QUANAH (Spl.) -- Ideas, information and emotions ran deep and wide Tuesday in Quanah at the initial meeting of the Quanah Parker Trail Committee of the Texas Plains Trail Region.

About 50 people from across the 52-county region, plus guests from other parts of Texas and Oklahoma, met at the Three Rivers Foundation Ballroom to discuss a way to organize an official Quanah Parker Trail -- not so much to designate specific routes as to put dots on a map of the area. Attendees literally stuck pins in a large map of the Texas Plains to designate historical sites and informational sites and other places with ties to the famous Comanche chief, son of Anglo captive Cynthia Ann Parker and war chief Peta Nocona.

County developing management program for feral hogs

By Carol Campbell
Motley County Tribune

"There are an estimated 24- to 26,000 feral hogs in Motley County" at any given time, Ryan Martin, AgriLIFE Extension Agent said.

"We are heading for a 'Perfect Storm' -- an ecological nightmare," said Rick Gilliland, a USDA Wildlife Services supervisor from Canyon. Wildlife Services is providing an aerial hunting program, focusing on nine distinct areas. "There is an estimated $400 million per year in damages by feral hogs," Gilliland said.

Twenty residents attended a program on a Feral Hog Abatement program sponsored by the Motley County Extension Service on October 26, 2010, at the library annex. Martin began the program by outlining the early beginnings of feral hogs in the US. "The first hogs were introduced in 1539," Martin said. "Now, we have about two million feral hogs in the state of Texas alone, showing up in all but a few counties in the state."

"One sow can be responsible for 1,000 plus feral swine in a 5-year period," Martin said. Feral hogs are omnivores, eating plant and animal matter, he added.

According to the Texas Parks and Wildlife, hogs are "very opportunistic feeders and much of their diet is based on seasonal availability." Foods include grasses, roots and tubers, browse, mast (acorns), fruits, bulbs and mushrooms. Animal matter includes invertebrates (insects, snails, earthworms, etc.), reptiles, amphibians, and carrion (dead animals), as well as live mammals and birds if given the opportunity. Feral hogs are especially fond of acorns and domestic agricultural crops such as corn, milo, rice, wheat, soybeans, peanuts, potatoes, watermelons and can-taloupe. Feral hogs feed primarily at night and during twilight hours, but will also feed during daylight in cold or wet weather. According to Martin, hogs will even eat cotton plants in a pinch.

The legal control of feral hogs includes hunting, trapping, and catch dogs. "It is illegal to use toxins on feral pigs," Martin said. All trapped animals must be moved to a holding facility within seven days. Authorized holding facilities in this area are located in Paducah, Turkey, Wellington, Clarendon, Chillicothe, and Anson.

According to Martin, the Extension Service perfected a feed to make sows sterile, but "we can't put it out" because it also creates problems for deer and other wildlife populations.

Rick Gilliland spoke on Damage Control and Population Management. Population management and managing wildlife damages is effected by lack of funding; lack of organized control programs; the high reproductive capabilities of the feral hog; and "feral hogs are very adaptable," he said.

The Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) is sponsoring a program to remove feral hogs in the county. Motley County is eligible to receive assistance under the TDA program. Participating counties will be required to document the number of feral hogs taken in the county, as certified by an authorized agent; participate in a TDA-approved educational program about feral hogs; and document, in writing, the number of acres in the county that landowners will allow access by county trappers or Wildlife Service Specialists for the purpose of removing feral hogs.

A recent resolution from the county judge and commissioners authorized USDA supervisor James Gillespie to act as the representative for the purposes of the program.

Pictured is Rick Gilliland, a USDA Wildlife Services supervisor from Canyon, who spoke at the recent feral hog management program hosted by the Motley County AgriLIFE Extension Service. Population management and damage control is a primary focus of the Wildlife Services program.

A contest was held during October to help determine the number of hogs in the county, and the number of hogs killed. Awards for the highest scoring counties will be made in the form of a grant that the county will be able to use on feral hog abatement during 2011. Competing with 60 other counties in the state, the highest scoring county will receive $25,000; 2nd place, $16,000; and 3rd place, $10,000. Gillespie was responsible for certifying the number of hogs taken, totaling about 150 as of October, 31, 2010.

Following the speakers, a chicken-fried steak dinner was served to the participants. For more information on the feral hog abatement program, call Ryan Martin at 806-347-2733 or James Gillespie at 806-269-2214.

There was a large turnout for the first annual Halloween Playday held at Roaring Springs Arena this Sunday, October 31. The event was sponsored and created by Jessica and Devin Ballard of Matador, Texas. Many people volunteered to make the event possible such as D'anna Russell, Lori and Russell Alexander, Sandy Harrell (Crosbyton, TX), Chad Overton, Matthew and Libby Cruse, Lexi Osborn, and Harold Parks to name a few. Parent involvement was at an all time high with everyone pitching in to help. The event was held for any kid who wanted to participate regardless if you had a horse or not.

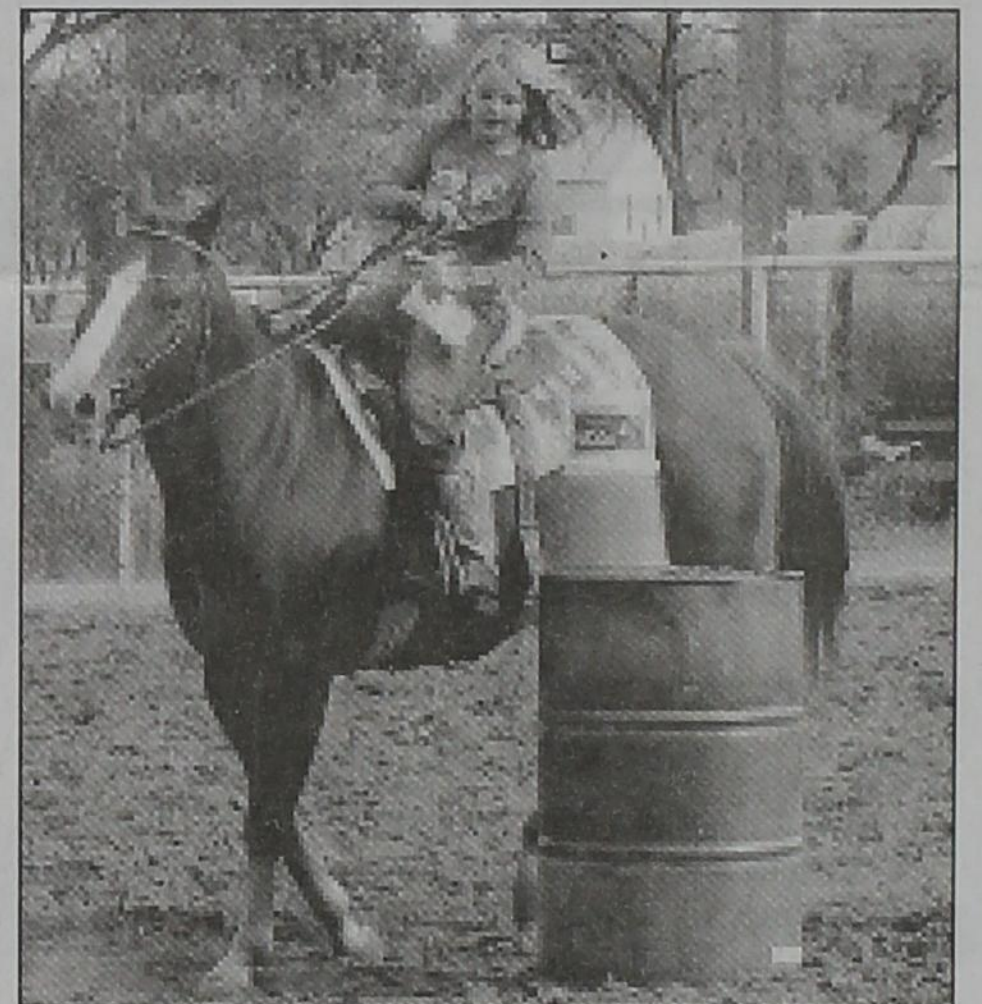

A horse and rider costume contest kicked off the event with prizes awarded for Most Unique, Most Creative, Cutest, and Best Horse and Rider Costume.

There were two events to compete in with your horse and they included a Trick-Or-Treat race and an apple bobbing contest. The play day concluded with a good old fashioned boot race!

Participants in the play day included Caleb, Mickey, and Kenzie Clary, Blue Washington, Natalie and Emily Jameson, Jaci Zingerman, Sage and Tatum Guerrero, Cameron and Andrew Stafford, Autumn and Keygen Woolsey, Brody and Brogan Rankin, Kyler Beshirs, Seth Baxter, Koryn Simpson, Lexi Osborn, Wyatt and Emma Hackler, Cade and Case Drum, Emma Cruse, Chris Overton, and Ellie Thomas.

First Relay For Life meeting

Any one who would like to be involved or would like more information, please come to the First Baptist Church in Roaring Springs on November 4, at 6:00 p.m.

Ready or not, the clocks will have to be changed this Saturday night before you go to bed, otherwise you might have an embarrassing moment when you get to church an hour late.

In the case of the techies out there with cell phones and other devices that get a time signal from somewhere, the device will automatically change to Standard Time.

If you live near the time zone change, your phone will never give you the right time. That's when a nice old Elgin pocket watch, like my Dad owned, would be a nice thing to have.

Security is having a good bunch of firewood ricked up and ready to go. This year I have gone to the trouble of covering the wood so it stays nice and dry. Now all we have to do is wait for the cold weather.

Fall Back!!! Turn your clocks back Saturday night

The Limmer Outpost scene of branding iron party

By Carol Campbell
Motley County Tribune

Howard and Carolyn Limmer, Snyder, hosted friends from Matador at the 2nd annual "branding party" at the "Limmer Outpost" on Saturday, October 23, 2010.

Enjoying a day of excellent food, fellowship, and music were: Roy and Frances Hobbs, Kay and Ron Bailey, Carol Campbell, Bundy and Dixie Campbell, and Ed D. and Patricia Smith.

The Limmer backyard was encircled with yellow and mauve mums and potted plants of ornamental grasses and cactus. A large mulberry tree provided shade to a large flagstone patio area with a partially covered roof of orange trumpet vines which filtered light to the museum.

Howard's outdoor museum has relics from times past -- an old mule yoke, wagon wheels, bridles, assorted branding irons, and other mementos, all hanging on a fence that provides the eastern wall to the outpost. Rattan couches and chairs with other rustic furniture (a disguised ice chest and trash bin) made a comfortable backdrop for lazing away a perfect fall afternoon.

The "Limmer Outpost" is a self-design project, featuring four large support beams holding a rustic cedar post roof, and a partially enclosed area. When the west sun sets, white muslin curtains are released from the cedar posts, providing needed relief from the heat. Howard thought of everything: two ceiling fans whirl away, keeping insects at bay.

Guests arrived about 11:30 a.m., just in time for Howard's famous Rol-dogs. These wieners are split in half with a jalapeño center, wrapped in bacon and grilled to perfection. They were served on a rolled up hot tortilla with condiments of cheese, onion, and pickle relish. Chips and other specialty items, including pickled watermelon rind and gourmet olives rounded out the table fare. Dessert was a treat that no one in this group had ever tasted -- homemade jalapeño ice cream. Some had their doubts, but after a taste of this treat, true believers asked for seconds.

Following lunch, the group split up -- the guys swapping tales at the outpost, and the girls to run errands -- some seeking Halloween treats; and others to shopping at the "Pet-ticoats on the Prairie" marketplace.

By mid-afternoon, the "branding" irons were heated up for the festivities on a large hot mesquite fire; and a large support beam was branded with each iron, consisting of the JA, the Matador Ranch, and the Broken-O brand. Individual brands were also burned into the beams, like R bar, CC, KB, CPL, FH.

This host and hostess saved the best for last. The evening meal topped off a perfect day -- mesquite grilled ribeye steaks and chicken breasts, baked potatoes, green beans, tossed salad, homemade rolls and chocolate cake with vanilla ice cream.

A full and happy bunch caravanned home, dodging deer bent on committing suicide, crossing a fork of the Brazos River, then following a path from the abandoned town of Clairemont in Kent County to a detour route through Girard, Texas.

Oklahoma, and his sister, Ardith Parker-Leming from Sulphur, Oklahoma, great-grandchildren of Chief Quanah.

"We feel like there has not been enough interaction," Don Parker said. "The more we learn and understand each other and our cultural differences, the better we get along."

For Don Parker and other Comanches, the Staked Plains of Texas — the Llano Estacado — are the homeland.

"We realize that Cache is a place that has important significance to the Comanche, but it really wasn't our ideal place to hunt buffalo and other things that provided for our livelihood," he said.

Before Parker spoke, historian Doug Harman of Fort Worth had talked about the leather vest he was wearing — one with Comanche beadwork.

"I love this vest," Harman said, saying that when he touched the beadwork he felt something special.

Parker referenced Harman. "When he touched the beadwork, he felt something," Parker said. "It's the way we feel when we come into this area. We feel like we're home. It's not the imagination. It's something that we really feel."

The Comanche view of history is an view that is lacking in most recorded history of the area, Parker said.

"Much writings came from military notes," he said, referring to the Anglo side of battles and campaigns. "There was never a Comanche perspective."

Parker gave his approval to the trail project, calling it a "vast undertaking."

"A lot of charts show different trails that the Comanche and military had," he said, mentioning one Red River crossing 14 miles northeast of Quanah. "We are very excited as to what each of you, each organization, the city and the state are doing to promote these ideas where we could all work together."

Parker shared one Comanche story about a group of Comanches being pursued by the U. S. military, perhaps Ranald Mackenzie and his troops, he said. The Indians weren't able to move fast, especially because of the women and children.

"One of the leaders of this band of Comanches called for the medicine man," Parker said.

"These military people are gaining ground," the leader said to the medicine man. "Is there anything you can do?"

"They believed in the Almighty," Parker said, telling how they stopped and the medicine man smoked his pipe and prayed for the safety of the tribe.

"It began to snow small snowflakes," Parker said. "In time it became a blizzard. Snow hid the horse tracks. That's oral history from our side. When I think of trails, I think of that story."

After the meeting, Tai Kreidler, researcher at Texas Tech University, remembered that he'd heard the military account of the same event — the Anglo account of how a snowstorm halted the pursuit of the Indians.

Other perspectives emerged during the day of sharing, including a story from Harry Bob Martin of Spur, former superintendent of Copper Breaks State Park. Martin told how a visitor had come from Bremen, Germany to retrace the steps of Cynthia Ann and Quanah Parker, spending several nights at the park on his journey.

"He wanted to do it in chronological order," Martin said.

Martin said he sent him several directions from Copper Breaks, including to Oklahoma, to see significant places.

"The point of the story is there was absolutely nothing available for that man to follow," Martin said. "He was just following what I could tell him."

J. Rhett Parker, Ralls city manager, talked about his lifelong fascination with the Cynthia Ann and Quanah Parker story, including a supposed kinship with the Parker family that he's been unable to prove.

"Quanah was a legend," Rhett Parker said. "It's something each little town and each little area shares."

Matador spokesperson Marisue Potts Powell showed pictures of Quanah Parker on visits to Matador. Dolores Mosser of Lubbock talked about the recognition value of the Quanah name.

"It's basically the story of where we live," Mosser said. "It's trademarking. Every place has a point on the map."

Harman, organizer of the Lakes Trail Region's Cynthia Ann and Quanah Parker Trail Exhibit, a traveling photograph exhibit, mentioned the geographical breadth of the project.

"It's basically connecting the dots throughout all of this area and going from Fort Parker (in Central Texas) on," Harman said.

The reach of the story goes even farther. "It goes to Germany or Europe," Harman said. "I've got Hungarian and German friends. They're crazy about that history."

Harman mentioned the German novelist Karl May, sometimes called "the Zane Grey of Germany," who wrote about the Llano Estacado in such detail (Western novelist Zane Grey's style) that his readers in Germany know more about the Plains of Texas than many Texans.

The meeting concluded with a walking tour that included stops both at the QA&P Museum and the Quanah Post Office, where a Depression Era mural by regionalist Jerry Bywaters features Quanah Parker as the central element.

The next meeting of the Quanah Parker Trail group will be January 26, 2011, in Crosbyton, Texas. Expansion of the Quanah Parker Trail website — http://web.mac.com/hanaba/Quanah_Parker_Trail — will accompany development of the trail.

HACKBERRY HAPPENINGS
BY CARLA MEADOR, MARKETING DIRECTOR

The first week of November promises to be fun-filled for Hackberry residents. On Monday an exciting game of kick-ball was enjoyed. This fun activity brings out the competitive spirit in our residents and presents them with the opportunity to take advantage of some good exercise time.

Tuesday afternoon was a happy one when the ladies group of the Matador Church of Christ hosted a party for everyone in honor of those celebrating their birthdays in November.

Wednesday was the big day when everyone enjoyed the Fall Festival. The big dining room was decorated with fall streamers, balloons and festive décor for the big celebration. Residents and staff alike enjoyed games, including a popular cupcake walk with the prize being a scrumptious cupcake, of course. Lunch time brought a delicious menu of 'fair' food, including stuffed baked potatoes, corn dogs and funnel cakes. This fun event was orchestrated by our Activity Director, Mellane Parson.

Things won't slow down for the rest of the week with the re-establishment of our popular Big Breakfast Thursday. What a perfectly delectable treat this is with a menu full of palatable breakfast items. After a breakfast like that what an appropriate time for the residents to enjoy some Senior Exercise. After a big meal and exercise, a little rest is in order, after which the Roaring Springs Lions Club will host a big bingo game for the residents.

To end the festive week, Hackberry ladies will enjoy some pampering when the beauty volunteers come to the Center for hair-dos. Residents can also take part in another Bingo game, which they are always delighted to do, being a favorite activity for this group on the go.

A busy, fun and active week for Hackberry residents. What a great way to kick off the first week of the official holiday season. The residents at Hackberry don't need a season to feel like it's a holiday, because every day is a holiday at Hackberry!

On Friday, October 29, staff members hosted a Going Away party for Daphne Meredith, LVN. Daphne has been a jewel for Hackberry and she will be greatly missed. She has accepted a job as the Manager and Nurse for the Motley County Clinic which re-opened on Monday. Before coming to work at Hackberry, Mrs. Meredith served in this capacity at the Clinic before its closing, so we know she'll do a great job. The residents and staff will miss Daphne very much, but wish her well at her new job.

Hackberry is pleased to announce that we have seven new residents. Billie and Maurice Fuston, Zafus Polley and Margaret Cawley, all of Turkey; and Olive Hinton and Bearie Coleman, of Floyd County now make their home at Hackberry. Mrs. Mary Jones of Matador is staying with us for a while during her therapy re-hab treatment. Mrs. Audrey Jones of Roaring Springs was also with us for a couple of weeks for some re-hab therapy. Hackberry not only makes a wonderful home, but a pleasant place to stay for re-hab therapy. We welcome our new residents and their families.

The HCCC Family Council met Saturday, October 23, with acting president, Cherri Karr, Wayland Moore and Myrna Stephens in attendance. It was announced that a quarterly meeting will be held Dec. 20. A notice will be placed in the Motley County Tribune and the Hackberry newsletter. Members will be notified 2 weeks prior to the meeting. New officers will be elected to take office January 1, 2011. HCCC board members, staff, and residents are invited to attend this public meeting, as well as the general public.

Family members are urged to attend and if you would like to serve as an officer of the Council, it is recommended you bring written recommendations and concerns to the meeting.

As you plan your month, be sure to make a note on the 16th for our Town Hall meeting. The meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m., November 16, in our large dining room. Everyone is encouraged and invited to attend. Representatives from AARP will be on hand to present information about Social Security. This should be a very informative and interesting meeting which will benefit anyone who works and pays social security.

A little reminder - for only $5.00 per year you can add your name to the list of great people who are members of the Hackberry Association. Membership gives you a voice at the annual membership meeting which will be held in December or January. If you would like to become a member of Hackberry, just mail your dues to P.O. Box 347, Matador, Texas 79244, Attn: Brooke. She will then send you a membership form to complete and sign and mail back to the Center, which in turn Brooke will mail back to you after copying for our files. Or, just drop by the Center anytime.

"NOTHING SIGNIFICANT HAS CHANGED"

Christianity is under attack almost daily. The hostility appears to be growing especially during this holiday season. Those that preach "tolerance" are apparently shocked that Christians are different from those who aren't. That very difference seems to alarm some people. However, when we read I John 2: 6 it is very plain that there is a difference. We are to deny ungodliness and worldliness. We are instructed to live "soberly, righteously and godly in this present world." This was penned in the first century and time hasn't changed it.

Christ gave Himself for us—"that He might redeem us from every lawless deed and purify for Himself His own special people, zealous for good works." Titus 2:15. That hasn't changed either!

The Apostle Paul writes—"Therefore come out from among them and be separate, says the Lord. Do not touch what is unclean, and I will receive you, and you shall be My sons and daughters, says the Lord God Almighty." II Corinthians 6:17-18. No significant change found here!

The Apostle Peter writes—"You also, as living stones, are built up a spiritual house, a holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ." I Peter 2:5. That hasn't changed!

NEWS AROUND MOTLEY COUNTY

Roaring Springs News

By Monta Marshall

On a personal note

A new cat has adopted our place. He is a brindle tomcat probably about a year old. Corky calls him Jack, and I call him Jackson P., for the character that I think I remember in Al Capps' Li'l Abner. Wasn't there a General Jackson P. Cornpone in that comic strip?

Li'l Toot doesn't like him for sure. She cuffs him around every chance she gets and growls at him. Obviously she intends to be the alpha cat around here. She is so pretty but sheds so much and takes regular dirt baths. Jackson P's fur is short. He is one of the longest cats we have ever had around. If Toot would let me I would like to get them together and compare them. If I do, the fight will begin!

In the community

Visiting with Bill and Mozelle Hand recently have been Mark Widner, Coy Widner and Coy's year-old daughter Anaston from Lubbock. He had promised to let Bill and Mozelle know when the baby was born and he forgot so he brought her to visit a year later!

Carter Luckett, R. C. Gieseck, Johnny and Connie Morris have stopped by to visit the Hands recently also. Last Sunday, Duane, Kim, Abbi Watson and Hanna Alexander of Lubbock came to visit and installed new ceiling fans for them.

On Saturday, Corky Marshall and J. N. Fletcher attended the 90th birthday party for former resident Dorothy Watson. Dorothy resides in Abilene with her daughter Retha Smith. J. N. visited Jenny Lou Murphy while he was in Abilene. Jenny Lou is almost 100 years old.

Bill and Lea Peacock visited in Roaring Springs on Friday.

Several former residents of Roaring Springs were at the funeral of Shirley Brooks Watson of Crosbyton on Friday. Charlie and Kathy Brooks of Whitehouse, Texas; and Keith Brooks from Jasper, Texas, were among them. Janice Perryman, Steven Byrd and La Nita Geer from Roaring Springs attended the service. Shirley was the daughter of the late C.C. Brooks and LaRue Brooks of Crosbyton.

The Walter Trammells returned home on Wednesday from a trip to Phoenix, Arizona. Traveling with them was Jo's brother, Rugel Humphries of Odessa. Jo said they had a wonderful trip.

JoAnn Reagan of Quitaque visited her mother, Pearl Paten on Saturday.

Buzz and Tince Thacker attended the play, Minnie's Pearls at the Cactus Theater Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Clark Self of Slaton attended the play with them.

Next week will be Veteran's Day. I would like to update the Motley County military personnel list to print in the Tribune next week. Would please call me at 348-7000 and help me get everyone serving our country on the list? We are very appreciative of all who are serving and those and have served our country over the years.

The revival at the First Baptist Church begins next Sunday morning, November 7, 2010. Services are at 10:45 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. on Sunday. Monday through Wednesday evening services will be at 7:00 p.m. A potluck lunch will be served on Sunday. All are invited to attend.

Don't forget to 'fall back' and set you clocks back an hour on Saturday night; otherwise, you might arrive an hour early for Sunday morning activities.

Corky Marshall became a great grandpa for the 12th time on Sunday morning. The parents of the baby boy are Brian and Nancy Marshall of Matador.

Overheard

David Neven PHD: "Do something today that reflects who you are, what you are capable of, what you care about. Give yourself plenty of evidence of what you can do, and you will not doubt your abilities to do anything."

Wilburn Martin visited from Sunday until Tuesday of last week in Granbury with sister and family, Nita and Ervin Merritt, Steve Merritt, Tommy and Cheryl Merritt. Monday night they attended an organization of the Tea Party meeting.

Clois Shorter, and his father, Everett Shorter, were joined by brother, Louis Shorter from Fort Worth, son in law, Dwain Milam of Lake Kiowa and cousin, Wayne Barnes of Whitesboro at Lake Tawakoni and had good luck fishing for blue catfish. Joining Clois, Everett and Louis Tuesday to enjoy fishing were Dr. Ricky Rhodes of Plano and Russell Rhodes of Cypress. They returned to their respective homes Wednesday.

Tylee, Trent and Trevor Barclay of Matador visited Saturday and Sunday with their grandparents, Sandra and Jerry Barclay.

Visiting during the weekend with Janice and Butch Hughes were sons and children, Roger Hughes and Brody and Ricky Hughes and Kason of Floydada.

Joey Lee of Clarendon visited Saturday with his parents, Ruth and Orville Lee.

Mrs. Ken (Dinah) Young of Roaring Springs visited Mary Ellen "Dude" Barton, Sunday.

Visiting Sunday with Jack and Nada Starkey were daughter and family, Mrs. Jackie Lynn Davis, Michael and Virginia Davis of Fritch.

Mrs. Beverly Vinson, a patient at Lakeside Covenant Medical Center in Lubbock, had additional knee surgery this week. She is listed in serious condition.

Floyd T. Starkey of Ralls visited his uncle, Johnnie Starkey, Saturday.

Weekend visitors of Wilburn Martin were daughter and husband, Marilee and Fred Cooper of Borger. They were busy gathering pecans. Good crop of pecans reported.

Anna Beth and Joe Ike Clay attended a football game in Quanah Friday night. Their grandson, Tanner Clay of Panhandle played on the Panhandle football team.

Travis and Linda Kendall visited the weekend in Midland with son and family, Cory and Janet Kendall, Chancey and Connor.

Cotton harvest resumes

Producers were back in fields harvesting cotton that was defoliated this week after thunderstorms October 21-22. October weather did not have a frost or freeze, but had a low of 34 degrees. Temperatures were considerably cooler during the month, however, Saturday, October 30, was a record breaking Motley County temperature of 84 degrees! Wheat, rangeland and livestock are in good condition -- excellent selling prices for cotton and livestock.

Motley County National Weather Service Volunteers registered the total rainfall for October 2010: Buzz Thacker, Roaring Springs 2.83 inches; Ronnie Bailey, Matador 2.70 inches; Clois Shorter, Flomot 1.49 inches; Betty Simpson, Northfield 3.28 inches and Lawrence Allen, Whiteflat 2.43 inches.

Matador News

By Marilyn Hicks

The Motley County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring an appreciation meal next Saturday, the 6th of November, for anyone who is a hunter in the county. It will be in front of the Hotel Matador from 11:00-2:00. There will also be some prizes given away to let these hunters know how much we appreciate the contribution they make to the communities.

This past weekend marked the fall Boondockers event hosted at the Seigler Ranch. All day on Saturday and Sunday you could see vehicles with motorbikes of all shapes and sizes coming and going. Some of the participants stayed in Matador on Saturday night. Those staying at the hotel included relatives of Kelly Martin. They were Kathy and Kirk Rice from Pampa as well as Bobby Messina and Rod Kendall. Also in town for the races were Nate Nickerson from Austin, Texas, Robert and Jill Johnston from Idaho Springs, Colorado, Danny Compton from Lubbock Texas, and Shirley and Sam Crabtree from Kyle, Texas.

Nancy Heerssen and Mike Smith made a long trip out of coming from Austin to their hunting lease near Dickens. They had to stop in Granbury to pick up a new Polaris. Next trip they hope to see Matador in the daylight hours.

A group of friends from Plainview hosted a birthday dinner and card playing event for Jimye Sadler on Saturday night. They also wrote and sang a special song for the birthday girl to the tune of "Bringing in the Sheaves". The group included Ron and Barbara Warren, Paul and Jimye Sadler, Janice and Gary Abercrombie, Walter and Sharon Wright, Robert and Martha Jo Black, and Danny and Linda Murphree.

Last week Tina and Mike McMaster from Cleburne, Texas were in town to visit with their daughter who teaches at Patton Springs School. They enjoyed the visit and the fall festival at the school.

In the middle of a move to Idalou, Suzette and Mark Williams came to Matador to "get away" from the unpacking for a few hours. She is the city manager for Idalou, and he is the business manager for a welding company.

The Red Hatters were in Memphis last weekend. The report is that they enjoyed the trip, the sites, and the meal. Sounds like a successful outing.

Leona Terry had a birthday on the 26th, and her children and several of her grandchildren were in town to celebrate with her. It was also Earlyne Jameson's birthday on the same date.

Sunday night brought Edd and Carolyn Fulkes from Leander, Texas to Matador to look at a hunting lease in the Northfield area.

Billy Paul and Betty Simpson visited in Garden City with Warren, Tanya, and Katy Multer. They attended the Garden City and Rankin ballgame and to see Katy perform as the school mascot. Garden City won this game 101 to 53. This is the first time that Billy Paul's health has allowed him to make this trip this year.

Chamber plans Hunter's Appreciation barbeque

By Carol Campbell
Motley County Tribune

The Motley County Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a free barbeque feast on Saturday, November 6, 2010, in downtown Matador to say "thank you" to the hunters that come to Motley County for open deer season and other wild game.

This Hunter's Appreciation event will be sponsored by the Chamber and Hotel Matador. Food will be served in front of the hotel from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

A drawing will be held to give away meals at local restaurants in Matador and Roaring Springs; items from the Matador Ranch Hunting Lodge; a set of handmade mesquite dominoes crafted by Buddy Compton; breakfast for two at the Hotel Matador; breakfast for four at the Traveler's Inn in Roaring Springs; and a custom-made knife designed by Gary Hicks.

In addition, the Chamber set a date for late night shopping in Matador for December 2, 2010. This year, Santa Claus will set up shop in the Motley County Courthouse.

For more information call Dianne Washington at 347-2636, Barbara Armstrong at 347-2424, or Marilyn Hicks at 347-2939.

MCISD to host Veterans' Day Program

Motley County ISD will host the Veterans' Day Program on Thursday, November 11, 2010, in the gymnasium. The program will begin at 10:00 am; veterans should arrive at 9:30 am to register.

The elementary students will present "American Tears" under the direction of Mrs. Sarah Fowler. A hospitality room will be provided for the veterans and their guests following the program.

The public is encouraged to attend as we pay tribute to the men and women who have served in the United States Armed Forces.

Notes from the Library

By Mary Ann Potts

Can you believe the holiday season is upon us?! And I just finished decorating for fall only to realize I should be dusting off my Christmas ornaments and snapping on the limbs to the Christmas tree! But before you or I start to feel overwhelmed with the Christmas spirit, I suggest curling up with a good book.

Cynthia Keller will put you right in the holiday mood with her book An Amish Christmas. When a frightening twist of fate forces a modern day family to take refuge in an Amish community, life reveals its simplest and most essential gifts.

But if you're not quite ready to resign yourself to the holiday season, then bury yourself in John Grisham's new novel, The Confession. Will an innocent man really be convicted and sentenced for execution? Will the guilty man save him? There's only one way to find out. To further escape the upcoming holiday madness there's Lee Child's Worth Dying For. Child's explosive thriller will involve you in an unsolved missing child case, a local clan that has the county terrified into submission, and a criminal world stretching halfway around the world. Who could possibly survive this journey?

In addition to our new book arrivals, the library has 3 new DVDs to enjoy. Here's a tried and true classic and a great family night flick, Where the Red Fern Grows. I suggest reading the book first then watching the movie. There's also The Time Traveler's Wife which will make you be careful what you wish for and The Boy in the Striped Pajamas will remind us how lucky we really are.

A quick reminder, the Friends of the Library will meet on Thursday, Nov. 4th at 3:00 p.m. in the Library Annex.

FSA News

By Amy Hackler

Producer Reminders and Upcoming deadlines:

November 11th – FSA office closed for Veteran's Day

November 25th – FSA office closed for Thanksgiving Day

December 1st – Deadline for buying 2011 NAP COVERAGE for all types of Grasses. At the time you purchase NAP, you will also need to certify grass acreage so PLEASE MAKE AN APPOINTMENT so that we may be prepared and have your maps printed.

2011 Wheat Acreage Certification – If you purchased NAP coverage on Wheat for Grazing, you will need to certify 15 days prior to turning cattle on those fields. Please make an appointment as soon as possible. If you do not purchase NAP coverage on grazing crops, you will be ineligible for Livestock Disaster Programs.

If you did not purchase NAP coverage on your wheat crop for grazing, and do not intend to graze this acreage, the final certification date is May 15, 2011 for that crop.

Producers are now eligible to sign up for 2011 DCP/ACRE program. If you desire to sign a contract for 2011, please make an appointment with the office. We are asking that you bring all cash leases that are applicable to your farming operation. We may have some on file, but please bring all of them in so that we can double check that everything is on file. Remember, all cash leases must be signed by all owners. The deadline to have all signatures in to our office on your DCP contract is June 1, 2011.

Please bring in all 2010 Sorghum production if you had NAP coverage on it. We need a weigh ticket with an average weight, number of bales, producer's name, and crop year included on this weigh ticket. It also needs signed by the producer. This is crucial to calculating yearly APH's and if applicable a faster payment can be made to you. If you did not mechanically harvest or totally graze the crop out, please let us know ASAP in case your situation will require an adjuster to come out.

All producer's will be required to fill out a new CCC-926, "Average Adjusted Gross Income" certification for 2011 that will be returned to FSA. Additionally, all producer's who receive any payments from FSA will also be required to pick up or download from the internet at <http://forms.sc.egov.usda.gov> a CCC-927 or CCC-928, whichever form is applicable to your situation, and mail to the IRS office in Fresno California. Please contact your local FSA office for further information.

Any changes to your previous farming operation need to be reported to the FSA Office ASAP if you haven't already done so. This includes changes in ownership, changes in operator, changes in direct deposit information, etc. Please contact us at 806-347-2263 ext 2 for more information.

Pipkins Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

The children of Neal and Carol Pipkin are pleased to announce the celebration of their parents' 50th Wedding Anniversary on October 16, 2010.

Neal Pipkin of Matador, Texas and Carol Foster of Pampa, Texas met at Texas Tech University and were married in Carol's hometown. After Neal served as a pilot in the U.S. Air Force, he and Carol lived in Lubbock for twenty years, rearing two children, Lisa and Scott. Neal retired as a Sales Engineer from Rockwell Automation in Phoenix, Arizona. Carol retired as an Elementary School teacher. They returned home to Texas in 2006 and live in Granbury. Their family includes their son Scott, daughter Lisa Walton and husband Tom, and grandsons Mitchell and Parker Walton.

Congratulations on your Golden Wedding Anniversary, with much love from Scott, Lisa, Tom, Mitch and Parker

In Memory of Lorene Lancaster

We have received several donations to Hackberry, Senior Citizens and the cemetery. Been so busy I may have let some get by without sending you a note. Just want to thank you for your kindness.

"As for me, Carolyn, I'm giving to the Republican Party Campaign, running against Obama." She was talking politics when she had her stroke and had already said she was going to donate to the Republican Party. This is one donation she would love!
