

HST's Security Boards Scored By McCarthy

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) says the "complete softness" of the screening board under the Truman administration resulted in loyalty suspects being retained at the Ft. Monmouth, N. J., supersecret radar center.

McCarthy's permanent Senate subcommittee on investigations has been probing alleged Communist subversion among civilian employees at Ft. Monmouth, where he conducted closed hearings yesterday. The secret sessions continue here today.

After questioning eight persons yesterday at the radar center, McCarthy said one of the witnesses had been suspended by a local loyalty board but had been reinstated by the screening board in the office of the secretary of the Army under Truman.

McCarthy, saying the witness still is working at Ft. Monmouth, said the situation "shows the complete softness of the old Truman administration."

"No matter how good a job a commanding officer did in rooting out Communists and espionage agents," McCarthy said, "he ran into the same thing with the screening board, which ordered reinstatement with back pay in many instances of six months."

"This sloppy situation at Monmouth," the senator added, "wasn't the fault of the generals or other officers. Their hands were quite thoroughly tied."

McCarthy said he would ask for records of the screening board's activities over 10 years.

As the result of his probe, McCarthy said, 15 civilian workers have been suspended at Ft. Monmouth.

The senator left Ft. Monmouth yesterday afternoon to preside at a closed hearing in New York last night were "almost completely uncooperative," McCarthy said.

He said seven witnesses would be on hand for today's hearing.

Transport Of Drought Aid Hay Held Big Worry

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Transport and distribution of an estimated 1,200,000 tons of hay in six months is the big problem facing drought-stricken states.

That was the consensus of 50 agricultural experts from 16 states who conferred here yesterday.

They agreed the country's overall supply of hay is more than adequate but getting it into the drought regions remains largely a matter of transport and distribution.

The group, composed largely of state commissioners of agriculture, directors of extension services and Production and Marketing Administration state officials, made these other points:

Drought and disaster programs should be accelerated to provide aid with as little further delay as possible.

The actual buying of hay will be dependent largely on the relations between the cost price of hay and the selling price of livestock.

The estimated 1,200,000 tons of hay needed in six months could be reduced by the relationship between livestock and hay prices.

The farm commissioners alone approved a statement urging that the beef-buying program should be reorganized to benefit the producer and that a floor should be placed under the lowest grade cattle purchased by the government.

The statement was introduced by John White, Texas agricultural commissioner.

The commissioners didn't say how the program should be reorganized or what kind of a price support program should be adopted.

Reference to the relationship between livestock and hay prices apparently meant that if sufficient numbers of livestock are disposed of there will be less demand for hay. The smaller demand would in turn lower the cost of the hay.

The federal government has agreed to pay half of the transport costs up to $10 per ton. The states are to pay the other half, or as much as they are able.

Western railroads have cut freight costs in half on hay and feed moved into drought areas.

States having surplus hay include the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, New York, Alabama and California.

It was reported parts of Wyoming and Colorado have surplus hay but there are other areas of these states which have been hit by drought.

Multiple Use Of Supports Rule Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—Beginning next year, a farmer cannot violate acreage allotments on one basic crop and take advantage of price supports on another.

The new "multiple compliance" rule was announced yesterday by the Agriculture Department.

This is the first time that a farmer will have to comply with all acreage allotments on basic crops in order to qualify for price support on any of them.

The basic crops are wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco, rice and peanuts. All except rice are expected to be under acreage allotment next year.

AT PADUCAH MEET

Kerr, Patton Criticize Ike's Agriculture Plan

PADUCAH, Tex. (AP)—Some 750 farmers in this West Texas rolling plains country considered today the tart words of Sen. Robert Kerr (D-Okla.) and James Patton, National Farmers Union president.

Both used salty language yesterday against the Department of Agriculture.

Kerr attacked President Eisenhower for defending Secretary of Agriculture Benson. Patton said he did not want Benson out as USDA chief.

"Changing one man wouldn't solve anything," the NFU leader asserted. "The entire (Eisenhower) administration is creating the problems that beset agriculture."

Kerr, oilman and rancher turned senator, asserted the Eisenhower

Stanton Youth Shows Reserve Champ At Fair

Bobby Sale, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sale of Stanton, had the junior reserve grand champion steer at the Texas State Fair yesterday.

The steer, 20 months old was bred by the exhibitor-owner's father and weighed 1,070 pounds when placed in the second notch by Judge James Grote of San Antonio, former manager of the Agricultural Department of the San Angelo Board of City Development. Grote judged the steers in the annual Howard County Junior Livestock Show here last spring.

The grand champion junior steer, another Hereford, was shown by H. A. Fitzhugh Jr., of San Antonio, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Fitzhugh and a nephew of Max Fitzhugh of Big Spring, former Glasscock County agricultural agent. This steer was bred by the Straus Medina Hereford Ranch of which the elder Fitzhugh is manager.

Fitzhugh's steer had formerly placed first in the Hereford heavy-weight division, and Sale's steer was given second place in the same division.

Two Howard County Herefords topped their respective breed classes in the junior division. A steer shown by Darrell Robinson was first in the middleweight class and a Sue White steer was first among the lightweights.

Other placing in the junior Hereford division included:

Heavyweight: Sara Willis of Odessa, 11th; Jane Blissard of Lomax, 13th; Ronnie Davidson of Big Spring, 15th; Bobby Owen Keely of Stanton, 17th; Billy Mears of Lamesa, 19th.

Middleweight: Darrell Robinson of Big Spring, 1st; Lorin McDowell of Glasscock County, 8th; Joe Willis of Odessa, 8th; Delbert Davidson of Big Spring, 11th; Joyce Robinson of Big Spring, 13th; James Caudle of Big Spring, 14th.

Lightweight: Sue White of Big Spring, 1st; Donnell Echols of Lamesa, 5th; Rodney Brooks of Big Spring, 8th.

The Fitzhugh and Sale steers were then placed at the top of the Hereford division before going on to show against the Aberdeen-Angus and Shorthorn steers for the grand and reserve championships of the show.

The Howard County 4-H Club placed both first and fourth with the best group of five steers or any beef breed, with the Pecos County 4-H Club in second place and the Gillespie County 4-H Club in third place.

Bennie W. Edwards of O'Donnell, who had the fourth place heavyweight Angus steer was first in the junior steer showman's contest, with Bobby Sale third and Sue White fourth.

There were 57 steers shown in the junior Hereford division.

Swedish Plane Is Reported Downed By Israeli Fire

LONDON (AP)—Reports reached here from Lebanon today that a Swedish plane had been shot down in Syria. The Swedish consul in Beirut was quoted as blaming the Israeli Air Force. But an official spokesman in Israel said there was "no truth whatever" to the story.

There were conflicting accounts of just how many persons had been killed in the reported crash. A Beirut message said 35 passengers and crewmen were killed and that the bodies were taken to Damascus in Syria. But word direct from Damascus was that the plane was a small one and that only the pilot and co-pilot had been killed.

The crash was described as taking place on Mt. Hermon (Jabal Al-Sheikh) which rises to 9,232 feet, 25 miles west-southwest of Damascus, the Syrian capital.

Roads Closed By High Water

AUSTIN (AP)—The Austin-Temple highway was closed at Salado today when floodwater rushed three feet deep over a low water bridge there, the Highway Department said.

Northbound traffic on the U. S. 81, a main route from North Texas to San Antonio, was detoured by Round Rock and Taylor. Southbound traffic was being detoured at Temple.

The department said the road might be opened later today.

In the Lubbock District, U. S. 62 was blocked by high water at Wet Weather Lake, one mile north of Meadow in Terry County.

Other road reports:

AUSTIN DISTRICT—State Highway 29 closed several places between Georgetown and Circleville; State 95 closed between Taylor and Copeland.

DICKENS COUNTY—U. S. 82 at Duck Creek west of Dickens and State 70 at Duck Creek southeast of Spur, at Duck Creek in north edge of Spur, and at Cottonwood Creek north of Dickens are all open after being closed yesterday.

The north approach to U. S. 83 at the Cottle-King County line washed out last night. Impossible to predict time road will be closed.

Jet Plane Plants Walkout Begins

LOS ANGELES (AP)—More than 25,000 men and women who build some of the nation's best known jet planes went on strike today at North American Aviation Co. plants here and in Columbus, Ohio.

The walkout and the picketing were orderly.

The CIO United Auto Workers' contract with North American expired last midnight. Negotiations were broken off at 9:30 o'clock last night and no date was set for renewal.

DROUGHT PIERCED BY GENERAL RAINS

Downpour Floods City Streets

Water covers the intersection of West Third and San Jacinto Streets, slowing traffic to a crawl following a brief but intense shower early Thursday afternoon. Water also raced down streets in the business district, flowing curb to curb in some spots, as approximately one inch of rain fell within half an hour. More rainfall during the night boosted the total for the 24-hour period to 2.22, according to measurements at the U. S. Weather Bureau at Webb AFB. (Staff photo by Keith McMillin).

Heavy, Soaking Rains Fall Across Half Of Texas Today, Thursday

By The Associated Press

Soaking, cooling rain spread across half of Texas Friday.

Lubbock had the best rain it had seen in 4 1/2 years.

Amarillo had its biggest rains in almost three years. Forecaster H. C. Winburn called the rains Tuesday and Thursday of the "drought breaker" variety. An official 2.91 inches fell in Amarillo on the two days.

The rain belt covered the Panhandle and West Texas and extended east to Dallas, Austin and Del Rio. It was moving southward and eastward with a cold front.

Showers were forecast for all of Texas.

The rains caused some damage. Ten to 12 families had to move from their homes because of high water at Spur, near Lubbock. Cotton crops maturing in the fields suffered. Washouts ate into highways and city streets.

Two persons died in traffic accidents blamed on the weather.

Lubbock had an official 2.68 inch downpour up to mid-morning and the Avalanche-Journal gauge downtown measured 3.01. Farmers said they were going to lose some of their cotton but they were happy anyway—"we'll take rain when we can get it."

Much Central Texas cotton was harvested. The rains came just in time to renew stock water supplies and furnish moisture for winter grains that were up.

Nobody came out with a jubilant statement that the drought was over. Everybody was waiting for a whole season of general rains. In the Lubbock area, shallow surface lakes, dry for years, were filled. Water stood in the fields.

Some highways were closed by water.

In the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a.m., many points reported more than 2 inches of rain. They included an official 4.12 at Austin, 2.83 at Mineral Wells, 2.10 at Snyder, 2.08 at Garland, 2.75 at Weatherford, 3 inches at Aledo near Fort Worth and 2 inches at Grand Prairie.

Eastland, near Abilene, had 2.75 inches. Lightning set fire to a house and destroyed it late Thursday.

Wichita Falls had 1.77 inches of rain, the most in a 24-hour period since July 2, 1951.

Thursday's rain in Borger brought the total to 3.44 in 72 hours and to 3.91 for October. Normal rainfall in Borger for October is only 1.69.

Over fields of pitifully tiny wheat, browned cattle ranges and irrigated land alike, the rain fell heavily from near dawn into the late night.

The runoff coursed into two small towns, Spur and Dickens, about 75 miles east-southeast of Lubbock, forcing some evacuations. It also ran down the beds of long-dry creeks, spilled over highways and covered bridges.

The rains were general in the great South Plains area which centers at Lubbock, reaches west to the New Mexico border, 60 miles south to drought-weary Lamesa, 70 miles east past Dickens, and 45 miles north to Plainview.

The rain also fell throughout the Panhandle and in North and West Texas, where fall-planted wheat had gone limp under the heat and drought. Torrential rain fell in part of South Texas along the Rio Grande watershed, spilling new water into the great reservoir behind Falcon Dam, which President Eisenhower helped dedicate only last Monday.

Rains in Amarillo stopped at 10 p. m. Thursday, but a heavy overcast continued. Another low was moving in from western Nevada and was due in Amarillo Saturday with more rain.

The temperature was expected to drop to 38 in Amarillo Friday night.

Until the rains came Tuesday, Amarillo seemed headed toward breaking the record for the low in a year's total rainfall, 11.15 inches in 1923. Until Oct. 1 Amarillo had recorded only 6.95 inches. The official measurement of Tuesday and Thursday rains brought the total up to 11.11.

The rains Tuesday and Thursday brought 4.53 inches to Dalhart, 3.44 to Borger, 2.59 to Pampa, 2.68 to Plainview, 2.91 to Lubbock and 1.62 to Childress.

Farmers were at once jubilant and cautious. The experts have told them it will take more than one rain to "break the drought," that a whole rainy season is needed to restore the reservoir of water under the ground. And for those farmers about to harvest dry-land cotton, the rain was an immediate hurt. It damaged some bolls, knocked down others.

"The rain helped the dry land for next year and I am willing to take a lower grade on my cotton this year for the good it may do me in 1954," said R. B. Baker, who farms near Wolforth in Lubbock County.

Luckily, the rains did little damage to the large amount of irrigated cotton in the South Plains. Most of it is of a variety developed to withstand heavy rain, although it is vulnerable to high wind and hail.

Caulbe's Steer Sells For $6.03 Per Pound Today

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Dorotheas Pride, the grand champion steer of the American Royal Livestock show, was auctioned off at $6.03 a pound today.

The steer, a junior yearling Hereford, was shown by James Caulbe of Big Spring, Tex. The animal weighed about 1,200 pounds and was sold to Bert Berry, Kansas City auto dealer.

Big Spring Agate, the reserve champion steer owned by Lloyd Robinson, also of Big Spring, was not put up for auction.

Mundt, Payne Expect Rigid Supports Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Republican senators said today they expect Congress next year to extend rigid price supports for basic farm crops and perhaps extend the program to additional commodities.

The prediction came from Senators Mundt (R-SD) and Payne (R-Me) after Sen. Young (R-ND) issued a tart statement saying President Eisenhower's decision not to stump for GOP candidates in the 1954 congressional campaigns "will help the Republicans greatly in the Midwest."

Young, who opposed confirmation of Secretary of Agriculture Benson's appointment, said the "administration's lack of farm policy" and their multibillion-dollar glorified Truman giveaway foreign program are very unpopular in the Middle West.

Neither Mundt nor Payne had any comment on Young's blast, the sharpest yet from a Republican lawmaker in the midst of growing controversy over farm problems and Benson's attitude toward them.

Eisenhower, who strongly defended Benson at a news conference two days ago, arranged to confer with his secretary of agri-

Month's Total Here Increases To 6.39 Inches

The stone hard grip of a record drought in this area had been softened Friday.

Rains Thursday afternoon and night had added 2.22 more to the month's total, running it to 6.39 inches. This made it the wettest October since 1931 when October produced 7.06 inches.

Most of the hard hit drought areas, including doubly-plagued Lamesa, had an inch to an inch and a half. Moisture totals ranged upward from this base figure to as much as three inches in some spots in the area.

Ranchers were cheered by prospect of winter weeds. Tobacco grass, already greening in red flats, was certain to produce some grazing in the tender stages as well as coarse forage in the winter. Possibility of weeds and rescue grass in the draws was bright enough to raise hopes of success from oppressive feed bills.

Reports from lakes indicate some modest catches, but most seasoning went into the thirsty ground. Moss Creek lake, in southeast Howard County, had impounded 3 feet and some water was still running into the basin. Level of the lake is now 15 feet. Roads to Powell Lake were washed out. No reports had come from Lake J. B. Thomas on the Colorado River. The Texas Electric Service reservoir on Morgan Creek, southwest of Colorado City, rose only 6 inches. The T&P lake, now on Cosden recreational property immediately south of town, was at the highest level in years. Friday morning it was near spillway elevation and the draws were still running.

Driving rain, ranging from an inch in town to more than two inches to the south, and north, turned arroyos and streets into rivers. Raging run-off momentarily threatened to spill into some downtown businesses. East Third at Benton was flushed. West Third at San Jacinto was under water high enough to stall some cars. US 80 Highway, a mile east of town, was washed over by a foot of surging water.

At many points in the city streets were washed badly. City crews were out early trying to scrape away the worst of the sandbars and to fill dangerous holes.

Cashona and Knott schools closed doors Friday because buses could not get over unpaved rural roads.

Farmers were jubilant over the effects of the rain on small grains. Thousands of acres of winter pasture, doubling also as cover against wind erosion, were assured. In Dawson County, now the focal point of the drought, an inch and half of slow rain was enough to insure planting of additional thousands of acres of cover crops in addition to those already up.

The 2.22 at the U. S. Weather Bureau boosted the month's figure to 6.39, while 2.3 at the U. S. Experiment Farm at the north edge of the city ran the October figure there to 5.58 inches. M. Weaver, north of the Big Spring State Hospital, reported four inches, the

Mother's Message Going To Dickenson

By JOHN R. MORRIS
BIG STONE GAP, Va. (AP)—Some- where between this Virginia moun- tain spot and Tokyo, there's a re- cording in flight today carrying a mother's message to her hospi- talized son, Cpl. Edward Dick- enson.

Cpl. Dickenson is a 23-year-old farm boy who was captured by the Korean Reds and refused repatri- ation until last Wednesday, when he decided he wanted to come back to his home straight up on a southwest Virginia mountain where he grew up and helped out with the farming.

He was flown yesterday from Korea to Tokyo, where he was hospitalized for a checkup.

"Hello, Ed" the recording starts off. The tear-heavy voice is that of his mother, Mrs. Bessie C. Dickenson. "You don't know how proud we are you're a-come home . . . We're just waiting for you to come in so we can all wel- come you home."

"And we want to have a big pot and a little one. We're gonna give a big chicken dinner and so is Keith Myers gonna bake you a big fruit cake. He said so."

The recording was made in the simply furnished living room of the one-story mountain home three miles from the village of Crackers Neck.

"It seems so long since you left . . ." his mother continued. "And I want you to come back . . . Margaret was around today and I wish you could just see her baby. And Rose Helen has grown so much . . . You wouldn't know her. And I saw your girl friend last night and she sure will be glad when you get home. And Jim's sitting here and I saw Bob and Grover and I know when you come home, you can really have a fam- ily reunion . . ."

Then Jim Dickenson, the cor- poral's half brother, speaks:

"Whenever you land, give me a ring, Eddie. And I'll be there to get you in a car—no matter how far it is. I'll come and get you."

"I'm getting ready for a deer hunt and hoping you'll be here . . ."

The corporal's 72-year-old father, Van Buren Dickenson, also had some words for his son. He talked about the family's dogs. Then a local disc jockey, Country Jim True, said something.

Also there were two officers from the American Legion, who sponsored the recording.

Meanwhile, a neighbor girl, Katie Laney, said the corporal had proposed to her by mail. But the 20-year-old blonde, whom he'd never dated but who's "always in my dreams," has replied and suggest- ed they talk further about it when he gets home.

She said she received a letter from Dickenson last Dec. 15 which read:

"Kate, I don't know how to say this. Maybe you will call me crazy, but I don't care. Kate, I would like very much to have you for my wife. I know that I never tried to go with you before, but I'm sure we could be happy together."

Earlier, his parents said they thought their son "had been doped" into refusing to come home. Mrs. Dickenson said a fel- low POW told her Ed had been smoking drugged cigarettes.

91-Year-Old Pilot Celebrates With Flight Through Air

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A licensed pilot celebrated his 91st birthday yesterday by taking four generations of his family and some friends on a flight.

James W. (Dad) Montee is credited by the Civil Aeronautics Administration with being the nation's oldest active licensed pilot.

He was at the controls during much of the flight in a Grumman Mallard 12-passenger amphibian from Santa Monica around Catalina Island and back to Long Beach and Santa Monica. His wife Margaret, 83, a daughter, two grandchildren, a great-granddaughter and two friends were along.

"I'll be flying a rocket ship be- fore I get too old," Montee said after landing.

Seven Men Let Out Of Jail, Kept Illegally For Years

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Seven men, found to have been illegally committed as prisoners, were free today after serving terms in state institutions ranging from 6 to 41 years.

All seven men wept with joy when their freedom was ordered yesterday by Superior Court Judge Felix Forte on the ground their commitment was illegal and with- out even a hearing in some cases.

Judge Forte found one of the men, Elmer Bridges, had been a prisoner for 41 of his 51 years on a case of mistaken identity.

The judge said Bridges was locked up as a boy of 10 on a charge of truancy from Tewksbury schools when, in fact, it was Bridges' brother who was the truant.

Bridges was so overjoyed on his release he shook hands with everyone in the courtroom, from the judge to reporters covering the hearing.

All seven were sentenced to in- definite terms as defective delin- quents.

Judge Forte found many of the men were transferred from deten- tion homes to state prison insti- tutions for minor infractions during their commitments.

The other six men released and their terms are:

William J. Bryant, 33, of Lawrence, committed at the age of 10 for truancy.

Gerald F. Martin, 27, of Lynn. One of a family of 16 children, in custody 11 years for receiving stolen goods.

Henry A. Gilbert, 48, of North- ampton, a prisoner for 24 years. He became a musician and leader of the band at the Bridgewater state farm.

James Goodridge, 33, of Wren- tham, in detention 28 years after confinement at the age of 5. He later was termed a sex case and confined at Concord Reformatory and Bridgewater.

Martin J. Perkins, 35, of Wor- cester, committed for larceny of a pipe, tobacco and sofa pillow and confined for 30 years.

Paul Rivers, 25, of Somerville, committed in 1947 as a defective delinquent.

During the hearing, Judge Forte criticized State Atty. Gen. George Fingold, who, he said, "up to now, it seems, has found no merit in any of these cases. The attorney general seems to have prejudged all these cases."

Fingold was not in court and could not be reached for comment.

'Heart-Starter' Termed Success

DETROIT (AP)—A newly developed heart-starter was termed "a suc- cess" today, although the first pa- tient upon whom it was used died.

Dr. Austin Z. Howard, acting superintendent of Receiving Hospi- tal, said after the patient's death last night: "The machine operation was a success. Other complica- tions killed him."

The 50-year-old patient's heart was started beating three times Wednesday by the electronic device developed at Wayne University.

The man was suffering from a "heart block" of undetermined cause, and after his heart was shocked into action a third time by the cardiator he had shown "vast improvement," the doctor said.

Adult Delinquency Essay Contest Set

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Tired of talk and surveys of "ju- venile delinquency," Kent County's three circuit judges are posting $150 for the high school senior writing the best essay on "adult delinquency."

"More emphasis should be placed on adult delinquency," Judge Dale Souter said last night in announcing the essay contest.

"Parents, rather than youngsters, should be investigated if a con- gressional investigation is needed to curb juvenile delinquency."

Six Injured In Gas Explosion In Home

Soviet Government Orders Hike In Consumer Goods Production

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet govern- ment ordered a giant step-up today in the production and distribution of consumer goods. It was part of the big drive announced by the Malenkov government Oct. 5 to boost the living standard of the Russian people.

A two-page decree, issued by the Soviet Council of Ministers and the Communist party's Central Com- mittee, ordered a 72 per cent in- crease over the 1950 output of con- sumer goods—in terms of money value—by the end of next year.

It also called for:

1. The opening of 40,000 new stores and 11,000 new restaurants and dining halls by the end of 1954.
2. A brushup by all Soviet In- ternal trade organizations of their services to the public and the elim- ination of backward distribution methods.
3. The training of additional persons in order to give the Soviet consumer the best service he has ever received.

The decree, a counterpart of re- cent Soviet moves aimed at in- creasing the nation's farm output, admitted that Soviet consumer goods arrangements have fallen short of satisfying the needs of the people, it said.

"The organization of the public food supply is backward. There are insufficient dining halls and restaurants and the people must wait too long to be served. Sale and distribution of building mate- rials is inadequate."

The new consumer goods sched- ule replaces one included in the 1950 five-year plan that called for a 70 per cent increase in the mon- etary volume of domestic goods trade by the end of 1955.

The decree listed percentage in- creases ordered in a number of commodities, as compared with the old five-year plan schedule. Among them were:

- Meat—230 per cent by the end of 1954, instead of 90 per cent by the end of 1955.
- Butter—190 per cent, instead of 70.
- Furniture—400 per cent, instead of 300.
- Clothing—240 per cent, instead of 80.
- Sewing machines—510 per cent, instead of 200.
- Radio and television sets—440 per cent, instead of 200.
- Refrigerators washing ma- chines, vacuum cleaners—1,000 per cent of the five-year plan aim. (No figure was given for the origi- nal production boost goal.)

Stores were ordered to watch for improvement in the quality of goods and to reject shoddy prod- ucts. Sales organizations were told to clear out old-fashioned stocks with 30-per-cent-off bargain sales. Factories were instructed to put out catalogues and improve their assortment of goods.

84-Year-Old Says 60-Mile Hike Is Last

DETROIT (AP)—Grandma Sylvia Marie Carlen says she's retiring as a hiker after a near 60-mile jaunt to Port Huron to celebrate her 85th birthday.

She didn't quite make it to Port Huron on her own as she did on her 1950 birthday walking spree. Or as she did to Lansing (80 miles) Pontiac (30), Algonac (40 miles) and other Michigan cities to which she has ticked off the years with trips.

"It was so hot," she said, "and some nice people at an ice cream stand just outside the (Port Huron) city limits said it wouldn't be cheating to take a bus into town."

She rode the bus the rest of the way, visited with old friends in Port Huron and then took a bus home, but hooped it the five blocks from the bus line.

Mrs. Carlen confided she "sneaked out" on her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Deneau, today. She arose at 5:45 a.m., buckled on her stout hiking shoes and took off.

The daughter and husband with whom she lives didn't want her to take a hike this year. She has a heart ailment that forced her to celebrate her 84th birthday in bed.

For lunch she took along only an apple. She wore a Scottish tam and a jacket with "going places" embroidered across the front.

About her only complaint was that motorists kept plugging her with offers of rides.

Up To Ten Inches Of Snow In South Utah

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—Winds and heavy snows groveled through Utah yesterday.

The fast-moving snow, in south- ern Utah, ranged from 5 to 10 inches deep, and the winds, rolling down the western slopes of the Wasatch Mountains, produced gusts measured at 85 miles an hour in at least one northern Utah spot.

One driver, cited for driving on the wrong side of the road after an accident near Ogden, told police a gust of wind blew his auto into the path of the other car. The accident caused injuries to one person.

French Worried About Reports U.S. To Cut Forces In Europe

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Growing talk here about the possibility of reducing U. S. ground forces in Europe has evidently disturbed the French government at a time when it is hoping for early parliamentary approval of the European Defense Community.

Retention of the six American divisions now in Europe for a long time is regarded by the French as a major requirement for their approval of EDC.

Nevertheless, reports reaching the State Department have made clear that the French government was somewhat disturbed and apparently felt that assurances American policy is basically unchanged should be forthcoming.

Pair Of Youthful Ladies Block Road, But No One Minds

DARDANELLE, Ark. (AP)—A couple of young ladies blocked traffic for a mile on a busy highway near here, but motorists didn't mind when they were told the reason.

Mrs. Elmer Holmes set out with her farmer-husband and 11-year-old son for a hospital. When the hospital was 12 miles away, Mrs. Holmes told her husband to stop the car and send her son to the nearest house for a doctor. She said the situation had become critical.

When Dr. Roy I. Millard arrived, he found things in pretty good shape, however. The 33-year-old mother and twin daughters were doing fine, he reported. The twins were born yesterday at a rush hour on Highway 27, and cars were lined up a half-mile in either direction.

They view the U. S. divisions not only as a safeguard against Soviet attack but also as affording protection, along with British troops, against possible revival of threatening German military power.

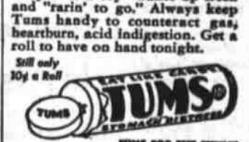

Under the European Defense Community Treaty, West German forces would be armed up to a strength of at least 12 divisions as part of the North Atlantic Alliance defense. They would compose units in an EDC army which would also include troops from France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The outlook for French approval of EDC had recently become bright again after lots of uncertainty. Now a possible threat to ratification prospects in France is seen in these developments:

No longer does he lie awake because of excess stomach acid. No longer does he toss and turn with that queasy, restless feeling. He just takes 1 or 2 Tums as a "night-cap" before he goes to bed. THIS IS A "TRANSISTOR" ... the most important single invention ever developed by telephone scientists. Now used mostly for military purposes, it promises to revolutionize the design of many everyday electronic devices, from hearing aids to television sets. In telephone equipment it is expected to replace vacuum tubes — doing the same job, but taking up far less space and using far less power. Not all the new ideas developed by telephone research are as exciting as this. But every year an average of 260 inventions and improvements are made to help us keep our telephone service high in value — low in cost. SOUTHWESTERN BELL ... Plane Wreckage In Mexico

This is the largest fragment of a wrecked plane that carried 14 persons to death near Monterrey, Mexico. The plane, which was enroute to ceremonies dedicating the International Falcon Dam on the Rio Grande, struck a mountainside and broke up among boulders, one of which is visible in the foreground. Among the dead were six newsmen, one of whom is believed to be a U. S. citizen. (AP Wirephoto).

TOTAL TOLL 3 MILLION

Korean War Figures Indicate 144,173 Total U. S. Casualties

By A. I. GOLDBERG
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—Final casualty figures for the Korean War, still clouded by uncertainty over the fate of thousands missing who may be dead, indicated today that both sides suffered a toll of more than three million. Based on figures from official and U. N. delegation sources, total casualties for the U. N. side are figured at 1,474,269, of which the Republic of Korea total is 1,312,836; the United States total 144,173; and the total for the 15 U. N. Allies 17,260.

stand drew protests from families of some in New England. Along with almost complete casualty tolls, delegation sources have revealed that the U. N. Allies actually put onto the front thousands more men, through rotation and replacement, than the standard size of the unit. From three to six times the strength of the unit finally served on the front. This was the breakdown of U. N. casualties:

Republic of Korea: dead 415,004, wounded 428,568, missing 459,423, returned prisoners of war 7,848, prisoners still claimed to be in enemy hands 1,983. Total 1,312,836.
United States: dead 25,604, wounded 105,961, missing and presumed dead 7,955 (as of Oct. 9), captured and returned 4,631 (adjustment of Aug. 19 figures), prisoners now in repatriation camp 22. Total 144,173.
Britain: dead 710, wounded 2,278, missing 1,263, captured 766. Total 5,017.
Canada: dead 291, wounded 1,072, missing 21, captured 12. Total 1,396.
Turkey: dead 717, wounded 2,246, missing 167, captured 219. Total 3,349.
Australia: dead 291, wounded 1,249, missing 39, captured 21. Total 1,591.
France: dead 288, wounded 818, missing 18, captured 11. Total 1,135.
Greece: dead 169, wounded 543, missing 2, captured 1. Total 715.
Thailand: dead 14, wounded 794, missing 5, Total 913.
Ethiopia: dead 120, wounded 538. Total 658.
Colombia: dead 140, wounded 452, missing 65, captured 29. Total 686.
Belgium-Luxembourg: dead 97, wounded 350, missing 5, captured 1. Total 453.
Philippines: dead 92, wounded 299, missing 57, captured 40. Total 488.
Netherlands: dead 111, wounded 589, missing 4. Total 704.
New Zealand: dead 34, wounded 80, captured 1. Total 115.
South Africa: dead 20, missing 16, captured 6. Total 42.

Crosby Will Take Big Plunge Into Television

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Groaner is going to take the big plunge into TV. One of the last big entertainers to hold out against TV, Bing Crosby has finally consented to grace the home screen with a show of his own. But he'll make only two programs this season, according to present plans. Will he ever do a weekly or monthly show? "Not on your life!" he scoffed. "Not unless they fire me at Paramount!" The crooner disclosed his plans on the set of "White Christmas," the Irving Berlin Musical he's doing with Danny Kaye (another TV holdout), Rosemary Clooney and Vera Ellen. As soon as he's through with the film, he'll go to work on the TV shows. One is due for telecasting Dec. 27, the other next spring. His present radio sponsor (General Electric) has first call on his TV services. "We'll shoot the films with our own outfit, Bing Crosby Productions, at Hal Roach studios," he reported. "Or we might have it done by Desilu (the Desi Arnaz-Lucille Ball company). "The show will be like a musical short. We'll pre-record the music and shoot one half-hour show in a day. If we take any longer than a day we can't make any profit from the show. I don't think we'll have much trouble. I'm pretty good at singing to a playback. We ought to be able to knock off a song an hour." Bing has made three TV appearances in the past. He and Bob Hope conducted a cross-country telethon to raise funds for Olympic athletes last year. He made a surprise appearance on one of Hope's TV shows, barely to plug their film, "Road to Bali." The pair did a musical number with Jack Buchanan. Bing also dropped in one on the Joan Davis shows, inasmuch as they have the same sponsor. He holds no awe of the new medium. "I see no reason why it should be any different from the other things I have done," he remarked. "I'll just use the things I have learned in all the other mediums."

Caravan Of Cattle Producers To See Benson On Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—A caravan of 250 or so cattle producers from 25 states will have a chance to talk to Secretary of Agriculture Benson Tuesday about their demands for cattle price supports. Benson agreed yesterday to meeting with the livestockmen, whose trip here is sponsored by the National Farmers Union. The delegation had hoped to meet with Benson Monday and with President Eisenhower Tuesday. The NFU president, James Patton of Denver, asserts neither Benson nor the President has "had the opportunity to talk with men who have borne the full brunt of the livestock depression." Many other livestock organizations, including the American National Cattlemen's Assn., oppose cattle price supports or controls.

Three Cheers
Hep, Hep, Hoo-ray! Three cheers for the boys, and all that sort of thing. I don't know what's happened, but I do know I like it, and so do all the other girls I've talked to.

About two weeks ago I happened into a drug store just about the time school let out for the day. Since I was slipping my soda in one of the local teen hang-outs I expected to be soon smothered in an avalanche.

It was as the crowd poured in through the doors and swarmed into booths that I got the shock of my life. "Waa-hoppin!" I asked the girl behind the counter in disbelief. She shook her head in bewilderment.

All around me were the neatest, cleanest, best groomed, most eligible teen-age males I have ever laid my eyes on. No sagging jeans hanging precariously to their hip bones. No grimy, wrinkled, droopy shirts hanging out. No stree, and I wasn't dreaming either.

Every hair was in place. Neat, crisp sport shirts were tucked into some very sharp looking slacks. They even seemed to look older. Thinking perhaps they were college students, I had to check. No, they were from high school, and oh how proud the girls with them looked.

These boys appeared so grown-up and masculine, and so little like the "crazy mixed-up kids" of last year. Every girl I discussed it with was all agog. You fellows had better be careful. Lots of girls are going to have their lines out for you—and I can't say I blame them. Those of you I've seen this semester are pretty sharp.

Congratulations and three cheers to you. It's real pure!

AFTER TEA AND CRUMPETS

Sausage Rolls Make Tasty English Snack

Tomorrow is United Nations Day in Texas, as proclaimed by Gov. Allan Shivers. Big Spring has good reason to observe this day since there are many young women here from United Nations countries. Representative of them is petite blonde Mrs. George Wisener, originally of London.

Mrs. Wisener is almost a U. S. citizen. She is just waiting for the next session of court in Abilene to convene so that she can take the oath.

Mrs. Wisener's husband is Capt. George Wisener, an instructor at Webb Air Force Base. They met in Munich during the occupation when she was on "lend lease," as he expresses it, working for the U. S. Army.

Although she didn't learn to cook until after they were married her husband considers her "pretty good" at the culinary arts.

In England the custom is to have the main meal at noon with the usual 4:30 tea and a sort of supper before bedtime. According to Mrs. Wisener such a supper would be sausage rolls which calls for an authentic English pastry recipe. She gives it as follows:

SAUSAGE ROLLS
Ingredients:
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2-3 cup shortening
¾ cup hot water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 egg yolk unbeaten
1 pound sausages

Method:
Fry sausages until golden brown draining off fat as it accumulates. Make flaky pastry or English pastry as follows:
Make a mixture of flour, baking powder and salt. Mix the remaining ingredients well and stir into flour mixture. Chill. Roll out ¼ inch thick, cut into squares and place sausage on squares. Moisten edge with cold water and fold square over to meet. Prick top. Brush with egg white. Bake at 425F about 25 minutes.

Mrs. Wisener says she likes to pour meat or barbecue sauce or gravy over this dish for an especially tasty treat.

The Wiseners have two sons, John, 5, and Raymond 3. They live in a handsome, spacious trailer in the OK Trailer Courts. There is nothing cramped about their life in a trailer. It sleeps eight and has every modern convenience, including a washing machine.

Mary Margaret McBRIDE SAYS

Ellen is taking a memory course so that she will be able to recall the face and name of every person that she meets. She says she took this drastic step because of her annoyance at a person to whom she has been introduced at least five times in the past year.

"This woman always looks me in the eye and murmurs politely 'I'm so glad to meet you,'" walls Ellen. "Nothing has ever given me such a feeling of being unimportant, insignificant and nobody. I have resolved I'll never cause anyone else such loss of self-esteem."

Ellen is different from the rest of us only in being more vocal about her yearning to be remembered, recognized, set apart. People of other lands sometimes say that Americans suffer from an inordinable urge to make money. If we do, I'm convinced, it's only because we think that money will somehow bring us love and admiration. I've talked for hours to many a prosperous business man about himself and I've never found one yet who seemed much interested in his bank account. His factory, yes; or his bank, bigger than anybody else's; or his whisk brooms that sweep cleaner than any others.

And why has he worked so hard? Because he wants to build a better mousetrap so that people will beat a path to his door, not just to buy but chiefly to admire. Of course, no industrial leader ever knew he had admitted to me his hankering for esteem. He'd far rather have me think him money-crazy than affection-starved.

I think it's fine that Ellen is going to do unto others as she'd like to be done by. She'll have a great success, for though the recipe for making others feel important is so simple that anybody can follow it, too few seem to try. All you have to do is single an individual out from the crowd and let him know that he is somehow special to you. An example of a person in public life who does this with skill and sincerity is the wife of the President, Mrs. Eisenhower. Her formula is much more friendly and less artificial than the one given by a successful hostess of two decades ago. Lady Elsie Mendil. Her two standby phrases at a party were "At last!" when a guest arrived, and "So soon?" when he departed.

Artificial or not, that's a pretty good rule, if in between you also pay a little attention to what your visitor says. Most of us are so busy making bids for such attention from others that we never have time to give it.

As for Ellen and her association-of-ideas memory course which she has now half-finished; she was rather upset the last time I saw her because she had met for the second time a Mr. Arsenic and had addressed him as Mr. Poison. Several hours later, she realized that the was associating ideas, all right — Arsenic, arsenic, poison.

'Boy Crazy' Teacher Writes Experiences

Because she was "just plain boy crazy" Louise Baker loved her job as a teacher at a private school for boys in Arizona.

The humorous episodes of her teaching experiences are mingled with philosophical sidelights in her book, "Snips and Snails," which Mrs. Clyde Angel reviewed at the Thursday Review Club in the auditorium of Howard County Junior College Thursday.

Being recommended for the job began when Louise went to a cocktail party and met Peter Kennington Matthews III, a student at the school, and his mother.

After a bout of sandwich-throwing Peter and Louise became very good friends. Mrs. Matthews was so impressed she approached Louise the next day about an opening on the teaching staff at the school.

It seems that Peter had closed his prayers the night before with "and God, skip Grandma and bless the lady who threw the sandwiches."

That clinched the matter for Mrs. Matthews, who insisted Louise was the "embodiment of the new psychology."

Landing the job, Louise took off for the school, where she was assigned living quarters to which one of the others had donated a piano. This was just fine, except for the fact that it was the piano that the little boys used for practicing.

The boys were continually scheming something. One of them wrote home asking for some oranges and a hypodermic needle. He intended to inject castor oil into the oranges and have them served to his classmates, Louise discovered, but she was successful in dissuading him from carrying out his plan.

But in spite of, and because of, all their mischievousness, Louise grew to love the boys. One day she tore up the cards the headmaster had given her, each with a report of the good and bad points of her pupils.

"You can't write little boys down on cards," she decided.

FARMERS KEPT UP TO DATE BY FARM REPORTER

One of the daily features of Radio Station KTXC is the Farm Report at 12:30 Monday through Friday. KTXC's Farm Editor Jack Buchanan brings to the farmers of this area the very latest news affecting agriculture, together with the newest ideas on farming. Jack Buchanan is brought to the listening audience by the McKinley Grain Company of Big Spring.

The McKinley Grain Company has been a familiar sight on West 1st in Big Spring for the past five years. Owned and operated by J. H. McKinley and his wife, Edna, the McKinley Grain Company serves the community with a wide selection of grain and feed for the farming needs of the people. The McKinley Grain Company is happy to be of service, and their interest in the farming progress of this area is evidenced in their bringing you the daily Farm Report over KTXC at 12:30. Be sure to listen daily to this informative program, and for all your grain needs, remember the McKinley Grain Company on West 1st.

The War Against Beverage Alcohol

(Temperance Lesson)

WHAT THE SCRIPTURES TEACH ON THIS SUBJECT

Scripture—Proverbs 23:29-35; 31:4-5; Isaiah 5:11-14; Matthew 18:4; Luke 12:1-10; Romans 13:13-14; James 4:17.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
OUR LESSON today deals with one of the world's major problems which has troubled all nations from ancient times right up to the present day—intemperance. The primary class teachers may find this a rather difficult subject to present in an interesting and helpful manner to their children. But, alas, some young children may be acquainted with the problem of drinking intoxicating liquors, if not in their own homes, then in those of relatives or friends.

To these it may be pointed out that alcohol makes fools of persons. It makes them act ridiculously, takes away their God-given intelligence, and often makes them quarrelsome and dangerous.

These young children should be helped to see that there is a right and a wrong manner of behavior and that they must learn to be strong and take the right way to resist the temptations that assail even the youngest, and to stand firm in the right.

MEMORY VERSE
"Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."—Romans 12:2.

when it is red, when it giveth his color in the cup... At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder."
For those in authority—kings, princes, judges—strong drink is particularly vicious. They need clear heads to handle the matters that come before them with wisdom and justice.

Isaiah said: "Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink, that continue until night, till wine inflame them."
This was a habit with some rich men in ancient Palestine, feasting and drinking from early morning until late at night. Isaiah foresaw captivity for his people who persisted in these revels. It came finally, but after Isaiah's day.

To show how Jesus turned a man's life away from evil to good with His love and understanding, our lesson includes the story of the little man, Zacchaeus, who in Jericho, climbed a tree to see Him pass by. Glancing up, the Lord saw him and called to him

Wide Variety Of Subjects Set For Sermon Topics This Sunday

A wide variety of subjects will be discussed in sermons at local churches Sunday.

METHODIST
The Rev. Marvin Fisher will speak on "How to Meet Temptation" at the 10:55 a.m. service at the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church. "Necessity of Preparation" will be his 7:30 p.m. topic.

Penn Band In Spat About Use Of Spats

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Musicians in the University of Pennsylvania's marching band had a spat over spats—they even threatened to strike—but now they're marking time again.

White spats, they said, are just what they need to give their uniforms a touch of dash. The university didn't see it that way.

The result was almost a musical mutiny on the eve of tomorrow's Penn-Navy game at Franklin Field. "No spats, no music," was the bandsmen's ultimatum.

But Dr. Arnold K. Henry, dean of student affairs, talked to the ruffled musicians and restored harmony—for a while. An informal strike vote, taken earlier this week, was reversed 51-16 in a secret ballot after the meeting with Dr. Henry yesterday.

Spats were only one sour note in the discord. Others included the university's refusal to send the band to the only away game this year, next Saturday's contest with Michigan at Ann Arbor.

On the spats issue: "I had no idea you bandsmen felt so strongly about it," the dean confessed. But he spiked a rumor that the university was committed to a no-spats policy and indicated the issue could be worked out.

On the Michigan game issue: "It's a matter of cold economics," said Dr. Henry. The band's budget is 16,050 a year, he said, and the Michigan trip would cost $4,500.

Other band demands were a full-time director, better practice facilities, "permanent contact" with the athletic department, inspection of the budget, and an award for band members—"sort of a key, or a letter or something."

Dean Henry agreed the band should set up a committee to discuss its problems with his office. The budget, he said, is open to any undergraduate for inspection.

Most band members were satisfied. They picked up their tubas, trombones and gluckspiels and resumed rehearsals.

"The main idea," one player said, "was to blow our own horns."

City Hall Might Have Pretty Stenographers

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Switchboard operator Ethel Smith, has for years, answered with "City Hall." "What?" the caller responded. "City Hall," Ethel chirped, but got no come-back.

"This is City Hall," she tried again. "With whom do you wish to speak?"

"I guess with no one," the female voice at the other end said slowly. "I discovered this number while going through my husband's pockets."

To Give Fish Chance

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Rhode Island today suspended fishing in four fresh water ponds in the interests of giving the fish a sporting chance. Edward C. Hayes Jr., a state fish and game official, said the water is so low, some of the ponds have been scooped the fish out in pails and baskets.

Students In Visit To Corporation Court

Thirteen students visited traffic court this morning and saw City Judge W. E. Greenless fine a man $25 for driving without a license. The man, who was involved in an accident on West 3rd Street last night, was also transferred to county authorities to be charged with driving while intoxicated. Judge Greenless explained to the man and the students that regular traffic violations are handled in City Court, but that the more serious offense of driving while intoxicated is dealt with in County Court.

The students were members of Jack Everett's class in driver training education. Everett said he has four other classes which will attend session of the court.

Judge Greenless addressed the students following the trials of the morning. He explained to them that the usual fine for driving without a license, first offense, is $25.

"There's nothing between a driver and death on the highway but the little white line in the middle of the road," Greenless said. "And each driver has faith that the others know what they are doing. For this reason we must have qualified drivers, and a license is a measure of qualification."

The judge told the students that anyone coming into court is considered innocent until proven guilty. He pointed to the trial of some bracers on charges of drunkenness as an example. These men thought they were guilty until proven innocent, like the system in Mexico, he said.

Five bracers were tried on drunkenness charges, and most were found not guilty. Judge Greenless was aided in the trial by two of the Latin-American students who acted as interpreters. They were Isabel Molina and Josephine Pierso.

George Oldham of the Citizens' Traffic Commission addressed the students and explained the workings of his organization. He said that nine of ten accidents are caused by the "nut behind the wheel." Consequently, he said, driver education is a necessary part of traffic safety.

Patrolman D. C. Sanders, courtroom bailiff, explained to the students that a person driving with a beginner's license must have a qualified and licensed driver in the front seat with him at all times. "If not, it's just like driving without a license, and you saw what happened to the man here."

Students in court were Thomas Kelley, McCoy Gilliland, Earnest Hubbard, Richard Tucker, Janet Hogan, Miss Molina, Miss Fierro, Darwin Williams, James Holmes, D. C. Weatherford, Dale Roy Long, C. P. Ward and Bobby Lawdermilk.

UF Workers Pressing To Finish Drive

Prospect cards which haven't been worked will "tell the tale" in the final few days of the United Fund campaign, UF officials said this morning.

If the outstanding cards are worked, the Fund will reach its goal otherwise the $74,144 objective won't be attained.

Some 85 per cent of the goal already has been pledged. However, 40 per cent of the cards in the special gifts division haven't been reported, nor have 20 per cent in the employe division, 45 per cent in business and industry and 15 per cent in the advance gifts division.

Total pledged to date is $22,414.15. A special report meeting has been set for 4 p.m. today to determine status of the campaign as it nears the finish. Final reports are to be heard next Tuesday.

Also scheduled for this afternoon was a rise in mercury on the UF progress gauge. Gilbert Gibbs, team captain who was first to finish his assignment in the employe division, was to be carried through town aboard a city fire truck and be hoisted to the thermometer in front of the Settles to elevate the red progress column to the 85 per cent level.

FAR TOO MUCH, THEY TOLD HIM

It had to happen, of course. At Webb AFB, an airman reporting for a tour of duty and obviously not yet briefed on the recent devastating drought, innocently asked his colleagues this morning:

"Say, doesn't the sun ever come out around this place?"

C-City Rites Set For Vaughan Infant

COLORADO CITY—Funeral services for Frankie Wayne Vaughan, two-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vaughan, 2002 Avenue J, Snyder, will be held at 4 p.m. Friday at the Kiker and Son Chapel in Colorado City.

Burial will take place in the Colorado City Cemetery.

The infant was found dead in his crib by his parents early Thursday morning. He was born Aug. 7, 1953, in Colorado City.

Survivors, in addition to his parents, include two brothers, Jerry and Bobby; four sisters, Linda Kay, Sandra Fay, Joyce Ann and Carol Elaine, all of Snyder. Carol Elaine is in his twin sister.

Paternal grandmother is Mrs. Nancy Vaughan of Colorado City and maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnett of Colorado City.

Michigan Girl Sent To State School

The 16-year-old Pontiac, Mich., girl who has been held in juvenile ward here for the past few weeks today was committed to the State School for Girls at Galesville.

A. E. Long, local juvenile officer, said neither the girl's parents nor Michigan authorities would provide transportation for her return home. She has been held here as delinquent.

Lightning Starts Fire At House

Lightning struck the wiring at a house at 205 Mesquite Street yesterday about 1:45 p.m. and a small blaze resulted.

Three fire trucks answered the call, and the fire was put out immediately. No injuries were reported, and firemen said damage was slight. Henry Rogers resides in the house.

Greene To Dallas

Jimmie Greene, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, will be in Dallas this weekend to attend a board of directors meeting of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Association. He is vice president of the group.

Hendrix, Lawhon Returned Here

Randall Leon Hendrix and Junior Coleman Lawhon, both convicted of burglary in Roby Wednesday, have been returned to Howard County where they face additional burglary charges.

Charged with the two in connection with burglary of the Casey Fuller Grocery last May 30 is James Hunt, who is being held in Corpus Christi. Hendrix and Lawhon are due to go before the grand jury here next week.

Hendrix also is charged here with murder as a result of the death of his 14-year-old wife. She died of a bullet wound Oct. 2.

Sheriff Jess Slaughter and Deputy Miller Harris returned Hendrix and Lawhon to county jail here Thursday. Hendrix was given an eight-year prison sentence in Roby and Lawhon was given a five-year term. They also have been sentenced in Abilene on conviction of burglary.

Hunt is in custody of military authorities in Corpus Christi and probably won't be brought to Big Spring in time to go before the grand jury next week.

Special Envoy Dean Arrives In Tokyo

TOKYO—Special U. S. envoy Arthur Dean arrived today en route to Korea for talks with the Communists and said the U. N. Command hopes to get the Korean peace conference under way no later than Dec. 1.

At Panmunjom, however, Communist and U. S. delegates couldn't even agree on a building in which to hold preliminary talks designed to pave the way for the political conference.

Dean will represent the U. S. Command at the preliminary talks, scheduled to open Monday in Panmunjom.

Airmen Treated For Injuries In Mishap

Two men were taken to Webb Air Force base hospital last night following an accident in the 170 block West 3rd. They were A-30 Bob Collins and Pvt. Lawrence B. Enziano.

The men were not believed to be seriously injured. They were reported suffering from cuts and bruises on the face and hands.

The accident occurred about 10:15 p.m. Airmen said a car driven by Airman Roy W. Burns collided with a parked automobile. The parked car belonged to Walter J. Goodwin, and there were no occupants in the vehicle at times of collision.

Speaking Of Herefords

S. S. Patton of Big Spring claims he has another Howard County champion—the champion midget Hereford, which is 11 months old, 22 inches high and which weighs 150 pounds with the rope on it. This is the well known Forsan calf that was bought by Patton's daughter, Mrs. C. L. Draper from Charlie Adams last year for a pet. Patton has just returned from the Texas State Fair with the calf where he took it to enter in the unusual exhibits, but he got there just a few hours too late to beat the entry deadline.

Riding

THE GRUB LINE
With Franklin Reynolds

Ten members of Bruce Frazier's class in bacteriology at Howard County Junior College went out to Ed Fisher's "hens-in-cages" plant at Elbow Wednesday night and vaccinated 1,500 pullets against fowl pox and Newcastle disease. Monday night they took special refresher instruction in immunology and serology. Class members include hospital technicians, registered nurses and vocational nurses, all attending night classes so as to better prepare themselves for the practice of their professions. Those making the trip were Mrs. Mattie Lee Barker, Mrs. Myrtle Eller, Mrs. Doris Page Hale, Mrs. Alice Haynes, Mrs. Vera Hughes, Mrs. Preston Hurd, Mrs. Irene Johnson, Mrs. Virgil Long, Mrs. Herbert Overby and Mrs. Lillian Whit.

Ed Fisher says that when he gets his first egg he is going to drill small holes in the ends, blow out the insides and then preserve the shell for posterity in a glass case upon which will appear these words:

"First Fowl Fruit From Fisher's Fowl Farms."

planned to pour it out, he indicated, in front of those pheasants and thus get their idea on what is the best pheasant feed.

The pheasant feeder was accompanied to the Dickson Feed Store by Pat Nixon, another eighth grader and partner. Pat is feeding out a couple of capons of the Cornish breed. This is a 4-H project, and Pat says he is shooting for the county grand championship in the spring show. Next year both boys will be old enough for FFA enrollment and they say they're going to take an active part in the Coahoma chapter.

Young Roberts has had quite an experience with his pheasants. He started in last year with some day-old birds. Just as he was getting them started "along came a rain that nobody around Coahoma expected" and some of them got wet and died. He says baby pheasants are likely to leave good shelter and go out and roost in the rain and get wet—and die. But he does have a couple of roosters and six or seven hens that finally made it through. This year he got some more baby pheasants from Oklahoma and he has done better with them, profiting by what he learned with the other bunch. He says that once you get them started off all right and get some size on them that they'll make it. "They're easy to raise after you find out how," he says.

Dickson himself is raising some poultry. He has 25 head of the big broad-breasted bronze turkeys that he's fattening for the Thanksgiving and Christmas home eating—and the market.

"They were nice trying size," when he got them he says, and now they'll weigh from 12 to 16 pounds. He's ready to start taking reservations on them any time now, and when a feed dealer is fattening turkeys the meat ought to be mighty choice.

Also learned something else of great interest from Dickson. The idea of "hens-in-cages" egg production isn't something as new as many people may have thought. The Paymaster outfit (Western Cotton and Anderson-Clayton) had such projects going on the West Coast as early as 1941. Paymaster's "Cage Layer Complete Ration" has been on the market some time and the cages in units of six, 12 or 16 are available from any Paymaster dealer just as from other feed dealers and other sources.

There are several persons in the Coahoma Community who have small numbers of "hens-in-cages" and several others are planning on acquiring some just as soon as they can make up their minds to leave the family car out in the weather and put the hens in the garage.

Speaking of the Paymaster feed for "hens-in-cages" here is the formula: Ground yellow corn, ground grain sorghums, soybean meal, wheat gray shorts, wheat bran, pulverized oats, dehydrated alfalfa meal, meat and bone scraps, fish meal, dried whey, dried whey fermentation solubles, calcium carbonate, dicalcium phosphate, salt, vitamin A oil, D activated animal sterol, riboflavin, calcium pantothenate, niacin, choline chloride, vitamin B12 and antibiotic supplement and traces of manganese sulphate, iron sulphate, potassium iodide, and copper sulphate.

Dickson says, too, that his cotton has certainly fooled him this year. He had 167 acres on his farm a mile and a half north of Coahoma plowed 20 inches deep in 1951. Last year he didn't get planting moisture and so didn't raise anything on it. This year the first picking produced 17 bales of cotton from 67 acres of the land, and he says he expects this first yield plus subsequent yields to give him at least half a bale to the acre this year. He says this cotton certainly didn't look that good to him in the field before the pickers started. He doesn't remember how much rain the cotton got, because, he says, it was so little he just didn't bother to keep any record of it, since it looked so hopeless. He says the cotton on this deep-plowed land is so much better than cotton on similar land that wasn't deep plowed that he plans to deep plow his whole farm in time. He says he believes this yield is about as good as in a normal year.

Additional Research Asked By Teacher Pay Study Group

AUSTIN (U)—Efforts to agree on how the state and local school districts should split the cost of a teacher pay raise made little progress yesterday.

The subcommittees representing the divergent views of Gov. Shivers and the Texas State Teachers Assn. met four hours, called for further research, and scheduled another meeting Nov. 15.

Research workers were asked to find a total cost of public education in Texas and to try to determine whether an equitable formula can be devised to credit school building costs against the share assessed local districts for support of the minimum foundation program.

Local contributions to the minimum program theoretically total $5 million dollars a year, the amount fixed by the Gilmer-Aikin laws.

The governor has proposed subsidizing a state-local percentage share in the cost. He suggested figures of about 80 per cent for the state and 20 per cent for local districts.

The percentage plan is opposed by the teachers association which contends it would unduly increase the local tax burden. Proponents of the Shivers plan say the economic index used to determine each county's ability to pay was designed to protect poorer counties.

A statement in an Oct. 5 letter from TSTA Executive Secretary Charles Tenyson and the TSTA Legislative Committee to association members was challenged yesterday.

Supt. Joseph Griggs of Huntsville, the governor's representative on the subcommittee, took issue with the letter's assertion that some members of the full compromise committee at its original meeting had "expressed the idea that the increase in salaries should be borne mainly by the local school districts."

Griggs said no member of the committee ever said that.

'Lucy' Twins Get Contracts Okayed With Poetic Touch

LOS ANGELES (U)—Fifteen-month-old twins, who take turns playing Desi Arnaz and Lucille Ball's baby son on the "I Love Lucy" television program, have had their contracts approved—with poetry.

Superior Judge Frank G. Swain yesterday approved contracts containing the morality clause standard in movie contracts. It provides that the performer must refrain from moral turpitude and have due regard for public morals.

The judge told the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Mayer, he was glad to see the clause in the contract for Joe and Mike. Then he asked in verse:

"Are infants too fond of the women?"

"Will they hit the bottle too much?"

"Will they go in swimming undiapered?"

"And ruin their box office touch?"

Seek To Bulldog Steers Tonight

The Vernon Lions (above), co-champions of District 1-AAA last season, will try to derail the Big Spring Steers' bid and solidify their own bid for the crown here tonight. Left to right, top row, they are Gene Miller, Millard Glass, Dale Coleman, Neal Eggleston, Roger Dunlap, Jim Petty, Bob Steele, Carl Franks, Bob Harvey and Don Smithson. Third row, Leroy Hicks, Robert Pigg, Tom Stamps, Bill Lovelace, Chris Krebs, Jerry Pearson, Coyt Webb, Dee Waggoner, Robert Bailey and Dave Haney. Second row, Charles Peters, Benny Goodrum, Tommy Neely, Jimmy Herald, Bill Coker, Dick Sewell, Marvin Foster, Bob Tigrett, and Bill Wilson. Front row, Jack Bolton and Jim Sharp.

The Big Spring Steers face another big hurdle here tonight in their quest for the District 1-AAA grid crown.

Each team will be making its second conference start, after a so-so non-conference season. The Lions have lost to Class AAAA Wichita Falls and AA Childress, but honorably on both occasions.

Chris Krebs and Bill Lovelace last week in the Vernon-Snyder game. Krebs is the second leading point-getter in the district. The Lions, if they play against Snyder is indicative, are a bunch of opportunities. They pounced on one fumble to set up a touchdown and stopped Tiger drives on at least two other occasions by falling on enemy bobbles.

Indications are the two teams will have at it on a muddy field. Though Big Spring has the heaviest ball club, the heavy going is due to favor neither team. The Lions have a fierce defense.

College All-Stars To Oppose Lakers

CHICAGO (AP) — A handpicked group of 14 college graduates, regarded as among the best basketball players ever assembled in the 14-year series, will meet the Minneapolis Lakers in the annual all-star game at Chicago Stadium tonight.

The collegians, coached by John (Honey) Russell of Seton Hall, will try to square the rivalry against the pros after losing seven and winning six of the previous all-star contests.

"Our boys are hitting them hard, and that's the way we want it, but the opponents are not the ones who feel most of it," Coleman suggested.

Stanton Buffaloes Oppose Morton In Important Go

STANTON — With two impressive conference wins behind them, the Stanton Buffaloes seek to strengthen their claim for a 4-A flag in an 8 o'clock game with Whiteface here tonight.

He has been slowed down with a hip injury. Once again, Stanton's hopes for victory will rest in the line, which such standouts as Reggie Myrick, Mike Baulch, Burley Polk and Wayne Butcher will again go to the battle pits.

Bufs, Divide Meet Tonight

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes, still one of the highest scoring football machines in Texas, are favored to topple Divide in their District Seven six-man battle here tonight.

La Rosa Fails To See Godfrey's 'Humility'

By HERB ALTSCHULL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Singer Julius La Rosa prepared for a show-must-go-on performance tonight amid publicity ripples from his abrupt firing by Arthur Godfrey.
Godfrey, whose calm good humor has made him a television Titan, gave the young Brooklyn baritone his sailing papers last Monday. That was a swan song, Godfrey told his morning viewers as La Rosa finished singing.
"At first," La Rosa told a news conference last night through in-cipient tears, "I didn't know what he meant. I had never heard the expression before. But I understood later when he said something about wishing me godspeed."
La Rosa said another thing he doesn't understand is what Godfrey means by "humility," the quality Godfrey said La Rosa had lost.
"Ever since I was on his show, it was one of his staunch themes," La Rosa said. He never said exactly what it was. It was sort of an indefinable something.
But La Rosa emphasized he does not want to get into a battle with Godfrey, for whom he had worked 23 months to the day until sacked along with orchestra leader Archie Bleyer.
"I wouldn't be disrespectful to him," he said. "He's older than I am and my father always taught me to have respect for people older than you."
"I didn't want any publicity because I felt it wasn't the right thing. Children should be seen and not heard and two wrongs don't make a right."
The 23-year-old baritone sings at a Naval Relief Society ball tonight at the naval gun factory. He was stationed there as a sailor for two years before Godfrey "discovered" him.
La Rosa said that "deep down in my heart I know that Mr. Godfrey had no bona fide reason for firing me."
But he acknowledged he had violated an agreement with Godfrey under which all the "Little Godfreys" said they would hire no independent booking agency to represent them.

The singer sidestepped questions about why he had contracted with the agency, General Artists Corp., but said he signed up four days before Godfrey gave him the ax.
"I tried to tell Mr. Godfrey about it, but I couldn't reach him," La Rosa said.
Godfrey told a news conference in New York Wednesday he fired La Rosa for signing the personal management contract. He fired Bleyer, he said, because Bleyer made a phonograph record featuring Don McNeill of the rival American Broadcasting Co.
La Rosa's contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System still has five years to run and poses an ironclad hurdle to his cashing in on big money offers.
General Artists President Tom Rockwell said he hopes to negotiate changes in the contract, which CBS officials described as customary for new talent, yielding La Rosa an average of about $1,000 a week with Godfrey.
"CBS is a fair organization," Rockwell said. "I'm sure we'll work something out."
In the meantime, he said, he is holding in abeyance such offers as $7,500 a week for La Rosa to appear at theaters in New York and Chicago and $4,000 for a one-night stand in Kalamazoo, Mich.
CBS said it plans to use La Rosa in other radio-TV appearances but was not sure just exactly where and when. His next scheduled TV performance will be on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" Sunday night.

Shivers Says Ike Not Troublesome Visitor
GILMER, Tex. (AP)—President Eisenhower was not a troublesome guest, Gov. Allan Shivers has indicated.
"The only request the President made of me," Shivers told the East Texas Yamboree yesterday, "was to be permitted to attend church on Sunday."
The President was a house guest of Shivers at the latter's estate near Mission, Tex., last Saturday and Sunday.

British Oil Truck Drivers On Strike

LONDON (AP)—The government prepared today to call in troops if necessary to ward off complete paralysis of London traffic by a wildcat strike of 2,600 oil truck drivers. The walkout is now in its fifth day.
Unless the strikers go back to work, Churchill and his Cabinet decided yesterday, soldiers will be sent to man both the oil trucks and the 32 oil depots affected by the stoppage.
The strikers, who are demanding the firing of all nonunion co-workers and a weekly pay raise of 10 shillings ($1.40) unanimously voted yesterday to disregard a back-to-work call by their union, the huge Transport and General Workers' Confederation.

Policemen Had Better Improve Driving Skill

CHICAGO (AP)—Supt. Henry R. Hayes of the Boston police told the National Safety Congress policemen had better improve their driving.
He cited an insurance survey rating drivers according to occupations. Among 64 occupations, law enforcement officers rated 31st, he said.

Churchill Is Given Vote Of Approval

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's government won a decisive vote of confidence last night on its drastic action in throwing out British Guiana's left-wing government and suspending the colony's constitution.
The House of Commons, after a heated five-hour debate, beat down by a vote of 294-256 a Labor amendment denouncing the government's moves. Then the House endorsed without a count the government's policy.
Dr. Cheddi Jagan, the ousted British Guiana Prime Minister who flew to London Wednesday to plead his case, sat in the spectator's gallery. He heard Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton accuse him of undertaking "a deadly design to turn British Guiana into a proletarian state dominated by Communist ideas."

Laborite speakers contended that the government had acted in a dictatorial manner and encouraged anti-British nationalism by brushing aside the Guianan constitution just a few months after it went into effect. A demand for Lyttelton's resignation brought cheers from the Labor benches.
Labor party leader Clement Attlee acknowledged, however, that some local leaders in the South American colony were Reds and said the government was right in firing them.
