

Home Town Talk

By Betty

By morning we ought to know how much oil the railroad commission will allow the East Texas field to produce. The governor very likely will substitute the prorator order for the original martial law proclamation.

The existing prorator order, issued before the law authorizing it was declared unconstitutional, in some respects, by a federal court, was not obeyed by the operators. There is no reason to believe the new one will be.

Under such circumstances many who do not feel the governor is not authorized to keep soldiers in the field and we believe it was a mistake to declare martial law, may alter their opinions. Martial law to enforce the law is all right. Especially when welfare of an industry and tens of thousands of people depend upon its enforcement.

Penrose Metcalfe, our state representative, said in San Angelo yesterday he expected the governor to call another special session. He expressed doubt the Long cotton plan could be made to stand up.

While the producing end of the business suffers, it is not anything but a laborious pastime. Big Spring can be glad of one thing—the Coston refinery continues operating full blast.

More oil is being run to the refinery now than at any time in many months. Part of the Richardson plant is being operated too, and with a bolstered gasoline market, Big Spring can congratulate itself on the company, and also consider his oil fortunate, that the situation is continuing so briskly.

Fact is, the Coston payroll fund now is the best industrial asset any city in West Texas has.

We urge all those who can by any means afford employment to worthy men to call No. 598, or to 200 Bell street, where the local committee for unemployed men, has headquarters.

The men need jobs. Help them get them. Mr. Campbell, chairman of the committee, set ex-soldiers on Uncle Sam's bonus which he has drawn, is devoting all his time to this work. He is to be commended. Thus far the committee has operated effectively, insofar as gathering information about those who need jobs and about the jobs themselves, is concerned.

Funeral Held In Stanton For Mrs. B.G. Lewis

Heart Attack Fatal To Mother Of Well-Known Martin Family

Lewis, who was found dead in her bed at the family home two miles south of Stanton at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, was to be buried in Stanton cemetery this afternoon following funeral services from the home with the Methodist and Baptist ministers of Stanton officiating. Death was caused by a heart attack.

The Charles Eberly funeral home had charge of arrangements. Mrs. Charles Morris had charge of song services.

Mrs. Lewis, born March 9, 1872, had resided at Stanton some years. Besides her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. T. Rogers, Big Spring; two sons, George and John B. of Stanton; and a nephew, Jim Tunney of Coahoma.

Palbearers were C. M. Houston, W. Y. Houston, John Lee, Jim Tom, L. M. Estes and H. A. Cline.

Big Spring Wins In Tennis Meet

Jury Of View Fixes Damages For Opening Road To Stock Pens

Big Spring beat Midland nine matches to none in the last interschool tennis matches of the year yesterday on the high school courts.

George Dabney volleyed and smashed his way to three singles victories and with Milton Barnett, one doubles match. He defeated Theo Ferguson, ranking Midland player, 6-2, 6-0, the worst defeat Ferguson has suffered this year. Stubbeman was next, lusted back 6-2, 6-1. The third Midland player to fall under his powerful game was Godbey, 6-0, 6-3. Barnett and Dabney beat Stubbeman and Godbey 6-3, 4-4. Dabney played all his matches with terrific speed and to no one was able to head him.

Joe Davis, crowned city champion last week, found the going a little harder although he lost no matches. He appeared to be a little stale, and was somewhat affected by the high winds. He beat Godbey 6-4, 6-2 and Ferguson 9-7 in a one set match.

Howard Smith beat his old teammate Theo Ferguson in a good match 5-3, 6-3.

In the first match of the day Milton Barnett won over Oliver McCrary 6-2, 6-3.

In the hardest fought match of the day H. B. Dunagan won a three set match against Frank Stubbeman, number one Midland man. The score was 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. Dunagan had little trouble the first set, let down too much in the second set, and was pressed to win the third set.

George Dabney's playing was the sensation of the day. He just could not be stopped, his shots bringing the lines. His volleys were crisp, many of them cutting off fast drives. If he had played as well last week, he would have carried off the city title.

Bill McCarty and Curtis Bishop, two Big Spring players who are usually counted as winners in interschool matches, did not play. Sunday McCarty was out of town, and Bishop was indisposed.

Community Melon Feast Is Given

DELEON, Aug. 31. (INS)—DeLeon met its agricultural overproduction problem in a way perfectly satisfactory to the farmers, as well as the townpeople.

The town's merchants bought 700 watermelons from their former customers for cash, then sliced the melons on the sidewalks and served them to several thousand persons free.

Mayor F. T. Daniel was master of ceremonies for the feast and a band played while the crowd enthusiastically helped diminish the market's overabundance of the luscious fruit.

Court Order Again Delays Settles Sale

Temporary Restraining Order Issued By Dallas Court Monday

For a second time within six weeks proposed public sale of Howard county properties of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Settles, under a levy of execution of judgment awarded the Milano Furniture company, was delayed Monday morning by issuance of a temporary injunction.

The restraining order was granted by Judge Royall Watkins of fourteenth district court, Dallas, on petition of Mr. and Mrs. Settles. The allegations on which the plea was based, according to attorneys were practically identical with those used to petition for injunction filed here late in August, which was followed by a temporary order that delayed the sale from the originally posted date, August 24.

The sale had been advertised following issuance of a judgment for $75,000 to the Milano Furniture company. The debt was incurred in the equipping of the Settles hotel here. All Howard county properties of Mr. and Mrs. Settles were listed in the order of sale.

The petition filed Monday in Dallas was submitted through Clyde E. Thomas and Marie McDonald, and Wilburn Harcus, who went to Dallas in connection with the matter.

Final hearing on the plea for permanent injunction is scheduled for the next regular term of the court, opening the first week in October.

Heavy Yields, Lower Prices Trend In July

Federal Reserve Bank Statement Describes Trade As "Sluggish"

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 31. (AP)—The monthly business review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, issued today, noted a substantial increase in indicated production of the chief agricultural commodities in the Eleventh Federal Reserve District during the month, coupled with a sharp decline in the price of cotton, the major crop in the district. Large supplies of food and feed, the review suggested, would enable farmers to go through another crop season with a minimum of assistance.

The price of cotton at the middle of August, was more than three cents lower than its high point in July. The low price, the review said, "will materially reduce the returns from this year's cotton crop and, consequently, the farmers' debt-paying and purchasing power."

Demand for both retail and wholesale merchandise remained sluggish in July and the early part of August. "While some lines of wholesale trade evidenced a seasonal gain in sales, all reporting units showed a considerably smaller volume of distribution than in the corresponding month last year. Consumer demand is at a low ebb and retailers are purchasing sparingly and for current requirements only."

The review said that both the number and the aggregate liability of commercial failures were smaller in July than in the preceding month but were larger than those of a year ago.

"There was a seasonal expansion," the report stated, "in the demand for Federal Reserve Bank funds, the loans to member banks having risen from $10,500,000 on July 15 to $13,350,000 on August 15. The latter figure was $754,000 less than on that date in 1930. This compares with a demand of $11,874,000 in June, and $6,326,000 below July last year. The loans and investments of reserve city banks declined sharply between July 8 and August 12 and on the latter date reached the lowest level in several years."

The report further noted that the valuation of building permits granted in the principal cities of the district declined eight per cent from the previous month's figure and was 39 per cent smaller than in July, 1930. Production and shipments of cement was greater than a year ago.

The customary July increase in wholesale business was absent in some lines. There were perceptible gains in groceries and drugs, but decreases in dry goods, farm implements and hardware. "Retail inventories," the review remarked, "are being kept at a low level; consequently, small orders are being placed in fill in spot orders, but the volume of commitments for fall delivery is very small."

Ancient Rail Bolts Shown By Brakeman

"Then and now" might well be the title of the exhibition Frank Champ, T&P brakeman, left on display at the Herald office Monday. The exhibition includes two forty-one 5-8 of an inch in diameter and less than 4 inches long, the other 1 inch in diameter and over six inches long.

The former was used more than twenty years ago to bolt 36 pound rails together that were laid on light ties with a sand pile as a bed. The latter is being used by the T&P to tie the new 110 pound rails together that are being laid on heavy 11 foot ties with rock ballast as a bed.

The vast improvement recorded in the rails used are but one of many being effected by the T&P here, Champ said.

PRORATION DECREE DUE LATE TODAY

AUSTIN, Aug. 31. (AP)—The railroad commission deliberated today on the new East Texas prorator order, which was expected to be announced late today, effective tomorrow.

Governor Sterling was expected to confer as soon as the order is issued on methods of enforcing it.

It was believed he would substitute the order for the original martial law proclamation, leaving the troops in the area to enforce the law, and prevent court action.

Allowable production of approximately 250,000 barrels daily was expected to be ordered.

Men Kept In Jail Over Night; Husband Abandonment Complaint

Two men, highly insulted because they had spent the night in the best suite the county jail had to offer, Monday were of one voice in declaring that they were the victims of circumstance.

They had been picked up by a policeman on a complaint made by an unnamed man who was positive that the two had been firing with his wife. Anyhow they would not let him pass in his car, he said. "Aw, I don't even know what the woman looks like. I didn't even know they existed until they had us taken in. We're just victims of circumstance, that's all," said one of the two. And shaking his head, he added: "What a mess, and my wife is to see me tomorrow."

But the gentleman who was so positive that his spouse had been unrighteously discriminated against, had a sufficient amount of his conviction to appear and prefer charges Monday morning. Consequently the two men were released.

News Depression Felt By Will Rogers Knock The B Out Of Broadway And Americanize The Stage

Progress Made In Drive To Obtain Work For Jobless

The third meeting of the unemployed of Big Spring was held Friday night at Dad's tourist park. The meeting was attended by 150 members of the organization and several city officials.

Saturday E. T. Campbell, chairman of the organization, appeared before the meeting of the farmers in an effort to gain their support. He hoped to get the bulk of the labor that will be needed to pick cotton this year. A plan is now being worked out which will be able to make a good wage despite the current low price of cotton.

Every man within the organization will be issued a card stating that he is a member of good standing. At the time of issuing these cards, all information, including the number of people depending upon the number of people that are to work will be kept. These cards will be a record and open for inspection at any time.

Several merchants have been donating unsalable groceries to this cause and these have been distributed among the ranks of the organization. Every needy man is being fed through the cooperation of these merchants last Saturday. These people were all members of the organization and willing to go to work at any time they were called.

The temporary headquarters was established at 500 West Street. Any one desiring information or a card of membership or a card of good standing may call on the headquarters for a day, or an hour, or go to calling 500 West Street, or to the headquarters of the organization, which will be in duty there all week long.

The organization has the support of the local business. Some thirty men are employed through the organization. Mr. Mary, representative of the Chamber of Commerce, has expressed his desire through the city manager, to cooperate with the organization.

The total membership has now reached 100 and is growing. The committee wants to announce that any farmer having work to do, can get the services of these men by paying for it in produce, or any form of cash.

With the support of the city of Big Spring will become in two weeks a city of all-employed men.

Lots of work will be gained through the business heads, that will agree to give all over time, work to this cause.

A Mexican representative was present at the last meeting for the purpose of obtaining a conference of putting the Mexican citizens to work when the white members had been employed. The members gave a unanimous vote of confidence, and stated that they would gladly supply them with work when their men had been accounted for. There is no enmity between the two.

The next meeting will be next Monday and will be held at the Broadway Camp, in Jones Valley.

Everybody has just got to huddle down and say, "Here, there is no news, but we are going to stick to the ship and keep reading and be satisfied with what little there is that happens." That's the only spirit that will bring back the news. We just had an Orgy of news, and now when its not coming why we are yelling. Those times never will come back. We got to just reconcile ourselves to that, so huddle down and be satisfied with less. It may be years before there is

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON — They tried hard to make a "mystery man" of that affable and philosophical gentleman of a wolf, politics is about his only form of recreation.

He dabbles in politics because he loves it. He gets a tremendous kick out of conferring with politicians, maintaining intimate contact with the President, and discharging this and that task.

Republicans from all sections of the country know him, call him "Jim," talk intimately with him about party affairs.

He works quietly, and unless you should be on the lookout for him, probably you would be unaware of his presence.

The nearest thing to an official title he has is general counsel of the republican national committee. He has been that for several years. He divides his time between Washington and Pittsburgh, attempts to keep his regular hours at either place.

NO REWARD SEEKER
 Emphatically independent, his friends here say that he has no reward, that he told Mr Hoover at the outset there was no post at home or abroad that he sought, or would accept.

Ten years in the house from 1903 to 1913, during which time he took much work of worked with a variety of legislative legislation of today, he says, Burke's laundry list is long. He is a member of the House of Representatives, and his name is on the roll of the House of Representatives. He is a member of the House of Representatives, and his name is on the roll of the House of Representatives.

HOW'S your HEALTH

SOAP THE GERM KILLER

The germ-killing properties of soap have been generally appreciated but indefinitely known for many years.

A surgeon preparing for an operation scrubs his hands with soap and water for a determined number of minutes.

Apart from the difficulties involved in keeping his hands in any strong corrosive solution for any length of time, there is in scrubbing one's hands the added virtue of "getting in below the surface."

Dr. John E. Walker has in recent years made a series of detailed studies of the germ-killing qualities of soaps. His findings are that ordinary commercial soap, like "In their germ-killing powers," destroys many common organisms including those which give rise to respiratory infections.

The ordinary thick lather of soap and water used in washing the hands is a mixture of approximately 17 parts of soap to 12 parts of water.

The germ-killing power of soap was found effective in weak solutions.

Dr. Scherubke emerged with high praise for a single game, with 224 pins, while Gus Hepler finished the game with 191 pins, having scored 100 pins.

Dr. Scherubke's score of 224 pins is a record for a single game, with 224 pins, while Gus Hepler finished the game with 191 pins, having scored 100 pins.

WASHING OF THE HANDS

Thorough washing of the hands with soap will, according to Dr. Walker, kill certain of the pus-forming germs, the germs of pneumonia, meningitis, of diphtheria and of influenza.

The germs of the two common venereal diseases, syphilis and gonorrhoea, are also destroyed by soap and water.

The germs of typhoid, the staphylococci, and the tubercle bacilli are more resistant.

Though soap suds were not tried against all the known germs, in their various forms, the experiments substantially demonstrate what is termed the germicidal, or germ-killing powers of soap.

To use in the first aid treatment of wounds and in the prevention of the spread of infection is well warranted.

BOY TRIES FIRE EATING, COPYING MAGICIAN HANNIS, MARK, (INS) Little Harold Savary, nine years old, went to the carnival one day and saw there a man seriously occupied in the art of eating fire. Harold thought it was well done but that it wasn't so difficult.

Arriving home the boy gathered around him a nice bunch of friends and a bit of kerosene - a bit of combustion it, any man's language and went gaily to work to perform some fire eating. He filled his mouth with kerosene and held a lighted match some distance from his mouth, and just as he thought to blow out great puffs of flame came the illusion that he was eating fire. When he had conferred upon himself the degree of many a student he started off in search of an audience to display his skill.

The audience found Harold proceeded with his act. But something went amiss, and instead of the flames emanating from his mouth they crept his head, igniting his hair and burning his face. The audience turned fire-fighters and put out the flames. A blistered nose and singed hair will probably keep little Harold away from his chosen profession as fire eater for some time.

Owner Of Pheasant Farm Near Here Offers To Set Free As Many Birds As Sportsmen Will Buy From Anyone

Challenge to the sportsmen of Howard county to introduce the pheasant as a game bird in this section was given a life-like appeal by the display of birds featured in the window of the Big Spring Hardware Company Saturday. The display will be continued through the week.

Twelve pheasants, mostly young stock, were confined to the improvised cage in the show window pecking nonchalantly at grain sprinkled about. The birds, of the Lady Amhurst and Chinese variety, resemble in many ways young quail and so well his pace filled by Young Jim Collins that the critics were beginning to count him out.

But their predictions were premature. Since returning to the line-up, Bottomley has been hitting with all his former skill and power, and his big stick played a prominent part in the Cardinals' last triumph over the East. His comeback campaign, through Thursday's games, had carried him up to fourth place among the National League regulars, with a mark of .338 in 80 games.

Virgil Davis, big backstop of the Philadelphia nine, clung to the leadership through another week with an average of .350, followed by Bill Terry of the Giants, with .344, and Chuck Klein of the Phillies, with .341. Then comes Bottomley, with .338. Cuyler, Chicago, .337; Hornsby, Chicago, .334; Grimm, Chicago, .331; Hafey, St. Louis, .327; Shipp, Cincinnati, .326, and Cuccinelli, Cincinnati, .324, to complete the first ten.

While he has lost the batting leadership, Klein still leads the field in runs scored, with 109, compared to 98 for Terry. He has hit the most home runs, 31, and knocked in the most runs, 109. Mel Ott, steezy Giant outfielder, is the Philly star's only real rival in the home run race, with 26, and also stands second in runs knocked in, with 91.

Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler of Chicago, had propelled the most hits thru Thursday's contests, 172, closely pursued by Klein with 172 and Terry with 171. Spitzky Adams, Cardinals' lead-off man, led the field in doubles, with 38. Hornsby of Chicago, Herman of Brooklyn and Bartell of the Phillies each had 37 to his credit.

Bill Terry, with 15 triples, had hit one more than either Herman of the Bruins or Traynor of Pittsburgh, Frankie Frisch of St. Louis, with 20 stolen bases, practically assured high honors for the season. His closest rival was Pepper Martin, a teammate, who had pilfered 13.

Joe Haines, St. Louis veteran, boasted the highest average among the league's regular pitchers, with 11 victories and three defeats. His rookie teammate, Paul Derringer, was tied with Bill Walker, New York southpaw, for second place, each with 11 wins and six defeats.

Ed Brandt of the Cardinals and Ed Brandt of Boston topped the list in total triumph, each with 16.

SPENDS FORTUNE FOR HIS OWN FUNERAL Hazelton, Pa. (INS) Embittered following his divorce, Philip Margio, 61-year-old junior here, decided to expend all his savings on a big funeral.

He bought a $15,000 bronze casket which he kept in storage two years pending his death and erected a $2800 mausoleum in a local cemetery.

On Margio's death, it was disclosed he had made a contract with a local undertaker specifying all details of his interment.

A band of 30 pieces followed the hearse to the church and thence to the cemetery. The friends of Margio, named as pallbearers in the contract, were given $5 each for their services.

Steer Squad Coming Home From Readers

The Steers are coming home today. After a week and a half on the banks of the Concho river near Carlsbad where they held two strenuous workouts daily, Bristol is returning his charges to familiar surroundings. The first practice on local grounds will be held here Tuesday afternoon.

Numbers of gridlers returned from the football camp Sunday and the remainder of the huskies will arrive sometime this afternoon, according to reports. It has not yet been definitely decided just where the Steers will hold their practices once they are back in their city. It is not likely that they will use their newly added field to the birds and instigator of a move to introduce the fowls in this county, said that the pheasants were almost identical to a young bronze turkey just after hatching.

Winn declared that the pheasant is an excellent game bird and the taste of its meat is much the same as that of the much sought after blue quail. The pheasant runs in coveys during the spring and summer, but when the fall comes, scatters. The birds do not mate in pairs as do others.

With a three-year ban on shooting of quail, dove and pheasant in Howard and Borden counties, Winn is interested in getting the bird established in large quantities. If the move to introduce the pheasant is successful, there will be some time for some time, then, Winn declared.

He is making the pheasant with the pheasant, the Silver Golden, and the Iowa pheasant. According to Winn, the Chinese Ringneck is the best game bird as well as the most prolific. The other species are more of an ornamental bird, he declared. Of several hens of the Ringneck variety they have averaged 94 eggs for this season and are still laying. All these eggs have been hatched or sold. The other kinds have not averaged 20 eggs, he said.

The pheasant is an insect eating bird during the growing season. One bird killed had its craw examined by Winn to determine being a good game bird, he said. Winn had fed it around the house.

Winn is making sportsmen an offer. He made them a most liberal offer last year but received little support when he offered to raise them in any quantity if sportsmen would buy feed and fencing. Now he is offering to turn loose as many pheasants as sportsmen will buy. It is not necessary to buy them from Winn, he said. In fact, he offers to furnish a list of one hundred and fifty names of people and concerns selling the birds. He will turn loose a number equal to that bought by local sportsmen.

Standard price for the bird over the United States is seven dollars a pair, but Winn offers to sell to local sportsmen for six dollars per pair. He has received an order from Leames asking for three dozen of the birds but has refused to sell them until he gives local hunters a chance to support him in the move to introduce the pheasant here.

Winn turned 30 pheasants loose in the county last year at various places. This year he plans to free nearly a hundred J. F. Biller, who has been aiding Winn in the pheasant fight, also plans to release several pairs of birds. Winn said the Big Spring Hardware Company had donated large amounts of fencing and other equipment to the upkeep of the pheasant venture on his place. He asked that any one interested in starting the pheasant in this section write him, addressing the letter to Route 1, as three or four pounds, he declared. Experiments have revealed that the only Lady Amhurst hen in the birds do well in an incubator, captivity anywhere in the world. Winn can also furnish to set and hatch her eggs on disinformation on that angle of the play in the window. At least she pheasant prove, he said. Birds is the only hen of her kind thatatched by the hen incubator, they have records of revealing the thrice well and weigh as much the rare feat.

the chairman of the Coal Mines Managers' Association of Great Britain, the chief mechanic of the world which is located in Wales; D. Rya Ford, noted composer. For three consecutive years Mr. Davies won the highest scholarship in his classes.

Before the World War, Mr. and Mrs. Davies went to Wales about every three summers and renewed their friendships. More than anything else Mr. Davies enjoyed the Elstodified, the fine arts contests, and especially the choral singing which attract crowds there as football games attract Americans. These musical contests developed the great musical leaders which have come out of south Wales.

Dr. Davies is a cousin of David Lloyd George, the ex premier of Great Britain, but when he was last in Wales, he got no nearer to him. It so happens that the house of a relative at which the great man had recently spent the day. Mrs. Davies is a sister of the late David Bontroni, vice-president of the labor party, who passed away this April.

Several letters have passed between Mr. Davies and James Davis, U. S. secretary of labor, who is also a Welshman from the South of Wales, although he has dropped the name. They write each other in Welsh with a lot of kidding about the Welsh language.

First Baptist T.E.L.'s To Have Basket Picnic

The T. E. L. Sunday School Class of the First Baptist church will have its September social tomorrow evening instead of next Tuesday. The social will be in the form of an old fashioned basket picnic at the City Park at 6 o'clock. Supper will not be served until 7 so that the men will have time to get out.

Camp Sidelights

Faces brightened Thursday night as a crew of Big Spring people arrived in camp with a load of food, meaning a change of diet. One hundred pounds of lard, ten gallons of ice cream, coffee, corn, tomatoes, bacon, and other substantial foodstuffs will serve to emancipate the gridsters from a rigidly enforced "bean" diet.

Forty-four men can eat more than the average person thinks, especially after undergoing two stiff workouts a day. The cook for the Steer camp found this out after two days of howling from the hungry players. Burners have it and they are thoroughly substantiated that Coach Obie Bristow want for two days without any amount of food to speak of, so that his boys might get plenty. Food was there, but the cook just couldn't guess the right amount.

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. IN— GIRLS MAY SMOKE AT COLLEGE, IF AT HOME

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (INS)— Girls students will be permitted to smoke at Salem College, a Moravian school here, if they are accustomed to smoking at home with parental consent.

This was revealed in a statement issued by the board of trustees. The statement promised the students a "square deal" if they bring the matter into the open with their parents.

When the school, one of the oldest colleges for women in the south, opens next month a time and place for "smoking" will be provided for the students.

Future Citizens

This is little Miss Leola Lanell Bugge, whose initials are just the same as her father's, and her mother. If it weren't a hard job to figure out two original names commencing with the letter L.

This picture hardly does her justice for she is two years old now, but it will serve to go in her memory book. She is becoming the best little mother's and father's helper you ever saw and what's more she likes helping.

PAID BARBER IN WHEAT

PAID BARBER IN WHEAT. LITTLE SANDUSKY, O.— (INS)— A local memorial artist is working end of the horn in a trade. A patron, who happened to be a farmer, remarked that he guessed he would have to trade his wheat for a haircut and shave. In fact, the farmer said, he would probably have to give a bushel of wheat and three cents for a haircut and a

Dear Peggy

I'm almost too excited to write, and there's so much to see, both inside the plane and out. We've left Washington behind now, and I've just had a Chesterfield in the smoking compartment—they serve them on every ship.

"Among the eighteen passengers there's a senator and a foreign diplomat and I'm surprised at the number of women. The trip is two hundred miles and the meter in the cabin reads two miles a minute, think of that.

"For me, the Chesterfields were the nicest touch of all. I was just dying for a smoke, and when the hostess passed them (and my favorite cigarette at that) everyone else seemed as tickled as I was. And my—they did taste good!"

Chesterfields are served in the smoking compartments of all these planes—the largest and most luxurious in the East. With the fast growth of air travel, Chesterfield makes many new friends each day, here as in city streets and country homes—wherever good taste counts.

emanating from the bank. Conchs to the effect that the "rightest" bunch seen in many seasons. In many years has that old tradition of this city blossomed in proportions of old. Back in the days before this town knew what good football was, the Steers made themselves one of the most feared, high school teams of this section because they fought so hard. Now with that spirit returning and Bristow at the helm, teaching the youngsters a thousand new angles to the game, fans have a reason for believing the Steers may go some place.

Third and fourth stringers are not discouraged because they will not get to play every minute, or because they will probably be consistent bench warmers. Bristow has already indicated that he will let them play in every game that has a half-way loose score. He wants them to get experience. He is looking out for next year's interests as well as this year's.

Players are getting not drills that Bristow thinks are too severe. If there is one complaint to Bristow that the assignment is too tough, then Bristow offers to do the same thing minus any cuts or protection. As yet, however, none of the plucky bunch has whimpered over an assignment, and the right on carrying out Bristow's instructions without a murmur.

Contrary to current opinion the Steer gridsters do not spend much time swimming. They usually bathe following a workout. That's all. As a general rule they are too tired to do anything else.
