. The Army took 20,000,000 pairs, really only a drop in the bucket. The increase in slaughter of steers will take care of a further increase in shoe manufacture if necessary."

"Rubber heels may have to be discontinued, but the rubber industry has found it can make heels satisfactorily out of reclaimed rubber, and there seems to be plenty of reclaimed rubber for the present. If it runs out, we'll have to fall back on leather heels."

In the unlikely event that a leather shortage SHOULD develop the Army will naturally get first call, and after that the supply will go to work shoes. Meanwhile, lady's there's no need to worry about those inexpensive fabric shoes. Plenty of material—and they can't make army shoes on those machines anyway.

Ceiling Placed On Price Of Mercury

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration yesterday fixed maximum prices on mercury at levels lower than the prevailing market.

The ceiling, effective immediately, sets maximum base prices for prime virgin mercury produced in California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Nevada and Arizona at $191 a 76-pound flask at point of shipment, and $193 for mercury produced in Texas and Arkansas.

The maximums approximate prices prevailing on mercury between October 1 and October 15, 1941.

OPA officials declared they were "more than adequate" to assure a high rate of mercury production. Current market prices are about $198 on the Pacific coast, equivalent to about $202.50 at New York.

Long Way Home
GARNETT, Kas., Feb. 5 (AP)—If you were a cat and had to walk from Garnett to Augusta, Kas., it'd take more than a year. That's 147 miles.
Mrs. Mary Skiles figured it out today after her big Persian limped in home from "cross state." She shipped Tabby to her son, Ernest, at Augusta in January 1941. It disappeared soon after and had been given up for dead.

Odds And Ends Sent To Solons In Spokane's 'Bundles' Gag

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 5 (AP)—Possibly the strangest cargo ever assembled for a transcontinental haul was made ready to leave Spokane today for Washington — a truckload of such stuff as old razor blades and moth-eaten night-caps.
Neatly packaged, the useless odds and ragged ends were addressed to congressmen. The whole shipment was the climax gesture of the Spokane Athletic Round Table's "Bundles for Congress" campaign—a prank prompted by the congressional pension program.
There were some 2,000 packages. Round Table President Joe Alibi vowed he'd "get 'em all aboard if I have to use a shoehorn."
A large number, however, were sent ahead by mail and express—stamped with a picture of the Round Table's mascot horse, Esmeralda, and the information "we pay our own postage; no franking."
Alibi said the "bundles for congress" idea had tickled the nation's funnybone and that requests were pouring in "that the truck be routed through 'everybody's home town.'"
"We'd do it, too," grinned Joe, "but what if the tires wore out? Then this important shipment never would reach Washington."

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as lively as a Youngster— Now her Backache is better
Many suffer relief nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 quarts a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or uneasy passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney losers flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Japs Attack Hospital Ship
MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 5 (AP)—A hospital ship carrying wounded American soldiers and nurses from the Philippines to an Australian port was attacked nine times in one day by Japanese bombers and fighter planes which "came over like swarms of flies," it was disclosed today.
One of the wounded soldiers said that the raids took place between mid-day and late afternoon of Jan. 8, but that "all the wounded were cheerful and declared their only wish was to get well and have another cruise at the Japs."
(The ship apparently was the 2,067-ton Maetan, which the U. S. Army announced on Jan. 15 had reached Darwin, Australia, after sailing from Manila shortly before New Year's. This would seem to locate the attack as somewhere off the Dutch East Indies island of Celebes.)
Sees Future Gains For United Nations
KULBYSHEV, Russia, Feb. 5 (AP) The United Nations' forces in the Pacific battle area are growing and "one can assume that in the not too distant future they will make up for initial losses both at sea and on land." Soviet Military Commentator Colonel S. Gurov declared today in an article in the Moscow News.
"So far the Japanese armed forces have had the upper hand," Gurov wrote in the English-language newspaper now being published in Kulbyshev. "Yet, judging by the latest messages from Britain and America the British and American troops are beginning to intensify their operations. The Japanese already have suffered heavy losses at sea."
Among "events of tremendous significance" the Soviet writer cited the operations in the Philippines, at Singapore, on the Dutch East Indies islands of Borneo and Celebes, and the allied attack on the Japanese invasion fleet in Macassar Strait.

Curiosity, With Voltage, Kills Cat
SEATTLE, Feb. 5 (AP)—Curiosity killed the cat—and the current over a big part of Seattle.

Mitchell Farmers Discuss Food Plan
COLORADO CITY, Feb. 5—Between 250 and 300 farmers of Mitchell county attended a meeting called for Wednesday afternoon at the courthouse by the war board of the U. S. D. A., with T. R. Haggard as chairman.
Subjects were the Food-for-Victory campaign and the servicing and repairing of farm machinery. Forest M. Wright, supervisor of marketing administration in the distribution department of surplus commodities under the AAA was one of the speakers.
Joe C. Williams, county agent, reviewed what has been done toward stepping up the production of milk, butter and eggs in the county.
Other speakers were W. H. Tiney, county FSA supervisor; J. M. Byrd, soil conservationist from Snyder; F. C. Shillingburg, Colorado City vocational agriculture instructor; and R. P. Price, Colorado City implement dealer. Haggard also spoke briefly.
Blade Imbedded 27 Years
DRUMRIGHT, Okla. — Charles Carter, 49, Sac and Fox Indian, came to a Drumright physician with a sore spot under his right arm. The physician probed and pulled out the end of a knife blade. Carter recalled that 27 years ago he had a fight with a man who slashed him with a knife.
The macadam road gets its name from John Loudon Macadam, a Scotchman, who invented it.
