VOL. 4—NO. 64 EIGHT PAGES TODAY BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY EVENING, AUGUST 14, 1931. MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Home Town Talk by Betty

Hopping off in a minute for Lubbock, where the pencil pushers, ad solicitors, type salesmen, and Public Relations boys are gathering for the West Texas Press Association convention.

Now, as you may know, Big Spring and El Paso are contesting for the 1931 convention. El Paso always has a good platform for a fight like this. You know!

El Paso, moreover, almost got the convention for this year.

Which means, if you have ever tried to put over a scrap like this, the Big Spring is the underdog up to now.

We're going on the floor with the boys and do a little scuffling. If things look ever well stay in there and pitch. If they get us axed to begin with we'll retrieve all we can and sew the thing up at both ends for 1933.

Which may or may not be your idea of handling the thing. But, it is the usual method, nevertheless. Conventions nowadays aren't obtained in a day—or a year. Sometimes not in two years.

What's more, Big Spring had the convention in 1927.

Anyway we're going to mix and mingle with the boys a little, check up on Charlie Guy, Dorrance Roerick, Max Bentley and a few more of the boss editorial g. s. A lot of 'em are doing more personal labor than usual, you know, smaller forces. They may not be as frisky as usual.

It is our hope that in future men in all businesses and professions here will do their best to bring conventions of organizations of fellows in their respective lines to Big Spring. We have such excellent facilities for them and conventions are good tonics for general local business, especially for the hotels.

A young and energetic-looking woman came into the Herald office today looking for a job that would enable her to send her child to school. She wants housekeeping, or work in a cafe or boarding house. Unless she gets a job the child will have to stay out of school, and worse things than that may happen to them.

Making Toy Planes That Actually Fly Is Serious Occupation of Fifteen-Year-Old William Campbell.

It is doubtful if any airport director could tell you more about the physical characteristics of airplanes in general than a 15-year-old boy here in Big Spring. He is William Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Campbell.

William's hobby is constructing airplanes out of plan sticks, toothpicks, sucker handles, tiny picture wire and aluminum. He has practically every model he has ever even pictured, from German bombing planes to the Lockheed-Sirius in which Mr. and Mrs. Lindy are touring the north country today. They are all made correctly, and perfected to the least detail in line and proportion.

To name the list would make the story sound like a catalogue. There are gliders, autogiros, Ford lightmotors, water planes, amphibians, U. S. army planes. The size of the miniature planes varies from one inch to 8 inches. He has also a bomber with a wing span of 34 inches.

At present William is engaged in the construction of an observation plane with an eighteen-inch wing span. It is a Curtiss-Falconer model. The wings are covered with Japanese tissue paper. A unique cover of rubber bands is used to make the plane actually fly a few yards. The propellers will be of aluminum.

At times William has staged air craft maneuvers with his U. S. and foreign planes. They traveled all over the house in correct formation. William's parents live, eat and sleep with airplanes. A strange noise may be only a change of wind currents sending a propeller to whirling. They are surprised at nothing.

William displayed his ability along this line at the age of 5 when he constructed a vacuum cleaner out of a sucker stick, a tobacco case and an empty spoon.

He plans to be an aeronautic engineer, so airplanes are really his vocation. His avocation is his zoo. He has a terrapin, an inch long, a wild ground squirrel that bites on the least provocation, and a mouse (of the grey house variety) housed according to their natural environment. The terrapin has his private swimming pool and his sandpile; of the three, he is the most friendly.

The Rev. Mr. W. A. and Mrs. Bowen and son, Harold, of Hope Ark., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Reagan for the week-end.

Co-Operation Between Women Today's Chance

Town women who shop at the Clubhouse Market tomorrow are asked to cooperate with the Howard County women by bringing with them paper bags, egg containers, the cream containers, etc., which will be useful to these women.

Mrs. Alford also reminds town women that many Howard County mothers lack the money to buy jars to put up the fruit and vegetables that they have raised on their farms. It is hoped that the women who have been throwing away and will bring them to the clubhouse. It will be a deed of genuine kindness.

Runnels Cotton Crop To Be Heavy

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 14. (AP)—Runnels county will raise from 60,000 to 65,000 bales of cotton this year, if the prospects as prevail now remain until picking starts. This is almost double last year's production of about 32,000 bales.

Practically all cotton in the county is looking good and is free from insects. The planting season was about two weeks late this year, because of cool weather during the spring. But County Agent C. W. Lehman says the growth has reached normality and the crop will be gathered about the same time as in 1930. He expects ginning to reach its peak about the latter part of September.

This crop will be gathered despite acreage reduced by more than 15 per cent from that of last year. The rest of the acreage was planted in feedstuffs, with about 300,000 acres in cotton.

Some farms will yield as much as a bale to the acre. While slight rain is needed now, the cotton is not suffering and a fair crop will be made if all moisture stops.

Charles and Frederick Koberg left yesterday to join Mrs. Koberg and Camille in Little Rock, Ark.

Wendell Bedichek is representing the Big Spring Herald at the West Texas Press Association in Lubbock today.

Club House Market To Close At One

Mrs. Eubanks Announces Prompt Hours Will Be Kept

The Clubhouse Market has set definite hours for its Saturday activities. It will open promptly at 8 o'clock, says Mrs. Bob Eubank, market manager, and will close promptly at 1 o'clock. Town women are asked to do their shopping in the morning.

The early closing serves two purposes. It enables the county women to get through in time to do their own shopping, and spend the money they have made from their products with the local merchants. It also gives the farmers time to collect unsold produce and make any other disposal of it they desire.

Those bringing in farm products are reminded to come for their money at 1 o'clock or soon after and to be prepared to take away their unsold products. The clubhouse manager and her assistants will do their best to sell everything they can but they will not be responsible for what is left unsold.

Assisting Mrs. Eubanks tomorrow will be Mrs. E. O. Ellington, Mrs. Will Nabors, Mrs. Joyce Fisher, Mrs. Bud Brown and Mrs. Louise Allgood. The Howard County Council has been asked to select the county women and the names have not been reported but several of them will be in to help.

Remember the hours, 8 until 1. Mrs. Eubanks asks.

Mrs. W. T. Strange was also a guest of the club. Other members attending were Misses G. R. Porter, C. D. Baxley, Carl Blomsheld, H. C. Timmons, J. E. Kuykendall, and Webb.

Mrs. Baxley will entertain the club at its next session.

DEAN ALLEN IS CONTINUED ACTING PRESIDENT BAYLOR

WACO, Aug. 14 (AP)—Dean W. S. Allen was continued as acting president of Baylor university by the board of trustees in meeting here today. He will serve until June, 1932, replacing Dr. S. P. Brooks, who died at the close of the last academic year. Dean Allen has been serving as acting president since President Brooks' fatal illness.

His appointment today came after trustees heard a report of the committee investigating the qualifications of a number of proposed successors to Dr. Brooks. The trustees decided to meet at a later date to settle the matter.

ADD HEALTH TO HOT BREADS

Hot breads are tempting. But often they lack roughage. The absence of bulk from foods often results in constipation.

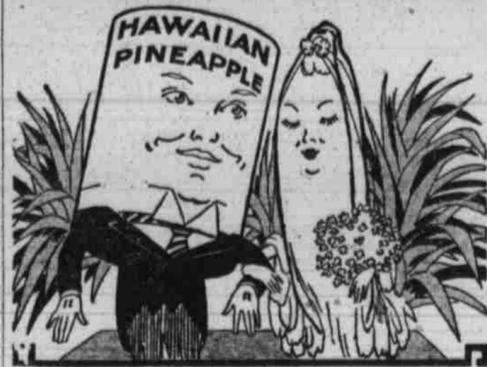

But now you can have hot breads with roughage. Simply add a cupful of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to the recipe. This delicious cereal furnishes the bulk needed to assure proper elimination. You will find many appetizing recipes on the red-and-green ALL-BRAN package.

Equally tempting as a ready-to-eat cereal with milk or cream. Two tablespoons daily are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, use with each meal.

ALL-BRAN also furnishes needed iron for the body. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

A Tropical Wedding

People know what to eat in the tropics in order to keep cool and preserve their health. So why not take a leaf out of their book, these dog days, and serve a dish which unites two tropical fruits, bananas and Hawaiian pineapples, both of which are plentiful and cheap? The first of these fruits is fresh, and the other is canned. There's a good reason for this.

Bananas are picked green and ripen successfully in their way to our markets. But a pineapple picked green fails to develop the same sugar contents as a pineapple permitted to come to full maturity on the plant. And this natural fruit sugar forms the major part of its flavor and sweetness. So pineapples are allowed to ripen beneath Hawaii's sunshine, picked at their prime, and clapped into cans with their full flavor intact. Here's the Recipe: The ceremony for the wedding of these two tropical fruits in a fritter that will fairly melt in your mouth is as follows: Pineapple Bananas Fritters: Beat one egg well, and add one-fourth cup milk, one cup flour, and one and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon confectioner's sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt and one mashed banana. Drain the contents of one 8-ounce can of crushed Hawaiian pineapple, and add. Drop by spoonfuls into deep hot fat, 375 degrees, and fry until brown. Serve sprinkled with powdered sugar. This makes from twelve to fourteen fritters.

SUCCESS IN MAKING MAYONNAISE LIES IN WAY OIL IS ADDED

"A Little at a Time" is Safest Method. Hills Bros. Use a Similar Rule in Their Patented, Coffee-Roasting Process

Oil, in large amounts, added to mayonnaise ingredients usually makes the mixture separate. It is better to add oil "a little at a time." There is a similar situation in coffee roasting. Occasionally, big batches can be roasted so each has the same flavor. But you can't depend on it. The sure way is to roast a little at a time. Hills Bros. do, with their patented, Controlled Roasting process.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow... a little at a time... so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by this patented process that roasts evenly, continuously... a little at a time. The temperature is exactly regulated while the blend flows through the roasters. Every single berry is perfectly roasted. Naturally, then, every pound has the perfect flavor!

Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum cans that keep it fresh! Air, which makes coffee go stale, is removed and kept out of these cans. Even ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. Order Hills Bros. Coffee today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trademark on the can. Hills Bros. Coffee, Inc., Kansas City, Missouri. © 1931

SEEKS PHILA. MAYORALTY PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14 (INS)—Former Deputy Controller S. Davison Wilson will seek the mayoralty nomination on the Democratic ticket and declares he will run on both tickets in the primaries. If Controller Will B. Hadley is not a Republican candidate, Wilson criticized the organization of politics in this city, and asserted the salvation would culminate from the election of himself or his former chief as mayor.

A REAL FLOATING ISLAND WINSTED, Conn., Aug. 14 (INS)—A true enough floating island developed in Burrville pond here. The affair was discovered when workmen started to strengthen the dam before the ice jam that is sure to occur next winter. The men started work one Saturday and when they returned on Monday they were surprised to find the center of the pond, smack up against the dam. The island is three feet deep. Logs are believed to be holding it up.

Bill Allows Tuition To Old Pupils

Children From 18 to 21 Years Provided For In Measure

In accordance with an emergency bill enacted by the Texas legislature, students 18 to 21 years of age will be allowed to attend school anywhere in Texas without having to pay tuition. A recent ruling of the state supreme court had set forth the opinion that students over 18 did not come under "scholarships" and could not be supported by the state, according to Mrs. Pauline Cantrell Brigham, county superintendent.

Numbers of plans were changed and many children who had regularly contemplated attending school were forced to make other arrangements, said Mrs. Brigham. However, if they now wish they can make plans to attend school without paying tuition, she said. A few, who transferred from one district into another in the hope of getting the desired grade because it was not available in the home district, were not listed in the last scholastic census, according to Mrs. Brigham. Anyone falling under such a situation is asked by the county superintendent to see her at once as a plan to alleviate the matter is being arranged, she said. If no satisfactory arrangements can be made, those who failed to be registered in the last scholastic census will have to pay tuition for their schooling.

FLYING FISH SPECTACLE

SANTA BARBARA, Cal.—(INS)—A fishing party out for a cruise on Pelican Bay returned to port with an interesting story of flocks of flying fish which broke the water and sailed for 100 feet before diving into the sea. The flock, they said, jumped from the water in a body and flapped their fins with a mighty swishing sound. Several hundred of the creatures formed a huge blanket resembling blackbirds in flight. The peculiar phenomena occurred at night when bright flashlights were played over the water in the manner of moths about an electric light. Members of the cruise caught 300 of the fish.

BUFFS WIN FIRST HALF TEXAS LEAGUE PENNANT OFF BEAUMONT SHIPPERS

BEAUMONT, Aug. 14 (SP)—Houston won the first half pennant of the Texas league here by making a timely base walkoff off three Beaumont pitchers in a 5-2 away with a 5 to 2 win in the deciding game of the play-off. Five thousand fans packed the stands to see the Buffs grab their third victory in the titular play-off, losing but one and tying one in the five games played.

Tex Hurts Hand Tex Carlton started for the Buffaloes but when he eased up after being hit on the finger by a ball returned, by Spring, he was relieved in the fifth when the first two Shippers reached first safely. George Washington Payne came to Tex's rescue and except for the Beaumont flurry in the eighth that netted two runs, Payne was never in trouble. Izzy Goldstein started for the Exporters but fled under a barrage of blows in the fifth, Guy Green completing the round. Buck Marrow stepped to the box at the beginning of the sixth and finished. Carleton received credit for the win and Goldstein the loss.

In the sixth inning Taylor and Springs came to blows at the key-stone bag. When the Buff catcher splashed the Exporter shortstop as he slid into second trying to break up a force play, he thought Taylor fell on him a little too hard and grabbed Eddie's legs. Taylor came up and they clinched, but were soon parted.

More Hostilities In the seventh inning Fritz and Selph came to blows after the Exporter firstacker believed the Houston second baseman had spiked him deliberately. After taking the ball from Schuble, Fritz whirled and threw it at Selph, hitting him between the shoulder blades. Selph waded in and they passed a dozen blows before order was restored.

The Buffs jumped away to a two-run lead in the opening inning when Hoek singled to center, moved to second on Smith's sacrifice and scored when Selph singled to left. Selph's lead second and came home on Medwick's single to left after Peel had whiffed.

The Bisons added two more in the fifth. Carleton led off with a single to right and was forced by Hoek on an attempted sacrifice. Hoek moved to second when Taylor threw wild to first trying to complete a twin killing. But Selph doubled to left to count Hoek and "Red" doubled to center to count Selph. Green replaced Goldstein and walked Medwick, but Sturdy grounded out.

A walk to Sturdy and singles by Carey and Payne gave the Buffs their other run in the eighth. It was in this inning the Exporters counted their two tallies. Taylor set out on infield hit to Sturdy and moved to second on Schuble's single to right. Both runners were Hughes singled to short left. Taylor scored and Schuble took third. While Payne was throwing out Easterling, Schuble counted.

Survey Started To Help Solve Oil Field Rows

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 14. (AP)—J. A. Simpson, Tom Green county engineer, has started a survey of part of the Yates oil field in Pecos county, which will play an all-important part in attempts by the state to settle numerous disputes over boundaries that have resulted in much litigation.

The survey will be a continuation and completion of that which R. S. Dodd made from 1918 to 1921 for Ira G. Yates and the acceptance of which by all parties concerned is sought by the state.

The state proposes to apportion equally among the sections all excess distance north and south between the southeast corner of block 2, as established by Dodd, and the excess east and west from the east line run north from the northwest corner of section 7, block C-4 to the northeast corner of section 28, block 194. On the basis of previous surveys, the excess in each section is believed to be about 21 varas east and west and about 20 varas north and south.

Simpson received instructions for the survey from J. H. Walker, land commissioner. His employment followed a conference here with George E. Wilson, assistant attorney general in charge of land litigation. Wilson also conferred with San Angelo attorneys who represent some of 210 defendants in the state of the case against R. B. Whitehead and others, in which the state seeks to establish the boundary lines in block 194, G.C.&S.F. Railway survey, heretofore recognized by the land commissioner.

If the state succeeds, existing ownership of leases and royalties in the Yates field will not be disturbed. Simpson was joined for the survey by R. L. Woodbury of Fort Worth, chief engineer of the Gulf Production Company, and T. J. Dwyer, field engineer for the Gulf. Simpson estimated the work would require three weeks.

Commission Agrees On Paving In Carson

PANHANDLE, Aug. 14. (AP)—An agreement between the state highway commission and officials of Carson county will result in the paving of highway No. 117 between Panhandle and Conway.

If nothing hinders the drawing of plans and specifications, a contract for paving the 12-mile stretch of road should be let some time this year. Carson county would be the first in the Panhandle to pave all of its state-designated highways.

Having taken the lead four years ago when a bond issue of $1,000,000 was voted, this county has progressed with its highway program without a single complication, and already leads Panhandle counties with more than 75 miles paved and nine miles under contract. When the program is completed the county will have three highways paved entirely across the county, a total of almost 100 miles.

Carson county looks upon the road through Conway as an important artery of traffic, since it will connect at Claude with state highway No. 5. From Panhandle it is paved to Stinnett, and the remainder of the route to the Oklahoma line, through Bearman, Perryton and Darrouzett is either under construction or bonds have been voted.

The county has saved enough money from the million-dollar bond issue, which was voted to pave the other highways, to pay its half of the Panhandle-Conway construction.

500 Expected To 'At Judges' Meeting

DEPRESSION BRINGS OLD CUSTOM BACK TO 'GLUM' JUAREZ

EL PASO, Aug. 14. (AP)—Happy days are "glum" again—in Juarez—and most of the bar bosses are trying to do something about it. In other words, business isn't what it used to be, and proprietors of refreshment resorts have adopted extreme measures to get customers inside their doors.

Outstanding among such measures is free lunch, that almost extinct, but very ancient, adornment of saloons everywhere. After an extended absence, all of the old family, cheese and "boloney" cold ham and pickles, once more are gathered on the ends of bars in the city across the Rio Grande from El Paso.

The owner of one cafe, to outdo all competitors in the new-found generosity, recently gave a "drink" on the "house" program during which, he said, he gave away $2,000 worth of drinks. At present, he is offering a "big bowl of real chile" to prospective customers.

Free Drinks
Another has found a way to present his patrons with three bottles of champagne nightly. All guests are invited to sit in on a gambling contest, and winners at certain periods are given a bottle on the house.

The biggest gambling establishment in town has been repainted and re-furnished and given new class with a paid barkeep. A cabaret and a canteen shop have been installed near the bar.

Calming the spirit of good-bidding the customer, the waiters no longer stop beer on one's lap if one fails to tip them. They merely pour it on one's table.

But despite it all—say some—Singing the Blues in Juarez now means a sad glance at a new bill till—not the yodeling of a performer.

Fifteen Thousand Fish Put Back Into Stream

UVALDE, Aug. 14. (AP)—Approximately 15,000 small bass were prevented from perishing in water holes in Turkey Creek in the western part of Uvalde county when they were seized from the holes and returned to permanent water farther upstream. The tiny fish had become stranded in the holes when Turkey Creek was on a rise, and when the water receded the fish were unable to reach permanent water.

Juarez In Effort To Revive Racing

EL PASO, July 14. (AP)—In an effort to revive horse racing, the Juarez chamber of commerce has announced plans to protect horse owners and track followers from graft and demands of officials.

Angel Martinez, president, promised the full support of the city and state in measures to revive racing and said safety of all persons having connection with the track in any capacity would be guaranteed.

Mexican Laborers Continue To Come To Texas In July

EL PASO, Aug. 14. (AP)—Flow of Mexican laborers from the United States to Mexico continued during July. Figures released by Mexican immigration authorities show 2,187 Mexican repatriates entered Mexico through Juarez during the month while 292 Mexicans were deported from the United States. Business depression in the United States and inducements by the Mexican government are reasons ascribed for the movement.

Prickly Pear Probe Goes To Argentine

UVALDE, Aug. 14. (AP)—Ronald C. Mundell, who for the past three years has been in charge of the Uvalde experiment station in the prickly pear investigations for the Australian government, left this week for the Argentine, where during the next two years he will continue his investigations. Mundell was succeeded here by Alan R. Taylor, who for the past several years has been in charge of the Chinchilla, Queensland, station.

Rabies Not More Violent In Summer

EL PASO, Aug. 14. (AP)—Contrary to popular opinion, says Dr. Hugh White, director of the Pasteur Institute at Austin, rabies, or hydrophobia, is not more prevalent in hot weather.

"The disease is of the germ type," he said. "It can only be transmitted when the victim is bitten by an animal suffering with the disease. Climate has little to do with it."

On a visit to El Paso recently, he said seven cases were treated at the institute in January, one in March, two in May and one in June with none in July.

Advertising Clubs To Meet In Beaumont

BEAUMONT, Aug. 14. (AP)—Plans are being made to entertain more than 50 representatives of clubs in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma here August 15 and 16, when the annual directors' meeting of the tenth district of the Advertising Clubs of America is held.

The district session will get underway at 10 o'clock on the morning of August 15, with J. E. Higdon, of San Antonio, district president, presiding. Plans for the general convention of the tenth district, scheduled in September in San Antonio, will be discussed by the directors, as well as other business problems.

A noon luncheon Saturday, given by the chamber of commerce, will be followed by a brief business session. Golf, baseball at Stuart Stadium and theater parties have been arranged for the afternoon. A ball is scheduled Saturday night. A short session Sunday morning will end the business meeting.

Way Cleared For New Road In Lower Valley

SAN BENITO, Aug. 14. (AP)—Injunctions have been dissolved, right-of-way secured, contract awarded, and other preparations made for paving the remaining unpaved section of General Zachary Taylor's historic old military highway in the valley.

The two gaps in Cameron county are to be paved by the state highway department, half the funds being furnished by the county.

The paving work was threatened for a time by an injunction suit.

Spanish Signs Only For Nuevo Laredo

LAREDO, Aug. 14. (AP)—Mayor Amado Gonzalez Palacios of Nuevo Laredo has issued instructions to business establishments of that city that all signs displayed in front of their places must be in the Spanish language.

THE TEST:

DOES the gasoline you use make a real difference in the harm "knocking" can do to your motor? We selected 5 leading premium fuels and set out to discover.

We set the spark on a 7-to-1 compression automobile engine far in advance of normal. Then we ran the motor from 8 to 45 miles per hour, time after time, for ten minutes.

Ten minutes of this with ESSO left the motor in perfect condition.

Eight minutes with Fuel A—and one piston cracked!

Ten minutes with Fuel B—and three pistons cracked!

The experiments were then discontinued, inasmuch as the competitive fuels already tested were those with the highest anti-knock qualities.

The test reported above gives further dramatic proof of the unquestioned advance which ESSO represents.

Millions of motorists know, of course, that ESSO increases power. Few realize, perhaps, the way it spares the motor. Protects it. Resists the damaging effect of driving under the most severe conditions. Fewer repair bills and longer life for your car are the results.

A ten-day trial will tell you why!

Cotton Rises After Farm Board Bulletin

Oh, yeah!
We received a lot of pats and some slaps after sending Governor Sterling a message suggesting that he enlist cooperation of other cotton states governors in a drive to get southern farmers to plow up every other row of their cotton.

Today cotton opened $1.25 per bale up after the federal farm board had suggested every third row be plowed up and promised to hold 3,000,000 bales of its stabilization cotton a year if the method becomes generally practiced. The board asked all governors to cooperate.

Some fellows said they would hate to see the cotton plowed but thought it would be wise to pick it all and hold half of it.

The only way to keep cotton surplus from having an effect upon the market is to destroy it, not hold it. No matter whose hands it may be in, the cotton exists and so long as it does exist it's going to pound the price down.

Haven't we already witnessed the effect of the farm board's purchase of millions of bales? It can't be held forever and, with the $100,000-bale carry-over, and a big crop coming up the only way out is to destroy part of the present crop.

Raising 15,000,000 bales at five cents would bring a total of $750,000,000. Ten million bales at 15 cents would gross $750,000,000.

The old capital down at Austin was a mad house last night. And the shack has seen a good many madhouses. In fact it is a madhouse a lot of the time.

The two laws enacted by the special session—the general oil conservation bill and the pipeline bill—will do the desired work, provided they are enforced.

The railroad commission will very likely issue a new order for East Texas in a few days. If the field continues to do as it has done, issuing the order will do little or no good. If the railroad commission cannot enforce the laws then Governor Sterling should send troops down there to do it.

And he about the same as said that was what he would do. That oil field may not know yet just how close it came to being a military zone today. When you think the National Guard hadn't been informed to be ready to move into the Piney Woods you are mistaken.

Somebody has been throwing a lot of monkey wrenches into things down there. Don't get us wrong; we don't like to appear continually beating on the head of a guy who is supposed to be already down.

But Jim Ferguson is not down and won't be until the Angel of Death cools his graying brow.

Jim has his fence up in pretty good shape. A redistricting bill cannot be passed because of his opposition; he wants to run for congressman-at-large.

Whenever whoever happens to be in the governor's chair appears to be about to put something over that would help somebody else's political future, Jim gets busy, does all he can to nip it in the bud and then causes the administration for not putting it over.

His tactics may not be on the up-and-up in the eyes of many but he's got 'em anyway. Everybody that ever read the columns which know what we think of Jim Ferguson.

Pistol Used In Slaying Of Four Found

Alleged Owner Quizzed; Weapon Turned In By His Landlord

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 13 (AP)—Ballistics experts said today a revolver presented by Ypsilanti police, had been identified as one used to kill Harry Love, one of four young persons found slain in an automobile near here Tuesday. Officers were hunting for a dressed man seen with the four in that a cafe at Milan early Tuesday. Several prospects were under arrest. Herbert Smith, claimed by police to be owner of the pistol, was arrested at Ypsilanti and was being questioned. Police said Smith's landlord "surrendered" the pistol when he heard of the killings.

Harris' To Be Opened Friday

Unique and Beautiful Store Located at 113 East Third Street

One of the most beautiful and unique stores in West Texas will be opened formally Friday evening beginning at 7:30 o'clock when Will Harris, veteran of the ready-to-ear business whose experiences over the past eighteen months has made him a 100 per cent believer in Big Spring, opens his new establishment at 113 East Third street.

In a building erected only two years ago, and especially designed for just such a store as Mr. Harris has prepared, this place will offer dresses, coats, millinery, shoes, hosiery and underthings always at popular prices and in latest mode.

The Harris family has been in the mercantile business for a generation and more. For 25 years Mr. Harris has been continuously at work and has been successful with each of the nine stores he has opened in the past fifteen years. His wife and their daughter, Mildred, work with Mr. Harris at all times. They will have on the staff Mrs. J. Craven and Nate Kaplan, shopping expert, who will arrive Sunday from Dallas.

Miss Harris is known as one of the most experienced women in this section with ready-to-wear, for she has literally been reared from childhood in a store. Unusual connections, direct with manufacturers, materially aid Mr. Harris in offering the public real values, he declared. Some of the manufacturers with whom he has deals are his relatives.

The store incorporates a special California "hungalow" mode, outlined in this section by Harris. The fixtures are finished in blue with black and gold trimming. Composition shingles of a deep green blue cover the gables and the eaves along the sides and the back of the main section of the store. At the apex of each gable is the monogram "H" in gold on a cream background.

There are four specially furnished dressing rooms, an alteration room and, on the balcony, space reserved for a beauty parlor to be opened as soon as arrangements are made with a suitable operator. Tomorrow evening during the opening reception there will be flowers for ladies, cigars for men and a number of other souvenirs.

One of the features of the stock at this time is the wide variety of Empress Eugenie, Robin Hood and Derby hats. Mr. Harris has arranged in the back of his store in view of every patron a blue and gold sign, in script, which shows the name of the store, flanked by these slogans, "Truth In Advertising" and "The Newest First Always."

Henceforth the Big Spring woman will have occasion daily to note what Harris', the best at popular prices, has to offer.

Bristow Opens First Drills

Coach Seeks Support To Make Training Camp Possible

Each afternoon Coach Gordon "Obie" Bristow meets an eager group of lads at the high school and guides them through light workouts. Today he is requesting every boy in high school to see him this afternoon at 5:30 p. m. at the building and go into a series of drills. He is working men into shape preparatory to a training camp proposed for August 18.

Only light work is on deck for those who rehearse daily at the high school. Painting, passing, and running are the big items. Loosening-up exercises to bring dormant muscles back into activity also are used. It is a preliminary process.

Bristow and his cohorts are enlisting the aid of citizens in raising money and material for a camp to be held on the Concho river beginning next Tuesday. If present plans go a-ryght, a site with adequate playing space, cook shacks, mess hall and water well has been obtained. All depends now on what the supporters of the high school team will do, said Bristow.

Howard County Officers Raid Large Whiskey Plant

The pictures were taken Monday afternoon a few minutes after the Howard county sheriff's department uncovered a large store of whiskey, mash, a still and much paraphernalia in a Mexican cafe and dance hall building on the north side. Those in the top picture are Deputy Denver Dunn (holding a half gallon jar of liquor), Jess Slaughter Jr., the sheriff's son, Sheriff Slaughter, Deputy Andrew Merrick and Deputy Bob Wolf. They are in the "storage" room of the plant. The opening in the background was made by breaking up a section of the outside wall. The room was entered through a blind door in the right corner toward the reader. The barrels are filled with "working" mash. Some of the bottled corn liquor is shown stacked about the room. An opening in the floor, leading to the still room was twisted under the table at the right. The lower left view shows the crowd of Mexicans, residents of the neighborhood, which gathered to watch the loading of the stuff. B. H. Settles, transfer man, and a helper, are pouring out a barrel of mash. A gang plank was placed between the wall opening and the truck and a heavy haul taken on. The lower right hand picture was taken under the floor of the building. Those in the picture are, left to right, Joe Pickle, Herald reporter, Sheriff Slaughter, his son, and Deputy Merrick. The place was entered through a secret opening located above Merrick's head. It was a place saved out of the floor of the room shown above. Two of the barrels were filled with liquor, the others partly filled. The still itself was located in the east of the room next to the reader, not visible in the picture. A bank of earth is seen at the right.

Fall Denied Clemency By Capital Court

Application Was Filed By Number of New Mexico People

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Executive clemency was denied Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, serving a sentence of a year and a day in a New Mexico prison for accepting $100,000 as a bribe from E. L. Doherty, oil man.

The application was refused by Justice William Hitz, of District of Columbia's court of appeals, who sat at the Fall trial. Allen Pomerehne was prosecutor for the government in the trial emanating from the Teapot Dome investigation. Leo A. Rover, as federal attorney for the District of Columbia, prosecuted Fall.

According to custom the papers were not sent to President Hoover, who intervenes only when a case is considered exceptional. Attorney General Mitchell said the application was not made by Fall, as ordinarily required, but by a number of New Mexico citizens and officials.

Magnolia Raises East Texas Crude Price to 25 Cents; Gov. Sterling to Watch Enforcement of New Law

DALLAS, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Magnolia Petroleum company announced effective at 4 a. m. today a raised price for East Texas crude oil from 20 to 25 cents per barrel, flat rate on all grades. Magnolia, the only company which had maintained a posted price for East Texas crude, was considered in local oil circles the leader in an early general upward trend in crude oil prices in that and other Texas areas.

Although lack of enforcement of the new oil conservation law, enacted last night, would, oil men agreed, leave the industry in the same chaos that has been inflicted upon it for several months they were convinced in most cases, that the obviously determined stand of Governor Sterling to use the National Guard to enforce conservation laws and railroad commission orders, if necessary, together with now under present conditions would be about 11,000,000 barrels. The program would be put into effect September 1, and be completed September 15. The governors were urged to respond immediately stating their attitude on the proposal.

The suggestion was regarded here as the board's most important move since stabilization operations were attempted in 1929. At that time 30,000 bales of cotton were bought at an average price of $55 a bale in an effort to steady sagging prices.

Local plants which had been forced to take as low as two cents per gallon, and for quite a while around 1-1/4 cents were finding ready market at 3-1/2 to 3-5/8 cents.

AUSTIN, Aug. 13.—Governor Ross S. Sterling late last night signed the oil conservation bill passed a few hours earlier by the Texas legislature.

It thus became a law, and went into immediate effect. Simultaneously, C. V. Terrell, chairman of the state railroad commission, announced the commission would hold a public hearing here August 24 to determine its new anti-waste orders in the East Texas oil fields.

"This is much better than the old law," said the governor, smiling, as he put his pen to the bill. "This law has teeth in it."

He indicated the law's operation would be tested in East Texas, center of overproduction, in the belief it would cure the situation there.

Asked whether all threat of martial law for East Texas was not obviated, he replied: "Certainly not."

"If those fellows get to cutting up over there we might send by troops at any time."

The governor had threatened, inferentially to send the militia to East Texas, should the legislature not make the steps he considered necessary to end over production and waste.

Terrell said no existing order of the railroad commission would be disturbed by the law, prior to the hearing on August 24, and the promulgation of new orders. The senate adopted the bill of offered by a free conference committee by vote of 23 to 1, shortly after the house had taken the same action by vote 8-125 to 12. The bill thus will become a law with the signature of Governor Sterling. The governor was expected to sign it soon.

Stone Urges Plowing Under Of One-Third

Board Would Hold Three Million Bales One Year To Aid Movement

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Market reports showing cotton opening at $1.25 per bale higher were received with interest today as the farm awaited replies to governors of cotton states on the board's proposal that one third of the present crop be plowed under to increase prices.

Chairman Stone said prevailing low prices undoubtedly would lead farmers to abandon part of the crop but that destruction of a specified portion would have a better effect on the market.

The board promised to hold 3,000,000 bales of stabilization cotton off the market for one year if the plan is adopted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The farm board called on southern planters to destroy one-third of their crop now under cultivation, promising in return to hold stabilization surplus stocks from the market for one year.

Telegrams were dispatched to the governors of 14 cotton producing states, urging them to enlist cooperation of every available agency, including farmers and bankers, in this step to increase the price of cotton.

Promises by Co-Op They were signed by Chairman Stone, who conferred today with directors of the cotton stabilization corporation and the American cooperative association. Stone said if growers promised to plow under every third row of cotton now growing, the cotton cooperative would be asked also to withhold the 2,000,000 bales it owns from trade channels.

"This program," he asserted, "if fully carried out by southern farmers as well as by ourselves will mean reduction of total supply by at least 4,000,000 bales and withholding from the market of 3,000,000 bales more."

The action followed, a few days after a government crop forecast in which the 1931 cotton harvest was estimated at 15,564,000 bales, more than 1,500,000 above last year. Cotton prices on every exchange immediately dropped.

The proposal to plow under every third row of cotton was advanced yesterday by Governor H. V. Howell of Mississippi.

Probably Carryover Stone, in his telegrams to the governors of Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Texas, estimated the probable carryover a year from now under present conditions would be about 11,000,000 bales.

The program would be put into effect September 1, and be completed September 15. The governors were urged to respond immediately stating their attitude on the proposal.

Much Liquor Taken In Raid On Cafe Here

Two Held; Truck Load of Equipment Confiscated By Sheriff

Charging without warning, a quartet of officers Monday afternoon raided a whiskey still in the Gomez Cafe building at 400 North West Fourth street and seized a large quantity of corn whiskey and much equipment.

V. A. Gomez is being held with Andres Garcia, a Mexican lad of 13 years, facing charges of possession of liquor for sale and possession of equipment for purpose of manufacture.

Gomez Tuesday morning waived examining trial and had bond set at $1,500 in each of the two cases.

As yet young Garcia faces no charges but in court today his role was the lad steadfastly refused to give officers any information. Grilling brought nothing from him but a sullen "no sabe."

A third member of the alleged operating party fled.

About three o'clock Sheriff Jess Slaughter, Deputies Merrick, Dunn and Wolf entered the cafe and seized a few Mexicans. Wolf held them and Slaughter, Merrick and Dunn rushed to the rear of the place to search for the still.

As they entered the hallway they could hear quantities of mass "working," but no apparent entrance to the location could be determined. Slaughter remained below to guard as Merrick and Dunn scoured heading into an aperture adjoining the stairway.

Scouting the stairway, Merrick scaled rafters while Dunn worked his way downward through a mass of rafters and joists, finally breaking through the ceiling into a secret room—the scene of the operations.

Dunn sighted a trick door opening into the hallway and attempted to open it. It refused to be moved so he battered a hole through the sheetrock and summoned aid.

Slaughter rushed to the scene and found a false shelf blocking the opening, removed it and the portal swung open. Merrick scrambled from his perch, where he had almost "kif" footed, and joined the party.

Wolf and Dunn took the prisoner to the jail and later returned.

The secret room, apparently specially built for the purpose contained seven barrels of brewing bran mash.

A sound like a bill of frying peas emanated from them. Four bottles of expensive bourbon favoring beaded shelves with alcohol and beer testers, filter paper, charcoal, burnt oak shavings, and clearing powders. More than a hundred bottles of beer lined the floor and thirty-four half-gallon jars of liquor were found in and out of cases.

Under Floor Below a table a yawning hole led the way to a small excavation below the floor. Here officers found a gas stove, a condenser and copper coils. Two barrels entirely full of liquor, one more than half full, one five gallon keg filled, and another half filled with intoxicating liquor were strung around in the meter. Gas was piped via a hidden outlet to the sewer line, electricity propelled a fan which kept the danger lighted, while a water connection ran to the condenser.

pick and shovel were handy and recent excavations, apparently for the purpose of widening the hole, were in evidence. A small trail led under the floor for some distance and was apparently to be used for an emergency exit.

Hundreds of people, largely Mexicans, gathered around the place to see the wrecking of the plant, and watched officers pour out seven barrels of mass. Sheriff Slaughter and his cohorts had more than once to order the Mexicans back. Ten men were kept busy for half an hour loading the equipment on a truck to bring it to the county warehouse for storage.

264 Boys and Girls Parade With Their Dolls and Dogs; Prizes Are Awarded; Children See Movies

While hundreds of people lined Main street at 2 p. m. Tuesday 264 children marched down the thoroughfare to the accompaniment of the Big Spring band.

One hundred and forty-eight little girls proudly carried and rolled their best dolls, while seventy-six boys tugged frantically at their ropes and chains to keep their dogs in the Big Spring Herald Dog and Doll parade.

The procession of jolly-eyed children carrying their dolls and dragging their dogs stretched for a length of two blocks. The band under the direction of G. A. Hartman kept time with the parade led by a band on their points.

Every kind and description of doll imaginable was on display, such little mistress vying to place her dearest possession in the limelight. The boys were kept busy preventing fights and once an outbreak occurred which threatened to break up half of the parade.

The state highway department's division engineer informed Mr. Edmondson in San Angelo Saturday that plans and specification for the Glasscock county strip of ten miles had been completed and that a contract for the paving could be awarded promptly when all right-of-way has been obtained.

Preliminary Hearing Set For Tuesday Evening; Body Sent To Terrell For Burial

Preliminary hearing was expected to be held today for Louis Whisenhunt, 22, of Odessa, charged with murder in connection with the killing of Henry F. Howie, 53, Big Spring policeman, at a tourist camp in the western section of the city, late Monday.

The body of Mr. Howie, accompanied by his daughter, Lois, Assistant Police Chief J. M. Thornton and Night Sergeant J. M. Choate was sent to Terrell on the 1 p. m. train today. Burial will be made there tomorrow.

The father of young Whisenhunt, who is janitor at the Ector county court house in Odessa, arrived at noon with a letter and a change of clothing for his son.

He was asked whether his son was married. He replied "I reckon he would have been if this hadn't come up."

County officials carefully guarded any information they might have obtained in the grilling of Whisenhunt last night. There was at least one eye witness, Mrs. E. G. Dimond, Alta Vista apartments. With her husband she was driving along the Bankhead highway a few yards from where the policeman fell.

The usual volume of reports connected with a shooting circulated through the city Tuesday morning. One had it that a woman rushed, screaming, toward the body of Mr. Howie, a moment after the car in which he had ridden to the west and fell or was shot from it a moment after being hit.

The man reported to have been seen standing on the bluff disappeared a moment after Howie fell.

Mr. Howie was picked up by E. G. Dimond and rushed to a hospital. The officer was dead when he arrived there.

The widow and her daughter, and later a son of Mr. Howie, reached the hospital soon afterward sobbing and screaming, they went to the tier, the son, arriving later, hesitated, before entering the room and trembling, said "I don't know whether I want to see him or not."

Two airplanes joined in the brief search for the man wanted in connection with the shooting. They flew over the rough section immediately south of the shooting scene.

Andrew Merrick, deputy sheriff, and Miller Nichols, constable, searching in the ravines near Scenic Mountain saw a man emerge from behind a cedar scrub and cross a ravine.

They stopped their car and called to the man to throw up his hands. The man obeyed and advanced toward them as they went to him. He was made to lay in the floor of the car while the officer searched him to the county jail.

Kansas Oil Men Watched

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 11 (AP)—Oklahoma oil men watched their associates in Kansas and Texas from among their own sleeping derelicts, with a statement apparently reached in Governor Murray's martial move for $1 a barrel crude.

News the Kansas public service commission had informed Kansas refiners they must raise the price of crude to 60 cents or face the prospect of a hearing looking toward a shutdown such as prevailed here brought commendation from Governor Murray, although he said they should have made it a dollar.

No Compromise He would not be interested in joining a compromise for less, he added.

That purchasers might keep refineries operating a year by ignoring Oklahoma fields and using imported crude and oils from other states was suggested in circles inimical to the Murray order which escaped flush production. Today the Eason Oil Company, of Elid, announced it had arranged for 45 days supply of oil to operate its refinery and that it could get more if it were needed.

Stated the Champlin Refining company, of Child made known that its East Texas properties would allow it to continue operations indefinitely.

Only a handful of national guardsmen remained for enforcement of Governor Murray's order in the Oklahoma fields.

Junior C. of C. Opens Fund For Officer's Family

While a widow and her five young children fought to control grief over the death of their husband and father, a city policeman who was shot fatally while on duty for the public, the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce last night voted to start an award fund for the family end donated $25 to head the list.

Henry F. Howie, 42 slain here late Monday, had been getting "tough breaks" for several months. He was confined to his bed for more than two months by inflammatory rheumatism and had been able to work without a crutch or cane but a short time when he was killed. He still was many pounds under weight.

It was decided that, in view of the fact that he died in line of duty as a servant for public safety, appreciation of the public for fearless efforts of peace officers who oftentimes must expose themselves to danger could best be expressed by a posthumous award should go to the family.

The Herald has agreed to the request of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to receive gifts to this fund. Names of all donors will be published, but the amounts they give will not be included in the newspaper.

News About The Clubhouse Market And Receipts For Watermelon Preserves And Pickles

Wondering if all of you Saturday market at the club house. It has been open the past two Saturdays, and from all accounts, will be permanent.

The market is controlled by the women's home demonstration council, which handles foods to be sold.

Attractive Foods Sell In addition to these products there were corn, peas already shelled and snapped, string beans prepared for cooking, tomatoes, cantaloupes, watermelons, cakes, pies, brown bread, rolls, cookies, potato salad, cottage cheese, canned meats, chicken, canned peas and beans, corn relish and bread and butter pickles.

By the way, watermelon time is here in all its red and green glory. I am giving two watermelon rind recipes. Please save them. They are the hardest things in the world to find, if you lose them, because so few cook books carry them.

Watermelon Rind Sweet Pickles 7 pounds of prepared watermelon rind 3 cups vinegar 4 pounds sugar 2-4 ounces cloves (whole) 2 sticks cinnamon 1-2 ounces ginger root

Prepare 7 pounds of rind. Remove all pink and green of rind. Cut these pieces into uniform strips as illustrated for sweet pickles rind. Combine vinegar, sugar and spices, and cook until sugar is dissolved. Add the strips of rind and cook until clear and tender. Seal in sterilized standard containers 5 and 8 ounce sizes. Fill jars to overflowing. Pack rind firmly in jars and use a small bit of stick cinnamon bark for garnish. Clean jar and label. Store in cool dark place.

Watermelon Rind Preserves 4 pounds watermelon rind (prepared) 2 quarts sugar 4 quarts water 1 lemon sliced thin Juice of 1-2 lemons 6-8 pieces of root ginger Lime-water proportion: 2 tablespoons lime or calcium oxide 2 quarts water

The thick rind melon is preferred for preserves. Remove peel and any pink meat of the melon. Soak in lime-water over night using proportions as given above. Next morning drain and allow rind to stand in fresh cold water for two hours. Drain, drop in boiling water, cook very rapidly for 10 minutes. Drain again, and add gradually to the syrup (made by boiling together the 8 cups of sugar and 4 quarts of water). Add the lemon juice and root ginger which has been cut into about 1/2 inch lengths. Cook until the rind is tender and transparent. About 15 minutes before it has finished cooking, add the slices of lemon. Avoid breaking or tearing the lemon slices.

Pack firmly into sterilized 5 or 8 ounce standard glass containers. Fill to overflowing. Garnish with one slice of lemon and a bit of root ginger. Seal and process for 15 minutes at 10 pounds pressure. Wash and label jars before storing. Only the small green 4-H labels should be used. Place label one-fourth inch from bottom of jar.

Town women are already responding to the cry for empty glass jars and will probably bring in many more to us during the next two or three weeks. They are also saving paper bags, egg cartons, tin and cake cartons to take to the Clubhouse on Saturday for the market.

Sincerely yours, LOUCILLE ALLGOOD.

New fall merchandise now is arriving here. The Empress Eugenie mode so pronounced this season is unusually well expressed in Albert M. Fisher's.

Fall shoes, Mr. Fisher remarked, will be pronouncedly black and brown patent leathers and suedes, employing silver calfskin as the dominant embellishment.

In dresses the new models feature prints and silks in small all-over designs of colonial dots and checks. Algerian colors from medium yellow through the deeper shades of tans and browns, will be noted in midday's apparel this autumn.

In men's apparel browns will be featured and Midshipade will offer browns and grays in addition to blues. Men's hats will have slightly wider brims than usual.

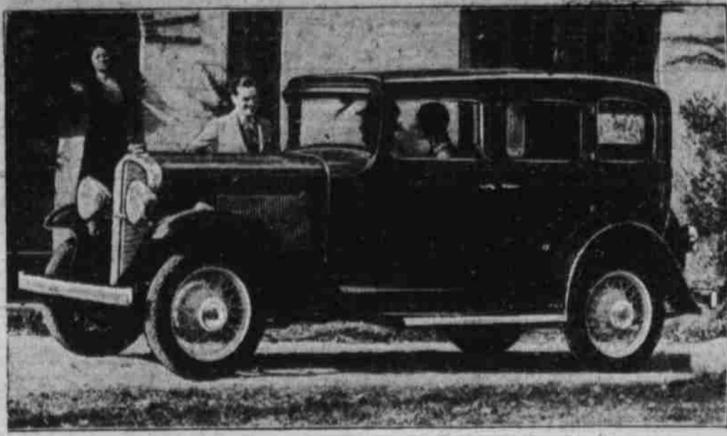

And, finally, Mr. Fisher pointed out, the tendency this season to a return to the dressmaker mode. Stereotyped costumes are going.

HOW'S your HEALTH?

SOAP AND THE SKIN
Does the use of soap and water on the skin injure it?

If the soap is not medicated and does not contain an excess of alkali, then the free use of soap and water is little likely to harm the average skin.

On the other hand, if the soap is irritating and the skin dry and tender, then its use may bring undesirable effects.

For appearance and health, it is essential that the skin be soft and pliable.

Nature has arranged to keep it so by having studied the skin with all glands which secrete a fatty substance. In the average skin the activity of these glands is such that enough oil is excreted to keep the skin soft.

On the other hand, either because of constitutional peculiarity or because of some disturbance in the functions of the body, the oil glands of the skin may either fail to secrete an adequate amount of their substance or else may become overactive and secrete excessive quantities of oil.

In the case of inactive oil glands, the use of soap and water should be limited, and after washing it might be desirable to rub a small quantity of sweet almond oil into the hands and face and other exposed parts of the skin.

On the other hand, where the skin is over-active, the liberal use of soap and water is indicated. An excessively oily skin is likely to be subject to pimples and blackheads, and scrupulous cleanliness is essential.

Under all circumstances it should be remembered that the primary purpose of soap is to help in cleansing. To this end, the mildest soap serves best. Medicated soaps should only be used upon prescription.

Those who for aesthetic reasons prefer to do their face cleansing with creams may indulge their fancy freely, but not in fear of soap and water.

Tomorrow - Leaking Heart
WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—If Charles Curtis of Kansas should come back to the old seat in the senate from the vice presidency, it is a possibility that he will pick up just where he left off in March of 1929.

For the habits of the vice president have changed very little. The general conception that the vice president's lot is that of a sort of an official idler in the government has not been true in Curtis' case.

He has worked almost as hard, even though his duties are not so exacting as he did when he was senator. He is at his office early when in Washington. It is not uncommon to see him before 8 o'clock in the morning strolling across the hill to the senate cafe for a cup of coffee.

THE EARLY BIRD
He always has had a liking for early hours. Before the average government clerk even is thinking of getting up in the morning, Curtis has left his downtown hotel suite for his office.

Of course, his bill is not as heavy now as when he was in the senate. As vice president some 100 or more letters come to him daily. When he was senator the number was as high as 300.

But he must clear his desk early if it is to be cleared at all. As president of the senate, from noon on when congress is in session, he must stick around until adjournment. He has nothing to say about when that shall be.

Of course he has no patronage to dispense and of necessity must play a rather passive role in senate party leadership matters. Yet he must get rid of his routine office business early to be ready for any emergency.

Since President Hoover has abandoned the practice of keeping open house for visitors at the executive mansion as President Coolidge used to do, Curtis has had a lot of official greetings to attend to.

INDUSTRIOUS
All sorts of delegations pour into the senate capital. Many of them demand some sort of recognition. Many want to see and be photographed with the vice president. Others are passed on down Pennsylvania avenue to him by the White House secretary.

Those who have observed Curtis since he became vice president say that no other man in recent times has brought to that office such signs of industry.

But ask him which part of his long official life in Washington he has enjoyed the most—the house, the senate or the vice presidency. He'll smile and answer: "I have enjoyed it all."

MOON OF DELIGHT

by Margaret Bell Houston

SEVEN O'CLOCK Juanita Basara is a mystery at the New Orleans gambling house operated by Jason Divitt and his wife, Molly. Umberto, henchman of Divitt, has brought her there in a chest which he thought contained jewels, taken from the Dolores. Divitt concludes that she is a stowaway from the Argentine, but does not release her for fear that the police, discovering her, might, through her story, connect him with the chest theft. The dwarf, Gabreau, an employee of the resort, and his mother, Conchita, seen friendly to the girl, both concerned over the identity for her they see in Umberto's eyes. Attempting to gain Juanita's confidence, Mrs. Divitt relates her checked past and Divitt's kindness to her. But the girl only pleads, "Help me to get away."

Chapter 4
LOCKED GATES
"I'll be bright, hard surface that gleamed against the wall. The girl's eyes moved from one sealed window to the next. "I do not call that hiding," she said after a pause.

"Wait," Molly smiled like one who veils a secret for a while. "Leave it to me."

Juanita followed her across the court. Yonder was a little wooden gate in the rear wall. Through its cracks one could see flashes of a garden that must be beneath her room, though she had no window to look down upon it. A gate with a simple catch.

"Life down now," Molly was saying. "What did you tell Divitt your name was?"

"Juanita Basara."

"I'll call you Juanita. And you call me Molly. It means a lot to me to have you here—a woman of my own kind. Divitt wants you for me, as much as anything else. Lie down now and rest so you'll be fresh tonight."

"I got in mind how you're going to dress. There's a woman round the corner makes costumes for Mardi Gras. Here, give me that pink dress to measure by, I'm going over to Canal street and get you some other clothes too. And yet me get the number out of those little gold slippers."

When Molly had gone Juanita locked down into the court. It was never empty. Conchita outside the kitchen, Divitt entering or leaving by the iron gates, Gabreau carrying water. But tonight when Mrs. Divitt had brought the clothes and all was dark, surely she could reckon with the little gate. The world? Had it any worse place? She could find the locks. She had her bracelet. It would take her somewhere.

Gabreau came that evening with the box. Strange that he repelled her less than any denial of such course. He seemed her friend. That evening he had flashed to her the night before. And now his eyes seemed begging to do her some service.

He seemed about to speak. A door opened down the balcony and Umberto emerged. Gabreau drew back.

Juanita, closing her door, heard the two men going down the stairs. Then she lit her lamp, tore the strings from the box. There was no dress inside; only a lot of black stuff—pyjamas. It looked like Juanita flung it upon the floor. She began to sob, striving to quiet herself, pacing a room. "Pedro!" she sobbed. "Ay, Pedro!"

a supper with which she had taken pains.
"You must eat! You will die!" granted Conchita, picking up the black garments from the floor. Was she the dwarf's mother, wondered the girl.

"Gabreau," she began cautiously. "The one they call Gabreau—"
Conchita smiled. "You like him?"

So he was her son. "He has been very kind," Juanita answered, "bringing me things."

Conchita dismissed these services with a brief nod.
"He ran errand for de house. You will see him tonight in the parlor. You like my Gabreau, yes? He is not tall like Umberto, but he is strong. He break lock one time with his hands. You will see my Gabreau look fine tonight."

The girl spoke casually. "I want to see him. I have something for him."
"Si, Senorita. I'll tell him."

Juanita felt danger in her words, but Conchita nodded. "To be course, Senorita. Umberto will take it away—that you have for my Gabreau—if he see, Umberto is bad-mal, male, malvado. Perverso Diablo."

A flashing knife fighting then a still form on the floor before the terrified Juanita tomorrow.

"They're out—so they can't be in!"

Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia, and the Carolinas—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for fruits, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Bromides, Past and Present
Montgomery Advertiser
"The Birmingham News, justly praising an Ohio judge for displaying an offender, who chose repeatedly to indignify the court with the irritating and banal 'Oh yeah' proceeds to draw a lesson of mental laziness from the wide use of this and similar expressions. It goes on to enumerate a few of these verbal pests, as follows: 'Well, I'll be a-corned!'"

"Well, I'll be a-corned! How's every little thing? Don't do anything I wouldn't do. Sex you! Is zat so? I'll see you, hear? Don't take any wonden nickles! What do you know? Well, be good. Is zat nice? You and how many more? Must have been two other guys. I'll say so! Not so hot. Hello, little one. I'll tell the world. And last, but by no means least, the radio infested. Awah, swah."

However, the modern probably not much, if any, worse in this regard than persons of three or four decades ago.

One can recall the senseless and rude rejoinder to any question, the exasperating and obvious, "You don't know do you?" of the twenties. Then there were some other gems of repartee:

"Ah, there, stay there. Go chase yourself. Go soak your head. 'Go home and tell your mamma she wants you. Oh, I don't know you're not so warm. And then the four-ones of the Gibson girl era had their own pet, Exclaim me while I faint."

"As we have seen, the wisecracker of the nineties ran largely to commands to go. And in the seventies, we believe, the admonition of Horace Greely for the youth to hit to America's frontier section and develop with the country, was bromidized. Aw, go west. If we mistake not, that was also the age of the now well-nigh forgotten, Ready, nay, Pauline."

One good thing about this ready-made repartee for morons, its various manifestations have comparatively short individual lives. It's really rather old fashioned nowadays to remind another human being that so is his old man.

Price Investigation To Be Fifteenth Conducted By Lower Legislative House

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 7 (AP)—The house of representatives of the state of Texas again will sit as a court of inquiry to scrutinize the official actions of one of its administrative officers. It will mark the fourth time since 1917 the house has acted as a grand jury to determine the truth or falsity of charges preferred against an elective official.

Records in the state library show the house has not as a court of inquiry in approximately 15 instances. As in the present investigation, a majority of the proceedings involved officers of the judicial department of the government, and in particular district judges. In this instance the actions of J. B. Price of Bastrop as judge of the 21st district court will be placed in the spotlight by the house's prosecutors.

The house believes the charges against Price are true, articles of impeachment will be voted and the senate will sit as a court of judgment to determine his guilt. If convicted by the senate, Price automatically will be removed from office and will be forever barred from holding another position in the gift of the people.

Ferguson Only

The senate official out of the 15 investigated by the house. The conviction was in the case of former Governor James E. Ferguson, convicted in 1917 and removed from office. In several instances, however, officials under fire have resigned and in other instances the charges have not been sustained by the evidence and the house declined to "indict" and send the case to the senate for trial.

The acts of J. S. Robinson, commissioner of the general land office, were investigated a few years ago by the house but no articles of impeachment were preferred and the aged land commissioner was exonerated. The lengthy investigation, however, is generally given as the main cause of his death a short time later.

In 1926 the house conducted an investigation of S. H. Terrell, state comptroller for several years. Terrell was charged with misuse of state funds. In the middle of the house inquiry, Terrell submitted his resignation and the investigation ended abruptly. The attorney general recently filed suit to collect Terrell's bonds.

Price, charged with approving exorbitant claims of the sheriff of the counties in his district for fees and mileage, will be defended by a battery of veteran lawyers, including Judge R. L. Batts, chairman of the board of regents of the University of Texas. Paul D. Page, Sr., former state senator will be among the array of defense legal talent.

The house has named Reps. A. P. C. DeLoach of Fredericksburg and Harry N. Graves of Georgetown as its prosecutors. Graves is especially noted for his bull-like determination in the trial of cases, having gained some measure of fame while serving as district attorney in Williamson county. Graves is commonly regarded as a relentless prosecutor and the number of convictions he obtained while district attorney has remained a mark for his successors to shoot at.

Petach, who has been a member of the legislature for several years and who bears the scars of many battles on the floor of the house, also is a veteran lawyer.

The charges against Price included 13 counts and covered 15 pages of legal size paper. The record in the case is expected to be voluminous and the arguments lengthy.

The course of the investigation has not been determined. Should the house decide to complete its investigation of Price during the present special session it would consume a considerable amount of time and seriously endanger chances of enacting laws to strengthen the state's conservation statutes. Leaders said great turmoil would result should the house decide to proceed with oil legislation and the investigation at the same time since each would interfere with the other.

It was expected the house would postpone investigation of Price until after passage of conservation laws was assured. The session can be extended without a call from the governor if the house deems it advisable to continue beyond the constitutional limit of 30 days in special sessions. The present session will close officially on August 12. No legislation can be acted upon after that date, even should the house continue in session.

Farm Board Studies Germany's Offer To Buy 600,000 Bales

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7 (AP)—The farm board waited other business today to study the German offer to buy 600,000 bales of its stabilization cotton.

Loss in the proposed sale would total many millions. Southern senators have protested the sale. Traders contend presence of the unusual surplus is depressing the market.

Chairman Stone opposed the suggestion to buy an equal amount of this year's crop if the sale is made. Exact terms of the German offer had not been announced. Protests of the proposed sale had been made by the New Orleans and Havre, France, exchanges. The Havre exchange claimed the sale to Germany would be unfair to France.

Flying Dancer!

Brady Instructor, Seeking Location Here, Comes By Air; Soon To Receive License.

Miss Elizabeth Ballou was in a hurry to get to Big Spring, as she jumped into her Spartan airplane with her instructor, Lawrence Hughes, and arrived here from Brady in just about an hour. Friday morning she was sitting comfortably in the Chamber of Commerce offices chatting with officials.

Miss Ballou intends to make her home in this city if she can establish satisfactory connections. Professionally she is a dancing instructor and has taught successful classes in Brady for the past three years. Physically she is an attractive blonde ideal size, blue eyes, and smartly dressed.

Explaining why she wished to make her home here a letter from Carl A. Blasing, manager of the Brady Chamber of Commerce said. The real reason why Miss Ballou is contemplating to make her home in Big Spring is because it would afford her a better opportunity to keep in close connection with aviation.

She owns a plane and has almost enough hours in the air for her commercial license.

And speaking of licenses, Miss Ballou is competent enough as a pilot to be the possessor of a private flying certificate.

Miss Ballou modestly told of the trip to Big Spring and said, concerning the accompanying instructor, "I don't know whether I came with him, or whether he came with me."

As the interview with the reporter terminated Miss Ballou said, "You must come out to the port and ride with us." Seeing that she evidently was sincere the terra firma-minded reporter hastily took his leave declining the invitation.

State Truck Load Statute Held Invalid

Federal Court Grants Injunction; State To File Appeal

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (AP)—A three-judge federal court today granted a temporary injunction to McLeish and Company, a trucking concern, preventing the highway commission and its high patrol officers in certain counties from enforcing a new law limiting the number of bales of cotton carried per truck. The company claims the law is unconstitutional, because it discriminates against uncompresses cotton.

AUSTIN, Aug. 7 (AP)—The injunction granted has made the truck load law inoperative throughout the state. L. G. Phares, chief of the state highway patrol said he would instruct his men not to enforce the law. Assistant Attorney General T. S. Rev. Day Speaks At Christoval

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 8.—The Rev. R. E. Day of Big Spring, formerly of Bryan, was selected to take the place of Dr. I. E. Gates of San Antonio, as one of the principal speakers on the program of the Christoval Baptist Encampment which opened Friday night. Dr. Gates was prevented from being here by illness.

Dr. R. L. Powell, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, led the evening services, while the Rev. Mr. Day was to be the morning speaker beginning Saturday.

For the first time encampment visitors will be asked to register at a special headquarters and 5,000 badges are being printed for visitors. There were more than 430 persons encamped at Christoval on the eve of the opening of the meeting, according to G. E. Nicholson of Wilford, president of the encampment.

Dr. Powell of San Angelo, the evening speaker at the meeting, is a veteran encampment speaker. For the last five years he has been the speaker of the Rio Frio encampment and recently returned from there from this year's meeting. He aided in organizing the North Texas encampment at Woodlake, and was one of the sponsors of the meeting for several years.

The Rev. Mr. Powell went from Lake Charles, La., to Galvestone where he was pastor for four years and then was pastor of the first church at San Marcos for eight years before coming to San Angelo. While there more than 3,000 additions were made to the church or an average of about one a day.

The Rev. Mr. Day, the morning speaker, has been at Big Spring only a short time, but is an increasingly popular speaker in West Texas. He made powerful speeches at the Beaumont and Fort Worth state meetings, according to those who heard him, and introduced W. R. White at Beaumont when White was elected state Baptist secretary.

He was state Baptist evangelist from the Southwestern Seminary at Fort Worth and went from there to the first church at Bryan where he built a fine church building and church before moving to Big Spring.

Several other leading speakers will be on the program of the annual encampment and large crowds are expected early.

Wheat Price Controlled By Farm Board, Says Will Rogers, The More Is Bought The Lower The Price Was

By Will Rogers
Well all I know is just what I read in the papers. Been under the weather and been doing nothing but reading, and taking some pills, and trying to talk the Doctor out of some more grub. Good deal of leets have gone under the Auctioneers hammer since I last communed with you, both private and National. Germany got a Moratorium, the Big International Bankers got their guaranteed, Taxpayers got another assessment, and the Farmers got exactly what everybody had been predicting they would get—two bits for their wheat. But we are told that indirectly this good that we did Germany will trickle to get through the weeds and mortgages.

Courage here is one thing, where the Farm Board is right; I haven't heard that in so long that it scared me when I wrote it down! They told the Farmers NOT to plant so much wheat, they said they was going to be a big supply this fall, and you know yourself that they hadent sold last years crop. So I hinder string with the Farm Board in that. You know the Farmers dont use their own heads a whole lot. Some of em dont even use anybody's.

Now it was fast year that the Farm Board bought up all this wheat, and had nothing to do with it. From the day they started buying the first bushel it started going down, and no matter how fast they bought, it went down faster. Well here you was. You hadent put in this years wheat yet, now Russia had an awful big mess of it, and if you had, you know that they would lose money on it in order to take away some one else's market, especially us. You know that they would perhaps under the five year plan put in more wheat than ever before, because they aint supposed to know how to raise anything else.

Now the Argentine had a bumper crop. They had their last years crop still to sell. They got to take into consideration that every country both big and little that haven't heretofore raised wheat, knowing they were at the mercy of these few big powers, had encouraged raising all that their folks could. Italy and England raise a lot more than they used to, not near enough but it all counts up.

Now then here is the Farm Board with their millions of bushels. Granaries full of private wheat. The worst depression in years. Now I just want to ask one question. What in the World made any Farmer think that things could possibly be any better than they was when he planted the wheat? Had he been listening to Chamber of Commerce speeches? How did any one think that just overnight we was going like we used to? What was there to look forward to that was going to raise everyone out of the dumps nay more than there is something to look forward to that is going to get us out overnight now, not even overnight, but over a year? So why would a man, knowing the amount of wheat that was going to be on the market the next year, knowing that nobody was going to have anything to buy it with if they did want it, why would he go and gamble everything he had in wheat?

We used to think that a wheat farmer was smarter than a Cotton Farmer, and the Wheat one thinks so yet, (Well maybe not now). But bi olly, it looks like there aint no way to get any people to cut down on anything as long as they think the other fellow ought to do the cutting down first. There is some excuse for the Cotton Planter, especially the renter one, for he has to put in what he is told to do, and he hasent enough machinery and stock to put in anything else but with the wheat Farmer its his own boss. He generally owns the land, or has it rented to do with what he likes.

So it looks like is is going to do the same as the south has with its cotton, just go broke with it and be buried right in the path, but he is going to plant plenty of cotton you know there is a few things that even the Government cant protect you against, even if they wanted to, unless they send you to an asylum. Now here is where the Government made their mistake; they said "Dont raise so much wheat, so you raised it, and they cant say they "told you not to." But they didnt tell you NOT to raise anything, and everything else has been as low as wheat. See? That's what they should have done.

They should have said, "Dont raise a thin thing that you can eat yourself." You would have let your land gain a year, you would have saved all your seed wheat, or corn, or oats and while you wouldnt have made anything you wouldnt have lost anything.

But the Gag now is not to raise anything only that fits your appetite. Then the prices dont worry you. The Republicans dont fret you. The Democrats dont preach at you. Just raise all you can eat and let the low prices go by.

Harris Store Modernistic

Novel Ideas Incorporated In Arrangements In Building

Displaying one of the most unique outlays presented in Big Spring Will Harris, proprietor of Harris', women's furnishing store, opened for business Saturday. The firm features a bungalow effect, the entire store presenting the air of a building surrounding the floor space which is made to appear like a garden.

Mr. Harris' original idea does not permit anything to be out of sight. Everything is open to the customer's view, where it can be reached and inspected without the aid of clerks. The stock consists of a complete line of fall and winter women's wear. A line of summer goods are also on display with a large assortment of the latest mod- al hats including much attention.

According to Harris he was forced to wait more than a week to buy his stock of hats, pending the arrival of a special boat.

The upper floor of the store will house a beauty parlor. From this point an excellent perspective of the entire store is available. The interior of one of the "bungalows" has four ultra-modern dressing rooms with carpets, fans, mirrors, tables and other conveniences. The display windows are trimmed in material lending a modernistic effect.

"I would not have one penny's worth of stock in my store if I could not have a complete stock," said Harris. He pointed out a new feature—a hose tester to detect flaws in hosiery.

Pipe Line Runs Down For July

Daily average of pipe line runs of crude oil from the protected areas in Howard and Glasscock counties was 1,421 barrels less in July than in June, according to the monthly recapitulation issued by Empire E. E. Andrews, Abilene.

Daily average of runs by the six purchasers drawing from the field was 37,591 barrels, indicating a daily withdrawal from storage of approximately 3,000 barrels over the daily allowable production of 31,000 barrels.

The total of pipe line runs for the month was 87,732 barrels from the thirty-one days of July compared with 87,784 barrels for the thirty days of June, a decrease of 52 barrels.

Tourists Make Up Fifth Of Traffic On Broadway Here

Not many people realize what an enormous amount of traffic the Broadway of America carries, Highway No. 1 through Big Spring bears a surprising number of tourists crossing Main street along Third each day.

One-fifth of the cars that cross the main thoroughfare are tourists, according to an official in the court house. Of 126 cars crossing the street within a short period of time thirty were tourists, or out of town autoists. Figures, although not always so high, are usually around twenty per cent, the comptroller said.

Abilene Champ Loses Initial Tennis Match

Wichita Falls Contingent Shows Strength In First Clashes

Upsets aplenty featured the first morning's play in the annual West Texas tennis tournament held on the high school courts. Only two of the seeded players advanced to the third round of play—McCarthy and McPhail of Wichita Falls.

The feature clash of the morning was the match between McPhail and M. M. Ballard, Abilene city champion, which had to be carried to an extra set. The gentleman from Wichita Falls was finally successful in downing the seeded No. 2 player 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. McPhail's victory was directly the result of his hard volleying which he completely outdid his opponent. Ballard suffered an injured head when he collided with an open gate during the match.

Joe Davis, only Big Spring netter to be seeded a place, encountered surprise and defeat in his match with Fred Barnes, youthful Denton star 3-6, 6-4, 6-2. Both raquet- teers are only fifteen years of age, but demonstrated some uncanny shots while play was in progress.

The two announce they will pair to enter the doubles matches.

Whittaker of El Paso ran true to form in trimming Russell Soper of Colorado in straight sets 6-1, 6-2, Roscoe Eiter, Lubbock, beat Ralph Higgins, Panhandle, in another three set match. He won 4-6, 9-7, 6-3. Curtis Bishop, local top flight man who previously had planned to stay out of singles competition due to an injured back, took the measurements of Mr. Butcher of Lubbock in straight encounters 6-1, 6-2.

Still another three-set contest saw the advantage in score go to Foster of Abilene, after he had bitterly contested Burgess of Lubbock in sets 6-1, 4-6, 7-5. Charles Cook of Wichita Falls had little trouble in winning from William McCarthy, local No. 4 player, in straight sets 6-1, 6-1. Ed Bebb of Wichita Falls experienced difficulty in beating Elmo Lowe of Abilene 2-6, 4-4, 6-4.

At 1:30 p. m. Bryant of Aubrey had won the first set of his match with McElvany, Panhandle, 6-4 and had the second set standing 5-4. However, he had seen three set points slip from his grasp and McElvany was apparently staging a comeback.

Those advancing to the third round of play are McCarthy who will meet Foster; Tom McCarthy, Wichita Falls, is to tangle with Charles Cook of the same town; Bebb of Wichita Falls pits his skill against Allen Whittaker of El Paso; the winner of the Barnes-Clark match will oppose Lake Thomas of Colorado; Bishop, Big Spring, meets H. B. Dunnagan, Jr., also a local netter; McElvany-Bryant winner contests Eiter of Lubbock; Murph of El Paso and Fanning of Lubbock take the courts in effort to decide who shall meet Ferguson of Midland; Horace Henry of Denton and the C. A. Hawkins-George Dabney victor close the list of contestants left out of an original host of entrants.

Apparently Wichita Falls is taking the lead in the tourney and has a fair field of entrants herself still remaining in play. But the best players begin to encounter each other beginning with the third round and the games will commence hard- ening and the sets much tighter and harder fought. Doubles play was to be started Friday afternoon as soon as all men were tried and the third round roster completed.

Refinery To Be Re-Opened

Reorganization of Big Spring Refining Company Under Way

Plans for reorganizing the Big Spring Refining company and re- suming operation of its plant here are under way. It was announced here yesterday by Robert T. Finer, representing Mrs. Dora Roberts.

The plant was recently shut down as an indirect result of financial difficulties of the Texas Eagle Refining company, operating in East Texas and controlled by Ben Robinowitz, Dallas, who also headed the local company. He is recovering from a bullet wound in the head, received in the garage at his home several weeks ago. The Texas Eagle company is in re- ceivership. It had no corporate connection with the Big Spring Refining company.

Notice of trustee's sale of real estate has been posted here, by Mr. Finer, trustee, who announced he would offer for sale here September 1 property belonging to the company.

He is acting under his authority as trustee in deed of trust. The sale is to be held as a result of non- payment of several notes held by Mrs. Roberts.

Duties of Big Spring City Manager Reviewed in Lions Club Address By E. V. Spence, Recently Named to Post

In an address before the Lions club here Friday at its regular luncheon in the Bettles Hotel, E. V. Spence, who became city manager August 1, brought out some interesting information regarding the advantages and the success of the city manager form of govern- ment in Big Spring and the im- portance of local support of home industries.

Dr. C. C. Carter had charge of the program for the day. Music was by R. L. Pinkston, steel guitarist, and H. L. Shirley and G. C. Myrick, ugiarists.

Bob Fyssalt, the club's Lion Tam- er, gave a five minute talk on the duties of his office. It was one of a series of weekly addresses by the elective officers.

Dr. W. B. Hardy announced the program chairman for the next three weeks. They are Cecil C. Col- lings, Theron Hicks and H. S. Faw- cett. Tracy T. Smith was heard in a re- view of plans being adopted in some counties for marketing of farm pro- duce. Patronage of the farm wim- sen's market being held each Satur- day at the City Federation club house, was urged.

Mr. Spence spoke, in part, as fol- lows:

In 1926 The City Manager form of govern- ment was adopted in Big Spring on December 7, 1926, and has been found to be more successful than the mayor-council form of govern- ment as evidenced by the growth of your city and the condition of its finances, and the past services rendered by those in charge of your city's affairs.

The city manager form of govern- ment makes it possible to place the responsibility of the management on one head, just as it would in any up-to-date successful business or- ganization.

It makes it possible for successful business men, of ability, to accept places on the city commission for the reason that their time is not taken up with a great volume of minor details, inasmuch as they are only required to pass on the im- portant questions after the city manager has studied all the facts and details, leaving the commis- sion only to decide on the general policies.

The fact that the city manager form of government is non-political makes it possible for the employ- ment of men as city managers who are experienced in that special line of work. Men who have prepared themselves and have had experience with municipal affairs prevent the city commission from making costly errors and thereby save the city a great deal of money.

The city manager listens to the many requests from all citizens who obtain their share of public service without favoritism, which is one of the many facts that con- vince the public of the benefits of the city manager form of govern- ment.

The city manager in Big Spring has complete charge of the police, fire, health, sewer, engineering, mechanical, water, and city parks de- partments. All department heads are appointed by the city manager with the approval of the city commission, and the department heads in turn with the approval of the city manager, appoint all employees under them. The city manager may discharge or reappoint heads of departments consulting the commission, which is as it should be, since the city manager is responsible to the commission for the efficiency of each department.

City managers who have been ex- periened in engineering make pos- sible valuable service to the city in that they are capable of approp- riating plans for construction of pay- ment sewer and other large projects, thereby, saving the city a great deal of money.

The city manager prepares the constructive program, showing the needed improvements for the future affairs of the city, and submit it for the commission's approval. The fact that the city manager is prepared and experienced in these things re- lieves the commission of a great deal of work in the preparation of the city's future programs.

The city manager of Big Spring prepares, yearly, a budget, which is adopted by the city commission and each department is operated under this plan. The city manager keeps the city commission informed as to the financial condition of the city, which is one of the largest and most important problems of any city.

In general, the city manager form of government in Big Spring is operated strictly as a business concern and every effort is made by the city manager to spend the city's money economically and give the best service for the least money.

The city manager is purchasing agent, but does not handle any tax money, which is collected by the tax collector under the city manager's instructions. The city manager wel- comes inquiries from the citizens on any phase of the city's business, and especially the disbursement of the city's tax money.

We all know that the usual an- swer to any question about a com- munity needs is "more payrols."

"How many of us stop to think what industries we already have in Big Spring?" he asked. "It ap- pears to me this is a year when we ought to take stock of what we already have more than seeking for new industries. We are always anxious to get new ones and in most cases as soon as we have acquired them we start out for more and let the ones we have starve for lack of local patronage," he continued.

Big Spring already has 25 in- dustries, said the speaker.

"We are more substantially situ- ated already than most towns in this section of the country," said Mr. Spence. "We must do our part to prevent further shrinkage of payrols."

Mrs. Clarence Mann and children returned Thursday evening from a visit to Ponca City, Okla.

Texas Teel Owns 300 Head of Stock

LUBBOCK, Texas, Aug. 13 (UP)—Livestock belonging to the school of agriculture of Texas Technological college now numbers in excess of 300 head. W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry, said.

There were 20 horses, 87 hogs, 67 dairy cattle, 13 beef cattle and 83 sheep as of July, with expected increases likely to add materially to the number by the first of September.

The animals are used for laboratory purposes, students taking the several courses in animal husbandry gathering their practical knowledge of livestock through a study of the herds. In addition to this work, the dairy herd is used by students in the dairy manufacturers' department for laboratory work and also for meeting extra expenses of the class work not covered by other funds.

Besides the college herd, some eight students in the college own animals and milk from these animals is sold and the money goes to pay expenses of the owners through school. An average of two animals per student is included in the extra herd.

Miner Invented The Alphabet, Says Bedouin

The alphabet is of Semitic origin, not Phoenician, and its inventor was possibly a mine foreman who wished to keep records of operations.

In this manner does Professor Martin Sprengling of the University of Chicago suggest a solution to one of the riddles which has puzzled modern archaeologists. His theories have just been published in a monograph of the University's Oriental Institute. According to Professor Sprengling's deductions, some Bedouin managing a mine for the Egyptians, devised the rudimentary alphabet in the half century between 1800 and 1800 B. C. In order to keep his records, the professor states in his monograph, the Bedouin took the complex hieroglyphic inscriptions of the Egyptians and evolved a simple system of 21 symbols, discarding entirely the picture element of the Egyptian language.

Professor Sprengling succeeded in translating inscriptions found in 104 by Sir Flinders Petrie in Sinai, which lies between Egypt and the northern part of Arabia, at the head of the Red Sea. It was at this point, supposedly, that Moses received the law from God. In the mountainous region to the south the Egyptians conducted mining operations for copper, turquoise and other minerals and stones. At that time the Egyptian empire was flourishing, and the industrial boom at Sinai attracted numerous Bedouins as laborers. There are fourteen known examples of the inscription and scholars have disagreed violently on their interpretation. Some have attempted to read into the markings references to Moses and his hostility to Egypt.

Professor Sprengling's translations are simpler than any other and they check with the known historical facts. He has shown that most of the inscriptions are in the nature of dedications to Baal, the feminine form of the god Baal. Most of the inscriptions, according to the professor, give thanks or petition for favors. The inscription which presented the greatest difficulty to archaeologists was one found in a mine. According to Professor Sprengling's translation, it reads: "I am the badger (miner)

Sahmliat, foreman of mineshaft No. 4." After he had made this translation, Professor Sprengling found a full account of the mining operations of the Egyptians, which pointed out that at this period mine foremen were honored and treated with royal courtesy, and that the mineshafts were named after them.

The translation of the dedicatory tablet, Professor Sprengling contends, is proof of this practice from Semitic sources and enables dating of the origin of the alphabet.
