Peace is Declared In Vietnam War

THE LONGEST WAR in the history of the United States is coming to an end according to an announcement made by President Nixon on television Tuesday night.

The war that has cost 56,000 American lives and nearly $135 billion has been in progress since 1949. By 1968 more than 500,000 U.S. troops were in Vietnam and deaths had topped 25,000.

President Nixon has promised that cease-fire will begin Saturday and the 587 American prisoners of war will be released and that there will be the "fullest possible accounting" of all missing Americans.

President Nixon said U.S. troops will be out within 60 days.

The announcement that America will be out of the Vietnam war in 60 days brought expressions of praise and relief from congressmen Tuesday night — but doubt that the war is over from the Vietnamese. Many leaders were optimistic, however, and believe the long struggle is ended.

DRIVE TO BE HELD BY PREDICTA CLUB

The Predicta Study Club of Roaring Springs will sponsor the annual March of Dimes, Mothers March, Monday, January 29 in that community it was announced this week by Mrs. John A. Scott, President.

The drive will be conducted in the evening, beginning at 6 o'clock, and those of the community who would like to contribute are requested to turn on their porch light at that time, indicating their wish to "share with others for a worthy cause."

Material will be placed in the business houses to give merchants and their personnel an opportunity to contribute, Mrs. Scott said.

"The material you will receive is informative and useful, so that you may learn what and how the donations to the March of Dimes is used. It will also keep you informed of those less fortunate who can not see, hear, walk, breathe and talk. Through your gift, greater work is being done so that more lives are saved each year."

"Please welcome the members of Predicta Study Club as they march in collecting your donations for this worthwhile cause. Let your light 'shine' that others will live, to enjoy what we have in good health."

TRAIL DUST

By
DOUGLAS MEADOR

If we had the privilege of writing the scripts for the scenes in our dreams we would possibly develop more happy endings and more concise plots. Instead we are at the mercy of vague scenes like a picture on a rapidly-turned page or an object too far in the distance to identify. We might also arrange for a rerun of pleasant dreams instead of the horror episodes.

When I pass one of the large cattle trucks and see the sad eyes of helpless animals peering at the world outside, I am shaken by a wave of compassion. The only way I can appease my thoughts is to hope the cattle are going to greener pastures. The chances are small, however, unless the slaughter house and eternity may be a greener range.

Once when I allowed a facial tissue to blow out the window, my orderly friend who was at the wheel of the vehicle gave me a reproachful glance. For a moment I thought he was going to stop, back up and force me to retrieve the paper.

The natures of some people are so refreshing as to give us a different outlook on the day and life in general. We are affected by those who contact our lives; by what they say and what they do. It is difficult to disagree with a smile.

Science that can't cure a common cold, is again considering life on other planets and means of reaching them. It seems that great minds and money might be better spent in first overcoming some of the mighty problems that plague this overcrowded star.

Despite the increasing demands for temptation there is no prospect that the supply will be exhausted in the foreseeable future.

A friend says his parents lived on an 80-acre farm, on what they produced. In these changing economic times he is borrowing to sustain his family.

Census Needed Of 1st Grade, Kindergarten

The local school is in need of the name, age and residence of all children in the district who are planning to start to school in the first grade for the 1973 fall semester, it was announced this week.

The requirement is that the children be six years of age by September 1, 1973.

Also needed for a possible kindergarten class is the same information on all children who will be five years old by Sept. 1, 1973.

Parents of children of these two ages are requested to furnish the above information to the school officials, as soon as it is possible to do so.

Lyndon B. Johnson Dies of Heart Attack

Lyndon Baines Johnson

Ex-President Is Stricken at Ranch Home

THE ONLY TEXAN to become president of the United States, Lyndon B. Johnson, died Monday of a heart attack at his ranch home, near Johnson City.

The 64-year-old former President, who had a long history of heart trouble, was dead on arrival at Brooks Army Medical Center in San Antonio.

The Stonewall, Texas native, who combined a folksy manner with a will of iron that he used in Congress and in the White House to bend legislators his way presided over the buildup of the Vietnam war.

And it was the war that many said led to his announcement in March of 1968 that he would not run for another term. At the same time, Johnson announced a halt in the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam above the 19th parallel and set in motion the machinery that led to the Paris peace talks.

Johnson entered the White House in November, 1963, after the assassination in Dallas of John F. Kennedy. Johnson had fought Kennedy for the nomination in 1960, lost and had been selected as his vice-president.

Thousands Pay Tribute
The body of the 36th President lay in state in a closed flag-draped coffin of grey metal at the LBJ Library in Austin Tuesday. The family, taking turns by ones and twos, stood red-eyed behind the coffin shaking hands through long hours. Four hours after the library was opened, 7,795 persons had paid tribute to the fallen President, and a long line stretched outside the building far into the night.

A jetliner provided by President Nixon flew the body of the former president to Washington yesterday. The body will lie in state in the rotunda of the nation's Capitol from 1:30 p.m. Wednesday until 7 a.m. today, followed by funeral ceremonies at Washington's National City Christian Church.

The body was flown back to Texas today for a final ceremony and burial at 3:30 p.m. in the family cemetery near the LBJ Ranch on the banks of the Pedernales River.

World leaders lauded Johnson as a man of action and courage and a defender of human rights.

SCHOOLS CLOSE TODAY
Schools here will be closed today in tribute to the late President Lyndon B. Johnson, it was announced yesterday by school officials.

Schools throughout Texas will honor the famous Texan, it has been announced.

All government offices will also be closed, according to news reports.

HAS EAR SURGERY
Mrs. Velma Fulfer had ear surgery Thursday, in Methodist Hospital, and is now with relatives in Lubbock. Her daughter, Mrs. Gerald Leslie, and a son, Elwyn Fulfer both live there.

March of Dimes Response Good

Response to the March of Dimes drive conducted Saturday by members of the Eternas Junior Study Club, was good, according to Mrs. Bundy Hal Campbell, president.

The total collected was $296.98, as compared with $211.92 received last year.

"Only a very few people refused to contribute to the drive," said one member. "Nearly everyone we contacted, responded with a donation."

Mrs. Campbell expressed her appreciation in behalf of the club, for the response of the community, and personal thanks to those who gave of their time and efforts in making the drive.

Power Off Here Saturday Night

Some church-goers were late for services Sunday morning because they did not know that electric power had been off in most of Matador for about an hour late Saturday night.

Local manager Freddie Welling said a broken insulator caused a line to break just east of the intersection of Highways US 79 and State 70. Power was turned off at the substation in the southwest section of town, while the line was being repaired.

Mr. Welling said part of Matador was not affected, and that there was no interruption of service at Roaring Springs.

HISTORIC JANUARY

It is probable that no single month has ever added more to the history of the United States, than January 1973. The death of former President Truman, early in the month, was followed by President Nixon's taking the oath of office for a second term. The death of former President Lyndon B. Johnson and the end of the Vietnam war complete the history-packed month.

ABANDONED Riverside filling station about two miles south of Roaring Springs where Clyde Clifton was tied up and left after being held up and kidnapped on the night of January 16. Mr. Clifton managed to free himself and walked across the river (South Pease) to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Peacock, where he notified officers. In the meantime Thacker Supply Co. store in Roaring Springs was broken into and about $1,500 worth of merchandise stolen.

Girls Roll Up Third Victory

By Lance Jameson

Matador High School basketball girls captured a 38-37 conference victory from the Jayton Cagerettes Friday night in Jayton. The Matadorets remained tied for the top spot with the McAdoo fems in the District 9B chase with a 3-0 record.

The Matador fems jumped to a 12-5 first quarter lead, but the Jayton lasses closed the gap in the second quarter 14-10 leaving Matador with a close 22-19 halftime lead.

The Matadorets added another 3 point lead for a 32-26 score in the third stanza. The last round of the exciting game ended with the Matador fems winning by a one point margin, 38-37.

Cinda Simpson led the Matadorets scoring with 19 points and Marilee Martin added 10.

Varsity Boys Bow To Jayton

High School Boys' Varsity team lost their first conference tilt Friday night in Jayton when the Jaybirds out-hustled the Matadors 65-44.

A cold first quarter let the Matadors down and the Jaybirds pulled away with an 18-2 bulge. The Matadors' shots would go in and come right back out.

The Matadors bounced back into the cage action and led the scoring in the second and fourth quarters with their sharpshooting field shots, but were unable to overcome the first Quarter Jaybird siege.

Joe Campbell hit the basket for 10 points with Larry Clifton right behind with 9.

Boys "B" Team Wins

Jim Barnhill paced the Matadors' scoring with 12 points as the Matador cagers nipped Jayton 38-36 in overtime play, Friday night in Jayton. Jayton was leading 24-16 at halftime, but the Matadors ignited in the last half and ended the game in a 36-36 deadlock. In the overtime play, Barnhill netted two winning points.

Nemesis of the law has overtaken Willie Floyd Law. He was arrested in Lubbock late Thursday by three deputies.

He was charged with robbery by firearms, kidnapping, burglary and auto theft. The arrest followed the kidnapping of Roaring Springs Deputy-Night-watchman Clyde Clifton Tuesday night of last week. Clifton was bound and left in the abandoned Riverside Station. Later Thacker Supply Company at Roaring Springs was broken into and an estimated $1,500 worth of guns, radios and a television set were taken. Mr. Clifton's pickup and gun were also taken.

Bonds totalling $80,000 were set against Law by Justice of the Peace Charles E. Smith of Lubbock and Fred C. Bourland of Matador.

Motley County Sheriff Jinks Wilson, playing "a hunch," had notified Lubbock authorities to be on the lookout for Law, and Wednesday Crosby County Sheriff Fletcher Stark discovered a pickup stolen in the Motley County escapee stuck in a bar ditch in Crosby County.

J. M. "Buzz" Thacker said last week that two used portable television sets and one new radio had been recovered, but none of the guns.

Based on information supplied by a dispatcher at the Lubbock's sheriff's office, deputies Ernest Rector, P. R. Wilbanks and Jerry Moffett checked the residence of one of Law's relatives and found the suspect. He surrendered without resistance. He was placed in jail here, but later taken elsewhere for greater security.

STUDIES ABOUT THE BIBLE

The Bible contains two major divisions - Old Testament and New Testament. The Old Testament contains thirty-nine books. The first five books, the Pentateuch, came from God through Moses.

Moses was born of Hebrew parents into slavery, but was brought up in the kindly environment of Egyptian royalty as the son of King Pharaoh's daughter. At the age of forty Moses became a shepherd in the service of his father-in-law in the desert country of Midian.

Moses was a great leader of the Hebrew nation. With the help of God, he led 600,000 men (plus children) out of Egyptian slavery, across the Red Sea, and through the Sinai Desert region for a period of forty years. He was well qualified for the responsibilities which God assigned to him, even to the writing of five books of God's inspired word.

"A thorough knowledge of the Bible is worth more than a college education." - T. Roosevelt

TEXAS-SIZE SUPERPORT — This aerial view of the new Dallas/Fort Worth Airport shows construction progress on the giant superport scheduled for opening in early fall, 1973. Conveniently located 17 miles from both Dallas and Fort Worth, the new airport is designed with the passenger in mind. Drive to gate boarding, close-in parking and simplified terminal procedures are only a few of the ultra modern features designed into the unique facility.

Dallas-Fort Worth Airport Will be Largest in Nation

Texas newspaper editors and publishers will tour the $700 million Dallas-Fort Worth Airport now under construction between the two cities during the Texas Press Association convention January 26 in Dallas.

Scheduled for opening in early fall 1973, DFW Airport will become the nation's largest and most sophisticated airport. The jetport measures 17,600 acres or more than 26 square miles and covers an area larger than Manhattan Island.

The Airport will begin operation next year with four terminal half-loop superstructures and a total of 66 passenger gates capable of serving the 10,000,000 passengers expected to enplane during the first year of operation.

Ultimately, more than 250 gates will be employed in 13 terminal half-loops to care for an estimated 200,000 passengers each day by the year 2001.

Indicative of the credentials of the planners are those of Executive Director Thomas M. Sullivan. Before coming to Texas he was responsible for the design of New York's Kennedy International and LaGuardia airports, and the development of Newark's new airport.

The size of the Airport site was not decided capriciously. Faced with the prospect that Dallas Love Field, currently serving these neighboring cities, would reach saturation by 1975, the North Texas planners opted to build a new airport which would take care of not only relatively short-range needs, but expected demands into the next century.

There followed exhaustive studies by the nation's leading flight, architectural and construction consultants to determine probable population and market growth, land need and engineering requirements for an aviation era still largely on the drawing boards.

Drawing on the early-day concept of the small one plane-one terminal airport, the DFW terminal loops will comprise a series of modular "miniterminals." Each of these small independent areas will serve passengers for one airplane, with the air traveler able to park his auto directly opposite his particular flight gate.

Runways, taxiways and apron areas will have plenty of room to provide aircraft virtual freedom of movement on the ground — even the jumbo jets. Planes will be able to get down and move quickly through taxiways into terminal areas without interference. They will be able to move just as quickly to the runway areas for takeoff.

The decentralized design of DFW brings with it the need for a mobile link of all parts of the sprawling Airport. The automated AIRTRANS "people-mover" system will fit that need.

Electrically-powered vehicles employed in the system will move passengers, baggage, mail and refuse throughout the Airport complex. AIRTRANS will provide the link between the four terminal half-loops, remote long-term parking areas, an on-site hotel, and the Federal Aviation Administration control facility. Average riding time between any two points will be eight to 12 minutes.

The Airport will be served by a 450-room hotel, to be located near the center of the terminal complex. Fred Harvey, Inc. is constructing the facility that will feature banquet areas and kitchen facilities designed to meet convention demands.

In the center of things geographically, Dallas-Fort Worth Airport is also a focal point of airline expansion plans. Several carriers, not now serving the area, have asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for permission to fly into and out of DFW. Those requests include foreign routes as well as domestic.

COUNTY AGENT PALLMEYER SAYS:

There has been a slight change made in soil testing methods. Samples can be tested for zinc, iron and manganese, but there will be a charge for testing for these elements.

In micronutrient tests, soils are rated as low, medium or high for each nutrient, and if a deficiency is noted, suggestive corrective measures will be indicated.

Although considerable variations exist, most soils generally have adequate supplies of zinc, iron and manganese. Deficiencies are generally noted in spots, and in most cases the entire field may not need applications of these elements.

If needed, zinc can be put in the soil while iron is generally applied by foliar applications.

The regular test for nitrogen, phosphorus and potash costs the same $2.00; but if a test for micronutrients is requested, cost of the complete test is $5.00.

Information sheets which should accompany all soil tests are available in my office.

With the REAP dead for the current time, this story about mesquite control work may be of value to ranchers.

Harold Wiedemann, Agricultural Engineer at the Experiment Station in Lubbock reports, that a method called "low energy grubbing" has been successful. A low energy tractor of about 45 drawbar horsepower was used with a sharp u-shaped blade attached to the front c-frame to cut roots 6 to 12 inches below the soil's surface. This rig averaged clearing 11.1 acres per hour on the Pitchfork Ranch.

A low cost treatment is needed to maintain control of previously treated brush as crawler tractors are not normally economical to use for this type of work.

Mesquite trees ranged from one to six feet tall, and those missed were less than 18 inches tall, and hard to spot. The average root diameter was 2.7 inches, with three ranging from 1 to 6 inches in diameter. A hydraulic attachment was designed so that the grubber blade could be adjusted for changes in soil type and moisture conditions. Large stumps 4 to 6 inches in diameter were split by activation of the hydraulic cylinders while the blade was engaged in the stump.

Efficiency of the operator is important, with costs ranging from 89¢ per acre to $1.13 per acre. Tractor cost was figured at $12.50 per hour.

This equipment should also be helpful for controlling cedar algerita, lote bush and catclaw, following initial treatment. Money for this test was provided by individual ranchers and the Brush Control and Range Improvement Association to which many local ranchers have contributed.

As additional information is received on this grubber, you will be advised.

RECLAIMING FISH HOOKS

Recycling is the "thing" of the day. Next best to recycling is reclaiming.

With the price of fish hooks high (and what isn't?) you may want to give tender-loving-care to the hooks you have.

Too many of us take up our trotlines, throwlines, droplines, or whatever, and simply dump them on the garage floor, or on a shelf, or in a box . . . and there they stay until next season, or the next fishing opportunity presents itself. Result: heavy rust-covered hooks.

Today's hooks are well built, patiently designed and are given all thought possible by the manufacturers. But most hooks still are not rust-proof. Salt water really takes its toll of hooks, including those on lures and especially the all-important bars.

So, treat your hooks like they are the last you'll ever get. Disconnect them from stagoons when not in use (and disconnect stagoons from trotlines before you start removing the line from the water). Dry the hooks carefully, then store them where they will not be in contact with rusty hooks.

But if you forget, and your hooks gather rust, put the rusties in a small can about three to eight ounces in size (the smaller the better) and spray the hooks with WD-40 rust remover. If you don't have a can of rust remover handy, try Liquid Wrench or anything else that will absorb or loosen rust.

A few sprays and lots of can-shaking later, you'll have bright and shiny hooks again.

If it's a bad case of rust, just leave the treated hooks in the treatment can and shake the can vigorously ever so often to jar loose the stubborn particles of rust.

Pour off the fluid frequently into another container and let the rust in the fluid settle. While waiting for this to happen spray fresh rust remover over the hooks. Repeat this treatment process several times, then pour the residue liquid into the treatment can and leave the hooks submerged overnight.

By morning you will have a usable set of hooks that are almost as good as new.

If any rust still exists a small steel file will at this point remove the remaining rust easily.

Monday, Jan. 15 in Spur Church of Christ, with E. E. McDonough of Plainview, officiating.

Mr. Edwards died at his home Jan. 13. He had been a lifelong resident of Dickens County, and was a member of the Church of Christ.

A farmer and rancher in the Afton community, Mr. Edwards had served as County Commissioner for 20 years.

Survivors include his wife, Ruby; one son, Charles Edwards of Afton; a daughter, Mrs. Wright Martin, Dickens; and three brothers, Joe Edwards, Escalon, Calif.; Clay Edwards of Afton and Claude Edwards, Dickens; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Burial was in Dickens Cemetery.

PCA LOANS INCREASE

Amount of money loaned for agricultural production climbed in the area served by Rolling Plains Production Credit Association in 1972, according to John Russell, representative of the PCA's Matador office.

Russell said his association loaned more than $48 million to farmers and ranchers in a 15 county area, an increase of more than 17 percent over the $41 million recorded by the PCA in 1971.

Rolling Plains PCA is one of 33 similar Texas associations which collectively in 1972 extended more than $1 billion in short and intermediate term credit to more than 16,500 stockholders. This was the first time in PCAs' 40-year history that the associations surpassed the $1 billion figure in one year, Russell pointed out.

Rolling Plains PCA makes loans in Briscoe, Childress, Cottle, Dickens, Foard, Hall, Hardeman, Haskell, Jones, Kent, King, Knox, Motley, Shackelford, and Stonewall counties. The organization is woned and operated by local farmers and ranchers who are member-stockholders.

NO-WASH WINDOWS

First floor or basement windows pose a major problem for today's city dwellers. They often require an inordinate amount of cleaning and maintenance or are frequently broken by children or vandals.

Seemingly, the only solution to plight of the urban homeowners is to replace pane-glass windows with a material that lets in lights, yet requires only infrequent cleaning and is virtually impossible to break.

That may sound like a tall order, — but such a material does exist. It's called glass block.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

John C. White, Commissioner

Texas Still Cotton King . . . Weather and Agriculture . . . Milk Production Is Down But Also Shows Gain . . . Planting Dates Set.

Texas will produce almost one-third of the total cotton grown in the nation during 1972. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that upland cotton production in the state during 1972 is now estimated at 4,050,000 bales. Nationwide, the total for 1972 is now estimated at 13,472,500 bales.

For Texas, production in 1972 is almost double that of 1971. Yield per acre for 1972 is set at 377 pounds per acre compared with 263 pounds in 1971. Harvested acres are expected to total 5,150,000 compared with 4,700,000 acres in 1971.

The southern High Plains-crop reporting district 1-5-is expected to produce 1,700,000 bales for 1972, or almost 400,000 more bales than the previous season. The Blacklands-district four-is in second place with an expected production of 475,000 bales compared with 356,000 bales the previous season.

Weather of recent days and weeks has delayed harvest on the High Plains. But even so, more than 80 per cent of the crop has been gathered compared to only about two-thirds completion a year ago.

Production of American-Pima cotton in Texas is expected to reach 31,000 bales compared with 35,300 bales in 1971. Yield is expected to average 431 pounds of lint per acre compared with 478 pounds in 1971. Harvest of the crop is virtually complete.

FULL effects of the worst snow storm in Texas in 100 years which occurred recently are still not known regarding agriculture. But losses will be heavy. The oat crop, which had been showing some improvement, suffered from the ice and snow. Citrus harvest has been hampered by the cold weather. Rainy weather halted harvest of cabbage and carrots.

In the coastal bend, spinach harvest is at hand. Vegetable growers in Central Texas are preparing land and applying fertilizer when field conditions permit.

Wheat seeding for the state is complete, and wheat grazing has been restricted due to wet fields. Soybean, grain sorghum, and pecan harvesting are all virtually completed.

The cold, wet weather has been hard on livestock throughout the state. Supplemental protein feeding and haying is widespread over the state.

MILK production in Texas during December was four per cent below a year earlier, but still two per cent above the previous month's production.

Milk production per cow kept for milk averaged 730 pounds per cow during December, which is 30 pounds below a year earlier but 15 pounds above the previous month. Nationwide, milk production during December was virtually unchanged from a year ago. Milk cows on farms during December totaled 12,127,000, a one per cent decline from a year earlier.

PLANTING dates for cotton in the Rio Grande Valley have been announced. Cotton planting can begin as early as Feb. 15 in these counties: Bee, Aransas, Brooks, Duval, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kleberg, Nueces, Webb, Zapata and portions of Hidalgo and Starr counties.

Cotton must be planted by April 20 in those counties. The planting dates are a part of the regulations relating to control of the pink bollworm for the state of Texas.

Green Thumb Tips

There's a special reason to grow Oak Leaf lettuce in your garden. When it's time to harvest, you don't have to pull up the entire plant. Instead, you can pick the outer leaves from different plants, and more new leaves will grow to take their place. That way they remain productive for a longer period. Oak Leaf is also the most heat resistant lettuce, and belongs to the looseleaf class, which is the easiest and fastest to grow.

More gardeners are reporting that marigolds help control pests in the vegetable garden. By planting a row around crops you want to protect, the odor in the leaves will keep rabbits and rodents away. The roots are also reported to rid the soil of nematodes (destructive root-eating worms).

Large sycamore trees, common along stream banks of early midwestern America, often had hollow trunks. Pioneers carefully cut down the trees and used the hollow bases for farm buildings.

TAXPAYERS DEADLINES JANUARY 31

Dallas, (Special) — Four important tax deadlines face taxpayers and employers in Texas during January. W. T. Coppinger, District Director of Internal Revenue Service for North Texas, said today. Employers are reminded that the deadline to give employees their 1972 W-2 forms is Wednesday, January 31, 1973. The form should show earnings, income tax withheld and Social Security information. January 31 is also the deadline for reporting Social Security and withheld income taxes for the calendar quarter ended December 31, 1972. If employers make timely deposits of the full amount of the tax due, ten additional days are allowed to file the return. The Director said that employers who received a pre-addressed Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return", should use this form to report their tax liability. Other employers can obtain blank copies from their local IRS office. The last day of January is also the last day to report and pay any balance of Federal Unemployment Tax not over $100.00 for 1972, using Form 940.

REMODELING: A Crafty Plan

Today's typical household contains at least one home sewer, but when she wants to make something, where does she go? Probably she cuts out the pattern on the floor, pins it together on the kitchen table, then retires to the laundry room where her sewing machine is squeezed into a corner. Why not bring this all-important craft into the family circle? Instead of trying to hide the sewing machine like it's a blight on the landscape, simply redesign the family room to include a sewing corner that's as attractive as it is useful. You can have fun decorating this entire corner like a tiny boutique. Cover the walls with a favorite patterned fabric such as paisley or plaid. Use the fabric on chair cushions too. Make yourself a matching work

If the balance of tax due is over $100.00, the employer must make a deposit with FTD Form 508. If the full amount of the tax is deposited on time, employers may then file the return no later than February 10, 1973.

Texas farmers and fishermen who did not file a declaration of estimated Federal individual income tax by January 15 may have a tax deadline of March 1, 1973. Mr. Coppinger said that if at least two thirds of the gross income was earned from farming of fishing, and no estimate was filed by January 15, 1973, these taxpayers must file their 1972 Federal income tax return and pay any tax due by Thursday, March 1, 1973, to avoid penalty for underpayment of estimated tax.

IF YOU'VE GOT A BELL, SWING IT!

What good is a bell if you don't ring it? That's what both little and big girls are doing with sportswear today—ringing the bell for freedom. The swinging freedom of bell bottom prints worn with solid colors. And more! Stripes!

Then, too, the fashion bell is swinging for a fabric mix-up you wouldn't believe. Striped cotton weave shirts, plus a cotton Duck vest in solid color tailored to fit knit bell bottom pants of floral mayhem that will swing you into the best sportswear circles.

Once, only children happened to dress themselves like nature's landscapes, mixing stripes with circular patterns. Today, if it's seen in a scene from nature, mothers and daughters say that's the scene to wear! The generation gap is closed. All the girls are ringing down the clothes-ing curtain on a chorus of varied textures and assorted designs from nature's beautiful landscapes.

Demonstrating knits and wovens at their versatile and colorful best, Alamac Mills, a subsidiary of West Point Pepperell, has joined design efforts with the company's Apparel Division. They've swung on the market a "now" collection of completely coordinated fabrics you'll find easy to make into sportswear separates. For information on these fabrics write Claude Delibes, West Point Pepperell, 111 West 40th Street, New York, N.Y. 11018. Then, you can let freedom ring in a swinging bell bottom outfit to fill both the gap in generations and your wardrobe.

VEGETABLE SEEDS TO START EARLY

Tomatoes. Start seed of your favorite varieties eight weeks before outdoor planting in your locality. There are several good methods — but the easiest is to sow seeds directly into peat pots, starting cubes or peat pellets, thinning out the seedlings to leave one strong plant in each pot.

Peppers. At the same time you're sowing tomatoes indoors, sow a few pepper seeds. They enjoy exactly the same treatment as tomatoes. Foot high plants will produce an early harvest when transplanted into the garden.

costume — a long pinaflore or comfortable wrap-around top. Looks pretty, and saves you from picking threads off the rest of your wardrobe.

To screen off this area at times, find a folding screen and cover the panels with more of this same fabric. Install pretty light fixtures — perhaps a Tiffany shaded lamp hanging right over your friendly sewing machine.

Hang up a bulletin board on which you'll keep pictures of future sewing projects. Photographs torn from fashion magazines make handy reminders when you go shopping for patterns. (Don't be surprised if the rest of the family contributes to the bulletin board too. Gentle reminders of a wished-for shirt or skirt may appear from time to time.)

As furnishings for your very own craft corner, bring in a wooden chest to hold fabrics and an old wardrobe or clothes rack to hold garments under construction. Install a full-length mirror so clothes can be fitted on the spot.

Will you like what you see, or will you wish you'd planned to remodel your figure as well as the family room? Every set of dimensions needs a little trimming from time to time so learn to take off that excess weight and keep it off with a diet food — Slender from Carnation is delicious. A balanced meal in a glass, try it for breakfast and lunch and watch those bulges disappear. Your remodelled figure will be twice as easy to fit, and much more fun to "decorate" with all the new fashions.
