5 Deaths In Strike Riots

Officers Use Clubs And Tear Gas In Combatting Unionists

By the Associated Press
Approximately 73,000 workers affected by the five-state steel strike started their fifth day of idleness today after a Sunday of bloody rioting left five men dead and 88 persons injured.

The violence broke out at the South Chicago plant of the Republic Steel Corporation when more than 1,000 strikers and sympathizers clashed with 200 policemen who shouted warnings that the company's property would be protected.

Outnumbered five to one, the officers attempted to stop the onrush by welding clubs and fire tear gas guns. When the mob pushed on, determined to reach the main gate of the plant where 1,400 loyal workers kept the mill in operation, the policemen opened fire.

Three of the dead were unidentified. A fourth fatality, Earl Hanley, 27, died of a fractured skull; and Joseph Rothman, 40, succumbed to bullet wounds.

Twenty-nine of the injured were victims of gunfire. Twenty-three of those treated at hospitals were policemen.

Gov. Henry Horner, who called a conference of strike principals shortly after the riot occurred, said he was "quite sure" there would not be a recurrence of the trouble. The governor said the conference would be resumed tonight.

Meanwhile the steel workers' organizing committee, an affiliate of John L. Lewis' CIO, planned a mass meeting and demonstration at Indiana Harbor where the Inland Steel plant has been idle since the strike was called over collective bargaining contracts.

DEPT. CALLED OUT ON TRAILER FIRE

The city of Big Spring passed another "historical" milestone early Sunday its first house trailer fire necessitated a run by the fire department.

An oil stove in the trailer, parked in the 600 block of W. 3rd street, was given as the cause of the blaze which seriously damaged the trailer before firemen could bring it under control.

Race Repeal Before House

Action To Kill Wagering Law Advanced Amid Hot Debate

AUSTIN, May 31 (AP)—A series of reverses for opponents occurring amid blistering debate marked today the hectic course in the house of representatives of a bill to kill race track betting in Texas.

The house began considering the measure after suspending over opposition of anti-repealists a rule requiring that all bills lay on the "table" 24 hours after being reported from committee, while the senate committee on criminal jurisprudence announced a meeting for this afternoon.

The only bill in the committee was similar to that before the house. Both was introduced last week soon after Gov. James V. Allred convened a special session of the legislature to consider only the subject of repeal.

Kill Moves For Delay
In addition to suspending rules in order to take up the repeal bill immediately, the house overwhelmingly rejected other moves aimed at delay.

Pending at the noon recess was a point of order that the bill, by including a provision to put bookies out of business, did not come within the governor's call.

Chairman Albert Stone of Brenham said he did not know what the senate committee would do for procedure was for it to decide. It could hear arguments immediately on the bill, set a hearing date for the future or do nothing, according to its will.

"I am announcing a hearing," he said. "That's as far as I can go."

Sen. Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth, leader of forces opposed to repeal, said he had made no preparations to present arguments, and knew of no representatives of racing interests in town, while Sen. G. H. Nelson of Lubbock, repeal champion, stated he was "ready to go to bat any time."

GREENE DIRECTOR IN HIWAY ASSOCIATION

J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, Monday was officially notified of his appointment as one of two state directors in the Broadway of America highway association.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Robbins represented Big Spring in the recent convention at Memphis, having joined the caravan here. They passed out a large quantity of Big Spring literature enroute and publicized the city at the convention. It was their second trip to a Broadway of America annual convention.

Farley Has Praise For His Chief

Scoffs At Reports President 'Losing Grip'

Big Spring people greeted and were greeted by Postmaster General James A. Farley here early Sunday.

After having been driven here from Stanton by Nat Shick, postmaster, Farley mingled informally with the crowds and made a brief address in which he expressed appreciation for Texas support to his administration.

"I believe that President Roosevelt will go down in history as one of the greatest presidents in the history of the nation. He came to the presidency at a time when the nation's need was great, and by a succession of moves and legislation beneficial to the masses, did much to hasten the nation to recovery."

The postmaster general paid a tribute to Vice-President John N. Garner, saying that "Texas is honored and the nation is fortunate in having Jack Garner, a great vice-president, and I have always felt a great American, in Washington."

Said It Last Year
Farley scoffed at reports that the president is "losing his grip." He told his listeners that "you needn't be disturbed by the papers' saying that President Roosevelt is losing his grip. They said that last year, even the Literary Digest."

With a touch of humor, Farley added that "I would tell you why we lost Maine and Vermont if I had time." He cut his talk to shake hands with those who came to hear him.

The postmaster general was introduced here by Shick who said that "I have looked forward ever since being your postmaster to having the pleasure of introducing you to the greatest postmaster general in the history of the nation."

BAYLOR U'S COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM DEDICATED TO THE KEYS QUADRUPLTS

WACO, May 31 (AP)—Venerable Baylor university today dedicated its ninety-second annual commencement to the Keys quadruplets—Mary, Mona, Leota and Roberta—who were "thrilled to death" at the final honors of a college career.

They were on June 4, 1915, when the four girls were born in Hollis, Okla.

"People here tell me that our girls 'ave gone unspoiled through their college course," said Leota, plain-spoken Fluke Keys, small-town hardware merchant. "That's just the way we wanted it to be. They have always wanted to be themselves."

And Leota added she was glad, too, that she and her sisters are looked upon as individuals and not as something that comes in fours.

Madding was driver of one of the cars which figured in a crash that claimed the life of Mrs. Theima Odean Harrell, 22-year-old Lamesa woman, south of here May 24.

The count, a misdemeanor charge, was the second such complaint preferred by the state highway patrol following fatal accidents in this area during May.

Marshall Barber, Midland, was charged similarly after the car in which he was riding collided with one from Wink, killing Mrs. Brook Rice and her 10-year-old daughter, Losee, near Stanton.

ATTACK IS REPLY TO SHELLING OF GERMAN VESSEL

Italy Joins Reich In Withdrawing From Neutrality Committee As Grave International Tension Develops

LONDON, May 31 (AP)—British and French warships moved into Spanish water tonight as a swift tempo of events roused grave fears for peace, following German bombardment of the Spanish port of Almeria and withdrawal of Germany and Italy from the 27-nation European neutrality committee.

British and French diplomats rushed between Germany and Spain to prevent open hostilities, and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden made an appeal that Germany take no further action to heighten gravity of the crisis.

LONDON, May 31 (AP)—Germany and Italy withdrew today from the European neutrality committee, after bristling guns of German warships battered the Spanish government port of Almeria in the first open attack in the civil war by a foreign power.

Germany and Italy will refuse to attend future sessions of the 27-nation committee designed to localize the Spanish war and keep the peace of Europe, Germany disclosed, until there are definite assurances of discontinuance of attacks such as bombardment of the nazi battleship Deutschland.

The disclosure was in a letter to Joachim Von Ribbentrop, German ambassador to London, to Lord Plymouth, chairman of the non-intervention committee. (Italy simultaneously announced her withdrawal in a statement ordered by Premier Mussolini in Rome.)

'Actual War' Is Underway, Borah Says

Wants U.S. Neutrality Law Applied To 'All Participants'

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Senator Borah (R-Ida) called today for application of American neutrality law to "all participants" in the bombing of Almeria, Spanish loyalist port.

"From the reports," Borah said, "it should say an actual war is on sufficient to justify application of our neutrality law to all participants, now participating both under cover and openly."

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) also commented that the bombing constituted war and said that the American neutrality law should be invoked to keep this nation out of the conflict.

"It looks like war," McKellar said, "but America will never get into this one."

The two senators spoke after German Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff had reported that his government had informed him that it contemplated no further reprisals against the Spanish loyalist government in connection with the attack on the German cruiser Deutschland.

Borah issued a statement denouncing dictatorships and what he said was their inclination to make war.

"With dictatorships," he said, "war is always an immediate possibility. Dictators look upon their people as so much fuel to feed the war furnace."

"With a dictatorship, a citizen must go where he is sent. He has no choice. He must fight the battles of his master regardless of his own wishes or his own interest."

"It is our duty to keep entirely aloof. We should keep free from all contact with their controversies or their wars."

Agreement Is Thought Near On Relief Sum

Only Highway Allotment To Be Adjusted; Bill Goes To House

WASHINGTON, May 31 (AP)—Administration leaders expressed the belief today they had composed all differences over the $1,500,000,000 relief bill except the proposal to earmark $150,000,000 for highway construction.

They said they were optimistic that disagreement might be adjusted speedily and the measure given final house approval tomorrow.

Representatives who had sought to designate specific sums for public works and flood control were described as satisfied by an understanding reached at a week-end conference between President Roosevelt and Majority Leader Rayburn. The agreement provided that $150,000,000 and $45,000,000, respectively, would be spent for those purposes.

Rayburn also talked with the president about the highway fund, but failed to gain an immediate understanding at a parley later with its supporters.

Chairman Cartwright (D-Okla) of the house roads committee said it would consider the president's views tomorrow morning and decide on a course of action.

Wilbur Shaw Race Winner

Cops Memorial Day Speed Event In New Record Time

SPEEDWAY, INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (AP)—Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis, won the 500-mile automobile race today in record breaking time before a record breaking crowd estimated at 170,000.

It was the first time for this 33-year-old Hoosier in seven starts in America's speed classic.

He finished about ten seconds ahead of Ralph Hepburn, Los Angeles veteran who was gaining on him every inch.

Shaw's time was 4:24.07 breaking all records for the event.

The spectators were given a thrill when the car started by Herb Ardinger of Glasport, Pa., spun around on the south turn. Jimmy Snyder of Chicago, driving at the time as relief, escaped without injury. He was wearing the 300-mile mark at the time and was in fifth place.

The drivers were slowed down for a few seconds until the car could be pulled off the track.

MINISTER OF PAMPA ACCEPTS PASTORATE OF LOCAL CHURCH

Dr. C. E. Lancaster, Pampa, formally accepted the pastorate of the First Baptist church in a message to the congregation here Sunday evening.

He told the membership that he had submitted his resignation to the Pampa church Sunday morning and that as soon as a supply could be provided in that church, he and his family would move here.

Dr. Lancaster added that he hoped to be on the field here sometime about the middle of June.

THE SPORTS CIRCUIT— Eddie Weems Is Out As Coach Of Wildcats

By TOM BEASLEY

Eddie Weems, who recently announced his resignation as Abilene Christian College track coach, has guided the track destinies at ACC for the past 12 years—and without pay as a coach. He has not received a salary for coaching track teams, but he has been paid by the school for his work as English instructor. During his term as coach, track teams at ACC won eight Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association and Texas Conference championships.

When he first went to ACC in 1925, track and field occupied only a minor spot on the sports program of the school. At his leaving track has developed to a major position. Beginning in 1928 Weems coached teams dominated the TIAA through 1932, when one of his strongest squads was unopposed for the conference title.

In 1933, 1934 and 1935, ACC was titlist in the Texas conference. Howard Payne College, Brownwood, ended Weems' streak of victories last year. His team finished second, however.

Weems, who is a graduate of Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, where he held at one time the TIAA record for the mile run, perhaps will be remembered best for his work in developing individual stars.

Dyle Vaughn, who came to the college in 1927, was the first of Weems' string of talented track performers. Vaughn, as a freshman, lowered the TIAA mile record to 4:33 and later ran it below 4:30. He was one of three Weems stars to place in the national collegiate half mile run. John Simmons and "Bulldog" Gray were the others.

Delmer Brown, who with his brother, Elmer, now is making a name in sprint races, was a Weems pupil. He ran the 100 yard dash in 1935 while at ACC in 9.7 seconds.

Weems' new duties will be at a Christian college in Los Angeles.

Here is an all-star Weems team, comprising stars coached by him at Abilene Christian College and their best efforts:

- 100 yards—Delmer Brown (1935), 9.7 seconds
  - 220 yards—Bill Weems (1932), 30.8 seconds
  - 440 yards—Howard Green (1934), 48 seconds
  - 880 yards—"Bulldog" Gray (1932), 1:53.2; John Simmons (1933), 1:51.5
  - Mile run—John Simmons (1932), 4:30
  - Two miles—John Simmons (1933), 10 minutes
  - 120-yard high hurdles—Johnny Connel (1935), 14.7 seconds
  - 220-yard low hurdles—Roy Stevens (1928) and Jimmy Lawrence (1932), 23.6 seconds
  - One mile relay—Jimmy Lawrence, John Simmons, Bill Weems and "Bulldog" Gray (1932) 3:19.1
  - Sprint medley relay—Howard Green, Harry Ward, Ardie Nowell and John Simmons (1933), 3:29.8
  - High jump—Worth Watkins (1933), 6 feet 5 7/8 inches
  - Broad jump—Jimmy Lawrence (1932) and Delmer Brown (1935), 23 feet, 8 inches
  - Pole vault—Johnny Connel (1934), 12 feet
  - Discus—Hulan Armstrong (1936), 141 feet 8 inches
  - Javelin—Bob Davenport (freshman 1937), 188 feet 2 inches
- Weems is known over the country for developing great relay teams. From 1930 to 1936 his relay teams won at least one race annually at the Drake Relays. In their only trip to the Kansas Relays, in 1931, A. C. C. won two races, setting a record in the college division 3-mile relay.

CARDS, WITH WOEFUL DIZZY DEAN IS BELTED OUT TWICE

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Frankie Frisch will now lead the chorus in those St. Louis pitching blues.

Joining in with him and his Gas House gangsters will be those betting boys who completely overlooked the small matter of a pitching staff—or lack of it—when they installed the Cardinals as favorites for the National league pennant.

With only two "known quantities," and possibly a third thrower able to keep up in fast company, as the limit of the Cards' varsity flinging brigade, it begins to look like a dark summer for the crew from St. Lou.

Even Dizzy Dean, the old dependable, has been belted out twice and has lost a third decision in his last four starts. And Lon Warneke, the ex-Cub who was supposed to "make" the Cardinals this season, looked none too strong in bowing out in six innings his last time out.

Near 2nd Division
The rest of the loop is already taking it out on the Cards. In the past week they have dropped from second to fourth place, and right now they're only two games out of second division.

Just when they needed pitchers most, over the week-end for their tough series with the dangerous Pirates, they ran short of them. As a result, the Buccs belted Dean out early in one game, dropped one to Welland, and then landed on Ray Harrell and three other assorted throwers yesterday for 12 hits and a 7-4 win, with Paul Waner leading the attack.

While dropping the Cards to fourth place, the Pirates strengthened their first place hold to 1 1/2 games, since the Giants were on the short end of a 6-4 count against the Phillies and Lefty Lamaster.

Larry French, his fractured hand back in condition, won his first game with a four-hit performance, pitching the Cubs into third place by a 7-1 victory over Cincinnati, thereby stretching the Reds' losing streak to eight.

The Yankees routed the Athletics completely in sweeping the series with a 13-1 win yesterday behind Lefty Gomez' effective hurling, but their 15-hit attack fell short of two 20 hitters posted by the Boston Bees and Detroit Tigers.

The Bees staged an eight-run spurge in the seventh frame to trounce the Brooklyn Dodgers 11-4. The Tigers, with Hank Greenberg and Gerry Walker each walloping a pair of homers, pinned back the ears of the St. Louis Browns 18-3.

Pete Appleton limited the Red Sox to seven hits and drove in six runs himself as the Washington Senators swamped Boston 11-4. Chicago's V. Hite Sox banged out 14 hits to conquer Cleveland 9-4.

DESIGN FOR FIGHTING Champion — Challenger

GRAND BEACH, Mich., May 31 (AP)—Taking a tip from the fighting plan of Max Schmeling, who flattened Joe Louis a year ago, Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock is polishing a 2-fisted attack here for his June 22 title defense against the Brown Bomber in Chicago.

KENOSHA, Wis., May 31 (AP)—Remembering what happened after he trained lastly for the fight in which he was kayned by Max Schmeling a year ago, Joe Louis is earnest about his tune-up for the title shot in Chicago against Champion James J. Braddock. Fencing the bag is every-day routine.

TRAINER Jack Blackburn gives Chappie's face a coat of vaseline to prevent cutting.

A SWIG of water helps after a few fast rounds with sparring partners coached to fight the Lou.

FLENTY of work like this gives assurance that the Brown Bomber won't be "chubbery" when he meets Braddock.

THE CHAMP looks a bit cynical as he relaxes under the shower at his outdoor training camp.

THIS exercising reduces the paunch that slowed Louis when he lost to Schmeling.

THIRTY-THREE RACERS READY TO VIE FOR SPEEDWAY PRIZES

Jimmy Snyder Is Favorite Of Spectators

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
SPEEDWAY, INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (AP)—With motors roaring, 33 powerful racing cars were lined up three abreast in a block-long row for the start today of the 500-mile race over the Indianapolis motor speedway for prizes totalling $100,000.

It was the silver anniversary of the thrilling race, which, in its 25 years, has resulted in 28 tragic deaths.

The greatest crowd ever to attend a sporting event in America sat in tense excitement as the drivers awaited the bursting of a bomb high in the air signalling the start.

Around the two and a half mile brick and asphalt course the drivers must go—how fast nobody knows. The name of Jimmy Snyder, one-time Chicago milkman, was on everybody's lips. For Snyder, in a qualifying trial, ripped off one lap of 130.492.

Morris Norton Repeats As Westex Champ

Shirley Robbins, Big Spring, Wins Championship Flight Consolation

BROWNWOOD, May 31 (AP)—Morris Norton of Wichita Falls held his second consecutive West Texas golf championship today. He defeated Billy Bob Coffey, Fort Worth ace, one up in the final of the thirteenth annual tournament here yesterday to retain his title.

Norton and Coffey turned in one of the finest exhibitions seen in its history, Norton finishing with two strokes over par and Coffey one over. Norton held a two-up advantage through the first 18 holes but it was a ding-dong battle the rest of the way. They were all square at the 36th.

W. P. Battle, Brownwood, won the first flight; Jim Farr, San Angelo, the second; Ben Jackson, Brownwood, the third, and Delmar Sears, Lamesa, the fourth.

Shute Conquers Jinx Hole For PGA Golf Title

Marion Miley Is Ready To Defend Title

Mrs. Dan Chandler Top Heavy Favorite To Annex Medal Honors

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
SAN ANTONIO COUNTRY CLUB, SAN ANTONIO, May 31 (AP)—A driving rain that started last night, continued today and left some 150 entrants in the 11th annual women's trans-Mississippi golf tournament marooned in the club house.

The mild mannered Lexington youngster's crown tottered precariously with one of the greatest collections of stars in the tournament's history entered. Four former champions, four Curtis Cup team members and a bevy of state champions had the "feel" of a pro.

A blonde home townner, Mrs. E. R. Hurly, walloped lusty tee shots, followed up with fine iron play and putted flawlessly to team with Joe Ballard of Fort Worth and win the Scotch play with ease. Her 74 was three shots ahead of the next pair.

A note of warning came from Miss Patsy Berg, the Minneapolis cart-top, who toured the course in 77.

Qualify Tuesday
The qualifying round of 18 holes will be played tomorrow and an attractive Dallas matron, Mrs. Dan Chandler, was a top-heavy favorite to annex medal honors.

AMERADA OILERS LAMBAST CODSEN

By HANK HART
HOBBES, N. M., May 31—Cotton Clover's Amerada Oilers lived up to all their promises in handing the Big Spring Codsden Oilers their worst licking of the season here Sunday, 14-7, in a slugfest that was settled in the sixth frame with the Amerada outfit scoring seven runs.

The field of almost 150 included such stars as Helen Hoffman and Betty Botterill of Salt Lake City; Mrs. Lucille Robinson Mann of Milwaukee; Mrs. Patti Newbold of Wichita, Kas., 1932 champion; Phyllis Buchanan of Denver, 1933 titleholder; Bea Barrett of Minneapolis, runner up last year, Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, former Southern champion and present Curtis Cup team member; Betty Jameson of San Antonio, 1935 Southern titleholder and two years running the Texas championship; Goldie Bateson of Milwaukee, Wisconsin champion.

The two gave up a total of 21 base hits. Greer led the attack with four bingles in five trips. The big bat of the Hobbs shortstop proved no more potent than the willow of the Big Spring third sacker, Rat Ramsey. Ramsey wasn't stopped in four official trips to the plate, collecting a triple, double and two singles.

Tommy Hutto also had a hand in the Big Spring hitting, coming up with a double and a pair of singles in five attempts.

Stacey, for the initial time this season, went hitless in five trips to the plate. He struck out twice, popped out once, and grounded out twice.

Note to Al West: Chicago wants your Lou Ambers for the winner of the Davey Day-Jimmy Garrison scrap this week. . . . The Garden has a full set of preliminaries standing by just in case Jimmy Braddock shows up Thursday night.

A survey shows the average professional golfer is 41 years old. . . . He began his career at the age of 26. . . . In 15 years he has earned about $43,000, or an average of $2,855 per year. . . . He expects to work for 13 more years before quitting at 55. . . . Which shows you could do a lot worse than become a pro. . . . The average American will have an income of $1,350 in 1937, less than half the $2,855 average of the pro golfer. . . . Then, too, the pro always has a chance to pick up a little extra by winning a championship or two. . . .

Arno Hellmis, representing the Berlin "Tag" and the Berlin "Angriff" is here for the phantom footballing and will tell cable vaterland of the doings by word and radio. . . . He'll probably have plenty to say if Braddock doesn't show up Thursday night. . . . (Schmeling, by the way, is due in town tomorrow to go through all the motions.)

League Lead Is Regained By Beaumont

Shippers Split Twin Bill; Galveston, Indians Break Even

(By the Associated Press)
Today's schedule:
Dallas at Oklahoma City (2), day.

Fort Worth at Tulsa (3), day.
Galveston at Houston, night.
San Antonio at Beaumont, day.

Beaumont's Exporters were back on top in the hectic Texas League race today after sweeping a double header from Galveston yesterday, 8-3 and 4-1, while Oklahoma City divided a twin bill with the Fort Worth Cats, 3-1 and 4-4.

The split dropped the Indians to second place, a game behind the Shippers and the Cats trailed in third place, three games behind Oklahoma City.

Boots Poffenberger hung up his eighth win of the season in turning back Galveston in the opener. Art Patchin, right-hander late of Toledo, limited the Bees to two hits, both singles, in the nightcap.

Southpaw Jack Brillheart of Oklahoma City won his ninth game of the year by limiting Fort Worth to seven hits but the Panthers pounded three Indian hurlers for eleven blows in the second. Paul Easterling was the batting star. He had two homers in his four hits. He batted in two runs and scored the other for Oklahoma City in the first game.

San Antonio had a field day with Houston, winning 17-4 and clouting four Buff hurlers for 19 hits. Bob Muncie got a nine-run lead behind him in the first two innings. His witness in the seventh resulted in three Houston runs. The other was on an error and a balk in the eighth.

There was a parade of pitchers at Tulsa as the Oilers took the series final from the Dallas Steers 12-8. Tulsa piled up an early lead. Bruce Connasser and Hubert Bates each drove in three Oiler runs.

MICKY COCHRANE IS DEFINITELY ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Mickey Cochrane, who has surmounted every obstacle in his big league career, may come back from his most severe injury, a fractured skull, to play big league baseball again.

Physicians are definitely hopeful that "Iron Mike" would recover from the injury he received when hit by Bump Hadley's pitch at the Yankee stadium last Tuesday. What's more they felt he might be able to play again.

"Mr. Cochrane has been steadily improving. The danger of meningitis has greatly diminished," said yesterday's bulletin, issued by the New York Yankees' doctor, Robert E. Walsh, and Dr. Byron Stookey, brain specialist.

BEATS JUG M'SPADEN ON 37TH

PITTSBURGH, May 31 (AP)—Deny Shute, the cold emotionless Boston golfer with nerves of steel, wore the professional championship crown again today because he conquered his jinx hole when the chips were down.

As the sun was sinking over the hills of the Pittsburgh Field club yesterday, four Denys finally caught young Harold (Jug) McSpaden, of Winchester, Mass. They were all square after 36 holes and moved to the 37th, the No. 1 hole. A man with less courage might have weakened there, for not once in the preceding five rounds had Deny been able to rake in a par on it. The championship as well as $1,000 in prize money rode on that one hole. But not a muscle in his poker face gave sign of the panic that must have been in his heart.

He bagged one down the middle and after McSpaden had driven in the rough and skidded through a trap with his approach, Deny clipped a 4-iron shot that covered the pin all the way and dropped 18 feet short. McSpaden clipped 8 feet away.

But Shute wasn't content with a half. Fully realizing this hole had caused him trouble, he still declined to play safe. He struck his putt badly past the cup and holed it coming back to grab the title, as "Jug" McSpaden missed.

Reading AND Writing

By John Selby

"TIME PIECE," by Naomi Jacobs; (Macmillan; $2.00).

If someone were to ask you to characterize Naomi Jacobs as an author, you might do worse than to say that she is the opposite of Virginia Woolf.

Virginia Woolf is the brilliant person whose knack for arresting phrases is almost unmatchable. She can say (indeed has been saying for years) the most ordinary things in such a brilliant manner that they are profound. Miss Jacobs is the steady-gaiter. She neglects entirely both manner and mannerism (unless a tendency toward cliché be one of the latter). She rarely "turns a phrase," but equally, she rarely misses a telling detail. She knows her subject as well as she knows her home before she begins a novel, and she pours out everything she knows in the process of writing it.

All this because her latest novel, "Time Piece," starts slowly, and you might put it down before you discovered its very solid merit. It starts with a lot about Yorkshire, and about a mother who never liked Yorkshire yet apparently never thought of taking the train to Essex or Kent or whatever county she loved. But this is only a flurry—presently Miss Jacobs has settled down to the history of a managing woman, and this history is a first rate job.

Claudia was the woman. As a girl she could handle her gambler father. She could manage her mother, too, and her brother and sister. The sister married stupidly (Claudia managed that). The brother went to school, and then got a job. Claudia married even more stupidly than her sister, but fortunately she was of strong stuff and outlasted her husband.

Her husband was a Jew who was ashamed of his enormously rich parents and their wine business. Claudia was not; she loved the parents and she learned the business. A lover, another husband, wealth, other businesses and all sorts of adventures came to Claudia, and she remained what an American might call a good egg through it all. She was a genius, a fine person, and Miss Jacobs has made her live.

A MOVE BEHIND A MOVE

Choice between race and country appears to be laid before Jews living in Italy. The newspaper published in Milan, which says what Mussolini wants said, has told the Jews that they must support fascism wholeheartedly or leave the country and that criticism of Germany must cease.

The paragraph that causes a laugh was the statement that opposition to Hitler's ideas and actions would be irreconcilable with the "friendship that binds us to Germany" and which has objectives "far more fundamental than the Jewish question. The calling of the present political accord between Mussolini and Hitler friendship is a misuse of the word. Anyone who has given European politics and policies even passing notice knows that this accord is one of those scraps of paper which are brushed aside as soon as one party gets the idea that the other party is getting the best of it.

Jews living in Italy are especially warned against supporting the Zionist movement for establishment of a state in Palestine which would be under British control and hostile to Arabs and Mohammedans, for whose religion Mussolini has great respect—since he came into possession of some millions of them in his acquisition of Ethiopia, and other millions of them live in other portions of Africa which he doubtless intends to assimilate in due time.

This is leading to an eventual showdown between Italy, Germany and England, for any influence Italy gains in Africa or countries bordering the Mediterranean sea is inimical to England's supremacy in the far east, which is reached by her "life line" through the Suez canal. England may well make preparations for that—in fact making them now—and the longer she delays the bigger job she will have. Stopping Mussolini may be more difficult day by day.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—"A forest of white carpet!" That's how somebody has described Fanchon's bedroom—she of the theatrical firm, Fanchon and Marco. (They're sister and brother, you know.) And while Fanchon is of the business world and is one of the few women producers in motion pictures, she is rather proud of that salute to her femininity.

Almost everybody knows about her professional success, but few have any inkling of her private life and of the off-the-record things she thinks and does.

For instance, her clothes are usually restrained, but she does like colored automobiles and once she owned a lavender roadster.

Occasionally—just occasionally—she enjoys chewing gum... Expensive jewelry leaves her cold, but she does have a weakness for heavy costume jewelry.

This tall, slim woman with jet black hair and eyes is married to the proprietor of a chain of restaurants in Los Angeles. So, appropriately, she has just been notified that a famous sandwich place in New York has named a new sandwich for her. It is a distinction to have a delicacy at this place named for you. Most of the real stars of the theatrical world have been honored from time to time—my favorite is the Jeanne Eagles sandwich, a summery bit of fodder composed of bacon and watercress between thin toast.

And what is your idea of clothes, Miss Fanchon? "I believe in lots of clothes. I think the more women have on, the more alluring they are. If a woman wants to reveal her body, she should do so frankly—in a bathing suit or play shorts. Then you have the beauty of clean lines."

She neither smokes nor drinks, and her parties are famous for their fruit punches.

"Career women shouldn't be prima donnas, and for this reason I go after a plain, work-a-day week. Work in my studies stops at appointed hours and begins the same way. None of this pacing the floor at midnight conferences for me. Besides, there's the home side of the question, with my husband and my children. I have a little girl and a little boy, who are adopted, and I adore them. It would take a very important occasion to keep me away from them at night."

Maybe it's this belief in the simple life that inspires the motif for her pictures. The movies you see under the Fanchon insignia aren't the intricate "epics" which demand all the combined forces of 14 governments and Hollywood to produce. They're honest, believable love stories with just the right emphasis on romance.

NEWS

BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Approaching election explains house revolt.
Wrath aimed at bureau chiefs, not President.
Rayburn's tact wins delay from rebels.
Bet keeps Ashurst silent on court bill.

Simplicity

WASHINGTON, May 31—The stand of the house against President Roosevelt's spending freedom has been widely misinterpreted. It has been called a personal repudiation of the president, an economy move, a democratic party split and several other things, which it isn't. To understand congress, you need only to understand human nature. The basis behind most congressional action will be found in such primitive instincts as self-protection and self-preservation.

The simple reason why those legislators voted to earmark one-third of Mr. R.'s $1,500,000,000 for relief is because they want to be sure to get as much as they can for their home districts. The house is up for re-election next year. Mr. Roosevelt is not. Neither is the cordially disliked (in congress) spender, Harry Hopkins. If Mr. Hopkins has complete freedom in spreading the dough in a congressional campaign year, the manna may not fall where politically oppressed legislators need it. Specifically, the re-election of a legislator from the unimpeached district of Timbuctoo may depend more on whether he was able to get a dam built in Tricking Creek with federal money than upon his votes in congress.

Naturally, they want to earmark $300,000,000 for PWA, $55,000,000 for flood control and water conservation construction, and $15,000,000 for highway and grade crossings. They want to get theirs. The rebels undoubtedly were emboldened to their self-assertiveness by diminishing awe of the White House. Some of them liked the idea of offering an outburst of resentment against the way they have been treated under the new order.

At heart, they are not really so much against the president personally on this issue, but rather against his subordinates. For example, they do not like to see any of these independent bureau chiefs: downtown making over $100,000 a year, because this is all they make. They cut CCC director Fehne, from $12,000 a few weeks before they cut Mr. Hopkins.

All in all, it shows congressmen are beginning to look out for their own skins. They realize the Roosevelt coat tails may not be sufficiently strong to provide another smooth free ride to re-election.

In turn, this means a further step toward the return of normal relations between the executive and legislative branches of government. House Floor Leader Sam Rayburn distinguished himself in handling the rebels with tact. His nickname now has become "shepherd" Rayburn, or "Shep" for short, because of the common sense, kindness and concern he exhibited for his wandering flock. This alone caused delay of final action until Tuesday.

Unwilling Taciturnity—They said he would never do it, but senate judiciary chairman Rayburn has not given the newspapers one of his delectable interviews on the righteousness of court packing for ten days (or rather had not when this column went to press). The secret is he is doing it on a bet.

A friend of his downtown bet the senator he could not avoid "packing" the court. An exemption was granted, allowing him to make speeches on the floor, but no newspaper comments. Bookmakers are offering 10 to 1 that the widely liked senator will not last out the sixty days.

Fascism

Pharoah Henry Wallace, the agriculture secretary, does not like to have anyone suggest that his strong agriculture control methods were taken from Italy, Germany or Russia. It is all right to say he took them from Egypt (under a king) or China (under a warlord empire), but not from the dictators.

"I think that nothing like this," he said to a house committee, "has been tried in any other country although the hoarding of surpluses has been tried."

Asked directly if European nations (no names mentioned) do not have similar control features he replied: "Not like this."

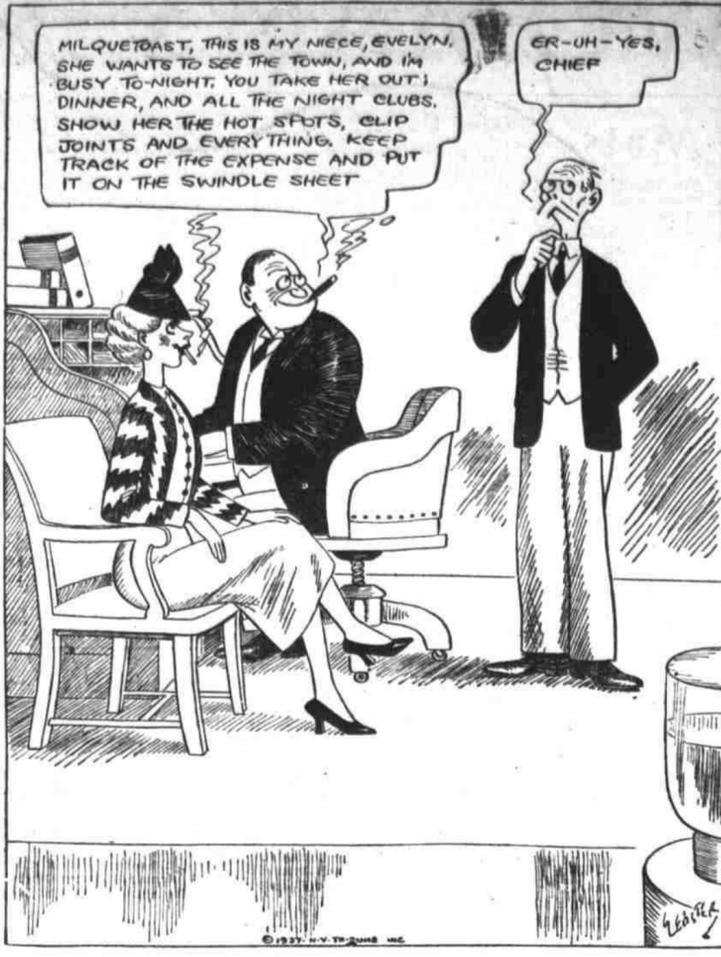

With such cautious language: Mr. Wallace kept himself accurate, but he neglected to add that Germany, Italy and Russia have all invoked control features, but "not like" benefit payments, even normal granary, control of production or marketing if necessary through penalty taxes, etc., which are all rolled into this one pending bill. The essential difference, however, is that the dictators do it with a mailed fist, while Mr. Wallace has covered his hand with a democratic glove containing a honeyed handout.

Mr. Wallace has developed into the best politician of the new order.

Sights and Sounds

By CAROLE LOMBARD
(Guest Columnist For Robin Coons)

HOLLYWOOD—"From now on she's going to be funny." Somebody wrote that line about me and if I ever catch him I'm going to break his neck. The inspiration came to him just after I'd finished "My Man Godfrey" in which I was very hoydenish.

Actually, something did happen during the making of that picture. I found that I was able to break away from Lombard and the person I was supposed to be on the screen. I dropped the last vestige of my self-consciousness.

Just to be funny from that time on. I think I showed that pretty clearly when I stepped into "Swing High, Swing Low." I was a comic character in that one. But more than that, I hope. There was considerable footage of tragic stuff. After all, you can't be very funny when you're playing a girl in love with someone, and that someone is a bum, and walking out of your life on top of that.

Refuses To Be A Type
My new picture is "True Confession." I'll have humor and plenty of it. But I'm certainly not going to run riot on one single shade of emotion when there are so many more in the book. I'm going to sample quite a few of them. The script isn't being written "to make the lines sound as if Lombard would say them." It's being written for a character I'm going to play.

Why? Because I'm not going to type myself. Typing means standing still. The public says, "There's no use seeing her again. I've seen her last three pictures and they're all alike." And when you're standing still you're going backward, because Hollywood is fast and people are going to the right and left of you, passing you and getting ahead.

Aims For "Surprise"
The idea, in Hollywood, is always to be new and slightly different. I'll be all right as long as the public says, "She's full of surprises." When I don't surprise them, you can count me out. That's why I got sore when somebody wrote "From now on she's going to be funny." It might just as well have been, "She's going to be the same forever." That's practically libel in this business. Understand, I know my limitations. I don't care for "prestige" pictures. I don't want to do a picture which is supposed to be epic, colossal, or terrific. I can't imagine myself a Duse or a Bernhardt. I'll leave that to the other little girls. But you can depend on this: as long as there's breath in the body, I'll try to make people say:

"Have you seen the latest edition of Lombard?"

CHAPTER X
Hartley Madison was running a race with time. His schedule during business hours was always full, and now something had come up about California oil concessions which needed all his attention. He had hoped to be able to attend to the matter by telephone, but had decided he must fly out and look the situation over. The most trusted of his three secretaries was taking charge of all callers and calls in the ante-room of his office and he was dictating to the other two.

Madison hurried Duke off through the outer office, where the clerks looked up admiringly.

"Put through a call to Newport," he said over one of his desk phones. "When you get mother, tell her of the changes in my plans, so she won't expect me up for the week-end. Bradley? Can't place him. Tell him I'm sorry, but—"

One of his secretaries had opened the door to go to the outer office. She fell back in amazement, as a young man with a smile said, "Thank you so much," and walked into the office.

Madison looked up in surprise. "Sorry it seems to barge in, as I said, but I'm a little late. I have to see you. Mind?"

Madison laughed and held out his left hand, then waved him to a chair. He did not stop talking into the phone.

"Ambassador Sigora calling from Washington? Can't take the time—tell him I've already left for California; will phone him as soon as I land. Find out what United Copper is doing."

He put down the receiver and turned to Duke.

"You're here," he said, "but I'm afraid I can't give you much time. . . . I'll see you later."

Duke was looking out the window at the magnificent skyline of New York. He was afraid his face might show what he was thinking. He had known Hartley Madison was powerful circles, but this—keeping ambassadors waiting, giving advice, placing huge orders—Carol had been right when she said it was "chicken-feed." Why shouldn't he put some money on the races? Even if he lost what would seem a small fortune to Duke, it wouldn't make a dent in the Madison millions?

"Well, Bradley," said Madison, "maybe we can get a few words in. Glad to see you. What are you doing in New York?"

"I came to see you." "I'm flattered. Carol didn't tell me—again the phone rang—" Of course. That's fine. Close for forty millions."

"Miss Clayton doesn't know I'm here," Duke said when Madison put down the receiver. "Nobody knows I'm here." "Well, I'm glad to see you. Anything I can do for you?" "One thing. Come to Florida with me."

Madison shook his head. "Don't wish I could! But you've heard some of what's going on. I'm leaving at three by plane for California." "You'd best have the pilot head it south."

"What do you mean? Were you fibbing just now—did Carol send you?"

"I was telling you God's truth. She'd be furious if she knew I came here at all. She wouldn't ask me to do anything for her. She never has liked me and every time she sees me, she hates me more. I came of my own accord to tell you she needs you."

"Needs me?" there was amazement and fear too in his voice. "She's a sick girl, Madison—she's in a bad way."

"Why, I talked to her just five minutes before you came in—she wanted to speak to me before she left Baltimore."

"Did she sound all right—natural?"

Madison spoke into the phone before he answered Duke. "Don't put any call through until I tell you," he said. "Not if the president of the Bank of England calls. And I'll ring for you when I need you," he said to the two secretaries in dismissal.

"She said she was fine," he told Duke.

"She says so, of course. And over the phone, you couldn't see how nervous and irritable and jumpy she is. She doesn't eat enough and Rosetta says she doesn't sleep well—says she has lost eight pounds."

"Has she seen a doctor?"

"Rosetta called one, but she wouldn't see him. Told her she'd discharge her, if she didn't stop butting into her affairs."

"Oh, that was just temper," said Madison. "Why, Rosetta brought her up."

"Temper, yes—but that isn't natural, is it? Nothing is right in her life, now."

"Do you know if anything is worrying her, Bradley? Oh, of course her father's death was a shock—I know how much she loved him—but I had hoped the excitement of the tracks would be good for her. That was why I agreed to the postponement of our marriage."

"Well, if you will pardon me for

Moore Brothers Well Gauges 1,554 Barrels Test Made After Acidization; Hole Is Bottomed At 2,402 Feet Moore Bros. No. 2 McDowell was gauged Monday morning at 1,554.24 barrels daily on an official production test. Showing of the well was almost twice as good as that of the No. 2 McDowell eight weeks ago and was about equal to two World Oil wells on the McDowell lease. The hole is bottomed at 2,402 1-2 feet in lime and was treated Sunday with 1,000 gallons. Acid was pumped out Sunday evening and the two-hour test run made Monday with a spudder. Moore Bros. No. 2 McDowell was bottomed at 2,430, having topped pay at 2,417 feet. It showed 845 barrels after treatment with 500 gallons of acid. B. F. Robbins, Big Spring oil man, Monday said that 13-inch surface casing had been set at 40 feet on his No. 1 Annie Thompson, wildcat test on a 3,400-acre block he assembled in the Eula area of Calahan county. The test is to be drilled to pay off 2,000 feet. Three other tests are due to be started soon on blocks surrounding his acreage. Location is in the southeast corner of the southeast quarter of survey 30, BBB&C railroad land survey. In Scurry county the Bristow and Cantrell No. 1 Tomlinson, northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 122-97, H&TC, and the Hinesman, et al., No. 1 J. H. Menderson, northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 145-97, H&TC, were reported past 2,800 feet, about 300 feet short of the anticipated pay horizon. Moore Bros. will spud their No. 2 TXL, one location south of their discovery No. 1 well between the East Howard and Chalk pools as soon as a four-inch line connection with the Shell pipeline is completed. Steady progress was being made on the outpost Moore Bros. No. 1 J. B. Harding, half a mile west of the producing Continental No. 1 J. B. Harding, eight miles south of town, but the Moore Bros. No. 1 Mabel Quinn, two miles west, was experiencing trouble with the hole past 500 feet.

Deaths (Continued from page 1) a severe back injury; and Mrs. R. C. Smith of Abilene, who suffered a skull fracture and other injuries. They were under treatment in the Big Spring hospital. Mrs. Williams said she turned out to avoid hitting the car and the truck went into a ditch, overturning several times. Texas had perhaps the heaviest week-end toll of violent deaths, although Memorial and Decoration Days are not generally observed in that state. HOSPITAL NOTES Big Spring Hospital L. E. (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) quent telephonic communication. The neutrality committee postponed momentarily an extraordinary session to hear German representations on Saturday's bombardment of the Deutschland by Spanish warplanes in the harbor of Ibiza, Spanish Mediterranean island, to await developments. There was no exact announcement of Germany's next step. The committee observed warningly that the Reich "will decide according to its own ideas on measures to be taken toward the red rulers." A German foreign office spokesman intimated there would be no immediate warlike action — the sending of additional ships to Spain, he said, was to relieve the fighting craft already there and to provide convoy for the damaged Deutschland and other returning warships. Germany Aroused All Germany was roused, however, to high pitch of excitement. Crowds gathered before the foreign office and the Reich chancellery. German officialdom rushed to the foreign office for consultation. A Berlin spokesman said the Almeria port was destroyed, after the German attack on Spanish battleships there—but that the German fleet was carefully refrained from endangering civilians, and that the attack was strictly a military reprisal. The Madrid-Valencia government, however, reported the death of civilians, announced that 49 persons were injured, and eight others badly damaged. More than 200 shells were pumped into the city in the half-hour attack at early morning. One heavy German war vessel and four destroyers participated in the Febus (Spanish government) navy agency reported. The German attack on Almeria found quick sympathy in Italy, still resentful over Spanish government attacks on an Italian war vessel. Diplomats Alarmed Over New War Crisis BERLIN, May 31 (AP)—Neutral foreign diplomats, watching Spanish developments from the Berlin vantage point, made no effort to hide their grave concern over the bombing of the German pocket battleship Deutschland and the Reich's retaliatory shelling of Almeria, Spanish government port. They continued, however, to express confidence that the co-operation among European powers that recently seemed on the verge of achieving an armistice in the Spanish civil war, would be strengthened rather than weakened by the incident—providing the Reich regards its national honor as vindicated and is willing to discuss future moves with Great Britain, France and Italy. "It might have been much worse," one diplomat said, "if German resentment over the Deutschland bombing had been allowed to boil up slowly amid international discussion to a final breaking point. As it is, Germany has been hit and hit back quickly. There is a chance now for a calmer consideration of the whole affair."
