Agricultural Seminar Slated In Muleshoe Monday, March 26

Bailey County farmers will have an opportunity to hear five important agricultural topics discussed in Muleshoe on Monday night, March 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the Muleshoe High School Cafeteria during a Commercial Agricultural Seminar. This meeting was developed and is being sponsored by the extension Field Crops Committee headed by J. G. Arnn of Bailey County.

As we try to meet the expanding needs of the commercial agricultural problems of Bailey County, we find solutions from time to time that need to be discussed and covered that will help producers realize more net profit. This meeting has been designed to help meet the needs of the commercial producer of this area. The following topics and speakers have been secured for the meeting:

High Micronaire Cotton Varieties and Quality of Planting Seed, by Dr. Robert Metzger, Area Agronomist in Cotton. New Forages to Consider in Bailey County, by Dr. James Suprah, Area Agronomist; Economics of Farming Equipment, by Marvin Sartin, Area Economist.

Principals to Sprinkle and Furrow Irrigation, by Leon New, Area Irrigation Specialist. Controls for Corn Borers and Bank Grass Mites Insects, by Dr. Robert McIntyre, area Entomologist.

Anyone regardless of race, color, creed or national origin is welcome to come and attend the meeting on March 26, at 7:30 p.m. in Muleshoe.

For more information about the meeting, contact the county agent's office in the Bailey County courthouse.

Auto Theft Topic Of Crime Series

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of stories on organized crime in Texas. Auto theft, a thriving underworld business, is the topic. Figures used were compiled by the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council and the Texas Department of Public Safety. "Public awareness is vital to stamping out organized crime," say Attorney General John Hill and Colonel Wilson pair, DPS Director, who are co-chairmen of the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council. This series is part of public education program developed by the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council with assistance from the Texas Criminal Justice Council, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the Texas Department of Public Safety, the Office of the Attorney General of Texas and local law enforcement agencies.) This is the story of Bill Jones, a hard-working, law-abiding young store clerk with two small children and a salary of less than $9,000 per year.

Bill and Beth were stunned. They couldn't produce papers because the title, to be mailed, had not yet arrived. A quick check with the used car dealer revealed he, too, was awaiting return of papers from the "original" owner.

But that "original owner", it turned out, had used bogus papers and license plates when the automobile was sold to the used car dealer.

Bill and Beth were left holding the bag--their dream exploded -- the victims of a sophisticated organized crime car theft ring.

Organized auto theft and theft of personal and household property pours millions of dollars yearly into pockets of Texas mobsters.

Autos and other vehicles head the list, but thieves also make off with everything from television sets to hair brushes from Texans each year.

One officer recalled not long ago "the hardest thing I ever had to do in my life was go into the small home of a low-income family and take away the television set a hard-working mother had finally been able to bring home for the kids.

"She bought it from a shady dealer, and it turned out to be stolen goods. It wasn't easy to walk out with all those kids crying for something they had waited for all their lives," he added.

The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, co-chaired by Attorney General John Hill and Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety, reports motor vehicles are prime targets for organized thieves.

Using Dallas as an example, criminals stole property valued at $15.7 million last year. More than $6 million of that total was cars-- although ultimately $4.4 million worth of autos were recovered.

As end-of-the-year tally for 1971 estimated $50 million or more worth of motor vehicles were reported stolen in Texas. That figure represents an estimated 48,823 vehicles stolen in the state during 1971.

Many average Texans conclude the absence of complaints means the absence of organized crime in the car theft racket. Nothing could be further from the truth.

"At the present time, 80 to 85 per cent of all stolen vehicles are recovered," said Col. Speir, "but many of those not recovered are taken by professional thieves and organized theft rings."

Car theft, as a matter of record, often is the "kindergarten" for a young thug.

Underworld bosses, especially a "fence" (the receiver of stolen goods), often sponsor fledglings in "lower level" crimes such as home burglary, hijackings and auto theft.

By bankrolling prospective employees, whom they are actually training and testing, the organized criminal element is the catalyst for street crime.

John Mitchell has said, "When you read of housebreakings, shoplifting and industrial thefts, you should realize that organized crime provides a major network for the disposal of these stolen goods."

The DPS Criminal Law Enforcement Division and local authorities have uncovered evidence on more than 40 auto theft rings. In 34 instances, positive identification of the leader was made and names of members and method of operation discovered. Many arrests resulted.

Lawmen in North Texas recently disrupted a multi-city car theft ring employing one of the more common methods used to steal a car.

In the raids and resulting arrests, officers recovered 13

Fish And Wildlife Hearing Set Tuesday

Texas hunters and fishermen have approximately one billion dollars invested in their equipment, and soon they will have the opportunity to put their voices where their money is. The opportunity will come when Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials hold public hearings in counties across the state concerning changes in laws affecting fish, game animals and fur bearing animals.

The hearing for Bailey County will be held Tuesday, March 27, at 2 p.m. in the Bailey County courthouse.

Clayton Garrison, executive director for the department, said the hearings are the first step toward setting the coming hunting and fishing regulations. The proposals will be set forth at the hearings and citizen comments will be invited.

Detailed reports of the hearings will be submitted to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. The reports will be used by the commissioners when they are considering changes in game and fish regulations.

Garrison said department officials are hoping for a good turnout at the public hearings. "Citizen participation at these hearings is absolutely essential if we are to get a full picture of many variables affecting fish and wildlife programs," he said. "We sincerely urge anyone interested in our fish and wildlife resources to attend these local hearings."

Cotton Gins Finish Up 1972-73 Season

The last of the Bailey County farmers are finally finishing up their 1972 cotton harvest. This season has been one of the longest in many years.

A bale count to all of the Bailey County gins shows that local gins have ginned almost 73,000 bales of cotton this season.

This surpasses the predicted amount which was 50,000 bales. This crop was one of the best recorded in the South Plains and in Bailey County in several years.

The following are results from a spot-check of local gins: Muleshoe Co-op Gin reports that they have ginned 4870 bales and are finished ginning for the season.

The Claunch Gin at Bula has ginned 7429 bales and are also finished ginning for the season.

At the Enochs Gin Co., they have ginned 1600 bales at last report and were still ginning. The Farmer's Co-op Association of Enochs reports a total of 7244 bales ginned this season. At the Maple Co-op Gin, they report having ginned a grand total of 12,850 bales to date with less than 50 bales to go.

The Muleshoe Gin Co. ginned 1417 bales this season and is finished ginning.

The last report from the Needmore Co-op Gin showed a total of 6500 bales ginned and still ginning.

The Shafer Gin Co. shows a total of 5378 bales for the season. Over 1860 bales were ginned at the Stegall Gin and at last report, they still liked a few bales.

West Camp Gin showed a total of 4300 for the season and the Young Brothers Gin had ginned 4600 for the season.

The Paymaster Gin in Muleshoe reported 4600 for the season.

Cotton Growers Seek Better Deals For Their Cottonseed

NEW ORLEANS—Cotton producers are becoming increasingly alarmed about the gap between the prices they receive for cottonseed and the prices cottonseed meal and hulls bring at resale, Dr. H.L. (Hal) Lewis of Raleigh, N.C., told Mississippi Valley oilseed processors here.

Lewis is director of agricultural research for Cotton Incorporated, the research, sales and marketing company sponsored by America's cotton growers through their dollar-per-bale program.

He advised delegates to the 22nd oilseed processing clinic that unless things change, cotton producers may be forced to seek new and more profitable markets for their cottonseed.

Lewis cited figures showing that prices paid to producers for cottonseed have remained constant since last September at $42-$50 per ton.

During the same time the prices for cottonseed meal containing 41 per cent protein have risen from $90-$95 per ton to $120-$176, and prices paid for hulls have doubled, from $11-$13 a ton to $22-$27.

This sort of relationship between the business of the cotton producer and the business of the buyer of his cottonseed disturbs us at Cotton Incorporated," Lewis told the oilseed processors.

He said Cotton Incorporated hopes a better business relationship can be established. "Certainly if a satisfactory profit cannot be shared by all parties," he said, "then there is no reasonable basis for doing business."

The scientist said a vast, untapped market exists for cottonseed food products, and he challenged the oilseed processors to develop and exploit it.

Over 300 food products are manufactured items containing protein, Lewis said. They are distributed in what food marketers label as 16 major food groups.

"Of those 16 major groups, 13 already use some form of vegetable protein," said Dr. Lewis. "And let me remind you that cottonseed protein is vegetable protein."

He reported that a 1970 study by Cornell University identified a potential market of 3.1 billion pounds of processed foods containing protein. The market already existing today is more than 2 billion pounds. "It is big business, make no mistake," Lewis said. "Food processing and related activities constitute the largest single domestic industry in the United States."

He pointed out that a modern American supermarket carries over 8,000 different food items, of which over half are new products, introduced within the last ten years.

"This indicates that the American consumer is willing to accept new food products," Lewis said. "Moreover, it also shows that the American food processing industry can speedily adopt new technologies to develop more highly sophisticated food products."

All told, Lewis declared, the state is set for cottonseed processors to develop their product and cash in on waiting money-making markets for new foods containing cottonseed protein.

But there are serious flaws in the way the overall picture shapes up, said Lewis, for it is not cottonseed processors who are taking action, but cotton producers. Yet producers are not getting a fair return on their investment. "Cotton Incorporated is spending $300,000 a year of cotton producers funds on cottonseed research," Lewis said, "while the cottonseed industry spends less than ten per cent of that amount. This fact disturbs us, too," he said.

"Cottonseed profits are going up, and we at Cotton Incorporated intend to see that the cotton producer gets his fair share of the new profits."

Dr. Lewis was a principal speaker at the 22nd oilseed processing clinic, sponsored by the Mississippi Valley Oilseed Processors Association, Inc., and held at the Bourbon Orleans Ramada Hotel.

John Tower United States Senate COMMITTEE ON ARMED SERVICES

I have just returned from attending the International Wehrkunde, a NATO defense studies conference held annually in Munich, Germany. It was my sixth annual attendance at the conference as a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The conference provides a forum for frank discussions between legislative and parliamentary representatives of the various member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which defends free Europe. The discussions are particularly frank and honest because the conference is not an official meeting of the governments of the member nations and the statements made, while indicative of true sentiment, do not necessarily constitute official diplomatic policy formulations.

I took the opportunity to remind our NATO partners that they need to continue to assume an increasing share of their own defense so that U.S. assistance can be held to the necessary minimum. I think that most of our NATO partners realize this, but they are quite understandably concerned over efforts in this country to reduce our European commitment.

With an end to our involvement in Vietnam, the major overseas military considerations for the United States must focus upon Europe.

This is why I took the opportunity while I was in Europe to receive a series of briefings from NATO and U.S. commanders in Europe and to talk with a number of our 300,000 uniformed men and women stationed there.

My visit pointed up the need for the NATO partnership to remain strong. The Warsaw Pact nations recently raised procedural questions about Hungary's participation in negotiations now under way for mutual and balanced military force reductions in Europe. I think this indicates that the Communist are still of a mind to seek wherever possible military gains in the power relationships between Communist and anti-Communist forces. This means that we cannot afford to allow our strength to be eroded.

If we are to be successful in our efforts to obtain lasting peace through international negotiations, we must continue to support our negotiators with viable military strength which the other side knows could be used if necessary.

The advantages of negotiation from a position of strength was proved in the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks of last year. The potential for success in future agreements with the Soviets rests upon our ability to negotiate from a position of strength. We have learned from years of negotiations with the Soviets that they are willing to reach agreements and abide by them only so long as it is in their own best interests to do so. So long as the United States and the free world nations remain strong, it is in the interest of the Soviets to work for peace. We cannot be assured of their desire to achieve and maintain peace if we become militarily weak.

If we allow ourselves to be placed in a position of obvious military inferiority to that of the Soviets, I fear that we will suffer economically. A position for us second to that of the Soviets would place the other free nations of the world in positions of having to agree to Soviet demands for favorable trade relations which would place us in a continuing posture of economic decline.

stolen cars which had illegally obtained salvage titles and salvage vehicle identification number (VIN) and license tags. Colonel Speir explained the thieves get the tags, certificate of title and identification plates from a vehicle which has either been wrecked or totally destroyed.

"Then," Colonel Speir said, "a member of the gang goes out and steals a car similar to the wrecked one."

After transferring the plates from the salvaged vehicle, the thieves re-register the stolen car and sell it—usually to an unknowing customer like the used car dealer who sold the car to Bill and Beth Jones.

Last spring, the FBI and agents from the DPS working with the National Auto Theft Bureau (NATB) recovered 24 stolen vehicles believed to be part of a haul by a nationwide car theft ring.

The late model luxury cars were stolen from Pennsylvania and sold in Houston through two motor companies and a local businessman.

The cars were registered on counterfeit titles and financed through various banks, apparently by innocent buyers, the FBI said.

Another frequently used method is use of a counterfeit title obtained from a non-title state.

Two major investigations in Houston and Dallas in June, 1972, netted 62 recovered stolen vehicles. In one instance, the criminal subjects utilized salvage auto identification plates from Alabama on cars stolen in Tennessee.

The other group specialized in counterfeit Pennsylvania titles and stolen Pennsylvania vehicles.

Department of Public Safety agents and Abilene lawmen cracked down on an auto theft ring found to be operating out of that city. The investigation led to the recovery of 44 stolen vehicles and several conspirators were arrested on auto theft charges.

The thefts cleared in this case involved the use of salvage vehicle identification number plates.

"At the present time, there are indications of other large rings operating in Texas," said Colonel Speir, reinforcing the assessment of other Texas lawmen.

Suspected operators of what is described as "quite a large theft ring" were arrested during several months of undercover work by DPS intelligence agents, officers of two coastal counties, and a representative of the NATB.

The investigations showed that car theft rings on the upper-coast steal cars, especially late sport models, and strip them for transmissions, tires, or whatever parts they need.

"Then they'll put some old tires on them and drag them off and leave them," said the lawman.

Throughout the state, farm equipment is a popular target for theft rings. Peace officers in Texas and New Mexico recently seized $100,000 worth of farm tractors, truck tractors and a big combine. Authorities believe the confiscated equipment was stolen from points throughout West Texas by a ring headquartered in the Texas Panhandle.

Professional thieves in the Rio Grande Valley appear to specialize in new or nearly new pickup trucks.

Investigators said 30 trucks were stolen in one Valley city in 1972 and apparently taken across the border into Mexico. Less easy to identify and return are valuables stolen in home burglaries. For example, in a medium-sized North Texas city, residents of 481 homes reported being burglarized in 1971. Only 63 got any property back.

Merchandise such as television sets, watches, furniture and stereo sets usually difficult to identify. They're easy to transport and simple to market but extremely difficult to trace.

Such items find their way into pawn shops or to the "friendly neighborhood fence" -- for the thief, that is -- and are unloaded or resold.

Many homeowners now are using electric pencil devices to mark the more valuable items within their homes.

Of course, the more obvious precautions such as locking your car when you leave it or never leaving the keys in the ignition certainly should be practiced by all motorists.

This may not prevent your car from being stolen, but it makes the thieves' job more difficult and greates the chances of their being seen.

Car thieves and burglars who prowl cars for tape decks or other items must move swiftly. Law enforcement officials also could use some changes in the penal code and authorization for modern surveillance techniques to help catch the fence. Fences usually are difficult to run to ground, doing much of their business by telephone or in some cases selling off stolen goods a few items at a time.

But progress is being made in the theft and burglary field, as far as most law enforcement officials can tell.

A more aware and better educated public holds the best promise for solutions to the problem.

"We may never wipe it out completely, but if the public will help progress can be made," Speir noted.

The next in this series of stories will deal with so-called "Victimless Crimes."

Hart Honored By Northrup, King Company

Houston Hart of Muleshoe is being honored by Northrup, King and Co. for an achievement attained by only a select group among the nation's farmers -- production of 1,000 pounds of grain sorghum for every pound of seed planted during the 1972 growing season. The "1000 for 1" award recognizes the significantly increased yields being attained through advanced crop management practices in conjunction with use of improved hybrid sorghum varieties.

NKA80 stood well even through an ice storm that hit the Houston Hart farm last year. Hart, who farms seven miles northwest of Muleshoe, planted 120 acres to NK280 at seven pounds per acre, in 40 inch single rows. He replanted with 200 pounds 18-46-0, side dressed with 150 pounds of NH3 and applied insecticide and herbicide during the growing season. He harvested 873,600 pounds of hybrid sorghum and averaged 7,280 pounds per acre, giving him a 1,000 for one return from his seed investment.

"We are delighted to honor the farmers who have achieved a 1,000 for one return from their sorghum planting," said James Massie, president of Northrup, King and Co. "The scope of this achievement can be better appreciated when you realize that a similar accomplishment on the part of the corn growers would boost the average yield to more than 300 bushels of corn per acre—a level of output that would solve the world's subsistence problems for this and future generations."

Dr. Ernest Rinke, chief of seed research at Northrup, King and Co., also praised the performance of the 1,000 for one winners. "Our plant breeders have managed to breed a 1,000 for one potential into sorghum varieties, but it takes a high level of crop management knowledge to fulfill that potential. We are proud of the results these outstanding producers have achieved."

The country's leading sorghum growers will be in the spotlight at the NK Top 20 Sorghum Growers Conference to be held in Dallas. This annual event provides a forum for the exchange of information on sorghum growing techniques as well as day-to-day

Agent Recommends VEE Vaccination

It's just good "horse sense" to vaccinate all horses, mules, donkeys and other equine animals against Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) as soon as possible, says Bailey County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley.

Mosquitoes which carry this deadly horse sleeping sickness will soon be emerging as spring weather arrives. Although no cases of VEE were confirmed for drunk and one for speeding.

The Muleshoe Police Department arrested one sleeper, two for being drunk, and one for drunk and disturbance.

in Texas or other states during 1972, the potential danger of the disease still threatens all horses and other equine because VEE did strike in northern Mexico during the past year.

"Although most horses were vaccinated for the disease in 1971 when it first hit the United States, few animals have been vaccinated since that time," points out Tanksley. "Thus it's extremely important to vaccinate these animals again as immunity from the previous vaccination has diminished."

The agent especially recommends vaccination for horses that will be subjected to interstate travel to shows, races and similar events. Foals that were vaccinated before six months of age should be re-vaccinated to assure a longer immunity.

Pregnant mares may also be vaccinated. Experience to date has indicated no hazards following the vaccination of such animals.

"One only needs to look back to 1971 to see how fast this deadly disease can strike," says Tanksley. "A horse owner just can't afford to play a guessing game with VEE -- hoping that 1973 will be the same as last year. It's just too great a risk when you consider that a vaccine is available to protect your animals."

So contact your local veterinarian today and give your horses the protection they need against VEE, advises Tanksley.

I read this little verse once and often think how much happier life would be if we would try to live by it. "If you desire to be happy, don't think of the things that you dread; Just give up supposing the worst things, and look for the best things instead." Let us all count our blessings each day for there is so much to be thankful for. We have just to look around and see the beautiful things made by mankind as well as the friendships that we have.

Likeness

The artist is capturing the physical likeness of this lovely girl on her paper. The likeness is amazing. But her inward beauty, her wonderful Christian heart and soul, can only be captured fully on God's canvas. The Bible says that "Man looketh on the outward appearance but God looketh on the heart."

How would God's painting picture you and me?

One good way to improve your heart condition is to attend church and hear God's word proclaimed from the pulpit. Learn God's plan for your life by listening to His word. We invite you to attend the church of your choice this week.

THE CHURCH IS GOD'S APPOINTED AGENCY IN THIS world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

AUSTIN, TEX.--Early senate approval was forecast by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby for HB 3 to strengthen the open meetings law.

The bill was cleared by a criminal matters sub-committee of the Jurisprudence Committee last week.

The shield bill (HB 10) to protect newsmen from forced disclosure of information sources was due consideration in the criminal matters sub-committee this week. It will be expanded to include definitions contained in a U.S. Senate bill and probably amended to provide for a State Supreme Court mandamus proceeding to compel disclosure of information sources under certain cases, according to Senate sponsor, Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena.

Hearing was delayed until April 10 on HB 6 to broaden accessibility of information on government records pending a Legislative Budget Board estimate on the cost of the act to the state.

TAX BILL SEEN--Legislators will be forced to write a new tax bill due to demands of higher education and welfare, the chairman of an interim House Revenue and Tax Committee maintain.

If the regular session manages to get by with no tax bill, lawmakers will be called in to special session to pass one, predicted Rep. Don Cavness of Austin. Rep. Joe Wyatt of Bloomington, co-chairman of the committee, shared the gloomy forecast, adding that federal welfare guidelines will cost the state an extra $100 million a year.

Cavness also cited the estimated $28 million a year cost of an adult education bill and a $13 million-cost measure to insure teachers a duty-free lunch hour, plus the multi-million-dollar bilingual education bill.

Both lawmakers also referred to the federal case involving validity of the state's method of financing public school education.

Texas, the Committee found, ranks 40th among 50 states in tax load but has among the most regressive tax systems. The Committee recommended a permanent revenue and tax staff, increased use of bond income for appropriation, use of private collection attorneys and a monthly reporting option.

18-YEAR-OLD RIGHTS APPROVED--Full rights of maturity for 18-to-20 year olds received tentative senate approval by a 19-11 vote.

The Senate also passed legislation to slow creation of new state-supported colleges by requiring prior approval of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Still later, senators voted to extend collective bargaining rights (but not the right to strike) to policemen and firemen. Local governing bodies would have an option to grant the rights or order elections on the issue.

CRIME RATE DOWN--Major crimes are on the decline in Texas, according to a new Department of Public Safety report.

Col. Wilson E. Speir, DPS director, said the number of crimes last year was 2.2 per cent below 1971--the first measurable decline since 1954. Translated into crime rates, the 1972 figure was six per cent below the 1971 rate per 100,000 population.

The decrease, Speir said, was only the fourth since DPS began compiling its Texas Crime Report 30 years ago.

Decreases were noted in murders, aggravated assaults and thefts. Small increases were observed in rapes, robberies and auto thefts -- with a larger increase in the burglary category.

The urban crime rate overall was down 5.7 per cent, with the rural rate off 5.8 per cent. Crime clearance rates remained at 26 per cent. Clearance rate for murder improved from 86 per cent to 89 per cent from 86 per cent to 89 per cent, with further improvements noted in robberies, aggravated assaults and thefts.

Many factors are responsible, said Speir.

The DPS chief cited improved law enforcement effectiveness through training, education, more personnel and better facilities, as well as improvements in other parts of the criminal justice system and "a growing awareness and concern on the part of the public that crime must be impeded."

The crime statistics break down to one major crime every minute, a murder every five and a quarter hour, a rape every three hours and 45 minutes and a robbery every half hour.

AG OPINIONS--Atty. Gen. John Hill held key parts of the House-passed lobby control bill constitutional, but said some provisions are not.

For example, said the Attorney General, a section that attempts to force registration of those who make expenditures to solicit other persons by advertising to communicate with legislators goes too far. Lobbyists opposing the bill before the Senate Jurisprudence Committee said it abridges rights of citizens to communicate with their legislators.

In other opinions, Hill held: "Federal and other police agencies cannot be told about arrests of juveniles which have been removed from official records."

"Andrews County commissioners are without authority to lease part of a county hospital for private medical offices. COURTS SPEAK--Court of Criminal Appeals overturned a 300-year sentence in a Wichita County murder case on grounds that a statement by a man in a prison cell must meet standard requirements.

The Court, in another case, held identity of narcotics informers can be ordered divulged if that is important to the trial.

A state law making it a felony to steal meat was upheld by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The State Supreme Court concluded marriage of a cancer patient could not be annulled on grounds witnesses did not hear her words at a wedding ceremony.

APPOINTMENTS -- Former State Rep. Bill Bass of Canton was named to the new State Constitutional Revision Commission to replace Arlington Mayor Tom Vandergriff. A second vacancy occurred when Dallas attorney-banker Harry Shuford resigned.

Lieutenant Governor Hobby named Ms. Madelin Olds of Corpus Christi vice-chairperson of his March 20-21 Citizens Conference on Ethics in Government.

The new Texas Offshore Terminal Commission named Robert L. Nelson its acting executive director and Larry Teaver, former aide to ex-Gov. Preston Smith, a temporary consultant.

SHORT SHORTS-- Gov. Dolph Briscoe submitted as emergencies 14 bills dealing with creation of water districts and their operations.

The House passed 138-0 a bill restrict influence on speaker to restrict influence on speakership elections.

The House appropriations committee chairman has proposed a four months' welfare budget until uncertain cost factors are decided.

A House-passed comparative negligence bill has received approval of the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

The Court of Criminal Appeals says it has the heaviest work load of any appellate court in the U.S. and is eight to nine months behind in its docket.

Medical facilities at Lubbock, Eastland, Temple, Rockdale, El Paso and Houston received $2.2 million in loans and grants approved by the State Board of Health.

The Governor's mansion will be open to visitors on Saturdays and Sundays in addition to weekdays.

Hearings are scheduled over the state next week on changes in laws affecting fish, game animals and fur-bearing animals.

British pay out more compensation for crime.

Israel seeking to preserve vanishing wildlife.

Ray Joe Riley of Hart, President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., told the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry March 9 that "The economic facts of life in the cotton industry at the moment are such that the continuation of a government cotton program is absolutely essential to the continuation of cotton production and a cotton industry."

"With cotton's current cost of production and with its necessity under the present marketing set-up for a competitive price far below production cost," he added, "any thought that the industry can remain a vital part of the nation's economy without a government program or under a pre-determined phase-out plan is an extremely dangerous thought and a thought without economic justification."

Riley was one of a long list of witnesses appearing before the Senate committee to urge an extension of the present program, which expires with the 1973 crop year.

He said "As cotton producers we need a cotton program to keep us in business. But the need extends far beyond cotton producers. The cotton industry is an industry vital to the nation's economy, and the availability of cotton fiber to consumers is a definite, measurable advantage to them in their everyday lives."

"Therefore we recommend, and recommend strongly, that the cotton section of the Agriculture Act of 1970 be extended. The Act is on the books, it has worked well for two years--and it has the potential to work better with only slight changes."

The following are excerpts from the PCG statement on behalf of High Plains cotton producers, relating to nine specific program provisions.

"The 15-cent per pound payment, made as it is on only a part of the acreage necessary to adequate production for domestic and export market, is the absolute minimum which, when added to a competitive price for cotton, will cover production costs and provide even the most meager return to capital, management and labor."

"The $55,000 payment limitation is wrong, period. There is absolutely no justification for it...However, political reality being what it is, we reluctantly recommend that this committee report a farm bill specifying the same $55,000 per person per crop limitation."

"Language in the 1970 Act which permits the Secretary of Agriculture to arbitrarily set the CCC loan price for cotton at less than 90 percent of the average world market price should be deleted..."

"...we recommend that this committee insist on language which will require the base acreage to become a part of to the end that allotments would move, ultimately, to those areas willing and able to produce cotton."

"The current method of determining farm yields for payment purposes -- using a three year average of actual yields adjusted for adverse conditions beyond producer control -- has served the industry and the nation well. It should be continued as a means to even out the extreme highs and lows of cotton farmer income..."

"...PCG was in the forefront of efforts to secure the so-called anniversary - date loan under which farmers can retain control of their crops for 12 months or longer. This is one of the tools needed to promote better inventory management and it should be retained... Also needed is an 18-month re-seal privilege for cotton such as the re-seal program which has been so helpful to grain producers in the orderly marketing of their crops for the past several years..."

"... PCG was one of the first and foremost advocates of Section 610 funds -- the money provided the Cotton Board to carry out, through Cotton Incorporated, a part of the most promising program ever known to the cotton industry in the fields of product development, research and promotion... We urge this committee to fight and fight hard for retention of this money for the Cotton Board and Cotton Incorporated. We sincerely believe it is one of the most prudent investments that can be made by the U.S. Government."

"And finally, Mr. Chairman, we would urge that the Act of 1970 be extended for a minimum of five years, making it possible for us to make future plans for more than a year or two at a time."

Fashion

Brides who are planning spring weddings have a variety of beautiful garments from which to select. Skirts may be full or with a ruffle around the bottom. The A line is still good. Long sleeves or sheer materials or lace seem to be favored. Short veils or long veils are used. Many of the long veils cost almost as much as the dress.

Bridesmaids dresses are fashioned of dotted Swiss or flowered prints.

CASTOR BEANS GOOD CROP

Castor beans will be a good crop for producers in this area in 1973. Several of our farmers reported that they were a good cash crop for them this past year. "I really believe that they can be an even better income producer this year", Earl Richards states. Castors are a crop that has the approval of the A.S.C.S. for planting on set-aside acres in 1973 and many of our producers don't feel that they can afford to let good land lay idle. Set-aside acres must be kept clean and this costs money, so why not apply this expense to the production of another cash crop.

We have a good market with a guaranteed minimum price of 6¢ per pound for clean beans. This market price could be higher if the price of castor oil is high at the time it is marketed by Plains Cooperative Oil Mill. This escalator clause is made possible because of a marketing agreement the mill has with a domestic consumer. An arrangement of this kind offers us the opportunity to continue castor production indefinitely. Contracts are available at the Muleshoe Cooperative Gin and Earl will be happy to explain the details to anyone who is interested in producing castors this year.

Our local castor industry can remain healthy if enough of the crop is grown and Plains Cooperative Oil Mill is willing to contract for up to 30,000 acres on a first come, first serve basis. This crop may be even more important to us in the future, especially if we have a continuing decline in farm subsidies. We believe that castors offer our cooperative members a means of some diversification in their cropping system and at the same time an opportunity to increase their farm income.

There's enough custom harvesting equipment available to handle the harvesting of the crop. The control of volunteer castors has been greatly improved. A chemical applied to the land following castors has almost completely eliminated volunteer castors in grain sorghum. A light roguing may be necessary before harvest. This has eliminated the only significant objection to castor production.

There are plenty high quality seed available with seed of the highest yielding hybrids in good supply. The seed produced in 1972 has strong, high germination. Mr. Richards says this seed is available at the Muleshoe Cooperative Gin. He reminds us that the water and fertility requirements of castors is about the same as that for cotton and that it is an additional cash crop that does well in our area. It certainly is a crop that merits the consideration of our cooperative members.

If there should be further questions concerning the production of castors or the contract marketing agreement, Mr. Earl Richards of the Muleshoe Cooperative Gin invites you to stop by the gin office.

The Sandhills Philosopher

INSIDE SANDHILL Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems clear this week about his confusion.

Dear editor: "This has been a confusing week," the serious-faced news analyst began on his daily slot in the evening T.V. news the other day and what else he said I never found out because I immediately got side-tracked into thinking about that first sentence.

A confusing week? I'll tell you, anybody who can stretch his confusion out over a full week is scattering his attention over too wide a span. If he'd have said, "This has been a confusing half hour," I'd have figured he was in better command of the situation.

Take some examples. How are you going to stay un-confused when a bunch of terrorists slaughter some diplomats or a group of Olympic athletes for no good reason at all? Trying to defend against things like that is like trying to defend against a lightning bolt. Who can think straight about where they may strike next? Or for that matter, what airplane is going to be hijacked next?

Do you know anybody who knows anything for sure about the causes of the fluctuations of the dollar in the world markets? All I know is that while Europeans may not want to buy any dollars, they sure will accept them free, but that doesn't clear up anything other than shedding a little light on human nature.

Is there anybody who can think straight on the proposition of bombing Hanoi one month and paying for the damage the next?

You know any economist who wouldn't go to pieces if he turned inflation over to him with instructions to solve it on the basis of his theories?

How about drugs? Now there are some people who are clear about that. They think anybody who uses any kind ought to go to jail, until somebody in their own family is found trying the stuff.

I could go on for a dimly long time, mentioning traffic and airplane companies bailed out by the government, guided missiles pointed in every direction including toward us, high taxes, tax dodgers, draft dodgers, baseball strikes, bankrupt cities, basketball recruiting scandals, graft in high places and low too if you can figure out a way to swing it...I say, I could go on but there's no point.

If anybody's not confused in this day and time, he's just not paying attention. Yours faithfully,
J.A.
