Commissioners Accept Depository Bid From Local First State Bank

The Motley County Commissioners Court met for their monthly meeting May 8 in the Commissioners Courtroom. Judge Billy J. Whiakker called the meeting to order by asking Fraiser Watson to give the invocation, other Commissioners present were, J. M. Russell, Bill D. Washington and Franklin Jameson.

The minutes were read by Clerk Lucretia Campbell and approved. The bills were reviewed and all were approved except one to a culvert company who had not given credit to Precinct 3 for two culverts that had collapsed after only three months.

Kay Howard, of Gary R. Traylor & Associates, was on hand to ask the Court to pass three resolutions that were required by the State for the grant program. Resolution A. was an Equal Opportunity Resolution (this is for employment for the elevator construction.) Resolution B. is a Fair Housing Ordinance. Resolution C. is an Ordinance for Retention of Records (this is for keeping the grant records for at least three years.) Motion was made and passed for each of these resolutions to be adopted.

Russell asked Mrs. Howard if they needed to know clearly if the underground oil storage for the elevator would be illegal after September 1, she said she would look into this and make sure it would not cause a problem.

James Gillespie, representing the 911 Emergency system, wanted to inform the Court that Mike Pedigo had the 911 proposal ready to present to the county and the two city councils as soon as possible. Gillespie also asked the Court to have any questions ready at this time. Gillespie stated that the terminals in Floydada, Childress and Dickens had agreed to be the terminal for Motley County free of charge.

H. C. Smith approached the court with affidavits stating that the elevator he purchased in 1982 at a bankruptcy sale was suppose to be free and clear of all incumbents preceeding 1982. The law firm in Austin (who sent out the delinquent tax bills) suggested Smith present these affidavits to the Court with his request. The Court asked Smith to let the Court send the affidavits to the law firm requesting they send a letter of cancellation to the County, then they would be able to legally forgive this bill.

C.L. Abernathy, Representative of Mental Health and Retardation Center reported on the operation of the center at this time and asked if the Court had any complaints or questions.

Russell asked if the State budget cuts would effect their operation, Mr. Abernathy stated it would hurt but they would be able to operate without any problems.

Ervin Merritt of Roadbond Service Co. explained about the material he would like to sell the county for the river crossing on the Tongue River project. He stated his material has been used in a riverbed in Arkansas for the last three years and has not been washed out. Watson stated he was waiting on the County Attorney to inform him of the county's easement rights across the river.

Bids on the loader were opened and discussed; West Texas Equipment bid, without air $44,000 with air $48,000; Yellowhouse Machinery, no air $57,000, and Case Power and Equipment with air $55,000. After discussion the Court decided that the commissioners would utilize all the equipment owned by the County and get by without spending anymore of the taxpayers money or going over into next years budget.

Bids were opened for the sale of the three tractors; Tyler Used Equipment of Plainview, for three, $3,018.97; Douglas Campbell, for one Massey Ferguson $606.75, Melvin Pitts, for three $375.00, Bud Barton, for one Jubilee $750.00. The Court elected to sell three to Tyler Used Equipment.

Bids were opened for Bank Depository Funds. American State Bank and the First State Bank of Matador. The Court accepted the bid from the First State Bank noting that the American State Bank envelope was not marked 'Bid' and had been opened earlier.

Rocky Vinson, County Agent, presented two of the Commissioners with continuing education certificates from A&M. J.M. Russell and Franklin Jameson attended the 31st Annual Conference for County Judges and Commissioners in January, 1989.

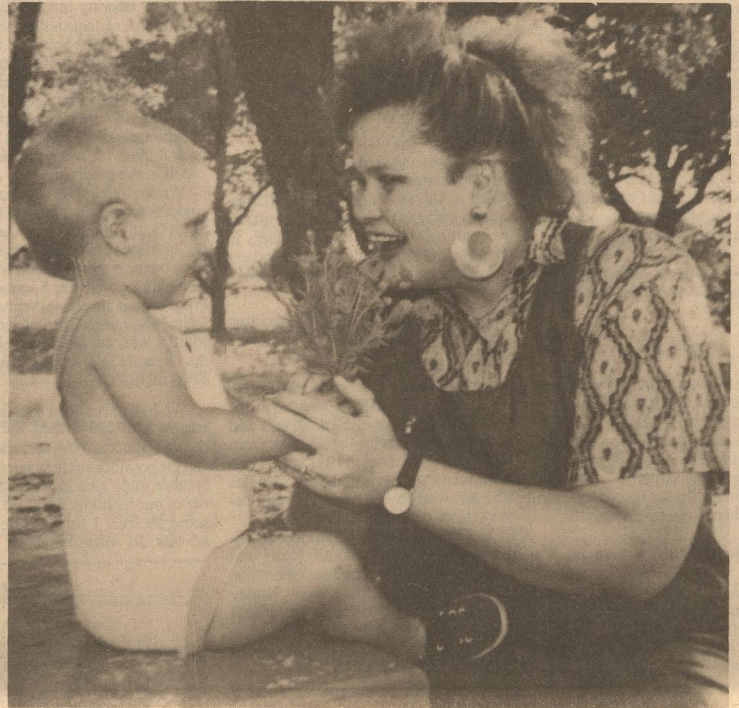

Commissioners read the reports from various offices, Treasurer, Agent, Library, Sheriff and J.P., who collected in fines in April, $5,569.00.

The Court read and discussed a letter concerning a House Bill on charging the counties a 150% cost of housing prisoners from the county in the State Penitentiary. The Court signed against this bill.

Record was made that the Nichols-Boykin road dispute had been settled and that from Farm Road 656 across land belonging to Boykin, Cook, Nichols to Texas State land would now be a public road.

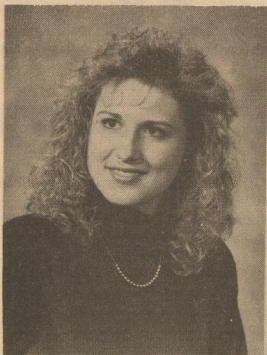

Meeting Adjourned.

Roaring Springs City Council Meeting Report

The Roaring Springs City Council met, May 2 for a brief meeting. Every council member was in attendance. Mayor Eugene Watson called the meeting to order with the reading of the minutes by City Secretary, Anna Wilson.

First item of discussion was a rough draft of the Revolving Loan Fund plan to make necessary changes before adopting the plan. This plan was sent to the City by Karen King of SPAG. This will be sent to the Texas Department of Development for the Economic Development guidelines, this is a State requirement. The Council tabled this plan until it could be read over carefully by each Councilman and Tim Pierce, Director of Economic Development with the South Plains Association of Governments.

Wilson informed the Council that Mr. McGillory, District Manager of FmHA suggested they change the minimum gallons of water used for the application on the water loan request.

The Council was not in favor of doing this until they had quality water that would be worth a change.

Wilson had received word that they should know by May 9 about the loan from FmHA. The loan request is for $262,120 to add to the $154,000 they have acquired through grant monies.

The time of the next council meeting will be changed to 7:30 p.m.

The Council elected to spray the elm trees downtown as soon as possible to kill the bugs that eat the leaves in mid summer.

The Council discussed the abuse of the water fill-up station in town. It seems the cutoff gets broken frequently. James May suggested they replace the pipe with metal pipe instead of PVC. The Council also elected to lock this station and have May to operate the station when water is needed.

Announced to the Council was that James May now has his water license. Minutes and Bills were all reviewed and paid.

Council went into closed session to discuss financial matters.

County Elections Result In Three-Way Tie For Roaring Springs City Council

Only 1/3 of Motley County's registered voters came out to vote, Saturday, May 6. These elections made changes in entities, with 394 votes being cast.

Roaring Springs City Council has one new councilman, Bill Hand, and a three way tie for two places on the Council. Billy Hand had 55 votes and Joey Thacker, J. Don Finch, and Don Wilson all received 50 votes. Charlie Long had 43, Gene Brannon received 35 and Jo Dale Rice had 6. The City Secretary, Anna Wilson, stated that the City is planning a run-off election, to be held in the near future.

The Matador City Council received one new councilman, Sonny Jackson and re-elected two incumbents. Sonny Jackson won a place with 130 votes, L.B. Campbell, 131; Travis Jameson, 181; and Joe P. Smith received 105 votes.

The Motley County I.S.D. Board of Trustees had one incumbent re-elected and one new member added. Guy Campbell was re-elected with 175 votes and L.J. Barkley, Jr., had 200 votes. Other votes were as follows: Debra Garrison Scott, 60; Lamar Tilson, 65; Randy Barton, 114; Douglas Neal Campbell, 111.

The Motley County Hospital Board Candidates were both incumbents and unopposed. Larry Hoyle had 365 votes and Caldwell (H.C.) Smith had 318.

Upland Cotton Program

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will consider changes in the upland cotton program to make the crop more competitive in world markets.

One change would alter the way the adjusted world price is figured. Billy Wane Denison, CED of the Motley County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, says the adjusted world price is important in the cotton marketing loan program, which allows cotton growers to repay their price support loans at the lesser of the loan level or the adjusted world price.

Another change in the Upland Cotton Program would affect cotton growers who request to extend their loans beyond the 10-month period. Starting with the 1989 crop, producers would be required to pay interest and storage charges on cotton stored the additional 8 months of the extended loan. Currently, the government pays the 8-month charges when the adjusted world price is below the loan rate. Denison says that has led to large amounts of cotton being held under loan in free storage rather than going on the market.

Details of the Upland Cotton Program changes will soon be published in the Federal Register.

The bills were reviewed and approved. No time cards were turned in from the EMTs.

LIBRARY NOTES

BY JIMMIE HUNTER

We received information from the Bible Alliance, Inc., of Bradenton, Florida, telling us that they would send, free of charge and as a gift to be kept, the Bible on tape to be played on an ordinary cassette player in answer to a request on our official library letterhead stationary. The important news for us was that a Librarian can now certify that a person is visually or physically handicapped to qualify for this free service. Previously, the certification had to come from a physician or nurse. Please read the news release appearing elsewhere in this paper, then drop by, call the Library 347-2717, or have a friend come by and make this request for you.

Another service that we would like to remind you of that is available at the Library is tutoring in Literacy. We have two tutors available now who can help to learn English as a Second Language, or the Laubach Way to Reading. So if you are in need of help just to improve your reading skills or the English Language training made necessary by the Amnesty Program, please call 347-2717, 347-2430 or 348-7963 for more information or to enroll in the program.

We are looking forward to the visit of students from Kindergarten through the Sixth Grade at our Library on the morning of May 16. We are anxious to show them our new arrangement, and tell them something about the Summer Reading Program and introduce them to the volunteers, Mrs. James Gillespie and Mrs. Hal Martin, who are making great plans for the Creature Features Summer Reading clubs of 1989.

We had never been satisfied with the narrow aisle that housed the children's books. I was amazed at the look of openness and the possibilities for a story corner and another study area in the Southwest corner of our building, when we rearranged some shelves. I had to agree with our advisor, Jo Amandes, of WTLS that it was not good to have the Juvenile non-fiction on both sides of the double faced units that does looklike a divider between the Easy "Picture Book" collection and the Juvenile Fiction, but after consulting all the staff members and several patrons, we decided to 'child test' it, and see for ourselves just how well it worked. So when I learned that Spencer Dixon was coming to Matador Saturday morning and would be in town until noon with all his handy tools, I persuaded Wayne to come in with me, and Wilda, Spencer, Wayne, and I got the shelves in place again, all the nonfiction books rearranged and in place, and the Reference books back in shelves. That leaves us with a box of books for repairs, several boxes of paperbacks, and two boxes of juvenile and picture books weeded from the shelves that must have the cards removed before we have the main library room clear of boxes on the floor.

If you are one who has started the Dana Fuller Ross series, WAGONS WEST, you will now find them located between the 4th and 5th row of shelves against the north wall in the narrow black paperback rack that was donated to us by James Stanley and put in working order by Joel Dean Spray. We are grateful to them and to Wayne and Spencer for helping us get the library almost straight again.

Since our last reporting of visitors to the Library, we have had from out of state, Mr. and Mrs. Raynaldo J. Montoya, of Albuquerque, N.M. (She is my sister); Chars and Maxine Britton of Ft. Collins, CO who both grew up in Texas; John E. Messamore of Powell, TN and Judy and Tom Black of Pittsford, NY. From out of town, but in Texas we have had Mary Lou Bollen, June Sherman of Lockney, Gene Reed of Ralls, Loretta Dinning, Susan Dunavant, Sherry Colston, and Ozena Norris of Floydada, Nell Norvell of Hereford, Carrie Carrison of Kermit, Bill King of Spur, Edna T. Harer of Fredericksburg, and Roy F. Carpenter of San Angelo.

LORD, PLEASE LISTEN

by H. Soltwisch

I'm tired, Lord, of trying
To keep a smile and a pleasant thought.
I'm tired, Lord, of my concern
Over problems Satan has wrought.

I know you are the God of love,
Beyond my darkness, you are the light,
But I'm tired, Lord, of waiting
For everything to turn out right.

So help me, Lord, to trust you more,
To use the faith you've given me.
To accept the things that will not change,
I ask for understanding I cannot see.

Forgive me, Lord, for the days
I seemingly cannot cope
And help my unbelief, Lord,
And fill me with your hope.

Remind me, Lord, that where I am weak
You are so very strong;
That the unpleasant things of this life
Rarely last for long.

Thank you, Lord, for watching over and loving me!

SEEDS FROM THE SOWER

Michael A. Guido
Metter, Georgia

A gossip went to her minister and said, "You'd be fine but for one thing. Your tie's too long. May I take your scissors and shorten it?"

"Help yourself," he replied. When she finished, he said, "You'd be fine but for one thing. Your tongue's too long. May I take your scissors and shorten it?"

Gossipers with long tongues have been catalogued in three different types: the vest-button type - they're always popping off. The vacuum cleaner type - they're always picking up dirt. The limnet type - they're always rubbing it in.

Why don't you let the Lord scrub and sweeten your tongue? Then there'll be no need to shorten it.

READER'S COLUMN

The Way It Was

by Emmett Jenkins

New Mexico was admitted to the Union in 1912, the forty-seventh state to join the Union.

Free land was available under certain conditions. If properly filed on, a specified amount of improvement, and lived on nine months of the year, for a period of three years, a quarter section was allowed to one man.

Many wagons heading west to the "Land of Enchantment," came down the road by our house.

They were driving good teams with good harnesses, new wagons or in good repair, loaded with household goods and other necessities, usually a couple of milk-cows, leading along behind the wagon, maybe a colt or two following. Also a couple of dogs trotting in the shade, under the wagon. There would be a big sign on the side of the wagon, "New Mexico or Bust."

Then, there was the poorer class, coming down the hill at a snail's pace, rattling along, pulled by a pair of burros. There would be pots, pans, and buckets hanging on the sides.

The ragged, patched wagon sheet flapping in the wind, a five gallon can hanging on the coupling pole at the rear of the wagon. A coop of chickens wired to the side, or where ever there was available space, a poor many cur straggling along behind. They would often stop at a farm house, buy or beg milk for the children, some butter and maybe a side of bacon, if available.

In dry weather the iron tires on the wooden wheels would loosen, which could be heard rattling and squeaking as they passed.

The proper way, was to have the tires shunk, which was a Blacksmith job. I have seen them stop by and borrow water from the windmill through, and pour water on the wheels to swal the wood feloes, which tightened the tires.

It was not uncommon to see wagon wheels in a shallow pond overnight, or a day or so. That was the poor man's way to tighten the tire.

Usually they camped by the road near water if possible, a creek, windmill or surface tank.

Adversity hit the home steeders, in the form of drought, inability to get the land into cultivation. Even if it rained it was hard to keep a family on a quarter section.

In two or three years many became disenchanted with the "Land of Enchantment." They were coming down the road, going East. The teams were poor, the milk-cows missing, the tires were rattling, the wagon sheet faded and weathered.

The contrast was so much in evidence, it was hard to realize they were the same people who went west. One wagon had a sign "New Mexico and Busted."

Kim Wilkinson went to New Mexico and filed on land near Portales. That was before there was irrigation. According to Kim, his mules would look east, over the corral fence toward Texas, and Bray.

Later Kim was as homesick for Whiteflat as the mules were.

Eventually Kim and his wife made the decision that Whiteflat was "The Land of Milk and Honey." He had to move to New Mexico to realize it.

According to Kim, everyday, the mules made a few more miles than the day before, and the last day they walked with their ears forward, stepping high. They were going home.

Some of the people stayed, acquired more land and prospered. Others left, broke and disillusioned.

That's the way it was.

Motley County Arts and Crafts Club Learn Folk Art Painting

Mrs. Una Simpson instructed members of the Motley County Arts and Crafts Club in folk-art painting on cutting boards at their May 1st meeting, when they met at 10:00 a.m., in the Senior Citizens building in Matador.

Those attending painted two large ducks on their cutting boards. Mrs. Simpson gave instructions on mixing various colors and shading techniques. Each colored cutting board will be placed in a white frame at a later date.

Those attending brought sack lunches, with desserts and drinks furnished by various club members.

Following the meal, and continuation of the painting project, a business session was held, with Mrs. Winifred Lee, president, presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting and treasurers report were given by Mrs. Lorene Lancaster.

Memorial gifts were discussed and amount of the gift. It was decided to leave this to the discretion of the president and secretary.

Club members accepted the invitation to display their art work at the county library.

Tuesday, May 9 is the date voted on by the club for an outing to Turkey, at which time the club will have lunch at the historical hotel, tour the hotel museum, visit a local artist and other places of interest.

Members attending were: Mesdames Winifred Darsey, Lorene Lancaster, Mary Louder, Winifred Lee, Betty Simpson, Una Simpson, Dora Watson, Leola McKelvey, Elsie Thacker, Joy Archer and Bonnie Edmondson.

The next regularly scheduled meeting will be on June 5 in the home of Mrs. Tori Gustafson.

dley, Director of Missions of Caprock-Plains Area; Dr. Lanny Hall, new president of Wayland Baptist University, and Mrs. Hall; and Jerry Smith, Director of Plains Baptist Assembly.

Singing the chorus, "God is So Good," in several languages was led by Jeanne Law of the Lubbock Association. The campers were divided into seven groups and given slips of paper with the words to sing in English, Portuguese, French, Amharic, Ethiopia, German, Arabic and Spanish.

Cooperative Program Spotlight was by Sarah Masten of Lubbock Association, with an offering given to the Cooperative Program. This program is the means by which the Southern Baptist Convention supports its home and foreign missions, seminaries and other ministries.

Miss Tracee Garland of Shallowater was introduced as one "Special Acteen," and gave a testimony concerning what that organization, an auxiliary of W.M.U. had meant to her. Special music was by Mrs. Carroll, who sang "Love In Any Language."

In her message, Mrs. Dunkin emphasized the theme of the program as it applied to Woman's Missionary Union, stressing "The Language of Love" in prayer and through Bible study, in missions education and support through involvement, ministry and personal witnessing, and in cooperative giving. For that, the message revealed, is what Woman's Missionary Union is all about.

Closing prayer was by Mary Lou Seratt of Amarillo, vice-president of Texas WMU. Following lunch in the dining hall, the "Day at Camp" was dismissed. Attendance showed that 280 registered for day.

A Tribute To You Mother

Okay, so I was late being born and all the other mothers had their new babies to play with; you forgave me and loved me anyway. Even when Ronnie and I decided to leave home by way of the wheat field behind the house, it scared you a little but you forgave me and loved me anyway. When Nette and I tried to kill each other each Sunday over the piano bench, you overlooked it and loved me anyway. Now, when I thought the only bowls you brought, on the only camping trip we ever made, would make great boats for the river, I questioned whether you'd ever love me again, but you did. You even loved me through mini skirts and falls and new dresses for every football banquet. How you managed all that love I'll never know but one thing's for sure, I'll never forget your holding my hand while I cried through my first heatbreak, or the second, or even the third. Your love has always been constant and now that I face those fun years with my own daughter, I hope I can remember and remind myself of your undying love and give it generously to her. Thank you for being my Mother.

I Love You, Patty

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock has now gained statewide support for its objections to increased loan program cotton quality discounts for 1989.

The more severe penalties will mean millions of dollars in lost income for Texas cotton producers in 1989, PCG President Steve Varet of Falls has pointed out. And, he adds, the effect of this year's discount increases will figure into the discounts for future years as well. USDA figures the discount as a simple average of the previous year's loan discounts and average spot market quotations for the first seven months of the same marketing year.

That system in the past has resulted in smaller loan program discounts following a year when the market imposes quality discounts below those contained in the loan schedule. Producer observations, on the Plains at least, indicate that that's what happened in both 1987 and 1988. Discounts narrowed in 1988, as expected. But for 1989, the spread between the base quality and lower qualities widened, and PCG is leading an effort to determine why.

Varet called the issue to the attention of the Texas Association of Cotton Producer Organizations (TACPO) in Dallas May 2 and found solid backing or PCG's position that producers are due an explanation. TACPO, made up of eight regional cotton organizations that represent virtually all Texas cotton production, agreed to join in an attempt to develop the Beltwide data needed to make a case for smaller discounts.

Assuming the success of that effort, Varet says, the next step would be for TACPO to present its findings to appropriate USDA officials as justification for discount revisions.

TACPO members also discussed and generally approved the work of the Federal Crop Insurance Commission, created by Congress last year to recommend changes needed in the multi-peril crop insurance program offered by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Myrl D. Mitchell of Lenorah, cotton spokesman on the Commission and Chairman of the PCG Board, reported on 26 recommendations submitted to Congress in its interim report in April.

Most significant for cotton producers, Mitchell said, were the Commission's call for (1) more adequate yield guarantees, with producers given the option to use established program yields in lieu of action production histories and transitional or "T" yields, (2) more effective unit definitions within regions, (3) the ability of tenants and landlords to insure all interests under one policy, (4) institution of price election for cotton based on the future market, (5) expanded use of ASCS acreage certification to expedite loss adjustment procedures, and (6) final claim settlements based on mutually agreed upon appraisals at time of loss.

The Commission's final report, expected to include other recommendations that would require legislation, is due by July 1.

Social Security Tips For Motley County

Direct deposit of social security benefits to an account in a bank or other financial institution is becoming very popular. Presently, $8.4 billion in benefit payments go directly to the bank accounts of 18 million retirement, survivor, and disability beneficiaries. And it is predicted that 80 percent of all beneficiaries will receive benefits through direct deposit within 10 years.

Why is the popularity of this method of payment growing so fast?

For many reasons:
Safety - Beneficiaries have the assurance that their benefits will arrive on time to their bank accounts without any chance of being lost or stolen.

Freedom - The beneficiary can be out of town without having to return home earlier out of concern for the safety of the check.

Convenience - the money will be safe in the bank account, available to be used at any time from any place.

Time saving - The beneficiaries don't have to go to the bank and stand in line a long time to deposit or cash their checks. With these advantages, there is no reason for the beneficiaries to worry if the check doesn't arrive on time, or if they have to be out of town while the check is sitting in the mailbox.

To social security, direct deposit means savings in time and cost. Beneficiaries have to keep social security informed of any change of address. In case of the death of a beneficiary, the family of the deceased should notify social security.

With direct deposit it is more difficult to keep track of beneficiaries if they do not notify social security of their whereabouts. If notices mailed by social security to a beneficiary are undeliverable, and the search to locate him or her is exhausted, the payment of benefits may be suspended.

Enjoy the advantages of direct deposit of benefits, but keep social security informed of your present address. This way both you and social security can benefit from this method of payment.

Foreign Land Owner Investors Regulations

Foreigners who acquire or transfer any interest other than a security interest in Motley County's agricultural land are reminded to report the transaction to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service within 90 days.

The Agricultural Foreign Investment Disclosure Act requires all foreign owners of U.S. agricultural land to report their holdings, acquisitions, dispositions, leases of 10 years or more, and land-use changes to ASCS. This law is still in effect and those who fail to report, or who are late in reporting face possible fines. The Foreign Disclosure Reports contain the date the land was acquired or transferred, the value of the purchase price yet to be paid, and the estimated value of the land.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Much space has been devoted to discussions, not always rational or informed, regarding the Texas Agricultural Commissioner. Rather than involve personalities, we should be focusing on a situation that threatens to become a serious problem for all Texans.

Texas needs leadership in the Texas Department of Agriculture that understands that the economic health of rural Texas is based on the ability of agriculture to change and adapt to new technology. We derive approximately $9.09 billion from agricultural enterprises collectively within Texas, but only 1.5 percent of our population are working farmers and ranchers. We are losing our young people in agriculture. Our rural population continues to decline and along with it the economic infrastructure based, in large part, on agricultural production.

Recently, 37 farm and ranch organizations, representing all types and sizes of agricultural enterprises from across the state, took the unusual step of forming a grassroots movement to deliver a simple message. We need "a change in state government that will help rebuild rural Texas through strong agricultural leadership."

Texas is not now, nor will it ever be again, the same as it was 10, 20 or 30 years ago. Texas will never again have the rural population we once had, but we cannot afford as a society to write off the interests of rural Texas.

As Texas becomes more and more urban, people in the cities, big and small, will become further removed from the problems occurring on farms and ranches. The distance, in miles and philosophy, separating rural Texans from their urban brethren invites misinformation. The legitimate attempts to regain some self-direction by those whose lives are invested in food and fiber production often are deliberately distorted and therein lies the real tragedy.

Sadly, certain politicians and media representatives have contributed to the deterioration in this meaningful dialogue by their fixation on personalities. They have falsely labeled the intentions of our rural, agricultural-based citizenry as detrimental to the well-being of everyone else. It is time to set the record straight.

What these working farmers and ranchers are asking of the Texas Legislature, the Governor and city dwellers is reasonable. Change in state government is inevitable and productive. Thirty-seven states, including seven of the top 10 agricultural states, appoint their agricultural leadership. These states have recognized what Texas is trying to grasp; the election of a politician to dictate state agricultural policy and direction no longer works in urban-oriented societies. Production agriculture is too complex in this day and age to be judged on emotion and uninformed, uneducated rhetoric. If mainstream agriculture is to continue providing this nation and much of the world with the most wholesome and abundant food at the lowest possible cost, we must have the support of our government agencies.

As a cattle producer and president of a group of cattle people whose organization has worked for better government and stronger agriculture policy will benefit farmers and ranchers, small town businesses and rural communities. Overall, the state and its citizens will be better off. It's the right thing to do.

The Legislature and the Governor have to make some serious decisions in the next few weeks. They must decide on the real facts provided by we, the people, not on politically motivated perceptions. They need direction from all of us on this serious matter.

Please write or call Governor Bill Clements and your state Senator and Representative today and let them know you want them to do the right thing right now. For now and the future, we must have an appointed agricultural commission motivated by what is truly best for all of agriculture and its ultimate beneficiaries.

Mid Year Crop and Livestock Reports

AUSTIN -- Beginning June 1, representatives from the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service will be contacting farmers and ranchers across the state to help set the 1989 planted acreage estimates and midyear livestock inventories.

"Information from these surveys will provide Texas producers with solid facts and figures they can use when making their production and marketing plans for 1989," state statistician Dennis Findley explained.

"The continued dry weather this spring and the changes in the national farm program may have altered producers' plans for 1989, and this survey will be the first accurate measure of midyear livestock inventories and acreage estimates,"

Findley added.

Individual reports will be combined with other reports to set state estimates. Results of the confidential interviews, conducted by telephone or in person by field enumerators, will be published later this summer. The 1989 acreage forecast will be published July 12, and the mid-year cattle inventory will be published July 28.

"Remember, these are sample surveys, so if you are contacted it is important to provide the requested information, since your one report represents similar operations of the same size and type. Our estimates can be no better than the numbers producers provide," Findley added.

House Clears Bill To Aid Area Hospital

AUSTIN -- The Texas House approved legislation Friday authorizing the creation of a Crosby County Hospital District.

The bill by Rep. Warren Chisum, D-Pampa, now goes to the Senate, where it will be sponsored by Sen. John Montford, D-Lubbock.

If the bill is passed by the Senate and signed by Gov. Bill Clements, Crosby County voters will decide whether to form the hospital district.

Chisum said he was asked by the Crosby County Commissioners court to file the bill as a means of helping the county's only hospital.

Crosby County Hospital (located in Crosbyton) does not create enough revenue to operate without tax assistance," he said.

A tax rate of up to 75 cents per $100 valuation could be assessed to support the district if it is created.

Under the legislation, the commissioners court would appoint temporary hospital district directors, who would call the election. Chisum said the election could be held in August or November.

The bill provides for a 12-member board to oversee the hospital district.

Chisum said an amendment will be added when the Senate considers the bill to allow the commissioners to appoint four at-large members of that board.

Mr. Howell was remembered by many as the shop teacher and drivers "ed" teacher at Amarillo High School. Mrs. Howell was the school librarian. Both had been retired for several years. # Warren Chisum Gives Summary of Current Legislation

Several bills and one constitutional amendment are pending in the Texas house of Representatives now that should be of interest to the people of Motley County and the surrounding area.

Creation of Hospital Districts

Because of the problems in health care in many of our communities, the Legislature is currently considering several bills to impact those problems. The constitutional amendment and its implementing bill should be of major interest. Currently, the creation of a hospital district requires that the legislature pass special legislation, which must subsequently be approved by a majority of the taxpaying voters in the district.

The constitutional amendment (HJR 85 by McKinney would allow the legislature to authorize the creation of hospital districts by general or special law, to be approved by a majority of the qualified voters.

Supporters say that HJR 85 and its implementing legislation HB 2244 would put the authority and responsibility for creating a hospital district where it really belongs ... in the hands of the people who will be using the facility and paying for it. Those in favor of the bill say that the current procedure wastes time and creates problems for local residents who must wait until the Legislature is in session before they can begin the process of establishing a hospital district.

Under the new proposal, the Legislature could establish procedures for the local creation of hospital districts without having to enact a new special law to create, change, or abolish each hospital district.

Opponents to the bill say that the authority to create hospital district should remain in the hands of the Legislature. Those opposed to the bill also say that one result of this change could be a proliferation of hospital districts established in haste to handle some temporary problems.

The companion enabling legislation, HB 2244, sets the procedures for creating the district, starting with the submission to the county judge of a petition signed by at least 100 registered voters in the area involved. HB 2244 would require that the hospital district supply care and treatment to indigents.

Expansion of the Medicaid Program

A second bill dealing with healthcare in Texas is HB1345 by Wright which calls for an expansion and revision of the Medicaid program in the state. Medicaid, which is a program to provide medical assistance to the poor, is funded by the state and by the federal government. Since the federal government provides about 62 percent of the funding, Medicaid is the single largest source of federal money in the state budget.

Federal law establishes eligibility standards based on percentages of the federal poverty level. This bill would require the Department of Human Services to expand Medicaid eligibility, establish a medically needy program for certain groups who fail to qualify for Medicaid, change Medicaid reimbursement formulas for hospitals and doctors and increase state aid for hospital caring for large numbers of indigents.

Supporters say that the bill would improve the Texas Medicaid program, expanding coverage to more needy Texans and increasing reimbursement payments to doctors, hospitals, and nursing homes. Even though Texas contains 7.5 percent of the nation's poor, the state receives only 3.6 percent of federal Medicaid dollars because other states have more liberal eligibility standards. This bill would deliver more medical services and recapture some of the federal tax dollars which are going to other states.

Opponents say that the bill would cost the General Revenue Fund almost $185 million in the 1990-91 biennium and lock in even higher spending for the future. Those opposed to the legislation say that the money could be spent to equalize public school finance or to construct new prisons.

Rural Health Care, Medical Liability Limits

HB 18 by McKinney would set limits on the civil damage liability of certain medical providers, change certain procedures in medical liability actions, establish a new office of rural health care in the Texas Department of Health, prohibit denial of certain emergency care, expand Medicaid hospital reimbursement and encourage new physicians to practice in underserved areas.

According to supporters, this bill would implement many of the recommendations of the Special Task Force of Rural Health Care Delivery, but opponents claim that it is an attempt to sneak "tort reform" in the back door.

Texas Rural Economic Development Fund

Another bill which may be of interest to the people of this area is the Texas Rural Economic Development fund bill (HB 613 by Waterfield). The Texas Rural Industrial Development Fund currently makes direct loans to local industrial development corporations to promote and develop industrial enterprises in rural areas. This bill would abolish the Texas Rural Industrial Development Fund and establish the Rural Economic Development fund which would guarantee loans, rather than make direct loans. Also, the Fund would give preference to food and fiber processing industries.

Supporters say that this bill could help increase the processing capabilities in Texas by guaranteeing loans to finance new ventures in agricultural processing. The new fund would have greater flexibility to provide greater incentives to build new facilities in Texas.

Opponents say that the state government should not spend public money to subsidize private businesses. What would ultimately happen, according to the opponents, is that private lenders would seek the guarantee on loans they would have provided anyway, resulting in only a shift of the risks from the lender to the state.

For more information about these bills or other legislation or to express your opinions, please write Representative Warren Chisum, Box 2910, Austin, Texas 78769 or call 1-800-692-1389.

Matador Firemen Receive Training

Monday, March 27, 1989, the Matador Volunteer Fire Department met with 15 members present for a Basic Ground Cover Firefighting School.

The School was sponsored by the Texas Forestry Service. The Forestry Service provides trucks, financing for trucks, protective clothing and equipment, plus the training program for volunteer fire departments across the state.

The round cover school was instructed by Richard Robinson fire chief of Panhandle, Texas and instructor for the Forestry Service.

The 3 hour school dealt with the different types of ground cover, methods used to fight the fires and equipment used to fight these fires.

The course was also open for discussion on how the Matador Fire Department attacks this specific type of fire and was found to be very effective.

During the week of April 3-6 members of the Matador Volunteer Fire Department attended the Forty-Eighth Annual Lubbock Fire School held at the Lubbock Fire Department Training Grounds in Lubbock.

The firefighters received training hours in Hazardous Materials, Protective Equipment, Self Contained Breathing Apparatus, and different methods of nozzle and hose use in Structure Fires, LPG tank fires, Pit fires, Spill fires, and several other types of fires.

The firefighters received a total of eighteen hours of training during this school.

The Fire Department regularly trains at its meeting and attends several other fire and rescue school through out the state.

During the past year the Fire Department received more than 866 hours of training, which is an average of more than 40 hours per man on the department.

The fire department is working constantly to improve its training and equipment to better serve the people of Matador and Motley County.
