TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

To force settlement of an issue may delay presentation of factors that will eventually bring about a separate and lasting truce.

Memories do a poor job of embalming a deceased romance that fluttered out when youth was fresh and fair. After two more years the music goes out of voices, shoulders are stooped and waistlines take off in every direction.

Success lacks something of strength if failure is not in the thoughts of its making.

About the only endorsement possible for a slow-thinking driver would of necessity come from morticians whose finances will not permit them to wait for business.

A bachelor is a coward for not thinking his marriage would be different.

Retrospection is looking at the windows of futile hopes and measuring the harvest with wasted opportunities for serving some of the needs of others.

True achievement looks to a bright and lonely star; the conquest of self.

Readers In Russia Forbidden Tribune

IF YOU are a Tribune reader and plan to go to Russia, you had best catch up on trivial happenings in your home community before you leave. The Tribune is prohibited in Russia, as are all Free World newspapers and magazines.

"Cotton John" Smith of KGNC-TV, Amarillo, made a brief and interesting talk at Old Settlers Thursday afternoon, following the business session. Only 15 days previously he was in Moscow, Russia, on one of the tours which he sponsors.

"You could not take a copy of the Matador Tribune into Russia," Smith declared. "The first thing we were forced to do before going behind the 'Iron Curtain' was to take from our luggage, all Free World newspapers and magazines. We were not allowed to make sound pictures, but could film 35-MM movies.

"The Russians prohibit any kind of printing that is not printed in Russia, which means that it is propaganda. The newspapers do not carry any adver-

Many To Close For Labor Day

Many places of business will be closed here Monday (Sept. 6) in observance of Labor Day. First State Bank and post office will observe the legal holiday. Bob Stanley Pharmacy and Vaughn Drug will be closed as will Billy's Grocery and Spot Cash Grocery. Household Supply Co. and Thacker Supply Co. will be closed as will Salem Dry Goods, Matador Variety, and West Texas Utilities Co. office. Barber shops are closed each Monday regularly.

County Judge Elbert Reeves said the county offices will be open at the court house, as will Thompson Feed and Seed and Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. Schools at Roaring Springs will close for the holiday, but schools here will remain open.

AMONG THE OLD SETTLERS attending the Reunion Thursday were Rush Gilpin of Clifton, Arizona, who left here in 1913, and "Uncle Joe" Meador, 92, now of Abilene, who was here when the county was organized in 1891.

Old Settlers Keep Ross As President

THE PAGEANTRY of fine horses and colorfully attired riders Thursday morning set the scene for the beginning of the 42nd annual meeting of the Motley-Dickens Counties Old Settlers Reunion with the traditional parade in Roaring Springs. A total of 181 horseback riders led by Texas Tech's scarlet and black Red Raider, Douglas (Dink) Wilson riding Charcoal Cody, led the parade. The mounted color guard included Melvin Dirickson, Tom Thornton, Tuff Garnett and Lavana Kay Cooper.

Back at Pioneer Park blue ribbons were presented Melvin Dirickson as the most typical old time cowboy and Mrs. Q. Cannon as the most typical old time cowgirl. Benny Dillard was judged the most typical cowboy and Mrs. Bobby (Robertson) Skaggs was named most typical cowgirl. In the junior division Cindy Whitley of Afton was named the most typical junior cowgirl and Ben Charles Grundy, 7, of Matador was named the most typical junior cowboy.

ONE OF THE OLDEST persons attending Old Settlers Reunion Thursday was Joe Meador, 92, pioneer of Motley County, who is making his home in Abilene. He was accompanied here by his daughters, Mrs. C. E. Woolery and Mrs. James Bryant.

At the pavilion tribute was paid to 127 deceased residents of the two counties (67 Dickens and 60 Motley) during the past year. Many of the names were from the thinning ranks of pioneers. Charlie Long of Roaring Springs extended the welcome. President Sam Ross introduced District Attorney John Stapleton of Floydada as the memorial speaker.

"The pioneers gave us a great heritage," he said, "but we can not sit in the shade of the tree of freedom and enjoy it as a matter of course. We should preserve it and avoid apathy, which is a vicious enemy."

He pointed to the hardships of the pioneers who came here to build homes, schools and churches, starting a new way of life in a land that a few years previously had been the province of buffalo, deer, antelope and tribes of Indians.

Invocation was by Rev. W. B. Vaughn, retired Methodist minister of Matador. The large pavilion crowd was silent for a minute of silent prayer in memory of deceased pioneers. Benediction was by Littleton Rattan.

Matador Gins 1st 1965 Bale

First bale of 1965 cotton was ginned here yesterday afternoon at 3 p.m., according to Bennie Keltz, Manager of West Texas Gin.

The dry land cotton was grown by Stuart Dixon in the Whiteflat community. The 1820 pounds of seed cotton produced a bale weighing 490 pounds and 820 pounds of cottonseed.

West Texas Gin processed the first bale free of charge and purchased the lint at 40¢ per pound. The cottonseed was purchased at the rate of $50 per ton.

Unconfirmed reports have been received that a bale of cotton was ginned earlier in the Flomot community for the first 1965 bale in the county.

Senators See Need For More Senators

This is a biased news article. The Tribune is not a political newspaper but it opposes the election of eight more State Senators in the special election, Tuesday, September 7th.

Every county in the state has been forced by the Legislature to hold a special election to see if the people want to hire eight more Senators. The proponents of the issue say it will give the people better representation.

In relation to Motley County it means that if the proposal is defeated Senator Andy Rogers of Childress and Senator Jack

Visiting In Calif. During Watts Riots

One Matador resident was glad to get back to Texas from her vacation. Mrs. Louis Poteet arrived home Saturday after a visit in Torrance, Calif., where she visited her daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Dave Breeden. She had arrived there the day before the rioting started at Watts, a near-by suburb of Los Angeles. "Words can't describe the terror and destruction which followed," she declared.

Several other relatives have returned from trips in various sections of the country. Mrs. Velma Fulfer arrived home Tuesday morning from her visit in Virginia Beach, Va., with her son and family, Cmdr. and Mrs. G. W. Fulfer. She made the trip from Lubbock and return, by plane.

Mrs. Joe Self and daughter, Gladys Watkins returned home Friday from a visit in Logoootee, Indiana with their son and brother, and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Watkins. They returned by Eakley, Okla., and Wichita Falls, where they visited other relatives en route home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Graven reached home Tuesday from a 10-day trip to New Mexico and Colorado. They were joined at Trujillo Meadows Reservoir by their son-in-law, Richard Hamilton of Boys Ranch, who spent several days with them. In making the trip they were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Carol Williams and family of Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Rose and children, Tony, Kenny and Colleen returned home Sunday night from a trip to Mena, Ark. where they visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rose and other relatives. En route home they visited at Mount Vernon with Mrs. Rose's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn Thrasher.

A recent trip was made by Bud Hobbs, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell, to his native home in Tracy City, Tenn. After visiting his relatives there and making tours in the vicinity of Chattanooga and Look-Out Mountain, they made the return trip home through Alabama and Mississippi.

Ross Is Re-elected
 President Sam Ross of Flomot and the present board of directors were re-elected by unanimity. (Continued on back page)

Hightower of Vernon will be forced to run against each other, to see which one is retained. If the voters decide to favor the special amendment, they can keep their jobs.

Those who favor the increase in State Senators from 31 to 39 say it will improve the representation of rural areas, yet it will allow Harris County five Senators, Dallas County four, two and a part for Bexar and two and a part for Tarrant.

The "sleeper" in the special Senator election is a clause that would remove from the Constitution of Texas the restriction that "no single county shall be entitled to more than one Senator."

The reason the Senators could not wait until the Nov. 2 general election to see if the voters wanted to hire eight more is that ruling of the Supreme Court have made it mandatory to redistrict the state on the basis of population rather than the number of qualified electors presently provided.

Some rather strange side issues are coming out of the election and some more money is going to come out of the people's pockets if they hire eight more Senators.

For instance organized labor has come out against the idea, but on the other hand Texas Co. Op Power Magazine favors employing eight more Senators.

It says that many of the Senators who will be lost if the 31-member plan is retained are long-time supporters of rural area projects. And by virtue of their years in the Senate, they have gained both experience and seniority which gives them claims on some of the vitally important committee posts in the Senate.

Judge Reeves Opposes
 The Tribune went to County Judge Elbert Reeves for an opinion since he is the only man in the county who has ever been a member of the Legislature. He opposes the increase from 31 to 39 Senators.

"It is simply selfish legislation in keeping eight Senators from running against each other. The proponents claim better representation from the rural areas, which simply is not true. The big cities are going to have the (Continued on back page)

Contract Let For Boll Weevil Spray

LUBBOCK — The USDA's Plant Pest Control Division has announced letting of the contract for the second year's chemical spraying in the High Plains Boll Weevil Control program to Roane's Flying Service of Jeanerette, La. Price bid was $2.14 per gallon, or about 26.7 cents per acre.

The Boll Weevil Control program, a project of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is financed by cotton producer and state funds matched by money from the Federal government.

High Plains producers in 1964 contributed 50 cents per bale to the effort, but PCG's area-wide boll weevil committee has reduced this figure to 40 cents per bale for 1965.

Terms of the contract call for multiple applications of ultra low volume, undiluted malathion to cotton in a control zone now estimated at 250,000 acres.

The decrease in cost of operations is due largely to the high percentage of producers (over 97 percent last year) who contribute to the program.

New officers of the American Legion Fleming Post No. 337, and Ladies Auxiliary will be installed when the two organizations meet Monday night, Sept. 6, following an August recess.

enrollment Monday showed a total of 329. There were approximately 20 Negro students in high school and 40 in grade school. There was no incident.

Supt. Chas. Johnson said the Negro and white students worked together well and rendered aid to each other in classes. Grade School Principal J. E. Edwards said the 40 Negro students accepted integration graciously and with dignity. "There is no color or race distinction in grade school," he said. "We have a total of 223 students." High school had a total of 106 students.

By Tuesday the "school year" had started in earnest, with classrooms filled and students and teachers working together on the problems of education.

It was the beginning of Charles Johnson's career as a superintendent.

Whatever integration might mean in other parts of the United States, it had been accomplished without a single incident in Matador's school system.

Five New Teachers

Five new teachers Tuesday had started their second day with the Matador schools. They are Willborn Myers, Matador Matadors coach and high school business teacher, Earl Byerley, 9th grade teacher and assistant coach; Mrs. Ronald Davenport, public schools music; and Glendell Smith, new 6th grade teacher.

Antique Fans, Carnival Glassware Create Interesting Hobby Display

Creating interest at Vaughn's Drug is an interesting display of Carnival (or Cinderella) Glass and antique fans. The exhibit was arranged by two Matador women who discovered that they had hobbies of collecting these items which were described in an article in August issue of Woman's Day.

Mrs. Marvin Vaughn has several pieces of glassware identical to those described in the article, and Mrs. Keith Patton has a collection of fans similar to those pictured.

Mrs. Vaughn began her collection about ten years ago, while on a vacation trip with her husband, in Santa Fe, New Mexico.

"While Marvin went fishing, I made a round of the antique shops," she said. "I began to notice many of these colorful glass vases and dishes, and remembered that my mother had had a number of similar pieces of glassware when I was a girl, so I bought a vase."

Since then, she has added to this a pair of candle holders, cream and sugar set, two fruit bowls, a small berry bowl, one tumbler, and a candy or nut dish. This year she received another vase as a gift.

The glass is shimmering and iridescent, and fashioned with many ornamental designs such as grapes, flowers, fruits, birds, and animals. It comes in many colors, including marigold, cobalt blue, purple amethyst, red, and green, and some white and pastels.

Because pieces were given as prizes at fairs and carnivals, and store-keepers gave it as premiums, it became known as Carnival glass. According to the article by Dorothy H. Jenkins, more than five hundred patterns have been identified and named.

Mother Starts Collection
"My fan collection was started about 15 years ago by my mother, (Mrs. George Moyer of Babylon, Long Island, N. Y.) who is an auctioneer. Friends and my family have added to it from time to time," explained Mrs. Patton.

She received an intact collection of about ten fans from a friend in Babylon, which had belonged to the friend's grandmother.

One of the most prized fans in her collection once belonged to a sister of former Postmaster General James Farley. Miss Farley was an acquaintance of Mrs. Moyer, and gave her the fan after learning that her daughter Joan, was collecting them.

Her collection includes doll fans, a perfume fan, a signed French fan, a Swiss all-wooden fan, a plush Spanish or Mexican fan with tortoise shell sticks, an ivory fan decorated with painted flowers, several paper commemorative fans, a mourning fan of black lace with tortoise shell sticks and flower fans with mother-of-pearl sticks.

Mrs. Patton also has several modern fans from Gibraltar, Hong Kong, and Japan, and from Ruidoso, N. M., which will some day be collectors items.

According to the article in the Woman's Day magazine, the origin of fans is not known. While the Chinese invented the first fans, which were flat, it is generally believed that the Japanese introduced the folding fan, so familiar today.

PRODUCERS WINNING

Battle of the Boll Weevil!

BOLL WEEVIL CAN BE BEAT

The efficiency and effectiveness of the 1964 weevil control program, together with the continued support of producers, strongly points toward a complete High Plains victory over this most dreaded and costly of all cotton insects.

20% LESS REQUESTED FOR WAR CHEST

Economies effected in the first year's spraying, plus the fact that over 97% of producers helped finance it, made possible a substantial carryover of funds from 1964 to be used in 1965. This in turn has made it possible to reduce the requested producer contribution in 1965 from 50 cents to 40 cents a bale. And there is hope this can be further reduced in 1966.

The following is a financial report from the Boll Weevil Steering Committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. to those who are so wisely investing in this vital program:

(6) Total cost of program in 1964 was $1,188,435.20, with the difference paid from Federal and State funds
(7) Required escrow fund to remain 2 years beyond termination of the program

Thirsty Cattle Could 'Scent' Water 6 Miles

Half-starved trail herds could scent water as far as six miles, according to an old trail driver, W. M. Hunter Sr., who lives at 3615 27th Street, Lubbock, and attended Old Settlers at Roaring Springs Thursday.

He said there were few water holes for big herds between the Double Mountain Country in Kent County and rail heads in Clarendon, Childress and Estelina. He said a thirsty cow could "scent" water from six to seven miles after a long drive on a hot day.

He worked on the 2-Circle-Bar ranch which then covered three-fourths of the county. Old Clarendon was the county seat. He helped drive herds (1500 to 2000 head) for four years. There were few fences in 1896. He also worked for a short time on the Pitchfork Ranch. Pay for a Cowboy in those days was $25 per month and your "chuck". Top hands received as much as $30 per month.

Mr. Hunter was born in Lee County, Mississippi in 1875 and came to Texas with his parents in 1882. He is retired and owns extensive farming interests south of the Lubbock area.
