A Second Glance

By Leon Watson

The National Rifle Association has reported that Assistant D.C. Police Chief Maurice Turner said in a recent television interview that the District's four-year-old handgun ban has failed to reduce crime in the nation's capital and that "guns are still making their way into the hands of criminals."

Turner, recently nominated by Mayor Marion Barry to be the city's next chief of police, expressed his opposition to the gun ban and came out in favor of allowing District residents to register and own handguns. Turner said he believed that U.S. citizens have a constitutional right to keep and bear arms.

The D.C. gun law, enacted in 1977, required the registration of all handguns then privately owned and prohibited any subsequent registration after the law went into effect, thus banning future handgun ownership.

Noting that the D.C. police "recover" 2,800 handguns each year . . . and less than five-tenths of one percent are registered," Turner declared that "I don't see that it (the law) is being that much of a deterrent for people who want to get a handgun who want to commit a crime."

Turner, who is a 24-year veteran of law enforcement, blamed D.C.'s rising violent crime rate on the increased availability of hard drugs, especially heroin, and on a small group of drug addicts and career criminals who commit an overwhelming majority of the city's crime.

"We deal with a recidivist population over and over again," Turner said. He stressed that "quick and certain punishment" is a crime deterrent, and that the criminal justice system must "identify those criminal recidivists" and hold them accountable for their criminal activity.

According to FBI crime data, since the D.C. gun law went into effect the city's murder rate has risen 18 percent, its robbery rate has risen 24 percent, and its rate of aggravated assault has climbed 34 percent. Local newspapers have reported that Washington's crime rates are approaching their highest levels in nearly ten years.

Fish and Fireworks Set For July 4th

The Matador Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor a fish fry and fireworks display July 4th in Matador. Fresh catfish, along with french fries, coleslaw, bread and cold drinks will be served. A fireworks display will be held after the meal for all persons in attendance. The fish fry and fireworks will be held at the Matador Football Field and the price of each meal will be $3.50 with pre-school age children paying $1.50.

This project held by the Matador Volunteer Fire Department to raise money for the construction of a new fire station to be constructed in Matador. The location will be on the corner just north of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Co., east of the County Courthouse. Fire Department members have started cleaning up and leveling of the property in hopes of starting construction of the fire station in the very near future. Fire Department officials and City Council members have spent many hours of work already on this project and hope that with local assistance in funding and construction a new fire station can be built.

A new fire station for Matador was first discussed in 1975 when the new Pumper purchased at that time would not fit into the present structure. This along with the expense of equipment has caused a need for a larger structure. At present the Matador VFD has seven vehicles, one stored at the present fire station, four in the county owned station east of the Motley County Jail, one unit stored outside which is subject to weather damage, and one unit which is operated and maintained by the Fire Chief. A central location housing all units would increase response time, provide ease in servicing of the units, and allow all members to respond to one location for fire calls. Also, the new structure would provide adequate space for training in fire suppression, rescue, and first aid which is conducted by the Department each week.

The Matador VFD would like to encourage every citizen of Motley County to attend the Fish Fry and Fireworks Display July 4th. Come and enjoy a good meal, and assist the Department in securing funds for the new Fire Station.

County winners will represent Motley County in the District Fashion

Revue in Abilene, July 28. The winners from Motley County are Carlene Luckett, Janice Brown, and Kim Hull. Mary Ann Zarate and Deanna Durham received blue awards for their endeavors.

Leaders helping these 4-Hers complete their 4-H projects are Barbara Durham, Odessa Mullins, Ossie Lee Brown, and Vickie Hull.

All residents of the Flomot community are requested to provide an assortment of desserts. It is stressed that the money from this project will be donated to the Community Center Building Fund.

Those attending the Homecoming are reminded that church services will be held Sunday at 11:00 a.m. at the Community Center followed by a barbecue lunch catered by Walter Jones.

Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Department of Public Safety, said, "During the 54-hour 'Operation Motorcide' period all available troopers will be on the highways. The troopers will be especially aware of drinking drivers and violators of the speed laws. All drivers should be aware of their condition and the condition of their vehicles. If you are planning a trip, you should know your routes and what exits you will need to take. Sudden movements or lane changes can cause accidents and might possibly cost you your life."

Attend Church Sunday

New Life

By Bob Cozby
Pastor Of The Assembly
Of God Church

In Exodus 28:15 we read of a breastplate of judgement that Aaron was to wear as a part of the Holy garments of worship. The third verse of this chapter tells us the garments were to consecrate Aaron, so he could minister unto God while in the priest's office.

The word breastplate or particularly in the sense we're speaking of here, is used several times in the Old and New Testaments both literally and figuratively. It is in the figurative sense that I will share with you our message this week.

The breastplate of judgement was put on in the beginning by God. Romans chapter 5, tells us sin brought condemnation through judgement. Sin had to be brought out. Romans 5:20, goes on to explain, "Wherefore the law entered, that the offence might abound," and chapter 7:8, "For without the law sin was dead." In other words, judgement had to be, and then was, pronounced against sin. Sin was judged and found guilty. Those who abide in it or even are born into it, are in league with its forces and therefore to be judged guilty along with sin or Satan himself; doomed to a devil's hell.

Do you say, so what? What's the point? God has removed His breastplate of judgement through His son, Jesus Christ. By the blood of Christ Jesus, the breastplate of judgement is removed temporarily for the sake of mankind.

When did He do this? Philippians 2:7, "But made himself of no reputation, and took upon himself the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men." This is when the vulnerability of not having the breastplate showed up. "v8. And being found in fashion as a man, He humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross."

In the gospel of John chapter 19:34, we read where one of the soldiers pierced the side or body of Jesus. At that point the breastplate of judgement is removed, the body of God, in many forms, exposed to His own judgement against sin and was made vulnerable to the murdering and vile spirit of man. If you will accept this figuratively, it was here at this point, that the Heart of God was opened up to receive you there. You might ask what was the purpose of this.

Again in the gospel of John chp. 3, we find Jesus telling Nicodemus that it avails nothing to be born of woman a second time, even if it were possible. In the 4th verse, He explains that unless we're reborn or "born again," of the Spirit of God, then we could not enter into the kingdom of God. It is here that we enter into the Heart of God. Enter in to the Heart of God to be "born again" by the Spirit of God. Isn't that a lovely and hope-inspiring thought. This is the Age of Grace, this time when the breastplate of judgement is temporarily removed for mankind's sake. This is the time for you to come into the kingdom of God. "Now is the accepted time, behold, now is the day of salvation." It will not always be so.

Revelation 3:7 tells us Jesus is, "He that openeth and no man shutteth; and shutteth, and no man openeth." Follows the day when the breastplate of judgement will be returned to it's rightful place, as a part of the Holy Armor of God, is upon you. God is love, but He is also a God of judgement. The little book of Jude, tells us Jesus is coming with ten thousands of His saints to execute judgement upon all. When this happens, the breastplate of judgement will again be intact, girded up, strapped on, operable again.

We know from reading Revelation Chp. 20, that the dead, both great and small, will be judged from the books, according to the things written therein, judged every man according to their works. What are your works? Think about them in terms of the breastplate of judgement. Till next week have a great New Life.

Oil Marketers Elect Crump President

By Ralph Schaefer
Journal Record Staff Reporter

James B. "Bob" Crump, Tulsa, was elected president of the Oklahoma Oil Marketers Association, meeting in Oklahoma City recently.

Crump, 45, is president of Petroleum Marketing Co. (PEMCO), a chain of motor fuel outlets operating in four southern states. He replaces Heard Broadrick of Ada. Broadrick, meanwhile, has been elected to represent Oklahoma on the National Oil Jobbers Council board in Washington, D.C.

Changes are ahead for oil marketers because of decontrol, said Crump, whose term begins July 1.

"Our industry is going through some pretty serious adjustments," said Crump, "now that federal controls over prices and allocation of products have been dropped by the Reagan administration. We have beefed up our education program this year to help our members back into the free market."

"I hope these education activities can be expanded to include the consumer and press during the coming year," he said. A native of Texas, Crump attended Oklahoma State University at Stillwater.

In 1972 he purchased a Diamond Shamrock distributorship in Oklahoma City after spending 14 years in various management positions with Diamond Shamrock.

Crump purchased an interest in PEMCO in 1975 and became vice president and general manager shortly thereafter.

He became president of PEMCO in 1980, expanding the firm with the purchase of 25 Consumers Oil Co. stations.

As a result of the purchase, PEMCO has 55 outlets in Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas and Missouri.

Crump is past president of the Tulsa Oil Marketers Association and the Society of Independent Gasoline Marketers of Oklahoma. He has served on the association's executive committee and currently serves on the National Oil Jobbers Council convention committee.

Bob is the son of Mrs. George Grasmick, who was the former Naoma Mitchell. He is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Mitchell of Matador.

The heat has really affected us as one of our air conditioners has gone out. We are working on the air conditioning system, but it looks as though Mother Nature is going to dish out some more hot weather. Please say a prayer that we get some relief.

Our bus trips are more enjoyable as the weeks pass. We have never seen the same scenery twice even though we have gone to the same place twice. Wednesday, we enjoyed popcorn while playing dominoes and checkers. Our domino players are Bill Holt, Myrtle Payne, Alpha Kitchens, Albert Poole, Lewis Roberts and Richard Lanham. Our checker players are Bertie Bradley, Alpha Kitchens, Richard Lanham and Lewis Roberts.

Thursday, we enjoyed the talent of Charlie Chaplin when we were able to see the movie, "The Tramp". The film brought back memories of when the residents first went to the movies.

Our lucky bingo winners in our very competitive game were Richard Lanham and Lavell Edwards. After the game Friday the men were honored with a surprise Father's Day Party. We all enjoyed paying tribute to these men.

Saturday, was the highlight of the week when we traveled to the 5th Street Park in Plainview where we enjoyed a picnic with the residents of Care Inn and Plains Convalescent Center in Plainview and High Plains Nursing Home in Hale Center. The residents remarked they had never seen so much food. A special thanks goes to Sally Show who drove the bus for us. Thanks Sally for taking time out of your busy schedule.

DPS Alerts Drivers On Altering Windows

A few motorists may be confused over the use of glass coatings and one-way glass in motor vehicles. However, the Texas Department of Public Safety reports that drivers should be aware of the law and exercise caution prior to altering the window glass of a motor vehicle.

Captain John Mason of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Service of the DPS in the Regional headquarters for this area advised motorists not to put anything on the windshield or front side windows. "No coatings, plastic, liquid or other materials may be put on the windshield or front side windows of any motor vehicle that has not been approved by the DPS," said Mason. However, the DPS spokesman says glass coating materials may be applied to the rear window and the rear side windows if the vehicle has outside rearview mirrors.

Mason says no motor vehicle glass coatings are currently approved by the DPS for application on windshield or front side windows. "Under state law, the DPS has the authority to approve, but due to the variations of the materials and the numerous methods in which they are applied, we simply cannot approve any of the coatings," he said.

"Frequently we find these coatings to be dangerous since they often obstruct the driver's vision," he said. Captain Mason said the glass coating materials are sometimes spray-on tint, metallized mylar plastic or other kinds of applicable materials. "The use of curtains, blinds or stick-on novelty designs are not prohibited on rear windows, but common sense should be considered when applying these devices to a vehicle," he said. "The driver must be able to maintain good external vision during the operation of any motor vehicle," said Captain Mason.

He said the one-way glass coating in vehicles is not generally a good idea, even when permitted, since the application of the materials greatly reduces and distorts vision, especially at night, he concluded.

Health Tips On Water

Eight are great! Eight cups of water are what you need every day. Water is the medium for virtually all the body's chemistry. It's used by your body constantly, whether you're working hard or just relaxing.

Water is basic to balanced nutrition. It helps in your digestive process to break up, soften, and transport food particles from your mouth through your intestines. Then your body's blood (which is approximately 90% water) circulates nutrients throughout your body.

According to the American Bottled Water Association, water controls body temperature through perspiration. Each day your skin loses moisture equal to about two cups of water even if you work in a sedentary job. Greater water intake is important during illness as it helps regulate body temperature and control fever.

For a free "8 is great!" poster telling about the values of water, write the American Bottled Water Association, 1010 Vermont Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20005.

UNDERSTANDING OUR GOVERNMENT

MAKE YOUR VOICE HEARD IN WASHINGTON

You may gain more satisfaction from reading about the affairs of government in the newspaper, and you might be more interested to other people, if you understand how your government works.

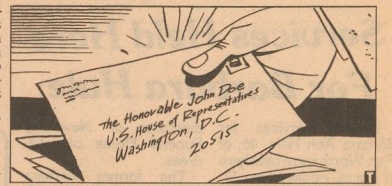

An understanding of the "how" of government may well lead to an understanding of why certain action is taken and what it means to you, your family and your community.

This deeper understanding of government could help you put into words your own ideas and opinions on how you think things should be done in Washington. These ideas and opinions are welcomed by state representatives, and by federal officials on Capitol Hill.

The official motto of the U.S. — E pluribus unum — is translated from the Latin to mean: "From many, one."

According to James H. McNeal Jr., president and chief executive officer, The Budd Co., this motto dates back to the American Revolution, when it symbolized the uniting of the 13 colonies into one nation. In the preface to the Budd Co. Voter Information Guide to Federal Officials, McNeal says:

"To us at the Budd Co.,

A better informed citizen may be better able to inform representatives in Washington.

it spells out the importance of a government that respects the views of every American. And a commitment on the part of each of us to make sure our voices are heard in Washington. Because our responsibility to a good government only begins on Election Day."

The Guide is designed to "help you tell your elected officials your opinions." It lists not only the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all elected officials, but also members of President Reagan's Cabinet and the White House Staff.

Publication of the fifth edition marks the distribution of about three-quarters of a million copies of the Guide by The Budd Co.

Budd, a leading supplier to the transportation industry, prepared the 72-page pocket-sized directory to encourage communication between you and Washington. It provides helpful guidelines on the best way to communicate.

It suggests that before you write you should first telephone your congressman or top staff member, sketch your views and inform him or her that a detailed letter will follow.

Other tips:
• Clearly identify yourself. Be sure your home address appears on the letter in case the envelope is discarded.
• Get to the point, keep the letter on one subject, be factual and brief.

• Explain how the issue affects you or your business, and give essential background information.

• Use proper references, including specific legislative bill number and the subject to which it pertains.

For a free copy of the Guide, write: The Budd Co., Public Affairs Dept., 3155 W. Big Beaver Road, Troy, Michigan 48064.

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas effective July 21, 1981, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 15.8 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs.

Aviso Público

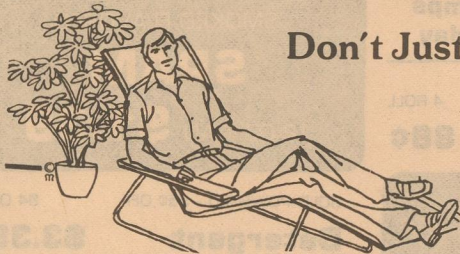

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 21 de Julio de 1981, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 15.8 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell.

HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON HIGHLIGHTS

from Congressman Jack Hightower

Saving Social Security

There is both Good News and Bad News to report on the Social Security system. First, the Bad News: the system is in financial trouble and may be in danger of running a deficit as early as 1982 if nothing is done about it. The Good News: Congress is going to do something about this year.

Although few realize it, the system was established in 1935 to supplement retirement income, not replace it. Today, 35 million Americans depend on social security. The problem essentially is this: the largest of the three trust funds comprising the system, the Old Age Survivors Insurance Fund (OASDI), is tilting out of balance with the percentage of benefits paid out narrowing dangerously closer to the percentage of taxes paid into the system. In 1950, 16.5 Americans were paying taxes to support one retiree. Last year, the ratio was down to only 3.2 to 1.

Although in 1965, 1970 and 1977 Congress acted to shore up the system, several developments have jeopardized its short-term fiscal health. Persistent inflation has cheapened the benefit dollar returned to retirees; unemployment has meant fewer people paying into the system; additional benefits have been added by Congress over the years, benefits not originally planned during the system's creation; and, finally, the national trend toward an older population has meant more recipients, even though many people are working more years before retiring.

Some people have suggested that Congress merely raise social security taxes paid by wage earners and employers to strengthen the main trust fund. I am generally opposed to this idea because in my opinion those taxes are high enough already, particularly for younger taxpayers. Such action would only be a short-term answer to a long-term problem. Instead, one plan much-discussed in the Social Security Subcommittee would do three things to stabilize the system. First, it would replenish the OASDI fund with money from the large surplus in the underutilized Medicare Trust Fund. Second, the plan would tighten the way the cost-of-living (COLA) factor is determined. Third, the plan would modify the percentage of benefits paid to someone retiring early from the present 80% to 62 to 64% and phase this in gradually over ten years. The controversial Reagan proposal would have allowed only 55% of full benefits at 62 and would have begun immediately. I think that is too low, comes too soon and is an unfair breach of contract between present retirees and their government.

The House Ways and Means Committee is considering several different proposals and I expect legislation will come to the floor in the next few months. No President, no Congress, could or would let a major program affecting 35 million Americans each month go broke. I will work for a solution that will be practical and fair. The American public expects, and certainly deserves, to be sure their government will uphold its end of the security commitment.

The Wedding Of The Century

The marriage of Prince Charles to Lady Diana Spencer on July 29th promises to be the most glittering and memorable wedding of the century. Heads of state and dignitaries from all parts of the world will attend the historic Royal Wedding, while the entire British nation and people around the globe watch the colorful ceremony on television.

In America, millions of well-wishers will join the celebration — and look for appropriate mementos to mark this extraordinary event and pass on to their grandchildren. Collectors and souvenir hunters are already being inundated by a blizzard of mass-produced instant memorabilia, ranging from jigsaw puzzles to cigarette lighters.

Official souvenirs with real potential to become valuable collectors' items are the special Royal Wedding postage stamps to be issued by the British Post Office and more than 20 members of the British Commonwealth to commemorate this historic occasion. Included in the omnibus series are such far-flung countries as Fiji, Mauritius, Swaziland, St. Helena, Vanuatu, and Western Samoa.

Worldwide demand for previous Royal Wedding commemoratives (at right) has made these stamps extremely scarce soon after they were issued. Those to be released July 22 for Prince Charles and Lady Diana are of particular philatelic significance because they will be the first Royal Wedding issue for a potential future King and Queen of England.

As a token of goodwill, a limited quantity of the official postcards of the Royal Wedding stamp shown above is now available at no charge in North America from the U.S. representatives of the British Post Office. A special limited-edition souvenir album, containing the British stamps for Prince Charles and Lady Diana as well as a colorful photographic history of previous

THANKS FOR CARING

The Motley County Youth Organization would like to say "thank you" to everyone who supported our barbecue supper. We appreciate the united effort that our community has shown to us with our baseball program thus far this season.

Approximately 420 persons were served and Jarret Jameson was the winner of the ball and glove having sold 43 advance tickets.

Special thanks goes to Walter Jones and all those helping with the barbecue. Without you, our barbecue would not have been such a success.

SETTING MEANS GETTING

By Tom Hopkins

The average human being has the ability to achieve almost anything. Lack of basic capability is rarely the problem, but rather finding out what you want and being willing to sacrifice, change and grow to satisfy the want.

In the sales training seminars I conduct throughout the country, I teach a 20-step system to help people achieve their wants and I firmly believe it can be applied to all walks of life. Here it is:

1. If it's not in writing, it's not a goal. An unwritten want is a wish, a dream, a never-happen. If it's in writing, it's a commitment.

2. If it's not specific, it's not a goal. Broad desires and lofty aims have no effect. It must be concrete.

3. Goals must be believable. If you don't believe you can achieve a goal, you won't pay the price for it.

4. An effective goal is an exciting challenge. It must demand your best and a bit more or it isn't going to change your ways and elevate your lifestyle.

5. Goals must be adjusted to new information. Adjust them down if they become unbelievable or up if they're too easy.

6. Dynamic goals guide our choices. If you want it badly enough, you'll turn off the TV and get to it. Goals will show you the right way to go on most decisions.

7. Don't set short-term goals for more than 90 days. If you set a short-term goal that takes more than 90 days, you may lose interest.

8. Maintain a balance between long-term and short-term goals. Long-term goals tend to be hidden in a fog of the future, so have some short-term goals—like clothes, cars, vacations—to keep your excitement up.

9. Include your loved ones in your goals. Involve them and they'll buck you up when you need encouragement.

10. Set goals in all areas of your life. Have other goals besides career objectives.

11. Your goals must harmonize. Whenever you detect a conflict, set priorities that will eliminate the conflict.

12. Review your goals regularly. Remember, long-term goals can only be achieved if they are the culmination of short-term goals.

13. Set vivid goals. Define not only what you want but by when you want it, and concentrate on it for a few moments everyday.

14. Don't chisel your goals in granite. Sometimes you have to change goals to conform to your growing awareness of what's really important in your life.

15. Reach out into the future. The idea of goal-setting is to plan your life rather than taking it as it comes. Begin by setting 20-year goals. Then 10-year, five-year, 30-month, 12-month, monthly, weekly and finally goals for tomorrow and each day for the coming week.

16. Have a set of goals for every day, and review results each night.

17. Train yourself to crave your goals. Visualize yourself possessing what you've set your goals for.

18. Set activity goals, not production goals. Activity will lead to production by itself.

19. Understand luck, and make it work for you. Expect good things to happen, and they probably will.

20. Start now. Give goal-setting two hours of concentrated thought today.

FOOD AND FUEL

Inflation-conscious consumers have a new worry looming on the horizon. It involves an oil policy issue which, if not resolved shortly in Congress, could hike food prices as much as 15 percent in the future.

That's the word from the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives (NCF), which is urging prompt congressional action to prevent fuel shortages in food-growing areas, should there be another oil crisis.

NCF President Kenneth D. Naden says, "the issue is not whether there should be government involvement but when we must have government action to insure that farmers and others get the fuel they need to keep operating."

The co-op leader said the law which allows the President to manage oil shortages will expire on September 30. "While oil supplies may be plentiful now," he added, "our experience failed to note these needs during the Iranian revolution. Naden asserted that NPC tion showed just how fragile our supply lines to the Middie East could be."

Farmer cooperative leader suggests ways to keep oil shortages from causing unnecessary increases in food prices.

National energy policy, according to Naden, has always recognized agriculture's fuel priority needs. However, a recent National Petroleum Council (NPC) study, prepared at the Energy Department's request, "You may want to write your Congressman on this issue which could affect the pocketbook of every consumer."

an inordinate expense for farmers and jeopardize full farm output.

"Using NPC data," Naden continued, "we have projected that gasoline prices could go to at least $3.50 per gallon in the event of a 2 million barrel-per-day national shortfall. And the Iranian experience two years ago leads us to expect that shortages will be heavily concentrated in rural areas."

Such a crisis could result in food prices increasing as much as 15 percent, if all costs were passed through, Naden predicted.

"But it needn't happen," Naden emphasized. "The U.S. should not gamble with possible appropriate actions in the event of another crisis. We need a standby program which assures crude oil access for efficient refiners serving all areas of the country on an equitable basis during disruptions."

You may want to write your Congressman on this issue which could affect the pocketbook of every consumer.

Success In Your Kitchen

Preserving Summer's Bounty Without Sugar

How wonderful are those warm, sun-filled days of summer, and how wonderful are those sweet and flavorful fruits available throughout this season. Nearly everyone looks forward to savoring some special delicacy made from a summer fruit.

Even nature looks forward to those productive warm months, sometimes providing an overabundance of fruit from the orchards and back yard trees.

There's an economical way to save those fruity flavors of summer to enjoy year round—even when there's snow on the ground. That way is to preserve favorite fruits as jams or jellies.

And now, with an ever-growing consciousness about calories and sugar intake, there's a new way to make jams or jellies using less sugar, or no sugar at all.

This makes it possible to take advantage of bumper fruit crops, while taking into consideration the need to reduce the family's sugar intake.

Slim Set is a widely available product which allows home canners to prepare full-flavored jams and jellies without added sugar. With far fewer calories than conventional jams and jellies, which have 55% to 65% sugar, fruits preserved with this jelling mix are sweetened to taste with artificial sweetener, honey or even reduced amounts of sugar.

And, the best part is how easy Slim Set is to use. It also makes convenient smaller batches which single people, small families and senior citizens appreciate.

Here is a sample recipe for a variety of summer fruits. To receive additional information at no cost, write to Slim Set, MCP Foods, Inc., P.O. Box 3633, Anaheim, Calif. 92803.
