Commissioners Raise County Agent Salary

Motley County Commissioners Court met Monday, June 10 for regular session. Butch Hughes gave the invocation. Minutes were read and approved, as were the bills. All reports were read and approved with the JP collecting $1,530.00 in fines.

Scott Durham, District Extension Director of Vernon, Elaine Houston, District Extension Director, Vernon and Beverly Logsdon, Motley County Home Extension Agent were present at the meeting. Mr. Durham presented the same budget they had presented in April. Motion was made and seconded to raise the County Agent's salary in the amount of $4,001.00 for the 1996-97 year. Motion passed.

Court discussed a Fire Works ordinance. No action was taken.

June 17 was set to start repair and replacing roof on the east side of the Courthouse.

Tom Ross, who lives on County Road 109, reported that water is washing out of the pasture and causing a problem at his crossing. He has a culvert crossing, but the ditch is getting worse. He wants a wider culvert set in to make the crossing better and to repair the pasture so the water will not run out to the ditch. He told the Commissioners they were doing a good job. He also reported problems on County Road 115, which need attention or warning signs put up. He asked the Commissioner to look at it and see what can be done.

Judge Price explained that the County can't afford to do a lot of extra work, and the Commissioners explained they have looked at these areas and some places are just going to have problems when a big rain comes.

Meeting adjourned.

Local Green Thumb Worker Spotlighted May Celebrated Older Americans Month

Georgia Witcher

Green Thumb, Inc., a senior employment and training program, encourages community leaders, employers, public officials, and Texans of all ages to join in recognizing the outstanding contributions made by older Americans.

When President John F. Kennedy signed the first Older Americans Month proclamation in 1963, a tradition was established of celebrating older Americans' contributions to society as well as raising public awareness to their special needs. Since that time during the month of May, our nation pays tribute to the endeavors of older Americans by reaffirming our commitment to preserving their quality of life.

One of the Green Thumb Workers in Motley County is Georgia Witcher. Mrs. Witcher is Library Aide at the Motley County Library in Matador. Since she began work in August of 1995, Mrs. Witcher has learned the Dewey Decimal System, the classification system for library books, and she has thoroughly familiarized herself with the books in the Library. When a patron comes in asking for a book on a certain subject, Mrs. Witcher can find what is needed in a very short time.

In addition to learning the holdings of the Library, Mrs. Witcher has made an up-to-date listing of the graves in the Roaring Springs Cemetery and the Mt. Zion Cemetery in Roaring Springs. She then learned to compile a database of this information on the computer in the Library, providing a welcome addition to the genealogy section.

In April, Mrs. Witcher attended a workshop for Librarians at the Mahon Library in Lubbock and brought back many good ideas for the Library's summer reading program. She has put these ideas into practice as she made name tags and posters for the summer program.

Georgia Witcher is learning many new skills at the Library, and, at the same time, she is providing a valuable service to the people of Motley County by making the Library's services more accessible to them.

Austin—Thirteen inner-city youths from Central Texas taking a three-day, 34-mile trail ride along the Caprock Canyons State Park Trailway this week could find Gov. George W. Bush waiting for them at the end of the trail.

Bush, who plans to visit West Texas and the Panhandle area on Thursday, hopes to meet up with the youths at the state park near Quitaque, said Karen Hughes, spokeswoman for the Governor.

The first stop on Bush's Thursday tour will be in Quanah, where he will have a 12:30 p.m. lunch at the Daffodil Express, 204 S. Main St. Following lunch, Bush will attend a reception and informal town hall meeting in the town square.

"It's a chance for him to chat with people in the community," Hughes said.

Bush is expected to visit the Caprock Canyons State Park about 2:45 p.m. Thursday.

Hughes said Bush hopes to meet the youths making the horseback ride from South Plains to Quitaque. The trail ride is being sponsored by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to provide at-risk urban youths with an outdoor experience and educate them about the multi-cultural legacy of the state's western heritage.

Bush also will visit Palo Duro Canyon State Park on Thursday. A barbecue is planned in the park at 6:30 p.m., and Bush is scheduled to attend the 8:30 p.m. performance of the outdoor musical "TEXAS".

Bush's wife, Laura, and their twin daughters, Barbara and Jenna, are expected to also make the trip.

REDUCING FAT CONTENT OF BAKED PRODUCTS WHILE MAINTAINING QUALITY

Fat such as shortening, dairy products, butter and other forms of fat add moisture, flavor and tenderness to the texture in cookies, cakes, quick breads and muffins. Fruit purees such as prune, applesauce, banana and nonfat dairy products like nonfat yogurt, light cream cheese or light or nonfat sour cream provide some of the fat-like characteristics in homemade baked goods without the addition of fat. If you select the fruit purees, you'll also be adding a few more nutrients - vitamins, minerals, and fiber. Also, the fruit purees may enhance other flavors in recipes. For example, prunes enhance chocolate, cinnamon and orange. When modifying a recipe, substitute one half as much of the chosen substitute for fat. Use one half cup of pureed prunes in place of one cup of butter. Also, egg whites or egg substitute (instead of whole eggs), and graham cracker or chocolate cookie crumb crusts in recipes that call for a higher fat pastry dough crust can help accomplish baked goods with less fat and thus less calories. That's because fat provides one and one fourth more calories per gram than does carbohydrate or protein.

Call your local family and consumer sciences County Extension Agent to find out more ways to modify recipes to decrease the fat content.

EXPERTS URGE FDA NOT TO CHANGE CERTAIN LABELING REGULATIONS.....

Three nutrition and food science societies recently told the Food and Drug Administration that the scientific evidence on trans fatty acids is insufficient to justify any further changes in food labeling regulations.

In a letter to the Food and Drug Administration commissioner, the presidents of the American Institute of Nutrition (AIN) and the American Society for Clinical Nutrition (ASCN) joined the president of the Institute of Food Technologists (IFT) to state their shared concern that the public's fears about the putative health risks associated with eating foods containing trans fatty acids or partially hydrogenated vegetable oils will lead people to avoid such foods entirely and choose inappropriate alternatives instead. "Ultimately, such food choices might, indeed, increase health risks," the letter stated. "From a public health perspective, it is important to avoid unwarranted food scares, convey consistent, clear health messages about food choices, and be forthright about scientific evidence that is inconclusive," according to the letter.

The presidents stated that the scientific community is divided on the issue of trans fatty acid intake and heart disease risk. In addition, the effects of consuming different amounts and types of trans fatty acids are still under investigation.

"Thus, it would be imprudent, costly and possibly unwarranted to change food labels and dietary recommendations based on inconclusive scientific information," the letter stated.

The letter also stated that scientists do not have an accurate estimate of how much trans fatty acids the average American consumes. Thus, the ability to estimate, much less quantify, the effect of trans fatty acid consumption on health is further undermined.

"We strongly support research efforts to obtain the data necessary to answer the fundamental questions about the health effects of trans fatty acids," the letter stated. "Until we are more secure in our knowledge and understanding of these substances, we believe it is prudent not to change policy governing food labeling, dietary guidance, and health claims."

IFT is a nonprofit scientific society with 28,000 members working in food science, technology and related professions in industry, academia and government. IFT's Nutrition Division includes more than 1,500 members.

ASCN is a nonprofit professional society of nutrition researchers and has a membership of 3,000.

ASCN, with 1,100 members is the scientific society for clinical nutritionists in medicine and health sciences.

Educational programs of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, disability, religion, age, or national origin.

LIBRARY NOTES by Suzanne Abbott

Today, Thursday, at 4:00 p.m., at the Library we will have our second story hour, with Felton Gilmore providing the story. Last week an enthusiastic group of kids listened to a story by Mary Kelley, and then they colored animals of the rain forest on a large poster that will be displayed in the Library. Those coming to story time will work on the poster all during June. Also, those attending will receive Olympic buttons, one in each of the Olympic colors, each week. At the end of the month, prizes will be given to those reading the most books. It's not too late to join this summer reading program at the Library. All you have to do is come by the Library, register, and check out a good book to read.

We appreciate the memorial donation to the Library by Viola Stinson and Dude Barton. They made their donation in memory of Bob Jameson.

A great mystery novel is Pentecost Alley by Anne Perry. Set in England in Victorian England, Inspector Pitt's wife and sister-in-law help him solve three brutal murders. Also, this month, we have a wonderful selection of Disney videos for children. These videos may be checked out over night at no cost.

Mrs. Edgar Lee Hosts Garden Club Brunch

Mrs. Winifred Lee was hostess to the Matador Garden Club closing Brunch, May 20, at her country home.

The Brunch was a delightful and festive affair with delicious food and an enchanting program, The Message of Roses, given by Callie Giesecke.

The table was lovely with a white cloth of linen and centered with a single Red Rose in crystal bud vase.

Mrs. Lee served her guests chicken salad, potato casserole, fruit plate, relishes, orange juice, hot rolls, applesauce cake, coffee, tea, fruit punch.

Callie Giesecke gave the program for the day, a paper on the Messages of Roses, citing "of all the plants that have grown in gardens since ancient times, the rose has qualities that suit it perfectly for symbols and legends. For a time all roses were white, but when Aphrodite's handsome lover Adones was mortally wounded by a boar while hunting, red roses entered the world. In Roman mythology there is another story - When Cupid, son of Venus, spilled a cup of wine on some white roses, in a tipsy moment, they turned red. Persian lore tells a tale of the nightingale wanting to stay awake at night to sing its melodious songs, it presses itself against the thorns of a rose and wounds its breast slightly, and to the delight of humans, and the white roses where the bird perched were turned to red. These are just a few of the myths.

Many religious legends persist, according to Saint Bernard, the five-petaled dogrose stood for the five wounds of Christ during the crucifixion. Saint Albertus stated before Christ's death all roses were white. The Virgin Mary was called the rose without thorns. The white rose was the symbol of Mary, purity; the yellow rose, her wisdom; the red rose, her sorrow of her son's crucifixion. Often many paintings of Mary show her with the infant Jesus in a garden of Roses. Dante's vision of the mystic rose is evident in the stained glass rose windows in Gothic cathedrals. The rose is honored throughout the world.

The Garden Club will meet again in the Fall. Those present were Opal Pipkin, Myra Spears, Winifred Darsey, and Callie Giesecke, and the hostess.

Look Who's New

Gunnar Cole Luckett

Cade and Gavin Luckett want to announce the arrival of their baby brother, Gunnar Cole Luckett. He was born on May 21, 1996 at 3:07 p.m. at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. He weighed 7 pounds 4 ounces and was 19 1/2 inches long.

Grandparents are Betty and Carter Luckett of Matador and Marlene and Jerry Zachek of Deming, N.M. Great-grandparents are Bessie Zachek of Deming, N.M. and Margie Payne of Roaring Springs.

A grandmother took a little girl into her lap and began reading to her from the book of Genesis.

"Well," she asked, "what do you think of it?"

"I love it," answered the child. "You never know what God's going to do next."

When He's going to do something wonderful, He begins with a difficulty. When He's going to do something most wonderful, He begins with an impossibility.

The God of the Bible is the same yesterday, today and forever.

There's nothing too hard for our God, no problem too great for His skill. He's able to meet all your needs, and work the impossible still.

Why don't you let God take over your life?

Say It With Flowers At Do Gooders' Club

Mrs. Johnetta Ziegler, owner of The Plum Thicket in Silverton, was the featured guest at the Do Gooders' Club Tuesday afternoon, June 4th at the Flomot Community Center.

She presented a program on "Say It With Flowers". The freshest, most exquisite bouquets are often simple, informal arrangements plucked from your own backyard, garden fields or meadows. Fresh flowers are a quick and inexpensive way to decorate and "perk-up" any room. Mrs. Ziegler did a floral arrangement demonstrating a random assortment of dramatic colored flowers that could be enjoyed from any angle. She rounded out the bouquet with fillers saying it gave more depth and fullness. In closing, she gave ways to keep flowers fresh. Chances were sold for the lovely bouquet and Mrs. Leona Degan was the lucky winner.

Mrs. Christeen Gilbert and Mrs. Jimmie Hunter served delicious refreshments including finger sandwiches, decorated cake in ice cream cones, punch and coffee from a floral designed service. The centerpiece was an eye-catching floral arrangement of pink and green miniature blossoms among poppy and eucalyptus leaves in a decoupage flower pot.

Presiding at the business meeting was Mrs. B. Rogers. A Work Day at the Community Center was scheduled for Monday, June 10th. Plans for a Flea Market Arts and Crafts Bazaar sponsored by the club is pending for sometime in October at the Community Center.

Those attending were Mesdames Mary Jo Calvert, Erma Washington, Alma Shorter, Bernice Bond, Annie B. Clloyd, Nada Starkey, Melva Jo Shelton, Edith Washington, Judy True, Wadey Clay, Trula Martin, and those mentioned above.

Arts & Crafts Club Meets For Crafts & Luncheon

The Motley County Arts and Crafts Club met at the Senior Citizens building in Matador, Monday, June 3 and spent one of those rare and perfect days that occurs in the month of June.

The workshop for the day was a class of oil painting on metal. Lorene Lancaster was the teacher for the day. It was enjoyed by all. Watch for these miniature scenes painted on saw blades and displayed on attractive pedestals, at our Fall Bazaar.

Box lunches were shared and enjoyed during the noon hour.

Club President, Joy Archer, called a business meeting at 1:30 p.m. Docents were named for the month for the Museum. Plans for next years program and field trips, Christmas party, wooden angels, painting on sweatshirts and many others were made.

Those present were Bertha Moore, Joy Archer, Bonnie Edmondson, Geraldine Key, Betty Bostick, Dorothy Knight, Winifred Lee, Marion Woodruff, Pauline Hand, Lorene Lancaster, Winifred Darsey, and little Miss Hannah Rose Alexander.

The July meeting will be held on the 18th at the Senior Citizens building. A class of painting with colored pencils is planned and will be taught by Teresa Whitaker.

God Is Faithful

In view of the faithfulness of God, there are insights of significance to consider:

* We may be certain of His promises as given in the Bible. Whether we consider the promise of salvation from sin (Acts 2:38), membership in the kingdom of God (Colossians 1:13) or His provision of our needs (Matthew 6:33), God's promises are true and are to be trusted fully.

* We are to trust His word as true and free from error. God cannot lie (Hebrews 6:18; Titus 1:2), and in consequence His word is true (Psalm 19:9). By this truth we are made free (John 8:32). When we learn the true message of Scripture on a particular subject, we are assured that this is so because of the faithfulness of God.

* We are assured of His provision for our spiritual health as we follow His will. We are equipped by the word of God for every good work (2 Timothy 3:16-17). He has promised that He will never leave us (Hebrews 13:5). Though we may suffer for a while, God will perfect and strengthen us (1 Peter 5:10). God's people will be ushered into the everlasting kingdom of Jesus the Lord (2 Peter 1:11).

* Yes, God is faithful who has called us into the fellowship of Jesus Christ. Our relationship with Him, guided by His will, is made known to us and in confidence we serve in a living, victorious hope.

Patton Springs ISD Announces TAAS Results

Patton Springs ISD announces with delight the 1996 TAAS results. The Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS) is an assessment of student's skills in math and reading in grades 3-8, 10 and an assessment of writing skills in grades 4, 8, and 10. The 8th graders also are tested in science and social studies. Patton Springs students had a 95% passing rate in writing, 88% passing rate in math, and 92% passing in reading. 8th grade science had a 100% passing rate and social studies had a 100% passing rate.

Superintendent Jerry Wright states, "Credit for this year's scores rests exclusively with the building principal Larry McClenny and his excellent teachers and staff. Larry's leadership combined with the strong love of kids by our staff has been the key to their success. Larry credits much of this year's improvement to the new technological programs implemented the past several years. Specialized training suggested by our elementary teachers: Renee Setser (excel math), Donna and Andy Anderson (innovative reading), Willita Burkes (accelerated reader coordinator), and Cristy McClenny (reading recovery and math their way) have set high expectations as the standard of excellence.

Our secondary staff of: Brenda Karr, Mike Setser, Robert and Polly Herington, Joyce Rutledge, Jan Jones, Holly Hodges, Mike Winter, and

Debbie White have continued to expect excellence from their students while using cutting edge educational strategies as their models of instruction. Strong teaching in our Pre-k (Sandra Baker), and Kindergarten (Brenda Dennis) set the stage for educational excellence at Patton Springs where all kids can learn and have success." The Kindergarten-2nd grade teachers have developed a local TAAS test. Our K-2 results were 100% passing rate in math and 96% passing rate in reading.

The parents, community, and school board should be thanked for their invaluable support.

Lacey Parks Named To WTAMU Dean's List

Lacey Parks was among 210 West Texas A&M University students named to the President's List, and 764 students named to the Dean's List for the spring semester.

Students earning President's List recognition achieved a semester grade point average of 3.85 (of a possible 4.0) or better with a minimum class load of 12 undergraduate hours. Students on the Dean's List achieved GPAs of at least 3.25 with a minimum of 12 undergraduate hours.

Lacey is a Senior Reading major student and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parks of Roaring Springs.

Monica Clifton Named To US Achievement Academy

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Monica Rae Clifton has been named a United States National Award winner in Honor Roll.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Monica, who attends Motley County ISD, was nominated for this national award by Joan Keith, Counselor at the school.

Monica will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors, and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Monica is the daughter of Larry and Deidra Clifton and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cruise of Flomot, and Billie Clifton of Roaring Springs.

(DM)—Chinese food lovers delight in the flavor contrasts of Hot & Sour Soup. Now, these distinctive tastes have been used to give new life to classic Broccoli-Beef. In Hot & Sour Broccoli Beef, crushed red pepper gives the heat, while a small amount of vinegar provides the desired tang. But what brings these contrasts together is the use of Kikkoman Soy Sauce. Only a naturally brewed soy sauce that has been aged for several months has the distinctive taste qualities to provide a savory balance and meaty richness, without overpowering the other ingredients. Plain steamed rice is the perfect side-dish to complement the zesty flavor of this stir-fry.

HOT & SOUR BROCCOLI BEEF

|---|--|
| 3/4 pound tender beef steak | 1/8 to 1/4 teaspoon crushed red pepper |
| 1 tablespoon cornstarch | 3 tablespoons vegetable oil, divided |
| 3 tablespoons Kikkoman Soy Sauce, divided | 1 medium onion, thinly sliced |
| 1 large clove garlic, minced | 2 teaspoons vinegar |
| 1/2 teaspoon sugar | Hot cooked rice |
| 1 pound fresh broccoli | |
| 4 teaspoons cornstarch | |

Cut beef across grain into thin slices. Combine 1 Tbsp. each cornstarch and soy sauce with garlic and sugar; stir in beef. Let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, remove and cut broccoli flowerets into bite-size pieces. Peel stalks: cut diagonally into thin slices. Combine 4 teaspoons cornstarch, crushed red pepper, remaining 2 Tbsp. soy sauce and 1 cup water; set aside. Heat 1 Tbsp. oil in hot wok or large skillet over high heat. Add beef and stir-fry 1 minute; remove. Heat remaining oil in same pan. Add broccoli and onion; stir-fry 2 minutes. Sprinkle 1 Tbsp. water over vegetables; cover and cook 2 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add soy sauce mixture and beef; cook, stirring, until sauce boils and thickens, about 1 minute. Remove from heat; stir in vinegar. Serve with rice. Make 4 servings.

Social Security Tips

by Mary Jane Shanes
Social Security Manager, Plainview

A QUESTION THE "BRADY BUNCH" DIDN'T COVER

I ran into an old friend the other day who, of course, had a Social Security question for me. After talking with her, I realized that her question may be of interest to other people.

My friend, Sharon, age 44, is a widow raising four young children, all of whom receive Social Security survivors benefits based on her late husband's work record. Because her children are under age 16, she also receives benefits.

Sharon plans to marry a man who recently retired. He has a 16-year-old son from a prior marriage drawing a benefit on his earnings record. She asked if their marriage would reduce the children's Social Security benefits. She said she had heard something about a "family maximum".

I told Sharon that there is a monthly maximum family benefit payable on a Social Security record (which amounts to 150-188 percent of the worker's benefit). Generally, no more than the established maximum can be paid to a family regardless of the number of beneficiaries entitled on that Security record. The average total payment for a family consisting of a widow(er) with four children is about $1,350 per month.

But because Sharon's children and her prospective husband's children are receiving benefits on different workers' records, their benefits would not be affected. I explained to Sharon that the "family maximum rule" is applied to each benefit record separately, i.e., her late husband's and her new spouse's. In fact, her children are already receiving the family maximum benefit based on her late husband's work record. All of the children can count on Social Security for:

- monthly benefits until they reach age 18 (or until age 19 if they are full-time students in grade 12 or below), or
- monthly benefits that can continue into adulthood if he or she is disabled and the disability begins before age 22.

I told Sharon that since she is remarrying before the age of 60, her own benefit as a widow would stop. However, her four children's benefits would be refigured so that they would share the full family maximum.

After she is married for one year, the children may qualify as the step-children of her new husband and Sharon will qualify for a spouse benefit since they are under 16 and in her care. However, they are not required to switch to the new husband's work record if the benefits would be lower. Sharon thought that all this sounded complicated but I assured her that the Social Security office would help her sort it all out. The important point is that she now knows what to expect from Social Security when she remarries.

Sharon and her family are among the 7.4 million Americans, almost 2 million of whom are children, being helped by Social Security survivors benefits. For more information call 1-800-772-1213, and ask for the booklet Survivors.

Better Business Bureau Urges Consumers To Think Twice

The BBB warns consumers to think twice before sending money in answering ads for offers of government vehicles, land or homes at rock-bottom prices. The ads claim those surplus government vehicles, or seized sports cars or yachts can be bought for just dollars an acre. The fact is, most companies running the ads are merely selling guides or catalogs listing government sales and upcoming auctions. Most of these guides contain nothing more than the address and phone numbers of various federal agencies - information that can be found for free in your own telephone book. Companies may claim that they have inside or secret information about low-priced items; however, after paying for the information, many consumers find the bargains are misleading or nonexistent. For a free copy of the General Services Administration guide on federal sales programs, write to Federal Sales Guide, Pueblo, Colorado 81109.

The use of prepaid phone cards is a growing trend in the United States according to the US. Telecard Association. If you do not have a phone or if you are a traveler who expects to make brief long-distance calls on the road the prepaid phone card may be useful and valuable. There are two types of cards: disposable (known as the "talk and toss" card) and those that can be "recharged" usually over the phone and billed to your credit card. Oftentimes, the package will tell you nothing about the number of minutes you are buying, but it sometimes will state a number of units, typically the same as minutes. The issuer's name and the name of the carrier should be posted on the package, if it isn't, then it's probably not a card you want to use. Find out if there is an activation fee and when the meter starts running on a call. Check the company out with your Better Business Bureau by calling 763-0459 or (800) 687-7890.

Making space

Organization is key, especially when it comes to managing closets, says Whirlpool home economist Carolyn West. However, a little time spent getting closets in shape now can pay off in both additional storage space and ease of use for months to come.

- Add storage space to existing closets by installing both high and low closet rods. Also, consider putting a small pegboard with hooks on the inside of a closet door so that you have a place to hang belts, scarves, hats and bags.

- You can fit more into your linen closet if you individually roll up such items as towels, aprons and other linens.

- Your house may have extra storage space in places you never expected. Look under stairs—it could be a perfect spot for a low shoe cabinet or an extra linen chest. Is the landing empty? Could it be the right space for an extra closet? Check the basement and the attic. Here's where you can use plastic bins with lids that fasten securely. They're great for storing linens, coats and other clothing.

- Every year, turn all your clothes hangers in the opposite direction. Then, if a hanger is not turned around again during the year, you know that you haven't worn the article and should consider giving it to charity. This helps manage closet space.

THANK YOU

The family of Gertrude Smith would like to sincerely thank all our friends for their generosity and kindness in our time of sorrow. It is said that a man's true wealth is not measured by his possessions but by the number of friends he has during his lifetime. If this is true, Gertrude was certainly the richest woman in the world. It is such a tribute to have so many people from so many walks of life to share their experiences about their time with this wonderful lady. God bless everyone.

Dorothy and Tom Melton grandchildren and great-grandchildren

We would like to thank the Ambulance crew who were on call when Jerome was taken to the Hospital after his fall, Lisa Rose, Tom Bowman, and Bob Davis. And to everyone for their concern and prayers, especially to Ruby Hovey, Pat Womack, and Debbie Martin.

Jerome Wallingsford and family

Thank you for your many acts of love and concern at the loss of our loved one, Bob Jameson. We appreciate the lovely floral arrangements, cards, memorials, calls and those that prepared and served the food at the family luncheon. We thank the Rev. Ronald Kelley for the inspiring and comforting words at the Memorial services. May God bless friends such as you.
