

Beef Cattle Feeders To Gather Here Friday

HOME TOWN TALK

By BEDDY

A tall, bespectacled man walked into the city secretary's office yesterday morning as your humble servant happened to be hanging around.

He was the representative of the firm that annually makes the complete audit of the city's books and accounts.

He pulled out the completed audit. City Manager Smith came in to ask the city secretary for some papers. "We're going to try to build a city hall and don't plan to raise the tax rate," said the city manager to the auditor.

"All of which this report shows you can do," the auditor replied forthwith.

The conversation ended there and the auditor went ahead with his conference with City Secretary Stewart.

But the auditor's response to the impromptu remark of the city manager struck us as lending additional weight to the figures submitted to the board of city development and the citizenship by the city manager, showing why and how the proposed city hall bond issue can be voted and issued without raising the tax rate or valuations.

As mentioned a few days ago in this column many of us need to acquaint ourselves more fully with workings of our city government.

Following publication of the statement that this bond issue could be floated without raising the tax rate or valuations a lot of people scratched their heads and asked "how in thunder can you build a city hall without any money?"

Which, of course, was clear off the track.

No, Sir, You can't build a city hall for nothing—it will take exactly $200,000.

But, fortunately, the city is in a position to issue bonds to that amount without increasing the present city tax rate or increasing property valuations for tax purposes.

Midland is following the practice that the city of Big Spring proposes following if the city hall bonds are voted. Native rock from a stone quarry 15 miles east of Midland is being used as chat for the new street paving program there. Local officials propose building a reinforced concrete structure and using rock from nearby quarries hauled by local labor and used in the construction by local labor.

Midland's policy in choosing "local labor" is to require that all who receive jobs must have been a resident of the county since January 1.

Mrs. Joyce Fisher, president of the City Federation, informs us our statement yesterday, that the Federation planned "abandoning the clubhouse on the courthouse block, as well as the library there is inaccurate.

She tells us the federation has plans for forming a County Federation and enlarging the library, and that there are no definite plans for disposing of the clubhouse. If it were disposed of in indebtedness against, of course, would be cared for.

Let us hope a much larger library may be formed here. It is nothing short of pitiful that we have no facilities for a library of this size and usefulness that a city of this size merits.

Far be it from us to belittle the valiant efforts of the Federation. It has led the way in initiative and labor in many instances and has already pioneered the library. And right here we pledge any cooperation or assistance we may perchance be in a position to offer in enlarging and strengthening the library.

Baby Hurt Fatally, Mother and Children Injured In Crash

DALLAS, May 7 (AP)—Harold Dean Foltz, five months old, died in a hospital here today, and his mother, Mrs. Harry Foltz, and three other children, Doris, Anna and Doland, were in a serious condition as a result of an automobile collision on the Fort Worth-Dallas pike.

All lived at Berger.

Harry Foltz, Mrs. Foltz's husband, who was riding in another machine, was uninjured.

CORRECTION

Maurice Allen, arrested Tuesday by members of the sheriff's department and federal officers, and held by federal officers, was not connected with the Dew Drop Inn, the manager, E. E. Crow, said today. Allen had a cabin at the camp, Crow said.

Girl In Feeder Club Ranks

Nellie Mae Robinson of the Robinson chapel community east of here is the only girl who will exhibit a baby beef Friday at the Feeders Day rally at the government experiment farm. She is shown here with "Wilka," ten months old Hereford calf, which will be among those judged and sold at auction Friday.

Four months ago Nellie Mae Robinson bought from the Wilkin county ranch in western Howard county this Hereford calf. She named him "Wilka," a nickname for the animal's native ranch.

"Wilka" weighed 410 pounds at six months and was purchased for $30. He now weighs about 800 pounds.

This 100 per cent increase in weight of the baby beef was brought about by feeding home grown feeds, including 153 1/2 pounds of ground milo, 130 1/2 pounds of ground hays, 312 1/4 pounds of cotton seed meal—which cost a total of $29.93.

Miss Robinson will have this calf on exhibition tomorrow at the government farm when all 4-H Club feeders will show their fat calves, which will be judged and auctioned.

I.C.C. Examiner Unable to Say When T.P.N. Recommendation Will Be Given to Commission

(Special To The Herald)

WASHINGTON, May 7—Examiner John H. Davis, of the interstate commerce commission, who presided at the hearing at Lubbock on the application of the Texas Pacific Northern on proposed railway construction from Big Spring to Vega, was unable to predict today just when his report on the case will be ready to present to the commission, although briefs filed in the application have all been in the hands of the federal body since April 1.

In view of the volume of testimony presented by several score witnesses, and the size of the briefs subsequently submitted the examiner feels that additional time is required to study the situation. It is not expected, therefore, that any definite action can be taken before midsummer.

For some time after the report is placed in the hands of the commission, intervenors will be permitted to file exceptions to cases they are dissatisfied with the report, and after these are all received an oral argument on the application will be held in Washington.

Kiddies Of Ackerly Rhythm Band

Under direction of Mrs. B. B. Stanfield this group of primary pupils of Ackerly school has attracted much attention in public gatherings of Howard and Dawson counties. The leader, shown facing the other members, is little Miss Jackie Wata. She is also a soloist, at the age of six years. Other members, from left to right, are Laverne Cooksey, Toney Raspberry, Quannah Colem, Catherine Reese, Marie Green, T. L. Butte, Dean Coleman, Wanda Hinson, Elva Ruffe, Gracie Ham, R. A. Coltrine, Hattie Crain and Raymond Green, who also plays a ukulele and sings. All these youngsters are six years of age except five, who are seven and eight. They recently played in Lamesa and have been invited to Big Spring.

Field Day At U.S. Farm Will Attract Many

Annual field day will be observed Friday at the United States government experiment farm, one mile north of Big Spring, with a huge display of Hereford calves which have been fed by 4-H Club boys and officials of the farm during the winter months.

The day's program will open at 9:30 a. m. and will close in the afternoon with a meat cutting demonstration by Roy W. Bigger, extension local specialist of A. S. M. College. Local butchers have been issued an invitation to attend this part of the program in particular.

The day will be featured by auction of 20 Hereford calves which have been fed by nine members of the Feeder Calf Club, composed of eight boys and one girl. The calves will be on display at the farm prior to the auction. All of the calves, it is expected, will be sold locally and record prices are expected.

Thirty Hereford yearlings, which have been fed in three lots by the government farm officials, will not be sold at auction, but will be shipped to Fort Worth markets. It was announced today by Fred Keating, manager of the farm.

The afternoon's program, which will follow a luncheon, will be featured by talks by J. N. Jones, head of the animal husbandry department of Texas A. S. M. College, and Ollie Webb, assistant to the president of the Texas & Pacific Railway. There will be other "short talks."

Mr. Jones will go into detail regarding the results of the feeding program, which has been strictly observed by employees of the farm this year.

During the morning M. T. Payne, state boys club agent, will speak on the part played by club boys in the breeder-feeder movement.

A. L. Smith, extension beef cattle specialist of A. S. M. College, will judge the calves which have been fed by the club members. Short talks will be made by I. H. Couble, prominent Hereford breeder of Howard county, and John Simpson, assistant Texas and Pacific railway agricultural agent.

Boy To Speak

Hubert Hayworth of Coahoma, club member, will open the day's program with a talk on the purpose of the Feeder Calf Club and show. Each of the club members will make reports of their feeding operations.

"The auction of the club members' calves will be held at 10:30 o'clock in the morning.

A large crowd of Howard County farmers and Big Spring business men are expected to visit the farm during the day.

The government farm cattle and show by the club boys will be on exhibit at all hours during the day.

Among prominent men who will be here for the field day are E. W. Barnes of the Federal Farm Board, Fort Worth, and Ray Weeman, cattlebuyer for Swift & Co.

Mr. Barnes will grade the superior farm animals and place a valuation on them.

RELATION OF CREDIT TO GOOD CITIZENSHIP EUBANKS' TOPIC BEFORE CLASS AT HIGH SCHOOL

An obligation honestly consummated is proof of good citizenship, declared L. A. Eubanks, manager of the Retail Merchants Association and a prominent figure among credit men of the country, in an address Thursday before the Citizenship Class, taught at high school by Superintendent W. C. Blankenship.

It was one of a series of addresses by local business and professional men before this class.

Mr. Eubanks said:

All laws are based on the rights of the people. Citizenship is based on the complying with the laws of a country. Then if citizenship is based on the laws and laws are based on rights, then honor comes in. Honor means honesty. To be a good citizen you must be honest and here is where credit makes its appearance. We have two types of citizens, good and bad. The country is basically sound because the majority of the people are the good, upright, honorable law-abiding type and this class is the credit using and credit granting people. Honesty and integrity are the basic laws of civilization and the United States of America was founded by a civilized people that were honest with themselves and their fellow man. Then we find that an obligation, honestly consummated, is proof of good citizenship.

Founded On Credit

America was founded by credit. Columbus got a loan from a lady financier so that he could make the trip across the uncharted waters and discover this country. Credit has continued in America until this day. Without credit we are bankrupt. Our present financial condition is not caused by over-production or by machinery taking the place of labor but by the pinching of credit.

Mr. Eubanks said that the credit man is a man who is not a good citizen who will not pay a just obligation to a fellow citizen. Altho it is not a good citizen who lives on alms and who does not live on his own merits. It is not the citizen that our forefathers had anticipated when they struggled for supremacy over the hardships of an unknown land and worked out a Constitution built on fair dealings.

Nowhere in the constitution do we find any intimation of an alibi or subterfuge. So, if you would be a citizen of the highest type, be honest. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Bond Issue Kept Alive In Face of Adverse Ballot

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—The proposed amendment to the constitution for submission of a highway bond issue failed of the necessary two-thirds majority for passage in the house Wednesday by 12 votes. There were 54 ayes and 53 noes recorded.

Immediately before the vote was called Representative Beck of Fort Worth, of the leading advocates for the bond issue, changed his vote from aye to no and when the vote was announced, moved to reconsider and spread on the journal, keeping the resolution alive for further action.

Two members, Representatives Long of Wichita Falls and Spier of Bellevue, voted present. After the roll call, Beck and Long were committed to vote for the resolution, but Beck refused to attend the session and Long was forced to attend the session by Adj. Gen. William Sterling and Ranger Wheatley.

Long was accused of "hiding out" to keep from breaking the pair. He said he was at his residence and that Adj. Gen. Sterling and Wheatley almost broke this door down trying to gain entrance to his apartment. Long said Sterling declared he was acting under authority of a resolution passed by the House directing the arrest of members not attending the session. Long said Sterling stated he also had an opinion from the attorney general's office saying he had authority to compel Long to attend.

Long retired the apartment from T. H. McGregor of Austin, one of the chief opponents of the bond issue. The session grew stormy when Representative Patch offered a resolution directing the speaker to issue warrants for the arrest of absent members who were not in the house.

Flowers apparently hear a jinx for Lincoln Hirsch, Jr., 31-1/2 years old, a son of L. A. Hirsch, manager of the Montgomery Ward & Company store here.

The child is in Dallas suffering from a fractured leg and a minor concussion caused when he was struck by an automobile on the Fort Worth-Dallas pike Wednesday as he left the Hirsch car to gather blue bonnets for his daddy.

Lincoln had just recovered from fracture of the collar bone, received when he fell while gathering blue bonnets.

Mr. Hirsch, who with his family had spent several days in Fort Worth and Dallas on business and visiting relatives, returned here Wednesday. Mrs. Hirsch is with the injured child.

Lovelace and Price Open Auto Supply Co. On West Third Street

The Auto Supply & Repair Co., 215-18 W. 3rd street, is being opened for business by Eck Lovelace and Johnny Price, who have been connected with the automobile service business here for more than ten years.

Fred Eaker will be in charge of the mechanical department. A filling station and stocks of tires and accessories will be offered. Tube vulcanizing service also is included in the firm's operations.

Three Men Perish When Ship Rams Tub Boat

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Three men were believed to have perished today when an eastern steamship liner New Yorkgrammed and sank the tugboat Trimount in a heavy fog in Long Island Sound.

The missing were tugboat crewmen.

The steamer, carrying 300 passengers, including Floyd Gibbons, war correspondent, was not damaged.

Development of Potash Deposits State's Object

AUSTIN, May 7 (INS)—R. B. Gragg, state labor commissioner, announced today representatives of his department had been detailed to negotiate for immediate opening of potash fields adjacent to Odessa, in Ector, Midland and Crane counties.

This was the first step, he said, in his movement to develop every means of bringing more avenues of employment to Texas workers.

It is known, according to a statement from Gragg, that a large tract near Odessa containing well defined deposits of potash. Representatives of the labor department were dispatched to confer with holders of the leases, in an attempt to induce them to begin operations immediately. He pointed out that conditions of world trade indicate there is an ever-increasing demand for potash and all of its by-products and these products do not come in competition with other American products.

The labor commissioner said his efforts to utilize the undeveloped natural resources of the various sections of the state and to compile a list of industrial and manufacturing enterprises needed have elicited prompt and definite information. He is now undertaking the task of bringing these opportunities to the attention of investors, he said. The task he has set for himself, Gragg declared, has evoked widespread interest.

Students Get Message From Dying Prexy

Dr. S. P. Brooks Signing Diplomas for Baylor Graduates

WACO, Texas, May 7 (UP)—From his death-bed in the Baptist Sanitarium here Dr. S. P. Brooks, 67-year-old president of Baylor University today issued to the student body a "message from prexy."

Dr. Brooks, suffering with cancerous infection and given only two weeks to live, told Dean W. S. Allen to "tell the students I had a good night, but don't tell them I'm better for I have internal information to the contrary."

Out on the campus the words "prexy" were heard as students gathered under the oak trees that shade the campus of Texas first institution of higher learning. A feeling of suspense replaced chatter of baseball and track prospects. Quietly students passed to and from classes.

The veteran educator began the task of signing 125 diplomas at the rate of 60 per day despite warning from his physicians that he needed all his strength to fight off the deadly disease. But smiling grimly Dr. Brooks said "I can't disappoint the graduates."

At noon physicians said Dr. Brooks' condition was practically unchanged.

Senate Committee Ignores Cannon Plea

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—The senate campaign funds committee today laid aside Bishop James Cannon Jr.'s protest against the committee's authority to inquire into his use of funds in 1928 campaign.

The body decided to go ahead with the hearing.

When the hearing opened Bishop Cannon asked his letter protesting the hearing be made part of the record.

Miss Ada Burroughs, Richmond, Virginia, treasurer of the anti-Smith committee in Virginia, in 1928, was the first witness called. She insisted on first reading a prepared statement into the record protesting the committee's authority. Her statement, like Bishop Cannon's, cited no names.

Chairman Nye quizzed her many times. Miss Burroughs flatly refused to give the committee any testimony, usually saying "I decline to answer."

Nye finally announced she would be cited to the senate for contempt.

Giant X-Ray Tube May Aid Cancer Work

Dr. Lauritsen Supervises Assembling of New Apparatus

BY JAMES E. HILLMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Calif., May 7—Research work to be carried on with the second million-volt X-ray tube constructed at California Institute of Technology here, may bring scientists a step nearer in their efforts to combat cancer.

The giant tube is 14 feet long and about three feet in diameter. It is a replica of the world's largest X-ray tube also at the institute.

Dr. C. C. Lauritsen, a scientist, supervised the assembling of the new X-ray apparatus, as well as the original tube.

The second X-ray apparatus was constructed to enable scientists and leading physicians to carry on extensive experiments which he hoped will result in success. The original tube was made primarily for the study of high-potential X-rays. Scientists and physicians, however, discovered from experiments the powerful rays could penetrate a tumor in any part of the body. Hence the second tube was assembled to permit further experiments in cancer research, leaving the first tube free for high-potential X-ray experiments.

Director

Dr. Lauritsen directed the pumping out of the new tube to produce a vacuum. This was done with a mercury vapor pump which worked so efficiently that when the last stages of vacuum were reached there was only one-one-hundredth millionth of atmosphere left in the giant tube, thus creating almost a perfect vacuum.

So powerful are the rays which emanate from the X-ray tube that it is hung in a concrete vault with walls nearly a foot thick, shielded with lead two inches thick. Extreme caution is necessary in experimenting with the strong X-rays, as it is possible to create a 35-foot arc of electricity from the four 250,000 volt transformers which supply power for the tube.

More hazardous, however, are the high-potential rays created by the tube in order to guard those working with the instrument from stray rays, the vault is lined with lead. Lead absorbs the powerful rays more readily than other metals.

Two Indicted On Pro Count

Eight True Bills Returned By May Term Grand Jury

The Howard county grand jury indicted S. L. Everhart and L. W. "Shorty" Hynum Wednesday on charges of possession for sale and sale of intoxicating liquor, following their arrest Tuesday.

The two men were among several arrested by members of the sheriff's department, assisted by federal officers in a raid conducted Tuesday.

Each of the men was indicted for selling liquor to M. M. Wood and C. E. Hensel. They were rearrested this morning and new bonds arranged.

The indictments were among eight returned by the grand jury Wednesday afternoon. The body was back in session today.

I. B. Green, negro, was indicted for assault with intent to murder. It was charged he shot Marshall Gordon with a pistol.

L. C. McElroy and Jess McElroy were indicted for chicken theft. Another indictment charging chicken theft was returned, but the party has not been arrested.

Theodore Adair and Judd Washington, negroes, were indicted for aggravated assault as an aftermath of a fight. They will be tried in county court.

Another indictment charging automobile theft was returned against a man not under arrest.

Judge Fritz R. Smith was heard non-jury cases in district court today. The petit jury, which reported for the first time during the May term, Wednesday, again was dismissed until Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

Grounding Of Ships Fought

Fokker Says Prejudiced Engineer Recommended Hasty Order

WASHINGTON, May 7 (UP)—Anthony H. G. Fokker, designer of 35 planes which were temporarily removed from passenger service by order of the commerce department indicated that he would not be satisfied with the department's order to restore the planes to service after an inspection.

He said the aviation industry must have protection from "hasty" tactics in the future and the General Motors Company, leading stockholders in the American branch of the Fokker company, was understood to be supporting him in this contention.

Fokker said the department's action in banning the planes from passenger service was taken on the advice of two young engineers, one of whom "was plainly hostile and prejudiced."

The department's order, made public Monday said certain questions in regard to maintenance of the planes had arisen. It said there was no reflection on the design of the craft.

"I am fighting for the future of the aeronautics industry," Fokker said today just before entering another conference with commerce department officials.

"If the federal government can at any moment tie up transportation by grounding planes in a hasty manner it will be a terrible blow to the American aviation. We must have protection from such tactics in the future."

Sterilization of Mentally Defective Urged By Texas Medical Men at Convention

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 7—Sterilization of the mentally defective was advocated before the public health section of the Texas State Medical Association, in an annual convention here yesterday.

Dr. O. L. Norworthy of San Antonio, Dr. John S. Turner of Dallas, and others.

The sterilization operation is safe, easy, positive, and painless under local anesthesia, the section was told. American spends huge sums on breeding hogs, cattle, dogs and even garden seed, Dr. Turner pointed out, but has done little toward purification of the blood stream of her citizens.

The section adopted a resolution calling on the house of delegates, executive body of the association, to appoint a committee to investigate state sterilization.

"How we can control cancer" was the topic of today's most important general lecture, given by Dr. John C. Woodruff of Baltimore. Sectional meetings are being held by various divisions of doctors. Approximately 700 members of the association are attending.

The convention closes today. Amabilis, Fort Worth and Waco are chief bidders for next year's meeting.

Garner Seen As Speaker

Thomason, Home from Washington, Comments On Outlook

EL PASO, May 7—John Garner of Uvalde, Democratic leader in the House of Representatives, will be the next speaker, in the opinion of Congressman R. E. Thomason of the 16th district.

Congressman Thomason has recently returned from Washington and he declares that from his conference with political leaders there he is confident that the Democrats will organize the next House and Garner will be speaker.

"I believe that a Democrat will be elected in Ohio to succeed the late Speaker Longworth," Mr. Thomason said. "Longworth's close race in the last election would indicate that no Republican, with the possible exception of Mrs. Allice Roosevelt Longworth, could be elected from the district now. I understand she has refused to be a candidate."

HONEY FOR MONEY

LANDER, Wyo. (INS)—Honey from the swarms of western Wyoming is finding its way to eastern markets by the hundreds of tons, being shipped both by rail and by truck. The raising has become one of the most extensive means of obtaining a cash income by farmers of Fremont county. The Charles Ranney bee farm, near Lander, sold 200,000 pounds of honey last year. A truckload of three tons of honey was driven to Hamilton, Ill. recently, where the entire lot was sold.

TO SEEK COADJUTOR

HARTFORD, Conn. (INS)—Connecticut Episcopals will be asked, next autumn, to elect a bishop coadjutor to assist the Right Rev. E. Champion Acheson, who has been bishop for three years and finds his work so increasing that he must have aid. Bishop Acheson is 70 years old. Formal announcement of the bishops desire to have a special diocesan convention in the fall will be made when the regular convention opens here in May.

TOWER OF BUSINESS MAY REPLACE FIFTH AVENUE'S 'HOUSE OF MYSTERY'

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's "island of seclusion," the four-story Wendel home at 29th street and Fifth avenue, soon may be razed—to make room for another tower of business.

That was where Ella V. von Wendel, the last of her line, lived and died—the last guardian of a $100,000,000 fortune built by a German immigrant who bought New York land when it was cheap.

For years the closely shuttered "house of mystery," incongruous in its setting amid scores of skyscrapers, has puzzled the thousands who ride Fifth avenue's buses.

Seldin was there any sign of life about the old mansion, which was built in 1856 at a cost of $5,000, except for the weekly washing hanging on the line in the backyard.

And only after dark did Miss Ella venture into the enclosed yard to exercise Toby, her pet poodle. She had been offered a small fortune for the yard alone, but she has refused it, saying it was needed for Toby.

The assessed valuation of the house and lot was $3,700,000.

Miss Wendel's will bequeathed the bulk of her estate to charity. The famed "island of seclusion" went to the Drew Theological seminary at Madison, N. J., as a memorial to Miss Wendel's father, founder of the fortune.

Trustees of the seminary may vote in April for removal of the building and the lease of the site for other construction.

And down at 315 Broadway, another strangeness of the Wendel must go. There John D. Wendel, before he died at 80, hung a sign—"no real estate for sale"—this despite the fact that he had valuable parcels at many points on Manhattan Island.

Now the sign is meaningless. These other parcels will be sold too.

The old four-story Wendel home (below), surrounded by skyscrapers in New York midtown business district, may be removed or razed. It was bequeathed to Drew Theological seminary by Ella V. von Wendel (upper left), who exercised Toby, her pet poodle, in its yard.

They also probably will become daily empower the executors to dilapidate for bigger buildings, under the will that specifies distribution of the receipts.

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by Dr. Inge Goldstein Academy of Medicine

MEDICAL TERMS
Dr. Charles Bolduan, director of the Bureau of Health Education of the New York City department of health, has recently formed a glossary of current medical and public health terms.

This glossary should prove valuable to all who have occasion to consult medical literature, for it contains the definition of many terms frequently used erroneously. It is astonishing to how many persons who would be embarrassed by the improper use of technical terms in other realms will themselves use medical terms in a grossly erroneous manner.

Contagious, infectious and communicable are three terms which are used interchangeably. Contagious, Dr. Bolduan maintains, is an unsatisfactory adjective. It dates from a time when we knew nothing of bacteria and other micro-organisms, and when our conceptions regarding the transmission of communicable diseases were hazy and faulty.

Contagious diseases were thought to be spread by emanations from the patient. We now prefer to speak of infectious diseases, meaning thereby a disease caused by a living germ or by its poisons.

Furthermore, we speak of infectious diseases being more or less communicable. Measles, for example, is highly communicable. Leprosy is very slightly so—at least in this part of the country. Tuberculosis is very readily communicable to infants.

"All of this, moreover, we have fairly clear ideas of the way most communicable diseases are spread. Fresh infected discharges of the mouth, nose, throat or bowels receive chief consideration. In some diseases, yellow fever, malaria, typhus, etc., insects play an important role in transmission.

The vague idea of emanations, or of miasmata, ideas connoted by the term 'contagious,' have been discarded. Some health officers still make use of the term 'contagious diseases' in speaking of smallpox, scarlet fever, measles, diphtheria, chickenpox and typhus fever, but generally the term is falling into disfavor.

SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Notes about notable:

Pat O'Brien, 'The Front Page' has smoked only five cigarettes in his life, he says, but consumes a dozen cigars a day. They're imported.

Helen Chandler, slim and small, often eats man-sized steaks for breakfast—imagine!

But June Collier, equally slim if taller, has a weakness for coffee. She drinks at least three cups daily before starting work and has a java jug on her dressing table, and drinks more later. It's inherited, she says. Her grandfather, Dan Collier, of the stage, used to drink seven cups for breakfast.

"DISCOVERY"

They say that Adolph Zukor, seeing some rushes in a studio projection room, was struck by the appearance and work of a young actor. "Who is that boy? Let's sign him up!" he said.

And the boy was Charles (Bud) Rogers. The Harrymore, John and Dolores and Ethel Mae, pictures completed, are sailing off again in their yacht.

Buck Jones, western star, wears a jeweled horse's head as a stick pin, and likes to read western stories—the postman's holiday hike.

And Hoot Gibson, also of the horse upry, has made a confirmed horseman of his bride, Sally Eilers. When Sally was stoned at Hoot's leading lady she didn't mention that she had never been on horseback in her life. Hoot taught her. Now that they're married, they ride almost every day over the mountain paths about their ranch home at Saugus, even though Sally is no longer a horse of westerns.

NO DRUGSTORE COWBOYS

These Hoot holds his annual rodeo, but the plainmen who perform aren't recruited from the movie cowboy ranks. Most of the "green cowboys," says Hoot, have become used to picture work, and are out of practice for competitive riding and roping. A rodeo rider comes from the plains and ranches of the real west.

Horses, too, have their day in pictures—and their fall like humphs star Reno, who was Douglas Fairbanks' galloping steed in "The Claim" several years ago, has been selected to make extra work. Douglas the younger is one actor who isn't bothered with diabolical home-work. He memorizes his lines on the set before going into action.

RETURNS FROM ABILENE
Dorothy Ellington returned Tuesday evening following a brief visit in Abilene.

Not Even Original

GILBERT Keith Chesterton, the brilliant English writer, back home from a visit to the United States, yesterday told the Society for the Preservation of Rural England that he felt if he had "just returned from a different civilization—of barbarism, whatever you call it."

The great Gilbert was distressed by three major English—prohibition, ugly buildings, and the Tennessee anti-evolution statute.

"From one end to the other of this magnificent (American) civilization there is no such thing as a village," said the king of paradox. "When you enter a little town it is simply an exposure to anybody of European tradition or instincts. The first thing that strikes the eye is the ugliness of the buildings and frame works of lead and glass and tin shops and then, thank God, you are out of town."

Is the great Gilbert trying to tell us that billboards are unknown in England? Would he have us believe that there are no ugly ducklings among the smaller places there? Does he mean to tell us that England has no alcohol problem?

It is probable the physically heavyweights Chesterton never stirred from his Pullman observation car on his rambles in the United States, or got farther than the lobby of his hotel. Possibly the receipts from his lectures were smaller than he hoped for, and he is retaliating. But it is the usual thing for foreign intellectuals to come over here, make a hasty examination of a few of our prize exhibits, listen to a handful of our domestic snobs, and then hasten home to pan us from Lamb to Beehive. Mr. Chesterton's isn't even original.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

A Ghost Appears

Brownwood Bulletin
THE GHOST of Fergusonism always ready to haunt those who rejoice biennially upon the occasion of its interment, has arisen to frighten the legislature into some kind of action toward the congressional redistricting of the state.

Somebody has pointed out that if redistricting is not attended to and Texas next year is compelled to elect three Congressmen-at-large, one of the Ferguson's is certain to become a member of congress. As the law now stands, there would be no run-off primary for the nomination of congressmen-at-large, but the three candidates receiving the largest vote in the first election would be nominated. Under this kind of arrangement the Ferguson block of votes would be sufficient to give either Ma or Pa the party's endorsement as a candidate.

Fearing this there may be such a situation as a result of the apparent inability of the two houses of the legislature to agree on a redistricting bill, Senator George Furi has prepared a bill which he hopes to be permitted to introduce and which would fix pending redistricting, the places of candidates on the ballot and would provide for three run-off contests, one for each of the three positions as congressman-at-large.

This, obviously, would be a poor substitute for redistricting, but might have the effect of barring the Ferguson ghost from further disturbing activity. On the other hand, it probably would open the way for both Ma and Pa Ferguson to be candidates for congressman-at-large, and when either is a candidate there is always a possibility of election.

By Percival Christopher Wren Author of MYSTERIOUS WAY

BEAU GESTE BEAU IDEAL

SYNOPSIS: The influential Chicago underworld character known as "Uncle" unwittingly disclosed to John Wayne that "Limmy" Doe, Simon, his son, Gunman Gryde with "Spider" Schlitz and Chink Dorson, "pulled" the St. Clair diamond job. Thus Wayne gains a real clue for his revenge upon the kidnapers who returned his daughter to him, insane and dying, after receiving as ransom the St. Clair family gems. Wayne, whose family name of St. Clair has been dropped to further his cause of vengeance, is aided by the clever detectives, Mr. and Mrs. William, who trail Simon to England and become patients in a nursing home run by Simon, Gryde and Dr. Machado. Schlitz, unfriendly now with Simon, lives near by. Athrest for revenge, Wayne, goes to England.

Chapter 29

CROSSED PATHS
ENTERING the inn one evening to buy a drink and hear more of the local gossip, he was going up to my room, I came suddenly face to face with a very broad, tall, strong man whose hard face, cruel mouth, and broken, glistening nose were vaguely familiar.

I had never seen him before, but I had almost certain seen either his photograph or a newspaper reproduction thereof, obtained for me by William, and enclosed in one of the many letters that had awaited my arrival at Uncle's. I was more, or word-perfect, from William's detailed description of this man, as I was of the three other miscreants whom I hoped and intended to bring to justice—my justice.

Luckily, he was planning at the moment in which to pull myself together, decide upon my course of action, and remember the invaluable historic teachings of Mr. and Mrs. Williams H. William.

And then was played as thrilling a little scene, with a thread of his grimace as any of the tragic drama of my quest. For, for God's sake, Chink Dorson, was warily and cunningly questioning me as to the character, reputation, habits, way of life, comings and goings of Squire Theophilus Webb of Witherby End—his old acquaintance, Spider Schlitz!

Yes, I was actually being cross-examined by Chink Dorson, professional burglar and gunman, who, determined subtle brain and cold determined courage had brought him to the top of his profession as the right hand man of the notorious Englishman, Doc Simon.

Who was I? Oh, just a very ordinary middle class Englishman staying at Witherby End for some fishing. Hadn't I told him before but should certainly come as guest? Yes, Squire Webb had the right and was very generous about them. Did no fishing himself.

Yes, Witherby Stream ran right through his grounds, and one could go the whole way in a punt, right through his park, once one had obtained his fishing permit. A good landlord and a regular fellow.

Yes, lots of scandalous stories about him, his guests, his household and the going on there. In residence now? Yes. And many more questions, gradually narrowing down to those concerning Mr. Webb's daily life, ways, habits, customs, comings and goings.

I gave the fellow all the information I could, and every possible help short of seeming to know too much.

For a magnificent new scheme, or rather enlargement of my British scheme, was forming in my mind.

finished; or at best, sentenced to life-long imprisonment in England, as I had been in America. I had to bear in mind that my life-tenure still awaited me in America, and that I might easily receive one in England if I escaped hanging.

So what a grim and lovely jest if I could a little help Chink Dorson to kill Spider Schlitz, and then greatly help the English law to kill Chink Dorson for the murder! Both would be punished, thus endangering my freedom to the other two.

Both would, in a measure, be punished by, and through, me. And they would wholly and entirely be punished on account of me—through their killing of my daughter and their stealing of my diamond, the bone of their contention and the cause of their mutual destruction.

Could I recommend decent accommodation to my newly arrived acquaintance?

He would only need it for a few days. He just wanted to have a look at Witherby End and its environment. He was thinking of settling down in the country and having a bit of sport; and this place had been recommended to him.

I could. What was wrong with this inn? I had found it very comfortable.

Could one get in without a lot of fuss, at night, if one happened to be a bit late? And Mr. Chink Dorson winked heavily, as one gay dog to another.

Why, certainly. . . . I myself often went night-fishing, and all one had to do was to walk in at the back door. Very confiding people, these country folk. Honest and simple. Crime absolutely unheard of hereabouts.

To cut a long story short, I showed Chink Dorson with a skill and tenacity born of my burning thirst for vengeance. I watched him from afar, by day, and from near by at night; and in the end, at long last, as I sat in the dark shadow of a great Cedar of Lebanon, I saw Chink Dorson, whom I had followed—and, by a short-cut over the park wall, forestalled—sneak quietly from the trees, up the moonlight drive that led to Squire Webb's big house.

Whether Chink Dorson, with the burglarious skill that had made him eminent and famous, himself opened the door by which he entered the house, or whether it had been left open for him by a servant whom he had suborned or whom he had planted there, I do not know.

What I do know is that, in a state of exultant exaltation, I followed him and, guided by the sound of voices, came straight to the door of the room which proved to be Mr. Webb's library.

Hearing the sounds of a struggle, which were followed by a dead silence, I could not forbear to open this door, to see with my own eyes the consummation of the first part of my dream of revenge.

On the floor, obviously dead, lay Spider Schlitz. The first of my enemies had paid the penalty. He had received the punishment directly due for stealing my diamond, the act which led to the death of my daughter.

And now for the punishment of the second one. Softly closing the door, I tiptoed away to where the shadows of the lamplight were darkest, and crouched down beside and partly behind the pedestal of a ghostly looking statue.

A minute later, the door of the library opened, softly closed again, and the figure of Chink Dorson passed between me and the moonlight window on the other side of the broad landing.

(Copyright, 1930, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.)

A snake on the floor! No wonder that tomorrow Wayne kicks it. He eagerly he plans a stranger late for another.

Mexicans Take Second Straight Game From Strong Clubs

By BOBBY CAMPBELL.

After hitting Joe Ernest with everything but the left field fence bleachers, and pouncing on Lefty Bob Potter with equally as much gusto, the Mexican Tigers took a slugfest from Flewellen's Service Sta. last Tuesday afternoon, winning 13 to 11, and sending the Flewellen contingent to the bottom of the City League ladder.

It was, verily, a hit and run affair. The Tigers collected seventeen hits off Ernest and Potter, while the gasoline guzzlers garnished thirteen off the mound offerings of Salgado and Lopez, mostly Salgado.

Martin, Flewellen shortstop, took hitting honors for the day with four out of five trips, including a triple. He also cornered the market on error honors, having four chalked against him.

Flewellen opened the scoring in the first when Baker doubled with two away, and Martin tripled to tally him. The Tigers evened the count in the first of the second, when Valdes placed after forcing Kayo at second, and scored when Salgado forced J. Garcia out at third.

Score Two

Two runs were gleaned in the same inning by Flewellen's association on Granfill's single. Paul forced Henninger. The two tallied on Ernest's double.

The third inning saw the Mexican republic win its laurels. In that frame Ernest gave up two walks, and five hits for seven runs. One of Martin's errors contributed. Hernandez opened with a double. Fierro placed, A. Garcia was walked, Kayo singled, Valdes went to the infield on West's error in left field, J. Garcia was walked, Vega and Salgado singled, and Martin forced on Martin's error. Hernandez singled to send Ernest home, with Potter replacing him. Hernandez, Fierro, A. Garcia, Kayo, J. Garcia, Vega and Salgado tallied. Potter took the reins with one down, and Fierro went out to the new twirler, with A. Garcia ending the fireworks by flying out to Paul at second.

More of Same

Flewellen was not through, however. In the same inning, he walked to Baker by Salgado, a single by Martin, and one of the same by West and one by Henninger followed by Paul's single accounted for four hits and four runs.

Bob Potter's aggregation went in to the lead in the fourth, scoring three runs. Kayo dropped Baker's high one to center, and Martin forced on Martin's error. West singled to tally Baker, and after Henninger had walked and Granfill struck out Martin and West tallied on Paul's single.

In the fifth Potter's slow ones were reached for five hits and four runs. The Tigers again taking the lead, 12-10. A double by Cruz singled by Hernandez, Fierro, A. Garcia, and Salgado, and a drive by Martin on J. Garcia's drive, contributed to Potter's downfall. In the same inning, Flewellen got across one run when Vega dropped Morton's hood to right field. With two away, Lopez, who relieved Salgado, slipped one to Martin who immediately slipped it back for a single to score Morton.

His Potter

The Tigers went scoreless in the sixth, as did Flewellen's outfit. The seventh saw the Tigers again rap Potter for four hits, and one run. A. Garcia, the base-stealing asset of the Tiger aggregation, opened with a single and stole second and third. He tallied when Kayo went out, Paul to Terasas at first, Valdes went away to Martin at short. Three singles by Alamon, Gomez and Lopez filled the bags, but Cruz flew out to Henninger in right field to end the frame.

Efforts of the Flewellen unit to gain the three runs necessary to win the game were rather futile. Terasas went out, A. Garcia to Alamon, Baker and Martin both popped out to the Tiger first baseman.

It was the second, straight, win for the Mexican aggregation.

-The- Water Bucket

BY BOBBY CAMPBELL.

This usually drab office was brightened by two little rays of sunshine from Costen Refinery's gasoline stills this m. None other than Hugh Dubberly and J. Henry Edwards dripped crude oil in our glittering paste pot, and left the imprints of time on our white copy paper.

Tonight, if the weather man is white about it, the first night baseball game will be played in Big Spring. Old timers say it is the biggest thing since the railway nosed his way into Howard County back in 1882, or thereabouts. It might be said that the night affair is no showy exhibition. The House of David club has one of the best flood light systems in the United States. Their games, since they departed from Mineral Wells, their training headquarters this year, have been successful in every instance. Rain checks are issued in case precipitation precipitates before half of the contest is over and gone. However, our weather eye informs us it doesn't look much like rain on the outside. This department, who happens by an act of fate to be gatekeeper, scorekeeper, ballkeeper, cash keeper of the City League, humbly asks permission to inform the usually daily deadheads that admission tonight will be in the form of clinking cash rather than a smile and a "good evening." To avoid personal conflict, as well as embarrassment, a couple of West Texas peace officers have been engaged to keep the peace, as it were. Just a mere warning. Just that.

The Mexican Tigers keep galloping. The laughing ball players have rapped the best two other city league teams had to offer, and in both instances came out on the big end of the horn. The Tigers, once they gain the upper hand, are hard to beat. If you have doubts about this assertion ask any or all of the Tiger supporters, the majority of which, can be found any afternoon with their limbs wrapped securely around the left field fence, or their heads protruding through various and sundry knot holes.

Evidently "Skeeter" West has not signed a contract with the Flewellen aggregation. He informed us yesterday his initials were J. H. On the other hand, A. B. West was on the bench, with his passport in his pocket, and not in uniform. There is a contract for A. B. West on file, but none for J. H.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, lest it be ignored or forgotten, is the House of David playing manager. The veteran National league ball chucker still has plenty of stuff left in his arm. It is understood, there are those that say he was the greatest ever to go up and stay up for such a length of time. Regardless of opinions, he will be seen in action tonight against the local team. It is a policy of the club, although they are under no obligation to do so, to send "Old Pete" into the game for at least a couple of innings.

The San Angelo track aggregation, according to the San Angelo publicity agent, is crippled and sore, but goes to the meet at Austin fearlessly. Sinekey Brothers champ half-miler and relay team whitestay has a sprained ankle, they say. If such is the truth, Bill Bassett has been struck a low blow. Cobb took his hobbling, so they say. A tendon has been pulled and the broad jumper and relay lead off chaser isn't up to par. If all these assertions are to be taken at par value, the San Angelo team is indeed in a bad way.

W. M. Paul, who, we believe, is some kind of a superintendent at Costen Refinery, seems to be able to superintendent second base with about as much effect. He handled six chances Wednesday without babbling a hobbie, and in addition got three singles out of four trips to the slab. We were rather surprised in Simon Terasas. He looked fit enough to blast a few planks off the center field section, but tumbled five times Wednesday and tumbled back to the bench four of them, settling on in the other, but not getting on.

Exporters Fall Before Fuhr 3 to 0

BEAUMONT, May 6 (AP)—Oscar Fuhr scouted the Exporters into a shutout today. Holly's single in the third and a walk to Schutte in the ninth put the only Exporters on base. Dallas won 3-0, all their runs being unearned after Hughes dropped Blakesley's liner to start the second. Metro allowed six hits.

Lubbock Woman Faces Third Trial in Death Of Mate 11 Years Ago

LUBBOCK, Tex., May 7 (AP)—Mrs. Mollie Turner, former Lynn county resident, who now lives at Lubbock, probably will be called upon to stand trial for a third time at the fall term of court here, charged with the murder of her husband at their home in this county eleven years ago.

Mrs. Turner was tried on the charge the first time two years ago, after officers had found testimony they claimed linked her with her husband's death, and she was found guilty and sentenced to 20 years.

The case was reversed on appeal, and at the second trial she drew a lighter sentence. The appeals court held in this conviction that certain state's testimony was not properly corroborated. She is now at liberty under bond.

Mrs. Eula Morrison, a member of the Western Union staff here, is on her vacation.

Dallas Schools Show Birth-Control Effect

DALLAS, Texas, May 7 (INS)—A world decline in the birth rate, attributed by doctors to the practice of birth-control, is being reflected in the Dallas schools. According to Dr. N. R. Crozier, superintendent of schools, the scholastic census shows that 8-year-olds are less numerous than 7-year-olds, 7-year-olds less numerous than 6-year-olds and 6-year-olds less numerous than 5-year-olds. The trend seems to stop there, he said. It is the first time in the history of the schools here that such a condition has existed.

Refinery To Be Built In Jones County Oil Pool

ATHLENE, TEXAS, May 7 (UP)—Construction has been started by E. W. Moutray, pioneer West Texas independent oil operator, on a gasoline and light oil refinery near Hawley, in southern Jones county to handle his own and other production in that area.

The plant will be located on a 5-acre tract, and will have capacity of 1,000 barrels of crude oil a day, Moutray said. Manufacture of gasoline, and all specifications of light oils will be included in the plant's output, but no lubricating oils will be made, he said.

The initial construction cost will approximate $25,000, equipment to include new-type bubble and packer towers, and a gathering to the Hawley oil field.

Under present development, the total production of the Hawley field is estimated at 1,000 barrels daily this production coming from the upper and lower Tannehill sands. The plant will be next to the Ungren and Frasier's No. 1 King, which recently flowed more than 600 barrels of oil in seven hours under test. Humble is taking restricted production in the field at the rate of twelve barrels per day per well.

Moutray is president of the Ewmo Oil Corporation, the Gorch Oil Company, with production in Young county, and vice-president of the Wood petroleum company, which absorbed the old Moutray Oil Company. With his associates he has 32 producing wells in Colahan, Three-knot and Jones counties. He came here three years ago from Cisco, and was formerly associated with the Humphreys in the Mexis-Corsicana field. Moutray said he expected the new plant would be in operation within 30 days.

Fifty Automobiles To Bring Oklahoma Delegation to W.T.C.C.

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, May 7 (INS)—A motordcade of approximately fifty automobiles loaded with officials and members of the Western Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce will come to Lubbock May 15 to attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce annual convention, according to advices from W. J. Milburn, Sayre, Okla., manager of the Oklahoma organization.

The Oklahomans are coming, Milburn said, to evidence their goodwill and friendship for West Texas; to learn of the plan for operating the West Texas chamber and to offer their cooperation on matters of mutual interest. They will be accompanied by a band and will stage a parade immediately upon arrival.

Less Demand Shown For U.S. Cotton Than For India's Product

NEW YORK, May 7 (UP)—While American cotton is moving into world consumption at a low rate and stocks of the American staple are consequently large, Indian cotton is moving into consumption in relatively heavy volume and stocks of Indian cotton are materially less than those a year or two ago, according to the New York Cotton Exchange service. It appears probable that the world carryover of Indian cotton next July will be 400,000 or 500,000 bales less than last July and 400,000 or 500,000 less than two years ago, while the world carryover of American cotton will be the largest since 1921.

"During February, consumption in India totaled 183,000 running

Indian bales, compared with 189,000 last year, 188,000 two years ago, 167,000 three years ago," says the exchange service. "In the same month, exports by India totaled 432,000 bales against 494,000 last year, 327,000 two years ago and 324,000 three years ago. This made the total distribution by domestic consumption plus exports 618,000 in February this year against 683,000 last year, 518,000 two years ago and 491,000 three years ago. In the seven months of the season from Aug. 1, to Feb. 28, the total distribution by India was 3,057,000 bales this year against 3,488,000 last year, 2,947,000 two years ago and 2,621,000 three years ago.

Iodine Wanted

BERLIN (INS)—Dr. Koehler of the Geographical Institute of Prussia has discovered that approximately 11,000 kilograms of iodine were wasted annually in the city's drainage system. One kilogram of the mud carried by the system contains 25 milligrams of iodine. A part of the iodine is used as fertilizer, but Kohler thinks that the remaining quantity should be exploited for fertilizing and other purposes. Iodine, he says, belongs to the most important bio-chemicals used by modern medical science, and by farmers for feeding purposes.

MY BEARD, WATSON

NEW YORK (INS)—A handsome, clean shaven man with a big black bushy beard has promised to stay away from the West 25th street neighborhood, so quiet has been restored to the alarmed breasts of the residents, whose hearts fluttered at seeing the clean shaven man duck behind a street corner and then emerge heavily bearded. He explained in court his wife had been reported in that neighborhood, so he got a beard like any good detective to shadow her. The judge listened intently, and dismissed the vagrancy charge.

MINE ACCIDENTS LESS

BERLIN (INS)—Scientific research and careful training of individual miners have resulted in a considerable decrease of accidents in German mining. According to the annual Mining Safety report just published by the Prussian Ministry of Commerce there were a total of 123,644 accidents in 1930, of which 1191 were fatal. This is under the toll of the two last years.

ELEPHANTS ARRIVE

ALFELD, Germany, May 7 (INS)—The firm of L. Ruhe, one of the largest dealers in wild animals, has received a consignment of animals from Africa, which includes three baby elephants. After being acclimated, they will be sent in the spring to various zoological gardens. Also, one the River Laine, is near Hildesheim, noted for its medieval framework houses.

New Frocks May Be Gay Or Sober, But They're All Tricky In Design

By DIANA MERWIN (Associated Press Fashion Editor) PARIS (AP)—Frocks as colorful as summer flowers seem sadder as winter skies may be worn under new spring coats. The daytime dress mode varies in hue all the way from bright blue, rose-reds and grass-greens to dark blue, beige and black—all of which promises to be popular. The new frocks are similar in only one respect—almost all are complicated in design. Even morning dresses of apparently simple cut reveal intricate incrustations and diagonal seams in both bodice and skirt.

There are jaunty pelisms swung from waistlines, gored or accordion-pleated tiers and occasional tunics of intricate design. Belts of braided cord, crushed leathers, or twisted silk crepes combining several colors further complicate spring frocks. Sleeves this spring may be short. Many street models display sleeves of elbow or three-quarter length, while frocks for formal afternoon wear are designed with caps or capes over the upper arm.

Lingerie collars and cuffs are noted everywhere. They may be white or a pastel shade, or organza, tulle or English eyelet embroidery. Brown crepe frocks with lemon yellow collars and cuffs, navy blue with pastel pink and black with white are favorite combinations.

In dress fabrics there are plain, diagonal-striped and flecked wools, and monotone, checked, polka-dotted or plaid silks. They may match or contrast with the coat as the wearer prefers, although the contrasting idea is hailed as newer and smarter than the color scheme which matches.

FOR HIS OWN GOOD MILFORD, Mass. (INS)—Two years ago Herbert S. Sherman, motoring through Black Swamp road, sighted a baby fox. The little animal became a family pet. The fox, however, suffered in the hot weather of last summer, being unable to burrow deep enough into the ground. A few weeks ago, decision was made not to keep the fox through another hot spell. The pet was taken to a local store to be made into a neck piece. It was worth $85.

ADMONISHES JURY EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (INS)—As Judge Jesse R. Brown, Madison county circuit court, walked to the street he heard calls and whistles above him. It was a jury which had been out six hours, passing salutations and greetings to persons on the street. The judge admonished them, and accepted a verdict from them three hours later.

TO SHOW BARE FINDS SCHLESVIG, Germany (INS)—The finds in the old Viking settlement of Halthabu, on the Baltic, have proved so rich and valuable from a historical viewpoint that it has been decided to create a special museum for them, in which the settlement will be reconstructed. In conjunction with the coming "Baltic Sea Year," lasting from the beginning of May till the end of September, there will also be an exhibition, in charge of the leaders of the excavation work, in the Waisenhof School in Schleswig, dealing with the culture and manner of life of the Viking.

BURGLARS IMPARTIAL BURBANK, Calif. (INS)—Burglars show no partiality, in their activities in this city. Thieves entered the home of Chief of Police Bergh and stole his stock of fancy cigars. Bergh said the stogies were Christmas gifts and that he rather enjoyed the loss.

PIGS LOST DUNNIGAN, Cal. (INS)—Sixty pigs—150, strayed or stolen or vanished. M. T. Emmert put his 60 pigs in a field in the morning and in the evening there were just 18 there. Fences and gates were just as Emmert had left them. Sheriff J. W. Monroe believes they were hauled away in trucks.

ONE ONTARIO, Calif. (INS)—Edwin Cortigan has claimed a record for paying fines. When arrested on a charge of intoxication he was fined $25. Cortigan said he had paid over $2000 in small fines since he came to California. "It's men like me that keep the country going," he said.

B.R.T. President Denies Attempt To Join A.F. Of L.

HOUSTON, May 7 (AP)—Denial that the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is seeking affiliation with the American Federation of Labor was made by President A. F. Whitney of the brotherhood here Wednesday. "If there is any movement toward seeking affiliation with the American Federation of Labor by the brotherhood, the convention does not know of it," President Whitney said.

President Whitney made the statement for the reason that it had come to him that there were reports that action looking toward affiliation by the brotherhood with the A. F. of L. would come before the convention.

Indorsement of the work of W. N. Doak, former editor of the brotherhood's official magazine, the Railroad Trainman, and of J. A. Farquharson, present editor, was unanimously carried by the convention at Wednesday morning's session. Doak is now Secretary of Labor in President Hoover's cabinet.

Report of the committees on insurance and the actuary's report were received and discussed by the convention Wednesday afternoon. Ladies of the convention were entertained with a tea by the ladies of the Houston auxiliaries Tuesday afternoon.

Garner

The election of a Democrat to succeed Longworth would place the Democrats and Republicans in a tie for control of the House with the balance of power belonging to the lone Farmer-Labor member. Mr. Thomason counts on defections from the regular Republican ranks to swing the election to Garner.

At Roosevelt Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York will probably be the next Democratic nominee for president, the rigor congressman from this district says. He declares his recent trip through the East convinced him that the New Yorker will be a heavy favorite when the Democrats meet.

"Roosevelt is an capable man and would make a splendid president," Congressman Thomason says, although he indicates that he is not decided yet in his own opinion as to who would be the best candidate to carry out the name.

The Democrats have an excellent opportunity to name the next president regardless of whether Hoover is renominated, Mr. Thomason declares.

Congressman and Mrs. Thomason are leaving this week for Europe, members of a party of mayors and their wives who will be guests of the French government on a trip to Paris. The French government is extending the courtesy in return for the hospitality shown Cote and Billonte, the French fliers, when they made a tour of the United States last year. The mayors of all cities where they were entertained and the mayors of all cities in this country named "Paris" have been invited. Congressman Thomason was mayor of El Paso at the time of the fliers' visit there.

Retains Secretary Congressmen Thomason's office has been organized in Washington and is open daily, attending to matters for citizens of this district. He retained Mrs. Kate George, secretary to Congressman Claude Huddeth for many years, as his secretary.

Citizens of the district having business with the government are invited by the congressman to write or wire him at Washington. He will see his office there would give immediate attention to all such communications.

Firemen Conquer $7,000,000 Fire In Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—A seven-million-dollar fire, which during the night destroyed the 100th field artillery armory and a nearby church, was under complete control today.

Fifty firemen were overcome by smoke, but one two remained in a hospital.

The fire started in the basement while the American Legion minute men were drilling.

Nitro Shot Kills Oil Well Blaze

GLEADEWATER, May 7 (AP)—A shot of nitroglycerine placed shortly before six o'clock Thursday, extinguished the Sinclair No. 1 Cole, which had been blazing for eight days and took a toll of nine lives and 1,500 barrels of oil hourly.

Harry and M. M. Kinley, brothers, from Oklahoma, well known oil well fire fighters, placed the shot and extinguished the blaze.

The explosion was felt for miles around the countryside. The tremor was felt at Kilgore, ten miles away.

A new derrick was being skidded over the hole today. It is expected the oil flow will be cured by late today.

Militia Moves On Mining Town

HARLAN, Kan., May 7 (AP)—Three hundred national guardsmen, equipped for battle, arrived here today, while military officials conferred with civil authorities on a plan for occupying Everts, nine miles away.

Officers, under orders to take necessary steps to restore law and order in the community torn with labor strife for the past few months, expected to move into Everts today.

Women and children were reported moving away from Everts. Reports here said there were armed men patrolled atop Everts' houses apparently awaiting the troops.

Adjutant General W. H. Jones, Jr., came here to supervise plans for placing the soldiers.

APPLES BLOSSOM EARLY NEW HAVEN, Conn. (INS)—The Connecticut river valley will present its annual show of apple blossoms on May 6, and the upper part of the state will follow with a similar show a day or two later. Such is the prediction of E. M. Stoddard, state pomologist, who has been setting the date of the apple blossom season with great success for six years. An unusual warm spell against his calculations last year so that apple blossom season came with the first day of May.

SURGEON SAVES PELICAN HERMOSA BEACH, Calif. (INS)—"Pelican Mike," a friendly sea bird on the pike here, swallowed the baited hook of a fisherman's line. The angler took the long beaked bird to a hospital where a surgeon with four assistants performed a delicate operation on the bird's lengthy neck and removed the hook. "Pelican Mike" was back on the pike soon boasting to his shore makes about his operation.

The California Institute of Technology has nothing to do with the medical applications of the tube, aside from furnishing the equipment and supervising its maintenance and operation. Few patients selected by the medical board as suitable subjects have been given treatment, but the institute has no authority to accept other persons," Dr. Millikan declared.

Gulf Coast Oil Men Consider Proration

HOUSTON, May 7 (AP)—The advisory committee named to cooperate with the railroad commission in making gulf coast area oil production wholly effective, met in executive session today.

They considered means of bringing daily production down 20,000 barrels daily to within 140,000 barrels allowed the area.

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) Failing to pay when you receive credit is ordering on dishonesty. If you fail to make satisfactory arrangements after you find you can not meet the obligation.

Since credits form the basic financial structure of our country, then it behooves each of us to shoulder our part of the responsibility and keep faith with our forefathers and pay our obligations.

When credits cease, then will our America become a land of Nomads and citizenship will become worthless.

Firemen Conquer $7,000,000 Fire In Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—A seven-million-dollar fire, which during the night destroyed the 100th field artillery armory and a nearby church, was under complete control today.

Fifty firemen were overcome by smoke, but one two remained in a hospital.

The fire started in the basement while the American Legion minute men were drilling.

Nitro Shot Kills Oil Well Blaze

GLEADEWATER, May 7 (AP)—A shot of nitroglycerine placed shortly before six o'clock Thursday, extinguished the Sinclair No. 1 Cole, which had been blazing for eight days and took a toll of nine lives and 1,500 barrels of oil hourly.

Harry and M. M. Kinley, brothers, from Oklahoma, well known oil well fire fighters, placed the shot and extinguished the blaze.

The explosion was felt for miles around the countryside. The tremor was felt at Kilgore, ten miles away.

A new derrick was being skidded over the hole today. It is expected the oil flow will be cured by late today.

Militia Moves On Mining Town

HARLAN, Kan., May 7 (AP)—Three hundred national guardsmen, equipped for battle, arrived here today, while military officials conferred with civil authorities on a plan for occupying Everts, nine miles away.

Officers, under orders to take necessary steps to restore law and order in the community torn with labor strife for the past few months, expected to move into Everts today.

Women and children were reported moving away from Everts. Reports here said there were armed men patrolled atop Everts' houses apparently awaiting the troops.

Adjutant General W. H. Jones, Jr., came here to supervise plans for placing the soldiers.

APPLES BLOSSOM EARLY NEW HAVEN, Conn. (INS)—The Connecticut river valley will present its annual show of apple blossoms on May 6, and the upper part of the state will follow with a similar show a day or two later. Such is the prediction of E. M. Stoddard, state pomologist, who has been setting the date of the apple blossom season with great success for six years. An unusual warm spell against his calculations last year so that apple blossom season came with the first day of May.

SURGEON SAVES PELICAN HERMOSA BEACH, Calif. (INS)—"Pelican Mike," a friendly sea bird on the pike here, swallowed the baited hook of a fisherman's line. The angler took the long beaked bird to a hospital where a surgeon with four assistants performed a delicate operation on the bird's lengthy neck and removed the hook. "Pelican Mike" was back on the pike soon boasting to his shore makes about his operation.

The California Institute of Technology has nothing to do with the medical applications of the tube, aside from furnishing the equipment and supervising its maintenance and operation. Few patients selected by the medical board as suitable subjects have been given treatment, but the institute has no authority to accept other persons," Dr. Millikan declared.

Gulf Coast Oil Men Consider Proration

HOUSTON, May 7 (AP)—The advisory committee named to cooperate with the railroad commission in making gulf coast area oil production wholly effective, met in executive session today.

They considered means of bringing daily production down 20,000 barrels daily to within 140,000 barrels allowed the area.

WALLACE B. DONHAM, dean of the Harvard University graduate school of business administration, said: "It is imperative for industries here (speaking of the United States) to have the home market on which to concentrate."

If our Big Spring and Howard County industries prosper and serve this territory as they should, it is imperative that they have our home market on which to concentrate. Your support of Couden Liquid Gas, pure, peppy and powerful, is not so much a duty as it is an opportunity.

Four W.C.T.U. Officers Re-Elected to Serve As Heads for Coming Year

Mrs. White, of Balmorhea, Elected Secretary; Mrs. Davis, of Big Spring, Appointed Publicity Director

The convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union closed Wednesday afternoon with the election of officers for the coming year and other matters of business.

Because Mrs. Couch, of Peecos, could not serve a second term, her name did not go up for re-election.

Mrs. A. M. Gant, of Midland and Mrs. W. R. Suttles, of Big Spring, were also unanimously re-elected to serve as corresponding secretary and as treasurer, respectively.

The election of the new place of meeting was deferred until a later date.

The attraction season was made impressive by the introduction of several interesting features, emphasizing the different points of contact by the W.C.T.U.

Three patients were introduced for having secured at least five members to the W.C.T.U.

The convention also voted to send to Senator Morris Shepard a resolution of thanks for the stand he has taken disapproving of the manufacture of home brew in the home.

Mrs. B. Reagan introduced to the convention, Gene Handley, who won the club prize in 1935 for an essay on law enforcement.

Dr. J. W. Hunt, of McMurry college, Abilene, was the chief speaker of the evening.

Mrs. A. P. Clayton and daughter, Lillian, left for Fort Smith, Ark. Tuesday evening in response to a message telling of the serious illness of Mrs. Clayton's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Eubanks, director of the choir, entertained the members and friends of the Christian Church choir with a barbecue at the City Park Monday evening.

Members of the choir attending were, Mrs. J. J. Milner, Mrs. Roy Carter, Mrs. William Reed, Mrs. Steve Baker, Mrs. Virgil Smith, Mrs. Mary Baker, Miss Stella Schubert, Mrs. J. D. Wallace, Miss Katharine Gilliam, Mrs. Joe E. East, Mrs. J. W. Marchbanks, Dr. C. D. Baxley, C. M. Shaw, Virgil Smith, Steve Baker, Earl Reed.

The pianist, Mrs. H. G. Hall, and the director and soloist during the revival, E. B. Bethell, were also present.

The guests were: Rev. and Mrs. D. R. Lindley, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Parmer, Y. R. Smith, Mrs. W. L. Williams, Gullman, Mrs. Pyrl Bradshaw, Mrs. C. D. Baxley, and Mrs. Warren Roy Carter, G. L. Bell, A. C. Harp, Miss Beatrice Hill, Miss Nora Pearl Marchbanks, Steve Baker Jr., Chas. Peck, Mrs. C. M. Shaw, and Miss Claudine Shaw.

The Triangle Club Table Trimmed in Bright Blue

The Triangle Bridge Club was entertained at the Sattles Hotel with a luncheon Wednesday.

The table was decorated with several shades of bright blue and the centerpiece was of native blue-bells gathered by the hostesses while the luncheon was on.

The guests were Meses. Monroe Johnson, Wofford Hardy, A. S. Barnett, Omar Pittman, E. E. Fahrnkamp and James Little.

Extracts From Address of W.C.T.U. State President

The following sentences are some of the highlights of the speech delivered by Mrs. Claude de Van Watts, of Austin, state president of the W.C.T.U.

We do not have the open saloon but we still have the patrons of the same business.

Francis Willard said and let us remember it: God is action; let us be like God.

The Eighteenth Amendment is the greatest child welfare movement in the world.

The greatest enemy of the Eighteenth Amendment is the indifference of our own good people.

Any home making home brew or supporting home brew is a menace.

The home is as guilty as the seller of liquor.

Anyone violating the Eighteenth Amendment is a traitor to his country.

It isn't delinquent youth that is our trouble, it is delinquent parents.

America will never go back because the mothers will always remember the cry of their children, the crippled, the poor, the hungry and the suffering.

The duty of the W.C.T.U. is to combat the enemy of prohibition.

Our cause is in politics so we must go into politics because a Christian citizen is one who uses his Christianity to his citizenship.

We protest against the use of the word crusader by the enemies of prohibition.

Clothing Stolen From East Third Fruit Store

It was reported to the city police department today that a quantity of clothing had been stolen from the City Fruit Store, 205 East Third Street.

The loss included two pairs of boots, twenty shirts, one sheepskin lined coat, five pairs of pants, ten suits of underwear, five ties, and forty empty hampers.

A New Living Room For $19

Mrs. Akin Simpson Tells How She Achieved A Blue And Silver Room At That Price

Mrs. Akin Simpson, of Luther, won the third prize in Class No. 1 of the Living Room Contest, spending under $50. She spent $19.19.

She improved her room by rearranging the furniture and removing a large trunk to provide more room. She made her room lighter by painting a dark ceiling ivory and making the walls lighter in color.

In all ten cooperators in the Luther Home Demonstration Club spent a total of $44.95. Mrs. S. L. Lockhart and Mrs. Lawrence Anderson won first and second prizes in this same class last year.

Mrs. Simpson describes what she did in her own words: "My living room is a southwest room with a window on the porch and another on the west side. It was originally furnished with a large table along the east wall, a library table, a chest of drawers, a wardrobe trunk against the west wall, a duofold cat-corner in the northwest corner and a chifferobe against the north wall.

"I began by putting the table between the two windows and removing the trunk. The duofold I put against the north wall parallel with it.

"The walls and ceiling were in bad condition. The paper was old and had soiled spots on it but was well fastened to the wall. The first thing we did was to cover the soiled places with newspaper. Then I put on a coat of blue kalsomine and with a sponge daubed the blue with silver grey making a pleasing effect. The unpainted ceiling was painted with cream kalsomine. I bought moulding and painted
