Bill McKaskle, 14, and John Henry McKaskle, 9, who reside near Tarzan, exhibit the Indian skull and some of the other relics they found in the Indian grave near U. S. Highway 80 in eastern Martin County. John Henry holds the silver concho in approximately the position it lay on the skull in the grave.

Last Democrat To Resign Post As Federal D.A.

AUSTIN (AP)—U.S. District Atty. Charles Herring, a Democrat who resisted two years of Republican efforts to dislodge him, told the Austin Statesman today he will resign Jan. 1.

Herring is the only remaining Democrat in a federal attorneys job in the nation, the Statesman said. He will leave the vast Western District of Texas from which he has refused to budge despite loud ouster cries from state Republicans. His office said that of 17,023 cases he has prosecuted since his appointment in 1951, some 16,930 have resulted in convictions. Herring said he is resigning to return to private law practice here. He said his resignation has not been asked by the attorney general's department, though the Republican committee from Texas, Jack Porter, said a year ago he was sponsoring a move to replace Herring with San Antonio attorney Russell Wine. Porter had predicted Herring would either voluntarily resign by January of 1954 or be asked to quit.

Herring, 40, answered the local Republicans, questioning "the need of party sympathy" in a federal attorney. He said then he had no intention of resigning before his term expires in July of 1955. He emphasized today his resignation is "completely voluntary."

"I just figure now is as good a time as any to get out," the former Travis County attorney and parliamentarian for the Legislature said. He said rumors that he will accept a job in Washington were "strictly rumors."

Candidate Claims Pants Lost Here

Cecil A. Lotief, Rotan mayor and candidate for state senator, said this morning he lost his pants while campaigning in Big Spring. Lotief, who has been politicking here for the past two days, said the pants — an extra pair, matching his suit — were missing from his car when he returned to the vehicle after eating breakfast this morning. The car was parked in the 200 block of Gregg Street.

Bobby Sox Set Has New Craze

SCHULENBURG (AP)—The bobby set has a new craze. It's played with the right-hand digits on out of state license plates. The player has to locate A 1, then A 2, and so on up to 100. The numbers have to be found consecutively and odd ones can't be saved for later use. When the player reaches 100, she's supposed to get a marriage proposal. "But so far, no one has reached 100," said Callie Schaefer, a high school senior.

GOP Chairman Says Ike Retains Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall declared today President Eisenhower will get "even greater unity and support" from GOP Congress members as a result of Sen. McCarthy's attack on him. Hall made this assessment in a statement which he said he had delayed for a day because he wanted to get a representative sample of Senate and House opinion rather than giving only his own judgment. Eisenhower, when asked at a news conference yesterday whether

Hatoyama Named Premier In Japan; Asks Red Trade

TOKYO (AP)—Ichiro Hatoyama, a pro-American Conservative who wants increased trade with Russia and Red China, tonight was elected Prime Minister of Japan—a post he may not hold for more than three months. A coalition of Hatoyama's Democrats and the Socialists moved the 71-year-old diplomat into the spot from which Shigeru Yoshida was forced to resign two days ago. The vote was 257 for Hatoyama and 191 for Takekazu Ogata, Yoshida's deputy and new president of Yoshida's Liberal party. For their support, Hatoyama promised the Socialists he would dissolve the Diet next month and call new national elections before March 10. The Socialists threw their support to Hatoyama because they frankly figure to be the only party to gain house seats in any general election. Yoshida, who stepped down Tues-

Soviet Union Demands Condemnation Of U.S.

Claims Aggressive Acts Against China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia formally called upon the U.N. today to condemn the United States for alleged aggressive acts against Red China. Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev told the General Assembly's Special Political Committee the United States has turned Formosa into an American military base and is aiding the Chinese Nationalists in raids against Communist territory. He denounced the new mutual assistance treaty between the United States and Nationalist China as "a new act of aggression." Declaring that the pact tightens the United States hold over the Chiang Kai-shek government and permits American action far beyond Formosa, Sobolev said: "This is preparation for new aggression against China." The Soviet delegate made his remarks as the Committee opened debate on a Soviet complaint "of acts of aggression against the People's Republic of China and responsibility of the United States Navy for those acts."

Infant Dies In Stanton Fire

STANTON (SC) — The six-month-old baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Andres Salgado was burned to death here about 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in a fire that destroyed the family home in The Flats section of Stanton. Relatives for the baby were to be said at 5 p.m. Thursday at the St. Joseph Catholic Church with the Rev. Fr. Mueller officiating. Interment will be in the St. Joseph Cemetery under direction of the Arrington Funeral Home. Chief of Police Ed McCain said the body was burned beyond recognition. The small Salgado dwelling, McCain said, had only a front door. There was no rear entrance and no windows in the place. The mother, leaving the baby asleep was visiting at a nearby neighbor's when the fire was discovered. McCain said that by the time the flames had reached the door and that it was impossible for anybody to enter. He said he believes that if there had been a back door the baby might have been saved.

Mercury Dips Down To 23 But Warmer Weather Due

A new low for the season was set for Big Spring this morning when the temperature dipped to a cold 23 degrees recorded at the U. S. Experiment Farm. This was 11 degrees below the weather man's predicted low of 34. Tomorrow morning's low is expected to be 33 degrees, but turning warmer during the day. A hard freeze gripped the Texas Panhandle and Plains Country Thursday. It got down to 14 at Dalhart. Lubbock had 18, Amarillo 23, Wink 26, Junction 27 and Midland, San Angelo, Childress and Wichita Falls 29. Lufkin and Marfa had 32, Abilene 28 and Mineral Wells 20. Other overnight lows included Dallas 33, Houston 50, San Antonio 45, Beaumont 48, El Paso 38 and Austin 44. But warmer weather was on the way, forecasts indicated. The Weather Bureau's predictions called for cold weather Friday and warmer weather Friday with fair skies both days. Northerly winds on the coast, said the forecast, would shift to easterly Friday.

Dallas Housewife Reports Big Negro Raped Her Today

DALLAS, Dec. 9 (AP)—A bus driver's wife said she was raped early today by a big Negro who threatened to kill her and a 3-month-old son. The rape occurred in North Dallas, near Lemmon and Inwood Road. The woman said her husband had just left for work when she heard a noise and the Negro came into her bedroom. She said he wore only a topcoat and rubber soled shoes. He was described as over 6 feet tall and weighing around 250 pounds. "I don't want anything but you," she quoted the Negro as saying. "I'll kill you if you scream. I'll kill the baby if it cries." She said the Negro carried a long-bladed knife. The woman ran screaming to neighbors about 6:15 a.m. She believed the Negro stayed in the house about 45 minutes. The baby was asleep in its crib in the woman's bedroom. Detective T.B. Leonard said a screen was cut on the back porch door to gain entry.

Freezing Winds Chill Europeans

LONDON (AP)—Freezing winds spread snow, ice and sleet over much of western Europe today and threats of new gales sent battered North Sea shipping scurrying for shelter. Torrential rain brought floods to parts of Britain, which still was counting the damage from yesterday's vicious gales. Landslides closed more than 20 main highways. The weather eased in the English Channel however, and the liner Queen Elizabeth was able to leave Southampton for New York after high winds had stopped her sailing yesterday. Gale warnings for the North Sea and Baltic imperiled shipping still reeling from two weeks of almost continuous heavy weather. Three lifeboats were swept away when a giant wave capsized their vessel at Scarborough, northeast England. Off France's Atlantic coast the small Dutch coal carrier Ariel sank in a heavy storm and five crewmen were lost. French fishing ports counted 64 men missing in seven trawlers which vanished in gales. All were feared lost.

Trek Into Woods Fatal For Youth

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Eleven-year-old Donald Morris took a knife and headed for a nearby woods yesterday to cut pine cones and boughs for a Christmas wreath. A few minutes later his mother saw him stagger back into the house and collapse on the floor, clutching at a red stain which was spreading over his shirt front. He died in People's Hospital. Police said the boy apparently stumbled and fell on the knife, driving it into his upper abdomen.

Singer Johnny Ray Undergoes Operation

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer Johnny Ray was operated on last night for drainage of an abscess on his right foot. Cedars of Lebanon Hospital reported. His condition afterward was "fine."

Assault Charge May Be Filed On Infant's Father

Being held in the county jail today was a man who may be charged with assaulting his 18-month-old son. County Attorney Harvey Hooser said charges of aggravated assault were being prepared for filing against the man this morning. He and District Attorney Guilford Jones said the charges may be charged to assault with intent to murder after an investigation is completed. The man was taken into custody by sheriff's officers this morning. Bobby West, special investigator for the district attorney, said the man threatened to cut the child's fingers with a knife during an argument with his wife at a cafe Tuesday night. West said the man was accused of attempting to cut his wife's leg with the weapon, also. Neither the child nor the woman was injured, West said. The man was arrested by city police immediately after the incident on a drunkenness charge. He was released by police yesterday after pleading guilty to drunkenness and being assessed a $6 fine. The same man was charged with aggravated assault in connection with an attack on his wife Nov. 22, but the county attorney had filed a motion for dismissal due to insufficiency of evidence.

Merchants To Meet To Set Store Hours

All local merchants have been asked to meet Friday morning at 10 o'clock to determine a city-wide policy of stores remaining open on some nights during the holiday shopping season. The session will be at the Chamber of Commerce offices, and will be brief, said J. B. Wilmington, chairman of the CC Merchants Committee. He urged a full turnout so a representative sentiment can be expressed.

Armistice Charge

SHEPPARD TRIAL

Witness Says Intruder Seen

By RELMAN MORIN
CLEVELAND (AP)—The "bushy-haired man" re-entered the Sheppard murder trial today when a defense witness testified he saw a man of that description near the scene on the night of the crime. The time was between 2:15 and 2:30 a.m. last July 4. The witness, Leo Stawicki, a steelworker, said he was returning from a fishing trip. "My headlights picked him up in the driveway standing against a tree about 100 to 150 feet away. He was about 10 or 12 feet away as the car passed him," Stawicki said. "He had a long face and bushy hair. That hair was standing up on his head and that's what made his face look so long." He did not know until almost a week later that the spot where he saw the "bushy-haired man" was the driveway of Dr. Samuel Sheppard, on trial for the murder of his wife, Marilyn.

$250,000 Suit Filed In Insurance Failure

WESLACO (AP)—A civil suit for $250,000 has been filed against former officials of the bankrupt General American Casualty Co. of San Antonio. A Weslaco attorney filed the suit, styled D.H. Zachman et al vs. C.B. Ervin et al, in representing 21 Hidalgo County residents. The attorney, Garland F. Smith, said he believed the suit to be the first ever brought in Texas where purchasers of insurance company securities have gone beyond the receivership in an effort to enforce the liability of officers and directors who had charge of stock sales. The company went into receivership last June after it had been given a court extension in an effort to raise enough money from stockholders to stay in business.

JUST WEST OF HOWARD LINE

Indian Relics Are Found In Martin Burial Mound

By FRANKLIN REYNOLDS

STANTON (SC) — His spirit may be in the Happy Hunting Grounds but his bones are in a wash tub at Mon McKaskle's house. The McKaskles live about 18 miles west of Big Spring and a couple of hundred yards north of the Big Spring-Andrews Highway in the Lenora Community of Martin County.

The spirit and the bones mentioned once belonged, or maybe still belong, to an Indian who hunted with a bow and arrow and who roamed this country in the day when buffalo and antelope were thicker than airplanes and oil wells and automobiles put together are today. Over here in what is now known Martin County something happened to this warrior. He had made his last ride and loosened his last arrow. His companions toiled his body and his personal belongings up to the side of the Cap Rock escarpment that strings down in a rugged line from the north, between here and Big Spring, and on the east side of these mountains they found an overhanging ledge of rock that seemed to them would afford him much protection forever, and under this ledge they scooped out a place and buried him in the customs of their people. The burial spot, just west of the Howard County line by a mile or so, is on a ranch now owned by County Commissioner Edmund Morrow and hardly more than a mile north of Highway 80. But time brings changes, and among the changes brought to the grave of this Indian was an infestation of pack rats that has set up a community of house-keeping in that grave. They carried into it much material with which they made nests. The years came and went and then in the course of them one day a cowboy came along, and about the time he reached this spot one of those wild West Texas storms of sand or rain and lightning or snow must have descended upon him, and away out there on the open plains he sought shelter. Like the Indians who had passed that way before him, he looked up and saw that ledge of rock, and in it he saw protection from the threatening elements of the West Texas weather, whatever they might have been. The chances are it never occurred to him that he and the Indian were protected by the same ledge. Maybe it was cold and maybe he needed a fire for warmth. Maybe the rats were a little pesky and he built a fire to run them out, or maybe he just decided to burn them out for the hell of it! Anyway, he struck a match, and that match wiped out what would probably have been the most perfect Indian burial site ever uncovered in West Texas.

YULE FUND HITS $100

The Christmas Cheer Fund hit the $100 mark today, although gifts were slow coming in. Latest Santa's helper was Dr. E. O. Ellington, with a gift of $10. Gifts to the Christmas Cheer Fund help the city's firemen repair toys and pack baskets for distribution to needy children on the holiday. Big Spring people traditionally have been generous with this program, so that no child goes without a Christmas. It is emphasized that your gift does not have to be large. One of only a few cents is appreciated, and will be acknowledged. Just mail your donation to The Herald, or hand it to a city fireman. Make checks to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND.

Driver Critically Injured In Crash

O. L. Green, truck driver for the L. L. Stewart appliance store, was critically injured last night when the butane truck he was driving turned over several times in a ditch near Coahoma. Green suffered fractures of both clavicles, six broken ribs, internal chest injuries, shock and exposure, hospital attendants reported. His condition is reported as serious by his doctor, but he is expected to recover. Green was admitted to the Medical Arts Hospital about 11 p.m. Wednesday, after being picked up by a Nalley ambulance.

Green told attendants that bright lights of a car driving onto the highway near Coahoma blinded him and he was forced to leave the highway in order to avoid a collision. He was unconscious after the accident, which occurred about 9 p.m., and lay injured in the ditch for two hours before being carried to the hospital. The car involved did not stop to administer aid, Green said. Peace officers here said this morning they had not heard of the accident. Sheriff's deputies Dick Stevens and C. H. Ferguson were called to Coahoma about 2:30 p.m. Wednesday to investigate an accident, but they said the two vehicles involved were gone when they arrived. No one was reported injured in the Wednesday afternoon wreck.

13 SHOPPING DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

THE SPRINGBOARD

News From Webb Air Force Base
By JAMES F. KRUEGER

FIRST NCO CLASS

Graduation ceremonies were held Saturday morning for the first class to graduate from Webb's new NCO Academy.

Pilot Training Group Commander Col. William A. Jones addressed the students before presenting diplomas to the 22 senior airmen in the class.

Another class, now in training, will graduate this Saturday. During the holiday season, the Academy will shut down so that repair work may be accomplished in the barracks housing students.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

Webb's 1954 Christmas cards went on sale Wednesday. Profits from the sale of cards, ten cents each or 12 for one dollar, will go into a fund to help support the Base Nursery.

Ladies of the Officers' Wives Club are sponsoring the card sales this year. They have set up booths in the Base Commissary and at other key locations throughout Webb.

PAY DAY ADVANCED

Because many Webb personnel were leaving before Dec. 20 (normal pay day for Air Force personnel), Wing Finance Officer Capt. Harold A. W. Tibbs announced early this week that permission had been granted to pay Webb military personnel Dec. 17.

The advanced pay day will help Christmas in Big Spring, as well as those leaving for home. They now have three "extra" days in which to buy last-minute Christmas gifts.

NEW FLOOR

Complications in the installation of a new black tile floor in Webb's John H. Lees Service Club have postponed the date for re-opening the facility.

While Service Club officials originally expected the club would be open last Friday, they now believe it will be another two weeks before work is completed.

The Service Club provides free entertainment, a reading lounge, and special activities for Webb's enlisted personnel.

Work began on the floor Nov. 29. The new floor is being installed by the company of Big Spring SLOGAN CONTEST.

Contributions of safety slogans in the Holiday Safety Slogan Contest at Webb have been heavy. Jolly O'Brien, Ground Safety Engineer, reports that he has received over 100 slogans to date.

The contest ends at noon tomorrow. Purpose of the contest is to focus attention on the need for safety consciousness during the holiday season when so many people will be making long trips on the highways to spend the holidays with their families at home.

Twenty dollars will be awarded to the author of the best safety slogan, which must contain a holiday safe-driving theme. In addition to the $10 second prize, and $5 third prize, there is an honorable mention award.

O'Brien reports there have been no holiday accidents by Webb personnel since reactivation of the base in 1951. He hopes to continue this record.

CHRISTMAS CARROLLING Singers from Webb AFB will be singing Christmas carols next Thursday evening at the base.

Teachers at the Chapel Sunday School this week invited other personnel from the base to join them as they make the rounds of squadron areas where Webb's enlisted and bachelor office personnel are billeted, and in wards of the Base Hospital.

Both Catholic and Protestant personnel will join in the carolling.

CARTOON AWARD

A cartoon printed by the "Springboard," official paper for Webb AFB, last September has won the Armed Forces Press Service cartoonists award.

The cartoon, captioned "There now, sir, I'm sure there's some logical explanation for all this," showed a Chaplain, with orders for an overseas assignment in his hand, crying at the desk of the Chaplain's Assistant.

Drawn by Cpl. Jerry Dumas, who is no longer stationed at Webb, the cartoon competed with drawings printed throughout the world in all publications of the Armed Forces of our country.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Plans are firm now for the 1954 Christmas party for children of workers on Dec. 18.

To be held in a hangar on the flight line, highlight of the party will be a visit by Santa Claus who is expected to arrive by jet at 10:30 a.m. The party begins at 10 o'clock in the morning, and the children will be greeted at the door with balloons and stockings filled with candy. A special present will be given to each child attending, and a steady round of entertainment is planned.

HITS THE JACKPOT

"The Saturday Evening Post,"

a not-often reached goal of even seasoned writers, was made by Webb's A-3C Otis Gray on his first try.

A clerk-typist with the 3580th Field Maintenance Squadron at Webb, Gray had been writing science-fiction for only a short time before he submitted his article, "Flight of Peril" to the national magazine. It was printed last May.

The story is about children who dreamed of making and flying airplanes, and how their dreams became a reality when they grew up to become scientists and rocketship builders.

While Gray has limited himself so far to science-fiction pieces, he plans to expand into the true-to-life field in the future.

THREE WINS

Webb's Dusters racked up three consecutive court victories last weekend as they met a team from Reese AFB, and Stanton High School.

Thursday at Stanton, Webb's Dusters swept to a 71-50 victory. Games with Reese were played at Webb's gymnasium Friday and Saturday. Friday's game ended 67-58 in favor of Webb. It was a bit closer Saturday as Webb battled Reese to a 65-62 tally.

Frank Schachner, Duster pivotman, raked in a total of 48 points in the two contests with Reese, for an average of 24 points per game.

FOWL SHOTS COSTLY

Ineptitude on the free throw line cost Webb's Cadet crews a crack at the championship last Saturday in the Cadet Invitational Tournament at Houston.

Webb's Cadets missed 16 foul shots during their first and only game of the one-day single elimination affair when they dropped to Bryan AFB, 70-67.

Bryan went on to play Conally AFB for the championship, but lost out, 61-60.

Webb's Cadets are planning a game for next Tuesday evening with the Big Spring High School cage club, plus a game with Good-fellow next January.

Mental Hospital

Escapee Declared Sane, Goes Free

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Louis Henry Ross, 35, is a free man today after spending 30 years in a mental hospital, described by a judge as "the road of no return."

Ross known as the "Laughing Eel" for robberies committed in the 1920s, escaped from Fairview State Hospital several weeks ago and surrendered to Pittsburgh authorities.

Judge Loran L. Lewis ruled yesterday that Ross is legally sane and should not be returned to the hospital. He said a study of records showed Ross must have been sane since 1943.

Ross was sentenced to serve 12 years at Western State Penitentiary for robbery and was transferred to Fairview in 1923.

He was named the "Laughing Eel" by Pittsburgh police, who said he laughed at his holdup victims and eluded many police traps.

Judge Lewis ordered Ross' release after four psychiatrists testified he was sane.

Ross said he plans to work for a local contractor and live with a brother here.

Dr. Asa L. Hickok, assistant at Fairview, said he would welcome an investigation of the hospital.

"If he (Ross) is loose in society we're glad that we are nowhere responsible," Hickok said.

Injuries Prove Fatal

GLADEWATER (AP)—Injuries suffered when his car struck a gravel truck roadside yesterday killed J. J. Janak of Dallas. The truck driver, John Rowland, was not injured.

Request Is Received For Biblical Records

The New Testament recordings at the county library were checked out for the first time yesterday, librarian Opal McDaniel reported. These recordings, designed for blind persons, were given to the library Nov. 2 by the Big Spring Lions Club.

Reproduced on long play (33 1/3 rpm) records, the entire story of the New Testament requires over 23 hours to unfold. The records may be checked out in the same manner as books, the librarian said.

CECIL A. LOTIEF for STATE SENATOR

Cecil Lotief, retail businessman, favors large enough pensions for elderly citizens to subsist decently; for schools staffed with teachers paid adequately to justify complete preparation; for protection of laboring people in every way; for better insurance laws to protect the people.

NO SALES TAX

He opposes any retail sales tax because it would be a hardship on all consumers, especially the least able to pay such as working people and housewives, and equally as hard on retail merchants to collect it. Would call for new perpetual bureau.

LIFE LONG DEMOCRAT

Qualified by two terms in legislature and mayor of home town in Rotan; he is the only retail businessman in the race; is paying his own expenses, and free to represent all people on equal basis.

Loot From The Grave

Except for a fire which somehow burned into the grave, the Indian burial place found in eastern Martin County probably would have been in better condition than any ever unearthed in West Texas. Despite the fire, portions of a blanket, saddle, bow and arrow and other relics were discovered. Note the pipe, beads, rings, bracelets, animal teeth and claws.

INDIAN BURIAL MOUND

of people had looked at so many other times but had never bothered to visit. On this occasion he didn't see any of the evidence of the fire from the cowboy's match that had spread down into the grave, but he did conclude that it looked to him like the burial place of one of those nomads of the plains.

Claude McKaskle talked it over with a couple of his nephews, Bill, 14 and a student in the Stanton High School, and John Henry, 9 and a Grady School student. They suddenly became enthusiastic archaeologists, too, and over the weekend they went to the spot and the excavation took place.

As Claude had it figured out there was an Indian buried there, but that fire had wrought its damage. At that came away from the site of their discovery in possession of a number of well preserved trinkets that give much evidence of that Indian's way of life. Some of the skeleton bones had been badly charred from the fire. The arrow-hunting McKaskle thinks the late buffalo hunter was probably a Comanche, since this area was a favorite hunting and raiding ground with them, but because of a large hammered-silver concho they found lying on the side of the Indian's skull, just where an Apache would have worn it on a head band, he isn't discounting the possibility of the grave being that of one of the fiercer and even more dreaded warriors of the Southwest.

On the fingers they found two metal rings or bands, all of apparently the same metal, and a number of small colored beads. Buried with him was a small piece of pottery in which his companions had placed his "medicine-making charms" consisting of bear claws, eagle or hawk claws, the beard of a wild turkey gobbler, his pipe (made of some material not yet identified), a flint arrowhead, a flint spear head, a gob of his red war paint, and the paint stick with which he could apply this early-day cosmetic. An angle smooth surface of the stick is notched so the paint would flow on his face and body in streaks.

The body had been wrapped, for burial, in skins, either of deer or antelope, and in the grave was also a buffalo robe with some of the buffalo hair still on it. Also found with the skeleton was an old wool blanket that would have probably been unearthed in an almost perfect state of preservation but for the fire, which had also burned his bow into two pieces. Buried with him was a turkey call, made from the leg bone of a turkey, and on this call young John Henry McKaskle has been learning to play tunes. He hadn't blown it many times before his mother caught him at it and scolded and otherwise sterilized the bone. Also in the grave was a bamboo whistle or animal call that was broken.

Lying just under one hand of the Indian, who was buried with his head to the north, the Martin County archaeologists found a leather pouch, crudely sewed around the edges. It had something in it, but the whole had been stuck into a mass and it couldn't be opened. Mom McKaskle wet with the inside easier to explore, and then when he worked his fingers down into it, a bloody mass oozed out—the pouch had been filled with jerked meat, and the substance of that food that was to see the warrior through on his journey to the Happy Hunting Grounds was still there.

"It looks like jerked meat will last a long time," says McKaskle. Inside the grave were the remnants of a saddle that had been made of tanned leather and crudely carved with decorations. Some of the leather is still well preserved but apparently the tree had been converted into charcoal by the fire as were the wooden rawhide-covered stirrups. Only two rusty and crude iron rings were found with the saddle indicating it was a piece of light riding gear and not one of the old heavy Spanish saddles used more than 100 years ago.

The puzzler, however, among the articles yielded up by the grave are pieces of a heavy blue cloth that could have been from an early-day U. S. Army uniform, or possibly from a uniform worn by the Indians on a raid into Mexico, where the Comanches and Apaches frequently traveled.

The teeth in the skull are all perfect but with a smoothness beginning to take over the grinding surfaces. Claude McKaskle estimates that the Indian was at least 40 years old when death overtook him on the plains. He says the date of the burial isn't going to be easy to determine. Apparently it was well before the use of firearms by the Indians became common because of the bow, the remnants of an arrow quiver and the arrow and spear heads of flint found with the skeleton.

And McKaskle says he couldn't find any evidence of the cause of death. There was no life-time fracture of the skull, which was broken by an excavating shovel, and none of the larger bones were broken. The dirt on the grave was screened carefully enough to turn up a number of small beads, but there was no bullet found to indicate that the "Centaur of the Plains" might have been shot to death by a cavalryman or white-skinned hunter.

"It's too bad about that fire," Claude McKaskle reflected again. "But for that fire we would probably have opened the most perfect Indian burial mound ever found in West Texas. Those Indians had placed the body of their fallen companion where there couldn't have been but a minimum of deterioration to the contents of that grave from the elements including the minerals in the rocks and dirt."

Thompson Urges Anti-Import Drive

AUSTIN (AP)—A united front on the part of all Texas oil and gas interests to win action by Congress against excessive oil imports was urged yesterday by Railroad Commission Chairman Ernest Thompson.

"Imports continue to take our markets," Thompson charged. "This hurts our state revenue, the economy of our country, and cripples our national defense."

He said it is "most encouraging to learn that the six great oil and gas associations who are active in Texas will meet in Fort Worth Dec. 15 to consult and agree, if possible, upon a solidified plan of action toward getting congressional relief."

GIRL FRIEND UNNERVED

Suitor Who Proposed At Gunpoint Surrenders

LA PORTE, Ind. (AP)—A rejected suitor who at gunpoint abducted a pretty blonde reporter from the newsroom of the La Porte Herald-Argus yesterday was summoned into court today.

Robert Panek, 25, a tall, gaunt printer's apprentice, brought reporter Abbey Johnson, 22, back to the office an hour and 40 minutes after forcing her into his car. She said he had not threatened her but had proposed marriage. She said she refused.

Panek handed her his .22-caliber rifle when he let her out of his car, she said.

A short time later he appeared at the police station and gave himself up. He was held on preliminary charges of disorderly conduct.

Miss Johnson was reported too unnerved to talk to out-of-town newsmen. Bob Topping, a Herald-Argus reporter, said she had told him Panek was trying to get her to reconsider a decision not to date him any more.

The girl had resigned from the paper, effective Dec. 15, to return to her Chicago home, explaining her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles

Penn State Mayor Pleads Guilty To Conspiracy Count

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Erie's Democratic Mayor Thomas W. Flatley, 67, pleaded guilty yesterday to conspiracy and violation of his oath of office in connection with an alleged 20 million dollar a year gambling ring.

As a result, Flatley, serving his first four-year term, automatically forfeited his $7,500-a-year job. He faces a maximum penalty of three years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Judge Elmer Evans of Erie County Criminal Court set Jan. 6 for sentencing.

Henry Soscia, an Erie Democratic leader, also pleaded guilty to a gambling charge. Charges of conspiracy and bribery were dropped against him. He, too, will be sentenced Jan. 6.

A third Democratic leader, Stanley Schwartz, was scheduled to go on trial today on bribery and conspiracy charges.

Accuracy On Security Firings Total Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP)—More accurate statistics on persons fired from government jobs as security risks is the aim of a new Civil Service Commission order.

In the past, Democrats have charged that discharge totals included some persons fired for non-security reasons and thus were inaccurate.

The commission has asked government agencies to include only firings that were "a direct result of an adverse security determination."

Egyptian Prepared For Execution

Mahmoud Abdel Latif, a thinsmith who fired eight wild shots at Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser during a rally in Alexandria last October, is prepared for the gallows in Cairo's military prison. He was followed to the gallows by five other members of the extremist Moslem Brotherhood who were hanged for plotting to assassinate Nasser and overthrow his government. Executions were carried out in the face of pleas for clemency from other Moslem countries. (AP Wirephoto by radio from Cairo).

Scrappy Finn Twins Win Ruling In Court

LOS ANGELES (U)—The scrappy Finn twins have won a federal court ruling that they are legal owners of a C46 war surplus transport plane, climaxed a two-year legal battle in which they—

Confused prosecutors by their identical looks, one going to jail several days for refusing to tell his name while the other stood guard over their plane.

Handcuffed a United States attorney in a citizens' arrest for allegedly violating their constitutional rights by holding the plane.

And went on a 23-day hunger strike while in federal custody, protesting one-year sentences on charges of interfering with the federal officer they handcuffed.

George and Charles Finn, 40, have been grabbing headlines since the plane was seized by the government at Scotty's Death Valley airstrip after they had flown it from Bakersfield, Calif., in an attempt to hide it from federal officials.

They are former Air Force fliers. U.S. District Judge William C. Mathes ordered the government yesterday to return the plane in the same condition as when it was seized.

The judge ruled further that the government must pay the twins $50,000 if the craft is not returned—and pay the Finns $15 a day rental since the plane's seizure Sept. 15, 1952. The rental would approximate $15,000.

The twins announced they want the transport rather than the $50,000.

The plane originally was bought for a nominal sum by the Vine-land school district near Bakersfield, Calif., from the War Assets Administration for use as a classroom. When it no longer needed the craft, the district sold it to the Finns.

Red China Kept Guessing On Invasion Policy

By SPENCER MOOSA
TAIPEH (U)—Red China would love dearly to know the answer to this question:

Will the U.S. 7th Fleet join the battle if the Communists try to capture any of Chiang Kai-shek's offshore islands?

The Reds will have to learn the answer the hard way. The officially avowed U.S. policy is to say nothing and keep the Reds guessing.

Possibly Chiang and a few other persons on Formosa know the answer. But everyone else here has been left guessing, too.

If the United States has decided what island outposts must be retained by the Nationalists as protection for Formosa itself, Washington is keeping quiet about it.

The string of island bases controlled by the Nationalists dot some 350 miles of water from Quemoy in the south to the Tachens in the north.

Some of these—such as Quemoy, Matsu, White Dag and the Tachen group—might be considered worth holding. But many others are negligible.

One subject of constant speculation is this:

Would the Reds, in the face of possible U.S. intervention, dare risk an amphibious assault on any of the more important offshore islands?

Since the United States and Nationalist China signed the mutual defense pact Dec. 2 the Reds have shown no disposition to call off military activity.

But, on the other hand, they have shown no disposition to enlarge its present scope—at least not yet.

An in-service-training-school for teachers of vocational agriculture in the high schools of this district is scheduled to be held at the Big Spring High School Dec. 14. It has been announced by Lester Buford, area supervisor.

The school will be opened at 3 p.m. that afternoon by L. M. Hargrave of the Department of Agriculture at Texas Tech, who will present a playback of recordings made of the winners in the recent FFA leadership contests which were also held at the high school here.

At 4:30 p.m. the program will be turned over to Louis Maneely of the Howard County Junior College staff and W. A. Burdett, who is in charge of diversified occupations training at the local high school. They will conduct a course in electric and acetylene welding until 6:30 when there will be an adjournment for supper.

From 7:15 until 8:15 there will be a showing of films on livestock and poultry production and judging.

Instructors who will attend and the high schools they represent will be Truett Vines and R. E. Baumhardt of Big Spring; Wayne White of Coahoma; Earl Maddox of Courtney; Marlon Barber of Garden City; Bobby Airhart of Knott; J. R. Cuffman and W. D. McElroy of Midland; Carl Maddoux of Odessa; Elbert Steele of Stanton; John P. Hines of Westbrook; Bob Post and James Trammell of Colorado City; Raymond Holt of Lorraine and E. C. Schneider of Roscoe.

J. C. Mott of Stanton says he believes the late season this fall has increased dryland cotton production by at least 25 per cent. He says that if we had gotten the sort of frosty, freezing weather the almanac says we can reasonably expect in this part of West Texas that the cotton production would have been cut at least that much.

Mrs. Margaret Brooks of Sand Springs, who has been working as a clerk in the Big Spring office of the Soil Conservation Service, has resigned her position and has been succeeded by Mrs. Ozella

Long, who lives in the Monticello Addition in Big Spring.

Shine Phillips is looking for a burro, together with a saddle and bridle, the whole outfit to be suitable for a Christmas present for a four-year-old boy in Mississippi.

The boy's grandfather, an old friend of Shine's, has written the pioneer apothecary about such an outfit and has asked a price on it delivered to Philadelphia, Miss., in time to put it (not literally) in the kid's stocking Christmas morning.

Anybody who thinks they might be able to fill order (and get rid of a burro at the same time) should get in touch with Shine.

County dwellers who would like to have a windbreak of trees on their places can get some assistance from the Soil Conservation Service if they will only ask for it.

Anybody contemplating such a windbreak should also, of course, figure on enough water from some source to get the tree seedlings off to a good start and to raise them up to a point where they can take care of themselves from such supply of moisture as they might be able to pull from a reluctant soil.

The trees are evergreens, Arizona Cypress, which will be potted and which will cost the landowner 25 cents each.

The SCS also has a windbreak planning service which is available without any charge as are all other SCS services. The purpose of this service is to assist farmers with the proper placement and spacing of trees for maximum results in protecting the farmstead. Also, when located properly, the trees will have the effect of helping beautify the farm landscape.

None of these trees, however, will be sold at this reduced price, for ornamental purposes only.

A number of farmers in the counties north of Big Spring have shown considerable interest in the program.

Farm windbreaks will help protect gardens, buildings, yards, and livestock against wind, and on the Plains all the protection possible is needed. Also—a windbreak makes it possible to do a better job of growing other plants, such as ornamentals. A point not overlooked is protection of the home against blowing sand.

Martin County voting places for the farmers to cast their ballots in the Dec. 14 cotton referendum have been listed as: A Community at Stanton; B Community at Leno; C Community at Brown; D Community at Tarzan; and E Community at Tarzan.

In this referendum the farmers will vote on whether or not they want marketing quotas in effect on the 1955 cotton crop. Such quotas have been proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture but they cannot be continued for 1955 unless approved by at least two-thirds of the farmers in the cotton growing states.

Martin County's cotton allotment for 1955 has been set at 98,052 acres, which is an increase of 4,448 acres over the original 1954 allotment of 93,604 acres.

If the quotas are approved in the Dec. 14 balloting the price support for eligible growers will be available at a level of between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity, depending on the supply. If they are disapproved price supports will be at 50 per cent and there will not be any price support for those who plant in excess of their allotment.

Four Die In Maine Farmhouse Blaze

VAN BUREN, Maine (U)—Four of 18 persons sleeping in a rambling, two-story farmhouse were burned to death in a fire yesterday.

They were Mrs. Camille Lausier, 46; her daughter Cecile, 5; and two of her grand children, Arlene Bouchard, 3, and Nancy Bouchard, 2. Six other children of Mrs. Lausier and another grandchild were hospitalized.

Cause of the fire was unknown.

Cornerstone Is Laid

NAZARETH, Israel (U)—A cornerstone was laid yesterday—the end of the Marian Year—for the new Church of the Annunciation, fourth church to be built on the site over the holy grotto where the angel Gabriel is said to have appeared to the Virgin Mary.

Loot From Train Robbery 45 Years Ago Is Uncovered

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (U)—This central Pennsylvania community today buzzed with accounts of a robbery—a train robbery that took place more than 45 years ago. The talk started yesterday when three deer hunters reported they accidentally stumbled across what might be part of the loot taken from a Pennsylvania Railroad train near here in an early-morning holdup in 1909.

The uncovered "loot" consists of about 3,700 Lincoln head pennies

Autopsy Ordered In Actress' Death

HOLLYWOOD (U)—An autopsy was ordered today into the death of Gladys George, 50-year-old former movie and stage actress found unconscious yesterday in her apartment.

Her physician, Dr. Russell Jones, said there was a possibility her death was caused by a barbiturate. He said he had her sent to the hospital and that she died before tests could be completed that would have determined whether she had taken sleeping tablets.

Dr. Jones said the actress had been treated, successfully, for throat cancer a few years ago. Miss George was acclaimed as one of the best performers of 1936 by the Motion Picture Academy for her role in "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie." She made her stage debut when only 3.

The daughter of Sir Arthur and Lady Clare, she was married four times. Her last husband was a Los Angeles bellboy, Kenneth C. Bradley. They were wed in 1946 and divorced in 1950.

which old-timers say the train robber mistook for pieces of gold. Police said about a million dollars in gold bullion was being carried on the train from Washington to Cincinnati when it was dynamited to a stop.

The gunman, however, got into the wrong car and ended up with several sacks of pennies.

John A. Dubendorf, Lewistown; his brother Albert, of Middletown; and Charles E. Bell, of Maitland, found the coins while scurrying through the woods last week in search of deer.

The three men said they learned of the train robbery through reading an old newspaper account which mentioned the name of Merrill Davis, then a patrolman for the PRR.

Davis surmised the gunman checked the loot in the woods and after going through most of the bags and finding nothing but pennies, left them there and fled. A bag of gold, he said, was found unopened.

The finders divided the coins equally and said they will hold onto them until they are given some definite legal orders to turn them in.

Christmas In Advance

It's merry out at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Trantham, 2800 Johnson. Their long-awaited, adopted son, Charles, has arrived from Germany. Here it's a toss up between Mrs. Trantham and Charles as to who is the happier.

Wednesday Night Club Has Dance

One of the first of the holiday parties was the dance at the Country Club Wednesday evening, given by the Wednesday Night Dance Club. About 75 couples danced to the music of Jack Free's orchestra.

The ballroom was decorated with tinsel forming a false ceiling with a cluster of silvered pine cones and Christmas tree ball in the center. The mantel held a bank of red-berried Pyracantha on a base of cotton.

The refreshment table was laid with a cloth printed with poinsettias and decorated with a small reindeer in a base of spruce. At one end was the punch bowl; at the other a candelabra with an arrangement of Christmas balls and silvered leaves. Guests were seated at small tables decorated with red tapers in bases of cedar and spruce.

Host couples were Mr. and Mrs. Obie Bristow, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Feiler, Mr. and Mrs. John Hodgson, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Krause, Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Guthrie, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Woodall, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Lutting, Mr. and Mrs. Hank Gwyn, Dr. and Mrs. Milton Talbot and Mrs. B. L. LeFever. The next meeting of the club will be a dinner and business meeting at the Country Club on Jan. 12, 1955.

Seniors Entertained With Formal Dance

FORNSAN—Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brunton and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Averett were chaperones recently for the Senior Formal at the Country Club. About 40 attended.

Mrs. Delmer Klahr and son, Royce Dean, have been dismissed from Medical Arts Clinic-Hospital. The infant weighed seven pounds and was born Dec. 3. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Klahr of Forsan.

For Little People

Tiny Connie Haines, currently starring in the Guild Film Frankie Lane TV show and soon to be seen on her own program, chats with Lydia Lane about choosing clothes for a small girl.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Connie Haines Gives Advice For Short Girl

By LYDIA LANE HOLLYWOOD—Songbird Connie Haines is only five feet tall but everyone is surprised when they meet her in person to discover that she is so small.

"I never think of myself as being short and I believe that thoughts are things," she told me the other day.

"In planning a wardrobe I naturally have to take into consideration that I am not tall and eliminate what detracts from height," Connie continues. "I can never wear two-tone dresses or anything which cuts me in half. However I have a long waist so fortunately I can wear colored belts, especially with full skirts."

"TV has been a great help in pointing out what is good and bad for me. I've discovered that a skirt which has ruffles only at the hemline gives an illusion of height, but that a skirt with fullness around the hips is no good at all. "Hemlines make a big difference, too—my best length is a bit higher than middle of the calf. I have had most success with clothes which are made for me and while I know what the latest fashions are I don't follow them unless they are becoming."

"Do you have trouble maintaining your weight?" I asked. "I try to stay around 101 and it really is no problem because I've trained myself not to overeat. If we are honest that is the real reason any of us gain weight."

"If your normal weight is 130, two pounds is not much to gain but when you are as small as I am two pounds is quite a bit percentage-wise, so whenever I tip the scales at 104 I cut out all starches and sweets and it isn't long before I'm back to normal." "You make it sound so easy," I said. "I'm a great believer in mind over matter so that when I have to diet I take my mind off food. You can be awfully hungry but if you make yourself think of something else you can forget all about your appetite."

I complimented Connie on her lovely, clear skin. "That pleases me," she said. "because in my teens I had a bad skin while my sister Barbara's complexion was the peaches and cream kind. But she made the mistake of taking her good skin for granted and now it's not as nice as mine."

"What is your secret?" I asked. "Cleanliness. I always check and double check to make sure my pores are free of stale make-up. And I find that using a liquid cream is better because it cleanses more easily."

Unto a Good Land was reviewed by Mrs. James Taaffe for members of the Spoudazio Fora when they met in the home of Mrs. Charles Tibbels, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Oliver Cofer was co-hostess. This is the story of a group of Swedish immigrants who came to America in the 1850's and of the hardships they underwent. Their thankfulness was an underlying theme through the book.

A Christmas party and dance was planned for Dec. 18. It will be given in Carpenters Hall, with the hospitality committee acting as hostesses. Members made plan for a basket to be given to a needy family. Fourteen members and one guest, Mrs. Bill Crooker, attended.

Newcomers Club Elects Officers Members of the Newcomers Bridge Club elected officers at their regular meeting Wednesday at Smith Tearoom. Mrs. Max B. Lewis was elected president; Mrs. H. G. Fraser was chosen vice president, and Mrs. D. A. Brazell was made secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Wilson T. Smith was elected reporter.

In the games, high score was won by Mrs. Brazell, and second high was won by Mrs. Frank Salinburg. Mrs. Fraser took the traveling prize. Plans were made for a couples party to be held in the evening on Dec. 15. This will be at the Settles Hotel, and bridge, canasta and "42" will be played. This party will take the place of the afternoon party originally scheduled for Dec. 22.

All newcomers are invited to join this club. More information may be obtained by calling Mrs. A. J. Conrad at 4-7773.

Coming Events FRIDAY SCOTCHMAN DANCE CLUB will have its Christmas dance at 9 p.m. at the Scotchman Club. Dick Foss and his orchestra will furnish the music. This is a change of date and place. SCOTCHMAN DANCE CLUB will meet at 7 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Mirvyn Daniels, 500 E. 28th, for a Christmas party.

Berta Beckett Class Meets For Annual Mission Offering

Berta Beckett Sunday School Class of First Baptist Church met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. R. Douglass for observance of the annual Lottie-Moon offering and a Christmas party.

Mrs. J. C. Douglass read the 13th chapter of Corinthians as the basis for a meditation on "Christian Homes." She concluded with a story on "How Much Does God Love the World?"

Prayers were offered by Mrs. L. S. Patterson and Mrs. Theo. Andrews. Slides of mission work being done in foreign churches with the aid of the Lottie Moon offering were shown by Mrs. P. D. O'Brien with commentary by Mrs. Della K. Agnell.

A visitor, Mrs. Dora Vandergriff of Rudisod, N. M., told of the expansion of the First Baptist Church there.

A donation was made to the Lottie Moon offering in the name of the class teacher, Mrs. Patterson. She was also presented with a corsage by the class. A gift of China was presented to Mrs. J. P. Dodge.

The group listened to Christmas records and exchanged gifts. Refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. J. H. Greene and Mrs. J. F. Sellers.

Guests were Mrs. J. G. Hull of Stanton, Mrs. Vandergriff, Mrs. F. H. Hinkley and Mrs. O'Brien. Christmas decorations in the home featured floor baskets of greenery and poinsettias in the living room, a mantel arrangement of cones, candles and evergreens, and a dining table centerpiece of silver and blue, which was repeated on the buffet. On the piano a miniature Santa Claus and reindeer were used.

Little German Boy Is Tranthams' Christmas

Christmas arrived at the C. O. Trantham home a little early this year. They have been waiting 15 months for a special Christmas present.

On Dec. 3 they met their adopted son for the first time. He is a blond, angelic, little fellow, three and one-half years old, who flew all the way from Eppenheim in West Germany, to be with his new parents.

This will be a pretty big Christmas for Charles, too. He was in an Eppenheim orphanage until about four months ago when an American Negro couple took him until the adoption could be completed and he could come to America.

When the Tranthams actually met him for the first time in Dallas at the airport, both were so choked up they could hardly say anything, Mrs. Trantham admitted.

"We met about 100 planes in-bound from New York" before Charles came in," Mrs. Trantham said. They had missed a message telling that his flight had been changed.

Although Charles speaks English, he is very reserved so far and doesn't say much. When he wants to have the TV turned on he says, "Cowboy and Indian," since that was the first type of thing he saw on the Trantham's set. He's catching on to being an American already—TV fascinates him.

It already looks like Christmas Day with Charles in the house. He has amassed a large number of toys, and his "play house" is the sofa where he can gather them all around him.

One of the first things Mrs. Trantham did after Charles arrived was to see that he had a physical checkup. Mr. Trantham refused to go to his job in Coahoma until Charles was found to be all right.

It isn't at all like having a stranger in the house to the Tranthams. They had been corresponding with authorities about Charles for months and had sent money for clothes for him. They also knew how he looked from photographs they had received.

Charles is adapting himself well, Mrs. Trantham says, and the only thing he seems to be afraid of is their parakeet, who invariably lights on Charles' head, when the cage is opened.

Charles, who already calls Mrs. Trantham "Mommie," is not an official United States citizen, but will have to be naturalized later on when he is old enough to take an examination.

He hasn't met his grandparents yet, but chances are they'll all come to see him at Christmas and you can bet they'll be laden with things dear to the heart of a three-and-a-half-year old.

Couple Is Honored In Forsan

FORNSAN—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Leonard were honored with a shower at the school recently. They were married Nov. 25 in a church ceremony in Lubbock.

Hostesses were Mrs. George Pickett, Mrs. John H. Cardwell, Mrs. T. T. Henry, Mrs. Lois O'Barr Smith, Mrs. D. W. Roberson, Mrs. A. P. Oglesby, Mrs. W. B. Dunn, Mrs. D. E. Jacobs, Mrs. Howard Yates, Mrs. T. R. Camp, Mrs. Henry Park and Mrs. J. B. Hicks.

Mrs. Oglesby was in charge of the register and the other hostesses alternated at serving. The refreshment table was covered with a green cloth and featured a centerpiece of white carnations adorned with a miniature bridal couple. The bride's chosen colors of green and white were used throughout.

Gift tables were covered with lace cloths over green. Hostesses presented Mrs. Leonard with a corsage of red rosebuds.

The couple is making their home in Hobbs, N. M., where he is employed as an electrical engineer for Continental Oil Co. He is a graduate of Forsan High School and Texas Tech. He was recently discharged as a lieutenant in the Army and had served about a year in Tokyo, Japan.

50th Anniversary Attended By Browns

ACKERLY—Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brown attended the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pendergrass in DeLeon. They were to go to Marble Falls for a visit with Mrs. Jack Ashby.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ulmer were here recently for a visit with his sisters, Mrs. J. L. Coleman and Mrs. Emma Coleman. While here, they received word from Fort Worth that their nephew, Charles Bostic, had passed away. They left immediately for Fort Worth.

Sheepmen Urged To Assess Selves For Advertising

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The National Wool Growers Assn. was urged today to start at once a promotion program to increase the use of wool and lamb. It would be financed by a tax of 1 cent per pound on all U.S. wool. Growers would pay the tax from money due them under the government's new wool incentive price program.

Julian Arrien of Vale, Ore., chairman of the resolutions committee, presented the proposal to the final session of the convention. "We recommend," his committee said, "that the officers of the National Wool Growers Assn. be authorized to cooperate with other organizations in setting up the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., and in petitioning the secretary of agriculture to call for a referendum." The vote would be on whether the wool growers should assess themselves.

That Movie ('Giant') Due Filming In Texas

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The theme song of George Stevens might well be "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."
You see, Stevens is the man who is producing and directing "Giant," from the Edna Ferber novel that aroused such Texas ire. But he doesn't think many Texans will be mad at the movie.

"The same thing happened when he wrote 'Cimarron,'" he observed. "Oklahomans attacked her for supposedly showing that early settlers were sharpshooters. Why, she was hung in effigy in one Oklahoma town."

"But when the picture was finished, the governor of Oklahoma invited her to the world premiere as guest of honor."

"I think it will be the same with 'Giant.' A lot of people got excited about the book. But I don't think that anyone who feels strongly for Texas can help but feel moved when he sees the picture."

Stevens is so sure that Texans will favor the film that he plans to invade the state for shooting late next month. Right now he has crews scouting locations in five spots—San Antonio, Houston, the Panhandle, the mountains in the Southwest and the west Gulf Coast. He'll probably pick two locations and plans to shoot about half of the film in Texas.

The producer-director is a large, rough-hewn man who talks tenderly about the art of making a movie, which he loves. He spoke of the problems of converting the 447-page novel into an 180-page script. He faced the need of not only cutting, but adding material as well. "The book covers 25 years of the lives of its characters," he remarked. "We not only have to cover that span, but we also have to build a final 20 minutes of intense excitement, which all good movies must have. We did that by building a series of climaxes, which Edna was not required to have in the book. "Also, the characters were more or less in profile in the book. We have tried to round them out. We do not merely show you a tough man who has made 150 million. We show you how he got that way. I feel this understanding of motivation will permit Texans to like the picture."

A Gift For Teacher?

Ever polish a bright red apple for the teacher? Probably not—well, not often anyway—but with Christmas just around the corner, you may be wondering whether or not to bestow a gift-wrapped bit of julefide spirit upon the faculty. My advice? Look before you leap. Be sure you know what you're doing. Perhaps you're just a friendly sort of person full to the brim with Christmas spirit and love for your fellow beings, including teachers. Why not consider them friends and prove it with tokens of friendship?

Why, indeed. In the first place, if your chums find out, they may think you're looking out for good grades by making a bid to become teacher's pet. If you give a gift to one or two teachers only, the rest may feel slighted. Teachers are supposed to be impartial and objective, but the fact is, they're human. The excluded ones naturally will wonder why you don't like them, too. Poor lucky teacher. She's on the spot. She may like some students far better than others and she may think you're simply tops, but she can't afford to let her feelings show. If she accepts your gift, others may accuse her of playing favorites.

Remember, too, that a teacher is in a position to attract the admiration of many students. Sometimes receiving a gift, is even harder to do gracefully than giving one.

Unless she has a private oil well in her back yard, she can scarcely afford to reciprocate by sending a gift to all her ardent fans. We'll have to admit it though. Some teachers are mighty special. For the understanding, sympathetic and one hundred per cent A plus teacher, show your appreciation by sending her a thoughtful Christmas card and writing your own special message of gratitude. After all, at Christmas time, it's the thought and not the gift that counts the most.

Longhorn Hoop Troupe Bids For Victory Over Bulldogs

Tickets Free To The Public

PROBABLE STARTERS
B. SPRING
Clark 8-3
Kloven 8-4
Duce 8-2
Tollett 8-3
Phillips 8-4

Midland's Bulldogs move into town tonight to help the Big Spring High School Cagers open their 1934-35 home basketball team.

Johnny Johnson, of whom great things are expected here, will be making his local debut as head coach of the Steers.

A banner turnout of fans is due, since the Quarterback Club has bought out the gym and is distributing tickets free of charge to fans.

Johnson is again building his team's attack around Charles Clark, an all-district performer who can hit from far out. Clark was one of the top scorers in the District 1-AAA last year.

Clark will start the game, along with Al Kloven, another real basket threat; Jimmy Bice, Bobby Phillips and Wayne Tollett. Midland, a 32-45 winner over the Steers last Saturday night, will have a decided height advantage over the locals.

Paul Cole, Joe Nicholson, Herschel Allen and Carroll Nall are the Midland lettermen and all but Allen are seniors.

Tallest boys on the Midland team are Gary Robertson, 6-4; and Buddy Mays, 6-3, both of whom will see a lot of action tonight. Larry Cooper and Jim Owens are other members of the team who go over 6-2.

In the first game between the teams, Big Spring stayed within striking distance of the Bulldogs despite the fact that Clark fouled out early in the third quarter and Wayne Tollett, Parks and Harmon all departed the court on infractions before the end of the game.

The feature attraction starts at 8 o'clock. B teams of the two schools tangle at 8:30 p.m.

The first game will be the last one for Big Spring before the Hardin-Simmons schoolboy tournament, starting Friday.

Big Spring has drawn Birdville as a first round opponent in the Abilene meet. The two teams tangle at 9:45 p.m. Friday for the right to go into the semi-finals.

Two Teams Tied For Top Spot

Frank Sabbato Insurance climbed back into a tie with Lee Hanson's in Men's Classic Bowling League Monday night as they defeated the Conoco keglers, 3-0. Lee Hanson came up with a 2-1 defeat of Pearl Beer.

Crockett Hale lead the Sabbato team with a 215-384 series. Ray Bartlett posted a single game of 300 for Sabbato.

Jim Engstrom and Jake Douglas were the big guns in Hanson's win over Pearl Beer. Engstrom posted a 216-573 series and Douglas a 204-531. T. Schwan and G. Weyland posted 202 and 208 for Pearl Beer.

The Men's Store, led by E. B. Dozier Jr. scored Cooden 2-1 in their series. Dozier posted a 204-511-202, for a 617 series. Dozier also holds the league single and series games with a 248, 646.

The win enabled the Men's Store to gain a tie for fifth place with Conoco.

Big Spring Herald downed Westex Oil 3-0 in the other match for the evening.

Snyder Tourney Opens Friday

SNYDER (UP)—Unbeaten Texas Tech faces Howard Payne and North Texas State meets Cambridge tomorrow night in the opening games of the Canyon Reef Basketball Tournament.

Winners play for the championship and the losers battle for third place Saturday night.

We're Having A Ball

When Larry Jones was given a party on his ninth birthday recently, he invited, among others, three members of the Big Spring High School football team. His parents—Mr. and Mrs. Omar Jones—might have been surprised when the trio showed up, but Larry, a big football fan, took it in stride. In the above picture, Tommy McAdams feeds part of the birthday cake to Larry while Frosty Robison (center) and Brick Johnson look on. The gridders brought a regular-size football as a present for young Jones and spent much of the afternoon playing football with the honored party and guests.

HC Jayhawks Leave Friday For Temple Tournament

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks leave Friday 8 a.m. for Temple, where Friday night they open play in a juco tournament.

HCJC is one of six teams entered in the Temple meet. Coach Davis passed up a chance to get a bye in the tournament, saying he wanted his team to play at least two games in the meet.

Odesa and the Hawks are the only West Texas clubs entered. The Big Springers, who now have won eight straight decisions, have drawn Concordia JC of Austin as a first round opponent. The game starts at 7 p.m.

Odesa plays the host team at 8:30 o'clock in the only other first game.

Navarro and Tarleton have drawn first round byes. If the Hawks win, they play Navarro at 2 p.m. Saturday for the right to go into the finals. Tarleton meets the winner of the Temple-Odesa game in the other semi-final feature at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Consolation round finals are booked for 7 p.m. Saturday; with the finals due to begin at 8:30 p.m.

The Hawks will be seeking their second tournament championship of the season. They sacked up the biggest trophy in the Ranger meet last weekend.

HCJC will be hosts of their own

Four Games Are Scheduled Today In Knott Tourney

KNOTT, (SC) — Four first round games, two in each division, will be played in the annual Knott Basketball Tournament, today and tonight.

The tournament continues through Saturday night. Bill Bolin is tournament director.

Klondike and Flower Grove open the three-day show with a girls' game at 4:15 p.m. At 5:30 p.m., boys' quintets of the same schools clash.

The girls of Knott and Ackerly have at it at 7 p.m., while boys' teams of the same schools square away at 8:15 p.m.

First round play will be completed Friday afternoon with games at 1:45 and 3 o'clock. B teams of Stanton and Coahoma (girls) clash at 1:45 while the same schools send their boys' B club out at 3 p.m. for contests.

Courtney has drawn a bye in each bracket. The Courtney girls see action for the first time at 4:15 p.m. Friday. The Courtney boys' club see action for the first time at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Jim Norris Says It Isn't True

NEW YORK (UP)—Charges of a former heavyweight boxer that Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, had fixed fights some years ago were denied today by Norris as "untrue, libelous and absurd."

Harry Thomas, a former boxer, wrote in an article appearing in the magazine Sports Illustrated that Norris "has been a fixer of prize fights."

Now a Chicago stationary engineer, Thomas said Norris fixed his bout with Max Schmeling at Madison Square Garden Dec. 13, 1937, and the Thomas-Tony Galento fight in Philadelphia Nov. 14, 1938.

Athletic Fund Of School Shows Balance Of $9,244

The Big Spring Independent School District's athletic fund showed a balance of $9,244.33 Dec. 1, a report presented to the school board.

Income from the period Sept. 1 through Nov. 30 amounted to $30,559.54 while disbursements for the same period amounted to $21,315.20.

Receipts from home football games, including the sale of season tickets, came to $19,253.35 while the school realized $8,774.17.

Ezell Benefit Meet Carded

MIDLAND (SC) — Big Spring linksters have been invited to compete in the Gloria Strom Ezell benefit golf tournament, which will be held at the Ranchland Hills Country Club on Wednesday, Dec. 15. The meet starts at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Ezell, well known West Texas golfer, recently returned from Gonzales, Texas, where she underwent treatment for polio. She is a former Big Spring resident.

Entry fee will be a minimum of $5. All proceeds will be turned over to the Warm Springs Foundation for Treatment of Polio at Gonzales.

Favorites Win On Cage Court

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

La Salle, Oklahoma A&M, Notre Dame, Louisville — names well known in college basketball circles—continued on the victory trail today.

All four scored impressive victories last night in the young 1934-35 campaign, which saw heavy action in the East, where many Ivy League quintets tuned up for the hot conference race to come.

La Salle, winner of the NCAA championship last spring and voted the No. 1 team in the Associated Press preseason poll this fall, chalked up its third straight victory by overwhelming Penn Military 94-39. All America Tom Gola scored 18 points in the 25 minutes he played.

Also making it three in a row was Oklahoma A&M, No. 11 in the preseason calculations. The Aggies, who defeated Texas 70-63 Saturday, did it again last night 77-49. Mack Carter led the A&M scoring with 21.

Notre Dame made it 22 consecutive home floor victories by beating Northwestern 79-49, and Louisville broke its own scoring record with a 113-64 triumph over Mississippi State.

Brown handed Harvard a 51-38 Ivy League defeat while undefeated Connecticut made it 3-0 by drubbing Yale 83-57. Lafayette spoiled Princeton's opener by winning 85-74, and Colgate tallied 45 points in the second half to down Cornell 73-52.

Virginia marred Navy's home debut by defeating the Middies 79-69 while Fordham outlasted Syracuse 60-56. Columbia beat Rutgers 85-61 and Pennsylvania thumped Swarthmore 86-58.

Carnegie Tech upset Pitt 79-67, the third straight loss for the Panthers.

In a Southern Conference game, Richmond defeated Washington & Lee 95-78 for the Spiders' fourth straight.

Arkansas went overtime to defeat Oklahoma City 81-76, while Tulsa defeated Texas A&M 57-45, to make its record 3-0.

Purdue defeated Valparaiso 62-50, West Texas State overcame Hamline 67-64, and Marquette made it 3-0 by taking St. Norbert of Wisconsin 83-47.

Probable Starters For Lions

When Cranfills Gap's cagers take the court against Forsan in Forsan Friday night the above boys will probably be on the court for the Lions. Left to right, they are Butch Gaston, Rex Tindall, Jan Tyler, Stanley Rushing and Melvin Hammit. Cranfills Gap will also play in Coshoma Saturday night. The Lions are coached by a former Big Spring Steer star, Culin Grigsby Jr.

Q-Finals Are Scheduled In AA And A Divisions

The Associated Press
The lower divisions of Texas schoolboy football decide their semifinalists this weekend and it's possible that there will be only one undefeated team left when the smoke from the eight games has cleared.
The quarter-final round starts with nine unbeaten teams, three of them with ties.
Undefeated, untied Phillips and Nederland of Class AA and Sundown, Paducah, Mason and Deer Park of Class A are the last teams with perfect records. Waxahachie, Carthage and Killeen are unbeaten but have been tied.
Only one game matches undefeated teams. That's Waxahachie vs Killeen in Class AA.
Of the 16 teams left in the fight for two state championships, only two ever won a title before. Terrell was Class AA king in 1932 while Littlefield won the Class A championship in 1949. Littlefield now is in Class AA. Deer Park went to the Class A finals in 1932, losing to Wink.
The quarter-finals schedule in the two classes shows:
CLASS AA
FRIDAY—Phillips vs Littlefield at Lubbock (day), Terrell vs Carthage at Tyler (night), Waxahachie vs Killeen at Temple (night);
SATURDAY—Nederland vs Freer

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Consulting the tea leaves for the week's football winners:
BRECKENRIDGE 14 LUFKIN 13. Perhaps the Buces will win this one on Clyde Harris' kicking toe. The Greenes didn't look very good to this writer in their game against Garland last week but they were as good as they had to be.
Awesome tales have been told about the Lufkin power, but it's going to take a great team to beat Joe Kerbel's Buckaroos. The pressure will be on Lufkin.

PORT NECHES 20 McALLEN 7. Port Neches is due for a tumble but the winner in the Breck-Lufkin game will have the privilege of doing the honors. McAllen is unbeaten but has been tied this year. Valley football is improving but Port Neches has too many horses.

ABILENE 34 POLY (FORT WORTH) 6. Woe to the team that gets in front of the Eagles these days. The Abilene crew survived their rougher tests in conference play and shouldn't have too much trouble from here on out.

CORPUS MILLER 14 HOUSTON AUSTIN 7. This is not the same Miller team that faced Midland earlier in the year. The team has developed steadily. In its most recent starts, Tom Pruett's team has beaten Ray of Corpus and Waco in that order. Few expected it to do either. Austin upset Galveston but the Tornados were due for a fall.

PHILLIPS 27 LITTLEFIELD 13. A team that can beat Colorado City like Phillips did should have too much for Littlefield, or any other AA club. Some say the Blackhawks are the best team in Texas, regardless of class. I doubt that but the Phillips team is good in its own league.

NEDERLAND 21 FREER 6. Nederland's win over Port Neches early in the season was something of a fluke, since the Indians' quarterback, Jackie Hathorn, didn't play a down. Still, the Nederlands must be salty.

TERRELL 20 CARTHAGE 12. Terrell has lost three times but has played the tougher schedule.

WAXAHACHIE 7 KILLEEN 0. The teams have identical records and a break could decide it.

ALBANY 13 SUNDOWN 6. Good as the Roughies are, they'll probably reach the end of the trail here. Albany has been well regarded since it toppled Rotan in its first game, 40-13. A team like Sundown is bound to be good if it can beat a club like Stanton, 42-6. But Albany, with its high-powered offense, is the pick here.

PADUCAH 35 GASTON 6. A team of master blockers. That's Paducah, probably the best Class A team in the state and good enough to give many AA and AAA teams a run for their money. Gaston will absorb its second loss of the year this weekend.

DEER PARK 20 HONDO 6. Hondo's boys can concentrate on Christmas shopping after this week. Deer Park appears to be the one club capable of giving Paducah a run for its money.

Shades Of Grid Season, Hogs Only Cage Winner

By JOE BENHAM
Associated Press Staff Writer

Wednesday night's Southwest Conference basketball activity sounded like a page from the football season—Arkansas won while everybody else lost.

The Razorback cagers handed Oklahoma City an 81-75 defeat for the circuit's only victory in three starts. Texas lost to Oklahoma A&M 77-49 and Texas A&M dropped a 37-48 decision to Tulsa.
Baylor meets Phillips 66 at Waco and Texas Christian faces Bradley at Peoria, Ill., in Thursday night play.

Arkansas took its decision in overtime after tying the game 71-71 in the final eight seconds. Center Walter Butler's two free tosses sent the game past the regulation time and Guard Carroll Scroggins' basket gave the Furcans and overtime lead they never relinquished.
Oklahoma City led through the early stages by as much as 13 points before Arkansas turned on the second-half steam.

Oklahoma A&M's victory was its third in a row and second straight over the Longhorns, who trailed by only four points at halftime but fell steadily further behind after intermission.

Mack Carter, a Berger, Tex. import, led the Cowpokes with 21 points. John Schmid paced Texas with 19.

Texas hit 12 of 33 field goal tries, compared with 23 of 38 hit by Oklahoma.

Texas A&M jumped ahead 13 points halfway through the first half but couldn't stop Bob Patterson thereafter as the Tulsa forward led the Hurricane to victory.

Fatterson was brilliant both offensively and defensively, scoring 24 points and grabbing 20 rebounds. John Fortenberry was A&M's top scorer with 11 points.

Cards Will Go With Ken Boyer At Third Base

ST. LOUIS 68 — The St. Louis Cardinals, who gambled and won on Wally Moon, bolstered a sagging bullpen staff but took another look at the wheel of fortune today in the person of untried third baseman Ken Boyer.

The gamble developed when the Cards, sorely in need of relief pitchers for two years, parted with regular third baseman Ray Jablonski and starting pitcher Gerry Staley yesterday to get reliefer Frank Smith from the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Boyer, who came to the Cards from the Texas League, is the No. 1 prospect for Jablonski's third base vacancy.

Dick Meyer, Cards general manager, admitted the club gave up "a lot" to get Smith but said he and Manager Eddie Stanky felt "we couldn't make much progress without an adequate bullpen."

Cincinnati plans to use Jablonski, the first Cardinal rookie to drive in more than 100 runs, as their regular third baseman to replace Bobby Adams. Jabbo, 28, who belted home 112 runs his freshman year in 1933, hit .296 last season and drove in 104 runs but has been regarded by some as a defensive liability.

Gabe Paul, Cincinnati's general manager, also believes Staley (7-13) will regain his form in new surroundings. The 31-year-old Staley, who had an 18-9 record in '33, had figured in Cardinal bullpen plans next season.
Birdie Tebbetts, Redleg manager, figures Jablonski will give his club balance on the right side of the plate with Jim Greengrass and Wally Post to go with left-handed sluggers Gus Bell, Ted Kluszewski and Frank Bailey.

Moon, who played with Rochester in 1933, turned up at the Birds' spring training camp before the

Campbell To Bid For New Record

LONDON 68—Donald Malcolm Campbell leaves London today for Ullswater and Lake Windermere with his newest Bluebird, an all-metal craft he believes will travel faster than 200 miles an hour and return the world speedboat record to Britain.

The son of the late great land and water king, Sir Malcolm Campbell, said if all goes well he will slide Bluebird into the water for the first time tomorrow and switch on the turbojet power plant for preliminary tests.

"I will make no attempt tomorrow to break Stanley Sayre's world record, but I certainly hope for a good fast opening test run," said the pleasant 33-year-old Campbell.

Sayre of Seattle, Wash., broke the 141.74 mph record set by Campbell's father in England in 1939 with a 160 mph clocking over Lake Washington in 1950. Sayre's Sto-Mo-Shun IV boosted the record by 18 mph on Lake Washington July 7, 1952.

start of last season, and moved into a regular outfield job when warhorse Enos Slaughter was sent to the New York Yankees. Moon batted .307 and was named National League Rookie of the Year by the Sporting News.

The 23-year-old Boyer was a standout with Houston in the Texas League. Although he is the No. 1 prospect for Jabbo's job, the Cards also still have Solly Hemus, utility infielder, who earlier had been rumored to be a key player in the deal.

An unnamed minor league player also will go to Cincinnati in the straight-player deal later.

Crowe Unanimous Choice For Team

AUSTIN 68—Champion Texas A&M placed two men—one of them by a unanimous vote—on the Freshman All-Southwest Conference football team announced by the Austin American-Statesman yesterday.

Quarterback John Crowe was a unanimous choice for the backfield rounded out by SMU's Ray Masters, Rice's Virgil Mutschink and Texas' Walter Fondren.

Linemen included ends Bill Anderson and Jerry Marcontel, both of Baylor; tackles John Groom of TCU and Robert Prigmore of Baylor; guards Jim Stanley of Texas A&M and DyWayne Cude, TCU; and center Louis Del Homme of Texas.

Webfoot Leads Total Offense

NEW YORK 68 — Oregon's George Shaw won the country's major college individual total offense title this football season, and no one can say he didn't earn it in the most appropriate way.

He beat last year's champion, California's Paul Larson, by outgaining him when they met face to face, and led Oregon to an upset victory in the process. And he stayed ahead on his running ability while his rivals, also the quarterbacks, outgained him through the air with stronger supporting casts.

As a varsity freshman in 1931 in two-plateau football, Shaw set a national record that still stands by intercepting 13 passes.

Shaw gained 1,326 yards, 178 of them by running, final NCA Service Bureau statistics showed today. Larson had 1,465, including a rushing net loss of 53, and Purdue's Len Dawson had 1,384, with an 80-yard loss on the ground.
In contrast, the fourth man made every inch running. Art Luppino, the Arizona sophomore who won national scoring and rushing titles, gained 1,359 yards carrying the ball. He ranked higher in total offense than any other player in history who did not throw a single forward pass.

It is utterly impossible to make a better Bourbon whiskey than Old Charter...

Suppose we don't try to put in words what happens with your first taste of this great whiskey. Instead, do this... Imagine you have started with the basically finest whiskey ever made in old Kentucky... Then you have waited for 7 full, round years to ripen it slowly, perfectly... Then take from your memory the finest-tasting whiskey you have ever known and imagine one still silkier, still mellow, still smoother. Do all these things... and then taste Old Charter!

Tick, tock... tick, tock... the whiskey that didn't watch the clock... seven long years!

SWC Officials In Conclave

DALLAS 68—Big wigs of the Southwest Conference were arriving today for a winter meeting that isn't expected to produce more than routine news.

Problems of recruiting and athletic subsidization will be the chief topic for all groups of the conference starting today when the coaches and athletic directors hold a session. Tomorrow the business managers of athletics will join them.

The faculty committee, governing body of the conference, opens its sessions tomorrow afternoon and won't wind up before Saturday morning.

At a special meeting here last September, numerous rumors and complaints of violations of the recruiting rules were heard but no penalties were assessed. Several cases were carried over for further investigation, however, and Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the conference, will make a report on them.

The reason for the rumors was an accelerated recruiting program instigated by followers of Texas A&M, which is in the process of rebuilding its football fortunes under Coach Paul Bryant. One veteran athletic official at a conference school said "proselytizing was at an all-time high." This applied to all members and not just A&M.

Unskilled Workers Discover Jobs In Area Hard To Find

Despite the upswing in Christmas business here and the general prosperity of the area, there are quite a few unskilled workers and common laborers out of jobs.

Both the Salvation Army and the Howard County Welfare Agency have noted during the past week an increase in the number of aid requests from people who say they cannot get work.

The Texas Employment Commission office here confirms that jobs for the unskilled are scarce. Placement of common laborers is slow, said Leon M. Kinney, manager of the employment office.

Transients have been flocking through Big Spring in droves during the past two weeks, and there are no jobs here for them. Lt. Robert Hall at the Salvation Army reports that it is the worst he has seen during any Christmas season. Mrs. Moree Saville, executive director of the local Red Cross chapter, stated that three or four transients pass through her office daily, but that the number is not unusual for this time of year.

Officials of all welfare agencies here agree that the influx of transient people is seasonal, occurring at this time every year. Many are trying to get home for Christmas and others are moving to southern states for the winter.

The employment office always gets applications for jobs from transients at this time of year. Kinney pointed out, however, the transients are interested only in temporary jobs and it is hard to place them.

Dish washing and other common labor jobs are filled to overflowing already, he said.

Kinney also explained that construction slowing down during Christmas holidays puts a number of skilled workers and common laborers out of jobs. This layoff is only temporary, and work will resume again after the first of the year.

Actually there are a number of sales jobs during the Christmas season, but local business men naturally prefer local residents. And the choice permanent jobs will go to people who are not expected to move any minute.

Some of those out of jobs now were picking cotton. The crop is finished, and so are the jobs. This is unavoidable, officials say.

Persistence Pays Off For Boy; He Gets Police Badge

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—No one is more persistent than a 9-year-old boy.

And if that boy, like Johnny Hungate, has his heart set on a police badge—

Johnny got his yesterday along with an identification card proclaiming him a full-fledged member of the school safety patrol. It wasn't easy because his school has no organized unit.

That didn't deter Johnny. He appealed to Lt. James Glass, head of the traffic division of the Police Department and officer in charge of the patrol.

"I'm sorry, Johnny," the lieutenant said, "we're working on organization of the St. Peter School unit right now, and pretty soon you can join the patrol."

Johnny didn't want to wait so he dropped in to see Police Chief Carroll Hale and won his sympathy.

So, the safety patrol unit at St. Peter came into being ahead of time — just for Johnny's benefit. What's his next dream? To be a policeman when he grows up.

IT HAPPENED

Of Course, Of Course

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—When Mrs. Lee Van Valkenburgh fled from her burning house, she managed only to save her son Gary, 4, and 250 Christmas cards she was addressing.

"Of course I saved the cards," she said. "I didn't want to write them all over again."

Egg Shell-Shock

KOLDING, Denmark (AP)—A farmer in South Kutland is to be compensated because his hens are suffering from shell-shock. They caught it during recent war games. Egg production has been halved, the farmer claims.

Asks Salary Slash

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Orville Cheney, who'll become state revenue commissioner next month, told the Arkansas Legislative Council that the commissioner's salary should be cut $1,000 a year because of declining revenues. The council agreed. Cheney will make $7,500 annually instead of the usual $8,500.

Wrong Critter

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—Deer hunters on Maryland's Eastern Shore bagged a 1,000-pound animal yesterday but it didn't exactly meet specifications since it was a black Angus steer.

Battle Mixon, regional game warden, said the steer was killed before daylight on the farm of Elmer Massey. He blamed "jack-lighters"—hunters who do their gunning at night with the aid of lamps, an illegal practice.

Old Country Ways

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—"Watch out het voetpad!" If it's Dutch to you, that's the way Grand Rapids Traffic Engineer Jerome Franklin meant it to be. The Dutch-lettered sign has been posted at a midtown intersection prompting Grand Rapids pedestrians to "wait on the sidewalk" in the heavy Christmas shopping traffic. Franklin hopes the sign will carry a stronger meaning to a greater portion of the city's predominantly Dutch-background residents.

Woman Sentenced For Child's Torture

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—A woman accused of using matches to torture the 5-year-old nephew left in her care has been sentenced to one year in prison.

Mrs. Gettle Lee Cook pleaded guilty to a charge of mayhem yesterday.

Her daughter Charlene Lindsey, 16, told officers she held little Connie Thames while her mother pressed burning matches against his skin. Charlene was given a six-month suspended sentence.

Murder Indictments

HOUSTON (AP)—Merle Ellisor, 32, and Archie Ellisor, 20, brothers, were indicted for murder yesterday in the slaying of highway patrolman Robert Crosby. Crosby was shot to death Nov. 27 as he halted a speeding auto. The second patrolman and a deputy sheriff were wounded slightly during the chase.

Island City Bans Bear

GALVESTON (AP)—Itchy, a pet bear whose wanderings last week turned police work into a bring-'em-back-alive bit, was chained up on the west end of Galveston Island today.

Owner Slim Peck moved the bear there after a week-long period of grace granted by the city, which has an ordinance banning the keeping of bears.

When the deadline arrived last night, Slim and Itchy headed outside the city boundaries.

Itchy's troubles began Dec. 1, when a store clerk told dubious police of a bear on the city's main street.

Patrolmen trailed the bear to a briar patch, where a helpful hunter advised the officers to surround the patch and close in on Itchy on their hands and knees.

A cop and the hunter met Itchy face to face in the bushes. One growl and the hunter was up in the nearest tree.

Peck arrived shortly and coaxed Itchy from the briars with a piece of bread. Itchy got a free ride home in a squad car that night—but now the animal is homeless.

Two Texans Among Rhodes Candidates

HOUSTON (AP)—Two young Texans are candidates for Rhodes scholarships.

Richard Ullman, San Antonio, editor of the Harvard University Crimson, and Redford Evans, Abilene, feature editor of the Yale News and associate editor of the Yale magazine Comment, were named yesterday as candidates for district competition Dec. 11 at New Orleans.

Sues For Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Carol Ann Beery, 23-year-old adopted daughter of the late comedian Wallace Beery, has sued her actor husband, Bliss Hayden, 27, for divorce on grounds of cruelty. They were married seven months ago.

VD Infection Rate Here Among Lowest

The Big Spring-Howard County area has one of the lowest general disease rates in a 37-county West Texas district between Abilene and El Paso.

Only a few cases of syphilis or gonorrhea are reported here each month, said Jesse Moon, field representative of the State Department of Health.

The total number of venereal disease cases filed during October and November with the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit was 16. Of these 14 were gonorrhea and two syphilis.

Moon pointed out that there might be a few cases which are not reported to the health unit, but that most are recorded. Every case which is treated at Webb Air Force Base is reported immediately.

Webb has an exceptionally low VD rate, Moon stated. Only two gonorrhea cases have been reported there since October, and so far as Moon remembers there have been no syphilis cases reported among airmen during the period.

VD control in Big Spring was reported "good" in a national magazine article recently, but the article ranked Phenix City, Ala., in the same category.

Moon says that he does not understand the comparison but does know that control here is good. He believes there is no comparison between the two cities.

Control of venereal disease is a complicated affair, and constant action is required. All persons exposed must be "checked out" by medical examination.

Whenever a local physician or the Air Base doctors report that a VD patient is being treated, Moon swings into action.

The patient is interviewed, and everyone with whom he or she has maintained relations will be traced. These people, known as "contacts," are sent to local physicians for examinations.

If the contacts have a venereal disease, they are required by law to undergo treatment.

In most local cases the treatment is by penicillin.

If You Don't Know Where You're Going, Get A Map

By CLIFTON LAWHORNE

Big Spring has more than 225 streets which, if lined up from end to end, would stretch out for a distance of approximately 110 miles.

These streets, however, are confined to a space of about six and a half square miles. And they are bisected at upwards of 850 intersections, leaving a number of hodge-podge arrangements.

These arrangements result in a bewildering layout for the city, and confusion is further advanced by the various names applied to the streets in each sector.

Practically every title under the sun can be found on the streets, apparently with no uniform grouping.

Presidents, universities, Indian tribes, family names, historical states and even counties are represented by city streets.

As is evidenced by the city map, neither the streets nor their names in some of the newer additions match those of the developments to which they were joined.

Down through the years it has been the job of the city commission to name the various streets, as well as to approve plats for new additions. However rapid growth during the war years and immediately following the war years and the terrain perhaps threw a kink in careful planning.

A person can drive east on 10th Street and suddenly run into other streets going the same direction which have such names as Wood, Sycamore, Bluebonnet, etc. Eleventh Place is a block south of Eleventh Street.

In the older sectors of the city, cross streets usually follow a numerical order. In the newer additions anything goes.

In the Airport Addition, as an example, the east-west streets have such names as Maple, Abilene, Webb, Birch, Oak, First, Second and Third. The numerical streets are actually parallel with Sixth, Seventh and Eighth elsewhere.

A resident not too familiar with the Edwards Heights Addition in southwest Big Spring could have little trouble getting lost there on a casual visit.

There is no specific direction for Edwards Heights streets. Dead-ends are not uncommon, and proper names are applied to east-west and north-south streets alike. At some point, Ayrford Street suddenly becomes Pennsylvania Avenue.

There are two Mesquite streets, and until the City Commission changed it a month ago there were two Hillside.

The area just each of the football stadium is equally confusing, as a number of streets go in circular arrangements with no outlets. Those Y and W shape intersections are common too.

The present City Commission takes a dim view of hodge-podge arrangements. Thorough checks are made on any new plat submitted, and a sharp eye is kept open on street arrangements.

Wide street dedications are the rule now, and every effort is made to lengthen present streets into new additions without creating new names.

The new Ward Hall and Anderson additions recently brought into the city are examples of this policy. These additions increased the 4,047.12 acres in the city to a total of 4,122.12 acres.

Another new addition now being developed on the east side of Birdwell Lane will have streets named after colleges. The names have already been approved because they do not interfere with present street extensions.

Harvard Avenue is already in place, and other streets planned include Yale, Purdue, Tulane and Dartmouth. The area is called College Parks Estate.

Presidents whose names are sported by streets here include Harding, Jefferson, Johnson, Lincoln.

AND NEVER A FUSS OVER BILLS

LONG ago Mary and Jack learned how to use their credit wisely. They discovered that the merchant, the physician, the dentist, the fuel dealer and other credit granters gladly extend credit to sincere, responsible people. And all that Mary and Jack had to do to merit this trust was to pay their bills as promised—on the date they fell due.

It isn't the size of your income, but the way you pay your bills that makes or mars your credit record. Therefore, when you buy on credit—buy only what you know you can pay for. And when the time comes to pay—pay promptly on the date payment is due.

Sheppard Case Stirs Memories In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The dramatic murder trial of Dr. Sam Sheppard in Cleveland has stirred memories of another murder trial in Detroit 27 years ago—and the parallels between the two are little short of amazing.

Detroit's Loomis case began on Feb. 22, 1927, when the body of 24-year-old Grace Loomis was found brutally beaten in her home in Detroit. Her husband Dr. Frank R. Loomis immediately was charged with murder.

Like Sam Sheppard, Loomis was handsome and successful. And like the 31-year-old Marilyn Sheppard, Grace Loomis was attractive and popular. Both women were killed by savage blows to the head. Neither murder weapon has been found.

Sheppard has been described at his trial as an even-tempered husband and father, devoted to his family. Loomis also was called a mild man who was devoted to his wife and two children.

Sheppard has admitted an extramarital romance with pretty Susan Hayes, 24, a former technician at his osteo clinic hospital. Loomis had romantic ties with the attractive divorced daughter of a former mayor of a town near Detroit.

Police have been unable to find a T-shirt worn by Sheppard just before his wife was killed. Police found Loomis wearing a white shirt, spotlessly clean, although the rest of his clothing was spattered with blood. Later, shirt buttons were found in the furnace ashes.

Chip Sheppard, 7, slept quietly in a bedroom while his mother was killed nearby. Loomis' 8-year-old daughter and 6-year-old son were sleeping upstairs when their mother was slain.

Sheppard said his wife was killed by a bushy-haired man who ransacked the house. He said some narcotics were missing from his bag. Loomis said $100 he had given to a woman was missing and suggested she had been robbed.

Detectives from Cleveland have said that someone tried to make it appear that a burglar had ransacked drawers in the Sheppard home. In the Loomis home, the window was broken in the sun parlor and police said the glass fell outside, indicating it had been broken from within.

There the similarity ends, for the Loomis trial, of course, is over, while Sheppard still awaits a verdict.

Judge John V. Brennan told the Loomis jury: "If there is a reasonable doubt in your minds, you cannot convict this man." Thirty-five minutes later the jury returned with a verdict of acquittal.

One year later Loomis was dead. He committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas. A note he left behind said: "I am not guilty of murder. My conscience is clear."

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

This newspaper picture showed a fanciful view of a Thunder Lizard looking through an eleventh story window!

Early in the present century, some gigantic bones were found in Wyoming. Certain of them, when placed upright, were taller than an average man.

Facts about dinosaurs had been learned before that time, but this monster was larger than any which had been known. A whole page in a newspaper was given to the discovery, with this headline across the top of the page: MOST COLOSSAL ANIMAL EVER ON EARTH JUST FOUND OUT WEST.

Other headlines said: "When it ate, it filled a stomach large enough to hold three elephants." "When it was angry, its terrible roar could be heard ten miles." "When it stood up, its height was equal to 11 stories of a skyscraper."

Those headlines were sensational and stepped past the truth. This animal could never have looked into a window on the eleventh story of an office building, if it had been able to stand upright on its tail, it might have peaked into an eighth story office.

In actual fact, it never could have stood on its tail. If it was able to rear itself on its hind legs, it might have looked into a fifth story window — if there had been any offices or windows when it lived!

Given the name of Brontosaurus, or Thunder Lizard by scientists, that dinosaur had a back which rose from 14 to 18 feet above the ground. Sometimes the length was more than 70 feet.

Nothing is known about its "terrible roar." If it made loud sounds, we can only guess whether they were heard at a distance of one mile or 20 miles. Neither can we tell the exact size of its stomach. Half an elephant probably would have been too much for the stomach to hold. Scientists believe that this big fellow was a plant-eater, not a flesh-eater.

Tomorrow: Small Brains.

Sooner Legislators Like Texas Prisons

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — A delegation of Oklahoma legislators, ending an eight months inspection tour of penal institutions, declared the Texas prison system "the best we have seen."

Sen. Basil Wilson of Mangum, Okla., said Tuesday his group would present data gathered on its tour which they hope will result in important changes being made in the Oklahoma prison system.

"We want to profit from the experiences of General Manager O. B. Ellis whom we think has done a wonderful job," Wilson said.

Indictment Returned For Robbery Of Bank

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — An indictment against H.E. Fox in the Aug. 31 robbery of the Humble State Bank was returned by a federal grand jury Tuesday.

FBI agents said they recovered $10,291 when Fox was arrested Oct. 16 in Riverside, Calif. The robbery, in which $14,236 was taken, was done by a man posing as an advertising novelty salesman.

Seaman Drowns

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — John E. Leck, 30, of Brownsville, was washed overboard and drowned Sunday during heavy weather in the Gulf of Mexico, it was learned yesterday. He was a crewman of the shrimp boat Ole.

Mercury Mines In State Fire Up

LAJITAS, Tex. (AP) — Quicksilver mines are coming back.

At least two mines in this rugged, Big Bend area are firing up furnaces and readying for production again.

Others may soon open.

The Rainbow, midway between here and Study Butte, will be the first to return to production.

The old Fresno will follow.

Quicksilver, or mercury, mining stopped in this area in 1946 when the market price dropped. Before that an estimated 76 pounds valued at 60 million dollars had been mined.

The current guaranteed market price for a flask of mercury is $225. But the price has climbed to as high as $331 a flask.

The first mercury mine in this area was opened in 1900. Nine were operating when all closed eight years ago.

R. N. Pulliam of Alpine is general manager of the Buena Suerte mine. He called quicksilver a "proud metal", found in spotty veins.

The ore is red. It must be heated to separate the mercury, which goes off as vapor and is trapped in a series of steam pipes. Containers are made of heavy steel.

New Asteroid Found

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Geographical Society has announced the discovery of a new minor planet, or asteroid. It said the discovery was made with the big telescope at the Palomar Observatory in California.

Other headlines said: "When it ate, it filled a stomach large enough to hold three elephants." "When it was angry, its terrible roar could be heard ten miles." "When it stood up, its height was equal to 11 stories of a skyscraper."

Those headlines were sensational and stepped past the truth. This animal could never have looked into a window on the eleventh story of an office building, if it had been able to stand upright on its tail, it might have peaked into an eighth story office.

Busy Air Hostess Has Double Classes

NEW YORK (AP) — Trans World Airlines coast-to-coast flights are like a school bus shuttle service for 24-year-old Madeline Wade.

The Brooklyn blonde is a hostess between New York and Los Angeles.

On the eastern end of the run, she takes a course in sociology at Columbia University and ballet lessons three times a week in Brooklyn. At the western end, she takes tennis lessons in Santa Monica, Calif.

Miss Wade often wears her airline uniform to classes so she can maintain her rigid schedule. On all-night flights she finds time for study. "One time," she recalls, "I left my homework aboard the plane and off it went to Paris."

"Usually, it works perfectly," she says. "Next semester, I'm going to ask my adviser to outline a heavier program for me so I can get a B. S. degree eventually."

As for dates?

There's still time left for them, she says.

Lucky Contestant To Take Rain Check

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A suburban Milwaukee woman who won an automobile, a European vacation and an air trip around the world by answering a telephone question on a television quiz show will have to take a rain check on the travel.

Mrs. Joseph Unverzagt, wife of a deputy sheriff, is expecting her first baby in a couple of months.

Mrs. Unverzagt identified the song, "My Silver Bell," when called on the "Stop the Music" quiz show. Estimated value of her prizes is $11,000.

Escaped Federal Prisoner Nabbed

QUINCY, Calif. (AP) — FBI agents captured Donald Kast, 25, an escaped federal prisoner from Fort Worth, Tuesday, William Whelan of the FBI said.

Whelan said Kast had escaped from the Fort Worth County Jail Nov. 14.

FBI agents traced him through Texas, Oklahoma and into California. He was serving 3 1/2 years on conviction of stealing an auto at Woodland, Calif., late in 1953, and transporting it to Fort Worth.

Jordan Students Protest Hangings

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A thousand school students paraded to the Egyptian Embassy Wednesday, protesting Egypt's hangings of six Mexican Brotherhood members charged with trying to overthrow Egypt's military government.

There was no violence as soldiers and police surrounded the embassy and guarded the marchers' route through Amman. Communist influence was indicated.

School Patrons Will Bite Off The Issues As Demands Warrant

Faced with the seeming inevitability of growth in scholastic population, the school board has initiated action which may lead to the addition of 15 to 21 classrooms by next autumn.

This, of course, involves finances. There is a good chance that the Big Spring Independent School District will receive around $138,000 in reimbursement from the federal government as a contribution to the district expenditures occasioned by having provided space and instruction to children of federally connected parents.

Change In Attitudes Essential To Constructive Water Reforms

Consensus of legislators is that water shapes up as the hottest issue of the forthcoming state Legislature. Many are voluble in their appraisals of the urgency of the problem; a few are dismal in their outlook for genuine, constructive results.

water code which takes a long look at the state's overall demands and potentials as well as providing the best possible equity of contemporary interests.

If we are to face up to the challenge, one of the first steps is for legislators to do some soul-searching in order to come to grips with the problem as citizens of Texas first and of sections and localities secondly.

Business Outlook—J. A. Livingston

General Motors Not Following The Program Set By U. S. Steel

What makes General Motors Corp. run? Why does Harlow H. Curtice, its president, keep driving to make it bigger?

cutthroat competition and market demoralization. Gary's credo was outlined to U. S. Attorney General Charles Joseph Bonaparte in 1908 "Public sentiment as well as the laws are opposed to combinations in restraint of trade, which . . . would include positive agreements . . . to maintain prices, restrict output, divide territory, etc.

No doubt, personal vanity is an influence. But it isn't the dominant, the compulsive influence. G. M.'s directors, if they saw fit, could limit expansion. No, G.M.'s drive is bigger than men. It's part of the system in which G. M. operates. G. M. has learned the lesson of the United States Steel Corp.

"On the other hand, public sentiment is bitterly opposed to . . . the destruction of competitors whose opportunities or resources are weak in comparison, because in the end it is certain to secure an absolute monopoly . . .

"We have endeavored to maintain a position between the two extremes. We are perfectly satisfied to limit the amount of our business to our proportion of capacity and to do everything possible to promote the interests of our competitors; and by frequent meetings and the interchange of opinions we have thus far been able to accomplish this result without making any agreements of any kind."

By focusing on the Sherman Act, Judge Gary took his eyes off his competitors, especially Bethlehem Steel, organized by that young upstart, Charles Schwab, who had helped J. P. Morgan put U. S. Steel together. Schwab left U. S. Steel because the decorous Gary objected to his visit to the casino at Monte Carlo as "unbecomingly."

Neglected Symmetry

NORFOLK, Va. — Those statesmen planning to admit West Germany as the 15th member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization overlooked one problem.

At NATO headquarters here the flags of the 14 nations fly from 14 poles, imbedded in concrete and arranged seven on each side of the headquarters.

"How will we add the West German flag and keep things symmetrical?" mused a public information officer.

Adm. Jerauld Wright didn't bother with details: "As soon as West Germany becomes a member of NATO we will fly the German flag outside our headquarters," he said.

Eisenhower Has Learned Much About Politics During His Two Years In Office

By DON WHITEHEAD (For James Marlow) WASHINGTON — The room was packed with reporters when President Eisenhower strolled through the door. He was smiling and relaxed, showing no sign of nervousness over the barrage of questions he knew was coming.

discussing politics and the campaign, while Eisenhower relaxed in his cabin. A man who now is highly placed in the administration said: "Eisenhower is a political amateur even though he did win the nomination and election. Let's not kid ourselves. He has lived his life in the Army, much of it away from home. He had been removed from the currents of American politics. He doesn't know the political subtleties in the relationship between politicians. He doesn't know American politics, period."

Department Of Public Safety Records Could Save Your Life

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald. — Editor's Note.

You can hook at all the paper work that goes on in the various governmental agencies if you want to, but there's at least one such operation that is calculated to get plenty of results.

and county judges, justices of the peace, etc., throughout the state, of course. These officials are supposed to send in a report every time a driver is convicted of any kind of traffic law violation, with the exception of overtime parking.

That one is the records being kept on Texas automobile drivers by the Department of Public Safety.

When a driver's total gets up to three for the 24 months past, he receives a letter from the department, cautioning him that he may need to reappraise his driving habits. When the number of violations or accidents in the 24-month period reaches four, the driver draws an interview with the examiner in his area. If his license isn't suspended then, it will be after the next sashay outside the law.

The big bookkeeping job could result in making Texas drivers the safest in the country. Simply by eliminating those who refuse to abide by the law.

Highower currently is urging all judges to send in the reports on all violations in his area, in hopes of being able to crack down on those motorists who apparently don't mind paying a $10 or $15 fine every few weeks but who might slow down after they find out their driving licenses are at stake.

The records-keeping program isn't new; in fact, it's almost as old as the licensing of drivers in Texas. The paper workers at DPS headquarters started keeping tabs on the state's drivers back in 1937, shortly after operator's licenses became a part of a driver's equipment in this state.

The best drivers, Highower says, aren't necessarily the ones who make the best grades on the written and driving tests that must be passed before a driving license is issued. The best drivers are the ones without any violations or accidents on their driving records.

But the program didn't work too well for the first three or four years. Law enforcement officials, particularly the local magistrates of one kind or another, didn't cooperate fully. Then came the Second World War and the turmoil it threw everything into. But since the war, the program started building up steam and Highower says it now is in a position to start getting results.

They also are the ones who won't lose their licenses. WAYLAND YATES

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs

New Policy Of 'Patience' May Be Subjected To Severe Tests

WASHINGTON—The direction of American foreign and military policy is in process of a significant reversal in line with President Eisenhower's historic press conference statement of last week stressing the need for America to have the "courage to be patient."

overrode a three-to-one decision of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in favor of bombing Communist Chinese bases in the interior in retaliation for Red attacks on the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy. Growing recognition of the need to fight local wars by limited means is further evidence of the influence of the Ridgway viewpoint. If it is finally formulated in a Security Council decision, it will be implemented in the new military budget in several ways, including in particular these two:

While it has not yet been written into the language of a National Security Council decision, there is increasing recognition that Communist aggression of a limited nature may occur in the future that will call not for all-out atomic warfare but for limited forces to repel and punish that aggression. This represents a decided shift from the policy line in Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' speech to the Council on Foreign Relations last January when he said that the basic decision was to "depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate instantly by means and at places of our own choosing."

The reactivation of four or five training centers for ground forces in the United States preparatory to an increase in the number of ground divisions.

In the same speech Dulles said that local defenses would be reinforced by "massive retaliatory power." Rightly or wrongly, Western Europe took this to mean that any attempt to resist Communist aggression anywhere would mean the use of atomic and hydrogen bombs. Coupled with the H-bomb tests in the Pacific last March and the fall-out of radioactive ash on a Japanese fishing boat, this stirred a profound current of shock and fear among America's allies.

2. A moderate expansion of the defense production base to insure weapons for this enlarged force.

The President has been primarily responsible for moving away from the "massive retaliatory" concept. He has been influenced by the views of General Matthew Ridgway, Chief of Staff of the Army, who at the President's request appeared before the National Security Council in the spring to present the case against the use of American sea and air power to save beleaguered Dien Bien Phu in Indochina. Ridgway insisted that there could be no "immaculate war" and that within a few days the call would go out for American ground troops, which were not available in anything like the numbers required.

Although it was generally overlooked, a suggestion of the change was contained in Dulles' Chicago speech. He reiterated that America must have the capacity "to respond at places and by means of our choosing." Then he added "This, however, does not mean that any local war would automatically be turned into a general war with atomic bombs being dropped all over the map."

Political Playback

Wealth of a candidate for high office is a favorite campaign target in Texas. Sometimes the lack of wealth on the part of an opponent is capitalized into a vote asset.

States at Sharyland in 1953 wasn't mentioned by the opposition, as its implications seemed on the plus side for Shivers. But Shivers had grown up on a farm at Woodville, and he kept the farm home there, where he and his family spent considerable time during his tenure in office.

One instance was the fabulous campaign story about Ross Sterling's bayshore home, in both his races for governor. According to the stump speakers, it was a mansion with "twenty-seven bathrooms."

In the '54 campaign, his opponents frequently mentioned that farm home. One made a point that "it must be quite a farmhouse. Shivers had Nelman-Marcus come over from Dallas to do its interior decorating."

When Sterling first became governor, he had possession of numerous big business properties in Houston. During the time he served the state at $4,000 a year, depression conditions stripped him of many of these properties. He held onto the family home, and its 27 bathrooms story was retold in his second, and losing, race.

Carriers Expect Big Yule Loads

Christmas travel will start a lot of wheels to rolling in and out of Big Spring soon, but the load isn't expected to be larger than planes, trains and buses can handle.

Trains may have to add some coaches and bus lines expect to be called on for some extra vehicles, but everyone is expected to get a ride.

Majority of the travel probably will be by private conveyance, anyway.

Relatively few persons are making reservations on trains or planes for their Christmas trips. Reservations aren't necessary for travel by bus, of course.

Pioneer Air Lines has more than 60 reservations booked for the period between now and Jan. 1. Most of these are for the four-day period of Dec. 18-21.

The T&P ticket office reported that several inquiries have been received concerning reservations for travel by rail, but so far few have actually made reservations.

The various bus companies have received numerous queries about schedules, mostly east and west, out of Big Spring and they're looking for heavy Yule loads. All are due to press extra vehicles and drivers into service, especially around Dec. 18-21.

That's when Webb Air Force Base will shut down most of its operations to give personnel an opportunity to spend Christmas at home with the folks.

As far as train travel is concerned, most servicemen are expected to take advantage of the special round-trip furlough rates. This means many airmen will be riding coaches, for which no reservations are necessary.

The railroad reported that extra coaches will be available to accommodate any large volume of travelers.

The bus companies said that no potential passengers will be left behind. The extra buses are available to accommodate any large volume of travelers.

The bus companies said that no potential passengers will be left behind. The extra buses are available almost on a moment's notice.

Pioneer said that in addition to the reservations for PAL flights, a few "off-line" seats have been reserved through the office here. The airlines all request that reservations be called for as promptly as possible, in order that confirmations may be secured.

coln, Madison and Washington. There is no uniform distribution of the presidential streets, and they can be found in all areas of the city.

Dixie and Union streets, reminiscent of the Civil War, are both located one block east of Settles. Dixie is south of Union.

States such as Virginia, Utah, Pennsylvania, Wyoming, Kentucky, and Ohio are thrown in at intervals across town, and such cities as Tucson, Tulsa, Mobile, San Antonio, Dallas, Austin and Galveston are named.

Trees included are Cedar, Cherry, Elm, Maple, Oak, Pine, Mulberry, Sycamore and Walnut, while Indian tribes listed are Cherokee and Chickasaw.

Most of the streets in the newer additions were named by the developers, and quite a few of the developers' names can be found on the streets. Indicative of this fact are Steakley, Pickens, Graf, Blackmon and Stanford streets. Naming of a street opposite the new Avion Village recently caused commissioners a headache. The developer wanted the street named "Ike," but it was a direct extension of Robin Street so the undeveloped right-of-way was also named Robin. Other "bird" streets are Cardinal, Lark, Canary and Bluebird.

Big Spring has a lot of crooks and turns in streets because of development changes through the years.

The original townsite was laid out in section 43, block 32, township 1-North. And streets did not run in a true north-south direction. When the city boundaries expanded, however, the streets were planned true north and south, causing some rough "joints" or "kinks" made the problem more pronounced.

Records at the City Hall, dated August, 1953, show that only seven miles of arterial streets are in Big Spring. This includes Highways 80 and 87.

Joy Ride Lands Youth in Custody

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP)—Four teen-aged youths took a joy ride Tuesday, one that landed them in county custody.

Officers said the old-model coupe, driven by 19-year-old Floyd Coby, overturned along the Rose-Groveland Road. Unhurt, the boys righted it and started again.

But four miles down the road, the coupe was demolished when it went out of control and crashed into a bridge abutment.

Still unhurt, the boys were taken into custody by sheriff's officers. Coby was fined $50 and given 30 days in jail for reckless driving.

No other gas pedal gets action like this!

THIS pedal does more than just feed gas to an eager and high-powered V8 engine.

When you give it the extra nudge that moves it beyond the full throttle position, something happens that never happened before in an automobile.

You hear a businesslike purr, which tells you that twenty power vanes, deep inside the 1955 Dynaflow Drive,* have changed their pitch—just like the variable pitch propellers on a modern air liner.

And with the same result in the way you get-up-and-go, with a safety-surge of power for pulling out of a tight spot on the highway. Words just can't describe it. It's a new and thrilling sensation—something you simply must try for yourself.

There's nothing like it on the 1955 new-car horizon.

Fact is, there's a whale of a lot to see at your Buick dealer's showroom.

There's fresh new styling. There's higher horsepower in every Buick V8 engine. There's a new Airpower carburetor. And beneath it all there's good old-fashioned integrity in every nut, bolt and rivet.

But, this year, don't simply make a visit to the showroom where these trim and thrilling new beauties are on display.

Policy On Income Tax Form Assistance Not Like Before

By WILBUR MARTIN
DALLAS (AP)—If you know how to fill out your income tax return, this is not for lucky you. But for we who shudder at the thought of having to do it all by ourselves, the Internal Revenue Service has a few words.

First, we've got to face it. It's up to us to get the return filled out this year. That happy day is past when we could go down, plop our Form W-2 down in front of an Internal Revenue Service expert and say, "Figure please."

"We found out we were losing tax revenue by pulling these experts off their regular jobs of checking taxes," explained James Hodges of the North Texas region of the Internal Revenue Service. "You can't afford to lose tax revenue. You know, 55 per cent of the 1,200,000 persons who filed a tax return in this region last year got a refund. The total paid back was $72,543,787."

Now, we're not going to be left to flounder in a sea of figures. "We're conducting an intensive educational campaign," said Hodges. "There'll be television and radio programs with tips on how to fill out the form and answers provided for the most common questions a person asks."

"About 35 or 40 schools will be conducted all over the area where companies can send representatives to find out about filling out the returns. They'll be able to go back and help fellow employees." Speakers will be available to clubs and organizations with large memberships, if requested.

But if you just have to have somebody straighten you out, there will be certain days you can go down to the Internal Revenue Office and get help. On Mondays between 8:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. during January, the experts will answer your questions. There will be no "tax assistance" days in February, but they'll be resumed about March 15.

Nobody will fill out the form for you. But your questions will be answered and if there's enough of you in the same boat, they'll put you in a class for a quick education in how to make out the form. "One thing," Hodges said, "we're stressing early filing. Since most small income tax payers are due a refund, an early filing means they'll get their money back sooner."

In case you've forgotten, there's a new simple card tax form this year for those who make under $5,000. The deadline to file is April 15, instead of March 15.

Beautification Of Courthouse Block Is To Be Started

The actual beautification of the courthouse square is about to start after months of grading and construction of walks and other improvements.

Most of the six-inch layer of topsoil has been hauled in and equipment and some materials are on hand to start the transplanting of shrubbery, etc. Naud Burnett Landscape Company of Dallas will do the work.

At the same time, work on the installation of an automatic sprinkler system will be resumed. The installation will take place in conjunction with the landscape work.

County Judge R. H. Weaver said the rye will be sowed on the square to hold the soil until sod can be established.

A. P. Karch & Sons, contractor, have completed most of the construction of walks and the memorial recess on the east side of the square. A granite monument, memorial to Howard County's war victims, is on order and is scheduled for delivery in a few weeks.

Although snow often lies on the ground at the depth of about 10 inches for every inch of precipitation, the type of snow often makes large differences in that figure.

In 1953, 770 Americans were killed and 27,750 injured while trying to cross intersections against the light.

Quads Surprise Doctor

The Lashley quads turned the tables and called on their doctor in Louisville, Ky. And Dr. Marcus Phelps, although he couldn't see the youngsters, was overcome. He has had two unsuccessful eye operations and faces another soon. Grouped around him are the quads who will be 14 on Feb. 23 and whom Dr. Phelps brought into the world. They are: Martine, Beulah, John and Mildred, all of Leitchfield, Ky. (AP Wirephoto).

Communist Satellite Nations Attempt To Appease Unrest

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Communist satellite nations of Eastern Europe appear to have cooked up an economic fiasco so serious that it is inspiring underground political opposition to the Red regimes, qualified observers report.

A New Course has been imposed in each of the satellite nations — Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Albania and East Germany. This requires easing off in the fever drive toward industrialization in an attempt to meet the population's urgent needs. But Communist bureaucracy and economic facts of life have got in the way.

Hungary is a prime example of the economic chaos which has come about after years of domination by Stalinist Communists who now are being ordered — probably by Moscow — to mend their ways. There are guarded reports from Hungary, Czechoslovakia and other areas too of an apparently dangerous "political underworld" — that is, a still lusty opposition to the regimes. Travelers from Budapest report the balloon leaflet campaign of the Crusade for Freedom — which operates Radio Free Europe — has had striking success. The leaflets released by a device carried on the balloons have spurred demands upon the Hungarian government for more concession to private craftsmen and for more attention to the everyday needs of the Hungarian public.

Observers of the American organization report they have the impression now "that foreign troops and the still-enforced prestige of the Soviet empire have become the chief support of Communist rule" in Hungary.

Behind the crisis in Hungary was the fevered drive — as in the other satellite nations — to industrialize the country regardless of consumer needs. Hungary was to become a "country of iron and steel."

Under the New Course, the Communist regime has ordered a measure of curtailment of heavy industry in favor of the light industry which will produce goods urgently needed by the public, and in favor of agriculture even on a private scale. A raft of apologies for private enterprise is popping up in the official press.

However, the regime has run into trouble, because it has — admittedly — found that the production of consumer goods is unprofitable. The turnover tax on such goods makes their manufacture a losing proposition. Therefore the enterprise involved, in the words of the Budapest press, "cannot meet its plan of profit payment to the treasury" and thus faces loss of its credit for fulfilling the regime's plan. Enterprises which have been engaged in heavy industry are reluctant to undertake manufacture of consumer goods.

Old-line Stalinist Communists in the satellite nations apparently are finding it difficult to go along with the New Course and its myriad concessions to private enterprise. Such old-liners are being gradually weeded out by a regime which seems to exhibit real fear of a growing public anger. However, the regime itself faces a dilemma. It cannot go too far with such reforms without the risk of wrecking the system under which it rules.

It does no good to stand the trees in water.

"That's a lot of hokey," is the reaction of Big Springers who believe they have found from experience that a little water does help keep Christmas trees "alive."

It's Time To Buy Christmas Tree; Plenty Available Here

This is the weekend Christmas tree sales are supposed to start soaring. And Big Spring dealers are ready.

Several food stores, truckers and some non-profit organizations have the trees for sale.

They come in all sizes, and you can get them painted or in their natural condition. Prices cover about the same range as last year. They may be slightly cheaper.

There are plenty of accessory items available, too. These include stands, of the type you can put water in or of the kind that simply holds the tree in an upright position.

Pine needles and cones, holly and mistletoe also can be purchased for completing the Christmas decorations. You can get the pine cones, with needles attached, for as little as three for a quarter.

Christmas trees range in price from a dollar to $5. Vendors quote the three- and four-foot trees at from $1 to $1.75. The five- and six-foot trees cost anywhere from $1.75 to $3, and the larger ones range upward in price to $5.

Most of the trees on sale here come from New Mexico. They're freshly chopped up there and have been hauled here in the past few days. Blue spruce and fir are the most popular types.

The majority of dealers recommend that the trees be installed in some kind of stand in which the butt of the trunk can be kept immersed in water, wet sand, etc. This is supposed to keep the trees fresh and prevent their drying out and becoming a fire hazard.

Most of the Christmas tree people here disagree with the Chicago dealer who said the other day that

A few minutes later, part of the fire fighting units were called across the street to the Head Inn, a tavern, where fire had broken out in a small storeroom.

Both fires were put out quickly. The blaze at the hotel was blamed on a cigarette, and was confined to one room. Hotel manager Preston Baumgardner estimated damage at $300 to $400.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The state attorney general's office has turned down a request from truant officer E. G. Clemons of Jackson County that he be allowed to carry a concealed weapon.

Clemons wrote that his job of rounding up mountain boys playing hooky takes him into "places where my personal safety is in danger." But he was told by the state that a gun might "get you into a lot of trouble."

Fragrant Delicious Turkey Keystone For Traditional Christmas Day Feast

Two marvelous thoughts hover in the kitchen air as mother drags out her bespattered cookbook and her lists for Christmas Day: one, a turkey, crisp, shiny and brown; the moist meat falling away under father's knife as the family munches celery impatiently; two, a remnant whose bones look like the naked structure of a building, the last piece of meat gone from the platter, the last scrap of stuffing sought from its now-revealed hiding place.

The promise and happy fulfillment are both in her mind as she marshals forces for the big job. And, no matter how many times she's prepared Christmas dinner, she wants to know and use the newest and best ideas and techniques.

In answer to a popular question, both the Poultry and Egg National Board and Frigidaires people agree that freezing a stuffed turkey, either cooked or uncooked, is not good.

In advance preparation is desired, these authorities suggest preparing the dry ingredients for stuffing the day before and storing them on the shelf.

As for the stuffing itself, the Poultry and Egg people concede that there is much variation in what goes into a stuffing—in the South, it's crumbled cornbread and pecans, almonds and hickory nuts; in the West, it's Oregon flambé; in Massachusetts, it's cranberries and in the upper Midwest, it's walnuts and raisins.

For a good compromise—a recipe from the heart of the country—they offer Mrs. Harry Truman's recipe. This recipe will do for an eight to 10-pound bird.

12 slices dry bread
1/2 pound butter
1 cup diced onions
1 cup diced celery
1 cup giblet stock
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

1 1/2 teaspoons poultry seasoning
Dry out bread in slow oven. Cut into half-inch cubes. Put butter into frying pan, add onions and celery. Sauté until light brown. Add giblet stock and let simmer for five minutes. Add bread cubes, mix and season with salt, pepper and poultry seasoning. The dressing should be somewhat moist so that it will be light and fluffy when done.

For the last word in turkey preparation, they offer these suggestions: After bird is eviscerated and cleaned, remove pinfeathers, singe if necessary, wash outside thoroughly, rinse cavity with cold water and wipe dry. Then make stuffing; rub cavity with salt just before roasting and stuff lightly by hand.

Truss legs, even if bird is not stuffed. Grease skin with fat, over top and sides with fat-moistened cloth. Place in pre-heated 325-degree oven. When turkey is two-thirds done, cut trussing string.

One more caution—do not sear, cover or add salt to the turkey. To tell when it's exactly done, beside using your cookbook's timetable, test to see if the drumstick moves readily or twists out of joint. Meat thermometer in center of thigh muscle should register 190-195 degrees when done.

Candy Makes It 'Santa Time'

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
What's Santa-Claus time without candy? Try making some of this Chocolate Fondant for a special treat. You'll find it's wonderful to have in the house for those holiday callers. Pack it into a tin box with a tight cover so it will stay fresh.

Ingredients: 2 cups sugar, dash of salt, 1/4 cups water, 2 table-spoons light corn syrup, 2 table-spoons butter or margarine, 1 tea-spoon vanilla, 3 squares (3 ounces) unsweetened chocolate (melted).

Method: Put sugar, salt, water and corn syrup in a saucepan. Stir constantly over low heat until sugar dissolves and mixture boils. Cover and cook 3 minutes remove cover and continue boiling without stirring. Occasionally wipe away crystals on sides of pan with a damp cloth wrapped around the handle of a wooden spoon. Cook until a small amount of syrup forms a soft ball in cold water; if candy thermometer is used it should register 238 degrees. Remove from heat; add butter. Pour out on cold wet platter or porcelain table top, or on a greased surface. Cool to lukewarm (110 degrees). Work with paddle or spatula until white and creamy. Add vanilla and knead until smooth. Shape into a ball; make indentation in top and pour about one-fourth of chocolate into it; knead until chocolate is blended; repeat until all chocolate is used. Store in tightly covered jar to ripen for several days. (The ripening will make the fondant pliable.) If fondant begins to dry out, place a damp cloth directly over the fondant and replace cover. (Makes 1 1/2 pounds). After fondant has ripened use in following ways:

CHOCOLATE BALLS: Knead and shape ripened fondant into small balls. Roll in finely chopped nuts or coconut.

CHOCOLATE KISSES: Melt ripened fondant in top of double boiler, keeping water in lower part just below boiling point. Mix in 1 cup shredded coconut. Drop from teaspoon onto waxed paper. If mixture is not stiff enough to hold its shape, cool a little before dropping.

CAVITY is washed and salted. Pack lightly with any kind of stuffing you like.

NECK cavity is lightly stuffed, skin skewered underneath. Wings are folded under.

SEW or truss opening. Tie drumsticks and tail together with cotton string.

PLACE bird in dry, uncovered roasting pan. This Taylor thermometer sits in fat of leg.

Delicious Recipes Make Afternoon Parties Easy

Afternoon entertaining during the holiday season is fun because of the variety of parties you can have—tea, coffee, punch parties, open houses. Here are delicious new recipes for all these kinds of party-giving to give you ideas.

For a coffee or tea, serve little sandwiches and fruitcake, made with Dromedary mix. To vary the fruitcake, try a dip. Cut the cake in tiny squares, insert toothpicks and serve it with the dip.

QUICK SHERRY SAUCE
Prepare one package vanilla pudding according to directions, using twice the usual amount of milk. Allow to cool, covered. Add 1 teaspoon sherry or rum flavoring.

You can have a fine punch party whether you serve liquor or not. Here is the Tea Council's fruit punch. It makes about 5 quarts or 32 4-ounce servings.

OPEN HOUSE FRUIT PUNCH
Pour 2 quarts boiling water over 5 tablespoons tea. Brew five minutes. Stir and strain. Add 1 cup sugar and stir until dissolved. Cool at room temperature. Combine 1 cup lemon juice, 2 cups orange juice, 1 cup pineapple juice, 2 cups cranberry juice. Add to tea. Chill. Just before serving, pour punch over large piece of ice in punch bowl. Add 1 quart ginger ale. Garnish with 1/2 lemon, sliced, 1 lime, sliced, and maraschino cherries.

CHAMPAGNE PUNCH
Combine 2 quarts imported champagne, 2 ponies maraschino, 4 ponies cognac, 2 ponies curacao,

2 ponies yellow chartreuse, juice of 4 lemons and 2 quarts soda water. Add sugar to taste. Decorate with fruit, pour into punch bowl over ice. Makes about 30 servings.

For munching at a cocktail or punch party, there are few things so easy on the hostess' time and so pleasing to guests as dips.

TUNA HOLIDAY DIP
Combine one 6-ounce can tomato paste, 1 cup sour cream, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1/4 teaspoon oregano, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Mix until blended. Break one 7-ounce can drained solid-pack tuna into large pieces with a fork and add to tomato mixture. Mix well. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Garnish with additional tuna, if desired. This makes 2 cups dip. Serve it in a bowl surrounded with potato chips or crackers.

Beef Canapes Make Excellent Party Fare

Guests will be particularly fond of beef canapes spread generously on fancy cocktail crackers.

BEEF CANAPES

Ingredients:
1 pound cooked beef, ground very fine
1 small onion
3-3 cup pecans, finely chopped
1 tablespoon horseradish
Mayonnaise to taste
Salt and pepper to taste

Method:
Add seasonings to chopped beef and pecans. Add mayonnaise to proper consistency and pipe with a pastry tube or spread on fancy cocktail crackers.

Baker Deluxe

Mrs. C. W. Deats shows a good day's work just fresh out of her oven. The cake in the foreground is so popular with her husband that she hid it from him until it was safely photographed. Recipes for the cake, cookies and homemade bread as well as two other Christmas delicacies are given in the accompanying story.

Decorate Tree With This Candy

Candy made at home has a special appeal at Christmas. Make some now and it will be on hand when the busy days before Christmas crowd you out of the kitchen. Caramels are most obliging sweets, for they can be made well in advance and stay fresh several weeks, if wrapped well.

The recipe calls for Brazil nuts, but any nut you prefer can be substituted.

NUT CARAMELS

2 cups beet or cane sugar
2 cups table cream (this added in two parts)
1 1/2 cup white corn syrup
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup coarse-cut Brazil nuts
Combine in a 1 1/2 quart saucepan beet or cane sugar, 1 cup of the cream, corn syrup and salt; cook slowly on medium heat to soft ball stage (236 degrees F.) Add butter or margarine and remaining 1 cup of cream alternately in four additions, beginning and ending with butter or margarine (do not let mixture stop boiling), stirring constantly.

Continue to cook slowly to hard ball stage (302 degrees F.). Remove from heat and stir in vanilla and nuts. Pour into lightly buttered 8-inch square pan. Cool completely, then turn out on board and cut with a sharp knife into 1-inch squares. Wrap each square with waxed paper or cellophane. Makes about 1 1/2 pounds.

For cold water tests: drop about 1/4 teaspoon boiling syrup into a cup of cold water and test firmness of mass with fingers. Soft ball stage—when syrup ball may be picked up with fingers, but flattens. Hard ball stage—when syrup ball holds its shape though pliable.

A clever way to decorate the tree is with wreaths of these home-

Mincemeat Meringue Dish Is Timely And Tasty Treat

This spicy mincemeat pudding will fill your kitchen with a tantalizing aroma that tells the family they're in for a real taste-treat! A browned, cloud-like meringue covers a layer of rich spicy mincemeat, with a creamy golden rice pudding beneath! This dessert is wonderful served hot!

Lettuce Salad with Russian Dressing
MINCEMEAT-MERINGUE PUDDING

Ingredients:
1 1-3 cup water
2-3 cup uncooked white rice
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons beet or cane sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups mincemeat
2 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup beet or cane sugar

Method:
Put the water, rice and salt in a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from heat and add the milk, eggs, sugar and vanilla. Mix well. Place in a 1 1/2 quart greased baking dish. Place the baking dish in a shallow pan of hot water. Bake in a 350 F. oven for 45 minutes to one hour until a silver knife comes out clean when it is inserted into the center of the pudding. Place the mincemeat over the top of the pudding. Beat the egg whites until foamy. Add the salt to the egg whites, and gradually beat in the sugar. Beat until the egg whites are smooth and shiny. Spread this meringue over the mincemeat layer. Place in a 350 F. oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until the meringue is browned. This recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

Festive Dessert Salad

Here's a festive dessert salad to make with large golden canned cling peach halves. Combine a small package soft cream cheese with 1/4 cup each mayonnaise, drained cranberry sauce and chopped roasted almonds. Blend thoroughly and serve in 4 canned cling peach halves. Excellent for a P-TA gathering.

Maple Sugar Topping

Any maple sugar in the house? Then you can make a delectable topping with it. Beat some of the crushed sugar into heavy cream as you finish whipping it. Serve with apple cobbler.

Baking Season Always Open In Home Of Attractive Grandmother

"I bake more and eat less than anyone I know," says Mrs. C. W. Deats, 400 Virginia. She must be right for when we went out to interview her (she knew we were coming) she had baked not only a cake, but four plump loaves of fresh bread, and dozens of rolled cookies all decorated for Christmas. She obviously doesn't over-indulge in her good cooking — she's much too slim.

And yet she has just begun her Christmas baking. Good things are in store for Dr. Deats, her dentist husband, and her boys, Charles Wesley Jr. and Richard who are both ministerial students at Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University.

Cooking just sort of "came to" Mrs. Deats. When she was first married she says she literally didn't know how to boil water. Baking is her hobby and specialty. She has five recipes for Herald food page readers today and they all have the stamp of approval from the Deats men.

Tops in interests with this attractive baker are her grandson, John Wesley, membership in the Lions Auxiliary and church work. She is a member of the Catholic Church and her husband belongs to the First Methodist Church.

Her Blitze Torte, her husband's favorite cake, is from a recipe she obtained from a friend in San Antonio.

BLITZE TORTE

Ingredients:
1/2 cup margarine (one stick)
1/2 cup sugar
Dash of salt
1 heaping teaspoon baking powder
4 tablespoons milk
4 egg yolks
1 cup powdered sugar
4 egg whites
Chopped nuts

Method:
Cream sugar and margarine, then add eggs, milk and flour. Beat egg whites stiff and add powdered sugar. Put dough in greased pans, then put egg whites on top and sprinkle with chopped nuts and bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Put together with lemon filling.

For the filling combine 2 tablespoons flour, 1/4 cup cold water, 1 or 2 egg yolks, 1/2 cup sugar, juice and rind of 1 lemon and 2 teaspoons butter.

An ideal holiday recipe is the nut cake that is a Deats favorite and was used by Dr. Deats' mother.

NUT CAKE

Ingredients:
1 cup butter
2 cups sugar
2 cups flour
1 cup milk
Whites of 7 eggs
Yolks of 2 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
3 teaspoons cream of tartar
1 pint of pecans dredged in flour

Method:
Cream butter and sugar, add flour and milk. Add pecans then fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in large round pan for 1 hour at 300 degrees.

The Deats boys wouldn't think it was Christmas without their mother's rolled cookies which she decorates with bright red and green icing.

ROLLED COOKIES

Ingredients:
1/2 cup butter or shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon soda dissolved in 2 tablespoons milk
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1 egg (beaten)
2 1/2 cups flour
Pinch of salt

Method:
Cream butter and sugar. Beat in the egg. Add milk in which the soda has been dissolved, vanilla and flour. Chill and roll to 1/4 of an inch thickness. Dip in flour before putting out cookies.

Date lovers will go for the date loaf that Mrs. Deats prepares this time of year.

DATE LOAF

Ingredients:
4 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
Dash of salt
Vanilla
1 cup mixed nuts
2 packages dates
1/2 bottle chopped cherries
2 rings candied pineapple

Method:
Beat whole eggs with rotary beater. Add sugar then flour. Then fruits and nuts which have been dredged in flour. Bake in loaf pan at 300 degrees for 1 hour. Serve with whipped cream and cherry.

Now for that tantalizing homemade bread.

HOMEMADE BREAD

Ingredients:
1 yeast cake
8 cups flour
1 tablespoon salt
1/2 cup or more sugar
1 scant cup of shortening (melted)

Water Method:
At night take one yeast cake and dissolve it in two cups of lukewarm water. Now add 2 cups flour and beat and cover. In the morning add 2 more cups of lukewarm water, 2 cups flour, salt, sugar and melted shortening. Beat into flour mixture. Now add about 4 cups of flour. Add more flour if necessary to achieve stiff dough. Put dough in large greased bowl. When it doubles in bulk, knead down, let rise again. Then, put on floured board and shape into four loaves of bread. Let double in pan and bake for one hour.

ENTERTAINMENT AT HOLIDAYS is easier with buffet dinners. This hostess is serving a macaroni-frankfurter casserole, a cabbage slaw and platters of pickles. Dessert is maraschino cherry fruit cake served with hot coffee.

THE FREEZER'S a good friend at Christmas. Personalized food gifts can be stored until ready. So can parts of the big dinner if you prepare them in advance.

Scents Of Christmas Kitchen Vital Part Of Yule Festivity

Wonders come from the stocking. Wonders are found under the tree. But it is the rich smell of the kitchen, redolent of many Christmases—ever different yet still the same—that is the wonder that holds the marvelous bauble of Christmas together.

Childhood holidays are remembered not for the bicycle or cowboy suit, but for the smell of coffee cake going in the oven, the tart delight of pickles blending with the scent of celery, the taste of tiny cookies and good coffee, the bite of punch.

Wise families may pare the Christmas budget down to nothing, but they will save enough to spend on the delights of the kitchen. If you have never experienced the delight of exquisite Christmas food, try this year, making the holiday a time of good food, lovingly made.

A chicken will do for the main meal if you can't go a turkey, but make it splendid and festive. Get a book like Virginia Pasley's "Christmas Cookie Book" and read until you are hungry. Then bake—cookies for gifts, for tea, for a jar in the kitchen, for the kids to decorate.

Plan Christmas breakfast as a calm time of joy.

Food is no foolish frippery. It lies close to the core of the family

For Entertaining, Stick To Buffet

What with worrying about the big day, the kids, the tree and her gift baking, it's generally a brave hostess who tackles a dinner party during the Christmas season. But it is among the most wonderful times of year to have a dinner party—the home is warm and inviting and many old friends and relatives are in town. But the task need not be exhausting. Whatever you serve, do it buffet-style.

degree oven 15 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

Here Are Sweets For The Christmas Tree

Small fry can help Mom make Christmas decorations—and get a big bang out of their handiwork. It's such fun to shape a sweet cereal mixture into big balls, tie them with red and green ribbons and hang on the tree!

Here are ideas and recipes for a dinner party that's enticing and outside the run of ordinary holiday fare.

The menu a blaze of holiday colors: the hot macaroni-frankfurter casserole has tomato juice and sweet pickle relish in it, the slaw is garnished with green and red pepper, red pimiento enlivens the pickles and the fruitcake has a garnish of red and green maraschino cherries carved into poinsettia petals and leaves.

CHERRY FRUITCAKE
Cream 1 cup margarine until light and fluffy. Add 1 cup sugar gradually and continue creaming until blended. Beat in 4 egg yolks, one at a time. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon mace, ¼ tablespoons brandy; mix well.

KRISSE KRINGLE BALLS
Ingredients: 2½ cups sugar-coated rice cereal, ¼ cup chopped candied cherries, ½ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, ¼ cup dark corn syrup, 2-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-3 cup butter or margarine.

HOLIDAY CASSEROLE
Add 1 tablespoon salt to 3 quarts rapidly boiling water. Gradually add 2 cups elbow macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain.

Gradually add 1½ cups sifted cake flour while beating. Combine ½ cup sifted cake flour with 1 cup chopped nuts and ¼ cup chopped candied orange peel, ¼ cup citron, ¼ cup chopped candied pineapple, ¼ cup shredded coconut, ¼ cup white raisins, ¼ cup quartered maraschino cherries, drained. Combine 4 egg whites and ¼ teaspoon salt, beat until foamy.

Add ½ teaspoon cream of tartar and beat until stiff. Fold egg whites into batter. Pour into waxed - paper lined, greased 9-inch tube pan. Bake in 325 degree oven 1 hour. Top with confectioners' sugar glaze and green and red cherries cut into flowers.

Method: Place cereal and cherries in a large buttered bowl. Put sugar, salt, baking soda, corn syrup and milk in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring to dissolve sugar. Continue boiling, stirring constantly, until a small amount of mixture forms a firm ball in cold water; if a candy thermometer is used it should register 242 degrees. Remove from heat and cool 1 minute. Add vanilla and butter and beat until thick. Pour over cereal and cherries and mix well. Let stand until mixture is cold. Shape into 2-inch balls, buttering hands lightly to prevent mixture from sticking. To make Christmas tree decorations, tie balls with red and green ribbon. Makes 1 dozen balls.

Turn into a greased 1½-quart casserole and sprinkle with grated cheese, if you like. Bake in 350 as a source of shared fun, good morale. If the kids are full of the season spirit, lead them to the kitchen where they may bake cranberry pies in small aluminum tins for their friends, put names on gingerbread men for the family. It is true that the first thing we seek as a gift for those who have little, or those who do not live in America, is food. Without it, the brightest lights, the fanciest lawn decorations are as cold and uncomfortable as that foresighted soul who completes the Christmas shopping in October.

Touch Up Those Holiday Dishes With Fine Sauce

Many dishes can be fancied up for holiday fare with the judicious use of sauces.

Roast Beef Noel
Select a 3 to 4-rib roast of prime beef. Rub it with coarse salt. Crush some black peppercorns and press 3 to 4 teaspoons of them into meat. Roast in 300 degree oven without basting.

When done, sprinkle with 1½ tablespoons of rosemary leaves and press them into the fat with a fork. Place roast on hot platter, surround with rings of broiled tomatoes and puree of spinach. Just before serving, warm 4 ounces of French cognac in a saucepan and pour it over the roast. Ignite the cognac with a match and serve while aflame. (This is from the French National Association of Cognac Producers.)

Tomato Sauce for Fowl
Place 3 ripe tomatoes in a saucepan with 1 sliced carrot, 1 sliced onion, a teaspoon of butter and some parsley. Salt and pepper heavily. Add 1 strip chopped raw bacon, plus 4 ounces dry vermouth. Cook covered for one hour on a medium flame. Stir often.

Then sprinkle tomatoes with flour. Add ½ cup clear meat broth. Cook for ten minutes more. Strain. Bring to boil again. Add 1 teaspoon butter when serving. (This recipe by Stock Vermouth Company.)

HOT PUDDING SAUCE
Put 2 cups dry white wine, 4 egg yolks and 2 whole eggs, 1 teaspoon lemon juice and 3 tablespoons granulated sugar in top of double boiler and heat over a low flame, until it boils. Remove quickly from fire to prevent curdling. (Created by Mrs. Hilde A. Potter of Paul Masson Vineyards, Saratoga, Calif.)

Cranberries Have Number Of Uses

Because of their lovely redness and good flavor, cranberries are a tasty complement to Christmas meats. As a sauce or jelly with the turkey, they're traditional. But there are other uses of this delicacy which is so plentiful at Yuletide.

With orange marmalade, candied cranberries are the base of a homemade ice cream. With lemon and apricot, they make a fine relish for freezing.

A crisp-crust cranberry-apple pie is a novel dessert, one not quite so rich as plum pudding, but with all the air of tradition. Combine Cape Cod cranberries and apples in a syrup and cook five minutes. Put in unbaked pie shell, top with lattice crust. Bake about 20-25 minutes.

Crisp slices of red apple, served with Roquefort and cream cheese blended together, make a fine dessert. A little mayonnaise may be added to the cheese, or use sweet or sour cream.
