PRICE TEN CENTS

TRAIL DUST

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

Durango, Colorado is an old woman who has put on panty hose and had her hair restyled. She is gay and modern but the past shows through in pleasant ways in time-mellowed buildings and the incomparable Denver & Rio Grande Western narrow gauge railway. The coal-fired steam engines pull two trains daily between the rock cliffs and mountains of the Animas River (River of Lost Souls) to Silverton. Water falls pouring out of each side of the mountains add more enchantment to the scenic trip. The old depot in Durango is unchanged from the pioneer days but the conductor on the train uses a two-way radio to inform the station agent that two seats are still available in car four. It is a wonderland for children, most of whom wear trainmen caps and bandanna handkerchiefs around their necks. A former baggage car has been converted into a club car where coffee, soft drinks and candy may be obtained.

Silverton, on the other hand is another old woman, who has kept most of the bloom of the past by allowing her faded lace underwear to show. Almost everything is the same as in the rip-roaring mining days. The old buildings, the unpaved streets and the snow-capped peaks that seem to hang in the blue sky. Silverton is one of the most interesting towns in the United States. It doubles its population for about three hours each day when the narrow gauge trains empty their coaches. Food is good, wholesome and not expensive with most of it being served in surroundings little changed from almost a century ago.

In New Mexico little bright-eyed whitefaced calves were resting in the shade of a sign which says, "Eat more beef."

On the narrow gauge you can almost smell the sweat of the men who labored to dig a shelf out of the rock for the railroad on the impossible route.

Report Of Annual Northwest Texas Methodist Conference

Rev. and Mrs. Douglas W. Gossett were accompanied by their daughter, Linda, as well as W. D. Lipscomb, in attending the Annual Conference of Northwest Texas United Methodist Churches in Abilene, June 5-7.

McMurry College was host to the Conference with most sessions held in Radford Memorial Auditorium. This is McMurry's Golden Anniversary, which first opened its doors to students September 19, 1923. On Wednesday evening The Christian Foundation presented a pageant depicting the life of the college through the years. The theme was "Advancing Faith and Learning."

"McMurry's campus was as beautiful as we have ever seen it," the Gossetts said. Lawns, flower beds, and everything was in prime condition for this occasion. Many delegates took advantage of the invitation to stay in the dorms, and have meals in Iris Graham Dining Hall.

The following report on the conference is made by Rev. Gossett, pastor of the United Methodist Churches of Matador and Roaring Springs:

THEME of the Conference was "Heritage and Horizons." Worship services were held, usually mornings and evenings, each day, by Dr. Hilbert J. Berger, Pastor of St. Andrews United Methodist Church, West Lafayette, Indiana. He was a member of the United Brethren Church before Unification in 1968. Dr. Berger's sermons were on the Stewardship of Life subjects with a spiritual emphasis. He was unique, in a way, but very good. The Conference began on Tuesday afternoon with the memorial service Wednesday, the recognition of retiring ministers was held. There was a film slide, narration of the several Methodist Institutions in Texas; Methodist Hospital at Lubbock; Methodist Homes for Senior Citizens at Abilene and Hereford, Texas; Methodist Childrens Home at Waco; Methodist Mission Home of Texas, San Antonio; the Methodist Colleges of Texas, besides McMurry, Texas Wesleyan, Ft. Worth; Southern Methodist University at Dallas, (which includes the Perkins School of Theology Seminary), Southwestern University, Georgetown; Lon Morris, Jacksonville, Houston-Tillitson at Austin; and Wiley College at Marshall, Texas. A representative from each of the above spoke very briefly to the conference.

The Equitable Salaries Committee recommended a raise of $250., bringing it to $6250. for a full time pastor. In order for a church to qualify for financial aid to meet that minimum, it must have at least 100 members, and the maximum amount is $1500.

THE BOARD of Ministry presented a program on the subject "The Appointment of Ministers," by a panel, and discussion following in District caucuses.

The Board of Pensions report included a raise of $2.00 per service year making it now $77. per year for retired ministers. Widows receive 70 percent of that, and dependent children of deceased ministers, 25 percent.

Other action of the Conference included the voting of several amendments to the Constitution of The United Methodist Church, and usual support for its institutions.

Appointments are not made at Annual Conference now, but there is the ceremony of giving and receiving of Appointments. This ceremony followed the ordination of new Deacons and Elders on Thursday evening. It was the closing act of the Conference. Instead of reading the Appointments, they were mimeographed and distributed to all delegates.

The changes in appointments are worked out a few weeks before the Conference meets, in consultation with the Pastor-Parish Relations Committee, and the Pastors.

"We are grateful to our churches at Matador-Roaring Springs, and these communities to serve with you. We have had a good year, a better year than last year, and we have good prospects for the year ahead."

"We have had several additions this year and reported a slight increase in membership. Our attendance at Sunday School is up. We have just paid off our indebtedness on the property. Our finances are in good shape."

"I think the high-lights of our year have been, The Thanksgiving Harvest Festival, the Lay Witness Mission here at Matador, and the Revival at Roaring Springs. We love our people here in church and community and request that you will join us in praying for "the coming of the Kingdom of God" among us."

STUDIES ABOUT THE BIBLE

"Then the flood came upon the earth for forty days; and the water increased and lifted up the ark, so that it rose above the earth. And the water prevailed and increased greatly upon the earth; and the ark floated on the surface of the water. And the water prevailed more and more upon the earth, so that all the high mountains everywhere under the heavens were covered. The water prevailed fifteen cubits higher, and the mountains were covered. And all flesh that moved on the earth perished, birds and cattle and beasts and every swarming thing that swarms upon the earth, and all mankind; of all that was on the dry land, all in whose nostrils was the breath of the spirit of life, died. Thus He blotted out every living thing that was upon the face of the land, from man to animals to creeping things and to birds of the sky, and they were blotted out from the earth; and only Noah was left, together with those that were with him in the ark. And the water prevailed upon the earth one hundred and fifty days." Gen. 7: 17-24.

Several individuals, including some who claim to be Christian ministers, deny this Genesis account of the flood as being literally true. Satan uses any of us, whom he can influence, to carry his message of distrust and doubt in the book of God. Satan uses all who are willing to accommodate his spirit.

The word of God is powerful. It is said to be "a sharp two-edged sword, fire, and a hammer." Satan must sow doubt in the minds of God's people if the victory is to be his. In spite of the critics, the word of God is true. There are many scientific evidences in God's favor.

If there was a flood as described above, this old earth is certain to show some proof. If a disaster of such great proportions did happen, what would have been the natural reaction of animals and people? They would have gradually made their way to higher ground.

Next week we plan to support the Genesis account of the flood by quotes from the book - The Flood by Rehwinkel.

BIG CATCH - Mr. and Mrs. Guy Kimbell hold a 25-pound catfish which they caught while fishing recently at Lake Kemp. The fish measured 37 inches. During their 8-day fishing trip they also caught a 12-pound drum, two 2-lb. drums and ten pan-size yellow catfish. With them at Lake Kemp were their son, Guy Kimbell Jr. of Amarillo and a daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Gambrell of Channing.

Sandpainting Is On Exhibit At Museum

LUBBOCK - Sandpainting, which has religious implications for the Navajo medicine man who creates the work, has been exhibited at The Museum of Texas Tech University since May 19 and will be continued until July 1.

The exhibit features the work of the family of Fred Stevens, known to his fellow Navajo tribesmen as Grey Squirrel. The paintings on exhibit are owned by Mrs. Glenn Harris of Many Farms, Ariz. Most of the work is by Grey Squirrel although his brother, his son, his daughter, his daughter-in-law and his grandsons, 6 and 8 years old, also have paintings on exhibit.

Paintings range from 5 by 8 inch miniatures to 4x4 foot pictures. Grey Squirrel was apprenticed to his grandfather, father and uncle for 18 years. He was required to be tested before the tribal council, doing every pattern and chant to its satisfaction, before he could be designated a practicing medicine man capable of healing with the ceremonies associated with the paintings.

Because of religious taboos, certain features are omitted

CATCHING COLD BY HAND

The common cold may never be uncommon.

There are at least 80 different known cold viruses, and scientists think there are more yet to be pinpointed. Immunity to one virus is no defense against the other known 79. As a result, nobody is too optimistic about the future of cold vaccines. The best protection is to stay as healthy as possible and take care when you do get infected.

Many cold viruses are spread by coughing and sneezing. But infection is spread other ways as well. Take the rhinovirus - which causes from 30 to 40 percent of common colds. New evidence suggests that people suffering from colds caused by this type of virus often have the virus on their hands but not always in their cough or sneeze.

After blowing his or her nose, the infected person may keep the invisible virus on his hands. The virus may remain for as long as three hours even on some of the surfaces he touches. Tests have shown the virus stays for hours on plastic, Formica, and stainless steel but not so long on cotton cloth and paper handkerchiefs. A non-infected person can pick up the virus by touching the same surface and then can put the germs into his own body by rubbing his eyes or putting fingers in his nose.

If you have a cold, washing your hands frequently after blowing your nose may be one way to prevent spreading the infection around. Keeping fingers away from your eyes and nose is another. Play it safe and also cover your coughs and sneezes - just in case your cold is caused by some of the viruses that are spread that way.

To find out more about colds and other respiratory illnesses, contact the West Texas Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. They have the facts.

Cemetery Directory Published

In an effort to preserve those fast disappearing graves in the East Mound Cemetery, a complete list has been made.

The compilation was begun in 1971. With the help of Mrs. Olive (Moore) Russell, past secretary of the Cemetery Association, and Mrs. William R. (Velma Walters) Moore, Billie Beth Moore has released a book of 141 pages showing all the names found in the Cemetery.

There are many unknowns; however, Mrs. Russell was able to supply a number of the missing names. Thus, they are included. Also, maiden names, parents' names, birth places, and marriage dates have been added. These were supplied by Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Moore, and from the obituaries which have appeared in The Matador Tribune. The various Old Settlers' and Centennial editions of the paper also gave much information about the over 1600 names and locations.

This book was put together not only to save the inscriptions, but to aid all those who do family research. Many pioneer families now lie in the Cemetery. Should their names be lost, that part of the family's history would also be lost.

The list is divided into sections which are shown on the map which makes it easier to locate a given grave. Since the graves are not in alphabetical order, each name is listed in the alphabetized index. The light green stock cover has been sprayed with a plastic coating to prevent smudges and finger prints.

Price of the book is $5.00 (postpaid) and may be ordered from Miss Billie Beth Moore, 1600 Carl Street, Fort Worth, Texas, 76103.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Miss Moore published only 50 copies of the directory.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fewell and children and Mr. and Mrs. Verna Fewell, all of Fort Worth visited here Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Wes Hall.

They were en route to Anson, where they attended Anson School Homecoming, and a reunion of Mr. Martin's relatives, and also with relatives in Abilene. Tips on Saving Money by Conserving Energy

You can do something to help conserve our nation's vital energy sources; and you'll save money at the same time. With demand for fuels beginning to outstrip supply in some areas, simple conservation of electricity, heating oil and gasoline will not only help you cut costs, but can assist in halting the drain on our energy supply.

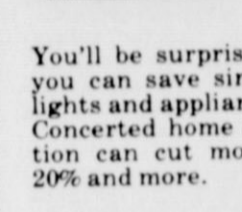

Make sure your furnace is working efficiently. Have it cleaned periodically, lower the thermostat before going to bed, and maintain proper humidity. This not only saves you money, but helps conserve fuel.

Better home insulation has been cited as vital to fuel conservation. An investment in storm windows will pay off in the long run, and weatherstripping and caulking around doors and windows can drastically reduce fuel bills.

Good driving habits can markedly decrease gasoline consumption, according to the Amoco Oil Company. Avoid jackrabbit starts, drive at moderate speeds, and keep your car well-tuned. Properly inflated tires, believe it or not, can also help conserve gasoline.

You'll be surprised at the kilowatts you can save simply by turning off lights and appliances when not in use. Concerted home electrical conservation can cut monthly utilities bills 20% and more.

If we start conserving energy today, there will be enough for everyone tomorrow.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor: I am seeking information about Art Names. During the 1930's and 1940's he operated a traveling tent show which I think played in this area. I am searching for information about him and his show with the ultimate hope of writing his biography. I would like to hear from anyone who knew him who would be willing to correspond with me about their memories. I would also like to hear from anyone who might have pictures, letters, poems, or other memorabilia about Art Names or his troupe.

While mixed colors of Amaranth flower are pretty pincushion flower are pretty growing together and the plant is deservedly popular, there are times when a planting of one color flower is preferable. Then you'll want to know about the named varieties: Salmon Beauty, with salmon-pink blossoms, Oxford Blue, Rosette (rose blooms), Fire King (scarlet) and King of Blacks (redish-black).

Are Casaba melons favorites of your family? If so, try growing Sungold, an extra-early variety maturing fruit in 85 days from planting time. Sungold was developed by the University of New Hampshire; has better flavor than most of the Casaba group.

Each melon will weigh about 5 pounds and will be a lovely golden-yellow color with sweet, juicy, greenish-white flesh.

EGG production in Texas during April showed a 10 per cent reduction from a year ago and one per cent less than the previous month.

Texas hens are still not quite up to the national average on a laying basis. Texas eggs laid daily per 100 hens averaged 62.6 during April. Nationwide, the average was 63.8 eggs laid daily per 100 hens.

Egg-type chicks hatched in Texas during April increased two per cent from last year. The national total was virtually the same as a year ago.

FUEL shortages are being reported from various parts of Texas by agriculture producers. Farmers who run short of fuel are requested to report it to the Texas Department of Agriculture or to their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

Agricultural industries have first priority in the use of fuel, according to federal guidelines on a voluntary compliance basis. More stringent regulations are to be enforced if necessary.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

A handbook containing the demonstrations conducted in Motley County during 1972 are being mailed. If you do not receive one, and would like one, let me know. Included are brush control; weed control; small grains; grain sorghums; peanuts and cotton tests.

Many Sunday supplements to newspapers and magazines contain full page color ads urging people to take advantage of fantastic prices of fabulous plants by mailing a check to some far off mail-order house for their choice items, and often these adds are sucker bait, both for the gardener and the farmer.

Special names are frequently concocted from rather common plants with fantastic claims made for their flowering, fruiting or yield ability. Seldom is there any mention made in the ad regarding the age or size of the plants being featured.

When reading these ads one should remember that the customer usually gets what he is paying for. Plants offered at such ridiculously low prices are usually of poor quality, undersized, or even outright culls.

Many of the ads feature plants that are unsuited for local climatic conditions. By reading the fine print one can often determine the correct botanical or common names. Then by checking, the reader can obtain information as to its culture requirements, its growth habits and size.

If the reader will take time to carefully read the ads and not make purchases on impulse, it is usually rather easy to differentiate the reputable ad from the so called sucker bait.

Cotton farmers, do you remember a letter you received in 1971 asking if you would like a 35 percent or even a 50 percent reduction in your cotton acreage? This was tied in with your purchases of 100 percent cotton material or blends.

What reduction did you receive for your 1973 crop? Wasn't it just slightly under 13 percent?

Different groups are promoting the use of cotton, but the main ones to benefit from this promotion are the producers. Are you doing your share?

For what it is worth, some may be interested in this article in the last issue of Agricultural Digest published by the Salt Institute.

A Missouri minister is getting letters and phone calls from all over the country since "Dear Abby" printed his letter telling how he keeps his thick head of hair at 89 years of age.

Rev. D. E. Finley wrote to Abby as follows: "A young man signed 'Going Bald' in Lakewood wrote that he was losing his hair. You told him that early baldness was hereditary and there was nothing he could do about it."

"Well, I too, came from a family of bald-headed men but when I married in 1907, my wife noticed that I was starting to lose my hair, so she told me to soak my head in a strong salt water solution every time I washed my hair and it would stop my hair from falling out. Well, I did as she said and I never lost any hair after that."

"I was born Jan. 22, 1883, which makes me past 89 years old. I kept that wife for over 50 years and I use a salt water rinse faithfully to this day and still have a full head of hair."

Dear Abby replied that she has heard of wives telling their husbands to go soak their heads but never in salt water.

Is the high cost of vegetables bothering you? If so, why not try a small home garden.

There are about 85 million gardeners in America, as more are trying to reduce the cost of the family food bill, and reduce shopping time.

Not much space is required, but time and work is required. To supply the needs of the family only a few plants of most vegetables are required, so don't overdo your planting unless you want to have some vegetables to sell or give away. By limiting the size of the garden, you can work it as needed to control weeds, water when needed, and control insects and diseases that may be a problem.

Finally, check the varieties that you plant. Many that you see advertised in papers and seed stores may not be adapted to this area. Follow recommendations for the area and see if you don't receive about $2.00 for each $1.00 spent.

As an assist in chemical weed control, the following items are listed. Soil that is too wet will prevent proper incorporation of preplant herbicides which will later result in poor weed control. Working wet soil produces clods that cannot be mixed properly with the herbicide, and weed seed germinate in the clods.

Proper application rate and good incorporation is the key to getting good weed control with preplant herbicides. Growers should note the rates given on the label as related to soil type. The heavier the soil, or the more trash present, the higher rate of the chemical needed. Using a higher rate than recommended will cost you more for the chemical, and can cause plant damage if not enough chemical is used, weed control will be poor, and again it costs you money.

Banding herbicides also reduces cost. Weeds in the middles can be controlled by plowing at a cheaper rate than for chemical controls.

One herbicide won't control all weeds and grasses, unless you sterilize the soil. Check the label to see what plants the chemical will control, and what crops can be grown in the treated area.

Don't incorporate too deep. This also causes plant damage. All the required information along with the guarantee is given on the label. Take time to read it thoroughly.

Are you still wondering if fertilizer pays? If it doesn't, why is more being used each year? Fertilizer is not free, and we all know that it takes extra work to apply it, so why are more farmers using fertilizer if it doesn't pay?

The old idea that fertilizer used on dryland might hurt the crop if moisture wasn't received is being disproved every year. In fact, with the proper

PS. This is not limited to grain sorghum. It will work on other crops too. "Try it, you might like it!"

Ideas for this story were obtained from Smith-Douglass "Crop Profits", Editor, Lloyd Zeman, Des Moines, Iowa.

CONGRESSMAN BOB PRICE HAS received notification from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Rural Electrification Administration, that the Santa Rosa Telephone Cooperative, Inc., Vernon, Texas has received a loan in the amount of $437,000, at two percent interest.

The purpose of this loan is to finance facilities to connect 468 additional subscribers, replace and expand existing toll facilities, construct 64 miles of new line, and to finance direct-distance dialing facilities in 11 exchanges and various system improvements.

Of the total amount of the loan, $398,000 is to be used in Texas to serve Wilbarger, Childress, Clay, Cottle, Foard, Hardeman, Knox, Motley, and Wichita Counties. The remaining amount of this loan will be used in other counties in Texas and Oklahoma.

RECENT VISITORS
Mrs. Jim Allison and son, Todd of McLean visited recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Campbell Jr., while Mr. Allison was on a fishing trip in Canada. Mrs. Allison (Carol) and Todd also visited in Abilene with Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bailey (former Kay Rattan), and children, Lance, Kevin and Andrea. The two women and children drove to Whitney where they visited another friend and her family, Mr. and Mrs. James Karr (Cherry Barton) and children, Kwin and Konni. On their return to Abilene they were joined by Mrs. Howard Limmer (Carolyn Pohl) and sons, Bryan and Jayson Frank of Snyder. Mesdames Allison, Bailey, Karr and Limmer were former schoolmates in Matador, where they grew up.

Mrs. Paul Farrar of Perryton visited recently with her sister, Mrs. Mark Hall and accompanied her to Quanah for a medical check up and visit with friends there. Mrs. Farrar also visited other relatives here, including Mrs. Lizzie Birchfield and Mrs. Jim Ratcliff.

fertile level, it is possible to make more efficient use of the moisture available. Yields won't be as high if moisture is limited, but for those not using fertilizer, these results from the Ft. Hays, Kansas Experiment Station indicate the returns that may be available for you.

Thirty-six dryland grain sorghum tests were conducted from 1967-71. Forty (40) pounds of Nitrogen per acre was checked against no(0) Nitrogen, with the following results obtained. Average production with no nitrogen was 2352 lbs. per acre; while average production on the fertilized land was 2744 lbs. per acre. This was an increase of 392 lbs. per acre. At $1.60 per 100, this amounted to $6.27 per acre, but at $3.00 per 100, this amounts to $11.86 per acre.

These plots were not fertilized according to soil test recommendations, but used to show the value of nitrogen alone. In 1971, all of the fertilized tests did not produce more than the unfertilized tests as four of the six tests produced more unfertilized than fertilized. Average of the six tests showed that unfertilized production was 2464 lbs. per acre, while for fertilized plots, production was 2632 lbs. per acre. This emphasizes the value of a soil test, for you well know that the fertilizer that works for your neighbor may not work for you.

To tie this in with the moisture used, for each inch of moisture on the unfertilized plots, 166.3 lbs. per acre was produced, while on the fertilized plots, 192.6 lbs. per acre was produced. This is a 17 percent increase in water use efficiency.

One saying about using fertilizer is "that once you fertilize, you will have to keep it up". Is this because fertilizer hurts your land, or reckon it is because you get used to the increased yields made available by proper soil fertility?

A soil test costs only $2.00, so why not get a "prescription" for your land. Try this "medicine" on part of your land, and keep good records to see if it pays. This is the only way that you can determine what is best for your land.

Another complaint was filed by a man who had been acquitted of receiving stolen property. He wanted the police to remove his photograph and fingerprints from their private files.

But this time, the court said no. The court said keeping good records is a key to effective police work, adding:

"An accurate identification system may be an assistance not only in finding the guilty criminal but in clearing an innocent suspect."

A different aspect of the problem arose in a homicide case, when the defendant objected to evidence that some years earlier he had been convicted of manslaughter. He said he had already paid his debt to society, and was therefore entitled—under the privacy doctrine—to keep his past a closed book.

But the court ruled that his past could be reopened, because a second offense is more serious than a first offense.

"One who has been convicted of crime (forfeits) whatever right of privacy he may have possessed," said the court. "To the extent that the protection of society requires such forfeiture."

Small Firms Vital To Nation Economy

The number of businesses listed by Dun & Bradstreet in Matador is down 14 per cent compared to figures released at the same time last year. According to Jesse L. Patterson, manager for the business information company in Amarillo, there are 24 concerns listed in the March edition of D & B's Reference Book compared with the 28 reported 12 months ago.

Mr. Patterson also announced that Dun & Bradstreet is sending computer prepared forms with the key facts on file on a scheduled basis throughout the year to companies who are listed in the Reference Book so that the information can be reviewed and verified. Companies also are being asked to provide current financial statements. "The program", Mr. Patterson said, "augments regular calls by business analysts to update information and is one more example of D & B's continuing practice of improving the accuracy of the facts it supplies."

Out of the total of almost three million manufacturing, wholesaling and retailing businesses listed in the current D & B Reference Book, Mr. Patterson said that there are just slightly over 21,000 companies with a financial strength of $1 million or over. Yet, they are responsible for one-third of the nation's sales and more than two-thirds of its employment.

However, Mr. Patterson pointed out that half of the names rated by D & B have an individual business worth of less than $75,000 and 28 per cent are worth less than $20,000. The U.S. economic structure, he explained, still depends on small business as a user and supplier of goods and services, able to make safe, rapid business credit decisions, as a key ingredient in the success of the overall company.

Mirroring the dynamic nature of the American economy an average of 5,000 daily changes occur among the businesses listed in the D & B Reference Book. The six volume book is revised every two months to keep pace with this constant movement and update credit and marketing facts.

The D & B Reference Book does not include non-commercial services and professional businesses, Mr. Patterson said. Therefore, the figure for total businesses in Matador, as well as the three million number quoted for the United States, is actually somewhat higher.

Most courts agree, frowning on undue publicity given to a person who has been cleared of a criminal charge. Nonetheless, privacy like all legal rights—has its limits.

Resident's Niece Dies

Rosary for Sister Mary Margaret O'Connell, registrar of the University of Dallas which she helped found in 1955, was recited Tuesday of last week in Our Lady of Victory Chapel, Ft. Worth, with Mass being held on Wednesday at the convent.

Sister Mary Margaret was a niece of W. T. Ross of Matador. She was a native of Crowley, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin O'Connell. Mrs. O'Connell and Mr. Ross were sister and brother.

A longtime member of the community of the Sisters of St. Mary in Fort Worth, she had taught high school at the Academy of St. Ignatius and Our Lady of Victory, both in Fort Worth. She was a graduate of the Academy of Mary Immaculate in Wichita Falls, and joined the Sisters of St. Mary in Ft. Worth in 1931.

She received a bachelor's degree from Our Lady of Victory in 1935 and a master's from the Catholic University of America in 1954. In 1950 she was named principal of Our Lady of Good Counsel in Dallas (now Bishop Dunne High School) and also had taught high school classes at the Academy of St. Xavier in Denison.

In 1952, she became academic dean and a history instructor at Our Lady of Victory College. She moved to the University of Dallas in 1955 to become Registrar and a history instructor. She was a key planner in the founding of the University of Dallas and held the position of Registrar until her death.

72nd Birthday to Benefit Many in Social Security

By Ray Purcell
Social Security Representative

Q I've never been able to receive social security benefits since age 65 because I earn $700 per month. I was 72 in April of this year. Will the new retirement test affect me this year?

A Yes, indeed. In the year a beneficiary is age 72, we only count his earnings up to the month of his birthday. In your case we would count $700 times 3, January, February, and March. This equals $2100. As you won't exceed the allowed amount of $2100, you will be entitled to receive all of your benefits this year.

For more information contact your social security office at 1401-B West 5th Street, Plainview. If more convenient, meet with your social security representative. He is in Floydada at the courthouse on Wednesday morning and in Matador in the lobby of the First State Bank on the first Tuesday morning of each month.
