Lions Set Candy Sale

Annual candy sale and Lions Queen Contest will be held Thursday, February 26, during the Junior Class play at Motley County School. Announcement was made Tuesday at regular luncheon-meeting of the Matador Lions Club at the United Methodist Church, by Lion Alan Bingham, who presided. Lists were distributed naming committees for the event.

Members were also reminded that they will be expected to attend the Union Church service Sunday evening, as well as the Father-Son Banquet Monday night. Motley County basketball girls deserve praise the same as the boys, according to Larry Neighbors, girls' basketball coach, and he was given a chance at the meeting to say so. He felt that he should have equal time given Coach Danny James, who extolled the merits of the boys' teams, at the club's last meeting.

"We believe we are starting a tradition of winning with our girls teams," Coach Neighbors declared. "The Junior High team has won all three of its tournaments and lost only two games. The Varsity team is 16-8 and playing very good ball. The strong point of our teams is that we have 'pick' strength. With 22 girls to pick from, we're still in the driver's seat."

"We don't want to be satisfied with just district or region...we want to shoot for State," he said. At the same time he admitted that Nazareth had always been the one to watch. "We learned a lot from Nazareth," he said. "We learned to be humble."

The coach expressed appreciation for the support of the community in backing the program, and declared that he felt privileged to be coaching in Matador.

Guests were introduced by Lion Bob Stanley, and included four Lubbock Lions Club members, Gene Cribbs, Vin Betenbough, Bernie Gradel and Larry Cain, and Lion Pat Seigler from Paducah. The Methodist women served a most delicious turkey with dressing meal and were given a round of applause, with a special word of appreciation from the visitors.

Allsup's Store To Open Here By First Of June

Allsup's Convenience Stores, Inc., has announced the construction of a store in Matador, located at the intersection of U.S. Highway 70 and State Highway 70. According to Tollie

Jones, Director of Construction for Allsup's, "We've already begun work. Footings are poured and we're projecting completion by June first. Jones added that the store represents an investment of $200,000 on the part of the company. "It's part of our expansion goal of fifty new locations per year," he said. Allsup's, founded in 1956 by Lonnie Allsup, serves portions of Texas,

New Mexico and Oklahoma with 194 new stores. The company, 21st, in the nation, attributes their success to the philosophy of providing convenience and service to the customer.

Ronnie's of Matador has been under the ownership and management of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Christian since June, 1971. They offer a wide selection of ready-to-wear family clothing, shoes, linens and kitchen appliances. The Christians have lived in Matador since 1961 when they moved here to work for Tom Salem. They purchased the business from Mr. Salem in 1971. The Christians also have stores in Paducah and Childress. Their son Craig, manages the store in Paducah and their other two children, Carla and Cody, attend Motley County School.

Boys Win District Girls Play Friday

The Motley County Matadors clinched the district 7-A basketball championship Tuesday night with a thrilling 63-62 victory over a stubborn McAdoo team.

The Matadors walked away with the district crown for the fourth year in a row, winning the title five of the past six years.

Glen Calvert led the Motley County team with 17 points, with Harvey Lee getting 16, Charlie Campbell scoring 14, Dwight Campbell with 12 and Wesley Stafford with four.

"We had a good first half," Coach Danny James said, "But we didn't play as well the second half. McAdoo is always tough and have a good ball team."

When James came to Motley County in 1975 the school hadn't won a district title in basketball since 1947. They won it that year. The Matadors didn't win the crown during the 1976-77 school year, but have won district ever since.

The Motley County girls varsity defeated McAdoo 74-44 and assured a tie with Guthrie for the title. The Lady Matadors will meet Guthrie in Paducah for the District 7-A playoff game, Friday night, February 20. Action will start at 8:00 and admission will be $1.25 for adults and 50 cents for students.

During the McAdoo win Bunni Zabielski had 21 points, Shelly Jackson had 16, Kim Campbell and Rhonda Stephens each scored eight, Jeanette

Moore had seven, Deanna Durham scored six, Derinda Cruse four, Darla Dempsey three and Vivian Sims one.

On Friday, February 13, the boys varsity defeated Patton Springs 105-80 and the girls won 72-48. Motley County fans are urged to travel to Paducah Friday night to support the Lady Matadors in their bid for the district title.

The boys varsity will have a practice game Friday, February 20 at 6:30 at Paducah against Harrold.

Union Church Service To Start Observance

Union church services at 6 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church with Matador Boy Scout Troop 360 in charge, will mark an annual observance begun 44 years ago to honor the youth of the community.

Following on Monday (Feb. 23) at 7 p.m. at the Motley County School cafeteria will be the 44th annual Father-Son Banquet.

Rev. Mark Rickman, pastor of the United Methodist Church will be the speaker for the Sunday evening service, and Boy Scouts will participate by leading the singing, reading the Scriptures and serving as ushers.

Entertainment for the banquet will be a program of music presented by Miss Lisa Pipkin of Lubbock, a Monterey High School student whose father, Neal Pipkin, was an active Boy Scout as a youth growing up in Matador.

Sponsored by the Matador Lions Club, the union service and banquet were started in 1937 by the late Lt. Paul Eubank who was serving as Scoutmaster at that time.

A graduate of Texas Tech, Eubank came to Matador in 1936 and taught in Junior High School. He quickly became a community leader and in 1940 was elected State Representative of the 121st district (Childress, Hall, Cottle and Motley counties.) He enlisted in the Navy in February of 1942 when war was declared following Pearl Harbor, and was one of Motley County's first casualties. He served as a pilot of an Avenger torpedo-diver with Admiral Halsey's fleet and was killed in an aircraft carrier crash January 12, 1944.

When the Father-Son Banquet was held in February of that year, the speaker, Governor Coke Stevenson, eulogized Lt. Eubank as a youth leader, statesman and patriot.

Sheriff Investigates Recent Break-In

Investigation is continuing this week into the recent burglary of Grady's Travel Center in west Matador sometime Thursday night. Taken in the break-in were about $125 in change, a Model E-15 .22 caliber pistol valued at more than $65, and several cartons of cigarettes.

Motley County Sheriff Alton Marshall said Grady Phillips, owner of the station-restaurant, theorized that someone had hidden in the building until after closing time. No forced entry into the building was found, but the door to the business office upstairs was forced open.

Marshall said he had put out a nation-wide bulletin on the gun so if the thief tries to sell it to a pawn shop it can be traced.

Marshall is also investigating some mischievous type vandalism which occurred at the Motley County school sometime last Friday night. He said someone, probably more than one person, had gained entry into the school, changed around desk, removed students books from lockers and messed up the library. Entry was probably gained through an unlocked door, he said.

"It looked more like a Halloween prank to me than vandalism," Marshall said. "About the only damage was frustration to the teachers."

Marshall said Wednesday that he had also been receiving complaints about someone shooting guns inside the city limits of Matador. One man complained last week that a bullet struck the fence in his back yard near where he was working in his garden.

Marshall said there was a law against discharging firearms in the city and for safety reasons reminds those target practicing to go to the country.

Public Affairs Program Features Girlstown USA

A Public Affairs program, Feb. 12 for El Progreso Club featured Girlstown, USA, with Mrs. Phil Green as speaker.

The meeting was held at the Community Room of the Plainview Savings and Loan, with Mrs. W. N. Pipkin as hostess. Mrs. Green, 1st vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Furman Vinson.

Mrs. W. F. Jacobs, leader, introduced the program, "Texas Cares," and the speaker, who described Miss Amelia Anthony, founder of Girlstown, as a compassionate young woman concerned with establishing a facility for the care of young girls who had been rejected or abandoned by their families, and others unable to cope with problems of living at home.

"Overcoming almost insurmountable obstacles, Miss Anthony achieved her goal when on March 13, 1949, Girlstown USA opened its doors at Buffalo, Gap, Texas," Mrs. Green said.

She traced the growth of Girlstown from this humble beginning to its present dimensions of campuses at four locations in the state, with facilities to house 144 girls.

"That same year (1949) Mr. Tom Duggan, a Lubbock attorney donated 1462 acres of the historic Slaughter Ranch to Miss Anthony for the care of unfortunate girls, and on July 13, she and her nine girls moved to this property near Whiteface."

She said the Berger campus opened in 1967 and is licensed as a Basic Child Care facility to house 25 girls. Children with learning disabilities are often placed on this campus because of the Special Education program available in the Berger School District.

The third Girlstown campus opened in Austin, Oct. 11, 1970 "to accept girls who are more emotionally disturbed than those generally found on the other campuses," and on November 11, 1979, Girlstown opened her fourth campus at New Deal, usually referred to as the Lubbock campus.

"This campus," Mrs. Green said, "is licensed to care for 15 young ladies beginning at age 17. They are encouraged to complete their high school education if needed, enter an area college or vocational school, or enter the labor market.

"The basic philosophy of Girlstown is to provide a homelike atmosphere in family styled living and to become involved in community activities as well as school activities."

According to Mrs. Green, Girlstown USA has helped more than 1300 girls from infancy to adulthood. It is a non-profit, tax deductible, non sectarian organization, supported by concerned individuals, civic clubs, sororities and other organizations. The founder, Miss Anthony, died in 1979 in Jackson, Mich.

Members named a teenage friend for roll call. Inspirational Thought was by Mrs. Douglas Meador, who read quotations from Henry Ward Beecher and John Grimes.

Mrs. Harold Campbell, Santa Rosa District President reported on a meeting of the executive committee in Vernon and again reminded the members of the upcoming district convention, March 20-21 in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Franklin Price, in charge of the ticket sales for a quilt to be given at the district convention, urged the members to sell as many tickets as possible. Proceeds from this club project will be divided between Santa Rosa District and Girlstown.

Refreshments of cake squares and coffee were served by Mrs. Pipkin. In addition to those mentioned, others present were Mesdames Bill McCaghen, Ralph Stapleton, Carl King, John Hamilton, Joe Campbell, E. A. Day, Ted Elliott, Robert Darsey and R. E. Campbell Jr.; Miss Mary Keith and Miss Rachel Patton.

Texas Roadside Flowers Is Garden Club Program

An interesting program on Texas roadside flowers was presented by Mrs. J. D. Craven for Matador Garden Club, meeting Monday, February 16 at the home of Mrs. W. K. Birchfield of Roaring Springs.

Mrs. Ted Elliott, president, conducted a business session and served as program leader. Members answered roll call by naming a favorite wildflower. A display by Mrs. Edgar Lee was an arrangement of wild green plant material with a patriotic theme, for the Washington's birthday holiday.

"No natural feature of Texas exerts such unending charm upon natives and visitors alike as the profusion of wildflowers which every spring transforms the state into a fairland of color," Mrs. Craven told the club.

Her review of the book, "Roadside Flowers of Texas," by Howard S. Irwin with illustrations by Mary Motz Wills, told of a large number of wildflowers found in this area of the state, as well as in other localities, and of the work done by the Texas Highway Department in planting wildflower seed.

"It isn't an accident that so many wildflowers grow along the highways," Mrs. Craven said as she described the many varieties that can be seen. "Of the more than 5,000 species of flowering plants known to occur naturally in Texas, Mrs. Wills has produced 2,000 paintings, some of which have been bought by two museums, Witte Museum and Texas Memorial Museum."

"Here in the edge of the Panhandle when we think of wildflowers we think of the carpets of daisies, dayflowers, lilies, yucca, cactus (of all kind), thistle, verbenia, bluebonnet, vines and buttercup, just to name a few...But Texas is a large state with a large variety of soils, temperature, moisture and sunshine, hence a large variety of flowers," she pointed out.

Mrs. Elliott announced that Carroll Abbott, a lobbyist for wildflowers at the state Capitol is trying at this time to get the legislature and Gov. William P. Clements to enact a law designating April 25 at Texas Wildflower Day, and the club voted to endorse the movement with a letter of signatures from the club.

Mrs. Elliott also called the members' attention to the District 1 meeting of garden clubs, scheduled for March 3-4 in Lubbock. She concluded the meeting with a paragraph from the Lone Star Gardener, and the yearbook quote for the day, "Every life we touch is a field; everything we do and all the words we speak, are seed. What will the harvest be?"

Mrs. Birchfield served canapes, cookies, spiced tea and coffee to Mesdames W. D. Lipscomb, Alvin Stearns, Douglas Meador, W. F. Jacobs and W. N. Pipkin, in addition to those mentioned.

Small Grain Report

Small grain fields are showing stress due to lack of moisture in the area. Greenbugs have also been showing up in area fields. Greenbug damage can be detected by yellowing of leaves in spots within a field. These spots may increase in size with an increase in greenbug populations. Nitrogen deficiency and moisture stress can also have similar symptoms, so we need to get down on our hands and check for the greenbugs.

Greenbugs are a small yellowish-green insect about the size of a BB with two dark stripes down the back. These insects are usually found on the lower side of the leaves or near the base of the plant. Greenbugs suck juices from the plant tissue and inject toxins which cause the damage to the plants.

To determine whether insecticide treatments are necessary, make a minimum of five random counts per 20 acres of field. Each count should consist of one linear foot of drill. Checking for greenbugs should be done during the warmest part of the day when the greenbugs are most exposed. On smaller plants, greenbugs can be counted on plants, while on larger plants, you can slap plants against the ground and count the greenbugs that fall to the ground. In heavy populations, you can estimate numbers instead of making actual counts. On small grains three-six inches high, populations of 100-300 greenbugs per foot are likely to cause economic damage.

Anyone with questions on greenbugs or any other insects may contact Warren Multer at the Motley County Courthouse or call 347-2243.

Green Thumb News

Sun, wind, earth and crops—who has better understanding of these basic elements than older rural residents? No segment of society is more capable of taking us "back to basics"—at least that's the view of one organization concerned with rural elderly.

National Green Thumb, Inc., sponsored by Farmers Union, is a federally-funded employment and placement program for low-income rural elderly, and has recently received a Dept. of Labor energy grant to assist small town and rural businesses involved in energy development.

Diane Parrish, Texas Green Thumb state director, says "the purpose of the grant is to stimulate the establishment of energy industries in rural areas by using the valuable skills of older workers."

The Energy Employment Program will reimburse employers for part of the wages and for special "off the job" training costs incurred during a designated training period. A typical contract between Green Thumb and an employer lasts three months and includes some outside classroom or workshop training in addition to on-the-job training.

Workers are selected by employers, but must be at least age 55 and must be income eligible for the program. Green Thumb handles all necessary paperwork.

Green Thumb's other programs have operated in Texas for 10 years and currently employ 952 older workers in 107 counties. The workers handle a wide variety of community jobs under the sponsorship of local non-profit agencies. Many work on crews providing the labor for weatherization projects, municipal building improvements, and park maintenance.

Workers presently employed by Green Thumb are eligible for the special energy program should an employer wish to interview them. A primary goal of Green Thumb is to place as many workers as possible into regular, "unsubsidized" employment.

"We believe this energy grant will allow rural older workers to make a significant contribution to one of the most important movements of the next few decades," says Parrish. "And we believe older workers deserve the opportunity based on our own experience and on studies by the Dept. of Labor."

According to DOL, workers 45 and over quit their jobs less than half as often as do younger workers, and they are only half as likely to change jobs.

Workers hired after age 40 generally attain a higher performance rating in a shorter time than those persons hired before the age of 30. Older workers tend to have a more positive attitude toward work than do younger workers. And older workers have a better record of stability and of acceptance by employers, too.

The number of days lost per 100 workdays for all reasons goes down as age increases. Workers in every age group above 50 lose fewer scheduled workdays than those in any group below 50.
